Evidence was given by Robert Holden of Oshawa in identification of photographs taken by him on January 4 on a side road between Oshawa and Bowmanville.

John Smythe, photogrametrist from the Department of Lands and Forests, Toronto, produced photographs which he had taken of Mr. Lorie's garage and of a provincial police car in Toronto. One picture showed a shotgun pellet imbedded in the frame of the spotlight on the police car, witness said.

Detailed evidence was given by Detective John Copeland of Toronto, finger print expert and police photographer. This was evidence of highly technical nature, with the view of establishing the fact that marks on the trunk of the Lorie car had been caused by a medium-sized wrecking bar which was also produced as an exhibit. Detective Copeland said that he photographed the marks on the trunk and compared them with marks which he created in a lead plate with the wrecking bar. He produced photographs of the edge of the wrecking bar, showing the characteristics of the edge, pointing out that where part of the edge had been rounded over in use, it had left a corresponding mark on the trunk and on the lead impression. He produced superimposed photographs of the mark on the lead and the trunk with 11 points detailed for the purpose of establishing duplicate characteristics.

Detective W. Turner of York township police, gave evidence in connection with the marks on the window and sash in Lorie's garage. Alfred Purdy of Clairmount, who operates the telephone exchange, testified that he was called at 5:30 or shortly afterward, on the morning of December 30, to notify police and after doing so, noticed a car moving slowly down the road past his premises. It was a dark-coloured 1941 Buick, he said. Witness stated that he couldn't tell how many were in it, or if it had a license plate on it.

At this stage the case was adjourned until March 6.

Falling Tree Branch Strikes E. Robinson

BANCROFT, Feb. 15 (ENS) — Elmer Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Robinson of Monteagle, was quite badly injured a few days ago while cutting logs in the bush. A falling limb from some nearby tree fell towards the ground striking Elmer on the head, passing right through the hat he was wearing and gashing his head quite severely. He was rushed to Bancroft and treated by Dr. O. W. Anderson. It required nine clips to close the wound. The young man was knocked unconscious by the blow and when he regained consciousness was at a loss to know from where the limb came unless it was a dead branch that broke off with the wind.

"I tell all who have RHEUMATIC Pains!"

If she had known earlier what she knows now, Mrs. Brum would have been spared a lot. So she wants to pass her knowledge on to you.

"I have had rheumatic pains all over me for nearly 12 months," she writes. "In fact, I could hardly move. My hands were puffed up and I could not do my own work or get up the stairs. I tried almost everything I was told. At last I decided to try Kruschen.

"I have had two bottles and I am pleased to tell you I am now better, thanks to Kruschen Salts. I shall never be without it now I know its value. If I had taken it before, I should have saved a lot of money. I tell all I know who suffer from rheumatic pains what it has done for me."—(Mrs.) E. Brum.

Those stabbing rheumatic pains are often caused by needle-pointed crystals of uric acid lodging in the joints. Kruschen usually brings relief because it helps dissolve those sharp crystals and expels them from the system. Then, if you continue with a little daily dose of Kruschen, it should keep your inside so clean and regular, that uric acid and other body poisons do not get a chance to accumulate again.

Kruschen Salts come in two sizes, 25c and 75c at all drug stores.

Peterborough Salvage Is a Rank Failure

The salvage collection on Monday was a failure and a disappointment. The fault did not lie with the organization; there were plenty of workers on the job and the trucks made their rounds as scheduled. No, the fault lay with the citizens, who had either ignored the salvage collection, or had not felt strongly enough about it to bundle up their papers, magazines and corrugated wrappings, and put them outside for collection.

Other Ontario cities of comparable size have put Peterborough to shame in this matter. Oshawa has been collecting thirty tons of paper a month for some time, and recently produced 43 tons in addition to this, during a special drive in the schools. Orillia, a town of less than ten thousand population, collected 25 tons of paper in a single day. And what has Peterborough done? Well, yesterday one of the collection trucks produced three tons of paper, and if twenty tons was collected in the day in the whole district, it will be a surprise. A truck making the rounds of one district picked up five bundles of paper in eight blocks. The majority of the homes in the district had nothing ready for the paper salvage at all.

Four and one-half tons of newsprint a day is distributed in this city. It does not all go in lighting fires, wrapping garbage and making bottoms for bird-cages. Most of it must be lying in cellars or store rooms, waiting to be bundled and collected. Peterborough should be able to produce five pounds of newsprint for every citizen of the city. The need for paper is great, and unless we get it the war effort will suffer. The salvage trucks will be making their rounds again tomorrow from Charlotte St. north to Park Hill Road and east of Reid St. to the river (not including the George St. business section.) Will you have your paper ready? Please make an effort.

Mr. Ralston's Message

Speaking to the House of Commons on Friday last, the Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, stressed again the mportance of letters from home in keeping up the spirits of our men abroad. This is what he said: "Generals may be important; ministers may have some little importance sometimes, but generally speaking the most important man in the unit is the corporal with the mail, and that was impressed on me time and time again. I want to say to the people of Canada, through this house, that nothing can keep up the morale of our troops like having mail get to them just as frequently and as quickly as possible. Mail is all-important, and I do not mean mail telling of troubles at home; I mean mail which makes the boys realize that we are behind them, which tells the boys the bright side of life here, because believe me they have enough of the drab side in service out there".

Are you doing your duty in this matter? Are you writing as often as you should, and do you take pains to make your letters as amusing and as heartening as you can? If you have ever been far from home, longing for news, you should be able to imagine what letters mean to our men overseas. Don't fail in this elementary duty.

Let Mr. MacPherson Begin

Mr. H. L. MacPherson, who writes on matters of current interest in the Windsor Star, thinks that large incomes should be made known to the public by the Department of Finance. It is iniquitous, he says, that men who make more than $25,000 a year should keep the exact amount of their income secret, and he suggests that they are probably doing so in order to keep their underpaid workers from being discontented. He supports his opinion with a column of argument, of which this extract is a fair example:

"Admittedly, there would be some sacrifice of privacy, but the man who is making, say, more than $25,000 a year, is getting a lot out of this country in exchange for this minute loss of privacy. With one of those high five-figure incomes to soothe his feelings, he'd survive the blow, no doubt".

Perhaps Mr. MacPherson is right. We really could not say. We should be interested to see the experiment tried, however, though we suggest that its scope be enlarged. We should like everybody's income made public; each year the newspapers would be glad to print a list of all the big incomes in Canada, and then a list of incomes which would include everybody in the newspaper's district; it would make first-rate reading—far better than a list of donations to a church or a charity. What we suggest is no more than fair. After all, why should there be one law for the rich and another for the poor?

We should like to go further; if a man's income is to be public knowledge the public surely has a right to know what he does with what he gets. If everyone were compelled to reveal not only his income but an itemized statement of what he spent it on we should really be getting somewhere. Those two popular questions, "How does he do it on what he gets?", and "Where do you suppose all his money goes?" would be solved. We would be free then to copy the methods of the good managers, and we could despise those who spent their money in ways which we did not approve.

But every good cause must have its martyr, and we suggest that Mr. MacPherson be martyr to the cause he champions. If he were to tell us through his column how much money he gets, how much he gives to his wife, how much he spends on his children, how much on his pleasure, how much he gives away, how much he loses, and how much he saves, his readers would probably be delighted, and his neighbours entranced. He would certainly get a lot of good advice. He would doubtless gain recruits to his campaign for more public living, and if enough of us who make less than $25,000 followed his example, in time we would be able to force those who make more than $25,000 to do so. All good reforms spring from the people, Mr. MacPherson, and it is up to us who live below the $25,000 mark to show an example to our finanical superiors. You begin.

Churchill The Snufftaker

Some of Winston Churchill's critics, and in particular Professor Harold Laski, have accused him of being an anachronism, an eighteenth century leader trying to grapple with twentieth century problems. For most of us the answer to this sneer lies in the successful way in which Mr. Churchill deals with the problems in question.

He has many characteristics, however, which are not of our time. He loves rhetoric, and has a noble command of it himself. He enjoys good living, and does not think it necessary to apologise for his tastes. He likes sport, is an enthusiastic amateur of the arts, and finds his best relaxation in an evening at the play. And—the genuine eighteenth century touch—he takes snuff.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., mentions Mr. Churchill's habit in his book, Lend-Lease: Weapon For Victory; this is what he says:

"After lunch was finished, and Mrs. Churchill had left, 'we settled down to discuss the problems of war supply'. Mr. Stettinius recalls. 'As we talked, the Prime Minister took out a little antique silver box and passed it to me. I opened it to find a fine, blackish powder inside. In answer to my questioning look, he replied, "Snuff. Have some". I declined. But after I saw him put a pinch on his finger, snuff it into his nose, and then sneeze, apparently with great enjoyment, I could not resist trying it. It was not half as bad as I had always imagined'."

Snuff is not bad at all; on the contrary, it is very good. Many people still use it for the pleasant stimulation which it gives. Voltaire swore that when he died his brain would be found completely preserved in snuff. It will jolt the mind into activity when tobacco will lull it into day-dreaming. We are not really surprised to learn that the Prime Minister is a devotee of the little silver box and the fragrant pinch.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Family jars are usually filled with the fruit of discontent.

A short time ago we predicted the coming of spring. Adjusting our tone to the new party line, we now foresee a long, hard winter.

A paper in the Maritimes demands a ceiling for fish. Certainly we inland people find Maritime fish a bit high by the time it gets to us.

If you want a man to be your friend for life, says the Galt Reporter, laugh at his funny stories. That is an awful price to pay for friendship.

A court has ruled that a son-in-law must contribute to the maintenance of his wife's mother if she is out of funds. Isn't that somehow linked with giving aid and comfort to the enemy?

Stuffed Shirt Utopia

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
(In the Winnipeg Free Press)

THE year was 1960, the spring morning sunny, and Mr. John Jones was feeling good. As he walked briskly towards the C.C.F. government bank, his mind was busy with the details of his great invention which, he was confident, would revolutionize the shirt industry of Canada and bring a blessed relief to the whole male population.

Mr. Jones' idea was simple but tremendous. He proposed to manufacture a shirt which would be sold to the customer without any pins in it. As every male Canadian had been in revolt for half a century against the capitalistic nuisance of ten pins, which were cunningly hidden in every fold of a new shirt, and had to be extracted, like a Chinese puzzle, just when a man was in a hurry to dress, Mr. Jones felt sure that his invention would receive the support of the C.C.F. government banking system.

All Mr. Jones wanted was a small loan to finance a pinless shirt factory. But the bank manager pointed out that Mr. Jones must first get the approval of the government shirt controller. This took two months, fifteen letters and two long-distance calls to Ottawa.

Three months were required to secure the authorization of the button controller, because he insisted on Mr. Jones adding two extra buttons to his shirt design to enable the government's button cartel to sell more buttons.

There was also a month's argument with the technicians who controlled the length of shirt-tails, for at this time, due to a change in the C.C.F. party line, tails were fluctuating from day to day as the issue was debated in Parliament.

BUT in the end, after two years of negotiation, Mr. Jones had the approval of the government controllers except in one vital particular. He had been pinned down by the government pin controller.

The pin controller—a powerful figure who had been appointed because of expert knowledge gained in the growing of apples in the Okanagan and because he had been defeated for Parliament by a man who had once been a capitalist—took a dark view of Mr. Jones' invention. Therefore, just as it was about to make a loan to Mr. Jones, the bank was instructed by telegram from Ottawa to hold up the whole project while the pin controller looked into it.

The pin controller could not look into it for five months because he was then fully engaged in his historic struggle with the government's safety-pin trust to enforce the three-pin plan for diapers, which Premier Coldwell had found very damaging to the housewives' vote.

Finally defeated on the three-pin plan, the pin controller was further shocked to hear that Mr. Jones intended to eliminate pins from shirts altogether. In a memorandum to the Central Planning Bureau, accompanied by seventeen blueprints and a marked copy of "Make This Canada," the pin controller reported that if Mr. Jones started the fashion of the pinless shirt, the government's socialized pin industry would be ruined. In a long secret interview with the Planning Committee of the Cabinet, the pin controller showed that such a dangerous invention was bound to spread because it would be popular, and the customers would demand it. Presently there would be no market for the government's output of pins, workers would be thrown out of their jobs, factories closed and, incidentally, there would be no more need for a pin controller and his thousand assistants.

WHILE some members of the Planning Committee of the Cabinet, being shirt-wearers themselves, had some secret sympathy with Mr. Jones' project, they patriotically disregarded their own convenience for the sake of the Great Central Plan, and supported the pin controller's argument. As Minister of Propaganda Lewis pointed out, if the government once admitted that the customer, not the government, could decide what kind of goods he should buy, the Great Plan would be fatally undermined. With this, Premier Coldwell agreed, but instructed Mr. Lewis to issue an announcement reiterating that the C.C.F. government wanted to encourage sound private enterprise.

The bank manager telephoned Mr. Jones to communciate the government's instruction that no loan could be issued to eliminate pins from shirts, but Mr. Jones had disappeared. He was an old man by now and had been confined to the government's comfortable institution for the violently insane. Here he was kindly treated and, apart from his habit of sticking pins into the guards when they were'nt looking, appeared to be a quiet and happy inmate. As for the public, it didn't care about the decision to keep pins in shirts because it had lost its shirt long ago. And, as Minister of Agriculture Knowles said in a notable speech, the country had been resuced from a capitalists' plot and was now safe for the stuffed shirts.

"Sour Notes"

If Russia wants to serve notice that she proposes to occupy a preponderant place in the peace councils comparable with her preponderant place in the fighting we do not think the way to do it is to announce that henceforth Russia must be regarded as 16 nations with, presumably, 16 votes to our one. That is not the only interpretation of Russia's latest political move. Undoubtedly it means a great deal more. But it is the interpretation which sticks in the minds of most Americans, including those who are perfectly willing to have Russia occupy the place in the world to which her great accomplishments entitle her. With the best of good will for Russia, they nevertheless resent the introduction of that sour note into our relations. Their automatic reaction is that any of the great nations which wants to create difficulties can play that game. We could point to plenty of law and custom to uphold the contention that this country is comprised of 48 sovereign nations, each to be recognised and vote as such in international gatherings. And Britain alone, apart from the other nations of the British Commonwealth, could present a perfect case to show that her home islands consist of four distinct and historic nations—England, Scotland, Wales and North Ireland.—New York Post.

Defect

The speaker in a church hall had got fairly well along in his explanation of the Beveridge report. One listener leaned over to his neighbour.

"Does he mean that us working people have got to pay for it?" he asked.

"Sure," said the other careful listener.

"Heck!" exclaimed the first one. "That ain't so good."—The Printed Word

"SECOND FRONT" THE AXIS HOPED TO WIN ON!

Mr. Campbell Smart and Beer Exports

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

WE do not think many Canadians interested in the matter will be impressed by the "explanation" of beer exports to the United States offered by Mr. Campbell L. Smart of Montreal. Mr. Smart, president of the Dominion Brewers' Association, declared that the overwhelming bulk of beer shipped across the border was for reshipment to Empire troops, and that only a negligible quantity remained in the United States for domestic consumption. As far as it goes, the statement is acceptable, but its incompleteness and its source of origin will bring on a fresh flood of questions from the beer-drinkers of this country.

They will want to know, for one thing, the figures upon which Mr. Smart based his declaration. They will then be able to judge for themselves how well justified are the terms "overwhelming bulk" and "negligible quantity." They will want to know why so much beer for Empire troops had to go to the United States for reshipment, when this country has Atlantic and Pacific ports from which ships sail very, very frequently. And they will certain want to know why this attempt at explanation was made by Mr. Smart, instead of by a spokesman for the Government department concerned.

The figures on beer gallonage released by the Government are badly in need of explanation, but that explanation should come from an authoritative official source. This source should make public the exact figures on beer exported, both for reshipment and for consumption in the country to which it was first sent. When these figures have been released, another explanation still remains to be made. It concerns the surplus gallonage which, according to governmental figures, still exists in this country.

These figures show rather clearly that the reason given for reducing domestic consumption of beer—that of insufficient manpower—no longer holds water, much less beer. The restriction went in force at the beginning of last year. Manpower revisions presumably have been made since then. Yet during last year, the breweries of the country increased their production of beer by 7,896,931 gallons over 1942. And this increase of approximately seven per cent took place while Canadians were forced to accept a ten per cent consumption reduction, on the pretext that the manpower shortage would only permit brewing the lesser amount.

So we find the beer brewed in 1943 amounted to 108,980,613 gallons. Domestic consumption was ordered limited to 88,130,000 gallons, leaving a balance of 20,850,613 gallons. Of this, 5,351,153 gallons were exported, leaving a surplus of 15,499,460 gallons. Under the restrictions now in force, this beer cannot be released for domestic consumption, although it may be exported. There is an ominous resemblance to dictatorship when people are denied the right to purchase a commodity of which a huge surplus exists. As far as we have seen, no valid explanation of this arbitrary restriction has been offered. Canadians are entitled to either the explanation—or the beer.

This newspaper holds no brief for the beer-drinkers of Canada, and certainly it is not in the least concerned with pleading the case for the brewing industry. But we are very definitely concerned with any threat to the rights of Canadian citizens. Canadians who wish to do so are legally entitled to buy beer in eight provinces. The beer is there; the figures show that. Yet Canadians are told they can't have it, and are treated to the silly spectacle of a great brewery selling its daily quota in an hour and fifteen minutes—and at the same time being forced to rent extra space in which to store its surplus supplies.

There are many people in Canada who think beer-drinking is wrong. We have no quarrel with their thinking so; it is their right. They have also the right to plead the cause of temperance, and this newspaper will enthusiastically support their plea. But we cannot support those who advocate prohibition—because we do not believe it to be in the best interests of Canada—and the present restriction on beer sale, unless some logical explanation exists, has all the earmarks of a purely prohibitory order. For a great many people, the present ration is more than ample. However, there are many Canadians—truly temperate Canadians—to whom the ration appears inadequate. To these in particular, and in general to all interested in individual rights, the Government owes an explanation.

Canada Says No

(The following is an editorial reprinted from The Chicago Tribune. It is of interest as showing how an isolationist and anti-British paper regards the reaction of Prime Minister King to Lord Halifax's speech on the need of a more unified Commonwealth.)

CANADA'S Premier, Mackenzie King, has rejected the suggestion that there be a closer organic relation between the members of the British Commonwealth. In a recent speech in Toronto, Ambassador Halifax had urged Canada and the other dominions to participate in the formation of imperial foreign policy. The dominions promptly followed Britain into the last war and into this one; it was only fair to them, he felt, they should have a voice in the great decisions which mean war or peace. He hoped they would join in some sort of an imperial council by virtue of which Britain and her dominions together would be more nearly equal in strength to the other great powers: the United States, Russia, and, he added, China.

Mr. King and Mr. Churchill discussed this proposal before their parliaments almost at the same moment. Mr. Churchill insisted that Halifax's views were not those of the Government he represents in the United States but were merely personal observations and as such "a valuable contribution to the study of the subject." Mr. King said he didn't want to see Canada become a pawn in the rivalries of the great powers, situated as she is, between the United States and the Soviet Union. He favored instead a world organization for peace, in which all nations, Canada and the other dominions included, should have a voice.

Mr. King's views disclose the growing uneasiness of the dominions over their relation with Britain. It is true that they have followed Britain into war, much as colonies are expected to do, but the Canadians for the most part don't want to be colonials and they do take the greatest pride in Canada's formal independence as a member of the British Commonwealth. Rightly or wrongly, they fear that the formation of anything like an imperial council, with power to command their allegiance, would undermine their independence. Among other things it would give the British an opportunity to manipulate the dominions by means of social favors.

The Canadians cannot be unaware of the ease with which the British have taken America into camp by just such devices. If that can be done to America, with all her strength and all her independence of imperial ties, how much more easily it can be done to Canada! A few honours, a few garden parties, a few invitations to shoot on the moors should turn the trick.

Canadians don't want to be manipulated. Many of them are wondering what they got out of the last war and what they are going to get from this one to justify the cost to them. They fear that a closer association with Britain will mean not less involvement but more. Accordingly, Mr. King says he wants no part of the Halifax proposal and, in so saying, he no doubt is speaking for the majority of his people.

The position he has taken is interesting from another viewpoint. Those who are arguing for a federal union of the so-called democracies can observe in this incident the rejection of federal union by the British Commonwealth itself. If the Commonwealth shies from even the loose federation proposed by Halifax, what chance is there that Swedes and Americans will join Britain and Canada in a tight one?

Stiff Sentences

In England the courts are rough on those who indulge in the black market. London Times reported a short time ago the sentencing at Manchester of seven men and three women who had been convicted of illegal dealings in cloth and clothing. The value of the goods was estimated at £42,000. Here are the penalties imposed:

One man was sent to prison for five years and fined £2,700 plus costs of £200. Another received a four-year term, with a fine of £3,000 and £200 costs. Two others each went to jail for three years, each pay £1,500 and £100 costs; two got a year each, with fines of £200 and £20 costs; one got nine months with a fine of £75 and £20 costs. Each of the three women must spend six months in jail, pay a fine of £20 and £10 costs.—Vancouver Sun.

A Bible Message

And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you. And God said moreover unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The Lord God of our fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations. (Ex. 3: 13, 14.)

Thus saith the Lord, your redeemer, the Holy One of Israel . . . I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King. (Isa. 43: 14, 15.)

Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him? With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of judgment, and taught him knowledge, and shewed to him the way of understanding? Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing. . . .

To whom then will ye liken God? or what likeness will ye compare unto him? (Isa. 40: 13-15, 18.)

Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite. (Ps. 147: 5.)

Letter To The Editor

ALSO ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS

Sir,—I have read with interest your editorial in Saturday's paper re "Entertaining the Soldiers."

I cannot help wondering why you have overlooked the Kiwanis Club and the Salvation Army when you were handing out congratulations.

If it were not for these two organizations the soldiers would have no place to go when they leave the camp to spend the evening uptown.

I have had the pleasure of working in the Uptown Recreation Centre ever since it has been opened, having been in charge on Sunday evening during that time, and I know what a good work has been done for the boys by the Salvation Army.

We are indebted to the Kiwanis Club for starting the Recreation Centre, and the Salvation Army has done the work — and a real good work it has been, too.

The boys are privileged to bring their mending and sewing up there, where it is done free for them. They are well treated, and on more than one occasion I have known them to receive financial aid when in need of it.

I have also known boys with domestic worries who have come to the Salvation Army officer seeking advice in their trouble and getting spiritual aid as well.

We have over three hundred girls on our Canteen list who give their time freely to entertain the soldiers—girls who work hard all day and then come up with a smile to spend the evening in cheerful entertainment, thus keeping up the morale of the boys.

This work has been going on for over three years now. We have an average of four thousand soldiers a month enjoying the hospitality of the Recreation Centre, so please give credit where credit is due to the Kiwanis Club and the Salvation Army.

I might say I am not a Salvationist but I have very great respect for them.—Yours truly.

MRS. S. A. DEYMAN.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Examiner offered its congratulations to the organizations named when they began their excellent work, and has repeated them more than once since then.

Unconsidered Trifles

A party of actors travelling by train were indulging in personal reminiscences.

One stated that he had recently dreamt that he went to Heaven. When he arrived he was informed that everything there was magnified to a wonderful extent. A minute became a million years and a penny a million pounds. The latter fact impressed him particularly, so, advancing to St. Peter, he said:

"Will you lend me a penny, please?"

"Certainly," St. Peter answered. "Just a minute."

IF YOUR CHILD IS THIN and NERVOUS

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

Children who are thin, nervous and under par, science has discovered, are often found to be eating foods which do not give them enough of the essential food elements everyone needs for health.

As a "protecting" food-drink, New, Improved Ovaltine adds to a child's meals the essential food elements most likely to be deficient in the diet.

Three servings of New, Improved Ovaltine furnish a child with a significant portion of his daily requirement of Vitamins A, B_1, and D, and the minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron—also quick food-energy elements and high quality proteins—all for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child is thin, nervous, under par, or eats poorly, why not start giving New, Improved Ovaltine regularly? Get Ovaltine at your drug or food store.

The choir sang without accompaniment, under the direction of Mr. Q. McKinney.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

February 15, 1944

One of the most graceful, and figure flattering of the new spring silhouettes, is the smooth sleek unbelted line. It does much to give one that coveted long, lean, look. It is definitely a silhouette that can be given much thought when planning your spring wardrobe.

The bolero takes a goodly share of the coming season's limelight, both in suits and dresses. It is interesting to know that the bolero is an ageless fashion, a gay deceiver of the age of the wearer.

The taper slim dress is one that can be worn from day to dinner. The bateau neckline, introduces that very smart covered up look. This dress made in either wool or crepe, has a side closing, two large jewelled buttons at the neck, and two bows at the waist line to emphasize this side effect.

Another very clever style in black, waist having a narrow peplum, the front of waist being scalloped, and three large buttons, one on each scallop, while around the neck, and down the front is pleated white muslin in frill effect, and this is also shown around bottom of the three-quarter length sleeves. The skirt is plain and narrow. With this is worn a small pompadour hat in white straw, with nose veil.

A new chic suit, (the Adrian Suit) made of British Samek Cashardine, plain, short skirt, hip length jacket, with narrow lay down collar. This is stitched to form a yolk effect and has three buttons, two at the neck and one at the natural waistline.

With this is worn a large hat, mushroom in shape, low oval crown, with ribbon bow at side.

A word about the new checks, which are so good looking for the younger set:

One in particular I will describe, made in checked rayon faille, shirt waist style buttoned from neckline to hemline with large white buttons. Very large patch pockets and narrow belt at waist line. A removable crisp white pique collar, and cuffs, with a white dutch bonnet, completes the ensemble.

The new neckwear is creating quite a lot of talk and will be much shown for the coming spring. Collars, cuffs, and jabots, worn on dark dresses and waists, and also on the light colored shirt waist, to be worn with the more tailored suit.

I will tell you more about the new neckwear next week.

DOROTHY DIX

WIFE MAKES OR BREAKS A MAN

No Husband Ever Gets Anywhere Whose Mate Is Spender Instead of Saver In Home.

A YOUNG woman who is about to be married asks: "What can a wife do to, and for, her husband?" The answer is: A-plenty. When a man marries he practically puts his fate into his bride's hands, and unless he is a sort of human Gibraltar he ends up by being what she made him.

Tradition and the law make the husband the head of the house, and probably every optimistic bridegroom thinks that it is going to be no trick at all to change Angel Face a little nearer to his heart's desire. He never suspects but that she will just automatically adopt all of his ways, habits and opinions, yet, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, it is Angel Face who rules the roost and who makes him over according to her taste.

Wife Always Influences Man

Why wives should have so much more influence over their husbands than their husbands have over them is one of the mysteries of the marriage relationship that nobody can explain. It just is. And we tacitly recognize this phenomenon when we say, as we so often do, that a man's wife has made him, or ruined him, but we never speak of a husband having changed his wife by even so much as a hair of her head.

A familiar example of this is to found in the fact that the average married man has no friends outside of his business or professional ones. Everyone he knows and goes with are his wife's friends. For the first thing a bride does is to give her husband's old cronies such a slice of cold shoulder when he brings them home to dinner with him that they never come back for a second helping.

The husband's family suffers the same fate. The wife's kin camp in the guest room, but the husband has to ask his wife's permission to have any of his people come for just a short visit. Many a jealous wife even succeeds in so completely alienating a man from the mother who bore him that he never goes to see her, or writes to her, or dares to send her a little check; but a wife clings to her family and helps them, no matter what her husband thinks about it.

No man, except he is a genius, can achieve his ambitions unless his wife fights shoulder to shoulder with him. She can balk him in a thousand ways. All of us have known talented young men, who had already gotten a good start climbing the ladder of success and from whom we looked for great things, who just slumped into nothingness after they married. And we wondered why.

Women Kill Genius In Some Men's Souls

The explanation is that they had married women who put out the fire of genius in their souls. I think now of a brilliant young man I knew who would have risen to the top of his profession if his wife had not wrecked him by her social ambitions.

Most of the big fortunes have been built on the pennies that the wives pinched. When a poor boy and girl married and started life together. They lived in a shabby room. She wore hand-me-downs. She walked blocks to save a few cents on the groceries. She sat up nights to wash his shirts. She hopped the bus and that's why they can ride in chaises now. But no poor man ever gets anywhere who has a wife who is a spender instead of a saver, for nothing is truer than the old saying that a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than the man can put in it with a shovel.

Oh, yes, a wife can do a'plenty to a man, and for a man. She can keep his nose to the grindstone by trying to keep up with the Joneses. She can nag him until she breaks his spirit. She can belittle him until she kills his belief in himself. She can drive him to drink, or to the Other Woman.

Or she can buck him up by her admiration and belief in him so that he can accomplish the impossible. She can make friends for him. And she can make him a peaceful, comfortable and happy home that will enable him to make the best of such talents as God has given him.

Which are you doing, Madam?

For Wednesday, February 16

THE FORECAST for this day encourages the intelligent, resourceful and enterprising grasp of elements at hand for improving the business, professional and other advantages that seem to await a quick grasp in decisive directions, by means of well-thought ideas, fresh programs and keen insight into improving situations. This possibly against some tenacious obstacles or stubborn impediment. Persistence, patience and clever work, without contention or arguments, and minus financial hazard, should solve difficulties. Perhaps change, travel, dealing with agencies may assist, but avoid litigation.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday is is may look for a year in which definite progress and advancement are possible, but under well-organized programs, swift grasp of opportunities, but within accepted codes and tenets, in case there should be legal or other disagreeable involvements, arguments or strife. The mental energies in cleverly worked out ideas may break up opposition, impediments or other frustrating circumstances. Change, travel, agencies, new tactics, may be successful but be careful in the matter of unwarranted financial outlay. Be thrifty.

A child born on this day may have prospects for a progressive career by its trend to the new and original, possibly in professional lines. Its tendency to extravagance might involve it with the law or offend superiors.

With a chance to help materially the Peterborough Food Industry's war stamps sale and also to see one of the best wrestling cards that Promoter Tunney has staged here it is expected Peterborough fans will give the wrestling bill at the Brock Street Arena tonight, under the auspices of the local committee of food merchants, record patronage. Tunney cheerfully agreed to co-operate with the committee and he has lived up to his end of the bargain by staging a big league program for the occasion. The opportunity to see a bout that Toronto fans have been clamoring for with Whipper Billy Watson stacked up against the big bomber from the Pacific Coast, Vic Holbrook, gives tonight's affair a main bout that should have everything. Holbrook, young, good-looking, huge and fast, is likely to prove one of the toughest opponents the Whipper has faced here. The collegian, a great athlete who starred in football and swimming before he took to the grappling game has beaten all and sundry in a long string of bouts on the coast and he seems to have about everything in his repertoire. Watson will have to be at his best every minute tonight if he hopes to knock off the six-foot-five Holbrook. The other bouts are worthy of the main attraction. Pat Flanagan is sure of a stormy session in the middle bout with Jan Gotch as his opponent and Joe Maich, the Brantford flash takes on plenty of trouble in meeting Bunny Dunlop in the curtain-raiser.

A former well-known Peterborough athlete and sporting executive paid this city a brief visit over the week-end in the person of Leonard Dobson, of Vancouver, who visited his mother here for a couple of days. Len will be well remembered by Peterborough hockey and ball fans before the first Great War. As a hockey player he starred for a number of seasons in the City League as a member of two famous clubs of that era, the Strathconas and the West End Athletic Club. Later he played centre for the Peterborough intermediate squad. In baseball he was also a well-known performer in City League ranks and afterwards when Peterborough entered a club in the Canadian Professional Cub "Dobbie" was appointed road secretary of the outfit and in that capacity he was decidedly popular with the players. He served overseas in the first Great War and when he returned at the close of hostilities went west. For many years he has been living in Vancouver but although his interests have been on the coast for a long period and he has made infrequent visits home, he still retains keen recollections of the days when he was a prominent figure in Peterborough sporting circles.

Piling Up A Record

Oshawa Generals' win over the Hamilton Whizzers gave the Motor City team a total of 42 points for the season and a scoring total of 184 goals. Discussing the record made by the Generals in an article written before the Hamilton result was known George Campbell does a little pointing with pride as follows: "A victory for Oshawa Generals tonight will give them a total of 40 points, which will be quite an impressive total for a Junior team. Oshawa's scoring record, both goals "for" and goals "against" is right now something of a record in Junior O.H.A. history. Even the great St. Mike's undefeated team of 1933 didn't have as much scoring success. The Gens have scored 184 goals already and the way they are going, they are apt to reach the 200 mark before the schedule ends. Wouldn't that be something. So far, they have had 50 goals scored against Bennett, while St. Mike's have had 62 scored against them in the same number of games and have scored 136 themselves. All this adds interest to the game at Maple Leaf Gardens this coming Tuesday night when the Generals face St. Mike's for the last time in the schedule. The "Irish" are really out to win this one. Quite a few Oshawa fans are going to take in this game Tuesday night in Toronto and they are expecting a near sellout. Personally, we think there'll be about 9,500 on hand. It's still not playoff time and Toronto hockey fans always wait for the playoffs."

The playoff stage has been reached in the Belleville junior group and in the opening games the Trenton team beat the Belleville kids 6 to 5 at Trenton while the Tweed outfit who had a bye into the group playoffs threw a scare into the Marmora-Stirling Combines. The Tweed invaders had the Combines all tied up at 5 goals each with ten minutes to go but the Marmora-Stirling gang finally got untracked and scored five goals without a comeback to win 10 to 5. As for the Belleville-Trenton game Ken Colling has this to say: "Rattling home two goals in the only overtime period of the group Stan Jackson's Trenton kids came from behind so often it wasn't ever funny and grabbed a 6-5 win over Toots Holway's locals in the first game of the junior O.H.A. playoffs. It was the closest the local sextette have come to beating Trenton at home this season and now all Skipper Holway's team has to do is get a little moral support from the local fans and maybe FO. Jackson won't think so much of his charges. The score sheet shows that Belleville was never headed last night until the overtime period. Twice in the third stanza the locals were out ahead and after Jerry Moher scored the first overtime goal, that put the locals up four times in the game, they failed to hold their advantage. Maybe the small ice surface in Trenton confused the locals, but from afar it looks like a steadier defence would have won the day. On the other hand it may have been too much Maxwell, Lemorre and Hamilton who spoiled the locals' broth, but again a strong defence could halt this trio."

Al Fooled Them

Peterborough curlers who have made the acquaintance of Al Murray during his visits to this city as a member of Skip Diesbourgh's formidable Kitchener rink will appreciate the following reference to the former New York American hockey star in Chick Appel's sport column in the Stratford Beacon-Herald: "This observer was not a resident of Stratford when Al Murray was dropped from the local junior team some years ago, because he was rated under par for top junior company, so the story goes. Al lived and improved to make Stratford hockey bosses regret their possible too hasty action. One hundred and thirty-five pounds, or thereabouts, was not considered sufficient avoirdupois for a defenceman in either junior or senior ranks in those days. However, Al went up to South Porcupine, where he became such a standout in senior hockey that the Buffalo Bisons snapped him up. Once in moneyed ranks it wasn't long before Al caught the eye of the major scouts, and he soon wound up with the New York Americans, where he proved a bulwark on the defence for several years. His major league career hardly lasted as long as bigger and heavier players, and the bruising type of hockey in those days finally caught up with him."

Hamilton Majors were shy some of their regulars when they started last night's game with Toronto Navy but even at that should have been able to have done better than finish on the small end of a score of 5 to 4. The Majors have been one of the mystery teams of the year. They started the season sizzling hot, setting a pace that made them look not only the best amateur club in this section of the country but good enough to hook up with most of the N.H.L. clubs on even footing. Then they suddenly bogged down and have been in and out ever since. If they get hot for the playoffs they still have a chance to knock off the St. Catharines Saints for the O.H.A. title. But they will have to return to their best form to do that.

Sweden's Haegg May Yet Break Two-Mile Record

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—(CP)—Thirty seconds have been shaved off the two-mile track time in the 60 years since Walter George of England was credited with the first mark, but of all track records it is one which seems most likley to fall.

And Gunder Haegg is the reason for such a view even though the former Swedish fireman says he's beyond his peak and may not go to the cinder path very often this year.

Still, Gunder the Wonder believes his two-mile record of 8:47.8, made in Sweden in 1942, is the poorest of his marks. He's certain he can better his time. He tried on several occasions during his visit to this country last summer but the best he could do was 8:51.3 in Cleveland.

England, Sweden and Finland have had two record holders in the 60 years while the United States and Hungary each produced one.

Held 20 Years

The only American to be officially credited with a two-mile mark was Don Lash of Indiana who ran eight laps in 8:58.4 in 1936. George's first mark in 1884 was 9:17.4. It held up for 20 years until Alfie Shrubb, another Englishman who now makes his home in Bowmanville, Ont., whirled the distance in 9:09.6.

Twenty-two years later Edwin Wide of Sweden was clocked in 9:01.4 but in 1931 Paavo Nurmi of Finland went under nine minutes covering the distance in 8:59.6.

Lash clipped Nurmi's mark in 1936 but the following year, Miklos Szabo of Hungary ran a sizzling 8:56. In 1939 Taisto Maki of Finland was timed in 8:53.1.

The record held until 1942 when Haegg turned in a sensational 8:47.8—the mark he believes could be lowered without too much effort.

For the third time Helen, former queen of the tennis courts, is coming out of retirement after doctors had told her less than a year ago she might never play again when they had removed infected bones from her playing hand following injuries caused by fighting dogs. But Helen Willis Moody Roar is playing three and four times a week on the courts at Los Angeles in preparation for her comeback.

Helen Wills captured the United States championship seven years in a row came back after a two-year retirement to win the Wimbledon crown in 1935; retired another three years, but returned to win it again. Now 38 years of age and after 16 years of competition since she captured her first title at Berkeley, Calif., in 1921, she is making progress. Before trying any strenuous tournament play she plans to engage in a number of exhibition matches.

Following his discharge from the Canadian Army, Defenceman Joe Cooper, with New York Rangers four years ago, said yesterday in Montreal he would join Chicago Black Hawks of the N.H.L. if permitted to cross the border. He played with Ottawa Commandos against Quebec Aces in the Quebec Senior League last Sunday.

Secretary Eddie Brannick of the New York Giants announced yesterday Joe Medwick, veteran outfielder, obtained from the Brooklyn Dodgers last June, was the first to sign his 1944 contract.

Dodgers Cost Too High For Mr. Meyer

By TED MEIER,
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — (AP) — A bid of $1,010,000 has proved insufficient to buy a controlling interest in the Brooklyn Dodger National League baseball club.

Max C. Meyer, Brooklyn jeweler, made that disclosure last night in announcing he and his associates had decided to drop their efforts to purchase the club because "we were confronted with the proposition of assuming financial burdens which we felt we could not take on."

Meyer did not explain the nature of the additional financial burdens, but persons acquainted with the club's financial setup indicated he may have referred to $150,000 or $300,000 in unpaid salaries due several directors of the club.

The Meyer group had hoped to purchase 75 per cent of the club's outstanding stock. Meyer explained they were ready to pay $260,000 for 25 per cent of the stock held by the Edward McKeever heirs and $750,000 for the 50 per cent, held by the heirs of the late Charles Ebbets.

Meantime Branch Rickey, president of the club, learned the Dodgers may not have the services of four players during the forthcoming season.

Outfielder Dixie Walker and catcher Bobby Bragan, both of whom live in Birmingham, Ala., notified the Dodger front office they have been reclassified 1-A. Pitcher Bill Sayles had enlisted in the Army Air Corps after passing a pre-induction physical examination at Portland, Ore. Star second baseman Billy Herman has applied for a job in a war plant near his New Albany Ind., home.

Hamilton Bows To Sailors In Surprise Win

By The Canadian Press.

The unpredictable Navy steamed through with an 8-4 triumph against Hamilton Majors in the senior series of the Ontario Hockey Association at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens last night, thwarting any effort on the part of the visitors to overtake the leading Saints of St. Catharines who are at the top of the league standing with seven points to spare over the Hamiltonians.

Hamilton started off in fine style in each period with at least one counter, but the Sailors did the finishing each time. The Tars were out in front 3-1 at the close of the first and ran it up to 5-2 in the second stanza, then outscored the visitors 3-2 in the final dash.

Hugh Barlow and Dave Livingstone tied for Navy scoring honors with a trio of twine-ticklers each, Hal Baycoe, former Winnipegger, and Snyder notching one apiece. Dillon Brady scored two of Hamilton's tallies, with singles for Doug Runions and Davey.

The Toronto Bluejackets play a return game at Hamilton Wednesday and the Majors and St. Catharines will have three scheduled engagements after that, with each playing Navy once more before the closing date, February 26. If the Saints lose all remaining starts, Majors can climb into first place with wins in their four games, which can be classed as an outside possibility.

TORONTO, Feb. 15—(CP)—Motto of the Patricia Bay R.C.A.F. men's basketball team is "keep 'em winking."

When the Air Force announced extension of its ban in participation in hockey with civilian teams to include all sports, a spokesman said continued participation of the Pat Bay Gremlins in the British Columbia cage league after the ban was first announced probably would be "winked at" but it was indicated Gremlins would have to withdraw from further competition outside garrison play.

Apparently headquarters is still winking because Gremlins are still playing in the coast circuit. And latest word from the Gremlins is that they expect the winking to continue right through to spring while the Pat Bay Fliers whoop through the interprovincial play-offs in defence of their national championship.

Incidentally, Gremlins are far from a one-man team. When they scored their fourth straight league win the other night in Vancouver, beating B.C. University 44-37, their redoubtable scoring star, Norm Baker, was held to two points but Porky Andrews got 15 and Pop Pay 14.

Quip of the Week Club:

Sport Interchange

Y.M.C.A. war services supervisors report R.A.F. boys at Canadian training stations are taking up hockey and basketball. On some western R.A.F. stations there are as many as 12 hockey teams.

Incidentally:

Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning reports Oshawa generals are worried about their defence and have had a representatives in Winnipeg interviewing defencemen there with the idea of transporting them east for the junior hockey play-offs . . . Clarence Drouillard, former professional, is still playing hockey in the Windsor City League and Doug Vaughan of the Windsor Star says Drouillard was invited to try out with Toronto Leafs this year. Vaughan says the veteran refused the offer because he has a good job in Windsor.

Berger Ready To Clip Beau

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16 (AP)—It's Westward ho! for Beau (the jumping) Jack tonight—his first venture out of Eastern fight rings since he swapped a Georgia shoe-shine brush for boxing gloves.

Armed with the New York lightweight title and 1 to 2 betting odds, the Beau meets Montreal's veteran Maxie Berger in a 10-round non-title bout in Public Hall.

Berger's contribution to the soiree is the experience of 16 straight ring victories and ambition to rise at Jack's expense.

Carrying a weight advantage of about 10 pounds, Berger will be in his first main event here. On this bout he pins his hopes of hitting boxing's big time.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins said he expects a sellout crowd in the big downtown hall. The gate is expected to exceed $40,000.

Ray Arcel, Berger's manager, and trainer who handled Beau Jack when the shoeshine boy first reached New York, predicted a "whale of a fight."

"When you're in there with Beau Jack you either fight or jump over the ropes," Arcel said. "Berger isn't the kind to jump out of the ring. He has plenty of heart."

"I can handle him," says Berger, reviewing his past experiences.

Referring to Berger's weight advantage, Jack's camp said "the enemy's welcome to it."

Herbie Cain Tops Scorers

MONTREAL, Feb. 15 (CP)—Herbie Cain of Boston Bruins picked up five points, all assists, during the last week of National Hockey League play and went into undisputed possession of first place in the league's official point standings.

The N.H.L.'s figures put Lorne Carr of Toronto in second spot, two points behind Cain, with whom he had been tied last week. Seven points behind Carr, with 53 points each, come Doug Bentley and Bill Mosienko of Chicago.

In fourth spot is Boston's Bill Cowley, who returned to action Sunday night after a layoff of more than three weeks due to injuries. Cowley is still only 10 points off the pace although he has played 10 games less than the other leaders.

Cain leads in goals with an even 30, while Carr has 28 and Mud Bruneteau of Detroit 27. In the assist department, Elmer Lach of Canadiens moved into the lead with 36, two ahead of Clint Smith of Chicago and Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens, and three ahead of Cowley.

Harold Jackson of Detroit has moved out in front in penalties with 64 minutes in the box so far, a minute more than Mike McMahon of Canadiens.

Don Best Wins Two Rounds In Ontario Spiel

TORONTO, Feb. 15 — (CP). — All 128 entries in the 17th annual Ontario bonspiel saw action in the first day's play which ended early this morning with two rounds completed for the Royal York Trophy and 29 matches played in the Sieberling Trophy competition.

Upsets were few in the opening day's play, most notable being the 12-10 defeat by J. H. Spiers' Barrie rink of Toronto Royals, skipped by Ed Young, co-holder last year of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophy for highest aggregate. The Chapleau rink of A. McN. Austin also met first-round defeat at the hands of G. H. Weld's Toronto Granite entry. Rev. J. S. Shortt's Toronto High Park rink, the Kirkland Lake rink of Jerry Abrams, and E. F. Priddle's Gore Bay entry all won opening rounds in the Royal York Trophy competition but were eliminated in the second round.

Don Best's powerful Kirkland Lake rink swept through the first two rounds with convincing wins over Toronto and Orillia rinks, as did the rink skipped by J. F. Shaw well-known Sault Ste. Marie curler. Perry Hall's Kitchener rink was also a double winner.

Three Draws.

First round play in the Sieberling Trophy event, open to first-round losers in the Royal York Trophy competition, saw victories for rinks skipped by D. H. McNabb of Orillia, J. R. Rae of Wingham, and A. McN. Austin of Chapleau.

Play continues to-day with three draws, first of which will see the first-round completion of the Sieberling Trophy competition and the beginning of play for the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophy, which continues for the two afternoon draws.

Following are partial results of fourth and fifth draws in the 17th annual Ontario Bonspiel being held here:

Caldwell Trails

WINNIPEG (CP)—Jack Caldwell of Hamiota, Man., one of the three leading contenders for grand aggregate laurels in Manitoba's 56th annual Bonspiel, was virtually eliminated from the race last night, following an 11-4 defeat at the hands of W. Johnson's rink from Kenora, Ont. The setback came in the British Consuls Trophy event, one of the major competitions of the 'Spiel. As a result of his defeat Caldwell now trails H. L. Morrow, of Melita, Man., the aggregate pace-setter, by three games.

Curious German Sentry Sets Off Flare Takes To Heel As Barrage Opens Up

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY, Feb. 15—(CP Cable) —Troops of the Canadian corps continued active patrolling along the Arielli river front four miles north of Ortona Sunday despite a night-long gale and snowstorm which limited visibility to a few feet.

The enemy, probably keeping under cover because of the weather, offered less opposition than usual, but most patrols ran into a smattering of machine-gun fire.

There was no reports, however, of either side inflicting casualties. The weather improved later Sunday but was still cold.

All guns of a Canadian field regiment thundered out during the night against a lone, startled German sentry. Here is why:

Canadians on patrol arranged to fire a colored flare if they encountered the enemy. Their sortie was uneventful but as they returned to their lines a German watching them in silence set off a flare.

Unfortunately for him, he chose the same color as the Canadian signal and when last seen was running for life from exploding shells.

Rotarians Hold Question Period

Peterborough Rotarians took a post-graduate course in Rotary principles, ethics and aims and objects at the weekly luncheon of the club at the Empress Hotel on Monday when, under the chairmanship of Rotarian Frank Paterson, there was an interesting discussion on Rotary matters, as a contribution of the educational committee.

Rotarian E. C. Braund propounded the question "Why does Rotary limit membership in a club to but one man from each classification?" and the answer was given by Rotarian H. Keefer with comments by Rotarians E. L. Sackville and Fred L. Roy.

One of the reasons stressed was that the one-member-per-classification rule developed fellowship based on diversity of interest, rather than on similarity of interest.

The question as to how Rotarians might protect their membership if obliged to miss meetings of their club was asked by Rotarian Hugh Waddell with an answer by Rotarian John Hornell and comments by Rotarian Norm Nesbitt.

The question "What does Rotary mean by international service?" was asked by Rotarian Jack Fanning, and the answer as given by Rotarian Dr. Harold Long was, "By international service Rotary means to extend his horizon of thought those thing that a Rotarian does his own country. While he is a and action beyond the borders of sincere and patriotic citizen of his own country he desires to be thoughtful of and helpful to men of other lands and with them to advance international understanding and good will."

Rotarian Robert Abbott voiced the comment on that question.

Other Rotarians who took part in the informal discussion were James Juby and Ross L. Dobbin.

has brought a reappraisal here of the chances for a Russo-Finnish settlement—and they are pronounced fairly good.

There is little belief that Russian demands at this time would be too severe for the Helsinki Government in view of the military situation in which the northern nation now finds itself.

It is believed the Russians would be willing to make an armistice based on the boundaries set up in March 1940, which deprived the Finns of 16,000 square miles of territory, including the city of Viipuri and the naval base of Hangoe, on the Baltic sea. This settlement followed the Russo-Finnish war of 1939-40.

The Finns might not like the Russian armistice terms but there is nothing they can do about it except keep fighting in the certain knowledge that eventually they will face overwhelming assault. The Russians want the territory, as part of their Karelo-Finnish Republic, presumably to afford greater protection to the City of Leningrad, and to improve their naval position in the Baltic.

Rumanian Army Loses Almost 1 Million Men

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 — (CP) — The Soviet publication, War and the Working Class, was quoted by the Moscow radio to-day as declaring that Premier Ion Antonescu and his associates were hastening Rumania to "her final catastrophe" by continuing to carry out the orders of Hitler.

The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission. It said, in part:

"In 1941 Antonescu sent 26 to 30 divisions and four brigades, a total of about 1,000,000 men, to the Soviet-German front. A sad lot was in store for this Rumanian army. Near Odessa and in the Crimea they lost about 250,000 men in dead and wounded.

"After the smashing of the Germans in front of Moscow, Antonescu sent further divisions to the Soviet-German front at Hitler's behest. By the first of March, 1942, the losses of the Rumanian army amounted to about 400,000 men.

"At the approaches of Stalingrad alone the Red Army, in six weeks of fighting up to January 1, 1943, smashed 16 Rumanian divisions.

"Later two other Rumanian divisions were destroyed together with the German 6th Army. After that the remaining parts of the Rumanian army were.....destroyed or taken prisoner. Thus the Rumanian army was completely smashed.

"Now only a few severely-mauled Rumanian divisions remained in the Crimea and in the Ukraine to the right of the Dnieper, and those are in miserable condition."

Charlie Chaplin To Face Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15 —(AP)— Charles Chaplin, movie comedian, appeared at the U.S. marshal's office to-day to surrender to a grand jury charging him with violating the Mann Act and conspiring to defraud his former protege, 23 year old Joan Berry, of her civil rights.

Chaplin obviously was nervous and he refused to pose for photographers while he was being fingerprinted. Later he consented to look into the cameras as he signed some documents. He was accompanied by his counsel, Jerry Giesler, one of Southern California' outstanding criminal lawyers.

Capt. W. W. White of the Beverly Hills police and Robert Arden, radio announcer and friend of Chaplin, also appeared for fingerprinting at the marshal's office. They are charged with conspiracy to defraud Miss Berry of her civil rights after her arrest on a vagrancy charge in Beverly Hills 13 months ago.

BREN GUN

Their Bren guns sputtering volleys of leaden disaster, Canadian soldiers in Italy have proven that man for man they are fully equal to the best trained enemy troops.

A versatile weapon, equally useful for stationary and mobile firing, the Bren is a favorite among Canadians. Small, compact and easy to handle, it is particularly adaptable for troops advancing.

While it cannot make much impression against a tank or armour-plate the Bren through long and constant usage has been proven most efficient where bodies of infantry troops face each other. It is capable of firing both single rounds and bursts.

last year Germany reformed, re-equipped and raised more than 60 new divisions, each with 600 machine-guns and 300 heavier weapons. In their armament were new models of tanks, self-propelled guns, rocket guns and other equipment equal to and in some cases better than anything the Allies have.

Road Is Long.

Looking back, the Minister recalled that it took 2½ years to drive the enemy out of Africa and get into the fringe of Europe in Italy.

Looking ahead he said:

"The Continent of Europe has still to be retaken. The superb fighting in Russia has still to be matched. China must be liberated and Hong Kong avenged. Burma, Malay, Singapore and the Philippines must be regained and the southwest Pacific cleared. The enemies of mankind must be forced to unconditional surrender."

Col. Ralston set out to reply to questions about Gen. McNaughton asked by Mr. Graydon following the Minister's statement Friday. He gave particulars of the two medical reports on the General's health which he had given the house previously and said both were obtained on the instructions of Gen. McNaughton himself.

He disclosed that at one stage the General's doctors allowed no one to see him on business except Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, senior combatant officer at military headquarters in London.

He told Mr. Graydon that if it had not been for ill-health Gen. McNaughton would not have been granted leave and relieved of command at the time he was.

During questioning in committee the Minister was asked repeatedly about the future role of home-defence troops called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act. He said they are doing a job in Canada which would have had to be done by others if they were not there and that they constitute a "second line of reinforcements" for overseas service, should they become necessary.

Will Use Draftees.

"If we can get it I would rather have a volunteer army," he said. "If the time comes when it is necessary to do something else, then—as I have said before— as far as I am concerned I will be ready to make the recommendation."

The Minister said there are just over 70,000 home-defence troops not available for service anywhere. Of the total, some 34,900 are on operational duties in Canada and at posts in Newfoundland, Labrador and other outposts; some 15,000 are in process of training; and the remainder are on non-operational duties in servicing units, in depots awaiting transfers, and on leave.

The minister said the reinforcement pool overseas to meet battle casualties in the five divisions there is up to the planned level. To replenish it as it is drawn upon to replace casualties are some 60,000 troops on Canada available for overseas service. Back of them is the second line of some 50,000 home-defence troops fit for overseas service who could be sent overseas if it were decided to change the policy of sending only volunteers.

When he spoke to the House on army matters last year he gave the strength of the army in Canada as roughly 250,000, divided into 80,000 poerational troops, 80,000 non-operational and 80,000 in the training stream. He predicted a reduction to 235,000 during the year.

Last night he said the reduction would be greater. When the fiscal year ends next March 31, the army in Canada would be down to 215,000 —75,000 in the training stream, 75,000 non-operational and 55,000 operational, with a number of men on extended leave for work on farms, in mines and in forests who really should not be counted in the army.

During the next fiscal year, he said, the army intends to draw 60,000 men from Canada's manpower pool. 48,000 of them for overseas service. The estimated intake for the present year given in his previous statement was 100,000, 75,000 of them for overseas.

The minister told of a continuous comb-out of fit men from jobs in Canada for overseas service. It had proceeded so far that close to 70 per cent of the men in non-operational duties were either lower than "A" category or more than 35 years of age.

With a view to preparing plans for demobilization—although there was no thought it was near—each of the three services was setting up a special directorate.

It took the House well over an hour to get down to the business of the day yesterday owing to questions, clashes on points of procedure and a motion to adjourn to discuss the wage-control order.

Percy Black (PC-Cumberland) made the motion in view of the fact that part of the order was to come into effect today. He was ruled out of order after Mr. King said most of the order had been in effect since December.

Canada has made "no commitments" as to the extent or nature of her participation in the war against Japan but the army realizes Canada is at war against Japan and "plans are being made accordingly," the defence minister said, answering a question by J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South).

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced the United States will buy 175,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat this year if transportation facilities are available and that the fixed price for flax after next Aug. 1 will be $2.75 a bushel for No. 1 Western 25 cents above the present price.

Nazis Torture Red Prisoners

ALEXANDRA, Egypt, Feb. 15 — (AP)—Beatings, torture and death from cold and hunger are the lot of Russian prisoners in German hands, five Red Army soldiers who had escaped from the Axis said here.

The men now are at a British camp in the desert near here, awaiting repatriation after reaching the Allied lines in Italy.

Pte. Valentine Sizakim, an anti-tank gunner in the Red army's 96th division, was captured in February, 1942, near Chernikov.

He said Russian prisoners were herded into vast German prison transit camps, then selected like cattle for heavy labor squads.

Conditions were so bad in one camp at Belaya Tserkov that 28,000 Russians died of cold and hunger, he said. At another camp, the daily death rate among a shifting population of about 13,000 was 150. Women and children were imprisoned and treated the same as soldiers, he declared.

Sizakim said he and thousands of others were shipped to the Ruhr and employed at heavy manual labor. They received only a small portion of bread and two bowls of soup daily. Many died.

7,000 IN R.C.A.F. Study In Spare Time

TORONTO, Feb. 15 — (CP) — A group of 40 educational officers of the R.C.A.F. in annual conference at the No. 1 training command here to-day were told by Air Commodore G. N. Irwin: "The most important task confronting you officers at the present time is that of keeping the morale of the men on a high standing."

The conference continues until Wednesday and is co-ordinated with similar meetings of Canadian Army and Navy educational service officers.

Wing Commander H. R. Low, the R.C.A.F. director of education, declared that at present there are more than 7,000 men and women of the R.C.A.F. who are making good use of their spare time in academic, business or technical courses as a result of educational facilities placed at their disposal by unit educational officers of the R.C.A.F.

Educational officers are also proving their worth, he added, by assisting ground crew personnel to acquire the necessary educational qualifications for transfer to air crew. "To date, nearly 11,000 have re-mustered to aircrew," he said.

Humane Society Names Officers

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 15 (CP)—Officials of the Royal Canadian Humane Association here today said that only eight gold medals have been awarded in Canada in the 50 years' existence of the organization.

The information was revealed at the annual meeting recently at which it was stated that the gold medal awarded posthumously to Anthony Bennetti of Waterdown last year was the first in the last 15 years.

Altogether, the foundation has made awards to 3,159 persons involving the saving of 3,658 lives.

F. F. Treleaven, K.C., was re-elected president and Maj. R. E. McLaren, who is a prisoner of war in Germany, was re-elected with other investigating governors. W. B. Powell and M. W. Wickens, were added as members of the board.

It was further reported at the annual meeting that awards were made to eight members of the armed forces last year.

Anthony Bennetti, a non-swimmer, was awarded the gold medal pothumously for attempting to rescue three Waterdown children who stepped into a hole while wading in a gravel pit last June 4. All were drowned.

Thanks were extended to The Canadian Press and its membership newspapers for their co-operation during the year.

Chinese Girl Leads 18 Women Students

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 15 —(CP)— A Chinese girl—Esther Wong—led a group of 18 women students from the University of Western Ontario enrolled in the women's army course with a perfect set of marks in recent small arms training examinations, it was announced to-day.

The tests, conducted under the direction of Sgt. Major J. Cuthbertson of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps, were of the same standard as for men.

Miss Wong scored 85 out of a possible 85. The total was made up of a possible 50 for grouping, 20 for application and 15 for snap. Runner-up to Miss Wong, was Lenore Joes of Sarnia, Ont., with 84 and Helen Elizabeth Fraser of Ottawa, was third with 83.

SUFFERING FROM ACUTE CHEST CONGESTION MAN ASKS FOR "More Mustard"

MR. JOHN ALTIN, of Medicine Hat, Alberta, recalls being rushed to hospital back in 1918 critically ill with an acute chest congestion. The only remedy being used was pure mustard applied in poultices.

"I was so low one day that the nurse gave me to understand that I was in a very dangerous condition. I said, 'just forget about that and bring on some more MUSTARD', which she did right away. The new poultice was no sooner on than my breath came easier and I commenced to improve. Here's one man who can vouch for the value of mustard for it certainly helped to break up that acute condition".

Mrs. Altin uses mustard poultices to treat the Neuralgia in her shoulder. She says a good mustard poultice helps to relieve the distress very quickly.

Mustard Relieves Many Aches and Pains

The strongest proof of the value of mustard in treating so many common ailments is the fact that thousands of folks like the Altins depend on it year after year. Always keep mustard handy in your house in case of emergency to relieve chills or colds, or when you feel depressed by Grippe or other Winter infections. Use mustard in foot baths, complete baths, poultices or plasters to relieve pains of Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, over-tired muscles, etc. Never leave a poultice on longer than twenty minutes. If symptoms are serious call your doctor promptly.

Be sure that you buy famous Keen's D.S.F. Mustard made entirely from highest quality mustard seed, and packed to preserve its uniform quality and full medicinal strength. Sold by grocers and druggists everywhere.

A COLD RECOLLECTION.

A glance at the weather news today recalls that a year ago Peterborough's thermometers were showing 29 degrees below zero, one of the coldest periods of the winter.

REPORTER TAKEN ILL

Berkeley Boyle, former reporter with the Peterborough Examiner, and who was discharged from the Canadian Army has recently undergone an operation for appendicitis. He had obtained a position with the Toronto Star as a reporter when the attack came on.

HOSPITAL PROBLEM.

A survey among hospitals in the United States indicated that 82 per cent of them plan to remodel, re-equip or expand facilities when supplies and equipment are available. Estimated expenditure is two billion dollars "to help make up the national deficiency of 100,000 beds." C. J. Telfer, Ontario Inspector of Hospitals, has stated that there is hardly a community that is not planning some form of hospital addition or construction after the war.

SNOW TOO LATE.

The ski patrol of the Prince of Wales Rangers (RF), denied like others an opportunity of getting out and participating in tactical exercises up to date this year, was thwarted again on Sunday even though conditions were ideal for their work. The fall of snow came too late to get a manoeuvre organized for the week-end, but ski troopers will have their chance next week-end provided, as their headquarters adds sceptically, the snow lasts.

DROPS DEAD

W. J. Moore, 675 Water street, District Cheese Inspector for the Department of Agriculture, dropped dead around noon while he was shovelling snow in front of his home.

THE ANNUAL POLICE DRAW.

Tickets are to be issued at once for the annual dance and draw of the Peterborough police department for which there is an usually attractive list of prizes with which lucky purchasers of tickets will be rewarded. An outboard motor, a case of silver, a big radio, handsome rugs, a $100 Victory Bond and many other prizes are being offered.

CHILDREN WARNED.

The police department is issuing a warning to parents asking them to make sure that their children are cautioned against dangerous practices on the streets, now that winter weather conditions have made coasting and skiing possible. There have been some very narrow escapes from serious accidents, the police report. In several cases children on sleighs have almost been hit by passing cars and on another occasion a boy skied down an embankment right into the path of an automobile.

Turner's, Outboard Marine, the Peterborough Canoe, Quaker Oats, Westclox, and Raybestos; while donors were in from Fraserville, Lakefield, Indian River and Ida. Joseph Rowair made his eighth donation, and seventh donations were chalked up by William Glover, Harold Lang, Ken Hogg, William Garner, and Nelson McFadden.

North Monaghan Ready To Draft Annexation Bill

To get on with the business of annexation, North Monaghan council decided Monday afternoon to ask the city council for an early brass-tacks conference for the discussion of details of intermunicipal adjustment and generally to draft terms of agreement leading to a private bill.

Some City Hall opinion was expressed at the Municipal Board meeting here last week that nothing could be done before the year 1945, apparently expressing an inclination to let the new circumstances accommodate themselves to the pleasantly moving routine, instead of accelerating its pace to accommodate the prospectively incoming township as soon and as quickly as possible.

Some mention was made last week of the emergency work of assessing the several areas of the township and arranging to begin tax collection this year, providing that all other conditions have been satisfactorily settled preceding that stage.

North Monaghan opinion is simply to the effect that in the ordinary course of affairs the township would not be required to pay taxes until the middle of July and December in two instalments. That time basis would provide the city with five months on the one hand and nearly a year on the other to go ahead with whatever assessing is required, fix the rate and hold a Court of Revision, and thereby get the annexation proceedings beyond the stage of protocol.

Briefly, the township desires action and is asking for action especially for the purpose of clearing the municipal air for the benefit of the marginal ratepayers in order that they may know their position as soon as possible.

Salvage Drive In 2nd Area On Wednesday

Three bundles of scrap paper in eight city blocks of the west end of the city above Charlotte street and west of Reid and north to Park Hill road. Three tons collected in an area comprising one-fifth of the city!

Monday's response to the nation's appeal for paper salvage was negligible almost to the point of ridicule.

Imagine the pick-up trucks travelling eight city blocks and getting only three bundles of paper. Of course, that indifference could have been worse. There might have been no bundles at all.

The section of the city was expected to dig up ten tons of paper of all sorts, corrugated, newsprint, cardboard and so on.

Of course the lack of paper may reflect on the thoroughness of the recent collection of the Queen Mary school pupils whose paper sales totalled over $100.

Mayor Hamilton appeals to the public to clean house in this paper drive, dig up everything in sight and set it out in the area.

The second day of salvage collection will be held on Wednesday with the area this time being all homes between Reid street and the Otonabee river and between Charlotte street and Park Hill road, but not including George street business section.

There are six simple rules to follow which if observed will aid in speeding up the collection and also in getting the paper to the places where it is needed for manufacture.

1. All paper must be placed in bundles and tied securely.
2. All cardboard cartons should be flattened and tied. (No greased, waxed or carbon paper will be accepted).
3. No tin cans, eavestroughing, or tin of any nature will be accepted.
4. No metal bottle tops, bottles, or rubber will be accepted.
5. Do not put out "fats" for this salvage.
6. Collections will commence at eight in the morning, and in case of wet weather put salvage on the verandahs.

Harry Evans Dies At Age Of 85 Street Commissioner For Years

Street commissioner for thirty years until his retirement in 1932, Harry Evans died at an early hour this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. I. R. Rattenbury, 533 Bolivar Street.

Mr. Evans was born at Holland Landing on January 27, 1859, came to Peterborough as a small boy with his parents, and had lived here since that year, 1864. He attended the old Ashburnham School, also the South Central in the first year of its opening, and subsequently the Union School on Murray St. As a young man he was engaged in the building trade, but is more generally remembered as the city's first street commissioner. He also served on the old volunteer fire brigade.

Prior to his appointment as a city official, Mr. Evans had worked with the late William Langford in the construction by contract of some of the city's concrete sidewalks. It was from that connection and experience that he had come to the attention of the town council when municipalities generally began to take on the first refinements from the long accustomed board sidewalks which were becoming outmoded even before the turn of the century, and were considering the first paved streets, extension of sewers and water mains, improvements in street lighting and all the conveniences of living which were then luxuries. Some of them were beyond the conception of the time when Mr. Evans joined the staff of the Board of Works under the late City Engineer, T. A. S. Hay. He continued in that position for nearly twenty years, from 1913 until his retirement in 1932, as assistant to City Engineer R. H. Parsons.

Busy Time.

Those thirty years of Mr. Evans' employment produced all the major improvements in Peterborough's streets and they were endlessly busy for the Street Commissioner. New work was being continuously authorized by the council, and planned in the office of the City Engineer, but the supervision of employees and all the other details of construction devolved to Mr. Evans. He retained the confidence of successive councils and of both Mr. Hay and Mr. Parsons until physical conditions required him to relinquish the work he had carried on through three decades of the most expansive period of Peterborough's growth.

Does Good Job.

Much of the credit of the trimness and good order of Peterborough streets which frequently won praise from visitors was due to the ability and diligent work of Mr. Evans, and especially to his interest in the development of the city.

He was an ardent sportsman and for years was a member of the old Eagle Lake Hunt Club. He was a veteran of the Grand Lodge I.O.O.F., for more than fifty years was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and was also a member of Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M.

Mr. Evans is survived by five sons and three daughters: John B., Harry and Walter of Toronto; Mrs. I. R. Rattenbury, Peterborough; Mrs. Alex. S. Ross, E. Gordon Evans and W. Douglas Evans of Oshawa, and Mrs. R. B. Lees of Owen Sound.

The funeral will be on Thursday at 2 p.m. from the funeral home of A. Comstock & Sons, Water Street, to the Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church, of which Mr. Evans was a member.

HARRY EVANS,
Former street commissioner in the city of Peterborough for 30 years, died today. He was born in 1859.

Letters Run Food Close Second To Soldiers Miles From Home

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 15—(CP)—Next to rations, mail is probably the most important thing in the life of the fighting soldier it's his only direct link with home, relatives, friends and sweetheart.

Some officers say it's a toss-up whether food or letters take first place in personal importance to the soldier, though most agree food comes first.

When there's a mail parade in a battalion, word is quickly passed around. The men who get mail can't conceal their delight. Those who don't can't hide their disappointment.

RSM. Bill Adams of Winnipeg said once that the saddest sight he saw in Sicily was the first mail parade. All the gunners in his regiment dashed up when they heard mail had arrived. There were only three or four letters. "I've never seen so many crestfallen men," he declared.

Wants Real news

The average soldier probably would go through hall and high water all morning to get a letter from someone who means something to him. It's probably safe too to say that no person back home knowing a soldier in the field can do him a more welcome or greater favor than to write a chatty letter about home, describing living conditions, what people are talking about and little bits of personal news about the folks on his street.

Mail takes on all this importance because of the feeling of remoteness the individual soldier has several thousand miles from home, in a strange land, populated by strangers who aren't completely at ease even if he just passes the time of day. Lack of mail causes this sense of remoteness to become one of complete isolation.

A steady flow of letters between home and the soldier away from home is probably the only way to maintain family contacts that otherwise might suffer from long absence.

The Army realizing that plenty of mail means plenty of morale maintains a postal system that carries letters right up to the front-line with as little delay as possible.

Parcels Needed

Parcels receive the same handling and in the few days before Christmas, the 1st Canadian Division then engaged in the Ortona battle had orders that every effort was to be made to deliver them quickly so the troops would have tokens from their firesides Christmas Day.

Canadian gift cigarets are more than welcome to the troops. They are delivered as they arrive despite rumors among the Canadians at one time that their folks were under the impression cigarets could not be sent to Italy.

The troops in Italy are issued by the army with 10 cigarets a day but issue smokes, the same brand as given to other Eighth Army troops, were a standing joke among the Canadians, and Tommies as well as most of the Canadians said they were smokeable only when there was nothing else.

Issue of the brand in question now has been discontinued and better brands of English cigarets will be available. The others were the subject of discussion in British army newspapers for weeks and were even talked about in the British House of Commons.

Cavan District Repeats Aid For War Victims

For a district of its size, the Cavan Community has turned in considerable aid for the objects that the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund seeks to serve, a large portion of which has been raised through dances in the Community Hall there, which have been held from time to time particularly to help the fund along.

In this one manner alone, a total of $347.20 has been raised in a little over a year's time, when the gift of $10.00 listed in today's receipts is included, and that is quite an achievement worthy of more than passing mention, much of which has been due to the leadership given by Mervin Kinsman of that place, who in acting as representative for the fund in that district, has been of considerable service in its interest.

This of course also reflects back to the people of this Community who have supported both this and other types of effort from which the fund has benefitted, and their continued interest in this practical way will be much appreciated.

Suggests Personal Gifts

Few people if any would miss a small contribution on a regular weekly, monthly or quarterly basis, and it is surprising what could be accomplished in this one manner were people so minded, and since it would in the case of this fund come on a purely voluntary basis, would carry a full sincerity of purpose in wishing to give help in a personal way to alleviate all the suffering caused by air raids over Britain.

One personal gift from Mrs. F. Findley is noted in today's list, and every one of such that inspires others to give in a like manner, is helpful beyond the limits which the gift itself thus makes.

Including today's receipts, the fund now has a little over $650.00 on hand towards the next gift of £500, which requires the sum of $2,240.00 to complete, so a little over one-third of the journey has been covered towards this latest objective.

Draw on Cedar Chest

All Irishmen pay tribute to the memory of St. Patrick on March 17 in their own particular way, and so much good for their country is ascribed to him, nothing would seem more appropriate than that their celebrations should be made the means of doing some good in the war-torn world that exists today.

For the past few years, the management and staff of the Canadian Department Stores has staged an effort on behalf of the Fund on this day, which has had a prime part in raising the sum of $743.79 handed in by them to this date, and now they are at work on another effort which will culminate with a dance to be held on this coming St. Patrick's day in the Canadian Legion Hall.

Tickets are now on sale for a draw on a cedar chest, filled with all the nice things that anyone could wish for, which will be made during the course of this dance, and these may be procured from any member of the staff.

Previously acknowledged	$73,387.42
Proceeds of dance at Cavan Community Hall, per Mervin Kinsman	10.00
Mrs. F. Lindley	2.00
Total to date	$73,399.42

With The Boy Scouts

Cub and Scout parents are invited to attend.

St. Luke's.

Ralph Barker led the grand howl as the Cubs gathered around the council rock last week. Dizzman's relay opened the events of the evening after regular inspection was completed. Test work found the new Chums studying their law and promise under Akela, Baloo giving the 1st star boys' knot instruction and signalling also being practised. Ross Withers added his name to the world wide brotherhood of Scouting when he made his Cub promise at an investiture ceremony. Jack King also took another step forward in his promotion from Seconder to Sixer of the White Six. Doug Britnell and Hewitt Hamilton passed book balancing tests. The Red Six topped the competition for last month with 23 points. At Red Flower the story of a Chief's sacrifice was told.

B.P. Week.

Next week is B.P. week and we urge every Scout and Cub to do their best to renew their promise and carry it out to its fullness. We are expecting to hear of church parades and other events. Also starting from this Friday various radio programs are making a special mention of Scouts events. They are as follows:

8.30-9 p.m. Friday, Colgate program; Saturday, 19th, West McKnight, 7.00-7.15 p.m.; Sunday, 20th, Andy Clark at 10.00 a.m. His Excellency the Governor-General, Chief Scout for Canada, at 6.40-6.45 p.m.; Bayer program, 9.30-10.00 p.m.; Monday to Friday, Soldiers' Wife, 1130-11.45 p.m.; Monday to Friday, Happy Gang, 1.15 p.m.; Monday to Friday, Claire Wallace, 1.45 p.m.; Tuesday, 22nd, CBC, "Once a Scout" 7.00-7.30 p.m.; Town and Country, 8 p.m; John and Judy, 9.00-9.30 p.m.; Fibber McGee, 9.30-10.00 p.m.; Wednesday, "The Life of Lord Baden-Powell," 2 pm. Pacific time; Thursday, 24th, Winston Curry 10.45 a.m.; Fighting Navy, 9.30-10.00 p.m.; Friday, 25th, Wrigley Airband, 9.00-9.30 p.m.; Saturday, Share the Wealth, 8.30-9.00.

All times are E.D.T. except the one specially mentioned. We are also warned to look for our own local station for special announcements. Why not make it your plan to listen to every program possible, especially the Chief Scout's tank on Sunday.

Around Town.

We were glad to see Jim Hooper the other day. He is home on furlough.

Got word from Pete Dominik last week. He looks well according to the picture received. Also heard from Tom Littlefair. Tom has been out on the briny deep and helped to feed the fishes on the first day out. Says he likes visiting those strange ports, but guess he likes the home port best for all that. Ron Gynane likes it down at the eastern port. Rex Rose will soon be travelling west again to see what the Pacific looks like.

Good Scouting All—The Skipper.

Rotarians Told Of Projects To Absorb Young War Veterans

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 15 (ENS) When they return home members of the armed forces are not going to be content with any pick and shovel jobs or handouts, nor will this be necessary if an adequate post war planning job is done now. So declared Rotarian W. A. Hogle in a foresighted address in which he strongly advocated the formation of a post war pile now. Mr. Hogle outlined to the gathering, which included W. A. Goodfellow, M. P. P., Mayor Frank Long, Township Councillor W. A. Duncan and several others, a program that would overcome many of the problems that remained to be solved after the last war.

Pointing to a small town named Villa Ridge (population 2,500) in the United States which already had a work pile amounting to $500,000, made up chiefly of home improvements and new housing, the speaker saw no reason why such a plan was not applicable to this town. "We have here at least 800 homes and I suggest that each home owner should spend $100. on improvements. That would give us a total of $80,000 as a starter. Look around the inside of your house and see what is needed. Paper hanging, painting, carpenter work, garage repairs, perhaps a new garage, painting the house, cement work, a general cleanup around the property. Remove old fences, replace them with hedges, cut down old Manitoba maples and plant better trees and shrubs. Renovate the lawn. One hundred business establishments could spend $100. each adding another $10,000 to the work pile by doing such work as painting, repairs, and making more attractive store windows.

"In Seymour Township, there are some 800 tax payers. Deduct 150 for cottages and add fifty more for farmers owning two sets of buildings or more. This leaves 700 farmers at $100. each giving at least $70,000 more to the work-pile. Many farmers will want to spend at least $500 on barns, roofing and general repairs, new sheds, and hydro installations. The Township as a whole, could add another $10,00 or so by improving roads, culverts, bridges, drainage etc, whereas the town of Campbellford should spend at least $10,000 in beautifying the town. Remove old trees, clean up undesirable sites." He suggested a curb stone on every street that would allow for a grass boulevard where an avenue of trees could be planted. "The householder would take pride in such a move and would keep the grass cut on the boulevard in front of his house."

Mr. Hogle urged the long felt need for a town park saying there should be a fully modern park built after the war.

Veteran Committee

As to how all this work was to be handled, the speaker also had a well studied plan. "In my opinion, there should be an office located in down town Campbellford. A superintendant should be in charge, a returned man of course, also a clerk and a telephone. The type of work to be done should be tabulated and the applicant for work should also be tabulated so that if a certain home has a paper hanging job, a man in that trade can be sent to do the work. In this way a maximum of efficiency would result. This office would of course, be opened after the war is over. Meanwhile, a committee should be formed, who will be responsible for the organization and operation of the work pile. The committee should have seven members and include one each from the Town Council, Rotary Club, Legion, Seymour East, Seymour West, one member representing all of the churches, and one representing all other organizations in the town and country. One of the group should be chosen as chairman, the chairman should not be a member of the town council or the Seymour council, because in the case of spending public or corporation funds, the council would of course be the parent body and have the final say. The committee should hold weekly meetings in the council chamber.

Need Community Hall

"There is a great need in Campbellford for a community hall, built on the Y. M. C. A. fashion. This should be equipped with a swimming pool, locker rooms, modern gymnasium, recreation room. This should be under the supervision of a paid secretary-physical-director. Classes would be formed in gymnastics and sports which would include the smallest tots to adults. Membership in this club would more than pay for its annual upkeep. Add $50,000 to the work pile for this structure.

Mr. Hogle spoke of the need for new houses, stating that at least ten could be built and either sold or rented "like hot cakes", adding another $50,000. "We have in Campbellford a deplorable monstrosity in the form of a building called the Campbellford Public School. This structure is so ancient, and antiquated, that it is an insult to the intelligence of fathers and mothers who are compelled to send their children to it. In the light of a modern world this edifice should bring the red blood of both shame and anger into the face of any decent man or woman. It should be torn down in favor of something more serviceable".

The speaker recalled that Premier Drew had recently announced a complete remodelling of the Ontario Educational system and he thought this was a wonderful opportunity for the town fathers to "get busy and draw up plans for a new school, and I say if they do not accept this challenge, the responsibility of what will likely follow, will rest with them." He thought a lot of brick and lumber could be salvaged from the present buildings leaving construction costs at around $75,000. which could be added to the work pile now at $350,000.

Citizens Co-operate

"In 1929 the debenture debt of Campbellford was $375,000 and by the end of 1944, it will be approximately $57,000. By adding the corporations spending of $190,000 to the work pile plus the $57,000 at the end of 1944 the total would be $250,000 approximately. Still much less than in 1929. "To the suggestion that citizens would not approve this spending because it would add to taxes, Mr. Hogle declared if the money was spent wisely, giving full value, "people would not only admire the work but also the men who did it." He added a note of warning saying that if some such scheme was not adopted "you may not need any council chamber and you may not need to worry about another election. Our boys in the front line are fighting to uphold the very existence of democracy, and should they return home and find that we, the people at home have nothing for them but a pat on the back, a leaf-raking job, and a hand-out, then chaos will result. Chaos, even to the very brink of revolution."

As to the financing of such a scheme the speaker felt the Governments at Toronto and Ottawa, would make available any funds that were necessary. "It is possible that a higher municipal taxes may be imposed, but this will be offset to a very great extent by a lowered tax on personal income, the removal of taxes on hundreds of items of consumer goods.

With the town beautified the speaker said it would then be the time to turn to another "great and promising field", that of obtaining new industries. "When the war is over, hundreds of large and small industries will be looking for desirable sites in which to locate factories and manufacturing plants. In my opinion a Chamber of Commerce should be put into operation with energetic men as its members. We have plenty of water power, excellent highway and rail connections, scenic beauty equal to any in Ontario. In going full speed ahead with this work pile, I say, we have nothing to loose and everything to gain. A neat and tidy, healthy, industrialized town, is a sure sign and a paved road to a city of the same quality. There is much to be done, and we can do it if we possess the desire, the conviction of purpose and the courage to carry it through, all working together and forgetting who gets the credit."

Canadian Wheat Planted In Italy

NAPLES, Feb. 15 (AP) Canadian wheat and British seed potatoes are being planted around Venafro within sound of 5th Army fighting, the Allied military government announced today, in an effort to relieve Italy's food shortage.

Potatoes for a 2,000-ton crop were brought from Britain after fields were surveyed under fire, and the wheat was taken from storage in Naples. Spring planting of wheat is a small factor in the Italian supply, however, more than 90 per cent being normally fall sown.

U.S. Bombers Reduce Nazi Fighter Output

WASHINGTON, Feb. —(AP) — American heavy bombers pinpointing German aircraft factories have cut the heart out of fighter plane production in the Reich, it wa sreported officially to-day.

Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of the United States war production board announced that the War Department had informed him that United States army air forces raids had reduced Germany's capacity to produce fighter planes by 40 per cent.

Wilson's disclosure came in a statement declaring that as Axis production was knocked out U. S. aircraft production was just getting into full stride.

With Boys In Services

The editor of this column will welcome extracts from letters from boys serving or any other information concerning them.

By JEAN STENTON

LIEUT. SADIE TROTTER

Working on makeshift materials after hours, Lieut. (N-S) Sadie Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter, R.R. 4, Peterborough, and her nurses gave 24 boys in their hospital ward overseas, a Christmas they will remember for a long time. Anyone reading this story can be assured that nothing is spared to make the injured service personnel happy.

"It is amazing what you can do with nothing. The boys took over with scraps of cardboard, red paint, epsom salts, absorbent, Lux flakes, [illegible] plenty of enthusiasm, about December 16 and by December 25 our ward really was decked out in true Christmas fashion. Would have put your Caandian homes to shame, I'll bet. A little tree, bought for $2.50, laden with lux snow, sparkling with finely cut up cellophane, added the last seasonal touch.

"On Christmas Eve, we all rushed off duty and hurried into our wool uniforms, capes and veils, then back to Ward 26, to start the carols. Fifty nursing sisters and 30 medical officers went in pairs, through every ward singing all the grand old Christmas songs. The wards were all dimly lit with candles burning everywhere and smelling of green boughs and fresh holly. As we walked by the beds singing "Silent Night" there were tears in some of the boys eyes, and they [illegible]ren't the only ones. Christmas [illegible]ems the time when memories of home become so poignant you remember all the little things you used to say and do, you think of your family and home. War just takes a back seat and one forgets all about it for a day or so.

Took It Easy.

"Christmas Day was a day of rest for all the patients. We sisters did all their fatigues, swept floors, dusted and clean sinks. The boys got a big kick out of that—but so did we. We had been working on their Christmas dinner for days, and had made place cards for all 24 patients. There were two little holly leaves stuck together in a blob of red sealing wax on the end [illegible] the card. These leaves were [illegible]uched up here and there with gold paint. On the card was the patient's name and Merry Christmas in red ink.

"The candy cups we made by stapling sputum box refills together and covering with odd bits of colored paper and seals. A spool of fuse wire I found in the bathroom served as handles for them all, and these were covered with saved up ribbon, paper and tinfoil from around X-ray films. The finished product was then touched up with green paint, Christmas trees and 'horrible' designs.

"Then the three of us who work on the ward, went scurrying through our boxes from home for candies, gum and cigarettes to fill the boxes. When they were well heaped up, we stuck a cigar in each corner. It was then discovered that [illegible] were a good many bars and [illegible]kages of cigarettes to the good—so patients got one of each wrapped in gay paper and tied with red ribbon.

"I must tell you about the candles. White ones were all we could buy. So we daubbed blobs of red and green paint on them, cut star-shaped bases out of cardboard, painted the base red with touches of green for effect, and stuck the candle in the centre.

"The tables were all put together in banquet style, covered with sheets, set for 24. Our patients were all able to be out of bed for their dinner. The finished product was really smart when everything was put on, complete with a cigarette sticking out of the holly leaves, and two matches in a "V" beside.

Santa Claus Too

"Our Sgt. Major, dressed in my raincoat, operating room boots, red turban, absorbant beard, red flan[illegible] bandage sash, made a dashing y[illegible]g Santa Claus. After he had given out the bars and cigarettes, each man got a funny gift with a suitable humorous verse which we had compiled. Then came our magician patient—an English chap, and really quite a wizard with the wand. He entertained the boys with his magic, and how they loved it. Picture taking around the tree was next, then we three cleared the tables and washed the dishes. It is one of the best Christmases I have ever had, especially after the patients gave us three cheers and said they couldn't have had a better time if they had been home in Canada. It made us all feel good inside and we didn't mind our first Christmas away from home.

"If any of you had friends or relatives in hospital over the Christmas season, rest assured that they were given the best of everything to make that day one to be remembered. At least that was so in our [illegible] and I'm sure would be the [illegible] in others.

Lieut. Trotter wrote that the various organizations, Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, Legion, Salvation Army and others are doing a wonderful job and says that the people at home may well be proud to donate or belong to any of them.

Red Cross Gifts

"It is amazing how many comforts the Red Cross brings to our boys here in hospital. Around with books and magazines once a week to every patient. On other days they come in with cigarettes, candies and gum. Our sick patients never lack nourishment, fruit juice, jam and honey, etc., for these are available any time in the Red Cross Department. On Christmas morning, each of the lads received a well-filled pair of Red Cross socks, together with a little news from all over Canada. The Red Cross also run a handicraft department stocked with a fine supply of materials for making purses, belts, mats, bill folds, stuffed toys and all sorts of amazing things that the boys in hospital just love to do as it is interesting work and helps to pass the time.

"You would laugh if you could see these big hairy-chested lads, sitting up in bed, sewing laboriously at a stuffed rabbit's apron or tiny carrot to fit in the apron pocket. One ward made 24 of these and the Red Cross gave them away at Christmas to needy children.

Many Activities

"Our unit is more than a 1,000 bed hospital, but at present we haven't nearly that number. There are always things to keep us out of mischief, though. Recently we put on a variety show, with a cast of 16 nursing sisters, and 8 men. It was very successful and we played three nights to a packed house. Other units want us to put it on for them, but we aren't sure yet if we can.

"A plan for a nursing sisters' monthly news bulletin has recently been approved by Matron-in-chief Agnes Neill of Peterborough and C.M.H.Q. in London. It will have a circulation through the Canadian hospital units here in England. That will be a busy job, as I'm convener of the Bulletin and getting the idea across to the other units. So far they have all been enthusiastic.

"Haven't met many Peterborough friends since coming over. Saw TIM WATSON some time ago, and had a ROSE BOY for a patient, a nephew of Wally Rose. MAJOR K. WIGHTMAN of Peterborough was with us too. He was popular among the M's here, and I believe a very excellent doctor."

This letter was written for the Peterborough Active Army Auxiliary and I.O.D.E. Chapters here in grateful acknowledgement of the boxes she received. Lieut. Trotter is a graduate of the 1941 class of Nicholls Hospital.

Takes 21 Prisoners

Fighting with a Scottish Regiment from Western Ontario, Pte. Melville Hamblin, whose wife lives at Crescent street, has been in Italy for some time, and the following extracts from a recent letter, show he found prisoner hunting good.

"I am on a 24-hour leave today and I have climbed up a small mountain and had a look at some of the country we have just come through, and also some we still have to take away from the Germans. All the mountains as far as the eye could see, were covered with snow and it is a pretty view. But when you're climbing one and the Jerries are sniping, you don't take time out to admire the scenery."

Continuing, he wrote that he had seen nearly everything since he landed in Sicily. They had a few days rest outside of Messina, and the whole camp was wondering what was in store for them as the Germans were persistent in trying to find out things. One night the Canadians were loaded on a barge and in the early morning saw they were pulling across the straits for the invasion of Europe proper.

"Jerry dive bombed us, but as you know, the Italians had given up so we had no trouble with them. I had an officer and 20 men give up their arms to me next morning. I was up in the hills trying to find water and they were just waiting for someone to surrender to. I still have the official pistol.

"We had a big storm again last night, wind, rain and snow. I'm trying to write in what the Army calls a pup tent. It isn't any larger than a dog kennel. I met two Oshawa boys going up the line, whom I knew. I also met CAPT. V. E. R. ZUFELT, Peterborough Padre. It was rather warm around that spot so we didn't linger, however I am going to look him up. The Minister of Defence, Hon. J. L. Ralston, was here and promised to speed our mail up. I enjoyed your Christmas parcel very much when I received it at 10 o'clock Christmas morning. I was the only one in our section to get one that day. The chocolate bars were fine as it is still cold here, and all the boys say thanks for the tea. By the way, it costs 20 lire for a haircut here.

Mrs. Joseph P. Hobbins, Sr., 8 Brown street, received a cable from her eldest son, SGT. JOSEPH M. HOBBINS telling of a reunion with his brother, PATRICK (BUD) L. HOBBINS of the Merchant Marine, whom he had not seen in four years.

Coast Controlled

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP).—German authorities have placed the entire French Mediterranean coast under the same strict military control which long has been in force along the "invasion coast" of northern France, the German-controlled Paris radio said today. Affected, said the broadcast, are the departments of the eastern Pyrenees, Aude, Herault, Gard, Bouches du Rhone, Var and Alpes-Maritimes.

ARE YOU APPRECIATIVE?

IF YOU "play the pants off a hand" and make an apparently hopeless contract because you went after every possible "break" and got them all, do you pat yourself on the back? Or do you credit the gods of chance with the kindness they have shown you? If not you do not deserve to have things break that way for you the next time. And, what's more, there are people who tell you they won't break like that again unless you are appreciative.

As you might easily guess from that bidding, Phil Wade, of the International News Service, and his wife, who sat opposite him in the North, have plenty of confidence in each other. After the heart K was led and Phil saw that dummy, he realized he was going to have a terrible time justifying all that confidence.

After studying his assignment, he saw a chance if he could get four breaks—all four of them—only one of which was a probability. First, the spade A with West was probable. Second, the club Q had to be with only two small cards—not probable when eight were out. Third, and fourth, the trumps had to be either equally divided or, if split three and one, only one in the hand holding the club Q, which would mean that the spade A would have to be with the club Q.

Here's the way he tried for all that. He took the heart K with the A, led to the club A, led to the diamond A, ruffed the club 5 with the diamond K, sent the diamond J to the Q, the trumps splitting, used the club K to discard the heart 7 and the club J to discard the heart 10, and led the spade 5. West took his A and returned his spade 7 to the K, the heart 4 being discarded. The spade 4 was ruffed by the diamond 3, heart 8 by the diamond 6, and the diamond 7 and 5 completed the hand.

Grateful to the core, Phil exclaimed with relief, "This must be my year." May he get more breaks like that. He deserves them.

War Estimates Reflect Allied Progress

By the Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15—(CP)— A decrease in the 1944-45 war appropriation for naval stores, including defaussing and anti-submarine equipment, may indicate the navy expects less trouble with enemy U-boats and mines this year.

The naval stores estimate in the appropriations, tabled in the Commons Friday by Finance Minister Ilsley, totalled $34,576,967, compared with $57,651,110 in the current fiscal year.

The Army estimates included a big increase in the figure or civil salaries and wages—$16,199,853 against $8,832,678. While no explanation was given, there was a possibility the increase would go to additional staff required to handle mounting administration staff work now that one army corps is engaged in Italy and another formation is ready to take part in the cross-Channel invasion.

Munitions: Possibility of further reductions in the output of war plants producing ammunition and armaments is indicated in the appropriations.

While a large part of the production of these plants in Canada goes to other United Nations, the breakdown of estimated expenditures shows requirements of the Canadian Navy, Army and Air Force will total $149,452,852, a reduction of $40,023,603 from the 1943-44 expenditures.

Air transfers: When Capt. Harold Balfour, British Air Undersecretary, and Air Minister Power hold a press conference planned for later this week they are expected to reveal more information on plans to transfers to the R.C.A.F. Canadians in the R.A.F.

There has been some little misunderstanding on just what is intended. Air Force headquarters emphasize that the negotiations do not affect members of the R.C.A.F. who have been attached to the R.A.F. for operational duties. They will affect only those Canadians who enlisted direct in the R.A.F., most of them just before the outbreak of war.

A Good Buy.

Bracken House: The Progressive Conservative party apparently made a profitable business deal when it acquired Bracken House on Ottawa's Laurier Avenue as national headquarters. A week after the deal went through a real estate agent offered to buy the property, party officers say, at an advance of $1,000 on the purchase price.

Party headquarters, however, are not selling. It is figured the purchase price, plus cost of alterations, can be amortized and taxes paid for less than used to be paid in rent for the old uptown office.

No Inquest Planned In Youth's Death

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton announced Monday that there would be no inquest into the death of Donald Bert Thompson, 20, of Lakehurst, who died in St. Joseph' Hospital here on Saturday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained several hours earlier.

Dr. Carleton, who investigated the accident, stated that the victim, along with his brother Thomas Thompson and David Irwin, had been cutting down trees on Lot 7, Concession 11, Harvey township. A tree had been felled into another tree with the result that a large limb was broken off, struck the ground and rebounded. The end of the limb struck young Thompson on the head, fracturing his skull.

He was brought into St. Joseph's Hospital but died at 4 o'clock soon after his arrival there. The accident happened shortly before 2 o'clock.

Colin McDougall Cameraman War Casualty

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP Cable) — Lieut. Colin McDougall of Ottawa, a motion picture cameraman, has been wounded in Italy, it was announced today.

He is a member of the same Canadian Army film unit as was Lieut. Terry Rowe of Winnipeg whose death in action on the Nettuno beachhead was announced last Friday. Presumably McDougall was wounded in the same action in which Lieut. Rowe, a still cameraman and former staff photographer of the Winnipeg Tribune, was killed.

They had teamed up in making pictures of the Canadian 1st Division operations throughout the Moro River and Ortona battles in December before being switched from the Adriatic front to the Nettuno beachhead to make a photographic record of activities of Canadian special-service troops, members of a joint Canada-United States force.

The death of Rowe and wounding of McDougall were the first casualties of the war for the Canadian public relations organization under which the film unit functions.

During the fierce Moro River and Ortona battles McDougall worked with his cameras well up with the Canadian troops and made daily trips into Ortona itself while a week of street fighting was at its height. His pictures are considered here as some of the best of the Mediterranean campaign.

Mosquitoes Win Aerial Battles

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP Cable) — Two of the five German aircraft shot down last night over Britain fell before guns of R.C.A.F. Mosquito planes, all of which returned safely to bases.

One was destroyed by Sqdn. Ldr. J. D. Somerville of Parry Sound, Ont., and his observer, FO. D. G. Robinson of Transcona, Man., while the other was shot down by FO. Fayne Dennis Schultz of Bashaw, Alta., and his observer, Flt. Lt. V. A. Williams of Hamilton, Ont.

The victory by Schultz and Williams was their fifth as a night-fighter team. Their victim was a Junkers-88 shot down after a grim six-minute battle which Schultz said later "seemed like an eternity."

Their Mosquito was riddled and the engines and gasoline tanks holed before the enemy craft plunged into flames in the sea near the coast. After the battle the Canadians considered bailing out of their damaged aircraft but made an auxiliary air field and landed with a flat tire and with one engine functioning.

Schultz said the enemy pilot "was evidently dead before the enemy machine started its final dive, but the gunner poured withering fire into us."

"I could actually see the gunner swinging in his turret, firing at us," Williams added.

Schultz and Williams each received the D.F.C. last December after shooting down three aircraft in one night. They have been flying as a team for more than a year.

Somerville, who is 33, and his observer were on their first operational flight together. They sighted an enemy plane at 18,000 feet over the sea. After being severely hit, the enemy disintegrated in midair. Later the pair damaged another enemy plane with a short burst of fire.

Desolate Towns Left In Wake Of Nazi Armies

Written for The Canadian Press
By U. SMOLICH

MOSCOW, Feb. 15 (CP)—I left my home in the Ukraine in the autumn of 1941 and travelled with long and weary columns of refugee children, distracted mothers and quiet, but melancholy aged folk.

Our train moved at a snail's pace from station to station. The permanent way on either side was shattered. Behind us and in front were bombed junctions. For two weeks the train proceeded in a southerly direction and then headed north.

Two years later I returned home. I travelled by plane this time, making the journey in two hours. It is indeed a terrible sight to see towns ruined and desolated by the Germans. But even more terrible was the view from the aircraft of dozens of villages razed—dead places amid beautiful meadows and on the banks of crystal clear streams.

The scale of destruction was overwhelming. The thirst for revenge overcomes everything. When the plane landed women and children came rushing to meet the passengers. We stood there smiling in embarrassment, drinking in the air. But, alas, no longer could we smell the aromatic Ukrainian soil.

Children came running up and pulled off their caps. "How do you do," they shouted in chorus.

We now felt that we were really in the Ukraine where everybody welcomes you whether he knows you or not. The liberated villages, although terrible sights, possess a certain beauty. In the day time they hum with voices of men and women clearing away debris, repairing dwelling houses, restoring power stations, tramway lines and sewage.

Rebuilding.

Despite the skeltons of burned out buildings, the streets were filled with people going to and fro about their business with an air of festivity. A night, however, death pervaded the lampless streets.

"Dead" buildings assume their grave-yard aspect and cold autumn winds penetrates through thousands of gaping holes.

"Yet, to inhabitants there is nothing so near and dear as these ruins. They flame with blood from wounded hearts. To these ruins belong every breath, every thought of future. On these ruins we will build a new, brighter and even better Ukraine.

The enemy left us a country terrible in its desolation. But mighty efforts of the Soviet State, together with Herculean labors of the people are not battling the cold winter.

Princess Will Assume More Duties

By DAPHNE FAMBRIDGE
Reuters Court Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP-Reuters)—The decision of the King not to alter the title of Princess Elizabeth, who comes of age April 21, when she will be 18, has given general satisfaction here. I understand that personal as well as official and constitutional reasons led to His Majesty's decision.

The Princess herself was consulted as to her own wishes, I am told, and she expressed decided preference for the style and title by which she has always been known.

Queen Mary, whose counsel is often sought by the King, was another of those whose opinion figured in the decision, and it is also understood that the Earl of Athlone, Governor General of Canada, and one of the senior members of the royal family, was asked for his views on feeling in the dominions about the matter.

No slight is, of course, intended or conveyed to the Welsh protagonists who sought to have the Princess made Princess of Wales. There were difficulties in the way of that proposal which were in the King's view, insuperable, and to have created any other title for the heiress presumptive would have been likely to cause dissatisfaction.

No Drastic Changes

Although no drastic changes are contemplated in the Princess' way of living, her come of age will mark a step forward in her responsibilities to the state and empire.

From her birthday onwards, she becomes, under the terms of the newly-amended regency act, one of the counsellors of state who will deputize for the King in any absence abroad and it is generally believed that the King intends to make her Privy Councillor, perhaps on her birthday, as a means of introducing her to some of the daily routine of official business that comes to the sovereign all the year around.

If this step is taken, she will be the first heiress to the throne ever to be a member of His Majesty's most honorable Privy Council and thus to share in the secrets of the Royal Council Chamber.

It is likely, too, that her public appearances will be more frequent than hitherto and that the King will probably permit her to accept the presidency of other offices on various bodies and institutions. But her education will continue under direction of constitutional experts and university professors.

Jobs Ready For Returned Men

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 15 —(CP)— More than 50 per cent of the soldiers being discharged at No. 1 district depot, have jobs waiting for them in civilian life, officials of the department of pensions and national health, said here today.

This figure includes hospitalization cases and disability cases of a non-hospital classification who may be only temporarily incapacitated for civilian employment.

Records show that a suprisingly large number of men immediately return to their pre-war employment on release from the army, one official said.

Although army discharges have increased approximately three fold in this district recently, the labor market is still apparently able to absorb all discharged men physically able to hold jobs, it was said.

Gen. MacArthur May Be Named For President

By JACK BELL,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—(AP) — General Douglas MacArthur may figure in this year's United States presidential campaign as a potential cabinet member or military advisor if his friends fail to convince the Republican convention it ought to draft him as a candidate.

There is a growing disposition among party leaders to concede that MacArthur, whose name has been entered in the Illinois Preferential Primary, will be a factor at the convention. But few go so far as Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Rep-Mich), in believing the southwest Pacific commander might be drafted for the nomination.

Vandenberg said he had received an "amazing" response in mail from all sections of the country to recent magazine article in which he explained why he supports MacArthur for President.

One influential Republican who now is not supporting any candidate, said a recent transcontinental trip convinced him there is a great deal of MacArthur sentiment among the voters.

While doubting that this would develop sufficiently for a successful draft movement, he said it was not at all unlikely that the party nominee, whoever he might be, might want to bring MacArthur's name into the campaign. He might propose him as secretary of war — a post traditionally held by a civilian— as army chief of staff or as presidential military advisor in a capacity now filled by Admiral D. Leahy.

Air Raid Murder Baffles Police

LONDON, Feb. 15 (CP) —Scotland Yard was given a new air raid murder mystery to solve to-day with discovery of the partly-disrobed body of Iris Deeley, 21 year old member of the W.A.A.F. beneath an R.A.F. greatcoat in a victory garden plot in Eltham, Southeast London.

The girl had been strangled. A soldier's glove was found nearby.

The body was discovered near a footpath frequented by service men and women, and police believed the girl's outcries may have been drowned out by the noise of the barrage during last night's air raid.

Otonabee Township Council Adopts Two-Pay Taxation System

The two-pay system of tax collection was adopted by the council of Otonabee at its meeting Monday.

A motion by Deputy-reeve H. Reid, seconded by W. W. Dawson provided that the first payment be due on July 15, and the second on December 14 with three per cent penalty after that date.

An amendment by H. McIntyre, seconded by R. Spears, that a one per cent penalty be applied on the first payment after July 15, and four per cent on the second payment after the due date of December 14.

The motion carried. Distribution of the money received from the collection of salvage was authorized by a Reid-Dawson motion as follows: Navy League $25; British War Victims' Fund, $25; and Red Cross Society $60.14, the latter grant being only for the local branch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)— The pigeon which refused to leave an egg in her nest throughout Friday's snow storm and then abandoned the nest yesterday, returned to its vigil to-day.

The bird, stationed on a fifth storey ledge of a hotel (the Commodore), is receiving room service from the hotel—water and dry cereal twice daily. Originally there were two eggs in the nest. She hatched one Thursday, but the fledgling fell from the ledge.

Green Islands Seized By New Zealanders With American Aid

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press War Correspondent

GUADALCANAL, Feb. 16—(AP)—Despite all the Japanese at nearby Rabaul could do about it, Monday's occupation of Nissan or Green Island between the Solomons and the Bismarck Archipelago was an overwhelming success.

I watched the operations from the air from the time the Higgins landing craft started unloading until the last ship in the big convoy had disgorged its cargo.

It was a beautiful show of precision and efficiency.

The best the Japanese could do was to send three planes in at dawn to attack—all three were promptly shot down by naval anti-aircraft fire—and two hours later to fire feebly from shore long after hundreds of Allied troops had landed. Landing craft and naval units replied furiously to the enemy shore guns and quickly put an end to that.

Hit In Twilight

We arrived over the pretzel-shaped island group just as darkness was fading shortly after 6:30 a.m. Barges were streaming from their mother ships which stood off at sea, and filing through the narrow channel into the Nissan lagoon in graceful lines.

An instant later, all the ships shifted their course and began zigzagging sharply. We at once saw the reason for it—three airplanes streaking in fairly low from the direction of New Ireland which we could see lying black and mountainous on the horizon.

American destroyers and other warships guarding the convoy, as well as landing ships in the convoy itself, threw up a furious barrage of anti-aircraft fire. Some of the bursts came near our aircraft. All three enemy planes were shot down.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 16—(AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey's South Pacific forces in a bold surprise move seized the Green Islands at the northern tip of the Solomons Monday, an Allied communique announced today, closing a starve-or-surrender trap on 22,000 Japanese OLDEST ABBEY NAZI FORTRESS—Here is a view of the famous Benedictine Monastery at Monte Cassino, which, the Allied command charges, had been converted into a fortress by the Germans and which was practically demolished by Allied bombs and shells Tuesday. The monastery is the oldest in the world. It stands on the top of Monte Cassino, overlooking the town of the same name and is astride the road to Rome. It was established by St. Benedict in 529 A.D. in the ruins of the Roman temple of Apollo.

Allies Winning Anzio Battle

By DANIEL DE LUCE—Associated Press War Correspondent

ON THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Italy, Feb. 16—(AP).—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of Allies armies in Italy, declared Monday that "we are winning the second round of the battle of the beachhead." Using strong, unqualified language to express the conviction that the Anzio landings would lead to success, the general gave the clearest statement on the beachhead situation yet made by any high military source.

"We won the first round with our surprise landing—a beauty!" Gen. Alexander said. "I assure you the Germans opposite us here are a very unhappy party. As Kesselring (Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, commander of German forces in Italy) once said, if you allow the enemy to consolidate a bridgehead, then the enemy will keep it.

"The Germans realize they've lost the battle though events have not gone as swiftly as we ourselves hoped," he continued. "Had everything been perfect, we might have gone straight through to Rome in the first round."

Gen. Alexander said he had been upset by reports that press dispatches had alarmed the home public, and asserted: "There's no basis for pessimistic rubbish."

No Comparison

He stated that "we are near the end of the second round, and we are winning it. The third round will come when we've built up for a strong push, gathered our forces, and start our punch."

He added confidently: "We will pull it off."

He remarked that the situation here is not comparable to Dunkirk or Salerno.

"I was at both places. This is different. I've been in a good many battles since the summer of 1942—from Alamein to Anzio and none has been lost," he said. "I see no reason why we should lose this one."

His statement that the Allied amphibious force is on its way now to winning the second round—that is, defeating German efforts to wipe out the beachhead, appeared substantiated by the disappearance of fierce German pressure since last Thursday.

Fine Canadian Seamanship Saves Burning Convoy Ship

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(CP).—This is a story of cool seamanship and courage displayed when the Canadian corvette Hepatica fought 20-foot seas and snow squalls to lay alongside a blazing tanker, rescue 23 men and help salvage part of a 7,600-ton cargo of fuel oil and a deckload of 12 planes.

An unidentified tanker crewman was lost, 600 tons of oil burned, and one plane was damaged.

Announcement of the Atlantic rescue was made today by Navy Minister Macdonald.

Lieut. J. A. Ferguson of Canso, N.S., is captain of the Hepatica. She was proceeding through snow squalls and rough weather in convoy when a bright flash was seen.

She found a tanker with her bridge ablaze. Another tanker with defective steering-gear had sideswiped her and deflected her into the path of a Liberty ship. She thus suffered blows on both port and starboard, the second collision killing her wireless operator and igniting some high-test gasoline carried by the ship's motorboat. Fire flared up, fanned by the strong wind.

Twenty-three of the crew, most of them Chinese, were taken aboard the Hepatica and another 12 aboard another ship.

The Tanker's Captain and remaining crew meanwhile fought the blaze and after two hours began to bring it under control, signalling that they had decided against abandoning ship. To test his engines, the Captain asked Lieut. Ferguson to return two engineers taken aboard the Canadian Corvette.

Although the fire was still burning, Lieut. Ferguson laid his ship alongside. The first attempt at shooting a line failed. Lieut. Ferguson again closed the tanker and this time a line was passed successfully by hand and a sea-boat pulled in. The boat crew included AB. R. S. Cuthbert of Merritton, Ont.

Less than four hours after the outbreak of the fire the engineers had been returned to the ship and put on enough steam to proceed. The Canadian Corvette assumed the role of a "seeingeye" dog for the

Army Is Needed To Finish Japs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 16.—(AP).—General Douglas MacArthur said to-day Japan cannot be defeated through blockade and bombing alone.

"We must defeat Japan's army and for that purpose our strategy must devise ways and means to bring our ground forces into contact with him at decisive points." he said in a special statement.

The Allied Southwest Pacific commander made his comment following discussion of recent successes in his sector in which blockade and bombardment played a vital part.

The General was asked if he thought Japan could be defeated through blockade and bombing alone. The answer was a decisive 'no."

Cassino Line Breached; Lull At Anzio

Allies Admit Loss Of Carroceto Navy Pounds Line

By RELMAN MORIN,
Associated Press Correspondent.

ALGIERS, Feb. 16 —(AP) — American siege guns have opened a concentrated bombardment of Monastery Hill and "breaches" have been opened in that main sector of the German line overlooking Cassino, it was announced to-day, but in the invasion beachhead to the west Allied Headquarters acknowledged loss of Carroceto (Aprilia) 10 miles north of Anzio.

Allied warships again battered the Germans ringing the beachhead and R. A. F. Wellingtons flung down block-busters in a night attack.

United States artillery opened up on Monastery Hill following aerial destruction of historic Mount Cassino Abbey, which the Germans had converted into a fortress.

German infantry presumably was still in possession of the Key Hill, above besieged Cassino, where violent battling swept into its 15th day.

The fighting increased in intensity as American soldiers who already hold one-third of the town, continued the methodical destruction of house after house which the Nazis have converted into miniature fortress.

The lull in ground fighting in the beachhead continued, the communique reporting only patrol clashes in the Cisterna and Carroceto (Aprilia) areas.

Headquarters said Carroceto was in German hands. Fierce fighting has swirled in this neighborhood, with a canning factory there changing hands four times. Allied forces had pushed four miles north of Carroceto to the outskirts of Campoleone, 16 miles from Rome, but German counter-attacks forced them back.

Hit Railroad Yards.

While Allied heavy bombers gave direct support to infantry on both the beach and main 5th Army front dive bombers struck a sharp series of blows at railroad yards in the sururbs of Rome plastering the Trastevere and Tiburtina freight yards through which German supplies and reinforcements were moving southward.

The Paris radio said the Rome area was attacked again to-day and that Castel Gandolfo was hit yesterday.

120 Tons of Bombs a Minute Showered on Battered Capital

By W. W. HERCHER—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 16. —(AP). —The R.A.F. smashed Berlin last night with the greatest load of bombs ever dropped on a single target—well over 2,500 tons which cascaded down in a smothering 20-minute attack by 800 to 900 heavy bombers. The largest force of R.C.A.F. bombers ever to fly from Britain accompanied the R.A.F. in the smashing assault. Forty-five aircraft are missing from the night's operations, which included other forays. Four of the missing planes are Canadian.

The bomber command waited two weeks to deal this crushing blow against the capital of the German Reich. Not since January 30, when Berlin was hit by a force approaching 800 planes, had it made a major attack.

It is believed that the armada sent over Germany last night comprised the greatest number of planes ever to fill the Reich's skies in one night, including 1,000 heavy bombers and more than 200 lighter craft. Berlin received the contents of 800 to 900 big bomb bays.

Billows of flame swept through the city when the assault was finished. Crews of reconnoitring Mosquitoes reported a large field of fire, with smoke pluming four miles into the air.

A Feint Attack.

A smaller force of Lancasters made a feint attack on Frankfurt-on-Oder, 50 miles east of Berlin, and Mosquitoes bombed targets in western Germany and Holland. Mines also were laid in enemy waters.

The heaviest previous raid on Berlin was on the night of January 20 when more than 2,300 tons were dropped within an hour. The R.A.F.'s heaviest previous raid on a single target was its attack on Hanover with 2,500 tons last September 22.

A Swedish report quoting private advices reaching Stockholm said all bus, tram and underground traffic was disrupted. Berlin correspondents of Swedish newspapers were almost completely silenced, but the German-controlled Scandinavian telegraph bureau reported from Zurich that the heavy attack started many fires.

Flak Was Intense.

Returning pilots agreed a ceiling of heavy clouds over Berlin prevented accurate observation of the results and also impeded the defences. They said flak over the target area was intense but inaccurate. Fighter opposition was light as compared with some of the previous Berlin attacks.

Berlin now has received almost 25,000 tons of bombs in a series of 15 heavy attacks beginning November 18, 1943. The total heavy bombers lost on these night raids is 467, an average of 31 a raid.

Frankfurt-on-Oder, a city of about 70,000, was attacked once before, in October, 1940. Its main industries manufacture machinery and chemicals and it is important as a railway centre.

The Air Ministry announced 43 planes failed to return from the raid, including 4 Canadian aircraft.

The attack, which began about 9 p.m. (4 p.m. EDT), was the first major raid on the Nazi nerve-centre since the night of January 30.

92nd Raid

One Lancaster completed its 92nd raid to establish a record for the R.A.F. bomber command.

McNaughton Story Believed Tucked Away
Premier Apparently Satisfied All Critics

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(CP).— A strong impression prevailed on Parliament Hill to-day that nothing more will be heard in House debates for some time of the granting of leave to Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton and relieving him of the overseas army command.

While leaders who attended an inter-party conference in Prime Minister Mackenzie King's office yesterday declined to comment on what they heard, read, discussed or agreed upon, their silence was taken as agreement to let the McNaughton matter drop for the time being at least.

Should such be the case, it would appear they were satisfied the information given to them by Prime Minister Mackenzie King supported his statement to the House Monday that further discussion might be against public policy.

Mr. Graydon met his followers in caucus immediately after the meeting and before the afternoon session of the House and presumably reported to them. Nothing was said in the House about Gen. McNaughton.

Germans Almost Wiped Out Trapped In Cherkasy Pocket

By EDDY GILMORE—Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Feb. 16—(AP).—The Red Army made rapid progress today along the highway and railway between Luga and Pskov toward the communication junctions of Byelaya and Keofilova-Pustin, while southeast of Lake Peipus other Soviet units struggled through dense forests and swamps protecting Pskov on the north.

In the north west corner of Dnieper Bend the death struggle of the German forces trapped in the Cherkasy pocket entered its final stage. There every ravine, trench and clump of woods was the scene of desperate fighting. Many more Nazis died as the Russian troops closed in, at the same time throwing back repeated rescue attacks by Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's tank brigades.

The advance toward Pskov in the north, however, was more spectacular, for it exemplified Russian fighting tactics as well as any campaign to date—the strategy of fighting down highways and side roads rather than attacking on a straight-line front.

Units of Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's army are within 17 miles of Byelaya and closer to Keofilo-Pustin. These two towns are the immediate Soviet objectives before the main attack on Pskov begins.

The Red Army is being aided by bands of guerillas who infiltrate behind German-held villages to cut vital supply routes and who then join with the main Russian forces when they close in on the enemy.

In the drive on Pskov, Leningrad troops struck down from Luga, killing more than 1,400 Germans

Will Cut Down On Air Schools

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 — (CP) — Air Minister Power said today in the Commons that under long-term war plans there will be "certain reductions" in the number of entrants to aircrew training in Canada and a "gradual" closing of a number of training units and schools.

Skilled personnel in the training organization in Canada will be used to reinforce and enlarge operational units as they become available.

The minister's statement covered discussions he has held with Rt. Hon. Harold Balfour, United Kingdom Undersecretary for Air.

It covered the following points:

1. Basic agreements between the United Kingdom and Canadian governments on air training and associated matters have been modified and amended where necessary, "and certain understandings have been reached which confer on us (Canada) a larger measure of responsibility for our own personnel."

2. A joint R.C.A.F.-R.A.F. committee will be established in London to discuss demobilization and pre-demobilization training. Cana-

Huns Prepare To Repel 8th

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Feb. 16.—(CP Cable).—The Germans were believed last night to be preparing against the renewed offensive on the British 8th Army's Adriatic sector which they know can be expected sooner or later.

Columns of smoke, observed on the coastal road south of Francavilla, about six miles northwest of Ortona, were believed to have resulted from enemy demolitions.

Meantime wintry weather kept the Canadian troops close to their quarters yesterday after another night of small-scale patrolling along the Canadian corps' front.

Chill rain and snow blew in from the Adriatic and patrols, which paid regular visits to German outposts in front of the Arielli River, encountered little opposition. Maritime troops from the right flank of the corps' front got within 25 yards of the enemy positions and returned without casualties.

To Permit Transfer In The Services

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 —(CP)—Provision is made in an order-in-council, published today in Canadian War Orders and Regulations, for the voluntary transfer of navy, army and R.C.A.F. personnel to one of the other services.

The order says there are certain members of the armed forces who, because of particular abilities, are more suitable for duty in one of the other two services and other personnel who because of age, medical category or Pulhems profile are ineligible to serve further in the service in which they are at present enlisted.

The men may transfer with the approval of the authorities with officers and men taking an agreed upon rank in the new service and officers being accorded an outfit allowance.

New Army Rules Govern Students

MONTREAL, Feb. 16 — (CP).—New regulations governing the grades of arts and law students in Canadian universities, in connection with mobilization call-ups, were announced last night by McGill University as coming from the National Selective Service.

The regulations, dated at Ottawa February 10, give a list of faculties considered as contributing to the war effort and which remain unaffected by the regulations. Arts and law faculties are not included in the list.

The regulations provide that the students in faculties not listed will be considered to be pursuing a course essential to the national interest only if during the regular 1944-45 session they are among the upper half of all students enrolled in the final examinations of the year.

Students affected, not in the upper half of the list, will be reported to mobilization officials.

(Previous regulations provided that students in such courses must pass in all subjects but did not specify their position in relation to other members of the class.)

Benedectine Monks Escape From Huns

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16 (AP)—Rt. Rev. Alfred Koch, arch-abbot of St. Vincent Monastery, Latrobe, Pa., said today he understood that monks of the abbey on Mount Cassino left for provinces south of Rome several weeks before Allied bombing of the famous monastery.

The last report reaching officials of the Benedictine Order in this country, said Arch-Abbot Koch—a member of the Benedictine Order—was that all the Mount Cassino monks were safe. Of the bombing, he said:

"If what we hear about the Germans making the abbey a defence pisition is correct, there is no doubt about the necessity of the Allies bombing Mount Cassino. If it will bring peace quicker, then it was justified."

Japanese Forced Back In Burma

NEW DEHLI, India, Feb. 16—(AP)—The Japanese have been forced to abandon some of their positions on the Haka front in Burma, while bitter fighting continued today in the Arakan area where an enemy force estimated at 2,000 penetrated Allied lines 12 days ago and engaged in hand-to-hand battles with British and Indian troops.

The Japanese withdrew Feb. 13 after their positions were set on fire, a Southeast Asia headquarters communique said. Last night counter-attacking Allied troops retook one of two hill features overlooking the pass over the Mayu range, occupied by the Japanese near Ngakyedauk.

Nazi Atlantic Wall Already Outflanked

Underground Forces In France, Allies' Secret Weapon Behind The Lines

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Field Marshal Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt, commander of German forces in Western Europe and one of the outstanding soldiers of our time, manages to convey the impression of a great faith in Germany's destiny in his statement that he is prepared for the coming Allied invasion.

Maybe Von Rundstedt is bluffing when he says there will be "no withdrawal in my field of operations." However, I see no reason to doubt his sincerity.

He means business. We should be asking for trouble if we didn't recognize this and realize that the invasion easily may produce a conflict which will far exceed in violence anything this or any other war has seen.

However, Von Rundstedt seems to have stretched a vital point when he said that Hitler's Atlantic wall can't be outflanked by invasion.

It's outflanked already—before the invasion has started. It's outflanked by the vast underground army of Frenchmen and men of other nationalities of the occupied zone who are all set and waiting for the invasion day.

That's the Allied "secret weapon," and it may prove to be the most destructive in our armory. The units of this army will be everywhere—behind the Germans, in their midst, on their flanks.

In France alone the underground army runs into many millions, who are organized and are kept in touch with the Fighting French leaders in Algiers by liaison men. These brave folk carry on ordinary occupations in the daytime, and perform their patriotic tasks under cloak of night. They plan and train for the future. They carry out sabotage against the enemy. It's dangerous work — a fact which Nazi firing-squads proclaim grimly each dawn.

There's another force in France, better organized and more formidable than anything of the sort the Nazis have encountered. This is separate from the civilian underground army and is composed of former officers and men of the disbanded French army—once one of the world's most powerful fighting machines.

These trained soldiers don't engage in the ordinary sabotage, but are being kept under cover for the invasion day. One of their big jobs will be to seize and hold strategic points for the invading forces—an invaluable service which may turn the scales.

No reproach attaches to the Allied 5th Army for the distressing necessity of bombing and shelling the Germans out of the ancient Benedictine Monastery atop Mount Cassino. The Germans were holding up the Allied offensive by utilizing the building for military purposes. We held our fire as long as possible, and then had no alternative but to shoot.

One wonders what may happen to the priceless relics of Rome if we lay siege to the capital. Certainly if it suits Hitler's evil purposes, he won't hesitate to use the churches as shelter for his troops. That would present the Allies with a tough problem.

25 Sailors Lost In Storm

British Ship Founders Off Maine

PORTSMOUTH, N.H., Feb. 16 — (AP)—Twenty-five members of the crew of 45 on a 7,244-ton British freighter were lost when the ship struck Boon Island ledge, about 12 miles off York, Me., in a driving blizzard public relations office disclosed today, with approval of the British Admiralty.

The motor vessel crashed onto the rock at 2:23 p.m., EDT. and, pounded all night by terrific seas, broke up Saturday morning with the forward half remaining fast on the ledge and the aft half floating away to sink later, Chief Engineer Svend Haagensen related in an interview.

Rescue ships stood by but could not get close enough to take off the men. The rescue craft, including Coast Guard and U.S. naval vessels, rendered daring service, however, in picking up survivors from the tempest-ridden seas. Thirteen bodies were recovered later.

Thirteen of the survivors were taken to Portland, Me., and seven more were brought into Portsmouth. Nearly all required hospital treatment.

Reporters Can't Use Radio

On The Spot Broadcasts Irk Generals

LONDON, Feb. 16—(CP).—Delayed dispatches from the Anzio bridgehead south of Rome said today that the Allied command had banned the use of on-the-spot radio facilities to news correspondents, decreeing that news copy must be carried by courier service and censored at base headquarters on policy as well as security grounds.

A Reuters News Agency dispatch, dated February 13, said that the 5th Army command had taken this action because of annoyance caused by some press dispatches concerning the beachhead operation. The dispatch said there was criticism of reports which called the beachhead another Tobruk or Dunkirk.

Norman Clark, representing the combined British press, said in a dispatch also dated February 13, that this "brindling of the correspondents' attempts to represent the day-to-day situation correctly "must not be allowed to stand."

Finn Action May Trap More Nazis

Nazi General Urges Hitler Withdraw Troops

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 16 —(AP) — Col.- Gen. Edward Dietl, German commander in Northern Finland, is reported to have urged Hitler to recall his troops to avert their entrapment by a Russian-Finnish peace, direct negotiations for which now appear to be under way.

A German source said the request was relayed to Berlin last night and asserted there were indications that a number of transport officers, essential for any large scale movement, already had been assigned to Dietl's command.

This informant expressed doubt that Hitler would follow Dietl's advice, particularly in view of the fact that the Russians recently have recaptured vital nickel mines in the Ukraine, leaving Finland as Germany's chief remaining source of that vital metal.

He said, however, that Col.-Gen. Hans Juergen Stumpff of the Nazi Air Force had virtually abandoned his Finnish headquarters in favor of Oslo. Stumpff also was reported to have ordered the withdrawal of German fighter and bomber squadrons from airfields in Finland to Norway.

It has been estimated that Germany now has about seven divisions in Finland. Their presence undoubtedly has caused the Finns to proceed cautiously in the matter of effecting a separate peace with Russia, for fear of reprisal measures which the Germans might take.

While Helsinki would neither conform nor deny that peace negotiations with Russia are under way, it was disclosed that Juhu Kusti Paasikivi, former Finnish cabinet minister who arrived here last week, conferred yesterday with the Soviet Minister to Sweden, Mme. Alexandra Kollontay.

Rumors persisted, meanwhile, that Russia would insist on military occuptaion of strategic Finnish cities for the duration of the war with Germany as one of the terms of peace with Finland. The Finns were reported strongly opposed to any such concessions although the Russians were said to be ready to guarantee Finland's independence after the war.

Need Ground Forces.

"The strongest military element of Japan is the army, which must be defeated before our success is assured. This can only be done by the use of large ground forces. It's useless and misleading to talk of short cuts. They do not exist.

"It's the team work of a united, well-balanced command used as a unit and not the preponderance of any one element that is essential to victory. We delude ourselves if we plan otherwise. Just as is the case with Germany, we must devise ways and means to bring our ground forces into contact with his at decisive points."

Gen. MacArthur said the old concept of Japan as a predominantly maritime nation based upon her island empire is no longer "factual," adding:

"With her immense holdings on the Asiatic continent, Manchuria, Korea and Northern China, to say nothing of her southern mainland conquests, she has become intrinsically a continental power with her greatest potential inland."

DRAMATIC transformation from peace to war conditions is graphically illustrated by these photographs of the Prince Robert, former flagship of the Canadian National Steamships Pacific Coast fleet, and a famous vacation vessel on which thousands of Canadian and United States travellers spent happy holidays cruising through the picturesque Inside Passage from British Columbia to Alaska. In 1939 the Prince Robert served as Royal Yacht to convey Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth from Victoria to Vancouver as they turned eastwards on their tour of Canada, the ship making a record-breaking trip between the two ports. In that same year the Prince Robert had many jolly parties on her boat deck, such as pictured above. When war came the Canadian National ship was taken over by the Royal Canadian Navy and converted into an auxiliary cruiser, afterwards performing useful service in the Pacific which included the capture of a rich German prize, the heavily laden merchant vessel Weser before it could be scuttled. Later the Prince Robert was transferred to the Atlantic and was one of the many ships which engaged in the search for the German battleship Bismark. Last fall she was given another refitting to emerge as an anti-aircraft cruiser, the first in the Canadian Navy, and recently engaged in a successful action against enemy planes attacking an Allied convoy. The pictures above show, at the left, the Prince Robert in peacetime activities, and at the right, dramatic shots taken by a photographer of the Royal Canadian Navy reveal the former playdeck turned into a fighting gundeck with smoke of battle drifting from the muzzle of an anti-aircraft gun; the gun crews eagerly watching the result of the cannonade. Below the action picture, the grim, business-like cruiser is the Prince Robert in her present fighting trim and in direct contrast (at left) as she appeared in Pacific waters in her pre-war holiday dress. The upper deck and the cabins which were part of the original design were cut down to lessen the target surface and to provide solid platforms for the guns.

Many Canadians In Berlin Raid

By LOUIS HUNTER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

With the R.C.A.F. Bomber Group Somewhere in England, Feb. 16 (CP Cable)—Heavy bombers of the Canadian bomber group joined with squadrons of the R.A.F. and other dominion air forces last night in dealing Berlin the greatest weight of bombs ever to hit a single target during the war.

An R.C.A.F. communique today said "the largest force of heavy bombers ever to operate from the Canadian group" participated. It composed of Lancasters and Halifaxes.

Four Canadian planes are missing.

All day yesterday I watched ground crews making ready the bombers for the night's work.

Then in the half-twilight of late afternoon block bombers queued up on the perimeter of both sides of the runway at the Canadian air station here, and one after another they thundered off for Berlin.

Over the station hundreds of bombers from other stations, all bound for the same destination, could be seen in the darkening sky.

This return to the task of levelling the Nazi capital brought the Canadian group's greatest effort.

All the Canadian planes taking part in last night's operations were assigned to the main target, although the night's work for other formations included mine-laying and diversionary bombing.

Bad Bush Fires Kill 13 People

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 16 — (CP Cable). — After a series of local bush fires broke out in various parts of the State of Victoria, one of the worst in years now has occurred in the brown-coal area situated in heavily-timbered country of Gippsland.

At least 13 persons have been killed, more than 100 are in hospital, and more than 100 homes have been destroyed in the blaze.

Several hundred people, mostly elderly or children, have been made homeless and there have been considerable losses of horses, cattle, and sheep.

The open-cut brown-coal mine owned by the State, from which industries of a large part of Victoria are supplied with electric power, is still ablaze on a one-mile front.

Munitions works in Melbourne and other cities of Victoria were almost at a standstill. Hundreds of civilian and army firefighters worked desperately to control the wall of flame at this valuable open-cut mine, but estimates were that unless half an inch of rain falls immediately the fire is likely to defy the fighters for days.

Farmers Organized

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Feb. 16 — (CP).—Farmers are organized now as never before and in the post-war world "will never tolerate such economic conditions as they have at certain periods in the past," P. M. Dewan, former Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, said last night in an address before the Woodstock Optimist Club.

Pro-axis Group Upsets Plan

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Feb. 16—(AP).—Germany's curt protest against detention of the German military attache, Gen. Friedrich Wolff, brought Argentina close to war with the Reich last week, a diplomatic source said today, and precipitated yesterday's palace revolution ousting Foreign Minister Gen. Alberto Gilbert.

This source, conversant with the swiftly-moving events in Argentina, gave this version:

Germany on Friday sent on insolent note to Argentina through the Swiss Government. The note declared that charges of Nazi espionage in Argentina were a "lie," and that Germany would hold Argentina responsible for treatment accorded to Wolff. It threatened reprisals against Argentine diplomatic representatives in Nazi-controlled territories.

Gilbert angrily demanded a declaration of war against Germany, and rupture of relations with Spain on grounds it also was implicated in Axis espionage in Argentina.

But he was unable to persuade the Nationalist officers to agree to war. There were signs of unusual military preparations in Argentina during this time.

Gilbert and two other state officials were forced to resign as a result.

President General Pedro Ramirez himself apparently was left in a precarious situation by the coup, engineered by a group of reaction-army officers who seized control of the Foreign Ministry.

The sudden turn of events caused Gustavo Martines Zuviria, who had resinged earlier as Minister of Justice and Education because of his opposition to the break with the Axis, to withdraw his resignation, advices from Buenos Aires said. Former Minister of Interior General Luis Perlinger was reported to have taken similar action. Resignation of Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert Presidential Secretary Gonzalez who controlled the press and radio, and of Foreign Undersecretary Oscar Izarri Garcia were announced by the President's office last night.

Cassino Line

In the town of Cassino, Allied troops were forcing their way through blistering machine-gun fire from pill boxes in the dwellings. These strong points, protected by armor plate three to four inches thick, each are held by two men, aiming machine-guns with periscopes without exposing themselves.

Photographic reconnaissance showed that the Benedictine Monastery was destroyed yesterday in the attack by heavy and medium bombers and artillery fire. Only a small portion of the west wall was left.

"Infantrymen who watched the assault said the bombing was "extremely accurate and successful."

Immediately after the planes left, Allied artillery shells began dropping into the Monastery ruins and the entire area around.

The Germans have tried to rush infantry back into the ruins, but whether they succeeded was not known here. The bombing smoked out nearly 300 Nazis.

Raids Heavy

Clearing weather brought almost every type of Allied aircraft into action and heavy bombers also struck at the Poggibonsi railyards 20 miles south of Florence. Nine enemy planes were downed, including four over the beachhead, while the Allies lost one.

Bridges, highways, supply dumps, gun positions, command posts, and enemy troops and motor transport throughout the whole area between Rome and the fronts to the south were raked with fire and high explosives.

The Germans launched their first attack in several weeks against British 8th Army positions, sending infantry and light tanks against Indian troops. The assault, described as on a small scale, was beaten back.

(Douglas Amaron, Canadian Press war correspondent, said yesterday in a dispatch from the Canadian sector of that front, that columns of smoke, observed Monday night on the coastal road about six miles northwest of Ortona, were believed to have resulted from German demolitions in anticipation of a renewed Allied offensive.)

A navy announcement said destroyers shelled Velaluku and Brato on the island of Korcula off the Dalmatian coast on the night of Feb. 12-13.

Some 250 heavy and medium bombers were used to knock out the Mount Cassino monastery which the Germans had used to obstruct an Allied drive northward. The attacks sent 300 German soldiers racing from the lofty stronghold.

There was no immediate indication of the fate of hundreds of Italian civilians who took shelter within the monastery in recent weeks and who were warned by the Allies Monday to leave at once.

Germans Build Anti-Tank Ditch

LONDON, Feb. 16 —(CP)—The Germans have built extensive anti-invasion defences, including a gigantic anti-tank ditch, along the coastline of Denmark, about 300 miles across the North Sea from Britain, and have increased the Nazi occupation force to seven full divisions, reports reaching here from the continent say.

Five big surface airports have been built north of Jutland and there are others underground, it was said. All fortified areas are banned to the Danes.

Fifty thousand German troops were estimated to be stationed at a big camp near Aalborg, 16,000 more on the island of Zealand and about 10,000 on Funen. The strength of police battalions to combat sabotage was also increased.

On other sectors the Germans apparently were being forced to choose quickly between disaster and retreat. These are at Vitebsk, in White Russia; the area southwest of Shepetovka near the Polish frontier; Krivoi Rog in the Dnieper Bend west of the Cherkasy trap and southwest of Rowne (Rovno) in pre-war Poland.

The Green Islands, also known as the Nissan Islands, are 40 miles northwest of Buka Island and about 120 miles east of the Japanese base at Rabaul, where the enemy has been taking repeated and heavy Allied aerial poundings.

dians, whether in the R.C.A.F. or R.A.F., should have the same opportunities with regard to priorities in demobilization, repatriation and rehabilitation, the minister said.

3. It has been agreed that Canadian nationals in the R.A.F. who joined that service prior to and early in the war may apply for transfer to the R.C.A.F. Certain Canadian-born women not normally domiciled in the United Kingdom who joined the Women's Auxiliary of the R.A.F. also will be eligible for transfer.

Reached Peak.

4. The objective of the first three years of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan — to create a training organization on which could be built fighting air forces equal to those of the enemy— has been reached "and we have increasing air superiority over the enemy in every theatre of war."

5. Personnel necessary to fill squadrons, units and formations planned for the front line already are in the pipeline feeding the Air Forces of the United Kingdom, the Commonwealth and the Allies serving under the strategic direction and tactical command of the R.A.F.; and "at the present time we have the capital and necessary immediate replacements."

Maj. Powers said members of the R.C.A.F. were serving "in their thousands" attached temporarily to R.A.F. units throughout the world. "Innumerable questions" arose concerning their welfare, careers and conditions of service. The R.C.A.F. was responsible to the Canadian people for their welfare and future prospects.

From time to time adjustments had to be made and the Air Department in conjunction with the United Kingdom Air Ministry, discussed and formulated general policies to be followed by both forces in dealing with "these important and sometimes difficult problems."

"Long and tough fighting lies ahead before the war is won," said Maj. Power.

"But we must be ready with plans for demobilization, repatriation and rehabilitation well in advance. Our problems in this connection are greatly accentuated because by far the largest numbers of our aircrews are serving with the R.A.F. in distant and varied theatres of war.

"It must be, and is, a matter of primary concern to the Government to ensure that these men are not placed in an unfavorable position by reason of their service in the R.A.F., or in any way handicapped as compared with men in the other Canadian services, or with their air force comrades at home."

Machines To Manufacture Guns Left In Place For Eight Months

By the terms of contract the machines set up in Genelco Limited for the manufacture of guns have to be kept in place for eight months after the order for their output has been filled. This fact of agreement was quoted to the deputation from the local union of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America by J. H. Berry, co-ordinator of contracts with the Department of Munitions and Supply, in an interview at Ottawa last Friday, Neville Hamblin, district representative of "U.E." told the Examiner today.

"We had a very friendly and helpful discussion with Mr. Berry," Mr. Hamblin said. "The appointment was arranged by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., who also did everything he could for us. Mr. Berry said that the staff of Genelco turned out guns as cheaply, if not cheaper, than in the Old Country, so it was not a question of cost. The supply of this type of gun has reached a point where for the present at any rate their production does not need to be carried on. But, the machines have to remain in position as a precaution against any possible reverse, such as loss of a large quantity of them to the enemy. That was something we could all readily understand. Mr. Berry was interested in several suggestions we made to him. He also assured us that the present contract with Genelco for bomber parts would be continued.

Mr. Berry is naturally concerned with the production of munitions generally, but not simply in Peterborough.

That was something else our Peterborough "U.E." deputation understood. We told him our members wished to remain in war work and preferably in Peterborough if contracts could be allocated to the local industries. If that was not possible, then the workers were prepared to go elsewhere. Mr. Berry informed us that there were still plants that greatly needed competent men, and that if some of our people became out of work in Peterborough, they should not be left unemployed or picking up any odd job because they were needed in other centres and it was a matter of adjustment by the Selective Service."

Mr. Hamblin said the trip to Ottawa should prove well worth while although there might not be any immediate results appearing.

"Our deputation learned a great deal, We joined the Canadian Congress of Labor in their meeting with the Cabinet Council, and we were all impressed with the fact that in this democratic country the people are able to take their petitions directly to the heads of government And the speakers for the C.C.L did not mince matters in the least in submitting their memorandum. However, that was apart from our own local business.

The petition we obtained from Peterborough could not be delivered to the Hon. Mr. Howe because he was engaged with a representative from the Old Country, headed by Sir Andrew Duncan, on a matter of further supplies, so we left the petition with Gordon K. Fraser, who told us that he would take it across the floor of the House to Mr. Howe's desk."

Mr. Hamblin said the "U.E." did not wish to be unreasonable in their request to the Government for the allocation of contracts, where transfers could be done in the best interest of everybody, and they knew the facts which Mr. Berry told the local representatives, that in some other munitions centres in this country the dislocations of war work were to a greater extent than in Peterborough.

"Our meeting with Mr. Barry was very satisfactory, and we have hopes that something will come from him, especially in the continuation of workers on war production either here or elsewhere."

Kelley urging a Provincial Soil Conservation program in view of disastrous spring floods and consequent loss to agriculture and other interests.

Member Claims Canadians Have Little Say

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston assumed full responsibility in the Commons last night for the sending part of the Canadian army to Sicily and Italy but he denied it meant the "breaking up of the Canadian army."

"The decision was to use the Canadian army where and how it could best be used," he said.

Into the story of the decision he wove bits of history, of great decisions in the making for the forces for the United Nations: The fact an offensive on western Europe from Britain was contemplated in 1943 but the "plans did not materialize," the fact the big drive is coming "this year" from Britain and that the location of the "major thrust" was settled at the Teheran conference of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin late in 1943.

The reason for Col. Ralston's speech was criticism from T. C. Douglas (CCF-Weyburn) during discussion of army estimates in the war appropriation resolution.

Mr. Douglas expressed fear Canadian authorities were having less and less to do with deciding matters of strategy and employment of the Canadian Army and said many people wanted the army kept together. He suggested the Government acceded to a request from the British High Command to separate part of the army for service in Sicily.

German Boasts Don't Bother Invasion Chiefs

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP Cable) — While the Germans boast of the strengthened French coast defences and revive their propaganda phrase, the "Atlantic Wall," Allied second-front chiefs here have a few aces up their sleeves to deal in the western invasion.

Allied invasion secrets will remain a mystery until D-day but there are many features of the attack that will be a tremendous shock to the enemy.

The Germans probably will have to face an air and sea bombardment without parallel and the vaunted coastal defences such as those they mention at Dieppe will have to be amazingly good to stand up for long against this onslaught.

Following Monday's boast by Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt, commander of German forces in Western Europe, that there would be no withdrawal from France when the attack comes, another Axis boast came yesterday.

George Schr..., correspondent for the Nazi Transocean Agency, claimed in a broadcast heard by the Ministry of Information that defences at Dieppe, scene of the gallant Canadian "reconnaissance in force" Aug. 19, 1942, have been "thoroughly overhauled."

"If any British we took prisoner at Dieppe a year and a half ago were to return they would not believe their eyes," Schroeder claimed, "because Dieppe has been thoroughly overhauled since, according to what was learned during the action. Provision has been made against the possibility of the Atlantic wall being turned by mass landings of airborne troops."

(Of the 5,000 Canadians who made up the bulk of the troops engaged in the Diepe operation, two-thirds were casualties— 3,350 dead, wounded, taken prisoner or missing).

There may be an ulterior motive behind the German bragging. Canadians remember that before the invasion of Sicily the Germans publicly lauded the "impregnable Mediterranean defences."

Overplaying Hand.

Von Rundstedt even made a tour of Sicily to check the defences but when the Canadians landed they found practically nothing there.

This will not be the case in western Europe but even so the Germans probably will be over-playing the defensive strength of places like Dieppe in an attempt to force some 11th-hour doubts on the Allies.

The Dieppe defences the day of the raid were principally strong points in houses, machine-gun ness, pill boxes, and hidden and well-sighted artillery and mortars which the navy and air force had difficulty in reaching.

The Germans probably have done a lot of work with concrete since, creating new and more permanent gun emplacements. But concentrated Allied heavy bombing day and night and naval bombardment by battleships, cruisers and monitors, rather than the small fleet of seven destroyers used at Dieppe, should be able to smash a path through the coastal defences.

The Allies have made vast advances in combined operations technique since Dieppe. If the Germans learned something about defence then, the Allies learned far more about attack for every combined operation since has been compounded of the experience gained at Dieppe. Now an advance system of assault against defended positions has been worked out.

Spotty Support For Federation Irks Members Reviewing Canvass

Directors and members of the Federation of Agriculture decided Tuesday afternoon to advise all canvassers for the plan of financing the organization through municipal collection channels to present their cards to their respective township councils at the March meeting with the request that approving by-laws be passed. And in the meantime the canvass will be continued.

The meeting was frankly disappointed with the dilatory and fractional response to this appeal and approach for support when F. C. Paterson reported that only 477 farmers were listed as assenting to the proposed means of financing the Federation in its steady expansion as the representative body and voice of Canadian agriculture.

The returns quoted by Mr. Paterson were: Otonabee 161, Smith 110, Douro 67, Belmont 80, Dummer 34, Harvey 27, North Monaghan 17, Asphodel 1.

By this plan a farmer may authorize his township council to levy on his assessment one-fifth (1-5) of a mill to be collected in his taxes and paid to the Federation. The township council is permitted to pass an enabling by-law when this request is received from 25 or more taxpaying farmers. But, the special one-fifth of a mill levy does not apply to those who do not sign the petition. It is also provided that a signatory may withdraw his assent at any time and with that severance he no longer would pay through his taxes for the support of the Federation.

It was believed at the meeting yesterday that some cards have probably been signed but have not been returned to the office of the secretary; but, even allowing for that additional support of the plan, which has been recommended throughout the ranks of the Ontario Federation, members regarded the present pledges as a rather shabby showing for the county that was the first to organize a local branch.

John Kitney, presiding, said he believed 90 per cent of the county people would sign the cards if men could be found to do the canvassing.

He said much of the credit for the encouraging figure for Otonabee was due to the work of Alexander Houston.

"It seems too bad," remarked George Mullen, president last year. "If those were all the names we got, three-quarters of the people would get away without paying anything."

"This canvass should go through" said Gordon Hancock. "We made a good start in Peterborough, and won a name as the topmost organization in the province. I feel disappointed that we haven't got more cards in. We should have 1,000 to 1,200."

Mr. Paterson suggested that if all the signed cards were sent in the total might be around 200 more than 477; but to be representative it should exceed 1,000.

A Brighter Side.

Milton Clark reported that he and Mr. Scott had spent three evenings in covering half their school section, and everybody signed except one man.

"Some of the men I called on," said Mr. Houston, "wanted to pay more than 1-5 of a mill. In fact, they insisted on paying me cash, and I turned in between four and five dollars."

Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan relayed the experience of a canvasser who made thirty cals "and only eight signed up." "We got $500 from the County Council in January, but it was difficult. I brought the agricultural committee along this afternoon to see and hear what is going on. The Council is of the opinion that it is about time this Peterborough Federation was standing on its own feet and paying its way. There are lots of fellows sitting a home who never come to our meetings and don't want to do anything. It's too bad they won't get out once in a while and shake themselves up."

Reeve Humphries of Asphodel and Deputy-Reeve Erie Pearson of Smith accompanied Mr. Johnston, and another county councillor present was Reeve Gifford, the first president of the Ontario Federation.

Mr. Humphries said he felt confident that his township could make a far better showing, but educational work in behalf of the Federation had been neglected in Asphodel.

Mr. Pearson proposed that a "desperate effort should be made to clean up the canvass." He had been asked to deliver cards to certain trustees and he had done so. He heard an objection that the man who did not sign got the same benefits as the man who did.

Mr. Johnston commented that the whole thing was provoking and "the little bit of money we would get would hurt nobody, they would not even feel it, and it wouldn't amount to much anyway."

The sentiment of the discussion was generally to the effect that Peterborough farmers were not helping themselves when they stood aside from the promotion of the Federation of Agriculture, that the one-fifth of a mill was only a pittance compared with the advantages received through the Federation, and that every farmer should be actively interested in its success.

New Secretary.

Appointment of Reg Hunter as secretary was announced by Lorne Reynolds, conveying the recommendation of the directors. He succeeds F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Mr. Paterson mentioned that this change was in accordance with departmental policy. "I am going to be just as much interested in the Federation as I have been as your secretary since the Peterborough branch was organized five years ago. I think the change is in the right direction. It will place just that much more responsibility on yourselves, and I think that is desirable because the more you put into a thing, the more you get out of it."

A vote of thanks to Mr. Paterson was moved by C. E. Moore and seconded by George Mullen.

"We all appreciate the work that has been done by Mr. Paterson and Miss Evelyn Scott," Mr. Moore said. "We will still have the facilities of this office. Peterborough was the first Ontario county to organize, and Mr. Paterson has always been kind and helpful."

Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., attended the meeting and was asked to speak to the members.

"I did not come here to make a speech, but to try to learn something of your problems," Mr. Scott said. "I think it is my duty in this job to do my best to learn as much as I can of the problems of all the people. I don't want you to think of me as a sort of 'city slicker.' My people have been on the same farm for 120 years and they are still there, and I know something about it. I don't want you to think there is any political angle when I drop into a meeting like this. It is simply that I want to improve my ability to understand my position among you and to do my work better."

Reports on the annual convention of the Ontario Federation were given by Lorne Reynolds, Reg Hunter, Mrs. Clarence Laing, Alan Drummond, and Elmer Milburn.

Training Centre Officially Opens Canteen

Remodelled, redecorated and a pleasure for soldier and civilian alike to behold, the new canteen for enlisted men at Basic Training Centre No. 32 was formally opened with ceremony befitting the occasion Tuesday night. His Honor Mayor Hamilton, representatives of the city, including several aldermen, and representatives of local industries were guests of Lt. Col. Walter Bapty, O.C. of the camp.

The ceremony began when the Colonel's party, following an informal supper in the Officers' Mess, filed into the new recreational hall, where were already gathered officers of the camp, company sergeant majors, a platoon of C.W.A.C.'s and five men picked from each platoon to represent their units. Across the way, in the drill hall, hundreds more of the training centre's men were assembled to listen to the proceedings that would prepare the way for the declaration that the canteen was officially opened for business.

Visitors saw an establishment whose comforts and conveniences must compare favorably with any recreational centre of a like nature in Army training camps. Tastefully painted and decorated and with an eye to the wants and pleasures of the soldiers who are to patronise it, the whole project exhibits at a glance the thought and care which have gone into its planning and execution. Pivot of the long hall that houses this new gathering place of men off duty, looking for a change of atmosphere and a place to relax, is the bar along the middle of one side, where soft drinks and food, notions of many kinds and cigarettes are sold.

One of the major functions for which the canteen has been designed is to hold company dances, and it is planned to hold these at weekly intervals, to the music of the Centre's own band. The first one of such dances has been scheduled for this coming Thursday.

Thanks People of Peterborough

In opening the brief ceremonies, Lt. Col Bapty said that he would take the opportunity to express the thanks of all for the great support and kindly hospitality of the city of Peterborough and its people. Whenever problems or difficulties had arisen that required outside assistance, he said, the training centre had always obtained a sympathetic hearing and more than adequate help from the city and local industries.

Mayor Hamilton, called on to say a few words, expressed his pleasure at being present on the occasion, and stated he was sure the canteen would be a source of great enjoyment to the men. He paid tribute to Col. Bapty for the realistic interest he had shown in the broad field of providing for the comfort of his men, and felt that the city might well consider itself honored to have as commanding officer a man of such public spirit and enthusiasm.

"The officers have always been well looked after," Ian McRae, C.G.E. Works manager, said, following Mayor Hamilton, "but I cannot say as much for the men before Lt. Col. Bapty came. I feel that this will truly be your recreation centre, and its value will be particularly noticeable during the winter months."

Alderman Opens Canteen

To Alderman Roland Glover was allotted the particular duty of formally declaring the canteen open for business, and this he did, having first expressed his conviction that the efforts of Col. Bapty in providing for the comfort and pleasure of his men would be thoroughly appreciated. The lights along the bar went on, the cord that had roped it off from the rest of the hall quickly came down, and our attendants, all soldiers and one CWAC, ranged along the counter supplying the wants of servicemen who wasted no time in thronging up. Company by company the men of No. 32 filed into their new canteen, and a good time after the opening they were still crowding the bar three and four deep.

Never Surrender Fighting Japs Priest Warns

GANANOQUE, Feb. 16 — Canadians who will fight the Japanese were advised to die rather than surrender because a quick death would be better than the slow starvation and probable eventual death of a Japanese military camp.

This warning was made by Rev Harold Murphy, Kingston, a Roman Catholic missionary who recently returned from seven years' service in China. He told a local audience of Japanese atrocities, learned from men who escaped.

For instance, 2,000 British prisoners of war were left to die in a sinking ship in the Pacific after the ship had been deserted by their Japanese captors. Only 200 were able to escape, and of these only three eventually reached his mission in the Lishwi Valley of Chekiang Province.

"If I had any advice to offer any of our Canadian lads who may be fighting the Japanese, or any soldiers of the white race who are fighting them, I'd say, 'Don't surrender—fight on to the death!'" he said.

Post-War Jobs For Women

Speaking in the Senate on February 2 the Honourable Iva Fallis of this city brought up the difficult and puzzling problem of the female industrial worker in the post-war world. What Senator Fallis said was admirably just and logical, but it is impossible to say at this time whether it can be turned into reality. These are her words: "I stress that the only two conditions which women applicants for work should be required to meet, after ex-servicemen have been taken care of, are these: the ability to do the job and the need of remuneration. And what applies to women in industry applies also in the wider fields of business, professional life and public service".

There are still men who are jealous of women who compete with them on equal terms in jobs which used to be held exclusively by men. There are many men who take the somewhat peculiar view that women who do a job should not have the same pay as men who do the same job; their argument is that the women have not the financial burdens and responsibilities which men have. The answer to this, of course, is that if a job is worth so much, it is worth that sum for anyone who does it well, be it man, woman or child: as for financial responsibility, women will quickly learn that as they take on responsible jobs at fair pay, they will have to take on their share of financial burden as well; few households could survive if the man were expected to keep himself, his wife and their children, while she kept her substantial wages for herself.

In business, professional life and in public service we feel that women are progressing slowly toward a goal of equality with men; in some places the battle is long and hard, but the victory is sure. The older sort of feminist—the virago, the man-in-petticoats—has almost disappeared, and women in public life now know that they are most successful when they are most womanly; the woman who wanted to be a man was a failure, but the woman who realizes the full power and special aptitudes of her sex is often brilliantly successful.

But the woman in industry is a different matter. Her interest in her work is rarely as great as that of her business and professional sisters. If she is not married it is likely that she expects to be married some day, and thus is not looking for advancement in her work. If she is married, she can always go home and keep house as a dependent of her husband. In neither case is the job as much a matter of concern, or as much a matter of pride and principle, as it is with the man who expects to work all his life. In this war women have shown that they can do a magnificent job when the situation demands it. But will they keep up that great effort when it is no longer a matter of national necessity? Neither plant-managers nor trade unions, we feel, will welcome women workers in industry who are in-and-outers, taking work when they feel like it, and dropping it when they feel like it.

Whether the situation which Senator Fallis would like to see will come about or not depends on the way women take the changes which will come in the first two or three years of peace. If they are in earnest about wanting equality in industry, they will get it; but if they are not, industry will have no place for them.

Suggestions For "Streamlining"

Commenting on the announcement that education in the Province of Ontario is to be 'streamlined', the Kingston Whig-Standard suggests that some useful 'streamlining' might be done in the matter of homework. That paper has interviewed the local Collegiate principal, and has learned from him that pupils in Grade IX need about an hour and a half in which to do their homework, pupils in Grade X need two hours, and pupils in the senior grades need three or four hours. The Whig-Standard thinks that this is too much, and that there is danger of turning growing boys and girls into text-book drudges. It suggests that if so much work is necessary, the school course should be extended by a full year.

Four hours is a long time for homework, certainly. However, we doubt if more than a few pupils spend that full time on their work; they skimp on it because they naturally and rightly want to get on with the job of educating themselves by reading books, listening to music, mixing with their friends or loafing and daydreaming, all of which are educative pursuits. And the homework situation is not as bad as it used to be. Children in the public schools now have very little homework; there was a time—and not very long ago—when they went home every evening with a load of books and worries; maps had to be drawn, history had to be read, as many as twenty sums had to be worked, the spelling of words had to be memorized—the teacher spent the last ten minutes of the day loading her pupils down with enough work to keep them out of bed until past ten o'clock. Those days are gone—forever, let us hope. Now only Collegiate pupils have homework in any quantity, and we think that they know how to handle the situation if it becomes too heavy; they simply do not do it.

If the Ontario Government wants to 'streamline' education—we apologize for the continued use of the comic and meaningless word 'streamline', but the Government used it first—we suggest that it get busy and revise the Education Act, which has been amended and altered and added to and substracted from until it is now in such a tangle that it defies consistent interpretation. The Act needs to be reconsidered and rewritten by a competent committee, in the light of modern educational procedure, so that it can be interpreted by local school authorities in a straightforward and authoritative manner. Such a revision would clear the decks for other changes in education, for it would be a radical, rather than a superficial, reform.

A Proposed National Park

We call the attention of our readers to a letter which appears on this page today from Mr. Fred C. Marshall, formerly Game Overseer of the county, in which he refers once again to a project which has long been dear to his heart. The project in question—the establishment of a national or provincial park in the north of the county—has for some years been supported by the Examiner, and we are glad to have this chance of putting forward its merits once more.

The land which Mr. Marshall sees as a fine situation for such a park is the large area of woods and lakes bounded on the east by the Burleigh Road, on the west by the Buckhorn Road, and on the south by the Oregon Trail. The land in that area is not well suited to agriculture, but it has beautiful wooded stretches and other areas which could be wooded under a good plan of re-forestation, and it has a great number of beautiful lakes; many of these, Mr. Marshall assures us, have not yet been put on maps of the district. There are citizens of Peterborough who know this district, in part at least, and who can speak eloquently of its beauties.

If this area were made a national or provincial park, it would not be hunting land. But it would assure plenty of good hunting in the county in perpetuity, for as the game multiplied in the park it would spread through the districts on either side of it, where it could be hunted. Wild life does not like crowded districts, and there would be no danger of the game huddling in the preserve, where it would be safe.

The park would be a paradise for those who like to watch wild animals, and study them, but who feel no urge to hunt. There are great numbers of such people, and a park would attract them from many parts of Canada and from the U.S. The park would be an amenity for Peterborough county, and it would also be a considerable commercial asset. Already numbers of hunters are attracted here; why should we not be visited by campers as well? It is understood that although hunting would be forbidden in the park area, fishing would be permitted.

Once again we recommend this scheme to the city and the county, and suggest that we take steps to make it a reality.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Great crooners are born, says a contemporary. More ammunition for the advocates of birth-control.

"Experts Foresee Long War In East" says a headline. Meanwhile we keep on pegging away at the rapidly aging war in the west.

The Wall Street Journal says that the ability to speak several languages is a priceless asset. It is also useful to be able to keep your mouth shut in all of them.

Epic Of The Australian Bush

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

LAST autumn there was a good deal of critical fuss in the United States about Xavier Herbert's novel "Capricornia," which I have just finished reading. The delay between the publication of the book and the appearance of a review of it in this column is not so inexcusable as it may at first seem; "Capricornia" appeared in Australia some years ago, in 1938, to be exact, and won the Commonwealth Literary Prize Competition on the occasion of Australia's 150th anniversary. If the book appeared in 1938, and the American critics did not review it until late in 1943, a slight drag into 1944 will do no harm. And in any case the book is good enough to be a little better for keeping.

IT speaks well for the integrity of the Australian judges that they gave this book a prize on a patriotic occasion, for it is hardly a patriotic book, in the conventional sense. The author loves the Australian land deeply, and his book is a hymn of praise to it, but he has not much use for Australians. He hates the exploiting capitalists, and the politicians who prate about the country's wonderful opportunities, and the editors of the great southern newspapers, whom he characterizes briefly as 'blowbags': but he also hates the pseudo-democrats who ruin Australian foreign trade and then call the country "a workingman's paradise," the trade unionists and the levellers who recognize no level but their own; his chief hate, however, is for the civil servants who bungle the administration of the northern lands, and who have abused and despoiled the aboriginal population. Mr. Herbert is a great and refreshing hater.

THE scene of "Capricornia" is the northern settlement of Australia, and the Port Zodiac of the book is easily recognized as the Port Darwin of reality. Poor and wretched and corrupt as Port Zodiac may be, it is the metropolis and the fountain of justice, culture and enlightenment for a huge district, including the six hundred square miles or so which comprises the scene of Xavier Herbert's book. It is this section of Australia in which many U.S. troops are stationed at present, and a desolate and god-forsaken land it is. It is unfortunate that many of the American soldiers should have formed their opinion of Australia on this evidence alone; "co-Postmaster" which the Book-of-the-Month Club distributed widely, gave a most unhappy impression of Australia, apparently based on a slight acquaintance with the Northern Territory; it would be equally just to judge Canada after spending a few months on the shores of James Bay.

THIS land is called Capricornia by Mr. Herbert, referring to the Tropic of Capricornia; half the year the land suffers from drought, and that is The Dry; the other half it swims in drenching tropical rains, and that is The Wet. The inhabitants are sheep and cattle ranchers, the gangs who keep the defective railway line in order and a few odds and ends of white humanity, the shopkeepers, telegraph agents and swagmen, who keep up a spasmodic contact with civilization, as represented by Port Zodiac. These whites are the lords of creation. There are, of course, the aboriginals, the Bhingis, living their Stone Age life in the forests, and there are some Dagoes and Chows, but these do not count as people. In Capricornia only a white Australian is a white man; even an Englishman—a Pommy—is regarded as having an unpleasant exotic streak in his character.

THIS novel is greatly concerned with the problem of colour. In Capricornia to be anything less than white is to be less than human; even the missionaries are firm on that point. But because the white inhabitants have a strong taste for Black Velvet—as adultery with the aboriginal women is called—there are many half-castes, or Yeller Fellers in Capricornia, and they are not always contented to be treated as Bhingis, 'protected' by the Protector of Aborigines, jailed without trial, and otherwise treated like dirt. Norman Shillingsworth, a Yeller Feller, is the hero of this book, if it may be said to have a hero, and the problem of his colour is the peg upon which the story hangs.

IT is an astounding story, and I recommend it strongly. Xavier Herbert writes in a manner which I admire; he wastes no time on chit-chat, but goes straight to his point every time, and crowds his pages with incident. "Capricornia" is full of fights, betrayals, scenes of lust, murders, passages of uproarious farce and scenes of great pathos. Herbert is not a skilled writer but he is an enthusiastic one, and he is delighted with the story he has to tell; he fires the reader with his own enthusiasm and delight. His characters are blackguards and fools, pimps and sharpers, all moved by the basest desires, but they are real people—they live. H. G. Wells is quoted as saying that "Capricornia is the best written and finest spirited novel that has ever come out of Australia." A Canadian critic must wish that a book of comparable merit might be written, by a Canadian, about Canada.

Bloc Goes Musical

Members of the Bloc Populaire party have a new song, the work of Andre Mathieu. The following is a translation of the words as published in Le Devoir:

CHORUS:

It is we, Canadiens, who defend our country,
To protect our rights and our liberties.
It is we, Canadiens, who fight,
It is we, Canadiens, who will always, always march
To the battle for our liberties.
O Canada! You will earn your flag
By the spirit and glory of your sons.
For us it is nothing to suffer,
For us it is nothing to die;
And when the hour of our deliverance comes,
We shall know how to assure
Your immortality.

SOLO:

Let us remember our fathers
And the ceaseless struggles
That they have conducted.
To honor their memory,
We shall retake our heritage
Forever.
Without fear and without remorse,
We shall break our chains
Forever.

CHORUS:

It is we, Canadiens, who defend our country.
To protect her liberty,
And we shall be masters
In our own house.

Guerilla War In Parliament

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THE groans of disgust heard in the House of Commons on Thursday in every corner but one, when members of the Quebec "southeast corner" moved sub-amendments, simply served to emphasize the urgent need for a thorough revision of House rules.

While the Fathers of Confederation and the framers of the national charter could hardly be expected to anticipate the perilous multiplication of political groups and the threatened paralysis of parliamentary machinery produced by that condition, it is certain that the present rules of procedure, governing both debate and division, do little else than invite the sort of spectacle that angered legislators and gallery occupants on Thursday.

It was not necessarily a quarrel with the views of the Bloc Populaire but with rules that made it possible for the almost fanatically insistent advocates of the anti-participation group to vent their political wrath on the vast and opposing majority by forcing at least two divisions and at an hour when most Commoners were anxious to finish the business of debating the formal Throne speech.

What is more, the 170 odd were powerless to check the guerilla warfare of the Bloc, and that impotence made matters worse. The rules, even as they stand, do not require that anyone, whether he speaks for a group of six or seven or even for himself alone, should be recognized in a major debate as having the right to separate recognition to the extent of moving sub-amendments and of having them debated and voted upon, but the present Prime Minister and others have repeatedly admitted the many groups in the House just had to be recognized, that there was no existing authority for denying them special or separate recognition.

A special committee of the House is now engaged in examining the present rules and regulations governing debate and other important procedure. An early interim report from that committee providing for some carefully conceived restriction upon the kind of thing that has developed many times in this war would do much to promote speedier and more effective consideration of the predominant war business.

There is every indication that the kind of tactics practiced the other night by the Bloc Populaire will be repeated many times this session, and the prospects of the Socialist group also resorting to every means within the rules to sound the parliamentary board for electoral purposes are exceedingly bright.

If the primary, the pressing needs of the war effort are to be met, the repeated invasion of the invaluable time of parliament by two groups whose utterances and parliamentary moves do not suggest enthusiasm for an all-out fight against brutal totalitarianism must be curbed if not prevented by changes in the rules that would impose a sensible requirement of the number of persons who, on rising, may demand a division of the House.

They Make the Best Bird Watchers

FEW mysteries in nature can so capture man's imagination as bird migration. I can still recall the group of migration watchers that, as a boy, I self-consciously encountered for the first time in a New York City park. Among them were a quiet electrical engineer, a scholarly church organist, an excitable lawyer, a nervous advertising man, a taciturn botanist, a retired member of the British Civil Service, and an amiable eighty-year-old veteran of the Civil War who would not brook assistance in climbing a fence. We lived a life of mingled awe and excitement — awe because we were constantly seeing birds in the process of moving from Central and South Amrica to the cool northern forests of New England and Canada, excitement because the park was sometimes spilling over with bird life or brightened here and there with birds that we had never before seen. As a group, we were no different than scores of others scattered throughout the United States and Canada, drawn together by the lure of migration watching....

The great popularity of migration watching has resulted in the publication of an enormous quantity of somewhat isolated facts. Speaking conservatively, I would estimate the number of published items about migrating birds in the United States at not less than 750,000. Such a mass of information would seem to signify that very little is left to explore in this branch of natural history. Such a conclusion is, I think far from true....

It can be said with some certainty that, given a little guidance and the right equipment, the average school boy with only a limited experience with birds could produce more new facts on local bird migration in a single season than the average expert does in a decade of Sunday field trips. It is the school boy's free time that is the envy of the expert. For years I have encountered boys who regularly found migrants earlier than more matured ornithologists. Their powers of observation were not yet fully developed and they were without motor cars, but they did make daily observations. Birds ordinarily do not wait until Sunday to migrate.—From "A Guide to Bird Watching," by Joseph J. Hickey. (New York: Oxford University Press.)

Culled From Our Contemporaries

Are Our M.P.'s Waking Up?

Parliament is again in session at Ottawa and some Members have discovered that they have little if anything to say in the making of legislation or debate, and are actually making protest. It is remarkable that the M.P.'s have just made the discovery that a few Cabinet Ministers are running Canada. Government by the people for the people may yet be a fact in Canada.—Aylmer Express.

Loose Talk On Big Topic

When M. J. Coldwell, M.P., made the statement that he "would not like to see Canada committed in advance to Tory-dominated foreign and colonial policies like those so constantly followed in the past" he was giving voice to some loose thoughts and prejudices. Coming from the leader of a party aspiring to play a major part in Canadian politics they can only be regarded as narrow and short-sighted and therefore of little merit when considering Lord Halifax's proposal that the nations of the British Commonwealth should leave nothing undone to bring their people into closer unity of thought and action on foreign policy, defence, economic affairs and colonial questions. — Toronto Telegram.

War Darkens Hair

One of the less momentous by-products of the war has been the disappearance of thousands of blondes. The chief reason is the dwindling supply of peroxide. As for the blondes whose tresses were dyed, many have found themselves too busy to spare the time for the frequent retouchings that are necessary. No effect has been noted on the relatively few women whose locks were just naturally blonde. — New York Herald Tribune.

By Way Of Experiment

It is fairly evident from the operations of the past fortnight or so that air power is now being employed on a scale not hitherto tried. It is equally clear that the German defences are either badly designed or else insufficient to counteract the developed technique to the saturation raid. That is why it is possible to say that the advocates of victory through air power are finally having their theories given as complete a test as is possible with the present development of the plane. Mr. Churchill promised that the "experiment" would be tried. The R.A.F. is keeping the promise for him, though its members would hardly admit the quality of their activities.—Baltimore Sun.

A Bible Message

And God spake all these, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.... Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain. (Ex. 20: 1-3, 7.)

Sing unto the Lord, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation.... For great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised: he also is to be feared above all gods. For all the gods of the people are idols: but the Lord made the heaven. (I Chron. 16: 23, 25, 26.)

For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him. (I Cor. 8: 5, 6.)

Happy is he that hath the God of Jacob for his help, whose hope is in the Lord his God. (Ps. 146: 5.)

Letter To The Editor

PROPOSES NATIONAL PARK

Sir,—May I through your columns have space to express my thanks to Senator Duffus for his recent endorsation of a local project I have been advocating since 1935. I refer to a Provincial or National Park in this district.

Since the first of this year I have again discussed this matter with members of the County Council and our local M.L.A., Mr. Scott, and was greatly encouraged by the reception of this idea by both; in fact the warden of the county, Mr. Isaac Anderson, is now in possession of certain data I loaned him in order to study the question.

The facts are that there are thousands of acres of land, lakes and streams in this district that will never, as far as it is humanly possible to foresee, produce anything but timber, wild life and fish. This is public property—Crown lands owned by you and me. Are we making the best use of it?

I sincerely hope Senators Duffus and Fallis and Mr. Gordon Fraser, M.P., and Mr. Harold Scott, M.L.A., will take steps to see that the general public are informed of the possibilities of this proposed park and that no stone will be left unturned to make it a reality.

FRED C. MARSHALL.

Three please—Three slightly deaf men were motoring from the north to London in an old, noisy car, and hearing was difficult. As they were nearing the city one asked:

"Is this Wembley?"

"No," replied the second, "this is Thursday."

"So am I," put the third, "let's stop and have one."

Nora: I think Jack must have a lot of untidy officers in his regiment.

Cora: What makes you think so?

Nora: Well, he often writes and tells me that he had to clean up the Officers' Mess again.

Embarrassing Moment

The editor of the Hespeler Herald claims a Hespeler girl saw this happen on a Toronto street car. A lady boarded a Yonge street car and immediately aroused the curiosity of all the passengers. She was leading her young son by the hand. Over his head was a big paper shopping bag, which he tried from time to time to remove. His mother did her best to keep it on and succeeded until the car reached the stop at College street. As she was paying her fare, before getting off the boy was free for a moment and he pulled the bag off his head, while the passengers roared and the poor mother's face got red, for, firmly wedged over the boy's head was a bit of bedroom crockery. She was taking the child to the Hospital for Sick Children and was only a block away from her destination.—Fergus News-Record.

Get More Miners

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 16—(CP)—In the six months since National Selective Service measures to obtain more coal miners became effective June 1, 1,100 additional miners were employed in the Maritimes, R. P. Harley, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, said yesterday. The respective totals for the Maritimes and all of Canada on June 1 were 14,173 and 24,864. Six months later the figures were 15,273 and 27,986.

Compulsory Saving Paste Tubes Stopped

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.—(CP).— The Prices Board announced yesterday that used collapsible tubes no longer need to be turned in for the purchase of shaving cream or tooth paste, ending a compulsory salvage measure instituted early in the war.

The announcement said compulsory collections were being discontinued because the amount of tin used in newly-manufactured tubes has been reduced to a point where the amount of tin recovered from salvage had dropped to less than 15 per cent of the gross weight of the tubes.

Collections will continue, however, on a voluntary basis with retail druggists turning the tubes over to wholesalers.

Big Blue Book Records R.A.F. Bombing

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 16 —(CP)—If you saw the R.A.F.'s "blue book of damage" lying on an office desk you would think some hungry accountant had just closed it and slipped out for a bite. It's not an impressive volume—plain, about three feet long, two feet wide and six inches thick (so far), but it is the most remarkable, most dramatic air book in history.

The big book has no title but junior officers around bomber command headquarters where it lies on a long, green baize-covered table flippantly call it the "cookie bookie." It is the favorite book of the bomber chief, Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris.

Between its blue, leather-bound covers is a diagramatical record of the progress of the R.A.F.'s offensive against Germany. It shows in amazing detail the results of every bombing attack. German attempts at reconstruction are also noted (for some months now bombing has far outpaced rebuilding).

On the outside edge of each page is a tab marked with a name like Berlin, Cologne, Essen, Hanover or Brunswick. Coventry is there, too, right at the start of the book. It is the yardstick for comparison. Because Coventry was the best German attempt at saturation bombing.

The pages are detailed aerial photographs of German cities and there is an overlay of drawing silk on each map. When evidence is collected after each raid, experts paint out the sections, building by building, which have been devastated.

On each left-hand page are black-and-white diagrams which show how many buildings, and what sort, have been destroyed in every target city. They show the proportion of the whole industrial area which has been wiped out.

Coventry, where 400 German bombers dropped 450 tons of bombs in nine hours, looks almost untouched in comparison with some of the Reich centres the R.A.F. has visited. The blue used to mark out damaged industrial areas covers extensive sections of the maps of some German cities.

Hamburg, for instance, is just one mass of blue. In the attacks last summer, 9,000 tons of bombs were dropped, sometimes at the rate of 54 tons a minute, and more than 6,200 built up acres were wiped out. Hupptertal, Duesseldorf and Berlin, of course, are covered by plenty of blue.

The book has this story to tell about other German cities:—

Cologne: One-thousand bombers dropped 1,500 tons in 90 minutes in May, 1942, and left 600 acres devastated.

Hanover: Bombers dropped 1,800 tons at the rate of 60 tons a minute in September, 1943, devastating 2,500 acres.

Cassel: More than 60 per cent of the town destroyed by bombers which dropped 1,900 tons at a rate of 74 tons a minute in October, 1943.

W.I. Hears Importance Of Attractive Homes

WARSAW, Feb. 16 (ENS) —Mrs. Roland Payne was hostess to the Women's Institute at her home last week. Mrs. Stewart Clysdale presided.

The treasurer reported all bills paid and a balance of $5.23. Final plans were made for euchre and dance to be held in Orange Hall on February 16. Mrs. Clysdale displayed a beautiful pair of bath towels with knitted trimming and it was decided to sell tickets on them and make the draw at the March meeting.

Mrs. John Morgan had charge of the current events and the topic, 'Home Economics,' prepared by Mrs. Stephen Miller, was given by Mrs. Stewart Clysdale. Home was defined as the most sacred place on earth and the members were charged to make it attractive, but not so grand it could not be liveable; provide music and entertainment and encourage the family to entertain their friends in the home; teach economy and wise handling of money and be an example in all things; start by being honest in rationing not only of those things that are purchased by coupon but making the best of everything.

Mrs. Payne served lunch at the close of the meeting assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Austin Elliott.

Personals.

The local L.O.L. held a delightful dance and euchre in the Orange Hall recently. Fourteen tables were played, the prizes going: Ladies' first, Mrs. Jordan Crowe; ladies' second, Miss Ellen Forsythe; men's first, Mr. Mark Lonsberry; men's second, Mr. Jordan Crowe. Mr. Reg. Bolton supplied music for dancing.

Mrs. E. D. Snelgrove is improving after her recent operation in Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. George Weller were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Manh at Trent River recently.

LAC. John Darling is spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Darling.

Police Chief's Son Jailed For 2 Days

MONTREAL, Feb. 16—(CP). — Rene Bolduc, 22-year-old son of the Chief of Police at nearby Plage Laval, yesterday was sentenced to time already spent in jail — two days—by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure after being found guilty on a charge of not having kept National Selective Service informed about where he could be reached by mail.

Bolduc, storm-centre of a dance hall disturbance at Plage Laval last summer, in which Moe Hercovitch of Montreal received a severe eye injury, had originally been acquitted on a similar charge, but the Crown appealed the case after Judge J. C. Langlois said in a public announcement that he had mistaken the section under which the charge was laid when Bolduc appeared before him.

Stresses Letters, Snapshots

As we know, Canadian men and women are now scattered to all corners of the Globe "On Duty" in the various branches of the fighting Services of our country, and we of the "Home Front" must do everything in our power to back them up and ensure their mental as well as physical well-being. They endure, without doubt, many lonesome and home-sick hours, and the one great panacea for that condition is a letter from Home. Yes, we must all write and write often, and better still, enclose a few "snapshots" with each letter. The truth of that well-known observation that "A picture is worth a thousand words" has no better exemplification than the great store set by our absent ones on these "Pictures from Home." True, the supply of film for civilian use is somewhat restricted, but failing new pictures—prints from negatives depicting pleasant occasions in the past are indeed just as welcome. Following this suggestion, we would remind you that all photo work left at your nearest Tamblyn Store is finished in "Mirror True Process," a fact which ensures you at all times of the "Best in Photo Finishing."

Reverse Base-Running For Ball Players Quaint Idea To Be Tried Out In States

Ray Dumont has advocated base running in reverse to add "razzle-dazzle" to baseball. Dumont, you know, is president of the National Baseball Congress, semi-pro organization, and he tried to get directors of the loop to adopt it. They turned thumbs down but will give it an exhibition try in Wichita, Kan., August 11. Dumont's plan would permit a batter to run either to first or third, continuing in the same direction in which he started.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Another group winner was declared Tuesday night when Jack Welsh's rink breesed home with a 11-6 win over A. Aitenkhead. The Welsh rink led Group C with eight wins and two losses. This is the second year in a row for this rink to come out on top and by the way they are the only one to repeat this year.

In Group D it is all tied up in a real hard knot. Tom McArthur won from F. Green so that puts him on the same basis as M. Cruthers. They each have eight wins and two losses. Just when the play off will take place, we don't know but it's a case of even money. Take your choice.

And not withstanding the prolonged mild spell during the month of January when we lost many nights of curling we finished our complete schedule on Tuesday evening, just one night behind the schedule date.

With the record entry of forty-eight rinks we commence play for the Neill Trophy this evening at 6:45 o'clock. The draw appears below, and as all the skips have been notified, there is no reason why the games should not be away on good time. The committee is insisting that there be no delays.

The games are to be 10 ends each and the rules governing the bonspiel are the same as the rules covering the regular schedule game. Be on time.

Mill Boys Lead Town League In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16 — (ENS) — Re-vamping their team last week has paid dividends to the Mill team with a 6 to 4 decision over Clerks last night. The Mill vs. Clerks exhibition was the second game of the evening and it caught the later team short handed so they borrowed Ron Haig from the English Line and Keith Sutton from the Otulaws. Defenseman D. Pickering took the scoring honors for the evening by notching three during the sixty minutes, while Kemp, Wilks and Pettifer each got one. For the Clerks, Burgess gathered a couple and Dooher and Hay got one each. Though the Mill had the edge on the play the Clerks were a threat during the entire game and forced the winners to work for their victory.

The teams:

Mill—Goal M. Maxwell; defence, E. Wilks, D. Pickering; centre, Ross Kemp; wins, J. Wilson, K. Messenger; subs, J. O'Rourke, B. Nicholas, Carl Pettifer, Harry Bennett.

Clerks:— Goal, R. Haig; defence, M. Nesbitt H. Dooher; centre, D. Burgess; wings, Bob Hay, Brunelle; subs., Keith Sutton, C. Post, L. Nesbitt.

Tie Game.

The Outlaws and the English Line battled to a 2-all tie in a fast clean game with few penalties. At the start the Outlaws had no goalie so Keith Sutton bravely entered the nets minus a set of pads. When Free, the regular net minder, arrived, the score stood at one all and from then on it was touch and go with Ron Haig in the Line net making some great saves. E. Sutton and Bill Oliver scored for the Outlaws while Alex Shillinglaw and Jack Thain were the English Line marksmen.

The teams:

Outlaws:— Goal, P. Free; defence, Bob Ostofi, Dint Green; centre, Keith Sutton; wings, W. Machetuk, Ed. Sutton; subs., Bill McKelvie, Bill Oliver, Dick Nicholas, Herb Hendy, Ken McClure.

English Line: — Goal, Ron Haig; defence, E. Lee, H. Stephens; centre Alex. Shillinglaw; wings, R. Tinney, J. Thain; subs., D. Stephens, A. Haig, A. Stephens, Glen Hay, K. Buchanan.

League standing:

26 Rinks Unbeaten In Ontario Tourney

TORONTO, Feb. 16—(CP).—Curlers participating in the 17th annual Ontario Bonspiel today continued play in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophy event and opened play for the North American Life Trophy after resting from their labors with broom and stone last night to take part in the annual banquet.

Three widely known curlers — Peter Gilbert of Chatham, W. A. Mahoney of Guelph, and S. A. Morrison of Meaford—were presented with life memberships in the Ontario Curling Association at the banquet which was attended by 592 persons.

Twenty-six rinks remained unbeaten as the third day's play started this morning.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

For a long time there was a neck-and-neck race in the Ladies' City Five Pin League with Outboard Marines and Westclox running like a team and Brintons not far behind but recently the Big Bens have been opening out a wide margin over the rest of the field. The Westclockers whose lineup includes three of the best known members of their softball club, Aggie Anderson, Isobel Bullock and Marg Hawthorne, have been bowling very steadily and the result is they have been piling up the points. They added two more points to their lead Monday night, going out in front by five, by scoring a clean sweep at the expense of the Beavers with Marg Hawthorne and Aggie Anderson both topping the 600 mark. While the Big Bens were cleaning up, their nearest rivals the Outboard Marines were having a tough night at the hands of the Commandos who took the first and third games and came within an ace of making it a three-point affair. As a matter of fact they tied the Outboards in the second game but the second-placers salvaged a point, winning the roll-off and taking the game. Incidentally the Corvettes copped the team-scoring honors for the week with a 3051 total. The star individual performance was contributed by M. Goldie of Corvettes who had high-three for the night with the fine total of 757, her string including a 313 single.

Thoughtful readers will echo the rebuke expressed in the following paragraph by E. M. Harrison which appears in his "Now" column in the Windsor Star: Under the heading, "The Sportsman of the Year," a writer in The Chicago Tribune says: "Against overwhelming odds his team fought 60 minutes every Saturday. Never an alibi or complaint against the fates which had given him one of the most undermanned squads in the Big Ten conference and one of the toughest schedules in the country. A modest winner and a gracious loser, a really All-American — Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin!" Tell that to the Marines. To the boys fighting from door to door in Cassino, from foxhole to foxhole in the Pacific!

Local Boys Make Good

Annis Stukus of the Star's sport staff has been visiting the big Toronto spiel and as a result has dug up some interesting dope on Peterborough's representatives including Ray and Don Best and Garth Braund. It makes interesting reading. Says Stuke: "Bumped into a few people I'd been wanting to meet. Don Best of Kirkland Lake, one of the better skips in the province, was one of them. He's got a comparatively young rink, and his vice-skip is his dad, Ray Best of Peterborough. Best, Sr., has been just that for many years, still tosses as good a stone as any. Take it from Henry Hudson of McIntyre, a better than average curler along with his brother, Dr. Lou Hudson, the Best quartet is the outfit to beat for most of the marbles. "They're on the broom, have youth and experience and I'll take five to one on them against the field," says Hudson. They don't fool. Tom Marston, the lead, looked as if he'd been doused with a bucket of water when he came off the ice after they'd whipped W. H. Milne's Toronto Vic four in their first game. When his skip shouts "Sweep," Marston does it with vim and vigor."

* * * * * *

"Garth Braund, who is skipping the only Peterborough entry—a makeshift quartet picked up at the last minute — was a pleasant surprise," continues Scribe Stukus. "He's been skipping for two years—successfully too—and he's just turned 29. Started in a high school league when he was 13, played for several years under the guidance of Ray Best. "He's one of the best teachers I've ever seen, taught me anything I know," says Braund. He was a member of a well-known orchestra that played at a Bloor St. night spot for nine years, gave it up to help run his dad's business in Peterborough. "They accuse me of playing an old man's game and I can't get them to try it to find out for themselves. I'd like to get some of them on the ice for a couple of 12 or 16-end games and see how long they could take it," he said. The rink he iced against Angus Taylor's strong High Park four had never played together before. The young skip curled brilliantly, had to do most of the work himself and came from behind to earn a 14-7 win with a stretch drive. Their string ran out in the second round when they dropped a 12-6 decision to I. Cumming of Midland."

Looking For Trouble

The Kingston fans are being given the opportunity of seeing a lot of action in a well-balanced City Hockey League but judging from some comment in Bill Walshe's Kingston sport column there is trouble ahead for the organization if the teams are not satisfied to let well enough alone and if they try to strengthen up by drafting some of the players who started the season with the Army Frontenacs. Here is what Bre'er Walshe has to say on the subject: "The first half of the city series ran rather smoothly but there may be some added action before the playoffs with talk about using senior players. The league ruled that teams could not play members of the Frontenac-Army O.H.A. senior team but with the seniors disbanded efforts may be made to use some of them in city play. Some of the senior players would like to play if only to keep in condition. A year or two away from hockey might retard players so much that they could not return to professional company after the war, and the seniors hope to return to their hockey jobs when their war work is over. The teams are well balanced at present and the addition of former senior players might ruin the main feature of the league. Lorn Cook and his city league officers, will likely deal with the suggested player problem before it develops."

This is an important night in the Belleville junior group playoffs for its finds two outfits with their backs to the wall. Trenton after beating Belleville in the first playoff game meets the Quinte team in Belleville tonight while Tweed after dropping the opener against the Stirling-Marmora Combines will try at home tonight to even things up. Says Ken Colling in regard to the two battles: "Then on Wednesday night Toots Holway's Belleville juniors face elimination in defeat at the hands of Stan Jackson's Trenton kids, who won the first game of the group playdowns 6-5 in overtime last Friday. The same situation holds good for Jerry Quinn's Tweed juniors, who entertain Stirling the same night. In the first group playoff Belleville led the Trenton kids pretty much all of the way, only to lose in overtime. Holway's charges scored the first and third goals in the third period and bagged the initial counter in the overtime, but ultimately bowed out. District hockey fans have been getting plenty of thrills from junior O.H.A. games this season, but Wednesday night's affair should just about prove the tit-bit of the season, as the local sextette has its back to the wall."

Feature Bout A Draw At Brock Arena

In the cleanest and cleverest exhibition of wrestling that has been seen here during the current revival Whipper Billy Watson of Toronto and big Vic Holbrook, the Pacific Coast sensation, battled for an hour without a fall in the main bout of the Frank Tunney weekly show at the Brock Street Arena Tuesday night.

The card was staged under the auspices of the local Food Industries Committee as part of the War Savings Stamp sale drive and each patron helped out the cause by buying a stamp. Before the main bout Mayor James Hamilton and J. A. Jebson, chairman of the Food Industries committee addressed the crowd from the ring, thanking the fans for their patonage and appealing for their support in putting the War Savings Stamp drive over the top.

The Watson-Holbrook battle was worthy of the cause for which it was staged. It was an even, tense, clean contest between two superb physical machines, master of wrestling attack and defence and both men were cheered repeatedly throughout the bout for the speed and power and science they displayed. Holbrook, towering above Watson in height and weighing 250 pounds, a young college athlete in the pink of condition and possessing a wide knowledge of wrestling lore was a worthy foeman for the British Empire champion and the two staged a memorable exhibition.

An Even Battle

Honors were even. Both were in difficulties on a number of occasions but in the long run defence always proved superior to attack and there were no falls. The manner in which the battlers spun and bridged and rolled out of jams had the fans applauding wildly. Neither wrestler got a chance to use his pet hold. Holbrook could not find an opening for the application of his effective abdominal stretch grip that has won a long string of bouts for him and by the same token the Whipper was offered no opportunity to slam on his unconscious commando hold. He did toss Holbrook hard with the whip once but the Pacific Coast star slid away out of danger before the Whipper could follow up his advantage.

Both used wristlocks, step over toeholds and hammerlocks in an effort to soften up the opposition and set the stage for a fall but although a lot of punishment was handed out the attack invariably bogged down or the victim escaped the snare by an agile well-timed move.

The contest was as clean as the government liquor store's shelves late on Saturday afternoon. Neither grappler made a mean motion, elbow smashes, rabbit punches, drop-kicks and gouging were distinctly out and the two broke cleanly with every caution from the referee. The result was an hour of pure wrestling science in which the two clever gladiators captured the crowd completely. They were roundly cheered when the final bell found them still going strong.

Mr. Gotch Peeved

The semi-final bout was something else again. The pugnacious Jan Gotch who has been absent from these parts for some time was matched against the ever-popular Pat Flanagan.

The Toronto Irishman's training in the R.C.A.F. seems to be doing him good for he moved faster and showed a more versatile attack than ever before. In spite of that, however, he looked to be in for a trimming at the hands of the Pitiless Pole until Gotch beat himself. For the first few minutes Jan was satisfied to wrestle but he finally cut loose with one of his rabbit-punching surges and had Flanagan in difficulties. The Irishman got out of danger temporarily by dropping the Pole with two deft mule kicks that the crowd enjoyed a lot more than Gotch did. However the relief was only temporary for the stormy petrel returned to the attack and had Flanagan almost ready for the cleaners. Just at that stage, however, Gotch ran afoul of Referee Maxwell by clapping a step-over toehold on the R.C.A.F. representative when the latter was back in the ropes. The official promptly disqualified Gotch and declared Flanagan the winner. Gotch did not like the decision a little bit. As a matter of fact he returned to the ring to complain to the crowd that he had been the victim of a raw decision and to challenge Flanagan, Watson, Holbrook or anybody else to a bout.

He got no sympathy from the fans. They would like nothing better than to see him get a real ride and more than one wrestling enthusiast was heard expressing a wish that big Vic Holbrook might be turned loose against the Polish pest. That is not a bad suggestion for Promoter Tunney's consideration. Holbrook looked big and powerful enough in his battle with Watson to indicate that he might be just the bird to give Gotch the treatment that he apparently needs.

Bunny's Cobra Hold

Al Bunny Dunlop emerged a winner from the opening bout with Jumping Joe Maich, thereby making a little history. Dunlop has been on the way to victory half a dozen times in local battles but almost invariably he has managed to wind up by getting disqualified for unruly tactics. This time Referee Maxwell couldn't seem to pin anything on him and Bunny stayed in there and finally won after 28 minutes' battling. Maich, who has been wrestling across the line in Illinois and New York states for the past three months, showed plenty of speed and moxy and looked good to ride out the storm until Dunlop, with only two minutes to go, found an opening to apply his cobra hold on the Brantford battler and it was all over.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The annual Red Book of the American League, issued at Chicago yesterday, discloses 196 playing members of the eight teams now serving with the Armed Forces but the clubs still have a combined roster of 260 players for the 1944 season. Some of these may be lost to baseball, however, before the league opening April 21.

Survey showed Chicago and Washington Senators to be in the best position with regard to personnel, each with 39 players, followed by New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians with 32 each. Philadelphia Athletics came through the winter with a squad of 30; Boston has 26 players while Detroit Tigers are at the bottom of the list with only 25 ball-tossers.

Because of limitation of movement in his right arm, Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, pitcher of the New York Yankees, yesterday was accepted for only "limited service" in the U. S. army at Fort McPherson, Ga. with the same right arm, Chandler pitched the Yanks to two world's series victories against the Cards last fall and won 20 games during the regular season.

Although he is deaf, which makes him 4-F for the army draft, Bill Voiselle yesterday signed at New York to play with the National League Giants. Last year he won 10 and lost 21 games as a pitcher with Jersey City.

Bill Cowley, veteran centre of the Boston Bruins, has been lost to the N.H.L. club for another 10 days, it was announced at Boston yesterday, because of water on the left knee resulting from a bump with Flash Hollett in Sunday's game with Detroit Red Wings.

Cricketer Dies

One of the fastest cricket bowlers from the Colonies ever to tour England, George John of Port of Spain, Trinidad, died yesterday at the age of 57. During the West Indian tour of England in 1923 he was credited with taking more than 100 wickets.

The five-year-old First Fiddle came with a rush to win the $3,500 Lecompte Handicap by two lengths yesterday at New Orleans to defeat Pop's Pick and Rounders, thus upsetting the dope for Saturday's $25,000 New Orleans Handicap.

A 15-round title bout for the featherweight championship of the world was arranged yesterday between Phil Terranova of New York, the champion, and Manuel Ortis of Los Angeles, bantam-weight champion, to be staged in Los Angeles March 29. Terranova was guaranteed $15,000 and expenses.

Match was on the catching end a lot of the time but on one occasion he tackles that nearly finished the cut loose with a couple of flying strongman but he dived out through the ropes and escaped.

Bert Maxwell was third man in the ring in all three bouts and the custodian of the clock and the official announcer was Fred Scates.

Angott To Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Draft Board yesterday re-classified Sammy Angott, N.B.A. lightweight boxing champion, as 1-A and ordered him to report for final physical examination here Feb. 28. Bill Calladine 27th On Scoring List

MONTREAL, Feb. 16 (CP) — Herbie Cain of Boston Bruins picked up five points, all assists, during the last week of National Hockey League play and went into undisputed possession of first place in the league's official point standings.

The N.H.L.'s figures put Lorne Carr of Toronto in second spot, two points behind Cain, with whom he had been tied last week. Seven points behind Carr, with 53 points each, come Doug Bentley and Bill Mosienko of Chicago.

In fourth spot is Boston's Bill Cowley, who returned to action Sunday night after a layoff of more than three weeks due to injuries. Cowley is still only 10 points off the pace although he has played 10 games less than the other leaders.

Cain leads in goals with an even 30, while Carr has 28 and Mud Bruneteau of Detroit 27. In the assist department, Elmer Lach of Canadiens moved into the lead with 36, two ahead of Clint Smith of Chicago and Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens, and three ahead of Cowley.

Harold Jackson of Detroit has moved out in front in penalties with 64 minutes in the box so far, a minute more than Mike McMahon of Canadiens.

Terranova Ready To Blast Ortiz

PATERSON, N.J., Feb. 16.—(AP).—Bobby Gleason, manager of Featherweight Champion Phil Terranova of New York, has agreed to a 15-round bout with Manuel Ortiz of Los Angeles, bantamweight titleholder, in the west coast city March 29 for the featherweight crown.

This was announced yesterday by Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing Association. Tuesday was the time limit fixed by the N.B.A. for Terranova to arrange a defense of his title or face its forfeiture.

Greene said N.B.A. approval of the bout would hinge on whether Ortiz would agree to give up the bantam laurels if he should wrest the feather crown from Terranova. The N.B.A. would not sanction dual titleholding, Greene said.

Gleason told the N.B.A. president that Joe Lynch, Los Angeles boxing promoter, had guaranteed Terranova $15,000 and expenses, with a provision for a return bout should the New Yorker lose his title.

TORONTO, Feb. 16—(CP)—Vancouver is all cluttered up with rumors it may enter the Pacific Coast Baseball League this year. It is reported Vancouver interests have acquired the Sacremento Senators franchise and that final arrangements depend only on completion of purchase of Athletic Park, long-time baseball and football arena, by another group which would either lease or rent the Fifth Avenue park to the baseball club.

Reports say the group attempting to buy the ball park is the same one which controls Seattle Rainiers of the coast league. Emil Sick is Rainiers president. The reputed price is $37,500. The park is owned by the C.P.R.

A Vancouver entry in the Coast League would be the west's first venture into Class AA ball, on a par with International League clubs in Montreal and Toronto. Athletic Park will accommodate 7,000 for baseball—has, in fact, housed 9,000 for soccer.

Incidentally:

Montreal Royals of the International ball circuit have sent 1944 contracts to 28 players. Old familiars being offered contracts include pitchers Al Sherer and Wes Flowers, outfielders Gilly Brack and Walter Whipple and infielders Alex Hooks and Red Barnhart . . . Danny Holden, Vancouver high school baseball pitcher, has been asked by Brooklyn Dodgers if he is available for spring training. He said yes and now is waiting at the church . . . Bill Cowley's chances of overtaking Herb Cain in the N.H.L.'s individual scoring race are slim because they are on the same forward line and a majority of their points come simultaneously.

Round and About:

Growth of curling is so rapid in Manitoba, particularly among youngsters, that construction of more and larger rinks is indicated in the immediate post-war period. . . . The Jack Gordon efficiency medal, Alberta's "most valuable player" hockey prize 25 years ago in the Herb Gardiner era at Calgary, is still in circulation, won this year by Sugar Jim Henry . . . Andy (Toronto Star) Lytle suggests the Stanley Cup be awarded this year to New York where the fans have turned out in record numbers to see Rangers become "the greatest losers since Eve put up that special job on Father Adam."

Kentucky Derby Entries Now Closed

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16 (AP) Nominations for the seventieth running of the Kentucky Derby closed at midnight yesterday as track speculators forecast a subscription list exceeding last year when 110 thoroughbreds were named for the classic.

The list of three-year old nominees whose requirements are a $25 nominating fee and formal registration with the jockey club, will not be made public for three weeks. Owners have until Derby eve, May 5, to post the $500 entry fee.

Platter, rated for many savants as the outstanding two-year-old last year and a leading rival to Pukka Gin and Occupy, will be on the list of nominees.

The names of Occupy, Belmont Futurity winner, and the crack fillies Durazna, Harriet Sue and Miss Keenland are also reported in the hopper.

The list is almost sure to include also such stars as Olympic Zenith, Gat Bit, Weyanoke, Pensive, Black, Badge, Alorter, Jezrahel, Rodney Stone and Director J. E.

BLAME NAIL POLISH.

Jack Wallops Berger In 10 Rounds

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16 — (AP) — Lightweight Champion Beau Jack used Veteran Maxie Berger for a punching bag last night and scored a lop-sided decision over the Montreal welterweight in a 10-rounder before 8,206 in Cleveland's public hall.

In halting Berger's winning streak at 16, the New York State Athletic Commission's 135-pound division titlist took the offensive throughout and floored Berger for a two count in the seventh, the Beau's best.

The Associated Press score card awarded the former Augusta, Ga., bootblack every round except the sixth, which Referee Joe Sedley took from him for low punching.

Jack leaped in at the start and tagged Berger with a hard left hook that made the veteran's eyes blink.

It was just a preview of an assault he was forced to weather the rest of the fight. Jack weighed in at 138, Berger at 143¾.

Berger started to mix it in the second round, but came off second best with the wildly swinging Negro. Jack was warned about low punching in the third by Referee Sedley, but the round was not taken from him.

In the fourth, Jack connected with at least six hard lefts and rights which made Berger retreat. The lightweight champion continued his leaping, swinging attack in the fifth but lost the sixth for low punching.

Berger almost was counted out in the seventh when Jack unleashed a savage attack of lefts and rights. A right sent Maxie down for a two-count and Jack waded into him after he arose, lashing him with rights and lefts to the head. Berger was noticeably groggy and made a desperate attempt to go through the motions of counter-punching but his punches carried no power.

Berger's knee sagged in the eighth from two successive hard rights. A left staggered Maxie and he was wobbly as the Beau landed two more rights.

Berger tried to rally in the final round, but Jack easily out-manouevred him and connected with more punches to the head.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins reported 8,206 customers contributed to a gross gate of $30,040. Ten per cent of the gate was earmarked for the National Infantile Paralysis Fund.

St. Mike's Defeat Speedy Oshawa Generals

By The Canadian Press.

In a crucial contest of the scheduled junior "A" series of the Ontario Hockey Association before 7,610 spectators at Toronto last night, St. Michael's College administered a decisive 5-2 trimming to Oshawa Generals to come within two points of leadership in Group 1 held by the visitors. The students soon left no doubt of their superiority in the night's play by monopolizing all the scoring until the third period when Generals bagged their two counters in quick succession. No tallies were registered in the final 15 minutes of the fray.

A minute after the opening face-off, Frank Dunlap came through with the first for Collegians, Lindsay and Dave Bauer following to make the count 3-0 for the initial period. To Red Lindsay went the honor of notching the sole point in the second stanza, this being his second success of the evening. In the third, Joe Sadler scored No. 5 in less than three minutes when Oshawa took over.

In Group 2, Galt Kists gave a smart display at Brantford to trim the Lions 8-2, thus keeping them in fourth spot in the standing, the encounter being featured by a fistic demonstration in the second period with Referee Dinty Moore sending both teams off the ice to cool off. The game was delayed 27 minutes because of the fracas. Ourik of Galt led the pace with four goals, other scorers including Podolsky and Ubriaco. Jeffrey and Jolly counted for Lions both Brantford scores coming in the first period. Galt trotted out a newcomer in Win Mousseau of Powassan.

Bewdley Defeated By A Score Of 5-2

Bellamy; wings, Pete Siley and Lloyd Jewison; subs, Charlie Morton and Ben Cook. A game with the Port Hope Radium is scheduled for Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. David Guller and daughter Jean, of Mercer, Pa., U.S. A., spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Pete Sidey and Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Sidey.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 — (AP) — The Dodgers' farm system apparently was what finally soured jeweler Max Meyer on the deal to purchase 75 per cent of the Brooklyn ball club .... after looking things over Max decided he didn't have the dough to shoulder all the potentially expensive appendages that went with the club .... for 15 golf tourament rounds so far this winter not counting the Phoenix playoff, Jug McSpaden ha savered 68.75 strokes and Byron Nelson 69.06.

Shorts and shells.

With 49 scoring points so far, Toronto's Gus Bodnar already has busted the National Hockey League's rookie scoring record ....The National Football League is thinking about overhauling its statistical system to include yardage, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and a few other odds and ends in deciding the passing champions next Fall .... and probably the only guy who will understand it will be the Bears' signal-caller ....

Whose hero?

When Lieut. Benny Leonard, Herb Pennock and Charley Brickley met at a recent War Bond rally in Wilmington, Del., the former lightweight champ's first question was : "which one is Herb Pennock? I've been wanting to meet him for years." And about the same time Pennock remarked, looking at Benny: "there's the greatest two-handed pitcher I ever saw."

Watson Collects Curling Honors

WINNIPEG, Feb. 16—(CP).—Ken Watson, winner of the Dominion curling championship in 1936 and 1941, last night captured grand aggregate honors at the 56th annual Manitoba Bonspiel, climaxing a day that brought him four victories and stretched his undefeated string in the 'spiel to 15 games.

Watson's fourth victory was an 11-3 triumph at the expense of Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg Deer Lodge in the semi-final of the Eaton event and coupled with the double defeat of Harry Morrow's Melita, Man., entry, guaranteed Watson the aggregate crown.

T. Johnson of Baldur, Man., became the first trophy winner of the 'spiel by defeating J. D. Henry of Manitou, Man., 12-9, in the final for the City Hydro trophy.

Editor Denies Statement By Gardiner

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(CP)—C. A. Bowman, editor of the Ottawa Citizen said Tuesday in a statement that Agriculture Minister Gardiner was "unfair to himself" when he stated in the House of Commons yesterday that Mr. Bowman had approached him to manipiate the organization of a Saskatchewan constituency.

(Mr. Gardiner said during a discussion of activities preceding a western Canada by-election: "The only person who has ever approached me to manipulate the organization of a Saskatchewan constituency to get a seat without opposition for anyone is Mr. Bowman, of the Citizen.")

Mr. Bowman said that after that 1940 general election the Citizen was "strongly of the opinion" that party politics should be forgotten and vacant seats filled by acclamation. He quoted excerpts from two speeches in which Prime Minister King expressed belief political contests in by-elections should be avoided during wartime.

Then, added Mr. Bowman, the Citizen learned that the Liberals were planning to nominate a candilate in the August, 1940, Saskatoon by-election.

"In view of the Prime Minister's expressed hope that election contests could be avoided, the Citizen endeavoured to communicate with Mr. King on the subject but was referred by his office to Mr. Gardiner as the minister to discuss such matters relating to Saskatchewan.

"The editor of the Citizen went to see Mr. Gardiner to express the hope that the Liberals would refrain from electioneering in Saskaton at that time. Mr. Gardiner denied he had anything to do with whatever election action should be taken by the Liberal party in Saskatoon.

"When the Citizen's editor pointel out that the Prime Minister's office had indicated that he was the proper person to consult, he denied it just the same. The Minister also made it clear that he had no interest in seeing that the vacant seat in Saskatoon should be filled by acclamation."

To this Col. Ralston gave a flat denial. There was no such request, he said. He himself had been looking for employment of the army outside Britain. He had asked for a Canadian component in the North Africa force and been given good reasons why it was not possible.

No Battle Experience.

He had not relished the thought of the whole army waiting in Britain for one giant offensive in which the total Canadian investment in lives, not to speak of money, would be risked without any appreciable number of the troops having battle experience.

When a western offensive was contemplated in 1943, the Minister said, the Canadians had to face the prospect of going in all together without battle experience because they could not be detached from their duties in the defence of Britain. When the Sicilian operation was started instead, the opportunity came. The 1st Division made its great record. Later it was decided to send more troops and form a corps which gave more officers and men battle experience.

"I really think," he said, "that those who talk about breaking up the army ought to think of where Canada would stand at the present time in the eyes of the world and in the eyes of her own soldiers if we had not had that opportunity last July to show the world that notwithstanding the fact that they had not been permitted to fight for three years, Canadian soldiers were not stale; that they could fight as did their fathers 25 years before them and in fighting give a good account of themselves."

Some Transfers

Already, he said, the corps in Italy—as autonomus a Canadian formation as the corps in the First Great War—was contributing battle-trained officers and men "to the organization which is going on in the United Kingdom."

He would have announcements in that connection later, he said (presumably concerning transfers of senior officers.)

The speech gave Col. Ralston a chance to deal with criticism which he said he had heard over a long period. He said he was glad to know the creation of the overseas army formation now was regarded as "a constructive step."

It had been criticised as too big, as a means of providing jobs for generals. From time to time the government had been criticized for keeping the troops in England. Now there was criticism at breaking up the army.

In Cold Huts.

The army discussion for the day opened up with an airing of the circumstances surrounding the return of the Forestry Corps to Canada. Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C.-York-Sunbury) said the 2,000 men brought back from Scotland were not well looked after at Debert (N.S.) camp. Col. Ralston promised to look into that.

He also disclosed that the army's first idea was that the men should be detailed to work as soldiers in lumbering operations in Canada on army pay and allowances, but lumbering operators had not been willing to accept them on that biasis because it might cause dissatisfaction among other workers in the industry.

That led to a comparison of the pay and allowances of soldiers with the pay received by workers in industry, with some members contending soldiers were better off and others that industrial workers were better off.

So far, the Minister said, 588 forestry corps men have been given extended leave for work in the bush and 692 more are available for such work. Others have been transferred to other units or given leave for other essential work.

School Board Unable To Cut Budget

HAVELOCK, Feb. 16.—(ENS).—Following a lengthy detailed study of running expenses of the Public and High school, the school board returned the requisition to the town council. The board were unanimous in their decision, that no reductions could be made and the secretary was asked to mail it to Clerk Puffer, to be considered at their special meeting of council on Tuesday night.

Chairman R. Smith presided with trustees Sarginson, Matheson, Wilde, Southward and Sayers present. Principal Goheen, in reporting for the High school, told of Inspector Stewarts' visit and that he was well pleased with the progress of the pupils. He praised the work of the two assistant women teachers and felt they were doing splendid work. The home nursing class has been in progress for three weeks with Miss Edna Rogers, Reg. N., in charge, and the girls show much enthusiasm for their new studies.

Repeat Performance.

The High school commencement was a big success and some of the numbers and the play are to be repeated at Trent River on Friday night. The radio-phonograph machine has been ordered for the school with the Literary and Home and School assisting with the purchase. A few of the students had been inoculated against diphtheria. The time table for the Easter exams has been arranged from March 16 to 22.

000 tons of explosives had been dumped on Berlin in the current campaign to knock the city out. In the last heavy attack the night of Jan. 30, which cost 33 planes, 1,500 tons of bombs were loosed on the Nazi capital.

That raid was the third massive assault on Berlin in four nights. Since then R.A.F. Mosquitoes have been over the city three times.

Last night's raid on Berlin followed another furious daylight assault upon targets in northern France yesterday by hundreds of Allied planes, including large formations of American heavy and medium bombers, and fighter-bombers escorted by R.A.F. and R.A.A.F. fighters.

Total Allied losses in these operations were two medium bombers and four fighters, a communique said last night.

The main target of the daylight raiders was again the French invasion coast, where secret German installatiins in the Pas-de-Calais area were subjected to the fourth searing bombardment in five days.

Mosquito crews that flew over Berlin after the main attack said a large area was afire, and columns of smoke were rising 20,000 feet high.

A communique said the bombers "took the offensive against Germany in very great strength, flying in all operations over 1,000 sorties.

"The main objective was Berlin where well over 2,500 tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped, a heavier load than in any previous attack on any objective in air warfare."

Heavy bombers made a feint attack on Frankfurt 80 miles east of Berlin, while Mosquitoes bombed objectives in Western Germany and Holland. Other planes laid mines.

ALGIERS, Feb. 16 — (AP) — Allied Headquarters announced today that photographic reconnaissance revealed the Mount Cassino Monastery, which had been converted by the Germans into a fortress, was destroyed yesterday when attacked by American heavy and medium bombers.

Pictures showed direct hits were scored on the buildings and the roads leading to them and on the ground adjacent to the erstwhile German stronghold overlooking besieged Cassino on the main Allied 5th Army front.

The American Air Force disclosed four waves of Flying Fortresses hammered the monastery with "many tons" of high eyplosives and incendiaries. The last waves of bombers dropped the incendiaries and airmen said the entire abbey hill was blazing furiously when they left.

Squadron Commander Maj. Bradford Evans of Palo Alto, Calif., said the "top of the mountain looked like a volcano."

Capt. Thomas Duffy of Hartford, Conn. a pilot in the second wave of heavy bombers said, "my crew reported that the enemy fortress blew apart like a pack of cards. I'm a Roman Catholic and I devoutly hope that all the clergymen and sacred objects were removed before the bombs hit, but the military importance of the ojectives overshadowed every other emotion of mine."

Have a "Coke" = Come in and Sit Down

...or how to be welcome in Newfoundland

Between the warm-hearted fisher folk of Newfoundland, Come in and sit down is the natural salutation to a friend. Just as kindly is the Have a "Coke" of the visiting Canadian soldier. In St. John's as in St. Thomas, to offer a Coca-Cola is to win a new friend. Around the world Coca-Cola is the welcome invitation to the pause that refreshes—the universal symbol of a friendly way of life.

Coca-Cola — the global high-sign

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke."

Water Services Escape Winter Freezing

No water services have been frozen this winter, R. L. Dobbin told the Utilities Commission Tuesday afternoon. "Some fire hydrants have had a little ice in them, but nothing of any consequence."

Mr. Dobbin said there were four feet of frost during December but the most of it had disappeared of late.

"The weather didn't have everything to do with our avoiding of frozen services," he stated. "The Commission for some time decided to lower connections, and spent some considerable money on that improvement, and this is just one of the examples of getting some return and dividends back from that investment."

The ice in the river above the waterworks dam disappeared on January 4, "and as a consequence we had considerable trouble from frazil ice during the month. On ten days the central gates on the water turbines were frozen up, but the turbines continued to keep running.

The steam pump was in readiness all month, with steam kept up all the time."

January pumpage was 95,880,000 gallons as compared with 101,060,000 gallons a year ago. The weather was exceptionally mild and on one day the water in the river rose in temperature above 35 degrees.

The electric power peak last month was 12,300 h. p. as compared with 11,300 h.p. in January, 1943. "There is a pronounced tendency to add load at most of our industries."

Production at the gas plant was 4,949,000 cubic feet, about one million cubic feet more than last year.

Charlie Chaplin Wins Decision

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16—(AP).—Charlie Chaplin's slim shoulders, weighted beneath a series of criminal and civil actions, were relieved today of one burden—red-haired Joan Berry's charges that he is the father of her four-months-old daughter.

Counsel for Chaplin and Miss Berry adopted the verdict of a medical board that the 54-year-old British-born actor was not the father of the child, as she had alleged in a paternity suit against him.

"Under the terms of our stipulation the decision is conclusive," said J. J. Irwin, attorney for Miss Berry, 24, who bore the baby, Carol Ann, last October. "We must and will abide by the doctors' decision."

Chaplin had denied paternity but paid Miss Berry some $15,000 for medical expenses and agreed to undergo a blood test to settle the matter.

Chaplin, with six others, also is charged in grand jury indictments with having conspired to compel Miss Berry to leave California after a quarrel at the actor's Beverly Hills home.

Norwood Boy Is Awarded Medal

NORWOOD, Feb. 16 —(ENS)— Bravery and quick thinking on the part of Clarence Hubble, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hubble of Norwood, in saving the life of another boy while in swimming last June, were recognized at a ceremony Monday evening in the Norwood Council Chamber. A special Boy Scout medal, the award of the Boy Scout Association, was presented Clarence by Edgar T. Jones, field secretary of the association. Present also was Douglas Baker, the boy whose life was saved, Reeve Rork Ferguson, Scout Master David McNeil, Rev. R. E. Lemon, representing the committee who have sponsored the local Boy Scout organization, and M. W. Bailey.

Douglas Baker is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker of Norwood and he is at present employed with the C.G.E. and lives at 223 Wescott street, Peterborough.

The two boys were swimming at Norwood on June 24 when the accident happened. Clarence had gone in for his second dip when he saw the older boy struggling in the water and immediately realized that something had gone wrong. Rushing to his assistance, he managed to hold Douglas' head above water by catching on to his hair; and he hung on successfully until two other boys came up and helped in pulling the stricken lad to shore.

The highly prized medal now attached to Clarence's scout uniform bears the citation "For Gallantry" and the scout motto, "Be Prepared," on the front; and on the back are Clarence's name and the date he saved his friend from drowning.

Magistrate Holds Arrest Proper

"It was quite proper to have arrested this man," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., in police court, this morning. "But at the same time the evidenec is not strong enough to justify a conviction against him."

The reference was Edward Phillips who had been on remand on a vagrancy to which he had pleaded not guilty.

Constable Andre Dalton in giving evidence stated that his attention had been attracted to Phillips because of the latter's action in regard to a house to which the police had had some complaints. The officer stated that when he questioned Phillips the later had been unable to produce a registration card. "He said he had lost it," said the witness.

"He told me that he had been working at the DeLaval for three months," he continued "but he could not give the name of anybody at the plant. He also said that he had been staying at the Staff House for three months but did not know the name of anybody there."

Constable Dalton stated that inquiries showed that the accused really had been working at the De Laval plant and boarding at the Staff House.

Magistrate Langley said that there was no evidence to justify a conviction on a charge of vagrancy but that the answers as given by the accused when he was arrested, while really true, did not seem reasonable at the time and the police had properly arrested him.

Council Lauds F. Mann For War Victims Fund

Recently recorded in the minutes of the city council was a resolution of appreciation of the work of Fred G. Mann, as secretary-manager of the British War Victims' Fund. The motion by Alderman Sands was seconded by Alderman Sullivan.

"We are fortunate in having Fred Mann to take charge of this Fund," Alderman Sands said, in a reference to the annual statement of receipts and amounts sent overseas from the Fund. "I don't know any one who has spent so much of his time in this cause as Mr. Mann has done, and we know that every hour he takes off costs him money, because he is not on salary. This work to which he is giving so much of his time is no doubt a detriment to the salary, and it may be to his health, too. I think we should go on record as expressing the council's appreciation of Mr. Mann's fine service."

Would Aid Fliers

TORONTO, Feb. 16 — (CP). — Recommendation that municipalities paint their names on water towers and other high structures as an aid to lost pilots was submitted to the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors meeting here. "Reading the name of the town from the front of railway stations, as some of the boys say they have to do, can definitely be classed as dangerous," commented G. F. Smith of Hamilton.

Ralston Reports Letter Rule Being Reviewed

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP)—The routine order prohibiting servicemen from writing for publication on military or non-military matters without permission is being reviewed by all three services, Defence Minister Ralston told the Commons last night.

The matter came up during discussion of the army's war appropriation.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, asked if the order prohibited letters to members of parliament.

"K.R. & O. (King's Regulations and Orders) does that," said Col. Ralston.

"That is pretty drastic," said Mr. Graydon.

"I had a sad experience in my own constituency; I will check on that," Col. Ralston replied.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the Canadian army was a citizen army and soldiers should not be deprived of civil rights. He urged rescinding of the order on writing to the press and reconsideration of the ban on letters to members of parliament.

Capt. Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern) said he did not agree. It would be difficult to run an army if some soldiers were able to write direct to members and ministers and perhaps obtain special consideration. The army had a way in which any soldier could bring any complaint or grievance ot the attention of the authoritise.

Col. Ralston said later that when army men wrote to members of parliament asking favors they were breaking an army regulation forbidding a man to seek the aid of outside influence.

The men talked of "pull," and if some consideration were given through a member of parliament others would hear of it.

Team-work would help, and members should encourage young men not to write to them seeking favors. This would make it easier to run the army.

Col. Ralston said one young man who had written to him lost 14 days' pay because he had broken the regulations on letters.

I.O.D.E. Chapter Gives $25 For War Victims

Memories of a patriotism that was this citys pride over a generation ago, are recalled when the Major Bennett Chapter of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire come into the limelight, and particularly so when it is in connection with a deed for good as affecting the welfare of the motherland, the cementing of ties with which this organisation in general is committed to.

Named after Major George W. Bennett who made the supreme sacrifice on behalf of his country on April 21 1915 at the battle of Langemarck, this Chapter has a wonderful inspirational background to give it impetus in its work on behalf of the Empire, of which it may be said they appear to be fully cognizant, since many a deed to uphold this tradition has appeared to their credit, and particularly so since the present conflict began.

To-day a donation of $25.00 to the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund appears in their name through Miss Margaret Preston their regent, and Miss K. M. Elliott treasurer, following previous gifts for a like purpose which have been reported on former occasions.

In recent times, no less than four different chapters of this Order have given to the fund in this city, which itself works on an Imperial basis since its objects are to assist those afflicted through air raids over Britain, so as Daughters of the Empire they are all living up to the precepts for which they stand, and sincerity of purpose is always best judged on how people live up to the cause of the things that they espouse.

For the generous help that these four chapters have given to the fund since it first began operations, the fund management would offer its sincere thanks, and ask for their continued interest particularly in the light of the co-relation of the services they both offer to the Empire.

One box collection was made on Tuesday at the United Cigar Store on George street, from which another credit of $1.35 appears in its name, this being one of those which have been in operation since this type of activity was first commenced on behalf of the fund.

107 Killed in January

Figures just released by the Ministry of Home Security in Britain reveal that 107 persons were killed and 270 injured during the month of January in Britain, many of whom would undoubtedly require aid of some kind or other, and this does not take into consideration the toll of property damage which would inevitably occur, some of which could quite possibly have occurred to the homes of those who had taken refuse in safety shelters, raising the figure of them needing assistance above the figures quoted above.

Your help can do much to alleviate all the distress that still ensues from these attacks, which if anything have been on a higher scale since the beginning of this current month, of which details remain still to be told.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Now that the oranges, lemons, and grapefruit are quite plentiful, every housewife will be making marmalade, for two reasons, first, it is much cheaper to make your own, and second, you can make just the kinds your family enjoy, and always have it on hand. So if you have unexpected guests arrive to stay overnight with you, you are quite at ease regarding breakfast. A cereal, toast, marmalade, and coffee, and you have a breakfast anyone would enjoy. Below are some recipes which I hope will be a benefit to you, and that you will be glad you made.

Grapefruit Marmalade.

One grapefruit, one orange, one lemon, 10 cups white sugar, cold water.

Wash fruit and slice very thin, measure and place in earthen dish. Add three times as much water as fruit. Let stand 24 hours, then bring to boiling point and boil 10 minutes. Let stand another 24 hours, add sugar and boil until the syrup jells. Pour into sterilized glass, and when cold seal with paraffin.

Orange Marmalade.

Twelve oranges, three lemons, nine cups cold water, 12 cups white sugar.

Slice fruit very thin, discarding rings of three oranges and one lemon. Pour water over fruit and let stand overnight, then bring to boiling point, add sugar and simmer until syrup jells. Pour into sterilized glasses, seal with paraffin when cold.

Cranberry Jelly.

Four cups cranberries, two cups white sugar, one cup cold water.

Pick over cranberries, wash and cook with water until skins burst, press through a strainer, add sugar and stir until dissolved, then cook without stirring for five minutes. Pour into glasses which have been wet with cold water. Cool and seal with paraffin.

Carrot Jam.

One pound carrot pulp, strained juice of two lemons, grated rind of one lemon, one pound white sugar, six chopped bitter almonds.

Method: Wash and scrape carrots and cut into pieces; place in preserving kettle with water to cover and simmer until tender. Drain well and press through a sieve, weigh pulp and replace in kettle. Add sugar, lemon juice, and rind. Bring to boiling opint, and boil for five minutes, stirring and skimming frequently, then add almonds. Seal in sterilized jars.

Committee of Three Named To Discuss Homemaker Idea

A committee of three ladies, Mrs. F. Lynch, Mrs. J. R. Marshall and Mrs. J. H. Vernor, to go to the Peterborough Red Cross and get their views on the matter of establishing a visiting homemaker service in Peterborough was chosen at the regular meeting of the Children's Aid Society Tuesday. The committee was named because the service would be a community project, and the city would be asked to take the responsibility.

Letters in answer to inquiries about the service established in St. Catharines showed that the worker there was more of a social worker in the Department of Health. She did not offer the services that the Society had in mind when they instructed Miss Young at the January meeting to write to St. Catharines and Toronto. Inquiries made to the Red Cross in Toronto, however, brought replies from Miss E. Porter, who gave details of the service which could be set up, and told of a training course for workers which was being planned.

The annual meeting, to be held some time in April, was also the subject of a short discussion, and Mr. E. B. Fowler and Mr. Ross Dobbin were appointed a committee, with power to add to their number, to decide the time and form of the meeting, and also to contact a guest speaker.

Need More Homes

The superintendent's report, given by Miss Rachael Young, stressed the difficulty in obtaining homes for children who show unsocial behavior and stated that this was unfortunate, because these children needed even more than others the individual care which a private home could give. "It is recognized that improvements are slow, and the response of some children to good care is discouraging," she said. "However, it is one of the very finest pieces of community work which anyone can do, and we would hope that more will offer their services for this task."

The report also mentioned an editorial which appeared in the Examiner on the subject of a Family Court, and said that it brought a clear picture of the value of such a court to the community. Miss Young also said that the Society appreciated the gifts of new and used children's clothing which had been forwarded to the office

Four hundred and seven visits were made during the month of January, three being requests for adoption, and three unmarried parents' cases. Problems to be met in these cases included problems of poor housekeeping, non-attendance at school due to lack of clothing, vermin, skin disease or medical attention, children without adequate care as the mothers were working, and children left alone.

10 Children At Shelter

The shelter report showed a total of 10 children in the shelter at the first of February, and gratefully acknowledged donations from the Junior Welfare League, the Women's Curling Club, and the Y.W.C.A., as well as private donations from Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mrs. W. Brightman, and Mrs. R. T. F. Brain, who is giving free music lessons to one of the girls.

Mrs. J. R. Marshall, in giving the sewing report, stated that 62 articles had been mended, and said that the group appreciated the increased interest taken by the public in this service.

Due to the absence through illness of Mr. James Dutton, Mr. A. Archibald presided at the meeting.

Before the meeting was adjourned, Miss Young paid tribute to the late Miss Alma Beavis, a member of the Department of Public Welfare Miss Young said: "I wish to pay tribute on behalf of the staff, to one of the finest and most co-operative people with whom we, as a staff, have worked," and a motion to send letters of sympathy to members of the bereaved family was passed.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, February 17

A LIVELY and eventful day in which there may be excellent prospects for those in literary, professional or business life, where publicity, advertising, or promotional enterprise are the major elements. These should be pushed with vigor and intelligence, despite annoyance or want of cooperation from employers or others in influence. Travel, change of tactics, correspondence, dealing with agencies, should prosper, and enhance the possibility of good and useful friends.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a particularly active and eventful year, in which new, novel, and original ideas and skills may result in definite gain, increased finances and position, or enhanced personal popularity and prestige. Change, travel, fresh contacts of importance, may contribute to this progress, to which good luck may lend its force. Professional, artistic and commercial relations thrive, with writings, advertising and promotional enterprises flourishing. Be alert with new ideas and independent action.

A child born on this day may have much versatility and talents fitting it for conspicuous success in professional, literary, business or social fields where its intelligence, personality, and independence are influential.

DOROTHY DIX

EARLY SEPARATION OFTEN REGRETTED

Freedom Does Not Look So Good To Couple After Few Years Of Matrimony.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is a young doctor. We have been married three years and have a baby girl. For the past six months we have been very miserable because he wants to break up our marriage for no reason except that he is tired of domesticity and does not want to be tied down by a family. He says he looks forward to a life of travelling and perfect freedom. Says he has no fault to find with me, that I have been a good wife and mother and a grand cook and housekeeper. He just doesn't want to be married.

He is willing to give me adequate alimony and complete custody of the child, and tells me that I am so attractive I will soon be able to marry again. He goes into the Army soon.

What shall I do? I love him and don't want to give him up, but neither do I want to hang on to a man who is tired of me.

MRS. K. B.

Army Will Settle Doctor's Future

ANSWER—Why not let the war settle your problem? Tell your husband that when he goes into the Army that he will be automatically relieved for the duration from the domestic bonds that seem to chafe him. He won't have to listen to the baby cry, nor have to punch the home time clock on the dot, nor be reminded to bring home a pound of butter, or do any of the household chores that appear to have gotten on his nerves. He won't even have to listen to you talk, or notice how you eat your eggs at breakfast. Tell him you won't even write to him, or make any claim on his time or attention.

To all intents and purposes he will be a free man, and he can try it out and see if he likes liberty as much as he thinks he does. You will let the divorce matter ride until he gets back and then, if he still wants one, you will raise no objections to it.

It is a common thing for both men and women, after they have been married a few years, to have a revulsion against matrimony and to wish they were single again. They have been married just long enough for the romance and the thrill to have worn off of the holy estate and not long enough for them to have become acclimated to it, so to speak.

That is why so many marriages go on the rocks about the fifth or sixth year, but these husbands and wives who break up their homes for no other reason than that they are bored with domesticity almost always regret it. They find that the pastures they remember as being so green and luscious are not so alluring when they go back to them. They discover that personal liberty merely means that they can do what they please because nobody cares about them; that night clubs can be just as dull and tiresome as staying at home, and that other men and women are no more exciting conversationalists than their husbands and wives are.

Registration Card Gone Member Angry

OTTAWA Feb. 16 —(CP)—Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C.-oYrk Sunbury) said yetserday in the House of Commons that he had handed his national certificate to a customs officer at the border last December and had not received it back.

"I am a lawbreaker and apt to be run into the calaboose at any time," said Mr. Hanson.

"When do I get my certificate back? I am going around in fear and trembling. I demand my registration certificate before I am put in jail."

Resources Minister Crerar said if Mr. Hanson "got caught" he hoped to be able "to get him out." Mr. Hanson could write to Revenue Minister Gibson who had charge of the customs.

Mr. Hanson: "Why should I have to do anything? I want it back."

Mr. Crerar: The Minister of National Revenue didn't know about it."

G. K. Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough West): "There was a notice in the papers that people crossing the border must give up their registration certificates. If a Member of Parliament has trouble getting his certificate back, what about people who don't know how to get their certificates back."

Col. Gibson said "I'll be glad to see if the officer has it and have it returned."

(Customs Department officials said that under National Selective Service regulations Canadians leaving Canada for one month or longer are required to surrender their national registration certificates as an assurance they will not be lost or stolen in another country. On his return to Canada application should be made to Selective Service for return of the certificate.)

Bootleg Milk Sold In London

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP) — Disclosures that "bootleg milk" not inspected by local health authorities was sold on the London market and that wartime problems have "contributed to a general lowering of the milk quality" moved city council last night to consider drastic steps to protect London's milk supply.

The information was revealed in a public health office report after council noticed "high bacteria count" figures on routine board of health reports.

Two steps were taken toward remedying the situation. Dr. C. A. Harris, M.O.H., and Dr. W. A. Gill, food and dairy inspector, were invited to attend a council meeting and Dr Harris was empowered to take the problem to the Provincial Department of Health.

616,161 Gals. Whiskey Exported In 2 Months

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(CP)— A total of 616,161 gallons of whisky and 9,474 gallons of gin was exported from Canada during November and December 1943, and January this year, Trade Minister MacKinnon reported yesterday in the Commons.

In reply to a question by H. H. Hatfield (P.C.-Victoria - Carleton) Mr. MacKinnon tabled figures showing that the bulk of the whisky export—537,332 gallons—went to the United States which also received 3,452 gallons of gin. The remainder of the exports went to other Dominions and British colonies, South American and Central American countries and some French and American possessions.

(Figures showing the amount of gin and whisky produced and consumed in Canada during the three months were not available.)

A ROYAL HAT—At one time it wouldn't be news if the royal family got new clothes every day. But since the war they have been making the old ones do. So when Princess Elisabeth, who may sit on the throne of England one day, blossomed out in this new bonnet, it made headlines. The hat has military lines, with small peak and high pleated crown.

W.I. Makes Donation For Smokes

MILLBROOK, Feb. 16 (ENS) — Mrs. Ira Lowe, president of the East Durham Women's Institute, was guest of honor at the February meeting of the local W. I. held on recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, with the president, Mrs. Delbert Olan, in the chair. Mrs. E. C. Richards filled the secretary's place in the absence of that officer, Mrs. Henry Blakely.

A discussion about magazine subscriptions as a means of adding to the funds, was followed by decision to send fruit to members who are ill, Mrs. T. G. Harkness, Mrs. H. M. Trick, Mrs. W. Elmer and Mrs. J. L. Byam, one new baby was reported, and the usual bank account of one dollar will be started for the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Ball. Mrs. Ball was, for several years, treasurer of the local branch.

The matter of sending cigarettes to the local boys overseas came up for discussion, and on motion, it was decided to use the $27 on hand for this purpose, and to remind each member of the obligation to raise at least one dollar, to be brought to the March meeting. The total will be handed over to local War Services Auxiliary which looks after the overseas cigarettes.

Convention Report.

The collection for the Red Cross fund was received, and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, district delegate, gave a report of the Central Ontario W. I. Convention in Toronto, at which over 300 delegates were in attendance. Among the highlights was the emphasis upon cooperating with the local Fair Board, and having at least six individual entries at the annual fair; also to work always in union with the Federation of Agriculture.

"There are 2,954 Institutes in Ontario, 36,700 members, 98 districts, 9,000 in attendance at district annuals, and over $3,000 received in grants. From the $8,297.00 in war funds, over $1,000 was given the Red Cross; more than 6,000 knitted articles were sent men in active service, and 8,520 pounds of jam made and shipped overseas.

Mrs. Lowe mentioned that this is her sixth ,and last year, in office as district president, thanking the local branch for its harmony and cooperation, at her anual visits, as well as for its loyal assistance at each district annual. Careful thinking and planning for the annual meeting, and the choice of officers for the ensuing year, was stressed since upon these will largely depend the success, or failure, of the society.

"At least one of the vice-presidents elected should be a woman fitted to step up to the president's chair when the time comes, and the appointment of a nominating committee at the March meeting to have a list ready for the April, and annual gathering, is advisable."

Need More Sugar.

Mrs. Lowe read a letter from the Morrish branch, containing a resolution asking for more sugar to be alloted to rural women, who find the present supply of ten pounds for canning, quite inadequate considering how many extra men they have to provide for, through the year. The suggestion that the local branch prepare a similar resolution, to be forwarded to the Prices and Trade Board, was favorably received.

A social hour with afternoon tea served followed the business session, when a general discussion of the work took place.

It was decided to donate five dollars toward the prize money for the gala night in Millbrook on Friday, February 18, when the village and vicinity is making a special gesture toward raising the $1,000 for its share of the Food Merchants' War Savings Certificate drive.

Almost Worked

SHELBURNE, Ont., Feb. 16 (CP).—A customer asked for a blank cheque at a local business establishment one day last week, filled it in to pay off his account to the merchant concerned but unintentionally signed the merchant's own name. The cheque was accepted by the merchant and by the bank after being duly endorsed—again with the merchant's name. Later, when an unexpected debit occurred in the merchant's account book, the error was discovered, and rectified—this time with the customer's money.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Anyone Can Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, and in just a moment, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it is hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make sixteen ounces of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love it.

And for quick relief, it's splendid. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Judgment Reserved On Driving Charge

Provincial Police alleged that Goard, driving without a tail light, stopped on the Lindsay-Oakwood highway at Taylors Corners in a fog and was struck by a car driven by Grant Ferguson. The Ferguson car ended up in the ditch 30 feet away. The accused then drove Ferguson to Barry's Garage at Oakwood, and his car was again struck by a transport truck while it was parked opposite the garage.

Food Supplies Short Speaker Claims

MONTREAL, Fe. 16 — (CP) — The promise the United Nations have given to provide food for liberated countries will necessitate withdrawing products from stocks "that are already in short supply," J. F. Singleton, chairman of the Canadian Dairy Products Board, said here to-day.

In an address prepared for delivery to the annual meeting of the National Dairy Council, Mr. Singleton said those in the dairy industry in Canada "already realize that the over-all Allied supply position, with respect to dairy products, is tight and it does not appear that total dairy produtcion in the Allied dairy-producing countries will increase greatly in the immediate future."

Discussing the supply of dairy products to the United Kingdom, he said quantities are based on requirements and on probable surpluses over known requirements at the time the contracts are made, but frequently "unanticipated needs arise which are usually met."

"Ordinarily, quantities involved in such individual requirements are not great, but in the aggregate and with tight supply positions, they are important," he added. "Meeting such demands means that lesser quantities are available for Canadian domestic consumption, or in some cases less for the United Kingdom."

Unlike most other major dairy products, domestic consumption of cheese in Canada has not increased and per capita consumption of cheese during 1943 was less than during pre-war years since 1933.

The chances are that if there were trial divorces that gave disgruntled husbands and wives an opportunity to get off of each other's nerves that very few decrees absolute would be granted.

Perhaps that is what will happen to your husband, and that after he begins to miss you and the baby and good home cooking he will come back to you a wiser and more contented man.

DEAR MISS DIX—My daughter, who is 17 years old, is going to the State University where there are about four boys to each girl. She is a good girl, sensible and with sound judgment, and she has always been popular with boys, but I can't help feeling a little anxious about her. What words of advice shall I give her? I don't want her to make any mistakes, or get in with the wrong crowd.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

Advice to a Girl Going to College

ANSWER—Well, if she were my daughter, the first thing I should tell her would be to pick her boy friends among the gentlemen and pass up the hoodlums, no matter how good-looking they are, nor what a nifty line they have. I'd say to her don't go with a boy who drinks. Avoid the boys who are putting in their time and spending their father's money on whoopee instead of getting an education. Remember what happened to Little Red Riding Hood, and flee from the wolves who brag about how many little girls they have devoured. None of these bode you any good.

Don't go steady with any one boy. Play around with a number of them. To get branded as Charlie's girl or Joe's girl automatically cuts you off from being able to look 'em over and make our own pick, instead of having to take what is offered you. Also, if the boy gets tired of you and fades away, it leaves you on a hot spot from which it is difficult to extract yourself. Keep in circulation.

Put a high value on yourself. Don't make yourself cheap. Don't run after the boys. Make them do the chasing. The harder a girl is to date, the more anxious boys are to take her out stepping. Never forget that a man will risk his neck climbing to get the peach that is highest on the tree, but he won't even pick up the one that drops into his mouth.

Don't do any heavy petting. No man values a kiss from the girl who makes her mouth a free lunch counter for every Tom, Dick and Harry. Never forget that every man treats a woman the way she makes him treat her. With respect, or without respect. You write your own price tag. Make it high.

And, most of all, bear in mind that being a lady is the greatest charm that any girl can have. Even the roughnecks respect that.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been in the Army for about fifteen months and I want to go home and get married. I am in love with a girl I have known for three years. We have been engaged for nine months and I want to get married now. If we wait until after the war to get married it will be some time before I am able to get a job and save some money. If we get married now, we both can save enough to live on after the war. Shall I do it? That is my problem.

CONFUSED.

ANSWER—I don't wonder you are confused if you are trying to solve the problem of how to save more money after you are married than you do now when you are in the army and have practically no living expenses. Not even the sharks who write out the tax bills could tell you how to do that. For, believe me, son, you haven't any idea how expensive matrimony is until you tackle it.

Active Service Men Must Be B-1 Or Over

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP) — Defense Minister Ralston told the Commons yesterday it is not the army's policy to call up any men below "B-1" medical category.

The Minister was answering Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (P.C., Souris), who said he understood some lower category men were being called and that he thought it a mistake. He also complained of men being called away from essential jobs.

T. L. Church (P.C., Toronto-Broadview) asked a statement as to why there were no Canadians with the British 8th Army in its march across the North African desert. He also asked why Canada was bound by the decisions of the Cairo conference at which she was not represented. There was no immediate reply.

Say Wrong Tire Got On Permit

The involved story of a tire transanction in which the Crown sought to show that the accused had received a permit auhorizing the purcase of one kind of tire and had been supplied with another one was heard by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court Tuesday morning and was still going on when the court adjourned for luncheon.

Russell Buchanan, R.R. 2, Norwood was charged with having as a consumer purchased a tire from an authorized dealer without such dealer having received the necessary permit for the sale, contrary to the Wartime Industries Control Board regulations.

Buchanan, who was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., pleaded not guilty to the charge.

For some time it looked as if there would be no hearing. W. F. Huycke, K.C., who prosecuted told the court that some necessary evidence was missing and on that account he would be forced to ask for a postponement.

Mr Carley objected to the delay. "We have two men here from Norwood," he stated, "and it appears to me that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board officials should not have caused these men to come here this morning when it wasn't necessary. It was up to them to see that there wasn't a waste of time and perhaps of rubber and gas."

Mr. Huycke expained that a paper allegedly a statement given by the accused was missing and that he could not proceed without it.

Defence counsel said that he would facilitate the proceedings by admitting that the copy available in court was a true copy of the original statement, but that he would insist that it could be used only if the court decided that the original statement would have been admissible.

On that footing the hearing commenced. Miss Essie Wood, deputy issuer of motor licenses was called to prove that a license for a Studebaker car had been issued to Samuel Buchanan, Norwood R.R. 2, and later there had been a transfer of the license.

George N. Rogers, investigator for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, told the court the tangled story of the original application from Buchanan for the purchase of a 550 x 17 tire a later application for the purchase of a tire for a Chevrolet car and the various bits of correspondence that entered into the transaction including a fully completed form from a dealer to the effect that Buchanan had been supplied with a 600 x 16 tire. A statement signed by the accused was admitted. It was to the effect trat Buchanan had received a 600 x 17 tire.

Magistrate Langley reserved judgment in the case.

N.C.O. Now "Sirs" New Recruits In Setting Example Of Politeness

By CAPT. F. H. WOODING
Public Relations Officer, M.D. 3.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 — "Something I can do for you?"

The N.C.O. smiled pleasantly at the nervous young man on the other side of the wicket.

"Yes. I..I..I want to join the Army."

"Fine, sir. Won't you come this way, please?"

The N.C.O., a sergeant with a good deal of experience in handling men, showed the potential young soldier to a comfortable waiting room where he directed him to a chair, handed him a morning paper, and added, "You may smoke, if you wish; here's an ash-tray."

After a discreet interval, during which the recruit had an opportunity to get his second wind and prepare for the experience ahead, the N.C.O. returned.

"Captain McCullough will see you now, sir."

Still nervous and rather astonished at the considerate treatment he was receiving, the young man was ushered into another office.

"Hello. My name is McCullough, and I am very glad to meet you. Won't you sit down?"

Actual Conditions.

This is not a romantic picture of things as they ought to be. It's a description of conditions as they actually are at the Ottawa Area's new recruiting centre where "service with a smile" is the guiding motto and where hundreds of men are finding introduction to the Canadian Army a pleasant and a memorable experience.

The new quarters, which occupy the whole ground floor of Ottawa Area Command headquarters at 60 Queen Street, of which Colonel F. J. G. Garneau, E.D., is commandant, represent a complete reversal of conditions as they existed at the previous and totally inadequate facilities nearby. The move was affected a few weeks ago and already, according to Lieut.-Col. A. L. Normandin, chief recruiting officer for the Ottawa Area, is paying dividends well in excess of expectation.

This pleasant and more efficient system of handling volunteers who offer themselves for service is the outcome of a streamlined policy laid down by Brigadier F. Logie Armstrong, O.B.E., officer commanding M.D. 3, who believes that the benefits of sound "employee relations" can apply as well to the Army as they do to business. The application of this policy has been carried out by Lieut.-Col. W. H. D. MacMahon, E.D., district recruiting officer, with the energetic assistance of Col. Normandin.

The inspiration which sustains this pleasant treatment of men springs from the conviction that if a man is willing to offer his services wherever they are needed most, then the least that can be done for him is to assure that his transition from civilian to Army life is made as happy and as profitable as possible.

Recruits reporting to the Ottawa recruiting office come from a widely scattered territory, the Ottawa area including the counties of Carleton, Russell, Hull, Pontiac, Gatineau, Wright and Temiskaming. The area extends north of Ruyon and Noranda.

Offers Important.

In these new quarters, which are comfortably furnished with chairs, rugs, tables, reading matter, radio and even facilities for refreshments on cold days—most of which has been donated — men are made to realize that their offers of service are important to, and appreciated by, their Government. The psychology underlying the treatment they receive is that they shall be sent on to the reception centre at Kingston (where the actual enlistment proceedings take place), happily disposed toward the uncertain future which faces them.

"This initial send-off," explained Col. Normandin, "lays the foundation in a man that will make him a good soldier. He starts right off with a healthy attitude, because he hasn't been bullied or pushed about. We try to treat him as a gentleman, to show him every reasonable coutesy and to help him in every way we can. When he leaves here his moral is high and he is proud of himself and sure of the future."

The Ottawa Area recruiting office, which works in close collaboration with the Navy and the Air Force in the proper allocation of men, is not an induction centre. Prospective recruits do nothing more than make out their application for enlistment, receive whatever advice they require, and are assisted in personal problems. Induction, as such, which includes medical examination, m-testing, documentation, and outfitting, takes place at District Depot 3A, Fort Frontenac, Kingston. There, the recruits find similar modernized quarters and are accorded the same friendly treatment. Every day except Saturday, recruits from the Ottawa centre are conducted to Kingston by train where the majority of them say farewell to civilian life and emerge as soldiers.

Judge Cracks Down On Child Marriages

ROCKFORD Ill., Feb. 16—(AP)—Announcing a policy of being "tough" on participants in child marriages, County Judge Fred Kullberg on Monday, sentenced James W. Berg, 17-year-old bridegroom, and his 16-year-old bride, Dorothy Horton Berg, to serve 10 days in jail on a charge of falsifying records.

The couple pleaded guilty, admitting they falsified their ages in obtaining a marriage licence.

Another couple, who were married with the Bergs in a double ceremony, William Kramer, 17, and Naomi Kramer, 16, were sentenced to 10 days by Judge Kullberg on Saturday. They, too, pleaded guilty.

The boys quit war jobs to marry early last week. Both couples say they are happy and want to remain married. Their parents indicated they would not interfere.

Lindsay Curfew Law Proves Expensive

LINDSAY, Ont., Feb. 15 —(CP)—Despite protests by Mayor C. Lamb that the town was relegating itself to "horse and buggy days," the Lindsay Town Council passed a motion to have a curfew bell rung every night at 10 o'clock. Following the ringing of the bell police will check up on youth under 16 loitering.

The motion proved to be an expensive one, as deputy reeve Elliott, police commissioner, informed the council that it would necessitate the employing of another constable.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 16—(CP). — Alex. Polak, who came to Canada from Czecho-Slovakia only four years ago, spoke so eloquently on what it means to be a Canadian citizen that he placed first in a public-speaking contest for the counties of Brant, North Norfolk, Lincoln, Wentworth, Haldimand and Welland. The 12-year-old boy will represent the area in a provincial competition in Toronto at Easter under auspices of the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association.

The presentation, first of the U.S. D.F.C. to be made on Canadian soil, was made by Capt. Alder Jenkins.

Lieut. Howard, a native of Akron, Ohio, received the award for bringing his Flying Fortress back to England from a raid on occupied France with two engines disabled and one propeller shot away.

Rubber Co. Workers Have Sit-down Strike

KITCHENER Ont. Feb. 16 (CP)—Production returned to normal on Tuesday in Merchants Rubber Co. factory after a one-day sitdown strike yesterday which involved more than 800 workers. The strike started when 125 employees of the Boot Department objected to employment of a girl they said was not a member of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.)

Union officials said that while there are other non-union workers in the factory all in the boot department are union members except for the girl. They said the girl resigned yesterday but Company officials refused to accept her notice.

Officials of the company could not be reached immediately for comment.

DISCARD THE BLOCKERS

ABILITY TO make a discard from your own hand on some high card in the dummy is generally counted an advantage, especially in the play of a suit contract. But, to get full value from that discard, you must select the correct card to throw away. Usually it will be a little one, which is unlikely ever to be a trick taker. Eagle-eyed study of your problem, however, will show you sometimes that you should trash a big honor, in order to keep it from blocking the run of a suit in the dummy.

That contract was made at one table of a team of four match, but botched at the other, though the lead was the same diamond Q. The losing declarer took that with the dummy's A and discarded the club 4. He reckoned that, if the trumps would drop, he would lose nothing but one trick in clubs. He took the heart A on the second trick, then let himself lose the heart finesse to the Q, when East discarded a diamond. Ruffing the returned diamond, he cleared trumps with the K, ran his good spades, clubs and trumps, then gave up the setting trick in clubs.

At the other table, South made sure of his contract by playing right from the outset. On the diamond Q to the A, he discarded the spade Q, then scored the spade A and K. Next came the heart K and A, followed by the spade J, on which he discarded a club, West ruffing with the heart Q and returning a club to the K. A small heart to the 8 now enabled him to use the spade 10 for discard of his other little club, leaving all of his own hand good.

Even if the first declarer, on finding East out of hearts on the second trick, had played the K, then led spades, West could have beaten him by refusing to ruff any of the three high spades, thus blocking the dummy from ever getting in to use the spade J.

Canada Be Able To Handle Post-War Needs

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(CP)— Graham F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, said to-day in the bank's annual statement that while the Dominion cannot go on indefinitely piling up big increases in the public debt without an intolerable straining of the national economy, debt increases sufficient to look after war and post-war readjustment needs can be handled without embarrassment.

While the interest burden on the federal taxpayers is 52 per cent. higher than at the beginning of the war, he said, when figured in relation to the national income it is really less now than 20 years ago.

The report set the net interest charge on the federal treasury at $220.000,000 a year, compared with $145,000,000 at the outbreak of hostilities.

Mr. Towers said the key to Canada's abillity to carry interest charges on the public debt after the war will be the maintenance of a high level of employment and income.

Two courses were open to Canada, as to other nations, when the war ended. One was to specialize on what it could produce best and sell its surpluses to other nations. The other was to build up a self-contained economy by subsidies for those products Canada consumes but cannot produce economically.

Mr. Towers said he favors specializing and developing Canada's foreign trade to dispose of surpluses and buy goods from other countries in return.

He urged that holders of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates be guarded against promoters who by high pressure methods seek to persuade them to exchange government securities for dubious worthless securities.

The bank reported net profit for 1943, after providing for contingencies, of $15,911,478, compared with $8,372,478 in 1942. All last year's profits went to the Federal Treasury except $1,568,647 added to the bank's rest fund. Increased profits were largely due to larger holdings of government securities.

Highway Men Want Action For Post War

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP) — Provincial Highway Ministers Tuesday asked the Dominion Government to take immediate action in establishing a basis of Federal contribution toward post-war highway building.

The delegation, representing all nine provinces, also asked the establishment of a permanent basis of Federal contribution toward highway construction and improvement in all provinces.

The case for the provinces was placed before three Cabinet representatives, Finance Minister Ilsley, Resources Minister Crerar and Transport Minister Michaud, at a conference which lasted more than two hours. Works Minister Willis of Manitoba, spokesman for the delegation, said later the Federal Ministers had promised careful consideration to the representations.

The brief of the provinces recalled that the Commons reconstruction committee last year recommended Federal participation in provincial road construction.

"Road building is the best method of providing both direct employment and indirect employment for our armed forces and war workers and is largely self-liquidating," the brief said.

Many roads had been damaged by war traffic and now were in need of repair or being rebuilt, and no satisfactory post-war highway planning was possible by the provinces until the extent of Federal participation was known. Completion of the Trans-Canada Highway, in which the Dominion Government had participated in the past, should be completed in the post-war period.

The brief said the United States Federal Government contributed to highway construction in peacetime, and asked that a similar policy be adopted in Canada.

German Sniper's Rifle Soldier's Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 16 —(C P) — Several hundred soldiers arrived in Toronto from overseas service Tuesday, some to train for commissions, some to take positions in Canada and others invalided home.

Sgt. David Ridley of Brantford, zealously guarded a Mauser rifle which had been captured from a German sniper in North Africa. He was bringing it back for Cadet Stoll of nearby Long Branch who had killed the sniper and captured the rifle. It is to be delivered to Stoll's father.

Rheumatism brought Pte. Joe Boyer, 34, of Midland home after service as a stretcher bearer in both Sicily and Italy.

A Major at 26, David Lander of Oshawa, was among the arrivals. He served in Italy and Sicily with a tank unit.

Eight British war brides also arrived in the city to-day.

Soldiers Learn New Slang On War Fronts

Canadian troops have picked up and developed a wide variety of specialized slang in their months fighting in Italy. Here a war correspondent, just back in London, tells about it.

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP).—Canadian troops in Italy talk their own brand of slang. It's a mixture of Canadian slang, English slang, English idioms with the addition of a number of Italian expressions picked up here and there in Sicily and Italy.

It's common for one soldier to greet another with an Italian "good morning."—Pronounced "Buon Giorno." Hardtack biscuits have come to be called "biscotti," a term many Canadians learned because everywhere they went people with outstretched hands called for biscuits in their Italian tongue.

For the same reason some soldiers call cigarets "sigaretti"; chocolate, "cioccolatto"; and water "acqua." The most common beverage in Italy is wine which some call "vino," others, "bingo."

"Grazie" for "thanks" has also crept into the soldiers talk.

They still use English expressions such as "let's get crackin'" for "let's go," and "I've had it," for any number of things meaning failure. disappointment or frustration of plans.

A soldier will say, for instance: "I've lost my tin-hat—I've had it" or "he's had it—he paid 1,000 lire for that watch; I'll bet it isn't worth 100."

Roadside tea-making is called "having a brew-up." Among tankmen the term "brew-up" means burned out. Joe had a brew-up means his tank was burned out.

The enemy is usually called 'Jerry' and more often the singlar 'Jerry' is employed instead of the plural — 'Jerries.' The Italians are known as 'Eyeties.'

Friendly aircraft that accidentally bomb or strafe their own troops are called "Mitchellschmitts." Anti-aircraft guns are still "Ack-ack guns," and their fire bursting in the air is still called "flak." Ammunition is "ammo'."

The German multiple-barrelled mortar is known as "Moaning Minnie," "Wuping Willie," and sometimes as "The Andrews Sisters." The heavy mortar Canadians use is sometimes called the "Stovepipe." Corned beef is known simply as "bully," rather than "bullybeef."

If you walk up to someone and ask "What is the form?" it means you want to know what the plans are. "What's doing?" or "What's cooking?" are just about as good.

A Tommygun is simply called a "Tommy," and "Bren gun," a "Bren." An artillery unit's forward observation officer is called a "Foo."

An overly-nervous soldier may be termed "Windy," and one who suffers from exposure to heavy fire may be called "Shell-wacky."

"Bump" means to encounter, such as when one patrol bumps another.

When a Canadian sniper picks off a German, the German is "finito," or finished.

LEFT HOMELESS—Typical of thousands of others left without homes as a result of the series of battles that wiped out the city of Changteh, heart of China's rice bowl, are these two. Out of 10,000 buildings in the city, less than two score remained undamaged after the battles that saw the city change hands four times in 40 days. The defeat inflicted on the Japs here is believed to have been the worst they suffered in the whole China war.

Doukhobor Head Speaks For Sect

BRILLIANT, D.C., Feb. 16 (CP)— The executive committee, the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ, issued a statement last night saying an injustice is done when "fanatics are not distinguished from the rest of the people" in Doukhobor communities in the Kootenay district.

The statement, signed by John J. Verigin, secretary of the executive committee and present Doukhobor leader, was issued in the wake of unrest among Doukhobors who last December were told by Selective Service officials that call-up regulations would be enforced.

"Acts of spiritually disturbed fanatics of this district in the last few days have attracted widespread attention," the statement said. "To help dispel inaccuracies, we wish to make it clearly understood that our organization does not share, agree or take part in the developments such as have occurred at Krestova.

"We beg the general public to take this fact into consideration before passing judgment in this very unfortunate situation. Those that are aware of the true facts realize the injustice being done when these fanatics are not distinguished from the rest of the people."

Earlier British Columbia provincial police said that some Doukhobors had undressed Sunday while two Vancouver men were taking pictures but the stripping did not continue after the photographers completed their work.

U.S. War Planes Fly Unopposed

WASHINGTON Feb. 16— AP) — United States Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox reported to-day that the American carrier and land-based planes are "operating at will" in the Marshall Islands area of the Pacific and are carrying out attacks on islands between the Marshalls and Truk, major Japanese naval base in the South Pacific.

He said islands in the eastern group of the Marshalls, cut off from supplies by American occupation of Kwajalein, and their garrisons may face starvation.

Knox said American bombers attacking enemy bases throughout the mid-Pacific are meeting only meagre Japanese fighter opposition and light anti-aircraft fire, indicating the enemy is short of ammunition and planes.

In the South Pacific, he reported American air forces are "vigorously pounding away" at Japanese installations in and around Rabaul which he said has "practically lost its usefulness as a major base."

Woman Leaves Huge Estate $200,000 Goes To Soldier

OAKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 17—(AP).—A will filed for probate in nearby Milton told impersonally today how a woman's $1,000,000 dream came true. Behind disclosure of the $1,038,000 estate left by Mrs. Mary F. Martin at her death here last December 24 is the glitter of gold which lured her from a farm birthplace in Goshen, Ind., to Canada's mining country, where she built the fortune on a $200 "stake" borrowed on some jewelry from a sister, Mrs. D. J. Cashman.

Among the beneficiaries of Mrs. Martin's dream of mining riches are Ben R. Violette of South Bend, Ind., nephew of Mrs. Martin and a military policeman in London, and George Harsh of East St. Louis, Ill. It is estimated each will inherit $200,000, but Violette, who is 26, will not receive his share for four years. The will specifies that Violette receive the money when he is 30.

As pieced together by the Toronto Globe and Mail here, at Milton, and in a telephone call to Mrs. Cashman at her Indiana home, this is the story:

Worked in North.

Mrs. Martin, fired by stories of the Yukon and other gold discoveries, worked for a time as demonstrator with a Chicago diamond firm, visiting many parts of the United States and Ottawa. After a trip to Europe, she went to Ottawa in 1906 and then to Haileybury, Ont., where she worked as a stenographer making out affidavits for prospectors.

From Haileybury she went to Swastika, also in Northern Ontario, and opened her own offices. In 1907 she returned to Ottawa to finance a drive to wrest fortune from the earth the hard way. Back in the north, her stake was money borrowed on the security of several diamond rings she had given Mrs. Cashman to keep. In Kirkland Lake she met and later married Ernest Martin, prospector and partner of the late Sir Harry Oakes multimillionaire who was slain at Nassau, Bahamas last June.

Base At Kavieng Heavily Bombed

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 17—(AP) — Allied planes flying low through heavy anti-aircraft fire plastered the Japanese base at Kavieng, New Ireland, with 65 tons of bombs, setting the town ablaze and smashing cargo vessels in the harbor it was reported today.

Today's Allied communique said New Zealand and United States troops, who swarmed onto the Green Islands at the northern edge of the Solomon Archipelago Monday night and Tuesday, have consolidated their positions without incident. The invaders met only mild resistance.

American marines in the Cape Gloucester sector on the western end of New Britain have cleaned the Japanese out of the Borgen Bay and Cape Mensing areas, more than 21 miles east of the Cape, and are continuing their advance.

Ranging into the Carolines to within 400 miles of mighty Truk, land based heavy bombers Monday delivered the first attack of the war on Ponape, Japan's "Gibraltar of the Pacific," it was announced at Pearl Harbor.

Cardinal Denies Villa Occupied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—(AP).—The Apostolic delegate to the United States, the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, today stated on behalf of the Vatican, that the Papal villa at Castelgandolfo, Italy, could not be considered a military target.

The delegate issued this statement:

"His Eminence, Cardinal Maglione, Secretary of State of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, has instructed me to state that the recent report appearing in the press and credited to the Allied High Command, to the effect that the actual territory of the Papal villa at Castelgandolfo is 'saturated with Germans and therefore subject to bombing,' is not true.

"His Eminence declares that no German soldiers has been admitted within the borders of the neutral pontificial villa and that no German military whatsoever are within it at present."

Reds Capture Samolva Near Pskov

Resistance Grows As Russians Near Key Junction

By EDDY GILMORE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, Feb. 17 —(AP) —The Red Army met increased resistance as it drove upon the great communicatons hub of Pskov from two directions to-day, but northwest of the city, where Lake Peipus joins Lake Pskov, Soviet troops who captured the town of Samolva developed a new threat to the Pskov-Riga trunk railway.

Samolva is on the eastern shore of the Lake Peipus narrows, which are less than a mile wide in some places. Any push across here, following a drive to the south, would land the Russians along the railway and highway leading to Riga. All told, it would mean a march of only 25 miles.

This nearest threat to Pskov is the most dangerous confronting the city, anchor of the German defence system in that area.

The army newspaper Red Star said the Germans were counter-attacking violently south and southeast of Gdov in the Lake Peipus region, where the Russians are 30 miles from Pskov.

On the twin drive south and southwest from Luga, where the Russian troops swept up 30 towns and villages during the past 24 hours, the Red Army met hard going as it pressed down both sides of the Leningrad-Pskov railway. Red Star said the Nazis were building tree barricades across the trunk highway, which runs in a southwesterly direction between Luga and Pskov.

Encricle Objectives.

The Russians, however, are using tactics which the Germans seemingly are unable to meet—going off the highway to cut around fortified villages and then seizing German communications in the rear.

In the Dnieper Bend, the Red Army subdued Field Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein's heavy tank thrusts north of Zhenigordka yesterday and

Murray Flays Colonialism Across Canada

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17 —(CP) — The continued unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations "is an essential condition of the stability and success" of the world transition from war to peace after the victory, Gladstone Murray, Toronto policy counsel, said to-day.

The foreign policy of the Commonwealth "can and should be influenced decisively" by Canada and the other Dominions, Mr. Murray said in an address to the Empire Club of Winnipeg in which he discussed the place of the Commonwealth and the Empire in the world of the future.

There was nothing "surprising or improper" in the recent speech of Lord Halifax at Toronto suggesting a common foreign policy for the Commonwealth and the "deplorable mentality of those who resent anyone but Canadians discussing imperial affairs publicly in Canada" was unworthy of the Dominion's place in the Commonwealth and the world.

"Suppose we yield to the whinings and husillanimity of the colonially-minded in our midst—for it is the colonially-minded that today resist all Commonwealth co-operation—we shall at once weaken and slow down the whole process of pacification and reconstruction," he said.

"Suppose Canada withdraws from Commonwealth collaboration and world reconstruction. The very fact of that withdrawal will signify not only misgiving and distrust, but also an admission of our own inability to pull our weight in a free and equal association. These are no times for the timid or those of little faith."

Health Plan In Britain Is Explained

Uses No Compulsion On Patients Or Medical Staff

LONDON, Feb. 17—(CP-Reuters).—The Government today announced its plans for a comprehensive health service for the whole nation, thus realizing the first plank in Prime Minister Churchill's four-year plan for Britain's post-war policy.

Free doctors, medicines, hospital treatment, specialists and other services for every man, woman and child in Britain are proposed by the Government in the White Paper.

Free choice of family doctor and new health centres are planned, and quick legislation is urged. This new scheme largely fulfils Sir William Beveridge's suggestions for a comprehensive national health service.

The scheme can be roughly outlined as follows:

A family doctor for everybody. Personal doctor-patient relationship and free choice of doctors to be preserved.

General practitioners to work from their own surgeries as at present, separately or in groups, or from specially provided and equipped health centres.

Complete and improved hospital service for every area. No charge by hospitals whatever treatment is necessary.

Planning of co-ordinated service over wider areas so that each case goes to the hospital where it will get the best possible treatment.

Voluntary hospitals to be invited to take part under their own management receiving certain payments and observing general conditions which will be applied to all hospitals.

Full specialist and consultant service, home nursing service and care of teeth and eyes.

Visiting and inspection of all hospitals by medical, nursing, catering and other experts to bring to light any defects and keep the institutions in touch with latest methods.

The new service, the White Paper stated, must ensure that every man, woman and child can rely on getting all the advice, treatment and care needed in matters of personal health. They must get them with-

Regimental Pride Is Real In Army

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP).—Few soldiers go into battle without fear or nervousness. Nerveless exceptions are rare individuals.

However, training, discipline and sense of duty are what carry troops through the tight spots. Every soldier realizes that probably every other man around him knows fear when enemy shells are falling or when they're under enemy machine-gun fire.

Overcoming fear and carrying on despite it is where courage and bravery come in. The average Canadians natural sense of duty nurtured by army life and its discipline is what enables the soldier to go on with a job that may mean his life.

The sense of danger that lives with a front-line soldier and the men with whom he fights helps foster a spirit of comradeship that becomes one of the important things in his campaign life.

Many a soldier will conceal illness and joke away a minor wound to avoid evacution to hospital from where when recovered he goes to reinforcement camp while awaiting recall to the line.

The reason is fear of separation from the other fellows in his section or platoon and that he might eventually wind up in some other

Allied Forces Holding Fast Against Terrific Pressure

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 17—(AP).—A fierce battle has broken the lull on the beachhead south of Rome with the Germans launching heavy attacks in the northern sector, but all evidence to-day indicated the Allied forces were holding against continuing enemy thrusts.

An announcement from Allied Headquarters said the Germans struck early yesterday morning after intensive artillery preparation. Both sides threw tanks into the heavy fighting.

British and American troops were said to be grimly holding to their positions in the face of tremendous pressure.

It was the second all-out German attempt to smash the Allied beachhead. The enemy was said to be throwing his full force of infantry, tanks and artillery into the struggle which was hourly increasing in violence.

Enemy aircraft swung into the battle in unusual force, some 130 sorties attacking objectives in the battle zone. But the Allied air forces met the air attack blow for blow, shooting down nine of the attackers and blasting targets in the fighting area.

The beachhead fighting was heavier than in strategic Cassino where American forces still were bitterly contesting the Nazi stranglehold house by house. R.A.F. and Australian Kittyhawks again bombed the ruins of the Monte Cassino Monastery. American planes hit German positions elsewhere on Abbey Hill.

Wave After Wave.

In a day of extensive and wide-ranging air activity, Allied bombers and fighters flew approximately 1,200 sorties. The enemy railway yards in Rome were hit for the second consecutive day and heavy and medium bombers attacked communications at many points north of the Italian capital. Flur north of the Italian capital. Four Allied planes were lost.

The sweeping air offensive covered 15 main and secondary rail lines around Rome.

After the long and concentrated German artillery barrage yesterday, enemy shock troops struck in the first phases of the new beachhead attack with tanks in support. The Allied armor immediately went into action against them.

The Germans kept coming in wave after wave throughout yesterday and last night.

The enemy beachhead attack came in the Carroceto (Aprilia) area, 10 miles due north of the port of Anzio. Much of the previous heavy fighting has taken place in that sector and various vantage points there have changed hands several times. Carroceto itself was in German hands at latest report.

Get New Troops

The Germans opened the new offensive after apparently recovering from losses suffered in the first major effort to drive Anglo-American troops into the sea, but during the lull the Allies also had built up new strength and were ready for and expecting the assault.

On the main 5th Army front Allied artillery laid many shells during the day among German traffic on highway 6 leading out of Cassino and two miles westward Allied troops engaged the enemy in a sharp clash on Albaneta Ridge.

While the Monte Cassino Monastery has been reduced to ruins the Red Paratroops Drop Behind Hun Lines Seeking To Isolate Narva In Estonia

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17 (AP)—Russian parachutists have landed behind the German lines at Narva and Russian naval vessels in the Gulf of Finland are pounding the defences of the Estonian city as Soviet forces press in from the East, Helsinki dispatches said today.

The dispatches said the parachute landings were made in the vicinity of Vaivara, about 15 miles west of Narva on the road to Reval, Estonian capital.

German troops were reported still fighting from positions on the east bank of the Narova river, which flows through Narva into the Gulf of Finland, but the Russians were said to have encircled them.

The Russian bridgehead south of Narva is still intact, the Helsinki advices said, but it is difficult to supply because ice covering the Narova river is thin.

6000 Airmen Work 12 Hours Preparing For Berlin Raid

By LOUIS V. HUNTER—Canadian Press War Correspondent

A CANADIAN BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, Feb. 17—(CP Cable).—Jimmy Hanson pushed a handful of coins along a shiny shove h'penny board yesterday and said:

"There isn't much I can tell you, I'm afraid. I'm not very colorful."

The 26-year-old flight lieutenant from Westmount, Que., was in one of the 22 R.C.A.F. planes that took off at dusk Tuesday from this Canadian bomber group station in the English midlands and helped give Berlin its heaviest blasting of the war.

The reticent Hanson was gunnery leader of the Canadian Goose squadron in the great attack and to give a picture of the young men who took part in the raid, and of the work they are doing night after night, the questioning continued despite Hanson's reiterated, "There's not much I can tell you."

Here is what his work—and that of about 6,000 airmen—was like:

It was a 12-hour job beginning for him and his companions early in the afternoon.

With Jimmy went Sqdn. Ldr. Bill Russell of Mount Dennis, Ont., the pilot; PO. Earl Howard, Mitchell, Ont., the navigator; PO. Jack Moore, Toronto, bombardier; PO. Bill Barrett, Fredericton, N.B., wireless operator; WO. Bill Lennox, Toronto, mid-upper gunner, and Sgt. Knobby Clark, of the R.A.F., flight engineer.

Called Milk Run.

The briefing at which the "milk run"—as the trip to Berlin now is known—was confirmed as the target was really the start of the day's activities for them. Then things began to hum.

The greatest bomber assault in the history of air warfare had to be organized in a few hours.

Jimmy went to his Lancaster, checked the gun turret and saw everything was shipshape. Then he hustled to the mess for an operational meal, bacon, eggs, potatoes.

700 Japs Killed In Burma Pass

NEW DELHI, Feb. 17 —(CP) — A divison of Indian troops held grimly to their position commanding the Ngakyedauk Pass to the Mayu Mountains of southwest Burma to-day, fighting off new Japanese attempts to encircle the Allied Forces on that front.

A communique said 700 Japanese dead have been counted since February 4 in that area alone east of the Pass which is the main communications link between the Allied force and its basese in India.

In other engagements to the north, the Allied communique said Japanese attempting to force a crossing to the west bank of the Chindwin river were driven back after three boats were sunk.

Other Japanees forces seized hill positions near Maulbem, in the Tiddim area of the west-central Burma front, but some Japanese positions were later occupied and "casualties were inflicted on the enemy" as the see-saw fighting continued. Allied losses were termed slight.

Chinese forces are continuing their steady eastward advance across northern Burma, moving against enemy positions south and southwest of Taipha Ga.

Fall Of Finland Would Permit Speedy Clean-up Of Nazis In Russia

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Observers in London, taking a rosy view of the amazing way the Red armies are ravaging the German war front, are speculating on the possibility of the Russians completely clearing their territory of the invaders during the five remaining weeks of winter.

That certainly is super-optimism, but is must be admitted that it's within the range of extreme possibility—if. The "if" would be a collapse of the Nazi front, either resulting in debacle or quick withdrawal to, say, the Brest-Litvosk-Carpathian line through Poland, which might be Hitler's last stand before falling back to the German frontier.

The whole Nazi front in the Ukraine is shivering like an autumn leaf, and the northern flank, in the Leningrad zone, is in jeopardy. Should Finland suddenly make peace terms with Russia, thereby uncovering the German wing on the Baltic, almost anything could happen. Red airmen again bombed Helsinki, the capital, last night—just as a reminder that there's no time like the present.

The purpose of this article is not to dilate on this highly speculative contingency of wholesale German retreat, but to consider what happens when the Nazis do make their big withdrawal, as they surely must. Daily one hears the query:

Will the Russians keep on driving right into Germany, no matter whether the Anglo-American invasion has reached Hitler's western border? Supposing (and this is asked in sepulchral voice) the Red Army is first in the Reich?

An Odd Notion

It would be interesting to know whence comes the odd notion that the Russians are bound to withhold the coup de grace from Hitler until the western Allies are on the ground, or that the latter will hold their hands if they happen to be first in the field. The idea is absurd.

Of course the Red forces will continue the chase until the Nazis yell for mercy. Indeed, the Germans will be lucky if they're able to make themselves heard.

Human nature being what it is, it's likely that neither the Russians nor the Anglo-American allies would be happy to arrive in Berlin last. All the big three would like to be present to keep an eye on developments—political, for instance.

However, the war will go forward hell-bent, irrespective of these undercurrents of human nature.

Presumably the Moscow and Teheran conferences of the Big Three discussed all the possibilities which could sprout from the war's end, and planned accordingly. The Moscow pact pledged unity in war and in peace, and the United Nations will have to place their trust in that.

Wants Workmen

One of Russia's early interests surely will rest in the punishment of Nazis guilty of atrocities in Soviet territory, and there is a terrific black-list of names prepared. The Allies agreed on retribution and that it should be carried out in the

Pravda Frowns On British Exchange Plan

MOSCOW, Feb. 17—(AP).—An implied criticism of Britain's exchange of war prisoners with Germany was contained in a lengthy story published today in Pravda, Communist party organ. The Russians never have exchanged prisoners with the Germans.

The story was an account by a German senior corporal, Gerhardt Machens, who said he sailed from Oran in North Africa last October in a Red Cross exchange and then went to the Russian front after a leave of four weeks.

Machens, in a letter addressed to "the chief of command, Red Army," said "there were about 2,400 healthy German captives here (Oran) and 600 gravely wounded," he said.

A ship carrying the Germans departed on October 23, 1943, Machens said. His letter declared the Red Cross was aware of the healthy condition of the prisoners.

Hun Refugees Trek Home

Ordered From Black Sea Area By Nazis

MADRID, Feb. 17— (AP).—One hundred and forty thousand peasants of German origin, ordered by the Nazis to evacuate their Black Sea homes in the face of the Russian advance, have completed a week-long, 1,000 mile trek across snow and ice, German newspapers received here yesterday reported.

The accounts said the peasants had inhabited more than 1,000 villages of the Kherson area, on the northern shores of the Black sea just across the Dnieper river from the Russian army. They were described as descendants of Germans who had held the lands since the 17th century.

The newspaper Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said in a Posen, Poland, dispatch that the refugees were forced to travel by wagon and oxcart with their possessions because "all transport in the Russia area has been reserved for the German army."

TORONTO, Feb. 17—(CP)— The Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario voted yesterday to appoint an Industrial Commissioner to serve in Ontario House in London, Eng., and to establish a fund of $15,000 a year for a five-year period to finance the undertaking. The executive will ask Premier Drew for space in Ontario House.

Midland already has set aside a "substantial sum" for such a mission, the meeting was told.

City Officials Attend Alma Beavis Funeral

The funeral of Miss Alma Beavis, bookkeeper in the City Welfare Department, whose tragic death occurred in au automobile collision, near Toronto, Saturday afternoon, was held from the late residence, 119 James Street, Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church, conducted the brief and simple service. Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

Mayor Hamilton, Aldermen of the City Council, and officials of the various city departments attended the funeral, and a large number of mourners from points outside the city came to pay their last respects. A profusion of floral designs, from the city, from friends and from the Order of the Eastern Star, with which society Miss Beavis had been closely connected, filled the home for the service.

Pallbearers were Ken Beavis, Cecil Wasson, R. Hendry, George Moore, W. J. Carey and Norman Gaynor.

Took Away All the Gas, Cramps and Sour Acidity From Which I Suffered. Pains Are Gone. I Enjoy My Meals and My Entire System Feels Improved.

When the stomach is out of order, and food fails to digest properly, but ferments causing gas, sourness and a full, bloated sensation; when poor kidney action brings on night rising, backache, and rheumatic pain; when bowels are constipated and you suffer from headaches, dizzy spells and nerves are on edge, take a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound and see if you don't soon feel like yourself again.

Here is the very interesting experience of Mr. George Hall, 35 Wood Street East, Hamilton, Ontario, as reported recently:

"In the past year I suffered so with gas, bloating and cramps in my stomach I could hardly do my work. The food I ate just seemed to ferment and cause sour acidity. I got so that I had no desire for food of any kind. Sometimes I had bad dizzy spells and throbbing headaches. Many days I had pains all through my legs and joints and my back was very lame and sore. Often I could not sleep at night because of the pain, so I felt tired and fatigued in the morning.

MR. GEORGE HALL

"I tried one thing after another without any real results, but I wasn't taking Syntona long before I saw that this medicine was going to help me. It took away all the gas, acidity and cramps from my stomach. I began to enjoy my meals and gain back my lost weight. So, I kept on taking it faithfully, and now the aches and pains are gone, I sleep well at night, and my entire system feels healthier and improved.

"Nothing ever helped me like this before, and I certainly can recommend Syntona to every one suffering in a similar manner."

Premier Won't Recognize Bloc Populaire Leader

By FRANK FLAHERTY—Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 17—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King has refused to recognize the Bloc Populaire as an opposition party in the House of Commons to the same extent as the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and New Democracy parties are recognized.

The issue came up yesterday when the Bloc's leader, Maxime Raymond, asked why he was not invited to the Tuesday conference of party leaders on granting of leave to Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton and relieving him of the overseas army command.

Mr. King replied that in strict parliamentary practice only the leader of the official Opposition, Gordon Graydon, should be recognized. As a courtesy and not as a right, leaders of the C.C.F. and New Democracy groups had been recognized since they were elected to Parliament as party leaders.

"But," the Prime Minister said, "for my honorable friend (Mr. Raymond) to say that because a new party has come into existence since a by-election the leader of that party should have the same courtesy extended to him is, I think, to state a position that is perfectly ridiculous."

The Bloc Populaire was formed since the 1940 general election and has five members in the House, four of whom were elected as Liberals and later crossed the floor, and one elected last September in a by-election.

Milk Subsidy Said Too Small

TORONTO, Feb. 17—(CP).—J. A. Hughes of Ilderton said Wednesday in his presidential address to the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' League that there had been a substantial decline in milk production. He said this was due to failure to provide a higher subsidy for milk.

"How long we will be able to produce milk at the present price remains to be seen," he said, adding there was difficulty in arriving at the cost of milk production due to variation in the capacity and efficiency of farmers.

Producers are dissatisfied with the present subsidy plan under which some get the top price of $?.50 plus 55 cents subsidy per hundredweight for milk distributed on a quota basis while others get $1.95 a hundredweight with the subsidy applicable to only ten per cent. of delivery.

out regard as to whether or not they can pay. The real need, it said, is to bring the country's full resources to bear upon reducing ill-health and promoting good health.

It was estimated the cost of the national health services will be about £148,000,000 ($658,000,000) a year compared with about £61,000,000 spent out of public funds at present. The money will be raised partly from taxes and partly from contributions of the public to whatever new plan of social insurance is established.

Three Freedoms.

Three "freedoms" were laid down in the White Paper as general principles to be observed in organization of the health service:

1. People to use facilities at their own wish; no compulsion for patient or doctor.
2. People to choose their own medical advisers.
3. The doctor to pursue his professional methods in his own individual way and not to be subject to outside clinical interference.

These principles, it said, must be combined with central and local organization necessary to see that first-class service is provided and maintained in every area. Central responsibility to parliament and the people will lie with the Minister of Health.

Doctors taking part must be assured an adequate income, the White Paper said, and the aim must be to achieve a system flexible enough to allow variations because of extra qualifications, energy and interest. It proposed that standards of remuneration should be settled nationally after discussing with the medical profession.

The White Paper was a document of 55,000 words. It will be debated in the House of Commons within the next three weeks and lively discussion is expected.

Lonergan Trial Becomes Farce

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — (AP).— Edward V. Broderick, counsel for Wayne Lonergan, accused of slaying his wife Patricit Burton Lonergan, moved on Wednesday in the General Sessions Court for permission to submit two assistant district attorneys to a lie detector test.

His startling request and the protests of Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet led Judge John J. Freschi to declare: "I will not have this court made a hippodrome."

Lonergan's trial is scheduled to begin before Judge Freschi February 23. The Toronto-born member of the R.C.A.F. is charged with first-degree murder.

"In view of the fact that the veracity of both Mr. Grumet and Mr. Loehr (Assistant District Attorney John Loehr) will be under sustained attack during the trial," Broderick told the Judge, "I want to know whether they will consent to a lie detector test in advance of the trial."

Leaping to his feet, Grumet shouted, "Your Honor, what is the meaning of this? This is becoming a farce. This is a case of murder in the first degree. I'll ask for the mentality of the counsel to be examined."

To other requests by Broderick for questions to be put to Grumet, Judge Freschi replied, "You can write a letter to the District Attorney or go to see him."

Time will tell whether the Russians will seize all guilty Germans possible immediately, and rush them off to Russia to pay the penalty. It's difficult to imagine London or Washington weeping over such procedure.

We also know through a lecture by Professor Eugene Varga in Moscow that the Soviet intends to demand that several million enemy workmen be compelled to go to Russia to repair some of the awful damage wrought by the Germans. The Soviet doesn't want money; it wants sweat and brawn to do rebuilding.

It's interesting to note in this connection the Russians will have a host of German prisoners at the end of the conflict, and it seems possible that Moscow will ask the other Allies to agree that these men remain in the Soviet for work.

Regimental Pride

battalion. Regimental pride is real to the majority of troops. Every soldier likes to think his battalion is the best in the army.

While they may be frightened if enemy machine guns open up on them from concealment, advancing troops are able to keep going forward because they've been given a particular role to perform and months of training have taught them that in the army you do what you're told. And, a job accomplished under difficulty gives satisfaction.

Furthermore, when you're scared the best thing to do is keep busy. The presence at a nervous soldier's side of another who is steadier will tend to steady the former and help him bear up. A steady soldier has the admiration of all his chums.

A nervous soldier is the object of sympathy rather than scorn, but other soldiers with him would rather see him removed to a safe place than have him remain in their presence. Nervousness is as infectious as steadiness. The steadiness or unsteadiness of officers and N.C.O.'s makes a world of difference in the men under their command.

When soldiers emerge successfully after a particularly rough time the tendency is to laugh it all off rather than describe it in dramatic terms.

Because they may have had to overcome real fear in the accomplishment of an act of particular distinction, many deserving soldiers will wonder if they have earned decorations awarded.

The reason seems to be that bravery as the story-books tell about it bears little resemblance to what most feel really constitutes it. A soldier has difficulty recognizing bravery in himself.

Soldiers likewise resent rather than appreciate glowing public accounts of their exploits particularly if they are pictured as fearless, cool-headed fire-eaters.

3" INFANTRY MORTARS

One of the deadliest weapons of the infantrymen of any army is the mortar, heavy or light. Actually, the weapon is a light, portable artillery piece — demountable and usable from any terrain. It consists of a metal tube about three feet in length, with a heavy base and supported at an angle by a bipod. The missile looks like a small aerial bomb, pointed at one end and with tail fins at the other. The "bomb" is dropped tail-first down the leaning barrel, and "shoots itself" out of the muzzle in a high trajectory. Astounding accuracy can be attained with this seeming loutish weapon. The heavy, 3-inch mortar is used generally for firing high explosive bombs. The lighter, two-inch mortar fires either high explosive or smoke bombs, the latter for screening the actions of Canadian infantrymen as they press the attack.

Japs Imprison German Priests

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Feb. 17.—(AP).— Japanese soldiers on New Guinea robbed, imprisoned and killed missionaries despite the fact that most of them were citizens of Japan's Axis partner, Germany.

The disclosure by missionaries who escaped from the Japanese was contained in a dispatch written last Aug. 31 by Vern Haughland, Associated Press war correspondent, but released only to-day.

Haughland was told by Father Anthony Cruysberg, the only member of the group who spoke English, that the Japanese imprisoned over 200 missionaries, mostly German nationals, from Madang to Wewak.

"Only 20 or so missionaries have been rescued or escaped from our area into Australian territory," Father Cruysberg related. He was a party of eight, including five nuns, which trudged for four months through the wildest part of Central New Guinea to reach an Australian camp.

"Allied bombers based in Italy take a heavy toll of these supplies as they pass via the Balkan railways," the R.A.F. says, adding that the toll has been so heavy after the supplies leave Piraeus that the enemy has "been forced to cut down the size of convoys." The Germans reportedly now are using mainly trawlers, barges and schooners.

"Night and day, long-range aircraft of the R. A. F. based in the Middle East seek out this shipping and destroy it. Every day, much-needed supplies are sent to the bottom. Meanwhile German garrisons in the Aegean Islands must tighten their belts. Small craft which succeed in getting through cannot carry all the supplies so urgently needed."

At first the anti-aircraft fire was light. Jimmy was in the first wave of attackers and as the defences "got on our track the flak was the heaviest I have ever seen and reminded me of the old Ruhr days."

Mrs. Martin's first job in Haileybury was in a law office where she made out an average of 60 to 65 affidavits daily at $2.50 each for a month.

Prior to the funeral, the body rested at the J. J. Duffus Funeral Parlours where many came and offered floral and spiritual bouqets to express their sympathy to her bereaved sister, brother and other relatives.

Friends from a distance who were present at the funeral included Miss Vera Malone, Almonte, Ontario; Mrs. William Snider, Toronto; and Mrs. Arnold Brady, Lindsay.

400 Bombers Hit Helsinki

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 17.—(AP). — Waves of Russian planes attacked Helsinki last night for the second time in 11 days, spreading damage through much of Finland's capital as unconfirmed rumors persisted that the Finns were dickering with Moscow for peace terms.

Russian air raiders also struck at Aabo on Finland's southeast coast, causing three alarms, but details were not immediately available.

Four hundred Russian bombers made the Helsinki raid last night, Aftonbladet's Helsinki correspondent reported.

Although the attacking force was twice as large as on the previous raid on Feb. 6, damage was less, he said. Twelve persons were reported killed, but the figure on casualties was likely to rise.

Tax Collections Exceed 1943 Levy

COBOURG, Feb. 17 — (ENS) — Slightly more than 102 per cent of the 1943 tax roll has been collected it was announced by E. A. Hircock, local tax collector. The amount collected on the 1943 levy was $135,225.55, which, along with arrears and interest on past taxes, brought the total up to $149,183.48. Excess of the 1943 collections over levy was $3,336.64, which was made possible by collection of $15,459.02 worth of arrears.

Total 1943 levy was $145,846.74 of which $135,225.55 was collected; $478.06 was removed by the Court of Revision; $341.62 removed by the purchase of tax lands by the town; $439.10 removed by other purchases at tax sales. This reduces the amount of 1943 arrears to $9,271.66.

English Voters At Polls In By-election

By ALAN RANDAL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

BAKEWELL, Derbyshire, England, Feb. 17 (CP Cable) —Electors of this rural district in the Midlands balloted to-day to fill the vacant West Derbyshire Parliamentary seat but they still were a bit dazzled and weary from the campaign excitement.

A series of comic opera incidents made the by-election for the seat left vacant by retirement of Col. Henry Hunlike, Conservative, a subject of international attention.

Electors had a choice of candidates that would delight the most imaginative librettist. There was a young lord, the son of a shoemaker who had defeated one of the Lord's forebears for the seat and a farmer who, even while paying his £150 election deposit, said he would rather be a good cornet player than a Member of Parliament.

On the eve of polling, however, the campaign last night had returned to some degree of political stability. The 26-year-old Marquess of Hartington Government-sponsored Conservative candidate, and Alderman Charles White, Independent Socialist, addressed final meetings in different rooms of the old town hall here.

The third candidate, Robert Goodall, is also running independently. Another stock comic-opera figure, Goodall is a former butler, now a farmer, and from start to finish an enthusiastc cornet-player. In contrast to the others, he was practically predicted that he will not be elected.

Women Recruits Join Partisans

CAIRO, Feb. 17 (AP)—A substantial increase in the number of women enlisting in the Macedonian forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) was reported today by a reliable Allied informant who said the recruits are tough but still feminine.

Allied military officers learned of four women who walked day and night for three days without shoes and then fought in a battle throughout the fourth day.

But they and other feminine fighters in Tito's Partisan army, it was said, still insist on wearing bright scarves—which make excellent targets for German snipers.

60,000 In Raid

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP).—Nearly 60,000 men were used in the tremendous task of carrying out Tuesday night's R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raid on Berlin, history's greatest aerial assault. One station commander said approximately 50 men were working on the ground for every bomb that got into the air

Ramirez Holds Whip Hand

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 17.—(AP).—President General Pedro Ramirez of Argentina, rid of conflicting elements who brought on this week's governmental crisis, appeared today to have gained a breathing spell in which to chart his future policies.

Appointments announced yesterday to fill three cabinet vacancies were regarded here as merely deferring a clear-cut decision on how Argentina will stand in the international picture.

The appointments apparently represented an attempt to compromise between the demands of the opposing factions, one of which was said to have urged a declaration of war on the Axis and the other to have strenuously opposed any such action.

Mission Band Leaders Are Named By Society

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 17. — (ENS). — "These Are They" was the title of a reading given by the president, Mrs. R. McCulloch, at the regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. on Tuesday afternoon. The subject dealt in an interesting manner with the founding of the World's Day of Prayer. During the business a letter was read from the Peterborough Presbyterial, thanking the Campbellford Branch of the W.M.S. for its fine co-operation in helping the Presbytery to reach its 1943 allocation. Miss Margaret Wynn and Mrs. Robert Blake were appointed as Mission Band leaders for the ensuing year.

The new study books, "Our Indian Story" and "British Guiana" were introduced by the president, and following the offering Mrs. Ben Frederick conducted the program. This included a reading, "The Threshold of the Year" by Mrs. Frederick, Scripture reading by Mrs. J. R. Battisby, reading by Mrs. James tSorie, reading 'A Lady Sold by Auction" by Mrs. Frederick. The concluding item was a complete report on the Presbyterial held in Peterborough on January 12. The March meeting will be in charge of Mrs. E. Wynn and her group.

Cobourg Council Reviews Sewage Trouble

COBOURG, Feb. 17—(ENS)—Cobourg town council this week decided to have a survey made of the sewer system with the view of revamping and correcting certain faults as a postwar project. For some time there has been considerable trouble over the sewer which runs along the course of the creek through the town, the pipes following the creek and the entire creek cemented over where it crosses through the centre of the town. When the sewer blocks up, sewer gas permeates the downtown business section.

Dr. A. E. Berry, director of Sanitary Engineering Division, Ontario Dept. of Health, met the council along with a number of local merchants and W. S. Edwards and Harry Lucas of the tannery. He recommended strongly that an engineer be engaged to lay out a whole new sewage system for the town and to decide upon the proper location of a disposal plant. After this, changes could be made in the lower stretches of the sewer from the tannery to the lake.

Dr. Berry referred to his report of 1937 on the matter, and said that the sewer, when running clean, would handle two million gallons a day, but the trouble lay partly in the fact that there were many turns in the creek sewer which plugged up and had no manholes above the turns.

W. S. Edwards of the tannery told council that there is an unusually big flow from the tannery to this sewer in the morning when the vats are emptied. The tannery had cleaned the sewer out right to the lake and found places where the sewer was seven-eighths full of sand. He asked if it were correct that the sewer had been built without referring the plans to the provincial government, to which Dr. Berry replied that Mr. Lucas was correct.

James Campbell, streets foreman, said that the joints between the sewer pipes in question were filled with oakum and puttied with clay, with no cement joints. Councillor Reuben Jackson commented that cement could not be used on the joints for the reason that it would not harden in running water. Mr. Campbell pointed out further that where the sewer runs under the stores, the spaces for cleaning out the sewers were in some instances 700 to 800 feet apart. Dr. Berry suggested that regular weekly or twice weekly cleanings by rodding would help the situation until a permanent remedy could be found, and it was estimated that this would take two days each week.

"Our firm is blamed for everything which blocks the sewer. We are willing to work with the town on the matter," declared Harry Lucas.

On motion of Councillors J. Kennedy and .. Morton, council decided to call in an engineer to make a survey of the situation with the view of clearing it up.

Mrs. Clara Delaney Offers Apologies

COBOURG, Feb. 17.—(ENS). — Councillor Mrs. Clara Delaney, in a letter addressed to council, apologized for her references at a previous meeting to the fact that the bailiff had visited the homes of two of the applicants who were after the job of deputy town clerk and treasurer. Miss Hattie Hawkey and E. A. Hircock, two of the applicants, had sent a lawyer's letter to Councillor Delaney, demanding a retraction.

Councillor Delaney was not at the meeting of council this week, due to illness, but sent the following letter:

"For the benefit of those who may have felt that any personal reference was intended in my statement made at the council meeting of January 31, 1944, I wish to make a public apology.

"The statements were made simply to emphasize the fact that care should be exercised in making an appointment to such a responsible position in the town and I regret that anyone should feel that personal reference was intended. Yours truly—Mrs. Delaney."

Use Of Fertilizer Doubles On Farms

COBOURG, Feb. 17 — (ENS) — Northumberland county farmers used twice as much commercial fertilizer last year as in pre-war ones, states R. C. Banbury, agricultural representative of Northumberland county.

A sheet prepared by the Fertilizer Advisory Board of Ontario, is available from Mr. Banbury, and tells the details of what is available for 1944. A scarcity of potash has necessitated the limiting of this ingredient and most farmers who have purchased a 2-12-6 for their cereal grains, must this year use a 2-12-4. For potatoes a 4-8-8 will be available, which is also quite satisfactory for most garden crops including cabbage and carrots. If farmers contracting for tomatoes need a higher analysis than is generally available of potash, it can be secured by getting a contract form from their companies which will permit a higher potash content. One Man Jailed For Car Theft

COBOURG, Feb. 17.— (ENS).—Remanded for sentence from last week, James Dillinger, William Shannon and Patrick Kelly of Toronto, appeared for sentence Tuesday on a charge of theft of a car on January 24 from Cecil Burley of Newtonville. Kelly had pleaded guilty while the others pleaded not guity. Magistrate R. B. Baxter dismissed the charge against Shannon and Dillinger but imposed a term of one year in the reformatory on Kelly.

The magistrate points out, in passing sentence, that Shannon and Dillinger apparently had been implicated in the car theft but that he was obliged to give them the benefit of the doubt. The trio was also charged with theft of a car at Richmond Hill, and on this charge they were remanded for one week.

Arthur Barr, who pleaded guilty last week to passing a worthless cheque, was sentenced to nine months definite and three months indefinite in the reformatory. He was charged with beating his hotel bill and received three months on this charge, to run concurrently. He was also fined $50 and costs or three months for altering his national registration card.

James Ellis, who stole a truck a week ago to get to Toronto to report in time for dnty in the army, was given the minimum sentence of one year when he appeared for sentence on Tuesday. Percy Walker of Cornwall, charged with theft of $330 on January 23 from Mrs. Mary Wills of Haldimand township, pleaded guilty and was given six months in the reformatory.

A Divided Responsibility

It is a pity that books about psychology are not read more widely in Canada; if they were, then the general public, and our M.P.s and journalists would be better able to weigh the psychological opinions which are occasionally presented to them. Some of these opinions, in our view, are decidedly short-weight, but a great many people insist on treating them as though they were of the utmost importance.

At the end of last November Major-General G. Brock Chisholm, the director-general of Army Medical Services for Canada, got into the news by declaring that Santa Claus was a menace, and that children who were taught to believe in him would grow up to be unstable, neurotic and a prey to palmists and astrologers. In that statement there is a grain of wheat and a bushel of chaff. In a speech last week, the same gentleman said that in order to adjust recruits to Army life the influence of mothers had to be weakened, and that periods of leave at home were unsettling to soldiers. As a result of this, a section of the press has become very indignant, and a question has been asked in Parliament.

It is our firm belief that the art of psychology—for it is an art, and not an exact science—is not so far divorced from common sense that its statements cannot be evaluated by ordinarily discerning and intelligent people. Most of the great discoveries of the psychologists were anticipated by poets and philosophers; the psychologists approach them in a different way, however. Nothing that Major-General Chisholm said in his speech about mothers is contrary to what anyone may see in everyday life. He appears, however, to have exaggerated what he said in rather an alarming manner.

Mothers are of all kinds—good, bad and indifferent. A good mother has a great and lasting influence on her son; a foolish mother may have a very bad influence on him, and it is equally lasting. No good mother wants to tie her son to her apron-strings, and keep him from growing up into a self-reliant, independent man; a foolish mother often does her best to keep her son a little boy long after he is grown up, refusing to face the fact that he is an adult. Paradoxically, mothers keep their sons nearest to them by allowing them to strike out for themselves. Apparently Maj.-Gen. Chisholm has had trouble in the Army with young men who are still tied to their mothers' apron-strings, and he has spoken about it in a somewhat indiscreet manner. Nothing that he said would cause the slightest dismay to a group of psychiatrists, but it has flicked some people who make a cult of motherhood on the raw. Motherhood should be honoured, but it should not become a cult, for countries in which motherhood is a cult become matriarchies, and matriarchies are notoriously unsound institutions.

This controversy, however, allows us to repeat an opinion which we have often expressed in these columns: in Canada too many fathers leave the guidance of their children exclusively to their wives; the mothers have almost sole responsibility in this important work. That is not good for the children. They need the firmness, discipline and understanding of a father to balance the tenderness and solicitousness of the mother. A child whose affection and respect is centred too much on one parent has not had a good upbringing. Parental care is a divided responsibility, and the husband who shifts his burden to his wife's shoulders must not be surprised if his children do not grow up as well integrated—to use a term dear to psychologists—as he could wish.

A Land Of Plenty

Although there are still a few people who complain about war shortages of food, a report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that our general standard of living has improved since the outbreak of war. For instance, we used a little less than 55 pounds of milk and its products, per person, before the war: in 1943 we used almost 65 pounds per person. Our pre-war consumption of meat was 120 pounds a head; now it is 134 pounds. Between 1935 and 1939 the consumption a head of eggs was 30 pounds a year; last year it was almost 38 pounds. Our consumption of butter has risen, as well, in spite of rationing. We used more coffee last year than we did in 1939. Our consumption, in fact, is down only in a few things, notably canned goods and sugar, in which our consumption per head has dropped from 91 pounds to 72 pounds.

People, even greedy people, can only eat a certain amount, and under rationing they can only eat what they are able to get. Therefore these figures may be taken as clear proof that most Canadians are eating better now than they did before the war, owing to our full employment and our large national payroll.

How lucky we are! The food situation in Britain is better, but it is still far from good, and not within a hundred miles of our own standard of plenty. In the occupied countries of Europe undernourishment is the general thing, and starvation is pitiably common. In Canada we complain of many things, and sometimes justly, but we certainly have no cause to complain about our food supplies. Compared with most of the world we are the pampered darlings of fortune.

Politics And Patriotism

On February 7 the Buffalo Courier-Express printed an editorial on its front page headed "Will Politics Yield To Patriotism", in which it asked for "a complete holiday from national party politics in 1944". It made two proposals to bring about such a holiday, and here they are:

"1—Nomination by both parties of Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term in the Presidency, with a hard and fast agreement that when the European armistice is signed he shall resign to head the American delegation to the peace conference, leaving to his successor the task of carrying through to victory the Asiatic phase of the war — and of handling the domestic problems attending the return to peace.

"2—Nomination by both parties of an outstanding Republican for the Vice-Presidency—which would make him Mr. Roosevelt's successor as soon as the fighting in Europe ceased. This successor would be pledged, of course, to appoint Mr. Roosevelt head of the American peace delegation."

Simple and practical, isn't it? But we doubt very much if it will be done. Many influential newspapers in the U.S. have commented favourably on the suggestion, but we doubt if the great party machines have missed so much as a single revolution of their wheels because of it. The existence of political parties is a very good thing, but the remorseless routine of party politics can be a fearful handicap to a nation. The Republicans and democrats across the border are juggling and jockeying now for a great contest, and nothing will divert them from it.

The only man so far to declare himself flatly and irrevocably is Wendell L. Willkie; he would like to have the Republican nomination, and he doesn't care who knows it. It is possible to criticise Mr. Willkie on many scores: he has sometimes shown himself lacking in tact, in knowledge of international affairs, and in modesty. But he has never lacked either honesty or courage, and he has shown both those qualities most strikingly in his recent political declarations. He would like to see the U.S. federal taxes twice as heavy as those which the Roosevelt administration has asked for, and that means about eight times as great as the levies actually voted by Congress. He wants to see war bills paid, as far as possible, on a pay-as-you-go basis, and he protests vigorously against "mortgaging the nation's future" by piling up post-war debts. The American people are very optimistic, and they hope for a boom after the war which will pay off the debts in jig-time; Mr. Willkie is optimistic too, but he is not as optimistic as all that. He has flatly declared that his countrymen do not really know that they are fighting a war, and he would like them to deny themselves in order to check inflation and take care of war debts now.

Mr. Willkie's honesty is refreshing, and many people will agree with what he says about war finance, but it is doubtful if his attitude will appeal to the Republican party machine. Are they likely to nominate a man who has publicly declared his intentions of soaking the people of the U.S. as they have never been soaked before? They do not think of politics in quite that light.

Both the Buffalo paper and Mr. Willkie have spoken out loud and bold for what they think would be of most benefit to their country. It will be interesting to see whether they make any impression on more conventional minds.

Photographic tests show that married couples grow to look alike. But that is no guarantee that they will think alike.

Canadian Scene

By DUAHCIM

(Being the first in a series of letters from a father to a son in the armed forces)

Cedar Hill, January -th, 1944.

DEAR SON: We—all of us; your mother, sister Sara, your brother Peter, and your Grandfather who, by the way, had his ninety-first birthday appropriately honoured a week ago, were thankfully relieved when your letter arrived this morning. We understand the delay, of course. Even your dog Mike seems to sense good tidings from you. He is getting over his moping over your apparent desertion and has attached himself to your grandfather, much to that gentleman's embarrassment. You remember how blasphemously he used to declare his aversion to all dogs, and Mike in particular? We are amused that Grandfather secretly—he thinks—really appreciates Mike's attentions.

CONGRATULATIONS on your promotion. I am sure you will be worthy of your added responsibilities. Judging from your letters I sense an aprpoaching maturity of thought which will stand you in good stead. I am very pleased that you are thinking beyond the war years and are curious, beyond your years, about the aspects of the political and economic situation here at home. As an extra-curricular subject the matter of post-war probabilities and possibilities is interesting and very important. It is doubly important to you young men—and women—in service who rightfully expect and deserve a return on your investment of lost time, hardship, wounds, and possible physical impairment. Note that I list the loss of time as a prior item. My own five lost years—1914-1918, seen through the vista of the intervening years, I regard as truly lost in a material sense. And young people are not interested in the spiritual values of the experiences of war and death, for a certain philosophy of life only attained by the long passage of years, makes possible a necessary differentation between the beautiful and the sordid. What you are interested in—and rightly so, is the present—and the immediate future after the war. The future is your heritage and your responsibility and it is your duty to protect it. With all the good intentions in the world we of another generation cannot do this for you. The future is yours to construct, develop, and guard. The Canadian Scene is yours to paint in the rich, warm tones of a grandeur ever growing in volume. You, as an individual, will do your part. You are as Canadian as your Grandfather and you know, in part at least, the saga of that great old man. By the way, I am preparing, in narrative form, the story of your Grandfather from the time he and his companions ascended, as he puts it, from the parish of Trois Pistoles in Lower Canada to a Camp near Fenelon Falls in Upper Canada. If you are interested, and I think you are, I will embody in following letters the story as it develops. Your Grandfather, for all his years, is a keen student of current political affairs and his criticisms of trends of current political philosophies are pungent and salty.

THINKING back to the period of my service in that other war which is now a matter for the history books—and a boresome conversational subject, I remember that I usually found a little time, at least, for serious thinking. Not exactly deliberate thinking. I think you know the feeling of thoughtful anticipation which comes over one as he lies in a billet or walks alone over a countryside. You wonder if all the things you left behind are the same—and will they be the same when you return? Will I feel the same way about things when I get back? Will conditions be so that I can continue at McGill—or shall I wish to continue? What shall I do—what career should I seek when I am returned to Canada and am expected to further the interests of my country in a civil sense instead of as a soldier trained to destroy its enemies? You will realize that the arts of war which are so abundantly taught to you as a soldier are utterly useless in application to civil life. You will be disheartened as uneasy half-formed thoughts pass through your mind. You are not aware that as you pass through the fire of destruction that is war you are forming, out of the soundness of material which is your Canadian heritage, a strength and rigidity of character that will prove the most valuable asset you possess in the years that follow your release from military service.

MY son, may I be forgiven if I hark back again to my memories of World War One to tell you that lack of direction for men returning to civil occupations was a first cause of many failures. A soldier's puzzled anticipations of the peace-time future should be met by skilful direction and careful guidance. He should be afforded all opportunities for furthering his knowledge of civilian procedures. He should be returned to civilian status a well-informed citizen of Canada, interested in the national life because of good and sufficient knowledge of its way of living and therefore able to express an intelligent opinion when required to do so. I am sorry to have to report that in my opinion the powers controlling the release of the veterans of World War One failed to properly prepare them for re-entry into civil life with its unaccustomed responsibilities. I am glad to say that the present authorities are planning, and have been planning for some time, a little something along these lines. They are genuinely interested, of that I am sure.

But in the meantime there is a war to be fought and financed.

READING back I find that I have perhaps caused you to think that the future is more important than the present. It is not. The war is of paramount, unparalleled importance, and must be waged to a conclusion with all our strength. Every one of us has a duty in furthering the great effort. But with us here at home lies the duty too of protecting, in the absence of its heirs, this precious homeland. And preparing it for your return.

Reading back again I find that I have given you very little information—perhaps none—unless you are capable of reading between the lines of this rambling discourse. I must ask you to please consider this letter a preamble to a more material envaluation of the economic and political situation in your homeland. Leaving the domestic scene to your mother, your sister and your brother, who can tell of those lighter doings much better than I. I will try to depict to you the passing show of the Canadian scene.

Au revoir, my boy.

WAS SHE PROUD

A young woman was extremely vain of the honours conferred upon two distant male relatives. She talked on the subject to all and sundry: "I have two relatives in the House of Lords. Have you any?"

"No," replied one of her acquaintances, "but I have three maiden aunts in the Kingdom of Heaven."

ANOTHER FINNISH TRACK STAR!

Lincoln's War Prayer

(BUFFALO COURIER-EXPRESS)

I AM enclosing copy of a little known proclamation of Abraham Lincoln.

It is not God, but men who started this war, and the Lord is probably allowing them to see in what misery they have involved the entire world, and how much more misery may follow unless they return to Him and repent.

"Whereas the Senate of the United States, devoutly recognizing the supreme authority and just government of Almighty God in all the affairs of man and of nations, has by a resolution requested the President to designate and set apart a day for national prayer and humiliation; and

"Whereas it is the duty of nations as well as of men to own their dependence upon the overruling power of God, to confess their sins and transgressions in humble sorrow, yet with assured hope that genuine repentance will lead to mercy and pardon, and to recognize the sublime truth, announced in the Holy Scriptures and proven by all history, that those nations only are blessed whose God is the Lord;

"And, insomuch as we know that by His divine law nations, like individuals, are subjected to punishments and chastisements in this world, may we not justly fear that the awful calamity of civil war which now desolates the land may be but a punishment inflicted upon us for our presumptuous sins, to the needful end of our national reformation as a whole people? We have been the recipients of the choicest bounties of Heaven; we have been preserved these many years in peace and prosperity; we have grown in numbers, wealth and power as no other nation has ever grown. But we have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand, which preserved us in peace and multiplied and enriched and strengthened us, and we have vainly imagined in the deceitfulness of our hearts that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have become too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us.

"It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves before the offended Power, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness.

"Now, therefore, in compliance with request, and fully concurring in the views of the Senate, I do by this proclamation designate and set apart Thursday, the 30th of April, 1863, as a day of national humiliation, fasting and prayer. And I do hereby request all the people to abstain on that day from their ordinary secular pursuits, and to unite at their several places of public worship and their respective homes in keeping the day holy to the Lord and devoted to the humble discharge of the religious duties proper to that solemn occasion.

"All this being done in sincerity and truth, let us then rest humbly in the hope authorized by divine teaching that the united cry of the nation will be heard on high and answered with blessings no less than the pardon of our national sins and the restoration of our now divided and suffering country to its former happy condition of unity and peace.—Abraham Lincoln."

PAX VOBISCUM.

Among the Supreme Latin Poets

LATIN poetry, as art, stands on its own merits, and includes some of the noblest poetry in the world....

Two names among the Latin poets, those of Virgil and Horace, stand apart from all the rest. They have been, and are, the school-books and the companions of the whole world; forming the mind of youth, and yielding more and more of their secret to prolonged study and inveterate acquaintance.

On Virgil's poetical supremacy it is needless to enlarge, for it is universally recognized and appreciated. He is, as he was to Dante six hundred years ago, "the master": not only one of the greatest poets of the world, but the creator of ideals which have exercised the most profound influence on civilization and history. In his Eclogues he gave a new music to language, transplanted the Greek pastoral to Latin soil, and initiated the long and splendid course of idyllic poetry. Grace and tenderness, sometimes rising (as in the Fourth Eclogue, the poem which was for ages believed to have been written under inspiration and to be a prophecy of the birth of Christ) to majesty, sometimes (as in the Tenth Eclogue) to the highest pitch of romantic beauty, are the qualities of this earlier work. In the Georgics he moves with a more secure step in an ampler field. Dryden, in the dedicatory preface to his translation places the Georgics in half a dozen brief words, "the best poem of the best poet," at the head of human achievement; and there are few if any poems for which the claim of perfection can be so fully or so justly made. Technically and superficially a didactic poem, they present with consummate art, in language of liquid and faultless beauty, the picture of a Golden Age obtainable in the actual world, the ideal of a life at peace with itself, with mankind, and with Nature....

Ovid, more than any other single poet, was the model of the Middle Ages and the lamp of the Renaissance. He is a poet only of the second rank, but in that rank he is not only eminent but unique. He is a pattern of lucidity, fluency, lightness of touch, and grace of movement. He had by nature the rare narrative gift in perfection; he is the one great story-teller in Latin poetry. In the opinion of the best Roman critics, had he only controlled instead of indulging his brilliant rhetoric and still more brilliant wit, he might have been a poet second to none. That discipline was, from defects of character, beyond his power. Yet few poets even of the first rank have done work of such wide and effective importance. Not only did he handle, with seemingly effortless ease, and popularize for universal currency, the poetical forms created by his predecessors; not only did he light up, and transmit in its full fascination to later ages, the world of Graeco-Roman mythology; but he comlpeted the work of Cicero and Horace in fixing a standard of accomplishment and civilized manners for Europe.—J. W. Mackail, in "The Legacy of Rome," edited by Cyril Bailey. (New York: Oxford University Press.)

Future of Newfoundland

With all speed the people of Newfoundland must be helped to resume the responsibilities of self-government. That is the mood of Parliament, and it is the mood of all thinking men. It is a task which must be undertaken as a wartime priority. It cannot wait. Each year that goes by is bound to bury still deeper the instinct of the grave young Newfoundlanders to stand on their own feet. Ten years of Whitehall government have already made too deep an impression to allow the Newfoundland situation to drift further. Depend on it, the instinct for undertaking responsibility will emerge when the prospect becomes excitingly clear. Newfoundland, with wartime prosperity, has sent this country £2,500,000. Shall we grudge her assistance when war is done? Never. We have the responsibility of seeing our oldest colony well ordered, with a healthy population, fine communications, efficient industries. Newfoundland must be ever-present in our postwar reconstruction plans.—London Daily Express.

Canadian Roads Carry On

Little enough credit has been given to Canada for the truly spectacular service its railways have been rendering in the war effort. The Dominion railways' task commenced two years before that of the lines south of the border. And both the Canadian Pacific Railways not only have carried war materials, but turned them out; for their locomotive shops in some places have been converted to the manufacture of tanks and big guns. The Canadian traffic problem has been accentuated by a labour shortage such as the United States does not know ... Despite these obstacles, beset by severe winter weather, unable to add to their rolling equipment appreciably, faced by the same calls for military trains as elsewhere, both the Canadian roads have shown sharp increases in net earnings. Even in the midst of war, the C.N.R. managed to complete its massive new Montreal terminal which was an aid to the war effort in itself. Wages have been stabilize, after an increased cost-of-living "bonus," and in this respect, there is much the United States might learn from Canada.—Christain Science Monitor.

A Bible Message

O Lord of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto thee? or to thy faithfulness round about thee? Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waves th of arise, thou stillest them.... The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine: as for the world and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them....

Thou hast a mighty arm: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand. Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne: mercy and truth shall go before thy face. (Ps. 89: 8, 9, 11, 13, 14.)

O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain; O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God! Behold, the Lord God will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. (Isa. 40: 9, 10.)

O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?.... For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen. (Rom. 11: 33, 34, 36.)

Canada's Present and Future

Canada has had the vision to realize that her magnificent resources should be at the disposal of all nations fighting to achieve the common purpose and in that spirit has joined in cutting out what President Roosevelt once called the dollar sign. More than dollars are now subject to excision. There is another reason for Canadian participation in the new agreement. As a producer of Allied war supplies she ranks first after the three Great Power belligerents. Despite her relatively small population her place is now among the world's great industrial nations. Her contribution to the war in men runs into hundreds of thousands, and observers have noted the perfect equipment of the Canadian troops now fighting in the Mediterranean. Yet such has been the development of her industries that about a third of their output suffices to meet the needs of her own forces. This development of her national economy should assure to Canada a great future both in her own continent and in the world at large. Her action now in using all she has for the common goods sets an example which should not fail of its effect when reconstruction comes to be faced.—London Times.

How Much Is A Billion?

In these days we let the word "billion" roll glibly off our tongues as easily as if it were "hundred." We know that it's a lot of money, but how many people have any actual conception of the amount?

Compare it to minutes, of which there are 1,440 a day, and guess offhand how many years equal a billion minutes. Answer will generally range from 10 to 100 years, with only a few a little higher.

Actually, figuring 365 days to each year, the answer is approximately 1,902 years. Since the birth of Christ, only a little more than 1,021,100,000 minutes have passed.—Liberty.

Principal Warns Canada Protect Game

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 17—(CP)—Canada to-day inherits the bad results of the exploitation of natural resources without care for the replacement of what is taken, Principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's University, Kingston, said to-day in an address to geology students at McMaster University.

Natural resources which could be preserved or replaced, such as game, forests, soil and scenery, must be guarded, often by Government action he said. Nevertheless, direct Government employment could touch only a fraction of the total work of the country. Those natural resources which could not be replaced, notably minerals, had to be developed as wisely as possible and without crippling tax burdens. Mining areas must not be allowed to become ghost towns when minerals were exhausted. It was up to geologists, biologists, forestry experts and sociologists to work in close partnership. What mattered most, he said, was not money, but welfare of the people.

Churchill Gets Things Done In Short Time

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP).—Paragraphs about the people and happenings that make Britain's political life:

Reconstruction Minister Lord Woolton told a press luncheon he had once lived three years in the slums of Liverpool, an experience that taught him good homes mean more than "all these nobler schemes of reforming the new world".... Within three hours of his return from Africa, Winston Churchill had waded through a big pile of urgent papers, dictated a score of memoranda, seen a dozen government advisers, conferred with members of the War Cabinet, answered a dozen questions in the Commons, lunched with the King at Buckingham palace.

Parliament is sitting an extra day a week because of the heavy legislative program confronting members. It may be raised to a five day week later.

Lord Simon, the Lord Chancellor, has brought forth what is probably one of the strangest official publications on record: It tells those with pensions grievances the best way to appeal against the government, even reminds the appellant to claim his expenses. The cost: Two cents....One politician with a flair for figures estimated after the latest vote of credit that the war has cost the average Briton £560 (about $2,500).

Tabled by Cmdr. O. Locker-Lampson, Conservative M.P., was this motion: "That this house is of the opinion that there might not have been a war in 1914 or in 1940 had not Germany built and widened the Kiel canal, and that a condition of peace with Germany must be the filling in of this canal and its plowing up for agricultural purposes."

Latest political party to spring up is the Democratic Party, baby of elderly Maj. Norman Leith-Hay-Clark. Among its proposals: Creation of a third House of Parliament to be called the House of Achievement, an $11,000 ceiling on incomes, a limit of 2,500 acres on land-ownership in the country, a 10-acre limit in towns."

They added that "nobody will prevent organized labor from using on a Provincial, Federal, or even international scale, the power with which it has been entrusted."

Gagnon Protests CBC Treatment

QUEBEC, Feb. 17—(CP)—Onesime Gagnon (Un-Matane) protested in the Legislative Assembly yesterday against what he termed "the false and damaging" account given by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation of his address in the Legislature last Thursray on transportation facilities in the lower St. Lawrence region.

Speaking on a question of privilege, Mr. Gagnon said his motion concerning tabling of correspondence dealing with transportation in the area was "well received" in the assembly and supported by all members. He quoted the CBC in a broadcast Thursday night as saying:

"Hon. Onesime Gagnon said in the Legislative Assembly yesterday that the St. Lawrence river had been better protected and that no ship had been torpedoed. On the other hand, Hon. Perreault Casgrain, member for Gaspe-North, asked that the Gulf and Terminal Railway be bought by the Canadian National Railways."

Mr. Gagnon added that the CBC report was incorrect in that it was not complete and credited Mr. Casgrain with what Mr. Gagnon had proposed. He said he had protested to the CBC and had been told the report came from The Canadian Press.

Mr. Gagnon added that he had seen The Canadian Press report "which was perfectly correct."

"I want to protest against the fact the CBC has misrepresented the facts," he concluded.

Church Paper Carried Article

LONDON, Feb. 17 — (CP) — Information Minister Brendan Bracken said in the House of Commons to-day that a recent article in a Church of England newspaper calling for a fourth term for President Roosevelt had not been subject to censorship.

"The newspaper that printed the article was one of five Church of England newspapers, and does not claim to be the official voice of the Church," Bracken said. He spoke in reply to a question.

Asked whether he was doing "everything to make the matter clear in the United States," the minister replied:

"Although this is not exactly a function of government this point has been well put by various American newspapers which have observed that ecclesiastical newspapers ought not to dabble in politics."

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.— (AP).—The news from Florida that Joe Tinker is winning his battle with a serious illness isn't entirely unexpected..Joe never was a fellow to lose fights, although he and Johnny Evers might not agree on the outcome of their famous scraps.... when they formed the Cubs' great infield combination, Tinker and Evers didn't speak to each other for two years because every time they exchanged words they wound up in a fight....In later years they used to laugh together over their ball field battles until they'd almost come to blows again arguing over who started the scrap.

Real Inside Ball.

Since they were fighting to win ball games, the bicker kept Evers and Tinker on edge instead of ruining their teamwork....In fact, one of their greatest plays depended upon perfect timing and they worked it on Sam Crawford once with disastrous results to Detroit in the world series of 1907 or '08....Crawford was on second and a run might have meant the ball game....Tinker kept dashing over to hold Sam close to the bag and once he got there first, yelling for the ball..But Catcher Johnny Kling didn't throw and Joe stood there, growling and kicking up dust while Crawford again took his lead....As Joe passed behind Sam to resume his position, he remarked: "You're a lucky guy If Kling had thrown, we'd have caught you sure."..Crawford turned to look over his right shoulder and make some reply and at that instant Kling threw to second and Evers raced over to make the catch and tag Sam before he realized what was going on behind his back.

Toot Little, Toot Soon.

This one comes from Moore Field, Texas, and will have to stand on its own merits....Sgt. Coy O. Brown was refereeing a red-hot basketball game between two soldier teams.... With only a few seconds to go, the Sarge had his whistle in his mouth, ready to signal the end....Suddenly the Sergeant coughed, the whistle beeped and most of the players relaxed....But the boy with the ball took one last shot and hit the basket squarely....That tied the score, and they the argument about who won is good for the rest of the winter.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Play for the Neill Trophy got away to a good start on Wednesday night when 28 rinks toed the mark on the 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. draws.

That the boys were playing for keeps, was clearly shown in the second draw. They went to town in earnest, handing in such scores as 18-7 or 15-3 or 18-8 and 22-5.

There was only one extra end game during the whole evening and that was on ice No. 5 when Martin Chenhall with his last rock on the 11th end removed Bruce Scott's shot stone to count game and rubber.

Another close game was the Hall-Lawrence affair, with C.P.R. Jimmy getting the verdict over the winner of Group A.

Stan Lowe pulled his game out of the fire. He was two down against Tom Ryan, going home, and sneaked over the necessary three points to win.

The games continue this evening at 6:45 o'clock and 8:45 o'clock.

In the ladies' section there will be a play-off for the Gibson Cup. Mrs. R. Turner's rink and Mrs. V. Selkirk's rink are tied with nine wins and two losses each.

One club will be battling in the last ditch in tomorrow night's Ladies' Basketball League card in the Y.W.C.A. gym. In the senior division St. John's are facing the task of beating the C.G.E. Generals and squaring the series or else will have to retire from action for the season. The round is a best-of-three affair with the winner meeting Transports in the final series for the senior title. Generals won last week in the opener and another victory of course would put them into the final playoffs. The Saints point out that they defeated the Electricians twice in the regular schedule and they are confident that they can do it again tomorrow night and even things up. In any case it should be one of the season's most exciting cage struggles. Normals were scheduled to have met the Y.W.C.A. Cadets in the second game of the intermediate best-of-five series but they were unable to fulfill their engagement tomorrow night and have been granted a postponement. The card will be filled up with an exhibition game between the leading Transports and a team representing the C.W.A.C. section at the Military Training Centre. This tilt will be staged at 7.45 o'clock with the St. John's-C.G.E. game following at 8.45 o'clock.

The energy with which the Welland Arena project is being pushed through to completion and the success that seems to be crowning the efforts of the committee in charge should supply a lot of needed impetus to the local effort to carry out a similar program. The Welland enterprise has been developed with commendable confidence and enthusiasm. Not only has the canvass been successful to the extent of $60,000 worth of subscriptions but the city council has consented to submit a bylaw to the electors to provide through taxation a further sum of $60,000 for the arena project. There is not the least doubt in the world that the ratepayers will endorse the measure for Welland folk are solidly sold on the necessity of a modern hockey arena and the bylaw is considered sure to pass. The Welland committee is so keen that it is announced that if the bylaw is passed construction of the arena will commence next fall. It is not explained how the project has gained the green light from government authorities permitting building operations of this kind during the war. Anyway however Welland will soon be in shape to start and we would be very glad to be able to announce that Peterborough was in a similarly happy position.

Peterborough Stars of Yesteryear

A couple of Peterborough stars of years ago, Fred Whitcroft and Harold Armstrong have been mentioned as worthy of consideration for Hockey's Hall of Fame. Writes J. P. Fitzgerald in the Telegram: It seems that our old friend, Jas. L. Sutherland, of Oshawa, not to be confused with the James, of Kingston, has followed hockey as well as baseball down the years. He writes agreeing with our Bob Hewitson, that the amateurs of the olden times—before there were any professionals—should be given consideration for places in Hockey's Hall of Fame. He mentions goalie Dutch Morrison, Toronto Wellingtons and Galt; Oliver Seibert (father of Earl Seibert), Berlin; Jack Gibson, Berlin or Kitchener; Bill Twaits, Galt; Roy Brown, Paris; "Reddy" Hinds, Toronto St. George's; Tom Phillips, Kenora; Harry Watson Toronto; Whitcroft and Armstrong, Peterborough; Charlie Cenacher, "Babe" Dye, Grindy Forester, Waterloo. Mr. Suhterland would go so far as to include the old fan. He says: "I hope when whoever starts picking out the names for the mythical 'Hall of Fame,' that they will include some old-time fan who has seen them down through the years. I have given only a small list of players and have not included 'Cyclone' Taylor, 'Newsy' Lalonde, or any of the old pros, but I can thi of dozens of others who, if they were playing in the pro game now, would hold their own and perhaps shade some of the stars now holding the limelight."

Ken Colling recalls another Peterborough ace of more recent years in the following paragraph in his Belleville sports column: "Although they were potting goals almost at will when the "Bombers" beat the "Mohawks" in one of those all-out service league games last night, plenty of good hockey was thoroughly enjoyed even if the Bombers won something like 13 to 9. The score indicates the game—it was wide open with only two minor penalties being called. However, the puzzling part of the Bombers is the fact they boast of the best team in the league, that is on paper, but still they are in third place. They have one former N.H.L. player and five who played senior hockey last season. Skipper Lalonde introduced a new defenceman on the roster of the Mohawks last night and this lad from Western Canada was the talk of the arena patrons. He reminded one of Barnes, who came down out of Calgary to play with Peterborough a few seasons back and was a sensation. The Mohawks' new find is also from Calgary way, his name is Clements and we felt he is a better stickhandler than was Barnes. Last night Clements scored a couple and set up enough perfect passes to almost win the game singlehanded. He's worth dropping around to see in action Thursday."

Ladies Come First

The ladies of the turf were the first to nominate for the 70th Kentucky Derby. Miss Beatrice Macguire, daughter of the Vice-President of the Empire City track, named her filly, Bee Mac, bred by E. R. Bradley, so far back as August. And only a short time later, Ruth W. Collins, of Honolulu, nominated her Hawaiian bred Kope Kona. Unfortunately, Bee Mac was injured later in a race at Pimlico, and retired for the year. The injury is suhch that her brilliant speed perhaps has been permanently dulled, and she may never race again. The nomination of Kope Kona took the Churchill Downs officials by surprise. They never had heard of the horse, but inquiry developed that he was formally registered with the Jockey Club. He is a bay colt by Loaa-Aumiha, but never has started, Honolulu being closed to racing since the war. As soon as Miss Collins was notified that the entry would be accepted, she shipped Kope Kona and four other Hawaiian horses to Churchill Downs where they now are getting mild workouts under supervision of Trainer John A. Carroll. The horses served as something like ballast in a boat returning from Honolulu. Inasmuch as shipments to Hawaii are limited to essential war materials, the Collins horses will be kept in the States until the war is over.

The Public School Hockey League struggle for playoff positions is still providing plenty of interest. King George School is safe in first place of course, having gone through the schedule without a loss but there is the keenest kind of a fight for second place and the right to meet the East City team in the final series for the championship. One team was eliminated from the race Wednesday when Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary schools clashed at the C.G.E. rink in a crucial game that was hard-fought and finally won by the Queen Alexandra team 4 to 2. As a result Queen Mary team is out for the season. The win was highly popular down around the King Edward School for the victory by Queen Alexandra brought the south-end team back in the running. Queen Alexandra and King Edward are now tied for second spot and they will meet Saturday morning to settle the argument. The winner will clash with King George for the championship.

Peterboro Rink Loses In Oshawa Spiel

OSHAWA, Feb. 17—Finishing at an early hour yesterday, the Cobourg rink skipped by Joe McTague emerged victorious in the district playoffs of the Colts bonspiel entries held at Oshawa Curling Club.

Twelve rinks from Oshawa and neighboring clubs competed for the right to represent this district in the Ontario Colts competition (curlers of less than seven years' experience), and keen competition prevailed. McTague's Cobourg four defeated Bill Trewin's Oshawa rink in the final match, taking the last two ends after the home club foursome had come from far behind to tie the count. Lindsay, Cobourg, Peterborough, Beaverton, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls all had entries in the event. Two Lindsay rinks emerged in the final bracket of the consolation event, but owing to the late hour, the prize was decided on total scores, F. Speer's rink thus winning the honors.

Mrs. Shaw's Will

LONDON, Feb. 17 (CP-Reuters)—Mrs. George Bernard Shaw, wife of the playwright, in her £154,950 will, published yesterday, instructed that certain money be used for helping people with vulgarities of speech and for furthering the art of social intercourse. She said in the will that she had many opportunities of observing how the most highly-instructed and capable persons had their efficiency defeated for want of organized training for personal contacts.

13 Rinks Still Unbeaten In Big Bonspiel

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—As the 128 teams taking part in the 17th annual Ontario Bonspiel swung into the second and decisive half of the big meet today only 13 of the rinks had yet to lose a game. And with third-round play resuming for the Royal York and Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Trophies, this number was certain to be reduced by the end of the day's activities.

Latest casualty was E. H. Pooler's Toronto Granite quartet, which dropped a tough 8-6 decision to Ed Young's revived Toronto Royals in the first third-round match of the Birks event. Other unbeaten rinks remained untested in yesterday's two evening draws in which competition was confined to consolation events for the Waterloo Association and North American Life Trophies.

Two extra-end matches featured first-round play for the Waterloo Trophy with J. E. Hardy, Chatham, edging R. B. Ness' Kingston rink, 12-11, and W. S. Campbell's Elmvale quartet winning over A. Menary, Grand Valley, by an 11-10 count. The first round of the association trophy competition also produced two thrillers when J. F. Shaw's Sault and A. F. MacDowell's McIntyre rinks used extra ends to decision the Hamilton Victorias skipped by H. C. Snetsinger and J. R. Rae's Wingham entry.

Interest today will focus on the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and Royal York competitions, with 31 rinks in the former and 32 in the latter event left in the running.

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — (CP). — It probably never occurred to Sweeney Schriner, an old man of 32 who should have known better, that in some circles a professional is not allowed to take money for playing hockey until he regains his amateur status. So poor old Sweeney has created a cause celebre likely to put hockey officialdom through the wringer and hang it out to dry for all to see.

Schriner is a business man who has traded his hockey services during these past dozen years for good old jingle-jangle. So the other day, figuring ways and means of making the next payment on his annuities, Sweeney took an offer from Vancouver and left Calgary to play with St. Regis in the British Columbia senior final.

We don't know how much dough he received, but he gave good value and in three games scored 6 goals and a flock of assists, even though the Saints lost three straight to the New Westminster Lodestars.

So what happens? The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association says Sweeney is a professional and can't take money for playing in Vancouver unless he is an amateur. They add the explanation that Sweeney is an amateur if he is on active service.

Now Schriner is all confused. He has been playing amateur hockey all winter with the Calgary Navy-Air Force team in the Alberta Senior Services League. But he is also an honest man and he admits that, although he has applied for Navy enlistment, he has not yet been called for active service.

The hitch in all this funny business is the C.A.H.A. rule that a professional automatically becomes an amateur on entering the armed forces, but reverts to professional status when he leaves the services. The question is this: Is Sweeney in or is he out?

The National Hockey League enters the picture with Managing Director Red Dutton's bleat that Schriner "can't do this to us. He belongs to Toronto Leafs, and if he plays civilian hockey he plays with Leafs or not at all."

Manager Frank Selke of Leafs puts it plaintively: "I don't know why Sweeney didn't play for us. He could have made good money."

Settlement will require a Solomon. That wise old character probably would call Coley Hall of Vancouver, Lloyd Turner of Calgary, Frank Sargent of the C.A.H.A., Dutton and Selke into conference. Schriner would be laid out peacefully on an operation table. Old Sol would propose to divide Sweeney into five equal parts and the man (excluding Schriner) who howled loudest would be awarded first claim.

Plazas Victors Over Grove 5-4

Peterborough Plazas skated to a fast 5-4 win over the Grove School first hockey team, in an exciting game played at Lakefield on Tuesday night. At one time leading 5-1 the Petes were almost forced into a tie as the Grove came right back with three goals by Johnny Giroux. Andy Harris counted the first marker early in the opening period. Peterborough goals were scored by Kennedy, Daly 2, and Berkely 2.

The Peterborough club packed too much speed and power for the Lakefield team, playing a tight, close-checking game all the way through. Eight penalties were handed out by Referee Georgie Birch, five of them to the Peterborough team. But despite the fact that they had the edge in numbers, the Grove players seemed unable to cope with the heavy-hitting Peterborough defence, and did not get going until the final period.

Hamilton Routs Toronto Sailors In O.H.A. Game

By The Canadian Press

In a Senior O.H.A. fixture without penalties last night at Hamilton, the Majors turned it on against Toronto Navy to register a 12-2 rout in which the locals' scoring headliners piled up their points in profusion. With this one-sided flourish, Hamilton came to within five notches of the league-leading St. Catharines Saints.

Johnny Conick led the scoring procession with four goals and next in line were Doug Runions, three; Clarence Shillington and Davey with two and Dillon Brady, a single. The Navy's isolated snipers were Livingstone and Bus Benson. Majors made it 4-0 in the first period, 7-1 in the second and rounded out the encounter 10 goals to the good.

In group 2 of the Junior "A" series, St. Catharines Falcons blanked Kroehlers 6-0 at Stratford to take over the division leadership and Phillips was the scoring star with three goals, Barber, F. Long and Peterson dividing the remainder. Falcons found the net for two in each period.

Marlboros and Toronto Young Rangers were booked for an all-Toronto tilt in which the reward for winning was four points but the local rivals, far down in the list, managed to make it a 2-all argument with overtime, nobody scoring after the second stanza....Lawlor and James obtained a goal for the Dukes while Dewsbury and Imonti divided the spoils for Young Rangers.

Lowly Hornets Tie Barons

By The Canadian Press

The American Hockey League's leading Cleveland Barons were held to a 1-1 tie last night by the lowly Pittsburgh Hornets who have collected less than half as many points as their opponents this season.

Barons now have 62 points—eight more than second-place Hershey Bears—as a result of 28 victories and six draws in 42 starts. Pittsburgh has won only 10 games and tied seven others in 43 starts.

Last night's draw was at least a moral triumph for Hornets, since the Barons have scored an average of more than four goals a game since the start of the season. They have won 17 games in their last 20 contests.

The deadlocked game was fast and rough, but clean. Not a penalty was called.

Ross Knifel rifled in the Wasp goal late in the first period, and Les Cunningham tied the count late in the second.

Tonight Providence Reds — the cellar-dwelling team—and the third place Bisons meet at Pittsburg in the lone scheduled game.

ALGIERS—(AP).—Six of the 11 bouts resulted in a knockout yesterday for the third day of competition in the Allied boxing tourney for service men. In a feature welterweight fight, James Holmes of Britain flattened Melroy Gamache of Minnesota while, in the same division, Tommy McGrath of Britain floored Timothy Clark of Los Angeles.

Some 50,000 unsolicited manuscripts arrive in Hollywood annually. These, written by patrons who see a movie and say scornfully "I can write a better story than that," are returned unopened because the studios fear plagiarism lawsuits. The studios, knowing that the player attracts more than the play (Shakespeare notwithstanding) adhere to the star system and this has created a story formula.

Novices either ignore this formula, which causes their scripts to be unsuitable, or adhere strictly to it, which makes them unnecessary. In Hollywood more than in any other place, originality is but the variation of the familiar.

The mortality rate among stories has always been terrific. This is shown by the report of Simon and Schuster, among the continent's leading publishers.

In 20 years the firm has examined 50,000 manuscripts and selected 723 of that number for publication. Just 81 became best-sellers, about the same number were utter failures and the rest had a modest sale.

Of the 50,000 manuscripts searched and the 723 printed, less than 20 were purchased for the motion pictures.

J. C. Nugent, veteran actor and author, wrote:

"Those who quibble at bad plays and particularly at bad pictures and forget the thousands and thousands of theatres which must be fed weekly and semi-weekly should also remember that there have not been since the birth of Monte Cristo thirty wholly original first-class books or operas. The supply must therefore necessarily consist of by-products and re-adaptations of more or less familiar fundamentals."

However, that isn't what the movie trailers tell us.

What peculiar human qualities go into the making of a movie star? Nobody knows. On "The Hairy Ape" set some players were being honest about their backgrounds.

William Bendix became a Federal Theatre actor when the depression closed his grocery store. Susan Hayward confessed that her only claim was that her father had been a circus barker and Dorothy Comingore admitted that she had been a barker for the Kit Carson sideshow museum.

Then John Loder revealed that he used to own a pickle factory. All he had left when it failed was a dress suit. He wore it to an affair at which Sir Alexander Korda was a guest and the latter gave him a job as an extra.

Today Loder is doing all right. Not only is he a star but he's the husband of Hedy Lamar.

About "The Hairy Ape"—it is being produced by Jules Levey, who hails from Toronto and whose family still lives there. Levey started out as a film salesman.

One of those Pete Smith shorts will picture the various types of movie pests who spoil your enjoyment. . . John Boles, who appears in "As Thousands Cheer," was an Intelligence officer in World War I, working in Germany, Bulgaria and Turkey. He would have been shot if captured. Boles became an actor on his return. . . The Royal Canadian Navy runs its own movie circuit on shore and at sea and 27,000 sailors are served weekly. It's an independent and paying proposition. . . Daphne du Maurier, who wrote "Rebecca," just bought the real English mansion shown on the screen as "Manderlay" — which isn't its real name. She, her husband and their four children have moved into four of its 70 rooms. . . Guy Kibbee's little boy asked the bald actor if he wasn't growing taller. "The top of your head," said junior when asked to explain, "is coming through more and more!"

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The eight-man National Council of Physical Fitness, announced at Ottawa last night, includes Maj. A. A. Burridge, director of physical education at McMaster University, Hamilton, as its Ontario member, other representatives having been named for all other provinces with the exception of Quebec. Maj. Burridge brings a life-time of experience to the new board for the development of a country-wide recreational program on which he has already devoted much unofficial time.

Maj. Burridge played his first football for McMaster University in Toronto prior to the last war; became physical training teacher at Lisgar Collegiate, Ottawa, and 12 years later was appointed assistant coach and director at McGill University under Major Stuart Forbes, subsequently being the choice as head of the physical department at McMaster when the college was moved from Toronto to Hamilton. Each year he was the director of the summer school of the Ontario College of Education at Toronto at which hundreds of teachers took refresher courses in physical education. For many years Burridge has been convener of Easter junior teams under the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union; has attended various U.S. coaching schools under Hurry-up Yost of Michigan and others; qualified as a C.O.T.C instructor and developed many track and field stars, basketball, hockey and other players.

Dave (Sweeney) Schriner's joining the Vancouver St. Regis hockey team for the Pacific Coast League should never have been questioned, President Doug Grimston of the British Columbia Hockey Association said yesterday.

"Sweeney, being a member of the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve, was eligible," said Mr. Grimston.

Mr. Grimston added he had wired President Frank Sargent of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association at Port Arthur asking him to lift the suspensions on Schriner and the St. Regis Club.

(In Port Arthur yesterday Frank Sargent said the C.A.H.A. did not consider a hockey player on divisional strength or awaiting his call as being on active service. He acknowledged receipt of Mr. Grimston's wire but did not indicate what action, if any, would be taken on the request.)

Schriner, a former professional with Toronto Maple Leafs, came to Vancouver after playing with the Alberta Garrison Hockey League as a member of the Calgary Navy squad. He played again with the Navy team last night, the Navy-Mustangs being blanked 4-0 by Calgary Currie Army.

Schriner was branded as ineligible to play with the St. Regis team because he had not fulfilled the residence requirements. Later his military status was questioned. Regulations permit professionals to play as amateurs in service teams once they are on active service.

WITH DODGERS—Catcher Ray Hayworth, 39, former catcher of the Detroit Tigers and out of baseball most of last year, has been signed by the Dodgers, with which team he started last season. Hayworth makes the 30th member of the Dodger roster.

First Defeat

WINNIPEG—(CP). — Ken Watson's nifty rink from the Winnipeg Strathcona rink suffered its first defeat in the 1944 Manitoba bonspiel here last night when he dropped a 14-4 decision to clubmate, Leo Johnson, in the semi-finals of the British Consols event. Both Watson and Johnson are former Dominion curling champions.

Watson's initial defeat came after he had registered 19 straight triumphs and won the bonspiel's grand aggregate title and the Birks-Dingwall trophy.

League Leaders Clash Thursday

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League resumes hostilities tonight after a three-day lull with Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings slated to clash at Detroit in a possible preview of Stanley Cup play-off competition.

Canadiens bounced into the head end of the parade from the drop of the first puck and Red Wings, while their early pace was tardier, still have gained enough momentum to move into second place—still a long way behind the Habitants but four points ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs, the next contender. The 1942-43 Stanley Cup champions currently are favored in most quarters to offer Dick Irvin's club the stoutest competition when post-season eliminations begin late in March.

Wings may even be close to an even-money proposition tonight, despite their miserable record against the Frenchmen. In seven games this season, Detroit has salvaged only one point—a 2-2 tie in Montreal January 13. Canadiens won the other six games by lopsided enough margins to compile a seasonal total of 34 goals against 11 for Detroit.

On the credit ledger, Red Wings have won nine and tied one of 12 games since January 13, when Netminder Conny Dion played his first game for Detroit after receiving a medical discharge from the Canadian Army. Another player discharged from the army, Murray Armstrong, joined Wings a few days earlier and has been a vital cog in the rejuvenation.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Just three years ago to-night Joe Louis successfully defended his world's heavyweight championship for the 14th time, by scoring a two-round knockout over Gus Dorazio in a scheduled 15-round bout at Philadelphia. Louis is now a sergeant in the United States' army.

Basic Need Of Canadian Agriculture Organization To Handle Marketing

An overall co-operative organization to handle the marketing of farm products was stated to be the basic need of Canadian agriculture in a speech Wednesday night by William Dryden, prominent Shorthorn breeder and member of the Agricultural Commission of Inquiry set up by the Drew Government, before a dinner gathering of the Peterborough County Shorthorn Breeders' Association at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Dryden, the featured speaker of the meeting, which was largely attended by members of the association and a number of prominent citizens, said that though no one could put his finger on the basic troubles of agriculture, one fact stood out consistently in every review of the formers' problems; agriculture was not fairly compensated for the efforts and brains that necessarily went into farm operations. "That is the main thing that is wrong," he said, "if one is looking at results."

He advocated as the cure for this situation a determined effort on the part of the formers themselves to form and make full use of co-operative societies, pointing to the success of closely-knit industrial organizations in the marketing of their products. "No other business," he said, "looks after that end of their livelihood in so loose a manner as farmers do."

A director himself of the Sheep-Breeders' Co-operative during the past 26 years, Mr. Dryden pointed to the good work that organization had been able to do in general for its members, and specifically to its accomplishments in bringing about rises in the prices paid for products.

"All are interested in co-operation," Mr. Dryden said, "and most can be readily made aware of its advantages in theory, but to formulate a plan which will ensure 100 per cent co-operation and then stick to it is another task entirely." He thought that petty jealousies and personal grievances between neighboring farmers was often a major factor militating against the ultimate success of co-operative enterprises, and strongly urged that such feelings be relegated to the background in the interests of more important basic aims.

Referring to the work of the Agricultural Commission which sits at Toronto, Mr. Dryden stated that it represented a maiden effort on the part of a new, ambitious and energetic Government anxious to discover if results in dealing with farmers problems could be obtained by trying novel lines. Its purpose was to propose changes, make recommendations, but in doing so to avoid the error of attempting to dictate to agricultural interests, rather to learn from them the needs of the farming communities.

R. H. Graham of the Agricultural Department in Toronto spoke to the members of the association, emphasizing the abnormality of the present situation brought about by the war. He believed that the time was not far off when farmers would of necessity have to give thought to the problems they would have to face and adjust themselves to in the post-war era. With the cessation of subsidies and controls and the probability that a few years' time would bring about the recultivation of the European fields, there would be an inevitable drop in prices and contraction of markets. He lauded the production efforts of Canadian farmers that had done so much to help supply Allied nations with the vitally needed sinews of war and cited figures showing the tremendous strides that had been made in the marketing of livestock in the war years and particularly in recent months.

RESIGNS—A. St. Clair Gordon, chief commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, who has resigned because of pressing demands of his own business. He has held the commissionarship since April, 1939.

Saving Lives Comes First In War Strategy

LONDON, Feb. 17—(CP)—Lord Simon, the Lord Chancellor, said today that while every practical step would be taken to insure the preservation of historical and cultural monuments in fighting theatres no consideration would be allowed to hamper military operations for quick and complete victory.

He spoke for the government in a debate touched off in the House of Lords by a question raised by Lord Lang, former Archbishop of Canterbury.

Lord Lang asked what government measures had been taken or were proposed to save Italy's objects of historical and cultural value.

"The necessities of war must be put far in front of any consideration of special historic or cultural values at all," said the Lord Chancellor. "But with equal firmness I say that is no excuse for saying it does not matter how little attention is paid the preservation of valuable works of art."

Lord Lang urged that Allied commanders avoid playing into the hands of the enemy when military necessity dictated destruction.

Showed Patience

"I have nothing but admiration," he said, "for the patience with which orders were observed to save the Benedictine Monastery of Monte Cassino as long as possible."

He urged, however, that military necessity not be confused with military convenience.

Marshal of the R.A.F. Lord Trenchard said the suggestion by the former archbishop that instructions be isued to the troops sounded as though they were wilful vandals.

"We all want to preserve historical associations," he said, "but not at the cost of young life."

Lord Latham meanwhile criticized a speech in which he quoted Rt. Rev. George K. A. Bell, Bishop of Chichester, as saying last week that the bombing of Berlin and Hamburg was a "policy of obliteration" and "not a justifiable act of war."

Lord Latham said "those words ought not to be used against our gallant men who day and night are risking their lives to save something much more precious than any building—life and liberty."

Reds Capture

recaptured two important towns, Yablonovka and Taraschcha, respectively 10 and 220 miles southeast of Belya Tserkov.

Defeated here, Von Mannstein launched new counter-blows to the southwest of Zhenigordka seeking to pentrate Russian lines and relieve remnants of the encircled 10 German divisions near Korsun, but dispatches reported the attacks were repulsed and the toll of Nazi tanks neared 100.

The trapped Nazis were making desperate efforts to get out of the narrowing pocket with their remaining tanks. All such attempts so far have been repulsed by Soviet artillery and mortar fire, while hundreds of enemy troops have been cut down by machine-guns. Thousands of prisoners have been taken, dispatches said.

Premier Won't

The first House comment on the McNaughton situation since the party leaders met to discuss the matter Tuesday came from Mr. Graydon who said he would leave responsibility with the government for deciding whether or not there is further discussion. The prime minister accepted and said:—

Bad For Morale

"I believe that the morale, not only of the people in these countries (Canada, United States, Great Britain and other United Nations) but more particularly the morale of the armies not of Canada alone but of those other armies might be very seriously affected were there to be a general discussion which went into a number of matters that have taken place in the past, the discussion of which might provoke a very serious condition of affairs if begun at this time."

In the short exchange which took place as the House resumed consideration of army estimates, Mr. King said he wanted it understood the government had nothing to hide and that Defence Minister Ralston for personal reason would much prefer to make a full public statement on the situation.

Col. Ralston objected to Mr. Graydon's comment that he (the minister) had not "told the whole story." He wanted it understood, he said, that he had never stated he was telling the whole story; and, in fact, had made it clear he was not.

During the general army discussion, Col. Ralston said that from March 31 to Dec. 31 last there was a loss of 1,500 call-up personnel through desertions.

He said the aim is to take into the army during the next fiscal year about 12,000 call-up troops, but that wastage among call-up strength at March 31, 1945, somewhere near the present level of 73,000.

When the House opened Air Minister Power disclosed the results of his conference during the past week with Rt. Hon. Harold Balfour, British Undersecretary for Air.

Four Motorists Struck At R.R. Crossing

Four persons had a very close call from death or serious injury Wednesday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a C.N.R. train at the Park Hill road-Benson avenue crossing.

Aldus A. Northey, 12 Anson street, caretaker of Anson House, was driving his car west on Park Hill road, and told police that he failed to see the train approaching from the south until he was almost on the crossing. He then applied his brakes and tried to swerve his automobile, but in spite of his efforts, the locomotive of the train struck the front of the car and pushed it off the rails.

Northey's wife and Mrs. Fred. Shaw and her infant child were passengers in the automobile, but all four occupants escaped without any injuries.

Damage to the car was estimated at $140. The grill was broken, the right front fender torn, the headlight broken and other damage done by the collision.

The train was in charge of Conductor George Palmer and Engineer Fred Varcoe, of Lindsay.

Printer Started 60 Years Ago Returns To City

"It was a lovely little town and barring southern Florida I have never seen a place much nicer to live in," was the comment of Charles A. Hawley of Winnipeg, retired printer and once secretary of the Winnipeg Typographical Union, who lived in Peterborough sixty years ago and got his start here as a typesetter for the Examiner.

Back in the city after all those years, Mr. Hawley has come East to see his ailing sister, Miss Lucina Hawley of Campbellford. He himself was born in Campbellford and in 1884, when 14 years of age, came into the town to work at the Examiner, at that time owned by the Stratton family.

Employed in the composing room for two years, he left his job of his own free will, spurred on, as he put it, by an uncontrollable urge to wander and see something of the world. And he saw a lot of the world. He had fitted himself for the trade of travelling printer, and in the six years before 1893 journeyed extensively through the United States and Canada, working for many a well-known newspaper and for some now defunct and only memories. Of the latter kind Mr. Hawley mentioned the old Chicago Inter-Ocean, and a few of the many other dailies he was employed by at one time or another included the Detroit Free Press, the Los Angeles Express and Herald, the Denver Post and papers in San Francisco, Toronto, Buffalo and other places.

Likes Kawarthas

Mr. Hawley is perhaps well-qualified then to express an opinion that should bear some weight regarding the comparative merits of this part of the country, having seen so much of the world; and with that express reservation favoring the sunny climes of Miami and Key West, he could think of no place that deserved a higher rating than the district he was born and raised in many years ago.

"It was a fine town," Mr. Hawley said, "and how could I forget the Kawarthas?" One of his most striking memories was of canoeing down the river and in Little Lake, a sport which everyone seemed to participate in in those days when motorcars and movies were non-existent. "And the fishing was very good in the Otonabee," he added.

Something of a musician too, this retired printer whose eyes see now only dimly could remember playing the violin in concerts at the old opera house, but recollections stored away in his mind for over half a century and combined with more recent memories of dozens of other localities made it difficult for him to point out specific differences between the town he knew and the city that he sees today. "George srteet, I think doesn't look so greatly changed," Mr. Hawley said, "but I am certainly surprised to see how the business section has spread out."

Old Union Member

Fifty-eight years a member of the Typographical Union and holding one of the oldest memberships in that organization, Mr. Hawley was secretary of the Winnipeg Local for five years during his long association of nearly 40 years with the Winnipeg Free Press. It was when his eyesight began to go back on him that he finally retired, and since 1933 he has lived quietly in Winnipeg. His wanderings may be over, but he still has the pleasure of reliving them in his mind, a pleasure he can impart with enthusiasm to his listeners, as he shared them with a later generation of Examiner staff members this week.

Versatile indeed Mr. Hawley has been, and in the First World War, when he fought for four years overseas, he contributed stories from the front to Canadian journals back home. An expert marksman in his day, he was on three separate occasions chosen as one of 20 Canadians to represent the Dominion in the famous annual meet at Bisley, England, for the rifle championship of the Empire. The years were 1913, 1914 and 1920, but the second of these matches was eventually cancelled because of the imminence of war.

Five Bingo Fans Win War Savings Stamps

Son Kills Father

DETROIT, Feb. 17—(AP)—Barton Tucker, 45-year-old war plant worker, died in hospital last night and juvenile authorities arrested his 15-year-old son, Harold, who police said admitted striking the older man with a claw hammer "because he tried to kill my mother." The elder Tucker died less than four hours after he was taken to the hospital with 10 gashes in his head.

PTE. ELTON HUBLE.

Pte. Elton Huble Hurt In Italy For Second Time

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 17—(ENS). — Word has been received that Pte. Elton E. Huble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J Huble, of Seymour, has been wounded in Italy, while fighting with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. This is the second time he has suffered wounds, having been injured while in England.

Pte. Huble enlisted with the Midlands in 1941 at the age of 20. Later he was transferred to the S. D. and G. Highlanders, and then the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, now in England.

While with the Highlanders in England, he was seriously wounded by shrapnel on manoeuvres, and was confined to the hospital for 10 months. Pte. Huble was later sent to Italy where he has now been wounded. No details are available as to the nature of his injuries.

Lt. J. Rogers Thanks Council For Card

Mayor Hamilton has received from Lieutenant John A. Rogers, overseas, a letter expressing his appreciation of the Christmas cards which were sent to the Peterborough men and women in the Canadian services by the city council on behalf of the citizens.

This letters follows:—

"Dear Mr. Mayor,—

I recevied the Christmas card sent out by the City Council of Peterborough from the "Home folks." It was a lovely card and the familiar scenes touched a responsive cord in my memory. I have seen much of England and will likely see more of the world, but believe me there is no place like home. Our city is the fairest of them all and my memories of Peterborough are always with me. I am happy to know I have many friends at home, and some of them I hear from occasionally. It all helps. May I be remembered to my friends the citizens of Peterborough. I thank you, the council, and the "Home Folks" for your Christmas greeting and your kindly act of remembrance.

Sincerely,
JACK ROGERS.

P.S.—Happy to say I have visited Peterborough, England."

Personal Gifts Feature Aid For War Victims

There is a richness of meaning in the appelation of "A Friend" which may range all the way from something that may be only just casual, to something which has a depth of meaning far beyond the scope of description by mere words.

The great lesson which was given by the Great Master through the story of the man who fell among thieves and was rescued by the good Samaritan, has been exemplified over and over again during the progress of the latest tribulation through which this world is passing, for while there are still some who pass by on the other side of the road, there are countless others who have stopped to pour oil into the bleeding wounds by sending money to care for their hurts, and are willing to pay more on their return if the need still exists.

This great parable very definitely stresses the value of personal service for the good of others even though they may be strangers, and above all it stamps those as giving such service to be genuine friends of those in distress.

A Friend Gives $25.

Of the many thousands of donations recorded in the books of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, there happens to be a great preponderance of those who desired it to be acknowledged in this daily column as coming from "A Friend", and when one comes to consider the richest of meanings this can give, for a friend in need, is a friend indeed.

To-day this column acknowledges a gift of $25.00 from "A Friend" who has passed this way on a number of occasions, each of which saw a similar balm left to soothe the wounds of those afflicted through air raids over Britain, displaying a kindness of heart towards those who misfortune has afflicted, which fully entitles the donor to truly use the term "A Friend."

Then since to-day's article is endeavoring to stress the value of the personal element and interest, so vital to the success of any movement aimed at good for mankind, it comes as a further assist in more wavs than one to be able to record a personal gift from E. M. Ethel in this day's list as well.

The secretary of the the fund would be only too pleased to call for any personal gift at any place in the city, and would again remind everyone that all services are given as a contribution to the cause, and that every cent donated goes on its way to Britain without any deduction for those expenses which one cannot avoid in successfully running a fund of this kind.

City Fuel Plan Ruined Black Market

Fuel dealers agreed this morning that the city's action in setting up an emergency wood pile drove "black market" operators out of this area.

"But, we don't wish to remain in the wood business," said Alderman Glover, chairman of the emergency fuel committee. "We feel that we owe a responsibility to the citizens to keep going until the dealers are in a position to supply the public."

The meeting this morning with Mayor Hamilton presiding brought forth the opinion that the city's experience was likely to be a help to the trade in deals they may make this season.

"We have about 250 cords of dry wood, and altogether 1,500 cords, and we've cancelled orders for another 2,500 cords. When we cut off one of the producers he took the whole lot down to Campbellford and sold it for $1 more than he would have got from us," Mr. Glover stated.

Turn Over Job

He explained that the city would have to replace its stock pile for relief purposes, from 285 to 300 cords. In another month or so the committee felt that it could probably retire and leave the responsibility to the dealers.

Because of the continuing uncertainty about next winter, it was felt that the city should keep most of the wood in stock because it was bought in the first place for an emergency, and quite obviously in the emergency had not passed.

Mayor Hamilton said the city could have sold lots up to 6 to 10 cords to people who wished to protect themselves against needs withing the coming year.

"We sold most of the wood in cord lots," Alderman Glover said, "but we found that the fellows with the sawing machines wouldn't go to a place unless there was a jog of more than one cord to be done. For that reason we did sell some two-cord lots."

The wood market here was beginning to get out of hand with panic prices soaring to $15, $17 and $18 when the stabilizing effect of the city's action last summer put an end to the gougers and restored the confidence of the public in their ability to get through the winter with an adequate supply of fuel at a reasonable price.

Alderman Glover commented today that the estimated wood requirements which had bee quoted last summer by at least one dealer in a discussion regarding needs for the present winter was around 30,000 cords. The Council had been keenly impressed at the time by the extent of the problem which that quantity conveyed. The fuel committee's experience had demonstrated, he said that this estimate must have largely exceeded the actual requirements.

J. E. Gregson stated that the estimate was at least correct for period when wood sold in the price brackets around $6, but would hardly apply to-day on the basis of comparative values of coal and wood.

The atmosphere of the conference this morning was entirely harmonious, and among the helpful factors gratefully mentioned was the winter's mildness.

Hold By-election

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—Premier Drew of Ontario announced yesterday a by-election will be held next March 20 in Haldimand-Norfolk riding to fill the vacancy left by the death last week of Wallace W. Walsh, who had been elected as Progressive Conservative member or the riding in the provincial election last August. The Premier issued a statement saying that the writ for the by-election had been issued yesterday and that nomination day would be Monday, March 13.

Saw Eight Canadian Tanks Meet In Battle With 14 Germans

Staff Sergeant Louis Jackson, 163 Murray street, is home from the war for keeps, after 39 months in the first go with the Germans, and 35 months in this one.

His wife had not heard from him for several weeks when he arrived home Tuesday night with a new badge on his tunic beside the row he earned a generation ago.

When his thirty days' leave ends he has to report to Kingston for an operation that will probably mark the end of his six years and two months of soldiering.

Sergeant Jackson enlisted with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps in August, 1940, and went overseas in June, 1941. He had worked as a motor mechanic on International trucks at Percy Edwards' garage in Ashburnham, acquiring an experience that qualified him for the R.C.O.C. with the First Canadian Army Tank Corps attached to the British Army.

First Chance at Repairs

"We trained in England on all types of tanks," Sergeant Jackson told the Examiner today, "and finally we got to Sicily. Our corps were using U.S. Shermans. I was with the Light Aid Detachment on recovery and repair, meaning that we had motorized servicing equipment comparatively close to the lines. If we could not get a tank back into action we sent it back to the shops that were set up maybe twenty miles in the rear."

"We had few tank 'do-es' in Sicily, but it was different in Italv. I have a vivid memory of one day we had eight tanks against fourteen Panzers. Our Canadians knocked out ten of Jerry's and had only two of ours put out of action. He blew the tracks off of those two with millimetre shells, but the crews were not injured, and it did not take us very long to get those tanks into use again. The others were scarred a bit. That action suggests what kind of tank crews we have."

Staff Sergeant Jackson said he had not only seen General Montgomery but had also met him briefly.

Monty's Visits

"He'd visit the battalion fairly often, gather the men around him and just have a heart to heart talk. He spoke to me when he noticed my ribbons from the other war."

Sergeant Jackson reported sick on October 29 in Italy, was sent back to Africa for X-Ray examination, and finally reached Canada.

"I don't know how much to tell you, even about how I got home. There are loads of things I could mention. I saw that tank engagement from about 400 to 500 yards. One place that was decidedly lively was Syracuse, but probably I'd better not go into details."

Sgt. Jackson said he had every reason to expect that the operation ahead of him would turn out successfully, and he is just about firmly convinced that he and the Army are finally going to part company after a long association.

Pte. Mark Davis, Teenage Veteran, Only Nine Months Overseas; Through Sicily And Sangro River

A veteran at 17 of the Sicilian campaign and of the Sangro River in Italy, Private Mark Davis arrived home unannounced Tuesday evening probably to be "boarded out" of the Army within nine months after he "joined up" with reinforcements for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

He left behind him in England his father, Ralph Davis and his brother, Lloyd, with the S.D. and G.'s.

"I got a heart condition from rheumatic fever as a result of going three days in wet clothing after the crossing of the Sangro, and after my thirty days' leave is up I have to go back to Kingston for a medical examination, and I guess they'll discharge me," Private Davis told the Examiner today.

He enlisted when he was fifteen but was turned back because of his youth. Still in his teens he was finally accepted, and from then on he packed a lot of action into a brief nine months. After a period of training in Kingston he was sent overseas to the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, and three months later he was assigned with reinforcements to the P.P.C.L.I., the Prince Patricial Canadian Light Infantry, a Manitoba unit, and three days after that he was on his way to join the British 8th Army.

It is now a matter of military history that Sicily was cleared in twenty-eight days. After three days' rest at Catania, Private Davis was on his way to Italy.

Met Jack Conroy

"I didn't know until I got back here that Jack Conroy was dead. At first I couldn't believe it, because it seemed such a short time since I met him. It was in a town in Sicily called Militello. I happened to meet some fellows from the Hastings-Prince Edwards, and I asked them if they knew a man named Jack Conroy from Peterborough. They said "sure we do; he's across on the other side of the town." They told me where I'd find him, and I got over there as soon as I could and there he was.

And was he glad to see me! He could hardly believe it was me. He was over there four years, and I was only a kid when Jack left. He took it bad for a while. I'm not ashamed to say that he cried a bit; maybe I did too. It was just like meeting a brother or a relative because Jack had worked for Bert Withers, and Bert brought me up since I was a boy. I guess anybody could understand how we felt at first, we were so happy to see each other. Then we talked about Peterborough and we celebrated the meeting with a bottle of wine. I didn't know until I got home that he was killed two days before Christmas. That was the same day I left Italy."

Upset In The Sangro

The crossing of the Sangro River, the young veteran said, was a memory that would never pass out of his mind.

"Quite a lot of our lads were drowned in the Sangro. It is a fairly wide river, and Jerry was waiting on the other side. We had all kinds and sizes of boats, and some of them tipped over. I was in one about the size of the punts we have around here. Half way across it upset. I don't exactly know how. May be there was some excitement to get across. Another boat picked me up, and it didn't seem long until we made the other side.

All I need to say about our boys was they were crazy to get at the Germans. That was what they had done a long spell of training for. The Jerries called up the "Red Devils" because of the red patch of the 1st Division on our shoulders. We pushed on for about fifty miles, and that was as far as I could go. By that time I couldn't walk any farther.

The End Of The Trail

In that kind of fighting you sleep wherever you are. We had no billets. You slept in the fields or by the side of a road, and you had only a gas cape and steel helmet. I was soaked from the time I was pulled out of the Sangro, and there was mud and bad weather. I knew something was coming on me, but I went along until my legs just wouldn't carry me any more. They flew me from Italy to Sicily, and then to North Africa. In No. 96 hospital at Algiers I was the only Canadian. It was an English hospital, doctors and nurses, and I was never treated better in my life. I left England fourteen days ago Tuesday night."

Private Davis said he was in close quarters with the enemy only twice, and it was not close enough for bayonets.

"I got the idea there was not so much of that in this war. But the German six-barrel mortars made things tough. They have to be fired by electric control, I was told, because their crews can't be near them when they go off.

I don't want to say too much about it, but there were some times when you'd call out to the pal next to you 'are you all right?' and there'd be no answer. Most of the German prisoners I saw were young fellows. They said Sicily and Italy were just delaying actions, and they believed they were still going to win.

Happy Prisoner

The Italian soldiers I saw were glad to get out of it. You might see a row of prisoners, maybe up to two hundred, and only two Canadians with them, one at the front and the other at the rear. They'd go along laughing and singing, and the main thing was to keep them going on back of us out of the way."

Private Davis said he "got quite a kick out of telephoning the Withers home when I landed in town. They didn't know I was coming, and they didn't expect me. I got up town and telephoned from a restaurant. They thought some one was trying to kid them when I said "Hello, this is me—Mark."

Youth Freedom Said Greater In Rural Areas

"Farm youth has more freedom and less temptation than urban youth," was the decision of the Central Smith Farm Forum, at the regular meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McIlmoyle, Selwyn, where a new forum is being organized. Other findings of the group were that rural youth lives closer to nature than urban youth, but that it lacks the educational facilities, the leaders, and the educational shows enjoyed by urban youth.

The radio broadcast, "Other Agencies in the Rural Community," opened the meeting, and discussion groups were formed. The findings of these groups were reported and compared when they merged at the end of the discussion period. The farm forum and its part in rural life was also discussed, and it was shown that the forum created a brotherly spirit and kept farmers up to date on farm problems.

Mr. John Kitney, president of the Confederation of Agriculture for Peterborough County, was introduced by Mr. C. E. Moore, and spoke briefly on the purpose of membership fees for the Confederation. Mr. Gordon Hancock, the vice-president, also briefly addressed the meeting, and Mr. Lorne Reynolds, president of the Jersey Breeders' Association for Peterborough County, outlined the work accomplished by Mr. Kitney.

Mrs. Roland Scott conducted two contests, and the Selwyn group organized its forum, appointing Mr. E. Miles as leader and Mr. Clayton Fitzgerald as secretary. Refreshments were served at the close.

Airwomen Master Important Tasks At Bomber Posts

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN BRITAIN, Feb. 16 (CP)—Active service on an R.C.A.F. bomber station or at Bomber Group Headquarters in Britain is an airwoman's dream come true.

When a rookie airwoman enlists in the Women's Division and is shipped off to Rockcliffe, Ont., for her basic training, she takes her inoculations, her aching feet and the discomfort of her first tight collar with a grin. Back in the barracks block, recruits sit around and talk about the day they go overseas—the day they will serve that men may fly in monstrous four-engined Lancasters from the bomber fields of Britain. The dream gets them over the rough spots.

At R.C.A.F. Bomber Group Headquarters and at a Canadian bomber station, I saw the fulfilment of that dream.

Group Headquarters, a nerve centre of Canadian bombing operations, is in an old English castle set in the midst of the English moors. From panelled and tapestried halls where once royalty were guests go out the instruction that will send and guide R.C.A.F. bombing planes with their crews over enemy territory.

The walls of what was once a high-ceilinged drawing-room are covered with large maps of Europe and blackboards on which plane movements are chalked up. This is the operations room.

Wing Cmdr. Joe McCarthy of Toronto was directing an "exercise," a rehearsal for a bombing, Cpl. Janet Ray of Maitland, N.S., and LAW. Marion Simpson of Vancouver were standing by a large table map with ear phones on their heads.

Tab Positions of Planes

As during a real raid, they were receiving directions on the position of aircraft. Marion leaned forward and moved a block representing an aircraft, showing that the bomber was nearing the English coast.

"We control all the flying for the whole group from here," said the wing commander, "and if the weather is bad, we can direct the planes not to fly. Wids and Waafs working here are a great deal of help to us."

Sqdn. Ldr. F. D. Smith, D.F.C., said navigation was an important phase of operations.

"All timing in a flight must be accurate," he said. "We aim so the aircraft will arrive at a specific target at a specific minute."

"Girls here feel they are doing a very vital job," commented their commanding officer, Flight Officer Engleson, who was Elizabeth Bacque of Toronto. "All the information and calculations necessary to make a bombing operation a success centres in this room. Girls who work here must know how to keep a secret.

Not all the jobs Wids were doing in the big castle were as dramatic as the operations room clerks—but each one is as important and the lives of bomber crews and the success of the raids depend on the Wids' ability to keep a secret.

WARDROBE FIRST AID—The magic of a perky bow or flash of embroidery on a basic frock is well known, a trick resorted to by the career woman os well as the little business girl. Doris Doree, young saprano of the Metropolitan Opera House is handy at making these pretty trifles and wears one here. It is a band of dainty eggshell tinted lace and organza which is tacked to the frock, while the matching bow is left untacked. She wears this on a brown crepe frock which she frankly admits is slightly tired after doing duty through the late Autumn and all Winter.

Skating Party Is Given Pupils of Queen Alexandra

A most successful skating party was given the pupils of the Queen Alexandra school on Wednesday afternoon by the Home and School Association. The school was dismissed at 2.45 and teachers and pupils went to the new outdoor rink on Aberdeen avenue where for three hours a great time was had.

Hot dogs were served by the committee in charge with three of the nearby homes being used to heat the hot dogs and roast the buns. Then they were taken in large baskets to the rink and distributed. Almost 75 dozen buns were required to feed the children.

Those assisting Mrs. A. Nelson, the president of the Association, who was in charge of all arrangements, were: At Mrs. C. McBride's home, Mrs. C. Althouse, Mrs. Wm. Lang and Mrs. O J. Hayward; at Mrs. Q McKinney's home, Mrs R. Kitchen, Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, Mrs. D. Tucker and Mrs. Jean Watson, and Mrs. G. W. Craw's home, Mrs. A. Nelson, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. J. General's Wife Samples Life In 3 Countries

By HELEN BANNERMAN

OTTAWA, Feb. 17—(CP).—Devoted to her home and 10-year-old daughter, Mary Eleanor, the wife of Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. (Tommy) Burns is busy making a "real home" for her husband to return to when the war won.

Mrs. Burns knows the loneliness of a home with the "men-of-the-house" overseas, for she last saw her husband two years ago when he returned to Canada briefly as officer administering the Armored Corps. Last spring he was promoted to a divisional command overseas.

The quiet house in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district where Mrs. Burns and Mary now live is filled with souvenirs of far-flung places where the family has visited or lived. Benares brass bowls, rich Indian rugs and an unusual brass table take their place beside family pictures in the Victorian living-room.

Mrs. Burns and Mary experienced the blitz in England during the first year of war when Gen. Burns was at Canadian Military Headquarters. Memory of the nightmare of bombing which visited their quiet Devon home makes Mrs. Burns appreciate doubly the quiet life she leads in Canada's capital.

"The voyage back was uneventful but it was nerve-racking because the danger of submarine attack was so great then," Mrs. Burns said. "I planned several ways of saving Mary if we were torpedoed and there was never anyone more thankful when we reached Canada safely."

Three Years In Ottawa.

In the three years she has been living in Ottawa Mrs. Burns has been a member of the executive of the Royal Canadian Engineers Women's Auxiliary and is one of the supervisors of the Women's Hostel for service women.

The excitement of far places has come often into Mrs. Burns' life for in 1927, as a bride, she accompanied her husband, then a major, to Quetta, India, where he attended the Imperial Defence College for three years. During their stay there were two minor earthquakes.

"But the life in India was wonderful," Mrs. Burns said. "We could play the outdoor games we both like so much."

Music is Mrs. Burns' hobby and outdoor sports of all kinds her relaxation. Her daughter shares her enthusiasm for both.

Mrs. Burns, only daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Phelan of Kingston, met Gen. Burns there when he was an instructor at Royal Military College.

Oilcloth Decorations

Oilcloth is coming into its own now, and its decorative qualities confined to the kitchen or bathroom, it is now bravely appearing in all rooms and its wide variety of color and design, make it ideal for decorating. Cute oilcloth lampshades are appearing in bedrooms, and carry out the chintz motif very well. Bookshelves also look smart when lined with oilcloth.

The possibilities of this utility cloth are limitless, and with a little ingenuity the housewife can think up dozens of little ways to brighten up her home. Oilcloth curtains are becoming popular, and look attractive with valance to match. Children's rooms are brightened and less work is required to keep them shining, when oilcloth is used as curtains, dresser cloths, and even wall designs.

Spring Styles

The beltless dress, with the waistline defined by tucking or draping, is shown in the new spring styles. Peplums and yokes are much in evidence in the late winter and early spring dresses too, and prints are the predominating materials. Ways to brighten up "in between" dresses include tiny bows, placed on either side of the neckline, or set in the sleeves while an easy and effective way to brighten up a basic black dress is to wear bright-hued accessories, or smart, glittering clips.

Furniture Tip

A thin coat of wax, applied to furniture casters, keeps them from sticking to floors in hot rooms, and makes them easy to manage. If they squeak, and stiffen up in damp weather, try applying a little wax to the sockets. They'll turn smoothly and easily.

Curtain Savers

To keep curtains out of the way of dust and to save them from blowing about when the windows are open and the room is being aired, sew a small snap at the bottom corner of each curtain, and about one fourth of the way up, sew another. When the windows are opened, it takes only a minute to snap the curtains together out of the way of the wind and the weather, and also of the dust mop or vacuum cleaner. The snaps are inconspicuous and real time and energy savers.

Dieting Through Rationing 1944 Slimming Suggestions

(Being Mary Moore's 1944 Slimming suggestions).

Some of the girls were taking their coffee without cream but I was purring over my steaming cup rich with cream when somebody abruptly broke the calm with "You're not so smart—you've gained weight this winter too."

And sure enough when I found a scales and a penny at the same time I had put on some extra poundage—five pounds if I must tell you all, and if I'm going to have to suffer streamlining it off I'm not going to do it in silence.

Besides there's a little lady in Indian River who has been waiting patiently for my 1944 version of how to diet though rationed, so here goes.

Excess Weight Comes From Eating More Food Than You Need

If your control is 100% I shouldn't have to say more; but the snag comes because it's such good fun eating.

If you eat 1½ extra pats of butter you have to walk 1 mile to use up the food energy it creates; same for 1 tablespoon honey.

So to become satisfied without becoming too well nourished is quite an exact science.

So that by doctor friends won't shake their heads at my rashness I want to repeat that you are far better fat than malnourished so you must eat the foods that comprise your basic nutrition— sheer off the stuff that isn't needed for anything but fun.

If you take the attitude that there are plenty of foods that you can have plenty of instead of the negative angle that there are so many foods you can't have your problem is half licked before you start.

Foods You Can Have Generously When Reducing

The frequent use of vegetables is both good for health and slimming.

In any desired amounts you may have: cabbage, celery, lettuce, onions, peas, radishes, spinach, string beans, watercress, broccoli, cauliflower, carrots turnips, —especially raw, BUT no rich sauces or dressings on them; however what you must learn to make is mayonnaise with mineral oil which is a delicious and satisfactory substitute.

Tomatoes, green vegetables and carrots are important because they are yellow and will make up for the lack of vitamin A which butter and cream supply.

Two servings of Fruit each day should be chosen from the following list: apples, oranges, grapefruit, unsweetened applesauce (or applesauce sweetened with sacharin) prunes,—and when in season apricots, blackberries, blueberries, cantaloupe, cherries, peaches, pears, raspberries, rhubarb, strawberries and watermelon. When canned fruits are used they should be well drained to remove as much as possible of the syrup.

Not only can they be eaten generously but some raw vegetables and some fresh raw fruit should be eaten daily to provide the Vitamin C you require.

One pint skim or buttermilk per day is an important must. Two servings lean meat or poultry or fish and one serving of egg per day are the bright spots for many food lovers—these foods rich in flavor are what we crave and can have plenty of.

Immediately the problem of rationed meat comesup. Don't squander your coupons on fat meat. Select such cuts as round steak or if you can afford it fillet mignon, back bacon with very narrow fat strip—which cut off, veal cutlet or shoulder chop. Have fowl once per week, preferably the white meat, and fish twice per week—this will make your coupons stretch so that you can have as high as ¼ lb. lean meat two meals per day—and if you are carniverous (who isn't) this is solace for a hungry if fat soul.

The way to get your daily egg and avoid the temptation of breakfast cereals and toast is to poach it and place it on a half slice whole wheat toast—this avoids butter, sugar, cream needed for cereals or toast and is good. I know for with that and an orange or a half grapefruit or apple and 2 cups clear coffee I've breakfasted for a week now—it's getting easier to hold in my abdominal muscles (my! I'm getting polite) too.

As mentioned above a small amount whole grain bread is sensible—but no more than ½ tablespoon butter all day.

Use Sparingly

Concentrated foods, such as bread, potatoes(unless small and baked with jackets on), sweets, fats furnish relatively large amount of calories—but they must not be eliminated entirely from the day's intake.

Painless Menus

Breakfasts: (1) 1 orange, 1 poached egg on ½ slice whole wheat bread, 2 cups clear coffee of cafe au lait—half and half strong coffee and hot milk.

(2) half grapefruit, creamy egg, whole wheat toast fingers, glass milk, black coffee.

(3) Raw apple, soft cooked egg in shell, dry toast, skim milk and black coffee or cafe au lait.

Dinners: (1) Broiled sirloin steak (broiled method eliminates need of fat)—1 medium serving 3-4 oz., small baked potato—eat jacket too and not more than 1 teaspoon butter, shredded cabbage with reducer's mayonnaise, 2 halves drained canned peaches, clear tea with lemon.

(2) Broiled calves' liver (3-4 oz.), stewed tomatoes, boiled string beans with salt, celery curls, grapefruit, black coffee.

(3) Broiled or baked filet of sole, shoetring carrots, spinach, tomato jelly salad with reducer's mayonnaise, pear and cottage cheese and cracker, black coffee.

Lunches:

(1) Consomme, lamb chop (well trimmed), head lettuce, skim milk, orange.

(2) Cheese Omelette, dry whole wheat toast, skim milk, sliced tomatoes, prunes, ry-crisp.

(3) Clear tomato soup broiled meat pattie, Brussels sprouts, dry toast canned cherries, tea with lemon.

Posture Hints

Pull in the old tummy; if you can't remember and find you relax most of the time, wear a shirt with a tight band for morning work; it will make you keep your tummy in and your back straight, and you will find you bend correctly when making beds as soon as your tight belt reminds you to "tighten up".

Walk with tummy in, whenever possible—leave ten or fifteen minutes earlier for the office or shopping or afternoon appointments and walk, walk, walk.

If you want more reducing talk write to me, telling me your special failing.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

A girl's best friend is a hat. Girls and women have no idea what they lack when they go without a hat. I am going to tell you in the following few lines, just what a hat means and does for the well-dressed woman.

Some women wear hats because...
A hat can be a cosmetic, a beauty treatment,
Almost a plastic surgeon.
A hat can pretend your skin is magnolia,
(Try a beige veil)
A hat can uplift face-lines that are downward bent,
(Wear an upcurving brim).
A hat can feign height (Ruche Hat)
Or vice-versa (Skull Cap).
A hat can deepen the baby blue of your eyes,
(Wear a blue hat).
A hat can soften a sharp profile,
(Wear a flower hat).

It will broaden a brow, balance a receding chin, minimize a poor feature, play up a good one.

Of course, you could, and many do, go without a hat at all. If you have the prettiest face in the world perhaps you don't need any beautifier, and blandishment, any lift, any flattery, any ornament, any help, any of the co-operation that a hat can give. One face in a million may not, but the other 999,999 will go for a hat.

More and softer suits, is the fashion story for spring. Suits is a big word in fashion's spring vocabulary, softer is another, put them both together and you have the big story of the new fashion season. The dressmaker suit, with soft, pretty detail, collarless cardigans, slim, straight and youthful, tailored types with a new softness of line. Suits utterly and deliberately feminine. These suits are being made of gabardine, wool crepe, and the more tailored suit in a wool with chalk stripes.

Suits are being worn now under your fur coat, and in the spring without a coat. These suits take the place of a dress, and yet remains a trim little suit, easily changed or freshened by a gay little dickie, or a dainty blouse.

The separate coat of camel hair. This coat is classic, practical and versatile, and best of all ageless in style, suitable for old or young or middle-aged. With this coat wear a smart hat of the beret type, the gloves of camel's hair yarn, and a low-heeled oxford shoe.

Question: I seem unable to find a recipe for "Fig Cake" using dried figs. I wonder if you would have one that would result in a nice moist cake, using plenty of fruit.

Recently I purchased some dried bananas. Can these be used in cakes and how? Thanking you, Mrs. George B.

Answer: I think I have the very thing.

Fig Fruit Cake.

One cup sugar, ½ cup shortening, 1¼ cups strong coffee (if you do not like coffee you may use milk—but the coffee is one of the secrets of the excellent flavor of this cake), 2½ cups sifted flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ whole nutmeg grated, ½ teaspoon vanilla or almond flavoring, ¾ cup chopped or ground figs, ½ cup raisins (or all figs may be used—1¼ cups). (½ cup molasses may be used in place of ½ cup of the sugar—this makes the cake darker and moister). Cream the shortening in the mixing bowl well, then add the sugar. Add the coffee (or if milk and molasses are used add them now). Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg, and sift into mixture, mixing with a cutting and folding motion. Add remaining ingredients. Butter and line with buttered paper, 2 small or 1 large loaf tins and bake at 350 regree Fahr. for 1 hour (or 45 minutes if small pans are used).

Banana Flake Cake.

Two eggs well beaten, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup banana flakes, about ¾ cup water or milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 cups sifted flour, 5½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup melted shortening or cooking oil. After measuring flour sugar and shortening, put banana flakes in measuring cup and fill cup with water or milk and let stand for 2 minutes after stirring. To the shortening add the sugar and cream them well together. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, then sift them into the creamed mixture alternately with the soaked banana flakes, beaten well between additions. Add beaten yolks and vanilla, then fold in beaten whites. Pour into 2 buttered medium sized loaf tins (they are best if lined with a butter paper) and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes. These make delicious little sandwiches if sliced thin when 2 days old and put together with Philadelphia cream cheese.

Question: I am writing to you for some advice regarding cocoanuts.

Can the meat be grated, kept for any length of time? Would it have to be dried out in a slow oven? I do not particularly want toasted cocoanut but any kind is more than welcome.

Would you like recipes using honey? I have many for its use, in all sorts of ways.

We keep bees and every month get a magazine which features a page of recipes suitable for the season. Now that the coupon value has been raised more people may be able to use it in cooking. I would appreciate a reply as soon as possible on the cocoanut situation. Margaret J. M.

Answer: The usual method of manufacturing dried cocoanut is to sun dry it for 5 days (where it is grown in Southeastern Asia); then it is shipped and further processed by shredding, canning (with addition to carbon dioxide) and vacuum packing. But the following are my suggestions to you for home drying:

Remove meat from cracked cocoanuts (salvaging the milk for immediate consumption) and peel off dark inner skin. Place on wooden board and dry out in oven of 120 deg. Fahr. for 3 hours on 3 successive days. Then either force through finest knife or food chopper or chop in wooden bowl with hand chopper or grate on shredder the grinder is by far the best method. Place in very thin layers on wax paper on boards, sprinkle with a very little powdered sugar mixed with salt (1 tablespoon powdered sugar and ½ teaspoon salt to each medium sized cocoanut) and dry for about 1 hour at 120 deg. Fahr. Allow to stand at room temperature for 24 hours before putting in wax paper lined boxes. I doubt that this should be made airtight but you might try covering a small jar of it tightly to see if it will mould.

Yes, we would be very grateful for honey recipes especially any for cookies or cakes.

DOROTHY DIX

PLEASING PERSONALITY VITAL

Girl Need Not Be Beautiful But Easy on Eyes, Natural, Avoid Freaky Clothes.

A group of High School girls write: "We belong to the common, or garden, variety of girls. We are just medium as to looks, and no balls of fire intellectually. What qualities should we cultivate to make ourselves attractive, not only to the boys, but to the general public?"

Well, I should say begin by making yourself as easy on the eyes as possible, because all of us would rather look at a living picture than a chromo, but that does not mean that you have to be Miss America. As a matter of fact, most of us prefer girls who are just nice-looking to the raving beauties who are so absorbed in admiring themselves that they never notice that we have our points also. Anyway, thank Heaven, no woman has to be ugly as Nature made her in these days when there is a beauty shop around the corner, and even a dumbbell can count her calories.

Wear Harmonious Colors.

Keep your weight down. Study your lines and give thought to your complexion and dress accordingly. Wear colors that compliment you instead of swear at you. Avoid the freaky hats and extreme styles as you would the plague. Keep yourself looking clean and dainty and feminine and you will be the sort of a girl that the boys like to take out and hostesses keep on their invitation lists.

Be adaptable. Learn how to do things. Fit into any picture. Learn how to dance and play a good game of bridge. Eat what is set before you. Join in the singing, or whatever else the others are doing. Help make the party a go and you will be kept in circulation.

Look like you are alive. Nothing on earth is more depressing than a girl who sits up like a stuffed doll that doesn't even squeak when you press it. Show some animation when people are trying to entertain you. Gush over their babies, whether you are allergic to infants or not. Admire their gardens, even if you are ruining your best slippers dragging around in the grass. And when boys take you out, give them a run for their money by enthusing over what a grand time you are having.

Be natural. Don't pretend. Don't pose. You don't fool anybody by putting on an act You just make yourself ridiculous. If you are a poor girl who has to work for a living, be proud you have the ability to hold down a good job and people will respect you for it. But they will laugh at you if you pretend that you are a millionairess who only punches a typewriter all day because you are bored with society. Above all, if you are a girl who seldom has a date, don't tell every boy you meet how many rich and important men you have refused to marry.

Personality Most Vital Thing to All of Us.

Be yourself. Just remember that the vitally interesting thing in every human being is his or her personality, the little something in each of us that sets us apart from all others and makes us different. Do not throw that away by trying to copycat some other girl who is popular, because you can't catch her trick.

Your play is to develop your own. A little girl, for instance, may look cute when she curls up in a chair like a kitten, but a big girl only looks like a performing elephant when she tries to do it. A girl with quicksilver in her veins may be the life of the party, but when a serious-minded girl tries to be vivacious she bores everyone to tears.

Don't try to be sophisticated and to have done everything and heard everything and to know all the answers. A young girl who drinks and smokes and tells smutty stories and who apes men who are not even gentlemen, is a monstrosity from which we turn away in horror. There is no other charm that a girl can have that is so attractive as for her to be sweet and innocent and naive, and for her to believe in everything that is good and beautiful.

Be a good listener. The short cut to popularity is to lend everyone your ears, instead of giving them your tongue. Don't worry over not being a brilliant conversationalist, nor quick on the trigger with repartee. There is nothing you could posibly say to any individual that would be half as interesting to him as the things he is dying to tell you about himself. And all that you need in order to get the reputation of being a fascinating companion is to say: "How wonderful. Do tell me some more."

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, February 18

EXCELLENT prospects for forging ahead to desired goals of major importance are noted in this day's sidereal operations, and all plans and projects should be pushed with confidence and enthusiasm, as the influences are expansive and generous. There may be objectives of public concern or benefit, with promotion, preferment and favors ready for acceptance from influential sources. However there is need for caution and alertness in connection with physical disaster or commotion, unless particular attention is given to safety, shunning excitement, rash and reckless acts. In sudden dangers or accidents maintain calm.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of great activity and progress in seeking high achievements or paramount objectives, in which honors, preferments or the friendship and confidence of those in high places is imperative. It is a time for forging ahead with assurance and trust, working for prestige, place and position in both public and private affiliations. Travel and change may be required but in this be alert to sudden dangers. Accident of an explosive nature may menace. Shun rash or wild conduct and preserve calm and self composure in such crises.

A child born on this day should have excellent endowments for a happy and productive career. It may be subject to accident or sudden calamity and should be grounded in self restraints and composure under excitement.

nutritive value of raw fruits, and the apple is a year-round fruit which is always available to the Canadian housewife. Leave the skins on the pieces of apple when they are cut up and put in a salad. They not only brighten up the dish, but contain valuable food essentials.

The following is a decorative and appetising way to take advantage of the rosy cheeks of apples: cut a grapefruit in half, and remove the skin from between the sections, and also from the centre. Into each space between the sections, place a sliver of apple, with the red side up, and in the centre, pop a cherry. The effect is amazing, and the fruits go well together, and are tasty.

Sring Hats

Hats are usually the first of the new spring things to make their appearance on the fashion scene, and designers are definitely "out" for styles this year. "Out" is the word, because the newest styles feature the little half-hat motif and are made of rayon ribbon rosettes, wreathe of flowers, or are small black or navy sailors, with flowers anchored on their brims, or with the crowns covered with blooms. The hats also seem to favor one eye, and are tilted accordingly.

Storing Rugs.

A great many women are moving into crowded wartime areas in order to be with their husbands. Since adequate housing accommodaton is not available, most of their furniture has to be stored. Care should be taken to put these pieces away correctly. In storing rugs, it is wise to have them cleaned before putting them away, and to sprinkle them with moth preventative. They should then be rolled around a heavy paper tube, stick, or bambo pole, and then wrapped in tough paper, with the loose edges sealed against dust and dirt. No heavy objects should be placed upon them when they are stored.

Shopping for Shoes.

Conserve is the watchword of wartime Canada, and every method at the disposal of Canadians should be used. Shoes form a great part of the clothing budgets of women, because they can make or break an outfit. To make their shoes do double duty, and yet look smart, a great many business girls are buying plain, well-made, pumps, in black or brown suede or black patent, and then dressing them up with clip bows in white kid or faille.

Spongeing Out Spots.

A quick way to remove the mark left from the soil of a fur coat, when soap and water are not handy, has been found. Use one of the new cleansing pads, containing glycerine. These lotion-soaked pads are a splendid dirt and dye remover.

To remove oil stains from a carpet, rub the spot with a clean cloth dipped in gasoline. Begin at the edge of the stain, and gradually work towards the centre, changing to a clean section of the cloth when one part becomes soiled.

If a spot of grease is spilled on a dress, try this method of erasing it. Rub the hands together until heat is created, then place one hand under the spot and rub briskly with the other palm. The heat from the friction will make the stain disappear.

St. Andrew's WMS Hears Reports

Reports on the annual meetings of the Peterborough Presbyterial and the Local Council of Women, were given by Miss Margaret Ferguson and Mrs. B. F. McNeely at the regular meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society, held this week, with Mrs. H. Tremain presiding.

The devotional period was in charge of Miss F. Dixon and her group, and passages from the Bible were read by Mesdames J. Finnie, E. Manning, J. Ferguson and R. Allan. Miss M. Moir, B.A., gave an interesting review of the chapter, "The Joy of Work Skilfully Done," from the study book.

Mrs. E. F. Reid read a letter about the bale to be sent to Oxford House, and reported that it was to be ready by May 26. Mrs. Ford Turner, accompanied by Mrs. R. B. Harle, sang, "Rest in the Lord." Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Trinity Club Has Gala Party

A series of amusing and original games was conducted as part of the program of the regular meeting of Trinity Club, which took the form of a Valentine party. On entering, each member was given a red paper heart, bearing his name, and the name of a group. There were four groups, named in accordance with the theme of the party, and each made up a cheer to encourage their members in the contests. The winners were given a crepe paper basket filled with red candy hearts as a prize. Ruth and Don Holmes were in charge of this entertainment.

A musical program was also presented. There was a piano solo "On Wings of Song", by Miss Jean Krough. This was followed by a monologue on "Bones", given by Mrs. Don Holmes, and Tommy Krogh played the following selections on the cornet, "Land of Hope and Glory," "Old Black Joe", "Pack Up Your Troubles," and "Tipperary".

Jean Donaldson and her group had arranged the refreshments in the ladies' parlor, and Mrs. Madge McWilliams poured tea at a table covered with a lace cloth, and set with red candles in crystal holders and with Valentine designs.

Miss Elva Elliott's group had charge of the program, and Miss Elliot, assisted by Ruth Holmes conducted the devotional period, on the theme, "Seek and Ye Shall Find". The speaker at the next meeting will be Miss Myrtle Sargent.

Bracken Club Names President

SASKATOON, Feb. 17 — (CP)— John Bracken, National leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said last night agriculture no longer should be the cinderella of Canadian industries.

Addressing a public meeting held in conjunction with the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative Conference, Mr. Bracken said "In the past years business and industry have held a dominant position in influencing the Government's policies but now agriculture should be permitted to sit in and determine the maximum production and agree on a fair distribution of the wealth resulting therefrom."

The position of agriculture, he said, was the greatest social inequity in Canada. In the past 20 years the farmers of the country had received just about one-half the income of other groups.

Selection of a new provincial leader will hold the attention of delegates attending the party convention today, with the man most prominently mentioned being Rupert D. Ramsay of the extension department of the University of Saskatchewan.

Labor Minister Voices Warning

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — Though Canada is making a magnificent war effort, the war will not be over this year and the Canadian people "have not begun to know what sacrifice is yet," Labor Minister Humphrey S. Mitchell declared here yesterday in an address to the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce. Rationing and other inconveniences must not be confused with sacrifice, he said.

The United Nations have yet to put a force on Continental Europe, and the Minister expressed the view that "the darkest days are yet to come, though not in the sense of the dark days we've passed through." But when the war was won, he believed, "it will be won in North America, because we are the only people who have mastered mass production."

Indicative of Canada's degree of organization and the manner in which is was carrying on the war, he said, was that farmers' revenue had never been greater and industrial wages had mounted from $1.8 million in 1931 and $2,554,519 in 1939 to $5,222,329 in 1943. Employment index was up from 106.6 in 1939 to 187.6 last year.

War production in the United States was equivalent to building a Panama Canal every day. Canada was building planes three times as fast as the Germans could beat them, but while the submarine was licked, he said, "I'm not too optimistic about that. When a man's on the ropes I don't believe in being sympathetic with him."

He hoped he would see the day when there would be no such thing as selective service, but this and rationing had been necessary. He believed in "negative compulsion," he said, explaining "once you have powers you don't have to do much and people go along." In controls there had been a "revolution" in the pats few years, but he paid tribute to newspapers and others who had put up with them, including coal miners, school teachers and the gold mines. "You can't win wars with gold and you can't win wars without nickel," the Minister pointed out. "We were the only large producers of nickel in the United Nations and we had to expand nickel production and let gold mining go by the board for the time being.

Council Orders Additional Fire Equipment

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17—(ENS)—Village councillors, taking warning from a recent heavy fire loss, authorized the purchase of additional fire equipment, at the February meeting on Monday night.

Fire Chief Allan Clark urged that 300 feet of 2½-inch hose be purchased, along with a Pyrene extinguisher and small pump. This was supported by W. C. Grant, chairman of property committee, and H. G. Charlton. Councillor G. H. Graham suggested that 150 feet be purchased at present, and the balance later on in the summer if the need warranted it He felt that at $1.70 per foot the total outlay for the department would add close to a mill to the taxes.

Reeve Scriver and Councillor Reg. Doubt supported the amendment which carried.

Councillor Grant suggested that Clerk Northey request the C.N.R. to make an effort to have the vacant lots beside their tracks, running through the centre of the village to the docks, cleaned up, as they were a definite menace to the health of the village as well as an eyesore and detriment to the town as a whole.

Village Playground

Reg. Doubt proposed that the lots be acquired by the village and cleaned up, over possibly a five-year period with the view of making the site a village playground with softball diamonds, tennis courts and bowling green.

Further discussion regarding the revaluation of the village was brought up with Councillor George Graham opposed to any action until a definite figure as to the cost of the job be procured. Councillor George Charlton was in favor of the reassessment but believed the land system proposed by T. C. Ephgrave was unnecessary to the village.

Support Card System

Reeve Scriver spoke strongly in favor of the card system as being the only logical one if the job was to be done properly.

The card system, he stated, would give all details as to size of lot, and buildings, as well as complete detail of the buildings, both inside and out, and was of the opinion the system would save considerable time in the valuation. The cards would always be on file and in case of dispute at any time could be referred to, giving officials something very definite and fair upon which to base any judgments.

It was brought up at this point that the valuator and assessor might meet with opposition in inspecting interiors of the buildings on homes, but it was pointed out that the municipal law permits an assessor to enter any home and provides a $100 penalty if his questions are not answered.

The following accounts were passed: E. J. Millage, hall furnace repairs, $11.35; Chief Samis, first half salary, $51.20; John Sanderson, library shelves, $60; George Hendren, taxi, $3.25; Pyrene Mfg. Co., fire extinguisher fillers, $12; James Hendren, streets, $35; Bell Telephone $5.23; Jack Young, 7 cords wood, $77; Municipal World, stationery, $6; Rol Coons, cutting wood, $1.25; H. Withers, sanitary collector, $50.90; William Loyst, sanding, $1.75; Stuart Peel, hall roof, $1.75; E. Podger, sanding, $1.75; Silas Graham, sanding, $1.75; William Ruttle, streets, $18.38; Chief Samis, salary, $51.20; E. H. Northey, January salary, $50; Thomas Chaplin, stamps, $3; W. J. Charlton, coal, fire department, $1.75; E. H. Northey, paper, stationery, $5.10; Percy McFadden, sanding, $10.50; S. J. Charlton, renewal bond, clerk, $34; Central Garage, gas for fire department, $29.57; W. A. Payne, ax handle, 65c; Hydro Electric, hall, streets, $147.14; William Edwards, hauling wood, $14; Stan Richardson, gravel, $75.60; Whillier Co., stationery, $25.39; N. A. Moore, lumber for library, $46.34; Chief Samis, car expenses, $12. Total $842.75.

Councillor W. C. Grant supported the complete revaluation plan as something that was very necessary, but felt the village upon further consultation with Mr. Ephgrave might obtain some definite figure as to cost.

Councillor Reg. Doubt stated that if the revaluation were made that it should be done properly, using the card system and by an expert who, though possibly more expensive, would in the end be justified. He suggested that if the job were too costly for the village for one year, that it be spread over two years.

The result was that W. C. Grant and Reg. Doubt were appointed to interview Mr. Ephgrave to see if he could not give the village some fairly reasonable figure for the job.

During January Chief Samis reported six police court cases, involving speeding and failing to stop at stop streets, particularly Highway 28, brought fines of $26.75 and costs of $17.25.

He stressed the fact that there would be a rigid check-up on the obeying of stopping at stop streets. The Chief also reported that in the recent Theodore Crawford robbery, all of the $400 loot was recovered except a few packages of cigarettes. Four youths received 6 to 18 months in jail for the job.

Bracken Policy

SASKATOON, Feb. 17 (CP) — A new national policy for Canada, providing for maximum production, full employment, fair prices for agriculture and fair wages for labor "without the loss of freedom," was urged here yesterday by John Bracken, Dominion leader of the Progressive Conservative party. Addressing the convention of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Bracken declared the new policy he was advocating should be so embracing "that everyone can get the bandwagon and feel that they are working for themselves, for their children and for the boys and girls when they come back from overseas."

Shaw Defends Ignorant Irish

LONDON, Feb. 17—(CP). — The Irish must wait until George Bernard Shaw dies before reaping any benefits from a fund left by the famous playwright's wife for teaching them, among other things, "self-control, elocution, deportment and the arts of personal contact and social intercourse."

Shaw made that clear when it was disclosed yesterday the greater part of Mrs. Shaw's $600,000 estate had been earmarked as an educational fund for the people of her native land.

"All I can say about it is this: 'That will doesn't come into operation until I'm dead'," Shaw told newsmen.

"When one reporter referred to 'the ill-mannered Irish," Shaw snapped: "They are not the only ones. What about the English and the Welsh?" Then he added:

"At the time my wife made that will I was seriously considering doing the same thing for the English—and would now, only I haven't enough money left."

Mrs. Shaw died last September.

North City Club Awarded Cup

C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steel Workers of America addressed a meeting held in the Co-op Hall, last evening, in connection with the Peterborough C.C.F. Association's membership and finance drive.

Max Hayman, chairman of the association's membership committee presided. At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Millard presented a silver cup to North City CCF Club for having secured the highest number of new members of any club in the constituency. Bruce Johnston was the winner of a wrist watch donated by Mr. Hayman for the highest individual score. After the presentation Mr. Johnston offered the watch as first prize for the next phase of the membership campaign.

Mr. Millard, in his address said: Canadians would vote twice, if they could, to provide, "the things we have promised our soldier boys and for which we say this war is being fought." The C.C.F. desired to fulfill these promises but there were obstacles in the path which must first be removed.

"It was not for lack of material resources that this could not be done; for instance, Canada has more oil in the North West Territories' tar sands than is to be found in the rest of the world. But the obstructions come from the attitude of the people who now enjoy power and influence in this country," he charged.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LEAVE THE LEAD THERE

FINESSING against the king and queen of a suit, when you hold the ace and the J-10-9 between your two hands, you expect to trap one of the honors while losing to the other. But you will not succeed unless you play the combination correctly. If your number of re-entries to the hand which must lead for the finesse is limited to one after the first finesse, you must then provide for a second lead from there of a card of the sequence which you can underplay in the hand containing the ace.

North: ♠ 9 7 5 ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ K 10 9 8 ♣ A 8 7

West: ♠ Q 4 ♥ Q 8 7 3 ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ K Q J 4

East: ♠ K 6 3 2 ♥ K 10 5 ♦ 6 4 2 ♣ 10 3 2

South: ♠ A J 10 8 ♥ A J 9 ♦ A Q J ♣ 9 6 5

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

Winning the third round of clubs with dummy's A, South brought through the spade 9, putting on the 8 from his hand, and the Q won. West also raked in his fourth club, then switched to the diamond 7. Confident now that he would get the rest of the tricks if East held the spade K, he won that diamond with the A, took the Q and sent the J to the K. He scored the diamond 10 also, then led the spade 5, playing the 10, which won. When he now laid down the spade A, he was chagrined to see West discard, as that left East's K high to win the final trick, setting him.

How easy that contract was if South had played the spade suit right. He should have led a small spade from dummy the first time, finessing the J or 10 to West. When in the dummy later, his lead should have been the 9, underplaying the 8 if East ducked. That would have left the lead in dummy for a third finesse of the A-10 against the K and so would have trapped that unhappily situated card.

This hand embodies a very simple principle of play, but it will pay you to get it clearly in your mind, as the need for it is likely to occur at any time.

Wheat Exports Tremendous During Year

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 — (CP) — Enormous shipments of wheat have been made to the United States during the present crop year, apart from the 175,000,000 bushels which the U.S. Commodity Credit Corporation proposed to buy in coming months, officials here said on Wednesday.

Trade Minister MacKinnon announced in the House of Commons Monday that tentative plans to import 175,000,000 bushels have been made by the Corporation. No definite period for the shipments had been covered in negotiations, but it was anticipated they would be made during the crop year which ends next July 31.

Compared with the first six months of 1942-43, shipments of Canadian wheat across the border this year already are up about 86,000,000 bushels, although part of the wheat still is held in bond and some has been shipped overseas.

In the period from August 1 to February 3, wheat shipments to the United States totalled 101,411,309 bushels, the major shipments being from Lakehead ports, with a total of 70,356,205 bushels from Fort William and Port Arthur.

Transportation facilities will be a major factor in deciding the actual amount of shipments. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in a review of the coarse grains situation said recently that there appeared to be an "insatiable' demand for Canadian wheat and feed grains across the border.

Officials said that while the United States demand is keen, overseas shipments also have to be met and these are larger in volume than during the last crop year.

The Canadian Wheat Board already has taken action to see that shipments will be facilitated when the lake shipping season opens. Stocks of wheat is to be built up at the Lakehead terminals and box cars have been diverted to move grain from country points in the West.

Red Cross Society Honors Mrs. S. Wood

KEENE, Feb. 17 — (ENS) — The Otonabee Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society met recently at the home of Mrs. Sarah Wood, Keene, to honor her as one of their number who has given faithful and efficient services to our country in this war and the last war. The president of the local society, Rev George Murray, presided over the meeting, which included representatives from the seven work groups in the township. He stated that "when we learned that the Canadian Red Cross Society was recognizing such services as Mrs. Wood and her family have rendered, the executive forwarded Mrs. Wood's name with recommendations for such honors. We were pleased to learn that headquarters had so honored our recommendations, and sent this beautiful Badge of Service, and Mrs. Robert Nelson, one of your neighbors and fellow-workers, will pin this emblem of service on you."

After the presentation, words of congratulation were extended and the local branch felt quite pleased that Mrs. Wood had been so honored, which reflects upon the leadership and co-operation that exists in the groups. During the past year over 22,000 articles of comfort had been made and sent to the Ontario Division, which in turn has sent these overseas to hospitals and to members of our armed forces.

Lunch was served, after which games were played and a social time enjoyed by all.

Edmison read the first four verses of "The Heavens Declare Thy Glory, Lord," and the scripture was read by Mrs. W. J. Telford. Mrs. R. Pettersonne gave chapter 4, "Grace for Living Together," from the study book. Mrs. Downs gave a reading on Peace and Mrs. W. Nicholls read a piece on Christian Stewardship.

The hostess then served a dainty lunch with Valentine decorations and a social hour was spent.

Deserter Total Not Correct

OTTAWA, Feb. 17—(CP)—There are about 11,000 deserters from the Canadian army at present, said Defence Minister Ralston in the House of Commons during debate on the war appropriations resolution.

(The Canadian Press in its day report Tuesday erroneously quoted Col. Ralston as saying that there were 11,000 deserters from the army between May, 1943, and the end of last month. The night report carried the minister's correct quotation.)

Col. Ralston said the present number of desertions was an increase of some 2,000 since last May when the number totaled 8,958. He read figures showing the number who had deserted and the number apprehended between last May and the end of January this year.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

ALLIES REPULSE SECOND HUN PUSH

Bombs Riddle Jap Convoy; 6 Ships Sunk

Attack Continues As Fliers Try To Wipe Out Unit

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 18 (AP).—A Japanese convoy attacked by Allied bombers off Mussau Island in the Bismarck Archipelago has lost six ships sunk or damaged, an Allied communique reported today. The attack is still in progress.

Solomons-based bombers and fighters hit Rabaul, Japanese base in northeastern New Britain, Monday and Tuesday with 221 tons of bombs.

Vunakanau, Tobera and Rapopo airdromes at Rabaul were blasted in these latest of almost daily raids which have made the base the most-bombed spot in the South Pacific. Twenty-six enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged on the ground and 10 were shot down in the attacks, against the loss of one Allied fighter.

The Japanese sent 15 dive-bombers to attack shipping and the beaches at the Green Islands, which New Zealand and American troops occupied Tuesday. Six of the raiders were shot down.

On New Britain Island, American Marines pushed eastward from Cape Gloucester on the northwest coast. The Marines have reached Rottock Bay, about 27 miles east of the Cape.

Contact with Japanese troops has been made by Allied troops along Mot River, about seven miles west of Saidor, on the northwest New Guinea coast. It was southeast of Saidor that Australian troops recently joined American soldiers who invaded Saidor from the sea January 2. The contact at Point Iris on the Mot River may mean the Allies are moving toward Madang, the enemy base about 50 miles up the coast.

Nazi Officers Desert Encircled Soldiers
Reds Claim Drunken Huns Are Sacrificed

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 —(AP) — Nazi officers scrambling to board transport planes and flee the bloody Dnieper Bend trap, shouted back to their doomed men to "Keep on! Relief wil lcome," the Newspaper Izvestia quoted captured Germans as saying today.

It termed the desertions by Nazi commanders one of the most sordid chapters of German military history.

During the last few days of the slaughter, the newspaper continued, the weary and hungry Germans still fighting within the trap were issued a triple portion of vodka and sent, drunken, to die before the Russian guns.

Izvestia said that in addition to the 52,000 Germans who died there, dozens of Junkers transports each carrying from 30 to 40 officers were shot down by Russian fighter planes as they attempted to flee. It said that of the 3,000 commanders who fled by transport almost 800 were killed as the Russians shot them from the skies.

Navy Veterans Man Frigates Chief Reason Subs Defeated

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP).—The majority of the men aboard Canadian frigates on Atlantic convoys are battle-tested veterans and the Navy believes this is the chief reason for victory over the U-boats.

Take the captain of the Swansea, Lt.-Cmdr. Clarence A. King, D.S.O., D.S.C., of Oliver, B.C.

He was in Q-boats in the last war, was decorated for sinking a sub—and had in addition two probables. In this war he wa captain of H.M.C.S. Oakville when she depth-charged, rammed and sank a Nazi U-boat in one of the most thrilling submarine engagements of the war.

Captain of the Matane running with the Swansea, is Lt.-Cmdr. A. H. Easton, D.S.C., of Montreal, who won his award for gallant action against a U-boat. He has been in many convoy attacks, has peacetime experience at sea, and is a veteran captain of these convoy lanes.

Second-in-command of Matane is Lieut. C. M. Carruthers, of Kelowna, B.C., who once led a small party which captured and lashed down a number of depth charges which had broke loose during a wild North Atlantic gale.

Each contained some 400 pounds of explosive, and they were hurtling about with the pitching of the ship, any one of them with sufficinet force to smash a man's legs like matchsticks.

'Going into action doesn't bother me now," said Petty Officer Douglas Chappell, of Montreal, an engine room rating aboard Swansea. "But it sure did at first .... and so did the sea.

"In the first two months I was at sea I lost 40 pounds. I was seasick, not used to the pitching and tossing, and it put me off my food even when I wasn't sick. Then came action. Once we were 72 hours at action stations. One night 19 merchant ships went down. We were hunting down subs constantly, and threw plenty of depth charges."

There are many other veterans on the lower deck; men like Walter Waychik, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., knocked unconscious when H. M. C. S. Ottawa was torpedoed, and regained consciousness from the shock of cold water when the second torpedo blew him overboard.

There is Ab. Arthur Coveart, of London, Ont., veteran of air and sub attacks, whose ship once picked up 180 survivors—"on the day after Christmas."

Marquis Loses In By-Election

LONDON, Feb. 18 —(CP) — Alderman Charles White, Independent Socialist to-day won the West Derbyshire by election, defeating the Marquis of Hartington, the Government's candidate, by a majority of 4,561 votes.

Polling in the rural constituency took place yesterday and the results were announced to-day as follows: White, 16,336; Lord Hartington, Conservative, 11,775; Robert Goodall, Agriculturalist, 233.

The House of Commons vacany was caused by the retirement of Lt.-Col. H. Hunloke, an uncle of Lord Hartington. In the last by-election in the district, in 1938, Col. Hunloke defeated Alderman White by a majority of 5,524.

While White's victory was not unexpected—he had been favored in pre-voting odds at 5 to 4—the defeat of Lord Hartington, heir to the Duke of Devonshire and future head of the Cavendish family, was a blow at the Churchill government. The Prime Minister himself entered the fight wtih letters of support and encouragement written to Lord Hartington.

The Labor and Liberal parties did not contest the election, under the wartime truce.

Repeat Victory.

By capturing the House of Commons seat, White repeated the victory of his shoe-maker father a quarter-century ago. The elder White also defeated a member of the Cavendish family, breaking a hold that the family had on the seat for nearly three centuries.

The elder White died two days before polling day in 1923 and from then until 1938 the present Duke of Devonshire held the seat as the Marquis of Hartington. Col. Hunloke won it in the by-election of 1938 caused by the elevation of the Marquess to the House of Lords in succession to his father.

Another by-election vote also was announced to-day. It resulted in a government victory. T. F. Hubbard, Labor candidate and former miner, won the Kircaldy, Scotland, contest to fill a vacancy caused by retirement of Tom Kennedy, former Labor whip.

Hubbard polled 8,268 votes to 6,621 for Douglas Young, Scottish Nationalist, and 1,136 for Harry Hilditch, Christian Socialist.

Indian Unit Relieved; Were Cut Off

Japanese In Burma Fail To Wipe Out 7th Indian Division

CALCUTTA, Feb. 18 —(CP) — The 7th Indian Division composed of men from all parts of India who for the past two weeks have been all but cut off from their supply base in Burma received assistance to-day.

A fresh column of British troops was thrown into the "battle for Ngakyedauk Pass," where the 7th Indian Division has been fighting on all sides against the Japanese. More than 1,000 of the enemy have been killed attempting to close the Allied supply road through that Mayu mountain ridge gap on the Arakan front.

The Japanese died while trying to crack the "box" defence tactics employed by the Indian troops east of the mountain pass. On every side they ran into a wall of concentrated machine-gun fire.

Front dispatches said they attacked repeatedly to fall back only when the Indians counter-attacked.

An East Asia Command communique in New Delhi said Allied forces were making steady progress on all sectors of the Arakan front.

Chinese Gain.

Bitter fighting was also raging west of the Mayu range, but Allied artillery routed several enemy detachments from positions in that sector, the communique said. Allied tank-supported infantry operating east of the mountains advanced and occupied a Japanese-held village, but another Allied column pushing down from the north was halted by heavy enemy fire.

West African troops continued their advance to the south in the Kaladan area, the communique said.

Dispatches from Thoburn Wiant, Associated Press Correspondent in Northern Burma said Chinese troops who have been victorious in 27 of 30 offensive actions during the past 3½ months, out-manoeuvred the enemy in the jungle eight miles south of Taipha Ga to occupy a village on the western edge of the Hukawng Valley. Another settlement north of Taipha Ga was also captured by the Chinese.

Plan To Wipe Out Bridgehead Foiled By Aerial Umbrella

By EDWARD KENNEDY—Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Hundreds of Allied guns thundering in unison shook the Germans in Cassino with a six-hour shelling to-day.

In one of the war's most intense bombardments in the Mediterranean area as Allied Headquarters announced the enemy's heavy attacks against the Anzio bridgehead had been repulsed. The guns poured a deadly hail of shells into battered and blackened Cassino in a barrage which ended a little before dawn.

The unleashing of Allied artillery power followed by four days the first air bombardment of the protective heights and monastery on Abbey Hill above the town.

Meanwhile troops on the beachhead, aided by one of the greatest aerial umbrellas ever raised in this theatre, beat off head-on attacks made by the Germans in an effort to drive the Allies back into the sea at any cost.

Enormous Losses.

The Germans attempted a frontal attack straight down the 10-mile stretch of road from Carroceto (Aprilia) to Anzio, apparently willing to take enormous losses to carry out Hitler's demand that British and American troops be driven off their springboard.

But they were met by a terrific smash from Allied air might, including hundreds of heavy bombers which carried out the greatest air action ever fought in the Mediterranean area in support of ground troops.

Showering the enemy with thousands of anti-personnel and fragamentation bombs and other missiles, the big bombers attacked all along just behind the Germans' front.

Clearing weather which permitted the air forces to take off in strength saw swarms of medium and light bombers roaming the battle area and striking the enemy almost at will.

Allied airmen carried out 1,500 sorties, in one of the biggest days they have had.

Although this had the effect of pinning down German armor and infantry, bitter fighting still was raging along the beachhead.

Besides making his main effort down the Via Anziate toward Anzio, the enemy also struck in the Cisterna area. Two regiments penetrate into Allied lines, but Allied headquarters said the Anglo-American position was re-established by prompt counter-attacks.

The Allies flew about 1,500 sorties 300 more than the previous day, and established a one-day record for this theatre. The Germans also stepped up their air operations considerably, flying an estimated 185

Partisan Units Cross Border Into Italy
Fierce Battle Rages Near Piave River

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP)—Yugoslav Partisan forces have stabbed across the Slovene border into Northern Italy just south of the First Great War battlefield of Caporetto, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

A communique broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio said units of the 30th Patriot Division had crossed the Isonzo river between Girizia and Tolomina and occupied the right bank of the stream. Bitter fighting is in progress, the bulletin said.

Tolmino is 10 miles southeast of Caporetto and Gorizia is 20 miles further downstream.

The communique also reported continued heavy fighting between German and Partisan forces in the Croat province of Zagorje between Ludbreg and Kopriviliva.

One hundred Germans were killed, the bulletin said, in a collision of two Nazi troop trains near Skpolje in Southern Yugoslavia.

Anti-Subsidy Bill Vetoed Action Sustained By House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP).—President Roosevelt today vetoed the anti-subsidy bill and the House of Representatives promptly sustained the veto by a vote of 151 to 226.

A two-thirds majority was required to override the veto. The vote was 226 to override the President to 151 against.

The President said in his veto message that the legislation was "an inflation measure, a high cost of living measure, a food shortage measure."

The subsidy repealer was attached as a rider to a bill extending the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which expired yesterday. Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem., Tex.) said the Corporation would b. continued by new legislation.

The legislation proposed to end government subsidy payments for food after June 30. In addition it would extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation until June 30, 1945.

Mr. Roosevelt said that it, in effect, would reverse a congressional policy and repeal the economic stabilization act.

He said no major warring country has been able to stabilize living costs without subsidies and that he did not see how the wage line could be held if the bill became law.

Once that line breaks, he asserted, food costs will rise still further and all their costs will go up, incuding those of munitions and supplies for the armed forces.

The President told Congress that the legislation would destroy the stabilization program and "I cannot accept responsibility for its disastrous consequences." He said he hoped Congress would not compel these consequences.

The measure, Mr. Roosevelt declared, would boost the Government's cost of food index at least seven per cent, and raise the en-

Japanese Report Landing At Truk

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Tokyo radio said today, "Powerful mechanized units as well as air-power" had been used in the American attack on Truk. "Fighting with our troops is now going on," a broadcast added.

"This present attack by the enemy is not the real thing, and it seems that it does not go beyond the scope of a strong reconnaissance," said the overseas dispatch broadcast by Domei agency and recorded by the United States foreign broadcast intelligence service.

"The main force of our invincible navy is biding its time until the very end, and, co-ordinating it with the supply difficulties that will increase in proportion to the distance of the enemy's advance, is now looking for the golden opportunity to destroy the enemy at one strike."

NBC quoted the Tokyo radio as saying Japanese "army and navy units are engaged in fierce fighting" with American "concentrations at Truk."

There was no explanation of what Tokyo meant by "mechanized forces" and nothing from any other source to support the implication that American ground forces might have attempted a landing.

Japanese broadcasts in the past have hinted prematurely at American landings, perhaps with the purpose of claiming they had been defeated in the event that they did not develop.

An earlier Domei dispatch quoted an imperial communique as saying that carrier-based planes had attacked Truk and "fierce fighting is now going on between our forces and

Big Jap Base At Truk Under Attack

300 Bombers Raid Japanese Navy Huddled In Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 18—(AP).—Japan's mighty naval base of Truk, crowded with warships, was attacked for the first time in the war at dawn Wednesday. Today official silence left open the possibility that powerful American aircraft carrier task forces had prolonged the heavy assault.

The carriers, protected by battleships, cruisers and destroyers, sent several hundred planes against Truk. One reconnaissance pilot brought back reports of sighting more warships in Truk's 40-mile-wide lagoon than "I ever saw at one time in Pearl Harbor," 3,200 miles to the northeast.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, used the significant words, "commenced an attack," in announcing the attack on the bastion—some 200 volcanic formations, bristling with guns, dotted with airfields, guarded by shore guns, encircled by a protective reef with few entrances.

This blow fell less than two weeks after conquest of Kwajalein Atoll, keystone of the Marshalls more than 1,000 miles east of Truk, a conquest which afforded a lagoon base for the most powerful United States fleet ever amassed in the Pacific.

Admiral Nimitz' cryptic announcement said the attack was begun by "powerful naval task forces...with several hundred of our planes participating."

Although there was no elaboration, there was nothing to indicate the escorting battleships, cruisers and desroyers risked the concentrated fire of Japanese fleet units and shore batteries as well as defending planes to move in and shell Truk.

At Washington, dispatches speculated that the Truk operation "may become a 'Pearl Harbor' defeat for the enemy with many Nipponese ships left on the bottom of that atoll's big lagoon."

These dispatches recalled 105 Japanese bombers and torpedo planes made the attack December 7, 1941, on Pearl Harbor, whereas the initial assault on Truk was

Germans Lose 85,000 At Korsun

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Germans announced today the evacuation of Staraya Russa, their strongest base between Stalingrad and Smolensk, in a broadening crackup of defences which seemed to presage the complete German abandonment of northern Russia.

The Red Army triumph south of Lake Ilmen came one day after the Russians said they had completed the liquidation of the German 8th Army trapped around Korsun near the Dnieper Bend, inflicting on the enemy his worst single disaster in Russia since Stalingrad. Marshal Stalin yesterday announced 52,000 had been killed and 11,000 captured from the 10 divisions and a brigade, picketed in the Dnieper Bend. Another 21,900 had been killed in futile efforts to break open the trap bringing total German losses around Korsun to 84,900.

3 Million People Desert Berlin

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 18 —(AP)—Travellers returning from bomb-shattered Berlin estimate that only 1,000,000 persons, including a great many foreign workers, now remain of the capital's one-time 4,000,000 population.

Bombed-out residents in some sections of Berlin huddled before bonfires for protection from the sub-freezing weather, returning plane passengers say.

The travellers returned with these descriptions:

Field kitchens have been set up to provide for refugees for the next few days.

The important elevated and underground centre of Gledisderieck has been badly smashed, halting the city's complicated transportation system.

Trains from the south and southwest are forced to stop 40 miles outside Berlin where passengers transfer to buses which take ther within about two miles of the city. Bomb damage is so great that the remainder of the journey must be made on foot.

Income Tax Plan To Cause Trouble

OTTAWA, Feb. 18—(CP).—Some persons may find they will have to pay more income tax this year than they had expected because, in certain cases, 95 per cent. of the tax may not have been collected at the source, a Finance Department official said today.

The 1943 income tax tables were designed to permit collection of 95 per cent. of the tax at the source, but this has not been possible in all cases.

For instance, 95 per cent. might be collected at the source from a person with a low income at the bottom of an income bracket, but might not be collected from a person with a higher income in the same income bracket, the official said.

Vandals Smear Walls Of Church

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.— (AP). — Doors and stone walls of St. Patrick's Cathedral in mid-town Manhattan were found smeared to-day with designs crudely drawn with bright red paint.

Police said the designs were in the shape of question marks with diagonal lines running through them Other observers said the designs resembled the hammer and sickles emblem of the Communist party.

Roman Catholic church officials and police hastened to the building, at 50th street and Fifth avenue, upon discovery of the deed.

In recent weeks vandals have infictaed damage of religious centres in other sections of New York. Gravestones have been overturned in cemeteries and churches entered and desecrated.

Two 12-year-old boys were blamed last night for $15,000 damage to the Bayside All Saints' Episcopal church. The youngsters carried a snowball fight into the church, police said, finally pitching hymnals and Bibles at each other, and breaking windows, light bulbs and altar adornments.

Polish Cabinet May Resign

Soviet Demands Become More Pressing

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—London Poles said today the Polish cabinet here may bow to Moscow's demands and resign, thereby enabling Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk to form a new government acceptable to and capable of dealing with Russia.

Although reports of a possible resignation were denied in official Polish circles, those in close touch with the Polish government admit privately that cabinet changes are possible to meet Soviet demands for removal of some of the members Moscow has accused of being anti-Russian.

The British prime minister was said to have sent one message to Stalin earlier in the week and now is preparing a second message, possibly telling Stalin that the Poles might be prepared to accept the boundary terms and order the Polish underground to take up arms against the Germans alongside the Russians.

Acceptance of Moscow's boundary proposals and an order to the underground to collaborate with the Red Army would remove two of the greatest stumbling blocks to Russo-Polish accord, leaving changes within the Polish government the principal remaining problem. Formation of a new government apparently would solve this last major obstacle.

Difficult To Invade Truk Stronghold

Loss Of This Powerful Stronghold Would Be Catastrophe For Japs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
Associated Press War Analyst.

Admiral Nimitz, after baiting the Mikado's navy for long weeks in an effort to draw it into battle, finally has reached into the great naval base of Truk—one of the world's most powerful strongholds.

The most significant aspect of this daring action is that the United States finally has the striking power to permit of such an operation. Just over two years ago, losses at Pearl Harbor crippled America in the Pacific.

As this is written we lack details of what apparently started out as a major raid on Truk at dawn Wednesday. The attack was opened by hundreds of aircraft based on carriers. A big naval fleet supported the expedition.

Such a raid, if highly successful in shattering enemy defences, might be followed by naval action. However, the original design of the execution seems to have been to give Truk a merciless bombing. We have here, incidentally, a striking illustration of what can be done in the way of launching a huge aerial attack against an enemy from airplane carriers.

Truk normally is a powerhouse of warships, planes and land defences. It's Japan's Pearl Harbor, for it was designed as the major base for both defensive and offensive operations in case of war with America.

Loss of Truk would be a catastrophe to the Mikado. It would leave a vast gap in his Eastern defences.

Despite the importance of the base, there's no indication thus far that the Japanese fleet has come out to answer Nimitz' challenge, and defend this prize. Certainly the enemy must have been on the alert for an attack, since only two weeks ago a couple of bombers flew over Truk and obtained invaluable photographs of the stronghold.

The Nipponese were quite aware of this aerial photography, for they not only cut loose with anti-aircraft guns but sent planes up. However, the pair got away and the Japs thus were served with warning that they could expect trouble.

This attack on Truk, coming so quickly after the success in the Marshall Islands, is a display of strength which indicates that there finally is the power to maintain the offensive which is leading to the Japanese mainland.

Truk is supposed to be as close to invulnerable as any base in the world. It isn't just one island, but comprises some 245 islands and its lagoon is 40 miles in diameter. It has unlimited facilities for a naval fleet, and on land can support a big army and air force.

There is a reef across the mouth of Truk's huge harbor, and this affords natural protection against invasion by water. Certainly any attack would have to be spear-headed by heavy aerial bombardment. Undoubtedly the base is defended with much heavy artillery.

Because of this, the assumption is that the naval fleet staging the present raid stood well off from Truk so to be out of range of the land guns. A sally of the Japanese fleet for battle, however, would be a welcome event.

Germans Evacuate Finland

Troops Believed En Route To Norway

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 18 (AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter, attributing its information to private sources, says the Germans in northernmost Norway are preparing for arrival of additional Nazi forces, possibly from northern Finland.

The newspaper, which said the report suggested German evacuation of northern Finland, also said the Nazis were strengthening defences along the Pasvik River separating Norway and Finland.

In an additional discussion of peace possibilities for Finland, the Swedish Communist newspaper Ny Dag said the Helsinki government might get out of the war under an armistice that would leave the conditions of a permanent peace to joint Allied settlement after the war.

The editorial cited the Italian armistice as an example of how the Casablanca unconditional surrender declaration works and added:—

"If Finland will break with Germany and declare that she will make peace, then it is clear to us that Finland can discuss conditions with the Soviet Union."

The newspaper said a change in the Finnish government was not a Russian condition, but pointed out that the Russian undoubtedly would demand return of the Karelian isthmus, now held by Finnish troops.

Labor Code Affects Most Workers

2,500,000 In Canada Are Covered; Labor Chiefs Approve

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Some 2,500,000 of Canada's 3,500,000 industrial workers are estimated officially to be covered by provisions of a new Dominion labor relations code which makes collective bargaining and arbitration of disputes compulsory in war industries and other so-called "national" occupations.

The code, tabled in the Commons yesterday by Labor Minister Mitchell, provides for compulsory negotiation between employers and certified bargaining agents. It prohibits strikes during the selection of a bargaining agency, negotiation of an agreement, conciliation proceedings if necessary, and the life of the agreement after it is adopted.

However, strikes or lockouts still are possible under certain conditions—after collective bargaining efforts have failed and a conciliation board report has been before the Labor Minister for 14 days without completion of an employer-employee agreement.

To Set Up Board.

The code authorizes establishment of a wartime labor relations board comprising a chairman, vice-chairman and not more than eight other members, and certification by the board of bargaining agencies representing the majority of employees in affected industries.

Other clauses outline conciliation procedure if negotiations for an agreement fail, and define unfair practices by employers, employees' organizations and unions.

National occupations, previously under the Industrial Disputes Inquiry Act but now superseded by the new code include railways, communications, steamship lines, mining and smelting operations and public utilities.

The code, given immediate endorsation by Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, and A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, may be extended to cover more workers. One of its provisions enables any province to introduce legislation to make the code applicable to all workers in provincial jurisdiction.

This clause, which would not restrict the code to war industries and national employment, is believed to be an attempt to meet objections raised by the Ontario Government which had asked that the code be of general application.

No Compulsion.

It is understood that all provinces except Ontario have indicated their acceptance of the code's provisions.

The code makes no provision for compulsorily imposing an agreement on either employers or employees.

Lawyer Dies; Acted In Birchall Murder

ALLANDALE, Ont., Feb. 18.—(CP).—Isadore F Hellmuth, for 64 years one of Ontario's outstanding lawyers, died yesterday at his home, Strathallan, aged 89.

Born in 1854 at Sherbrooke, Que., son of the late Right Rev. Isaac Hellmuth, who later became Bishop of Huron, he was educated at Hellmuth College in London, Ont., a school founded by his father, and at Trinity College, Oxford. He was called to the Bar in England and Ontario in 1877.

From then until 1900 he practised at London, Ont., founding the firm of Hellmuth and Ivey. He won prominence defending Birchall on a charge of murder. The case won wide prominence.

In 1900 he came to Toronto and established a practice and was named King's Counsel in 1902. He was an expert in railway law and a master of the art of cross-examination.

During the last war he was president of the old Moderation League of Canada and led the fight against prohibition in Ontario on the grounds that it was a negation of individual liberty.

In 1928 he represented Separate school supporters of tiny township in Simcoe county in an appeal to the Privy Council while in 1932 he defended a number of Communist leaders, including Tim Buck, who were charged with being members of an illegal organization.

He retired in 1941.

He said the housewife would have to face these added costs:

Ten cents a pound more for butter, nearly eight cents a pound more for cheese, an additional cent a quart for milk, an extra cent a loaf for bread, seven cents more for 10 pounds of flour, four cents a pound more for hamburger, 4½ cents for pork chops, 6½ cents for sliced ham, 3½ cents for chuck roast and five cents for round steak.

Mr. Roosevelt urgently recommended that Congress extend the life of the C.C.C., "without hampering restrictions," as soon as possible so that farmers can make plans for planting with knowledge of support prices on which they can depend.

Cost Millions.

The legislation, he contended, would boost costs for the Army and Navy by "many billions." Furthermore, he said, "not only would it cost every American family more to buy necessities, but it would cost more to run factories and farms.

The subsidy repeal measure received top heavy majorities in both Houses. It passed the House of Representatives 278 to 117 on November 23, and the Senate, 43 to 28, last week.

The administration had sought subsidies in the amount of $1,500,000,000 for the purpose of holding down retail food prices during 1944. The cost of subsidies on about 17 key food commodities, including meats, butter, sugar, milk, and bread, exceeded $1,000,000,000 last year.

The bill would have authorized the continuance of the present Government program of support prices to farmers, crop loans and soil conservation payments.

It was the second presidential veto of an anti-subsidy measure within eight months.

3 Months Given Bus Companies To Find Terminal

LINDSAY, Feb. 19.— (ENS). — Three months' notice will be given by the Lindsay town council to bus transportation companies operating in this town to obtain a new terminal and bus station. At the present time all buses use a main street garage as their terminal and complaints have been received by the council in regard to traffic congestion at this point.

The matter was discussed by the council last year but was left in abeyance at the request of the bus owners when they promised to cooperate in keeping the streets clear of traffic. Ald. Les Braunton re-opened the matter when he informed the council that he had been insulted when he had asked one of the bus drivers to move his vehicle to allow the operation of the town snowplow. At the present there are five bus lines operating out of Lindsay.

The application of Jack Simnett was accepted by the council for the position of police constable. Lindsay now has its largest police force in its history with four regular police officers and a special constable. The council decided that the force would have to be increased in order to enforce a recent curfew by-law.

The council was advised by Reeve R. Butler that both Fire Chief H. McCallum and his assistant, R. McArthur demanded increases in salaries and that another permanent assistant be appointed. Several councillors recommended that all positions on the Lindsay fire crew be thrown open for application.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

MARRIAGE USUALLY A SUCCESS

Only One In Six Ending In Divorce Indicates Loneliness of Single Life Less Desirable.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think there has ever been a really happy marriage? I have never known one. My mother has been married twice and both of her marriages were failures. My father is the best man who ever lived and does everything he can to please my mother, but she finds fault with him and nags him all the time, and I know he is miserable.

Every day that I live I have a greater and greater dread of marriage, and I have fully made up my mind to fit myself to be self-supporting and stay single so that I can live in peace. I am a girl of 17. Don't you think I am wise not to run the risk of letting some man ruin my life?

PUZZLED GIRL.

Most Marriages Satisfactory

ANSWER—Of course, there are not so many happy marriages as there should be, but that does not mean that every wedding ends in disaster. Perhaps not many marriages are the Heaven on earth that starry-eyed brides and bridegrooms expect to enjoy when they enter the holy estate; but the mere fact that only one marriage out of six ends in divorce is proof that it is not a total failure and that the great majority of husbands and wives find marriage endurable, even if it is isn't particularly blissful.

To say you will not marry because you have seen so many unhappy marriages is as foolish as to say that you will never eat a piece of luscious pie because pie gives someone you know indigestion, or that you will never be a teacher, or a stenographer, or a saleswoman because so many of your friends have failed in these jobs. There are no fool-proof moves in life, and whether we succeed or come croppers in our undertakings depends upon how much of our hearts and our brains and our backs we put into them.

Admittedly marriage is a risky business because it is utterly impossible to tell before hand what sort of a husband or wife any man or woman will make. The most impassioned lover may turn into the dumbest of husbands. The most generous sweetheart may develop into a tightwad whose wife has to chloroform him to get a new hat out of him. The girl who was so mild anf amiable that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth may become a shrew and a nagger as soon as she gets her man. The domestic maiden may come out of the kitchen on her wedding day and never go back into it again.

But, on the other hand, all life is a gamble. There are no sure things, and it is literally true that you can lose out just as completely by trying to play too safe as you can by being too reckless. Nothing venture, nothing have. And if you refuse to marry because you are afraid to take a chance, you are doomed to loneliness and lovelessness and to missing the consolation prize that you might get in even an unhappy marriage in your children.

Furthermore, this is to be said — that no outsider can tell whether a marriage is a success or a failure because so many husbands and wives have such queer standards of domestic felicity. It is no sign, for instance, that a husband and wife do not love each other because they fight continually. They may scrap for the pure love of a shindig. And we know men who are devoted to wives who boss the life out of them, and wives who think it is a privilege to work and support the lazy loafers to whom they are married.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a lonesome, heartbroken girl of 18, with a terrible problem that is ruining my sweet young life. It is this: My love is in the army and to make matters worse he is over a thousand miles away. He thinks that since he is having to endure

Claims Quebec Enlistments Are Favorable

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 (CP)—W. R. McDonald, Liberal member of Parliament for Pontiac — a Quebec riding with a population 75 per cent French-Canadian—said today in the Commons that Quebec enlistments are on a par with the rest of Canada in spite of "gibes" by Opposition members in the House.

Speaking in continued debate on the $3,650,000,000 war appropriation resolution, Mr. McDonald said four Quebec counties, including his own, are included in Military District No. 3 (Kingston, Ont.), and that enlistments in them are apparently credited to Ontario instead of Quebec.

"Figures lie, and liars use figures," Mr McDonald said as he spoke of enlistments in his own district as a reply to those who claimed enlistments were lower in Quebec than elsewhere.

Mr. McDonald said official figures on Quebec enlistments could not be accepted as a fact because of the inclusion of the four counties in the Ontario military district.

Six Out of Nine

There were hundreds, perhaps thousands of families in his county in which there were from 10 to 15 children, none of military age. In one French-Canadian family of nine sons, six had enlisted.

Mr. McDonald quoted a letter from a French-Canadian airman, Sgt. F. G. Maheu, the son of Mrs. Maurice Maheu of Arthabaska, Que., who had been presumed killed in a flight over Italy. The sergeant said that if he were killed he would have given his all for those he loved and for his country.

"I would ask the members of the Bloc Populaire to take particular note of this: That the only thought of this young French-Canadian serving in the air force was to give his life for his country," said Mr. McDonald.

Troops When Needed

Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) said that under a 1941 Order-in-Council Munitions Minister Howe had been given wide power to requisition troops from the Defense Minister if he anticipated disturbance.

The militia always was subject to be called out in aid of the civil power, said Col. Ralston.

Mr. Gillis said that if the authority of the Munitions Minister were continued it might be used "for other purposes" than protection of war production. The order should be reviewed.

Forecast Change In Soldier Pay

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 —(CP)—Two changes in the pay and allowances regulations for the army are under consideration. Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons last night.

One is some adjustment in the impact of financial penalties on soldiers who go absent without leave and later return to duty. The other concerns the case of a soldier's mother who has a husband earning a very small income but is otherwise without income.

In the first instance, under the present regulations the dependents' allowance for relatives of a soldier who goes A.W.L. continue for a period of three months and they continue to receive the pay he assigns them. When he is apprehended or comes back to duty he is required to pay back to the government that part of his pay which went to his dependents while he was away al-

Doctor Cautious On Health Plan

LONDON, Feb. 18 (CP Cable) — British government proposals contained in a White Paper issued yesterday for a new "Public Health Charter" received a cautious welcome today from spokesmen of the British Medical Association, who warned of difficulties in translating the proposals into actuality.

"If we can get a system in which the objects and principles of the scheme are faithfully carried out, we shall have a very satisfactory service for the ordinary citizen," said Dr. Guy Dain, chairman of the B.M.A. Council.

The Association represents 40,000 doctors.

Dr. Somerville Hastings, president of the Socialist Medical Association, described the plan as providing "100 per cent health for 100 per cent of the people."

The B.M.A. warned that the proposals, if adopted, could not go into operation for at least a year after the cessation of hostilities in Europe, until a sufficient number of doctors was demobilized.

Editorial comment in this morning's papers was generally favorable to the scheme. One exception was the Daily Mirror, which termed it "a timid compromise" with plans previously outlined by Sir William Beveridge in his "cradle-to-grave" report.

The voting was light. In the last general election, in 1935, Kennedy polled 19,457 votes to 15,086 for A. Russell, Conservative.

Wide Attention.

The Kirkcaldy by-election did not create much stir throughout the country but the West Derbyshire contest attracted wide attention both because of the personalities involved and of the Government's policy of endorsing candidates.

The campaign developed like a movie when a blond Russian woman took the stump for White, the shoemaker's son, and Lord Hartingdon contended he could milk a cow. White's father won the seat by hurling the question, "Can you milk a cow?" at his opponent.

Under the wartime political truce the party holding a seat is not opposed for re-election by any Conservative, Liberal, Labor or National-Liberal candidate.

But Independents and others have been cutting into this practice increasingly and the Government has begun to take a firmer line in opposing Independents who have nibbled away a few seats from the overwhelming governmental strength in the House. Two such losses were to the fledgling Commonwealth party headed by Sir Richard Acland.

Bootleg Prices Climbing For Hard Liquor

By The Canadian Press

A familiar "squeeze" of modern war—accelerating consumer demand and contracting sources of supply—has spurred illicit liquor traffic in Canada and padded the pocketbook of the corner bootlegger.

Thus, it was shown to-day in a nation-wide survey by the Canadian Press, the average Canadian who slakes his thirst through illicit channels pays roughly double bootleg levels and anywhere from two to six times vendors' prices.

Of the Dominion's major cities, Montreal seems least affected by bootleg inflation. Prices are approximatey double liquor store scales, 26 ounces of rye selling for about $7 and an equal amount of Scotch at about $9 or $10. A 40-ounce bottle of Scotch may sell for $15.

Further east prices are fairly uniform. A quart of rye can be obtained from $12-$16 in Halifax and Saint John, while $6 is a minimum for a six-quart carton of beer in both cities.

In five major western Canada cities, selling price of 25 ounces of rye may vary from a low of $10 in Winnipeg to a high of $25 in Edmoton. Rye or Scotch ranges from $10 to $15 for 26 ounces in Winnipeg, with a Mickey selling at $5-$8. A "short snort"—one ounce—may be obtained for 50 cents. No beer is sold in quarts, but $6 will buy a 12-pint carton.

In Regina, where $12 to $15 is the tariff for 26 ounces of rye and Scotch, beer sells for 50 cents a bottle. Saskatoon, at approximately the same levels, can buy an ounce of rye for 75 cents and an equal

1,000 Soldiers Lost With Ship

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (AP) — The enemy has sunk an Allied troopship with loss of 1,000 American soldiers in European waters, the greatest toll ever exacted from United States convoy forces plying the oceans. The ship, carrying about 2,000 troops, was attacked at night, probably by submarine. Half the men were rescued, the army said.

The announcement gave only bare details, the army explaining that the Germans probably do not know fully of the success of the attack. The date and location were not revealed. "European waters" could mean anywhere in that Continental area from Italy through the Mediterranean, off Spain, France or the British Isles.

A number of transports have been lost, but never before with such a toll of American lives. About a year ago, the Navy disclosed sinking of two cargo-passenger vessels in the Atlantic, loaded with army, navy, coast guard and civilian personnel. Six hundred of the 900 on one ship were lost, and about half the 500 on the other. The President Coolidge hit a mine in the South Pacific

Poultry Trouble Attributed To Poor Care

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18. — Many of the difficulties that the poultry man runs into are attributable to mismanagement according to J. E. Bergey of the staff of the Ontario Agriculture College. Mr. Bergey was guest speaker at a poultry meeting attended by a large group of farmers here Thursday afternoon.

He supplemented his talk by a number of interesting slides depicting the various aspects of breeding and management were shown.

As has been emphasized to the cheese producer, Mr. Bergey stressed the importance of maintaining quality if a favorable place is to be kept on the British market after the war when competition once again becomes keen. He expressed the view that it was the absorption of Canada's surplus eggs by Britain which kept the price at its present level.

"Were it not for the 35 cent export price eggs would probably be selling at from 6 to 10 cents a dozen in Ontario," he said.

With regard to the coming season he foresaw difficulty for the poultry man who had not already ordered his supply of chicks. Those who had not placed their orders would be unlikely to get their chicks exactly when they wanted them since many hatcheries are already booked for month ahead. In fact some were booked for the season five months ago he said. He advised the purchaser to look for good chicks and preferably buy near home providing the quality of the chick was right.

Chickens Tested.

"Buy your chicks from stock that has been blood tested for pullorum disease and put them in clean colony houses."

Mr. Bergey told of losses due to mites and explained various methods of controlling them either by painting the cracks of the brooder house with crankcase oil or flushing them out with a strong stream of water (as was done at Guelph) followed by application of Gillets lye soaked on with an old broom from a pail in which it has been mixed with water.

"If you raise your chicks under sanitary conditions you will have much less trouble from such things as coccidiosis."

Many farmers were annoyed by the grades their eggs were given when taken to be candled, but much of this trouble could be traced back to failure to collect the eggs frequently enough in the summer. Only a few hours during the day under a broody hen is often enough to bring the quality of the egg down. Another important matter was that of properly cooling the eggs (removing all of the animal heat) before crating. To the farmer who was suffering losses from broken eggs Mr. Bergey suggested the use of unpartioned nests.

Agriculture representative R. C. Banbury, who introduced the speaker declared the poultry business had undergone a "remarkable change" in recent years rising from the position of a sideline to one of the "main sources of income on the farm." He referred to the 10 per cent increase in production desired this year and asserted indications at present pointed to a more favorable feed situation in 1944.

Mr. Banbury also sounded a warning that competition would be greater after the war. It was quite reasonable to assume that the farmers of Europe would quickly re-enter the poultry business and would soon build up their flocks thus cutting down on the demand for imported eggs.

W.A. Hears Story Of St. Valentine

ROSENEATH, Feb. 18.—(ENS) — St. Valentine stories and legends featured the meeting of the W. A. of the United Church this week.

The topic of the devotional period conducted by Mrs. A. Nill was "Love." Scripture readings by Mrs. G. L. Tucker, Mrs. H. Hugh and the convener, bore out this thought. The story was "The Legend of St. Valentine."

The meeting was held in Mrs. Clark Sandercock's home, and the president, Mrs. G. L. Tucker was in the chair. The roll call response was a donation of a block for a warm quilt.

The treasurer, Mrs. C. Grigg reported approximately $161 in the treasury. Receipts for the day were $7.75 and of this amount $6 was turned in by Mrs. Ella Brown, quilt committee convener for sale of a quilt. Expenses were approximately $37, this was the cost of overseas parcels, mailed since the previous meeting.

Mrs. B. Thackeray reporting for overseas parcels, announced nineteen parcels mailed. Mrs. Fred Norris reported mailing five sympathy cards, and thanks for these were read or spoken at the meeting. Overseas letters of thanks for parcels were read from Neville McCracken and Jack Arber. Mrs. Ella Brown offered her home for the March meeting, and Mrs. A. Nill and Mrs. Fred Norris form a program committee.

Mrs. E. Waldie, program convener announced the numbers as follows: readings, "Anticipation" by Mrs. Fred Norris; "A House" by Mrs. B. Thackeray, and a group of Valentine readings by Mrs. Nill, and two contests arranged by Mrs. Clark Sandercock and Mrs. L. Sherwin. The hostess served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Remove Blueberries From Ration List

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—The Prices Board last night announced that canned blueberries have been removed temporarily from the list of rationed fruits, effective immediately.

"The board said suspension of rationing of canned blueberries will be effective for a limited time only, and that after July 1 coupons will be required for the purchase of canned blueberries, the same as for other canned fruits.

Lifting of rationing of canned blueberries has been prompted because last year's pack was more than twice the normal one, the announcement said. Consequently large stocks have still to be disposed of before fresh fruit appears on the market in quantity.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 18—(ENS)—The heavy snowfall of Monday night followed by gales on Tuesday gave the farmers, who live off the highway on the sideroads, their first taste of blocked roads this winter. War Workers Report Balance Of $237.08

WARSAW, Feb. 18.— (ENS). — Eighteen women attended the war work meeting and quilting in the Institute rooms on Thursday, with a pot luck dinner at noon. Two quilts were completed and several garments cut and taken out to be sewn.

The treasurer gave a full report with a balance on hand of $237.08. It was decided to have another box made for equipment, also to send boxes to the 45 boys in the services for Easter. Insurance has been placed on the war workers' equipment and a donation of $10 was made to the Institute in appreciation for the use of the Institute rooms.

The president asked that each member make an effort to write some one in the services at least once a month. Four quilt tops were donated and will be made ready for the March meeting.

Irish Tempers Roused Over Shaw Bequest

By WILLIAM RYAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP) — George Bernard Shaw shared the blame almost equally with the English in general today as the Irish chorused protests against an impression left in Mrs. Shaw's will that they need schooling in the social amenities.

That reported clause leaving £150,000 ($675,000) to teach the people of her native Emerald Isle "self-control, elocution, déportment and the arts of personal contact and social intercourse" cut Irishmen to the quick. The hint in the will that they may have been handicapped in the world of affairs by being shy and inarticulate brought snorts of indignation.

James McGurrin, president-general of the American-Irish Historical Society, brought down wrath upon the playwright, G. B. S. himself, holding that the weaknesses Mrs. Shaw had attributed to the Irish "she must have found in her husband."

"He was appallingly awkward in his approach to individuals and groups when he was young," McGurrin went on. "He is aggressive and loquacious in his old age, but in his younger days he was a Mr. Milquetoast."

The editor of the Irish Echo blamed the English. Charles F. Connolly said the English were barbarians when the Irish were civilizing the world.

John McCaffery, American magazine fiction editor, put his reaction succinctly, saying that "any person who thinks the Irish are inarticulate is probably stone deaf," and Rev. Joseph J. Lynch, Fordham University said that "the Irish have always paid strict attention to the will of God, but they're not apt to pay much attention to the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw."

Shaw received another Irish thrust from John F. Fitzgerald, the former mayor of Boston. Said Fitzgerald: "I'm sorry Mrs. Shaw wasn't successful in improving her husband's manners."

Like the Irish poets of old who carried on their debates in verse, Poet T. A. Daley of Philadelphia retorted with a rhyme addressed "To Mrs. G.B.S. in Heaven." It said:

"We Irish need manners? The best of us
And even the worst—cannot see
Why you should be judgin' the rest of us
By what you observed in G.B."

Sees Much Friction

DUBLIN, Feb. 18—(CP)—The late Mrs. George Bernard Shaw definitely started something by leaving a fortune to polish up the manners and self-control of the Irish, but no one could say today who would finish it or how.

Dublin's Irish Times seemed to sum up the first reaction to the will, made public yesterday, when it said:

"The possibilities of friction are unbounded. It will take a wise man to decide how these objects can be achieved and to devise the machinery. The rush of charlatans and cranks will be like a tidal wave."

Such groups as the Royal Hibernian Academy, the Royal Irish Academy of Letters, of which Mrs. Shaw was a member, the Royal Irish Academy of Music, the Royal Dublin Society and universities might be asked to appoint representatives to a committee to determine the bequest's distribution and use.

MARMORA, Feb. 18 (ENS).—The February meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Sacred Heart School on Wednesday evening. Mrs. James Black presided, and the chaplain, Rev. H. J. Farrell, opened with prayer.

The meeting took the form of "Grandmothers' Night." Mrs. Black welcomed the grandmothers, of whom there were ten present. A number of letters were read from the Diocesan conveners, also one from Their Majesties the King and Queen to the Diocesan secretary, thanking the League for their loyal message on the occasion of the twenty-third annual Diocesan convention. Many letters of thanks were read from members of the parish who had received baskets of fruit during illness. It was decided to send $5 to the scholarship fund and also to pack another box with quilts and clothing for war victims in Europe. The financial report, showing a substantial balance in hand, was given by the treasurer, Mrs. C. Crawford.

Special Prayers.

Rev. Father Farrell then addressed the members on keeping of the holy season of Lent, asking them to pray for the Pope and the Church in these perilous times, also urging them to attend daily mass and pray for the men in the services and for peace.

A piano solo was then given by Mrs. Dan Shannon, followed by a number of contests. A word scramble was won by Mrs. Leo Doyle. A contest was won by Mrs. T. Warren and Mrs. E. D. O'Connor. Mrs. Joseph Doyle gave a reading entitled "Grandmother's Work Box," and Mrs. E. Belanger followed with another appropriate reading, "The Modern Grandmother."

Mrs. Black then presented gifts to the oldest grandmother present, Mrs. Sara Doyle; to the youngest grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Doyle, and to the newest grandmother, Mrs. G. D. O'Connor. Mrs. Black concluded that part of the program with a reading entitled "The Courtship of Two Scotch Grandmothers."

The remainder of the evening was spent at bingo, which was followed by a lunch served by the committee in charge.

Soldiers In Italy Describe Christmas

GORES LANDING, Feb. 18 (ENS), — Mrs. Melville Harris received an interesting letter recently from Gnr. William Babb of this village, who is in Italy. He received one Christmas parcel and told of their Christmas dinner. He made two piles for the dinner and the menu sounded most appetizing.

Mrs. Harris also received a letter from her sister, Miss Morah Hennessey, who is a nurse with the U.S. Army in Africa. Miss Hennessey mentioned receiving a bottle of shampoo oil which she emptied into her tin helmet and washed her hair. Water is so scarce that the helmets filled with water are frequently used for personal baths as well as laundry purposes.

A letter was received from Gnr. Lyle Ball from Italy, thanking the W.A. of St. George's for a Christmas parcel which arrived the day before Christmas. As it was the first one to be delivered, the boys thoroughly enjoyed it. He said they had an excellent Christmas dinner and the table really looked like a Christmas celebration.

Bombed Again

LONDON, Feb. 18 (CP). — The Rome radio said yesterday that Castel Gandolfo, site of the Pope's summer residence, had been bombed again yesterday.

AIRMEN AWARDED U.S. MEDALS—For their flying feats in connection with the finding and rescue of 27 United States Army Air Forces personnel in the wilds of Central Quebec almost a year ago, four civilian airmen of Canadian Pacific Air Lines were honored at Montreal when they were presented with the United States Air Medal. The presentations were made by the United States Ambassador to Canada, Hon. Ray Atherton, with high-ranking R.A.F. and U.S. A.A.F. personnel in attendance. Photograph shows the four airmen, Left to Right, Peter Midlige, Rimouski, Que.; Norman Crewe, Montreal; Capt. Ray Roy, Rimouski; and Capt. Norman Forrester, Montreal, with Mr. Atherton.

Sewing Circle Meets

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS) —Mrs. D. T. Petherick was hostess to members of the Stanwood Sewing Circle for their February meeting held this week. Fifteen ladies were present and during the meeting completed two quilts, one of which was marked for the Red Cross and the other to be sold to a lady in the community. Mrs. Carleton Rowe, the president, was in charge of the business and she reminded members of the surprise bazaar that will feature their March meeting at Mrs. W. Madill's.

Tabernacle YPU Plans To Meet On Tuesdays

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS) —Tabernacle Young People (English Line) are going to shift their future meetings from Wednesday to Tuesday evenings so that they will not conflict with town league hockey games. This was announced by President Clarence Grills following the Valentine Social staged by the group on Wednesday.

The meeting was held at the church and a group of children from the English Line School featured the special program. Others who assisted with numbers were Mrs. J. R. Bick, a piano solo; Bobby Bibby, reading; Mrs. Mac Little, reading; Phyllis Grills, piano solo; Valentine chorus, by the school; Raymond Tinney, violin solo.

The evening concluded with games and refreshments.

Kitchen Hints Given At W.I.

ROSENEATH. Feb. 18.—(ENS).—Using as her slogan, "Better Kitchens Around Roseneath," Miss E. A. Slicter, instructress in housing for Women's Institutes, Ontario Department of Agriculture, W. I. department, conducted a short course in the town hall, Roseneath. The course ran Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, and under the heading, "Step Saving Kitchens," Miss Slicter lectured and discussed with the class, lighting, ventilating, screening, cupboards, decoration and all other requirements for a successful kitchen.

Starting with a class of eight on Tuesday the attendance swelled to sixteen on Thursday. The course was sponsored by the local W.I. branch, and the president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, voiced the appreciation of the class and their opinion of the value of the course.

Miss E. A. Slicter, conducting a short course during the week in the town hall, was guest of Mrs. L. Sherwin during her stay here.

Father's Hopes Brushed Aside When War Calls

A link with Peterborough is established by an article appearing in an Ohio newspaper, written by Rev. Harry A. Frost, 1538 Marlowe Avenue, Lakewood, Ohio, and describing the feelings of a father whose son has been called to military duty. Rev. Frost is the son-in-law of the Rev. J. P. Wilson, who many years ago was pastor of the old George Street Methodist Church and Trinity Street Church when it was known as the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

In his article, Rev. Frost, whose son James has been promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Army, tells how the hope and confidence of the father in their sons' future place in the society of men is rudely brushed aside by the realization of war; and how he sees them off to camp, returning home with a lump in the throat and feeling a bit lonely.

Wishing that it all might not have been necessary, he yet is aware that "an evil force has risen in the earth that must be resisted and destroyed, that a blow is being struck for freedom and that his sons have their part to play in it." Knowing the cost, he is still "a bit proud that his sons are able, ready and willing to take their place with others in the struggle."

Will Carry On.

"He hopes that having given a good account of themselves in war they may return home, mature men who can look the whole world in the face in the knowledge that they have had part in a task well done. But if in the pursuit of duty they are called upon to make the supreme sacrifice, he will find consolation in the knowledge that they gave their lives for that which men value more than life; and comforted by their devotion and his own faith, he will swallow the lump and carry on."

Rev. Mr. Frost, who is pastor of the Parkwood Congregational Church, Lakewood, was a major in the Canadian Army in the First World War. He served overseas four years and took part in the ill-fated Dardanelles campaign.

Mother Not to Blame for the Children's Colds

Despite all the mother can do the kiddies will run out of doors not properly wrapped up; have on too much clothing; get overheated and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes, and do a dozen things the mother cannot help.

Half the battle in treating children's colds is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a remedy used by Canadian mothers, for the past 48 years.

Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.

The Bombing Of Monte Cassino

Has anyone read of the bombing of the Abbey of Monte Cassino without regret? It was a building of great beauty and great historical association, but it was something more; it was a monument of civilization and the greatness of man. It was the Benedictine order which spread Christianity through Europe; it was in the black robes of the Benedictines that St. Augustine and his companions journeyed to Britain in 596. The benefits flowing from Monte Cassino through the world have been many and generous. Famous for learning, the Benedictine Order was the custodian of European culture for a great part of that period in the world's history which we call the Middle Ages.

The same cynicism which led the Germans to destroy the Tolstoy museum in Russia and the treasures of Naples made them use Monte Cassino as an observation post directly overlooking the Fifth Army approach. Their attitude was: if you value these stones more than your own lives, you must pay for your folly, but if you do not, you must shell the monastery to get us out of it. We know that the decision to shell the monastery was not taken lightly; it was a necessity of war, and it was an unhappy one.

We cannot feel that it would have been the wish of St. Benedict that men should lose their lives in order that this monastery might stand. Monte Cassino has known hard days before this; it was sacked by the Lombards fourteen hundred years ago, but in time it rose in even greater dignity and beauty than before. Does anyone doubt but that it will rise again?

Perhaps in the attitude which they took toward Monte Cassino the Germans were inspired by their leader's boast that if he fell he would pull European civilization down with him. If so they were tragically mistaken. Civilization is not a matter of stones and libraries, but an essence of the finest in the human spirit. Nothing can destroy it. To bring about the destruction of a great building is wanton vandalism; it achieves nothing, least of all a blow at civilization. The meaningless waste involved in the shelling of Monte Cassino is another case of the witless, unavailing destruction which the German people have forced upon the world.

No More Buffalo Robes

A morning paper recently printed a picture of a young man and a girl sitting in a cutter, taken apparently just before they set out for an afternoon's sleigh-riding. We looked at them with pity. They had no buffalo robe. Now a buffalo robe is a necessity when riding in a cutter for pleasure. Without it keen winds frisk about the knees, and the driver and his companion suffer all the anxieties and apprehensions of the wretch who has been poisoned by hemlock, as the numbness mounts higher and higher. To go out in a cutter without a robe is to blight romance, and put Cupid in cold-storage. Not only is that pleasure lost which comes with the tender pressure of hands under the edge of the robe; the ride soon ceases to be an outing and becomes an endurance contest. A cutter without a buffalo robe is far worse than a cutter without bells.

Whether the buffalo robe was actually made from buffalo hide we do not know. There were times when its look, and its feel, and its smell hinted strongly at goat. The heaviness of the fur was doubled by the thick backing of felt — usually green—with a pinked edge, upon which it was mounted. A good robe would make any couple snug in their cutter, but if they happened to tip over it was quite likely to make their escape difficult. A good robe also made a fine auxiliary bed cover for cold nights, though its great weight sometimes provoked dreams of death by smothering. Children were usually kept away from buffalo robes, as there was a widespread superstition that the fur was treated with arsenic in order to discourage fleas and natural decay.

Are there no buffalo robes any more? If so, another evidence has disappeared of the shagginess of Canada's past.

Canada's High Commissioner

The Honourable Vincent Massey, Canada's High Commissioner in Great Britain, is now in Canada, and it is expected that he will remain here on business for about three weeks. We are glad to see that Parliament and a section of the press has taken the opportunity to express to Mr. Massey their deep appreciation of the work which he and Mrs. Massey are doing in looking after Canadians abroad. Canada has never had a better High Commissioner in London than Vincent Massey, and no Commissioner has ever held that post at such a difficult time.

The kindness which the Masseys have shown toward Canadian troops in Britain has gone far beyond official necessity; Mr. and Mrs. Massey have worked unsparingly to see that everything is done that can be done to make the Canadian soldiers comfortable, to keep them happy, and to give them a good time. They have seen that Canada was adequately represented in every work of humanity or devotion which took place in the heart of the Empire. They have thrown themselves heart and soul into an exceedingly difficult and demanding wartime job, and they have won not only thousands of friends in Canada, but thousands of friends for Canada.

In days of peace the High Commissioner's work is largely social in its nature; in war it becomes something much deeper and more demanding than that. The present Commissioner made that change with tact and celerity, and even during the period of the "phoney war" he was doing everything possible for the Canadians in Britain. When the war is over whatever Government happens to be in power will please both the people at home and the men who have been abroad if they make some adequate acknowledgement of the unique service of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Massey.

The Russian Legend

We do not share the popular delusion that the world is growing smaller, and that we are all neighbours now, peeping into one another's windows, and listening to one another's quarrels. We are very close to each other for purposes of destruction and trade, it is true, but that is as far as it goes. Most of what we believe about foreign peoples is legend, and doubtless they have their legends about us.

Consider the great Russian Legend. It is well summed up in the words of a music critic who wrote: "When the Russian is not singing songs, saturated with vodka or melancholy, he is spinning stories shot through with the fantastic, or grim with the pain and noise of life". That is the way that most people think of Russia. The Russian Legend has had a shock recently, it is true, for the Russians have proved themselves to be egregiously practical in war, and shrewd and hardheaded in politics. But the Legend is still vigorous and persistent.

As a proof, we put forward the story which has been circulated during the past month about the Teheran Conference. It related that at a banquet Marshal Timoshenko became flushed with wine and began talking loudly and indiscreetly, and that Marshal Stalin silenced him by hitting him over the head with a bottle of vodka. This tale was made up out of whole cloth by some Legend-ridden American newspaperman, and it gained such credence that President Roosevelt himself had to deny it, pointing out that Marshal Timoshenko was not even present at Teheran. But we will bet any money that this story will live in the minds of thousands of people, and will be repeated about Stalin when he dies. And why? Because people like to believe that foreigners are violent, uninhibited folk, whose lives are a perpetual Keystone Komedy.

The Russian Legend—like the English Legend which maintains that all Britons are either witty cockneys or boneheaded noblemen with walrus moustaches and monocles—will die hard. Perhaps it will never die at all. For it fills a need which we all feel for the marvellous, and the mysterious and the romantic. And it is characteristic of people to believe what they wish were true more readily than what really is true.

In Defence Of Length vs. Brevity

From the SAN FRANCISCO ARGONAUT

ONE reads in Hamlet that "Brevity is the soul of wit," but it is Polonius who said a man is not much given to brevity when the fit is on him to speak. He chides his son, Laertes, for not getting aboard his vessel sooner when it was waiting for him, but still he must keep him back a little longer, in order to pour out some advice in connection with his journey. Few men are entirely consistent, and often men contribute to the gaiety of nations by not being. We recently read a book by a man now dead who was in life a lawyer, and ultimately one of the most eloquent voices in the Senate; and this man, who thought we should all go to church, gave in one chapter of his book, some advice to the clergy on the length of his sermons. He said that no clergyman should preach over thirty minutes at longest, and that twenty minutes was quite long enough for a sermon.

THE advice may have been good or bad; but we observed that the giver of the advice was extremely long-winded in all the chapters that he devoted to giving advice. He was long-winded, just as Polonius was long-winded. It required a little over four hundred pages for him to tell the young men of the nation how they should carry themselves, and what their duties were. One need not complain of his book's length, although it is reptitious in part, for it was rather eloquent, as one would naturally expect an orator's book to be; but why should this man, who evidently loved words so well, have taken it upon himself to tell the clergy how long their sermons should be? He would have resented the advice of a clergyman who told him to confine his addresses to a jury to twenty minutes, or not to speak longer when he had the ear of the Senate. But did not the clergy have an equal right to resent his advice to them?

MANY eloquent sermons have been preached from the pulpit in the last two thousand years, so eloquent that they have found their way into print, and may still be read. But we have never found, and we do not believe that anybody else has ever found, a single eloquent sermon in print whose delivery consumed no more than twenty minutes. There are still some Americans who read, partly for its eloquence, and party for the information contained therein, Theodore Parker's sermon on The Death of Daniel Webster, a sermon that was preached before the largest congregation in Boston, and that is said to have held its auditors spellbound for three hours. Julia Ward Howe, no mean authority, said in her old age that it was the greatest thing she had ever heard in her long life. The sermon, stenographically reported, was flashed across the wires and appeared in many daily newspapers, and was widely read by many of the greatest in the land. It angered not a few people, for Parker did not hesitate to reveal all the various sides of the man's character — the great and the small, and he possessed both.

WE have always had a notion that any thing that is worth doing at all is worth doing well. A recent critic of Jacques Barzun's book on Romanticism and the Modern Ego praises it, but he thinks that he should have written a longer book, believing that it suffers from "overcompression." Well, we think that most writing at present suffers from overcompression.

If the public of today desires their writers to make it "brief and snappy," there is little that the journalistic profession can do about it but look forward to the time, any moment now, when some enterprising publisher will make a fortune out of printing a Thumb-Nail Digest of the Reader's Digest.

Monty's Pants

From the rainy Adriatic coast, General Montgomery sent an urgent message for waterproof (or mackintosh) pants. The Bishop of Southwark, who was leaving for Italy, took the pants with him. Lieut.-General Nye then sent General Montgomery the following message, which was quoted on a March of Time program:

We've dispatched pour la guerre
A mackintosh pair
Of trousers and jacket express.
They are sent to you care
Of the Bishop of Southwark, no less.
So wherever you go
From Pescara to Po
Through mud and morasses and ditches
You undoubtedly ought
To be braced by the thought
That the church has laid hands on your breeches.

We think they'll suffice
As they should at the price
To cover your flanks in the melee
And avert the malaise
In the Premier's phrase
Of a chill in the soft underbelly.
And you'll find, so we hope,
When you call on the Pope
That his blessing's more readily given
On learning the news
That your mackintosh trews
Were brought down by a bishop from Heaven.

What About Ourselves?

Visitors to this country from different parts of the Empire constantly express amazement at the failure of the newspapers to give adequate credit to British troops. One distinguished Dominion traveller, who crossed the United State only a week ago, says that the general impression gained from the newspapers there is that the American and Canadian soldiers are the only one doing any fighting. Causes for this opinion are numerous. Don Iddon recorded in his Diary ... recently that the Americans have no idea that we use British Halifax, Stirling and Lancaster bombers for our raids on Germany. They think that we use only American Liberators and Fortresses. One prominent American journal has published a large advertisement stating that the Battle of Britain was won by an American electrical device; another an article claiming that victory at El Alamein was due to the United States Army Air Force. The Fifth Army in Italy is always referred to in the States as the American Fifth Army, ignoring the fact that it is largely composed of British troops. Much as we regret this tendency, we can hardly wonder at it while our own official publicity both here and abroad is directed to the same end. All of it goes to the American, Canadian, Australian, and New Zealand troops. There is never a mention of our own units.—London Daily Mail.

A BERLIN COMMUNIQUE —By Thomas

English As She Is Spoke

(PORT HOPE EVENING GUIDE)

SINCE we wrote yesterday of several good reasons for learning French, it struck us that every day we hear any number of good reasons for learning English. We had, indeed, thought of writing on this topic before, but shied away from it because there is no subject more dangerous. To point out that, in general, good English is neither spoken or written, is to make the writer a target. "Huh," grunts the reader, "I don't think his own English is so hot. Pipe that what-you-may-call-it—I mean observe that split infinitive in the four line. What does he know about English, anyway?" Well right at the start we are going to disarm criticism by admitting we don't know any too much. Nor are we by any means a purist, allowing almost any locution which is racy, expressive and makes clear the speaker's meaning, if any. What, in particular, we do object to is the absurd, long-winded and pompous phrases which have no meaning at all that so many people fall to using when they want to sound impressive.

Yesterday, in a news release from the W.P.T.B., the following sentence occurred: "Restricted supplies were due entirely to the shortages that still exist in certain types of material and critical components." What, in Heaven's name, are "critical components?" Presumably, components that are critical. But critical of what? And how can an inanimate object — in this case a piece of farm machinery — be critical of anything? Still, we will admit this is, perhaps, quibbling; for it is reasonably evident that the word "critical" is here being used in its secondary sense as pertaining to a crisis. In that case it is just possible, though not desirable, to refer to a component as critical. It is inexact; for a crisis is something of short duration, and a momentary component is not likely to be of much use. Why, in fact, say "critical components" when you mean "necessary parts"?

If anyone thinks this is an extreme instance let him listen to the next public speaker—excluding Winston Churchill, our own Leonard Brockington and a few others—and count how many "fearful wild-fowl" turn up.

Dim View Of Jargon

(BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR)

MR. CHURCHILL, among others, has lashed out against the use of crack-jaw words and round-about phrases in official documents. That he has not lashed far enough is shown by some of the red-tape forms and instructions every businessman has to puzzle out.

There is really no excuse for such stuff, and there is no sound reason why it should be allowed. A plain order from every department head in every Government in Canada would work wonders by way of simplification. Indeed there is a suspicion that long-winded sentences and obscure words are used by bureaucrats for the purpose of impressing the public which pays them.

But, since no order of the kind suggested has yet been given, the trend goes on. Mr. Ivor Brown, in his new book, "Just Another Word" (Cape, London), mournfully expects that in the next translation of the Bible it will read not, "heal the sick" but "rehabilitate those who are suffering from psycho-physical maladjustment." As he says, this kind of thing "helps to clog speech and writing and thus to make a slow weak ooze of words instead of the keen, forceful jet which human expression ought to be."

While not excusable, there is, however, a reason for jargon. The late G. K. Chesterton knew what that reason was. He explained it thus: "If you say, 'The social utility of the indeterminate sentence is recognized by all criminologists as a part of our sociological evolution toward a more humane and scientific view of punishment,' you can go on talking like that for hours with hardly a movement of the grey matter inside your skull. But if you begin, 'I wish Jones to go to jail, and Brown to say when Jones shall come out,' you will discover with a thrill of horror that you are obliged to think."

Culled From Our Contemporaries

Simple Rule

The whole thing can be reduced to one rule: If she puts it on her head it must be a hat. —Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Mr. King's Stand

Of course Mr. Mackenzie King is being hauled over the coals by one or two stuffy newspapers for his strikingly positive reply to the dictum to which Viscount Halifax gave voice in Toronto; but the Prime Minister should not be blamed if plain language is not grasped by inexperienced or biased minds.—Victoria Times.

U-Boat Beaten

One of the most important facts of the war receives little mention, except on rare occasions, as when Minister of Naval Services, Hon. Angus Macdonald, drew attention to the fact that ships crossing the Atlantic now had almost 100 per cent chance of getting through. The U-boat is thoroughly beaten, for the time being at least. Some German talk has long been heard of a new undersea weapon but it is not yet causing any alarm.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Astronomer Knew His Stuff

James Bradley, who discovered the aberration of light and the "nodding" of the earth's axis, was appointed Astronomer Royal in 1742, in succession to the famous Halley.

One day Queen Wilhelmina visited the observatory at Greenwich where Bradley conducted his work. She graciously chatted with the astronomer for an hour, and noticing the frayed condition of his clothing she tactfully inquired as to the adequacy of his income.

Bradley informed her of the size of the honorarium paid to the Astronomer Royal—about five hundred dollars a year.

"But surely," the Queen exclaimed, "that is scarcely sufficient I shall do my best immediately to see that the royal astronomer is better rewarded."

"Your Majesty," Bradley replied, "I beg you not to do that."

"But why?" the Queen asked in perplexity.

"Because, your Majesty, if you should make the position of royal astronomer at Greenwich profitable, I am afraid no scientist will ever get the position."—The Strand, London.

Slim Chance

In England today guests are required to bring their own towels. Now some of the hotels may have a chance to get their towels back again.—Chatham News.

German Chivalry

The bully is afraid of retaliation. He is brutal when he thinks that someone as strong as he won't catch him at it. Only when there is the prospect of his being hurt does he act with decency and boast of "chivalry."—Timmins Press.

May Help Recovery

In the future, men undergoing treatment for injuries or illness sustained in the armed forces, will be continued on full pay and allowances until they are either ready for work or given a pension. Officers will receive higher payments than men but the rate of these will be the same regardless of the rank of office held. This should have a most salutary effect on persons unfortunate enough to require periods of medical care. The relief from financial worries which the higher allowances will bring may help to hasten their recovery.—Sydney Post-Record.

Government Must Go On.

Independence in Parliament has its merits; but with a lot of other things of merit, it can be overdone. It decidedly is overdone when it interferes with government working. On this point, what many people and even M.P.'s overlook is that when a country goes to the polls at a general election it doesn't merely elect a Parliament; actually it votes for and elects a Government, with a Parliament to go with it. It is the Government, not Parliament, that counts most; and while Parliament is important and has it functions and duties these do not include the right to impede the normal workings of government. The British, with their long experience of parliamentary rule, are perhaps the only people in the world to have learned this well. It explains why at Westminster they don't waste too much time on debate and never in recent years have what our American friends call "filibusters." They know, the British, that government must go on; and that in the process of its going on there must be compromises and concessions.—Ottawa Journal.

A Bible Message

In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night: and God said, Ask what I shall give thee. And Solomon said, Thou hast shewed unto thy servant David my father great mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth, and in righteousness, and in uprightness of heart with thee; and thou hast kept for him this great kindness, that thou hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day. And now, O Lord my God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David my father: and I am but a little child: I know not how to go out or come in... Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this thy so great a people?

And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing. And God said unto him, Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life; neither hast asked riches for thyself, nor hast asked the life of thine enemies; but hast asked for thyself understanding to discern judgment; behold, I have done according to thy words: lo, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart. (I Kings 3: 5-7, 9-12.)

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. (James 1: 5.)

Letter To The Editor

FROM MISSOURI

Sir,—In the report in last night's paper of the meeting of the Children's Aid Society it was stated that four hundred and seven visits were made during the month of January, 1944, three being requests for adoption, and three unmarried parents' cases, six specific cases only, out of a reported four hundred and seven.

Mr. Editor, are the names given the Society of these four hundred and seven cases and is there a check made to see if the report is correct?

If the work is as reported it is astonishing, and I am not giving enough to its support.—Yours truly,

S. H. MITCHELL.

Unconsidered Trifles

The taxi was a very ancient one and had taken an unconscionable time to reach its destination.

As the passenger paid his fare, he remarked: "How do you manage when your fare is in a desperate hurry?"

"Ah," said the driver, leaning towards the passenger confidentially, "I keeps on changin' me gears ah' 'onking me 'ooter."

Common To Both Parties

"We all know that the Conservative party embraces within its ranks a large proportion of those substantial elements in the country who want to perpetuate things as they are and as they have been in the past."

Thus spoke Hon. J. H. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, in a speech to the Reform Club of Montreal. What he says is true. But isn't it also true of the Liberal party? Isn't it especially true of the Liberal party with regard to the crucial question of financial policy, over the shaping of which Mr. Ilsley himself is supposed to preside?

The Scottish political constituent who always voted Liberal because he was too conservative to change, has his counterpart in all political groups, most particularly so in that of economics. It thus comes about that modification in the creed of the orthodox is both difficult and conducive to exasperation.

It therefore frequently happens that a point of view which in the past has embodied a sound principle may in course of time become a dangerous hindrance to progress. And by clinging to a point of view on vital matters of credit policy, thus perpetuating things as they are, Liberals are sometimes as stubbornly standpat as Conservatives. If they hope to survive, Liberals in high places ought to ponder this truism.—Ottawa Citizen.

Soldiers Hold Fashion Parade

An hilarious "hat game" was conducted at the Uptown Recreation Centre Thursday evening, when members of the Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., were in charge of the entertainment. Old-fashioned picture hats were placed on one table, and plumes, feathers, stuffed birds, and other millinery accessories were placed on another. The boys in the contest had to choose a hat, decorate it, and, while Morris Duke played the piano, join in a fashion parade. The contestants were gradually eliminated until only five were left, and these were required to do an impromptu dance. Three winners were chosen, and presented with cigarettes as prizes.

Morris Duke was M.C. for the evening, and conducted a period of community singing. A program was also presented, with Miss Helen Parkinson, accompanied by Miss Elsie Chambers, singing several songs, and Mr. Ted Bradshaw doing sleight-of-hand tricks.

Gillis-Graham Vows Pledged

MILLBROOK, Feb. 18—(ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the St. Thomas' Church rectory, Centre Street, recently, when Rev. A. E. Chevis, rector of Cavan parish, united in marriage Maretta Pearl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Graham, of Millbrook, and Wilfrid Arnold, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Gillis, of Cavan Township.

The bride wore a two-piece dress of powder blue silk jersey, with black hat and accessories, and was attended by Miss Jean Gillis, sister of the groom, who wore a two-piece dress in gold silk jersey, with brown hat and accessories. Elias Whyte, of Cavan, ttended the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Graham wearing black crepe, and the groom's mother a street length dress of forest green wool. The bride's table was in a color scheme of pink and white carried out in the fluted streamers from the cluster of white wedding bells overhead and the handsome three-tiered wedding cake was placed on the central reflector. Looking after the service of the guests were two girl friends of the bride, Miss Pearl Smith, of Peterborough, and Miss Luella Kennedy, of Millbrook.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Gillis left by motor for their wedding trip, and upon their return will reside in Cavan.

IN WRONG GRAVE.

NORTHALLERTON, England—(CP)—The body of a woman had to be exhumed here after it was discovered she had been buried in mistake for another patient in a York mental home. The two women died at the same time.

Nurse Outlines History Of VON Organization, Work

"There is a great field open for preventing illness and controlling disease," said Miss Mary Ross, of the Victorian Order of Nurses, addressing the regular meeting of the Local Council of Women Thursday. In her talk, Miss Ross gave a little of the history of the Order, and outlined the scope of work done by the V.O.N. and of the duties of the member of the staff.

In her introduction, the speaker said that the Local Council of Women and the Victorian Order of Nurses had something in common, because they were part of a great national chain, working for the welfare of the community. The Order was established to take care of families in outlying districts, and to give adequate nursing care in the home, being patterned after the Queen's Nurses in England. The Order was established in 1897, and was given a royal charter and the name, Victorian Order, in honor of Queen Victoria.

"It is not connected with governmental bodies in any way," Miss Ross continued, "and has its own board of directors in Ottawa, which controls and finances the organization. Each branch also has a board of directors."

The speaker explained that each nurse was responsible for the quality and quantity of work done. V.O. nurses only make visits where a doctor is in attendance, and although they answer calls, they will not continue to give service unless they are following a doctor's orders. The work is done in short, periodic visits, and all classes, creeds and nationalities are served.

Maternity Work.

One important part of the service offered by the Order, which Miss Ross stressed, was the maternity program, where the expectant mother is visited, and several calls are made after she has returned to her home. Again Miss Ross stressed that these visits did not take the place of a doctor's call, but merely supplemented it, and she said that the nurses always impressed the need for continued medical supervision of the child during the pre-school period.

The speaker said that the nurses were on call 24 hours a day, but that their regular visits were confined to daytime hours. Each V.O.N. must be a graduate nurse, and also have taken a year's post graduate course in public health. Accurate records are kept, the speaker continued, so that a case history of every patient is always at hand.

"The V.O.N. has a sliding scale of fees," Miss Ross went on, "and the fee is reduced if the case requires it, or it is done away with if the patient is not able to pay for the service. Nursing visits, such as those made to mothers with young babies, are not chargeable, and therefor fees must be supplemented if the organization is to carry on." The five channels of income for the V.O.N. were listed as these: the Community Chest, a grant from the city, membership fees, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which pays for visits made to patients holding certain types of policy with the company; and fees from patients.

Supervised playgrounds was a problem discussed at this meeting, and Mrs. W. H. Morton, president, told the ladies that although the L.C.W. could do little to help in a financial way to install these playgrounds, the members could create public opinion, and awaken citizens to the real need existing in this city.

Place For Returned Men.

Another item brought up was the fact that entertainment of men who have been discharged from the Canadian Army, and are now working in Peterborough, is not being supervised by any organization. The feeling of the members was that returned men should feel free to go to the Uptown Recreation Centre and mingle with the soldiers, and that the Centre should be set up as a depot, where returned men could register. Miss M. Patterson and Mrs. J. K. Hughes were named as a committee to look into the matter, and to see about the registration.

New representatives were welcomed, and arrangements for the spring tea, to be in charge of the affiliated societies, were begun. It was decided that the tea would be held April 22 and Mrs. H. T. Rehill was named general convener. Mrs. W. Addyman and Mrs. J. C. Larmer, the entertainment committee, reported that teacup reading would be a feature of the tea.

Several resolutions were passed to be sent to the Provincial Council. One of these concerned the examination of children of pre-school age, and, in addition to the resolution, a list of groups willing to back this idea will be made up, to be sent through another channel. The question of publishing the archives of the Council in printed form was also discussed, but the matter was left until more accurate idea of the cost could be obtained.

the hardships and privations of army life that I should give up my job and follow him wherever his soldierly duties may lead him.

Now, being an ambitious young business woman, I would not be content to lead such a meager life, for my enamoured has to date reached only the rank of a private and, while this is an honorable rank in the army, it is not very remunerative. He maintains that life is not worth living under the present conditions, and I am frightened with the spectre of his committing suicide or deserting.

I am madly in love with him, but I feel that I could not be happy without the things to which every young bride is entitled. So what do you advise me to do.

HEARTBROKEN GIRL.

Soldier's Bride Should Keep Position

ANSWER—I advise you to stick to your job and wait for your love to come back to you, instead of going madly chasing around the country after him. That is best for you and best for him, for about the time that you would catch up with him he would be sent overseas and then you would be left lamenting, without a job or a husband to comfort you.

Girls who are rushing into marriages with soldiers or sailors, for which neither of them are ready, will not look beyond the romance and excitement of a furlough wedding and see how much it complicates their situation. For a husband is a husband, whether he is near or far, and no married woman can do, without criticism, the things that a single girl is free to do.

Being married doesn't automatically turn an 18-year-old girl into a sedate and settled woman. She is still a girl whose feet ache to dance, who wants to go places and do things and have fun and run with the crowd as she has been accustomed to doing. She isn't satisfied to sit at home evenings with Mama and Papa and get all the diversion she desires in thinking about Johnny thousands of miles away from her. But if she dares to step out with one of her old dates and go to places of amusement, where she is among the gayest of the gay, the gossips get busy and some kind friend writes her husband all about it. And it doesn't make pleasant reading for him.

So don't give up your job to go traipsing around the country after a man whose movements are not under his own control. Work hard and save your money so that when Johnny comes marching home after the war you will have a little nest-egg to begin housekeeping on, and to tide you over the bad days when he is getting settled back into civilian life.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Below are some recipes for my delicious puddings, quite inexpensive and easy on the ration card. You may not want to use these at once, but take good advice, and cut these out of your paper each evening, for there will come the day when some of these recipes will be the very thing you want to put the finishing touch to your wartime dinner.

Feather Crust Dumpling.

One cup flour, 1½ teaspoons of baking powder, pinch of salt, ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 large apple, sliced thin and mix well in flour mixture, 1 egg well beaten, ¼ cup milk, mixed with egg, and add to first mixture. Steam 1¼ hours.

Diplomatic Pudding.

Two cups hot milk, 1½ cups of (grated) bread crumbs, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 3 tablespoons of sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Before placing in oven beat all ingredients together with egg beater. Bake 1 hour at 325 degrees.

Cocoanut Custard.

One-quarter cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 2 cups milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup cocoanut. Beat the eggs. Add sugar, salt, milk, flavoring. Mix well. Pour this mixture into pastry-lined pie tin. Sprinkle cocoanut over the top Put into hot oven (450 degrees Fahr.) for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees Fahr. Bake until a knife inserted in the custard comes out clean. This same recipe may be used as a pudding by mixing the above ingredients and placing in pyrex pudding dish, placing this in a tin of hot water and baking in over about 1 hour.

Apple Dumplings.

Three apples, pare, core, and halve, 2 cups flour, 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, pinch of salt, 2 tablespoons butter, enough sweet milk to make dough. Syrup for the dumplings: 2 cups brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, nutmeg. Mix and add 1 pint of boiling water. Stir well and pour over dumplings and bake.

Prune Whip.

Wash one pound prunes and soak overnight. Cook until tender, remove stones, and chop fine. Sweeten to taste. Beat whites of 2 eggs until stiff and slowly add a tablespoon powdered sugar and beat for five minutes. Then beat in chopped prunes. Put in a bowl and chill. Either serve within sherbet glasses with whipped cream or pile in glass dish and serve with custard sauce.

Buffalo Bisons Defeat Reds

By The Canadian Press.

The cellar-dwelling Providence Reds were handed their 31st defeat of the season last night at the hands of Buffalo Bisons, who made the score 8-4 just a minute and 36 seconds before the final whistle, in the American Hockey League's only fixture of the night.

Dede Klein and Max Bennett led the Buffalo attack with two goals each. Roland Forget paced Reds' short-lived offensive by scoring two counters. Fred Thurier, Larry Tibeault, Rimsted and Robinson scored the others for the Bisons. Other Red scorers were Whittet and Toupin.

The leading Cleveland Barons meet Pittsburgh Hornets in the lone scheduled game Saturday night. Hornets play against Bisons at Buffalo Sunday night while Indianapolis Capitals visit Cleveland and Hershey Bears are entertained by Reds.

VANCOUVER—(CP)—Coley Hall, Vancouver sports promoter charged with assaulting Carl Robertson, sports editor of the Vancouver News Herald at a hockey game here last week, yesterday was remanded for one week. Barney Oldfield Takes It Easy

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18—(AP)—The name Barney Oldfield, once synonymous with speed and daring on American race tracks, Thursday stands for safety, cautious driving and a place to eat in near-by San Fernando Valley.

The cigar-chewing Barney has gone prosaic. The one-time terror of the dirt tracks who in 1914 made a record against world competition on Indianapolis' auto speedway for 5, 15, 20 and 25 miles has slowed down at age 65. Aside from his restaurant he operates a spacious country club and envisions it as a going farm after the war.

He's still chewing on those stubby cigars.

"Thought I Was Flying."

Barney began driving racing automobiles in 1902. He drove Henry Ford's first racer, in fact, the "999." His best time was five miles in five minutes and 28 seconds. 'Boy," chirps Barney, "I really thought I was flying."

As faster cars came along Barney kept pace with them until he retired in 1918, the idol of the auto-racing world.

In private enterprise, Oldfield associated himself with a tire manufacturing company, later with a Detroit investment firm and just before the 1919 crash had saved about $250,000. He went down with the rest.

Three Ottawa Rinks In Curling Finals

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Three Ottawa club rinks, skipped by Dave McCann, Jack Bradley and W. S. Boyd, along with one from Rideau Club led by G. Hay, were the city rinks left in the running to-day for the Manuel and Wilson curling trophies when play was completed yesterday in the Central Canada curling bonspiel.

District rinks are in the midst of their play-offs leading to their Manuel and Wilson trophy finals and survivors from both competitions will meet to-night in the grand finals winding up the bonspiel.

OshawaGenerals Retain Lead

By The Canadian Press

Oshawa Generals regained a four-point advantage in leadership of Group 1 of the Junior "A" O.H.A. series at the expense of Port Colborne last night when they whipped Recreationists 7-5 at Port Colborne, the losers retaining possession of third spot in group 2 standing by a slim one-point margin over Brantford Lions in the battle for play-off position.

Generals impressed with a 4-1 lead in the first period, stretched it to 5-2 in the second and were on top 7-2 at one stage in the third frame whereupon Recreationists took hold of the situation to ram in three goals in quick succession.

Ken Smith and Bill Ezinicki twice rifled the puck into the cage for Oshawa, Frank Curry, Johnny Chenier and Barker accounting for the balance. Gravelle was the powerhouse for Port Colborne, leading the scoring performances of the evening with three counters. Imonti, late of Toronto Young Rangers, accounted for another while Hills bagged the final tally of the engagement.

S.P.S. Intermediates Open Hockey League

The intermediate league of St. Peter's opened with a bang at the school rink Wednesday night. The first game between the Bears, coached by K. Ferren, and the Hawks, coached by C. Conroy, was fairly one-sided but the Bears went down fighting. For the Hawks goals were scored by J. Fitzpatrick, R. O'Donnell and F. Peel each getting one, and J. McCarney led the scoring by getting two. For the Bears J. Legros scored the only goal. Lineups were as follows:

Hawks: J. McCarney, centre; J. Fitzpatrick and R. O'Donnell, wings; F. Murphy and F. Pell, defence; R. Hotts, goal.

Bears: J. Legros, centre; C. Mills and J. Finn, wings; P. Rutherford and B. Armstrong, defence; D. Burke, goal.

Referee—J. Wade.

Score—Hawks 5, Bears 1.

The second game was a much faster one. Fontaine played well for the Wildcats, coached by Ted Lynch, and Ferren and Finn were the stars of the Falcons, coached by Jack Wade. Sullivan starred in the nets for the Falcons. Scoring was as follows: Ferren 2, Finn 2, and for the Wildcats Fontaine obtained the only counter.

Falcons: Goal, Sullivan; centre, Strano; wings Ferrent and Finn; defence, Doner and Bowen.

Wildcats: Goal, Russell; centre, Fontaine; wings, Brault and Monahan; defence, Dorris and Blodgett.

Referee—C. Conroy.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Just three years ago to-night Boston Bruins ran an unbeaten streak to 22 games by holding the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 2-2 draw. This improved a National League record they established five days earlier when they broke New York Rangers' mark of 19 undefeated games set in the 1939-40 games. Brins extended theier record streak another game—to 23—before being stopped by the Rangers.

Cleanrites Bowl 1476 Game For Year's High

Shocky Mein's Cleanrites ran wild on Duffus Alleys last night when they rolled off the season's record high team score for the Men's City League. They reeled off a 1,476 opening game against the K. of C. team and wound up their evening with a fine 3,782 total score. Doug. Abraham led them along in their pin spilling rampage, chalking up 917 for his three games which incidently also gives him a strangle hold on first place in the high average race. The Cleanrite gang almost made a perfect day of it as they walked out with all four weekly special prizes, their only set back was when the K. of C boys outslugged them to win the second game.

Heavy hitting was general in the whole loop. Mel Anthony counted an 820 total and Fred Martin 804, while nine trundlers found the mark for 300 or better singles. In addition to the good individual performances the Old Timers were swinging high as a team with 3,573 pins to their credit. Sunoco's hit 3,522, K. of C. 3,483 and Jay's, 3,480.

The good singles included Doug. Abraham 369 and 304, Bill Harris 357, Bill Howes 338, Ray Clifford 336, Jim Cullen 329, Fred Scates 328, Harold Davis 315 and Joe Denault 308.

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the most exciting basketball games of the year should be seen at the Y.W.C.A. gym tonight when the second-place St. John's team will clash with the third-slot C.G.E. Generals in the second game of their best-of-three senior semi-finals. Generals won the opening game a week ago 33 to 24, the widest margin that has separated the two teams in any fixture this season. Another victory for the Electricians tonight will give them the series in two straight games and send them into the finals against the Transports. St. John's are far from admitting that the series is as good as over. As a matter of fact the Saints who twice defeated Generals in the scheduled games are confident that they can turn the tables in this battle and make a third game necessary to decide which team will enter the finals. The two clubs clash at 8.45 o'clock. There will be a curtain-raiser exhibition game between the top-place Transports and a team from the C.W.A.C. detachment on duty at the Military Training Centre. The army girls' outfit will probably be reinforced by a number of the Y Cadets and they will endeavor to make the battle highly interesting for Transports who have gone through the season without a loss.

The Montreal Canadiens, still making the National Hockey League race look as if the other teams belonged to a minor loop showed their calibre again last night when they invaded Detroit and knocked off the Red Wings 3 to 2 in a hard-fought battle. The Flying Frenchmen who have been just that all season are so far ahead of the field that they can barely see who is behind them showed the fighting ability of a championship squad by wiping out a 2 ot 0 Detroit lead and driving home three goals in the final period to take the argument. The Canadiens fired those three inside of six minutes, with Maurice Richard the triggerman on all three and Blake having a hand in the entire trio. Goals by Liscombe and Brown in the second period after the first had gone without a score apparenty gave the Red Wings a winning lead until Richard's hat trick wiped it out early in the third session.

Tunney Fed Up

Declaring that he is a bit fed up with the squawking that Jan Gotch has been doing ever since he was disqualified in Tuesday night's battle with Pat Flanagan Promoter Frank Tunney has decided to toss the Pitiless Pole to the lions, figuratively speaking. He has matched Gotch with the sensational young Pacific Coast giant, Vic Holbrook for the main bout here next Tuesday night and he is making no secret of the fact that he has done so in the firm belief that Holbrook will give the Pole a wrestling lesson that he will remember for some time. Of all the long string of grapplers who have appeared here under the Tunney banner in the last few months, none of them, with the possible exception of Whipper Billy Watson has made such a quickly favorable impression as the big fellow from the Coast, whose appearance, style and cleverness have already installed him here as a popular favorite. The fans who saw him perform against Watson feel that he is the man to hand out the kind of treatment the tough Pole has been asking for. Gotch may be a one-man riot but the general impression here is that he doesn't carry big enough guns to beat the huge and speedy Holbrook in any kind of battling.

* * * * * *

Promoter Tunney is evidently out to make Tuesday's bill about the biggest he has offered here for the card is expected to feature another Pacific Coast star in the person of Frank Sexton who recently beat Earl McCready in Toronto. Sexton is recognized as an ace grappler who is a pastmaster in the science of the game. Still another name wrestler who is likely to be here Tuesday is Strangler Bob Wagner who has recently returned to the mat wars. Wagner used to be a storm cloud every time he appeared in Toronto or Montreal and his comeback adds another notable bad man to the roster of ring villains. If Wagner is not able to visit Peterborough Tuesday Tunney may substitute the famous Bobby Managoff of Chicago who was formerly recognized by the N.W.A. as world champion before the title was passed on to Wild Bill Longson. There are many fans all over the continent who still regard Managoff as the best of them all. With Holbrook, Sexton, and either Wagner or Managoff all on one bill, Promoter Tunney is offering an entire program of main bout calibre.

Lindsay's Claim

Writes Ford W. Moynes in the Sport Sage column of the Lindsay Watchman-Warder: On different occasions the writer of "Sport Sage" has volunteered the information that Lindsay was one of the first towns in Ontario to sponsor a hockey team and that the late Judge J. A. Barron, of Lindsay and Stratford, was one of the founders of the Ontario Hockey Association. That Lindsay was "on the map," so to speak, in early hockeydom, is established by the following article: We have before us a picture which appeared in the Toronto Globe years ago under the caption, "Among the First Competitors for the Stanley Cup." The article reads as follows: "When it was first put up for competition in 1883 by Lord Stanley, the then Governor-General of Canada, the Stanley Cup emblematic of the World's Professional Hockey Championship was for amateur teams only. There were no professional hockey teams in those days. Lord Stanley was a great admirer of hockey and during his regime at Ottawa the Government House Club known as the Rebels was one of the participants in the Stanley Cup series. It is not unlikely that the playing of the Rebels inspired Lord Stanley to donate the cup. The Rebels played in Kingston, Lindsay and twice in Toronto in 1889 which was the beginning of the Stanley Cup competition. The Globe is indebted to His Honor Judge John A. Barron, K.C., of Stratford, for the above picture of the Rebels. It is one of the first pictures on record of a hockey team. Judging by their unconventional garb and pose, the Rebels were well named. Reading from the left the players standing were: Capt. Wingfield, Grenadier Guards; the Honourable Arthur, now Sir Arthur Stanley; the late Hon. Senator Power (non player); Mr. H. A. Ward, K.C., M.P., recently retired from the County Court Bench; the late Mr. Le Moynes, Sergeant at Arms to the Senate; the Hon. Edward Stanley, now the Earl of Derby. Sitting: The Late Mr. Creighton, law clerk to the Senate; the late Capt. McMahon; John A. Barron, K.C., M.P., and Capt. Hawkes, Coldstream Guards."

Belleville's juvenile hockey team has got away to a good start according to Ken Colling who comments as follows: "Bill Dennis' Belleville juveniles advanced to the second round of the Provincial Juvenile Hockey playdowns after beating Trenton 13 to 9 on the round, winning 7 to 4 last night. The local kids, barring a little carelessness in the latter stages of the third period, showed too much class all along the line, especially the front line trio of Harry Boyd, Al Meagher and Jack Wardhaugh. The smart passing plays tried by Dennis' kids was a treat to watch at times. Of course there are a lot of rough edges to polish off but the kids are trying and the fans are missing some good hockey that is being dished up by the juveniles. The few fans present went for Harry Boyd, the pivot man on Dennis' high scoring line. His style stamps him a player the fans like to see in action, his passes being in a scoring position pretty much of the time. Both Meagher and Wardhaugh seemed to play much better, when teamed with Boyd, as did Roddy Lyall."

BobMontgomery Meets Al Davis

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—When Bob Montgomery and Al Davis step into Madison Square Garden's ring tonight for their scheduled 10-rounder, Bob will be trying to find something he lost there, while Al will try to lose something he acquired there.

Montgomery, former lightweight champ, lost his laurels to Beau Jack last November—the last time he was in the Garden. He gets another crack at the Beau in two weeks, but he must brush Davis aside tonight to have much hope of regaining the title.

Davis, left-hooker from Brooklyn, in his last Garden appearance, picked up a nickname—Bummy—which he has been trying to lose. He acquired the nickname and a life-time suspension late in 1940 when he fouled Fritzie Zivic repeatedly in a scrap stopped in the second round.

Shortly after that, Davis enlisted in the army but was given a medical discharge. While in service his weight hopped up to 180 pounds, but he has shaved that to 144 for tonight's brawl. Montgomery will come in around 137.

Both Montgomery and Davis are heavy punchers and the experts expect a kayo tonight, although Montgomery has never been belted out, and Davis has taken the 10-count only once.

Trinity Takes Juvenile Crown

PORT HOPE, Feb. 18 — Trinity College School won the district juvenile championship in a two-game series with Bowmanville by a total score of 8-7. Despite losing the second game, 4-1, Trinity's first-game 7-3 victory enabled them to take the series, by one goal. T.C.S. will be unable to carry on in the O.M.H.A. playdowns, so Bowmanville will advance to the next round against Whitby.

Cornish started Bowmanville on the come-back trail early in the first period, and Hovey reduced Trinity's first-game lead to two goals early in the second. Stutt scored for Bowmanville halfway through the second period to put them within one goal of the College. After five minutes of the third period Gilhooley put Bowmanville ahead, 4-0, and tied the series, 7-7, when he scored on a minor penalty shot. Two minutes later Sinclair of Trinity took a faceoff in the Bowmanville end and passed back to Dave Morgan, who banged it home. T.C.S. held on to their one-goal lead for the rest of the game despite constant pressure by the Bowmanville team.

WINNIPEG—(CP)—Leo Johnson, ace skip from the Winnipeg Strathcona club, won the British Consols trophy, emblematic of curling supremacy in Manitoba. Last night when he defeated Bung Cartmell of Glenboro, Man., 16-6 in the final game of the competition at Manitoba's 56th annual bonspiel.

Earn a Bye

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).— Hull Volants last night earned a bye into the Ottawa Senior City Hockey League finals when they beat Canadiens 3-1 for their second straight triumph in a two-game, total-point series to decide the circuit's top team.

Don Best Rink Nears Finals Royal York Cup

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Play in the Ontario bonspiel moved toward a showdown yesterday with elimination of two rinks from the undefeated ranks in the first evening draw but possibility remained that one of four rinks might take both of the richest prizes—the Royal York and Birks-Ellis trophies.

It required only three matches in the Royal York competition last night to sink C. R. Redfern's Torontos and Bert Kennedy's Toronto Royals from their unbeaten status. Both lost to worthy opponents as Don Best's Kirkland Lake rink and E. H. Pooler's Toronto Granites turned the trick with identical 9-7 victories. Those yet with a chance of posting a double cup triumph are George Doggett, Kirkland Lake, and R. H. Howard, Toronto Granites, Dr. A. E. Walkey, Hamilton Victorias and T. E. Hawkins' Toronto Royals.

Wakey's Victorias won a fifth-round berth in the Royal York event with a 16-8 decision over Ross Tarlton's Hamilton Thistles, and Hawkins also won easily, 12-4, over J. W. Currie's Ayr rink. Doggett and Howard found the going tougher with three and two-point margins over W. D. Taylor's Torontos and Jim Shaw's powerful Sault quartet.

Consolation events provided rousing matches last night as Don Best's Kirkland Lake and Charles Roffey's Sudbury rinks went down, 13-12 and 9-6, to Dr. W. Young, Chapleau and Stan Sarjeant, Orillia, in the third round of the American Life Trophy competition. G. A. Fitzpatrick, Orillia, prevailed 10-8 over the McIntyre rink skipped by Dr. Lou Hudson in the second round for the Association trophy, and Jim Shaw's Sault rink dropped another close one in extra ends to W. A. Watson, Sarnia.

The first draw to-day sees competition for all trophies except the Royal York, with highlight matches bringing together Dr. Walkey's Hamilton Victorias and T. Hawkin's Toronto Royals, and George Doggett's unbeaten Kirkland Lake quartet meeting C. R. Redfern's Torontos in the fourth round of the Birks competition for aggregate honors. Ed Young, Toronto Royals, co-winner of the trophy last winter, meets H. W. Walker's Owen Sound rink in the same event.

TORONTO, Feb. 16 —(CP)—Al Ritchie, the sage of Regina, acknowledges demand for hockey players will reach a new and hectic high in the first two years after the war but Alvin Horace confidently predicts Canada, and specifically the Prairies, will be able to supply the demand.

Ritchie told Dave Dryburgh of the Regina Leader-Post there is plenty of material in juvenile and midget leagues around southern Saskatchewan. "Definitely the most promising group of kids for three years anyway. War has hit senior and junior groups but has placed an emphasis on the young boys. They are getting a big break.

Al's Regina Pats were the greatest power in Western junior hockey 15 years ago. Pats won the Memorial Cup in 1925 and '30. Yet he claims Canada still produces stars as great as came from his best teams. "Absolutely — maybe better ones," he says.

That means something from Ritchie. His 1926 Pats developed such stars as Johnny Gottselig, Ken Doraty and Frank Ingram. The 1930 crew included Buzz Boll, Eddie Wiseman, Gordon Pettinger. Ritchie developed many other stars and now is a New York Ranger scout.

Al agreed hockey will mushroom right after the war. Scores of inactive senior clubs in Canada will resume operations and scour the country for material. The N.H.L. will expand. Minor professional leagues like the American Association and Pacific Coast circuit will organize again and dozens of other professional and semi-professional clubs will appear in United States. Still, says Al, Canada will meet the demand.

"Remember this: There will be many first-rate players come back from the war to star all over again. They have been living a good, clean life and will be as hard as nails. Dumart and Bauer and Schmidt and all those fellows will be as good as ever if they are spared. I can not agree that war has ended their careers. I would say it has merely interrupted them.

"Why, Geordie Hay came to Regina after the last war and hadn't laced on a pair of skates for three solid years. He became one of the most brilliant left-wingers in the game."

It's good to hear Al is still pitching in the oratorical league. He was never at a loss for a few thousand words and Canada has never had a greater authority on sports. We like to remember him as of old, perched on his favorite lunch counter stool, his boys around him, diagraming hockey or football plays on paper napkins. A great guy—a credit to Canadian sport!

Hockey's Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Joe Carveth, Detroit, got one point last night when Canadiens defeated Red Wings 3-2 to put himself in a fifth-place tie with Boston's Bill Cowley on the National Hockey League's high scoring list. Carl Liscombe, Detroit, formerly sharing seventh place with Chicago's Clint Smith and Canadiens' Elmer Lach, gained undisputed ownership of that position when he scored one goal to make a total of 51 points. Other scoring leaders were idle.

One-Man Flash Upsets Detroit Hopes

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Three years of frustration in amateur and professional hockey receded from memory today as Maurice Richard contemplated the latest in a series of scoring exploits notable less for intrinsic brilliance than for the circumstances surrounding their accomplishment.

The slim, dark-browed speed hound who has spent more time in a hospital cot than one the ice fashioned the final touches in an unusual scoring sequence last night, firing three third-period goals as Montreal Canadiens surged from the shadows of defeat to conquer Detroit Red Wings 3-2 in a test of strength between the clubs regarded most likely to succeed in post-season play-offs.

From a production standpoint, Richard's feat of six goals in Montreal's last four starts probably has been surpassed many times in league competition; but it is doubtful if one player has so thoroughly dominated his team's goal production. In those four games, the athlete Coach Dick Irvin has picked as the player of the year accounted for 75 per cent of the league leader's goal output. Only one other Montreal player—Defenceman Leo Lamoureux—has scored over the four-game stretch.

All but two of the eight goals were scored in the third period. His hat trick last night came within two minute and 13 seconds, 21 seconds off the quick-trigger pace set when Carl Liscombe tallied three in one minute, 52 seconds in Detroit March 13, 1938. Whistling 50-foot drives produced two of Richard's scores and the other was fired from close range as Canadiens exploited a penalty to Bill Quickenbush for their first tally.

Richard, a headlong skater boosted around Montreal as a second Morenz, has been dogged by misfortune throughout his brief career. In 1940-41, playing with Montreal Canadiens seniors, he fractured a leg. Joining the professional Canadiens the following year, he suffered another leg fracture at the start of the season. Last year he completed one-third of the schedule—and broke his leg again.

For 42 minutes last night, 13,175 Detroit fans had little suspicion of the thunder Richard was to loose. Liscombe opened the scoring for Detroit early in the second period and Adam Brown made it 2-0 at 13:24, buoying Detroit hopes of winning their first of eight games against Montreal. Then Richard went to town, handing the Wings their first defeat on home ice in eight games and sending Montreal eight games ahead of the 1942-43 Stanley Cup champions.

Wagner's Horses To Run In Toronto

TORONTO, Feb. 18—C. F. Wagner, Texas millionaire who raced a string of horses on the I.C.R.A. tracks last year, plans to return for the 1944 season. Paul Morris, trainer of the Wagner stable, has made application for stalls for 14 horses at Thorncliffe track.

The 1943 season was the first year the Wagner colors were seen in Canada. Trainer Morris said he enjoyed racing on the I.C.R.A., and is anxious to return. At present the Wagner stable is racing in Mexico, from where they will ship to Rhode Island, then on to Thorncliffe. Kantar Run was the best performer in the stable last year. After leaving Toronto last year Kantar Run was claimed during the fall facing at Narragansett.

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 —(9AP) — The dictionary defines statistics as "classified facts, especially those facts which can be stated in figures." ...... Veteran baseball men estimate that statistics account for some 30 per cent of the interest in the game ......

Bigger figures.

Speaking of statistics, President George E. Gaf of the Louisville Bowling Association compiled records of 3,654 Louisville bowlers and found that more than 70 per cent averaged in the 140-170 class with only one 200 average bowler in the lot ...... Easiest baseball statistic to remember: The Albany, N. Y., club's record in 1888—same as the year, won 18, lost 88.

No words wasted.

When the Dodgers telegraphed Tommy Warren, recently signed pitcher, for a few statistics about himself, Tommy wired the answers in five words, then added: "have more words but nothing else to say."

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The former ace hurler of the Philadelphia Athletics, Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove declared yesterday at his Lonaconing, Md., home, he say no necessity for wartime trimming of baseball because he explained, there should be plenty of good player material just below and above the military age bracket of 18 to 38 years. Grove, now 43 and two years out of baseball, gave no indication of returning to the diamond.

Grove suggested keeping the game going "as 99 per cent of our boys over there want it to go." As for himself, the once great southpaw is busy with a farm and has a place of business in Lonaconing—after his quarter of a century in baseball during which he amassed 415 victories.

With Phil Hergesheimer of Winnipeg enlisting in the Royal Canadian Navy, the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League yesterday signed Leo Gasparini, Philadelphia amateur, for the right-wing position of the team. Gasparini was with Philadelphia Falcons of the eastern circuit.

Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll of St. Louis yesterday established Pukka Gin the 6-1 favorite for the Kentucky Derby although official entries for the $75,000 Louisville classic on May 6 will not be released until next month.

Army's Boxing Titles To Be Decided

By ALLAN NICKELSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

EPSOM, England, Feb. 18 —(CP) Cable) —The Canadian Army's individual boxing championships will be decided at this historic racing town to-night, although some of the best ringmen are fighting in Italy with the Canadian Corps.

At least three of last year's titleholders as well as many other outstanding army boxers, are in action in Italy, and at least one of last year's competitors was killed in action in that theatre.

One of those defending his title will be Cpl. Roddy Macdonald of Edmonton, who won the 1943 middleweight crowns in both Canadian and British Army competition. The only other champion in both the Canadian and British forces, L.-Cpl. Tommy Falls, giant Negro heavyweight from Liverpool, N.S., is in Italy.

From unit qualifying competitions in seven weight divisions approximately 45 contestants emerged for the titles. The championship semi-finals take place Saturday afternoon, with the finals at night.

Among notables missing will be the 1943 featherweight finalists — Tpr. Danny Webb, flashy Montreal Negro who turned professional, and Pte. Bobby Doherty of Toronto who is fighting with the 48th Highlanders in Italy. Webb ousted Doherty as champion.

Missing, too, will be Bobby's brother, Jack, a lightweight who was killed in action in Italy a few months ago. He competed in a couple of last year's championships but was ousted in the preliminaries by Pte. Billy Buxton who went on to win the titles. Buxton, a Victoria, B. C., boxer with a terrific right, is a member of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry fighting in Italy.

The Canadian champions will compete in the British Army southern area championships at Slough, Buckinghamshire, Feb. 23-24, the winners advancing to the British Army finals.

House Probes Hold-up On News Stories

LONDON, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Sir James Grigg, Secretary for War, asked in the House of Commons to-day whether representations would be made to military authorities over new censorship regulations on front line dispatches from the Italian war theatre, replied:

"I do not think the military commanders on the spot are unaware of the modern form of the old tag: 'Ruat coelum fiat publicitas.'" The Press Association translated this as: "Let there be publicity though the heavens fall."

Sir James said he had no information as to why correspondents' stories would be held up sending them to Naples, but said he was making inquiries. A similar reply was made to an inquiry as to whether he could explain what was meant by "censorship for policy."

British dispatches said stories would be delayed at least one day —sometimes two— by the restrictions, which were denounced as "stupid" and "intolerable" by London newspapers. Denied the use of on-the-spot radio facilities, correspondents will have to send frontline dispatches by courier to base headquarters for censorship.

Reports Gloomy.

The 5th Army Command ordered this because of annoyance at some dispatches on the course of the fighting in the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead battle, according to a dispatch from Norman Clark, representing the combined British press.

British papers blamed American and British military and political officials for pessimistic reports on the battle. The News Chronicle said: "For five days last week most of the gloomy and disconcerting statements were being made from President Roosevelt downwards."

The Daily Mail called the step "interference with the freedom of the press" which is "not justified on the grounds of security." The Daily Herald stated that "the best of all recipes for avoiding undue optimism or pessimism is to give the public the news reported by impartial conscientious men trained for the task."

Clark said one result will be that frontline dispatches will be anticipated by reports written in the rear, which will tend "to oscillate violently in contrast to those written in full knowledge of the facts."

LOOK AT BOMB DAMAGE—Cpl. Peter J. Lee, of Long Island, N.Y., is shown with the Ing family, of London, looking at some of the bomb damage which surrounds their British home. The Ings, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ing, Geofrey, 13, and Marion, 11, have lived in London for many years, including the period of the blitz, when Mr. Ing was an air warden.

Toronto at $12-$15 and Ottawa at $10-$12 for 26 ounces of rye whisky are closely aligned. Windsor and London residents pay $10 for rye while London may go as high as $12 or $14 for Scotch. The lowest prices for rye prevail at Hamilton, where a 26-ounce bottle can be obtained for $8. In the same city Scotch may sell for $12-$15 in the same amount. Beer prices are roughly the same in all five Ontario cities.

RECTAL SORENESS AND
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid, and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

though he himself draws no pay for the period.

Some members termed this a hardship since it meant that for several months after returning to duty the soldier gets little cash. Col Ralston said some representations on the point were under consideration.

The present regulations allow payment of an allowance of $25 a month to a soldier's mother if she is in need, providing he also assigns some of his pay. If the mother has a husband, however, she may not qualify unless he is fully incapacitated and unable to support her. The minister said a proposal now under consideration would make the definition of incapacity "less restrictive" so that earning of a small income by the husband would not bar a woman from receiving the allowance.

On Army Estates.

The discussion took place on the Army Estates in War Appropriation Bill, and ranged over a wide field with several hours devoted to various angles in pay and allowance regulations.

Some members contended that families should not be made to suffer because of the crimes of soldiers, and that allowances should not be stopped when soldiers desert.

Col. Ralston said he could not see that argument. The basic idea of allowances was the good of the service, to relieve soldiers from worry about their families at home. If they were still relieved of worry and knew their families would be taken care of when they went A.W.L. there would not be much deterrent to that offence.

Based on his experience in interviewing many soldier offenders overseas, Maj. Leslie Mulch (L-Winnipeg South) offered the suggestion that "archaic" pay-stoppage regulations contributed to continued delinquency on the part of soldiers.

Some members who said they had in mind cases of wives whose allowances were stopped found it hard to understand how soldiers could be absent without leave in England for 12 months or more without being apprehended. George Tustic (P.C.-Prince Edward-Lennox) expressed belief such men could have been killed in air raids.

Too Friendly.

Maj. Mutch said it was not only possible but common. He said some men had been absent longer than 12 months and in the interval had occupied lucrative positions in civilian life.

"The English people are very hospitable," he said. "They treat our boys very well. They treat them too well. You can live longer in England without money if you are absent without leave than anywhere I know of."

Col. Ralston told the House there had been a "significant reduction" in the incidence of veneral disease in the army from 38 cases per 1,000 in 1942 to 32 cases in 1943.

All thre services were making a determined attempt and working as a team to combat the disease which were the greatest cause of loss of man-days.

Hon. Herbert Bruce (P.C.-Toronto Parkdale) raised the subject of venereal disease by inquiring about a telegram he said he received quoting a press report to the effect that corvettes had been delayed in sailing from Quebec because of veneral disease among the crews.

Navy Minister Macdonald said no ship had been delayed in sailing anywhere for that reason so far as he knew and gave a specific denial that any ship had been delayed in sailing from Quebec.

John Blackmore, New Democracy Leader, failed in attempt to move adjournment of the House to discuss the need for encouraging more sugar-beet production to meet what he said was a prospective shortage of sugar.

Wavell Refuses Leaders' Release

NEW DELHI, Feb. 18 — (CP-Reuters). — Viscount Wavell, Viceroy of India, Thursday told the Legislature that demands for release of Indian leaders in detention were utterly pointless until there is a sign on their part of willingness to co-operate with the Government.

"If the leaders feel that they cannot consent to take part in the government of India," he said, "they may still be able to assist in considering the problems."

The Viceroy said he knew the point of view of the British people and Government was a genuine desire to see India enjoying complete and unqualified self-government as a willing partner in the British Commonwealth.

"We are bound in justice, in honor and in the interests of progress to hand over India to Indian rule which can maintain the peace, order and progress which we have endeavored to establish."

1,000 Soldiers

Oct. 26, 1942, but only five lives were lost, while between 4,500 and 6,000 were saved.

Forty-three servicemen died in the sinking of the tender Langley and another 43 soldiers on miscellaneous merchant vessels.

The ship was attacked in darkness and sank rapidly in a heavy sea.

"Military security now permits announcement of the sinking, due to enemy action, of an Allied ship carrying troops in European waters on an undisclosed date," said the brief announcement.

"American soldiers in substantial numbers were aboard the ship, which was lost at night. In a heavy sea, the ship sank rapidly and 1,000 men were reported missing. Rescue efforts resulted in the saving of about the same number.

"The emergency addresses of all who are listed as missing have now been informed. There is reason to believe that the enemy does not know of the results of this attack and therefore the date is withheld."

Japs Admit It.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 — (AP).— The Tokyo radio said to-day the Japanese naval base of Truk has been attacked by American carrier based planes and quoted an Imperial headquarters communique as saying "fierce fighting is now going on between our forces and the enemy."

The English language broadcast, reported by the United States Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service, was the first recorded Japanese reference to the assault on Truk, which was announced yesterday from U.S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters at Pearl Harbor.

The Office of War Information said there was no indication whether the Japanese people themselves had been informed.

Train Demolishes Ten Ton Snowplow

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 18—(CP) —A west-bound passenger train demolished a 10-ton highway snowplow three miles west of Belleville yesterday and the engineer of the train said it was lucky the train was not derailed.

J. W. Hamilton of Belleville was the owner and driver of the snowplow, which had got stuck in the rails. He was nearby when the train hit it, strewing wreckage along the tracks for several hundred yards.

Quebec House Disagrees On Immigration

QUEBEC, Feb. 18—(CP)—Post-war immigration, particularly where Jews are concerned, brought disagreement in the Legislative Assembly yesterday, a short time after members had joined in adopting unanimously a motion on Lord Halifax's "new imperialism."

The assembly adopted the motion "that this House considers it is duty to express its divergence as regards Lord Halifax's new imperialism and dangerous tendencies" after hearing Georges Potvin (Lib.-Roberval) and Rene Chaloult, member for Lotiniere, who announced his withdrawal from the Bloc Populaire last week.

Mr. Chaloult, who proposed the motion two weeks ago said he hoped that "Canada will declare her independence after the war and will join the Pan-American Union." He presented the motion after Lord Halifax, in a Toronto address, suggested that members of the British Empire should commit themselves to a common post-war international policy.

Mr. Potvin said "it is impossible to accept and to conciliate with our own interests, a one-direction policy."

The legislature came to no decision on the immigration question but heard opposing views from Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale opposition leader, and Maurice Hartt, Liberal member for Montreal-St. Louis. Mr. Duplessis proposed that correspondence relative to immigration in the Province be tabled and a decision will be reached whenever the motion comes up for discussion again.

Mr. Duplessis gave details of what he said was a plan to bring refugees from European countries to Canada after the war, and quoted a letter purporting to show that one plan was for the settling of 100,000 Jewish refugees from Central Europe on Quebec farms.

The letter, said to have been written by H. L. Roscovitz to Rabbi J. Schwartz of Montreal, was the one Mr. Duplessis read at a political meeting last fall and which Jewish leaders said did not originate in Jewish circles and was not received by Rabbi Schwartz.

Mr. Duplessis said yesterday that the letter was "authentic" and that it said that "the Zionist International Fraternity would support financially all Liberal candidates who agree openly or secretly to support" the immigration project.

Mr. Hart said that the letter could not be genuine, that he had asked Mr. Duplessis previously to produce it and say how he got it. and that the Opposition leader had declined. He made the same requests in the House and Mr. Duplessis declined.

The Montreal-St. Louis member said that the French Canadian people in general "always showed a spirit of justice and peace, and are the first to save and help those who suffer," but that some people "have the mentality to condemning the collectivity when they meet a bad Jew."

Big Hospitals Are Pleasant

By MARGARET ECKER,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TAPLOW, England, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Being in sick bay in Britain isn't so unpleasant for the Canadian servicemen as it might be, thanks to the Canadian Red Cross.

Take Taplow for instance, the big, pleasant hospital built by Red Cross and now operated by the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

The hospital itself is set among the gardens and trees of Lady Astor's Cliveden estate. The road from the hospital winds down a hill past thatched roof cottages and stone manor houses in the Thames valley, one of the prettiest parts of England. Up patients can ramble about the countryside as far as wobbly legs will take them.

For patients in bed, the Canadian Red Cross Corps girls are one of the reasons why Taplow is a pleasant, cheery place.

Matron Moya Macdonald of Halifax led us through the corridors with their apple green walls to a big sunny room where Muriel Thornton of Toronto and Montreal with Audrey Gray of Halifax and Mollie Crombie of Montreal were working among their handicraft materials.

These girls, occupational therapists, teach the patients how to make felt rugs, leather wallets and needle-work.

Spr. David Silk of Shelburne, Ont. commented:

"Gives a fellow something to do."

The library is another way the coprs girls keep the patients' mind off their worries. The books, which cover the newest in fiction as well as technical subjects were supplied by Red Cross.

Greer Stresses Value Of Trade Classes

TORONTO, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Dr. V. K. Greer, recently appointed superintendent of Elementary Education for Ontario, to-day expressed criticism of the emphasis which parents place on academic and matriculation classes rather than a more practical type of education.

In a statement presented to the Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry, Dr. Greer said there was a definite move toward providing courses which would give a general all-round knowledge and vocational training. The course would be completed at the end of Grade X and would be adequate for the needs of the 60 per cent of students not interested in advancing to University or senior matriculation.

Township school areas with a central school teaching the first two years of High School work were suggested by Dr. Greer who said he was anxious to see these schools organized. He said the Department of Education was not pressing now for establishment of consolidated schools because of high capital cost had brought opposition.

Discussing Provincial Education Grants, Dr. Greer said a flat 50 per cent. grant throughout the Province would not work out as many of the rural schools were given more assistance than that while some of the larger urban municipalities did not need that much help.

Main Street Topics

TAKING COURSE.

Major J. F. C. Maunder, M. C., and BSM. G. E. Randall of the 4th Reserve Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery are at Halifax attending a training course in ack-ack gunnery.

FOR THE POLICE FUND

Tickets for the annual police dance and draw will go on sale early next week for an attractive list of prizes. The proceeds are for the Police Benevolent Fund and the members of the department hope to raise a substantial sum. Their efforts recently have been to raise money for the Canadian Police Spitfire Fund and as a result their own benevolent fund has been more or less neglected for some time.

RESERVISTS GO ACTIVE

Five former members of the 4th Reserve Anti-Aircraft Battery have enlisted for Active Service, three in the Army and one each in the Navy and Air Force. Francis R. K. Hoar, 236 Rubidge street, Keith L. Alton, 448 Mark street, and Walter Lane, 228 Stewart, have gone into the Army; Harold J. Bestard, R.R. No. 3, Peterborough, is now in the Navy; and Ken. R. Jakins, Lakefield, has joined up with the Air Force.

RECRUITED BY BATATERY

A recent recruit taken on the strength of the 4th Reserve Heavy Anti-Aircraft Battery is Leonard J. Howse, 45 Hunter street E.

A LIGHT DOCKET

The police court docket this morning was the lightest in weeks. One man, John Whalen, entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of having been drunk last week and he was assessed the customary fine of $10 and $3.50. The usual court attendants had just nicely seated themselves when the proceedings were all over and they had to go out into the cold again.

FOUR CASUALTIES.

Two men dead, and two wounded, is the Peterborough total on today's casualty list. Gnr. Hector Brick, son of Mrs. Annie Brick, Donegal Stret, died of wounds; Pte. Kenneth McGregor, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, is the son of Archie McGregor, Lindsay, dead; Lieut. Louis Maraskas, son of Mrs. Katherine Maraskas, Belleville, wounded while with the Armored Corps; and Sgt. Frederick E. Delyea, whose wife is Mrs. Grace Delyea, Bancroft, is reported wounded with the H. & P.E. Regiment.

Farmer Has Granary Full Of Wheat 3,500 Bushels Piled In Yard

With his granary full of wheat and 3,500 bushels heaped up in a pile in his barnyard, and the 1944 crop to be planted, W. C. Hales from the Moose Jaw section of Saskatchewan on a visit to his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hales, 635 Stewart street, sometimes wonders what he is going to do for storage when the grain of the next harvest is on his hands.

Multiply the Hales barn and that excess and overflow in the yard by the number of farms in Saskatchewan, and also by the grain farms of Manitoba and Alberta, and even a remote layman down here at Peterborough can imagine the back-log of good Canadian grain, most of it the "Thatcher" variety, that has been dammed up by the restrictions and exclusions of war.

By way of introducing Mr. Hales, his friends know him as a son of Burleigh township. He worked in Peterborough for three years in 1906-07-08, mostly teaming. "I dumped the first load of gravel for the Normal School" he told the Examiner today.

In the spring of 1909 he took a homestead 20 miles south of Moose Jaw where he has 800 acres. This winter trip down to see the home folks is the first in ten years, and Mr. Hales said he would likely stay around until the first of April.

On Quota Basis

"We are operating out there on a wheat quota selling basis. We are allowed to sell 14 bushels to the acre on 60% of our 1941 seeded acreage.

The Federal government agrees to buy a certain number of million bushels based on the seeded acreage of 1941. Every body will readily understand what that means. Suppose a man had sown 600 acres in 1941. In the first place the government's undertaking applies to 60 percent of that area or 360 acres. The government agrees to sell, in other words to buy from us, to the amount of 14 bushels to the acre, and in that man's case the guarantee would apply to 360 times 14 bushels.

On that basis they can estimate quite closely the number of millions of wheat they will have to buy from the grain farmers.

Our year in the west begins around the first of August, and that is when the quota system comes into application. Within the first few weeks after wheat is threshed, the first quota order may be for three bushels to the acre. Then if the elevators are not full in your neighborhood you may get in a short time another order for two bushels (to the acre). You go along like that until you have delivered around 10 bushels to the acre. By that time, looking back at our experience last year, you are encountering difficulties of fulness and the back-log is being felt. Probably if we could get enough cars to be able to keep things moving there would not be any further delay in getting out the amount of 14 bushels to the acre; but that was a serious obstacle last year. We had to wait until grain would move away and empty the elevators so we could deliver the rest of our quota sales.

And that explains why my barn is full of wheat and I've left a pile of 3,500 bushels out in the yard, uncovered and facing the weather. I finished my quota deliveries early in January, but in one part of the province there were men who have delivered only three bushels to the acre on their quota and that wouldn't bring them in enough to clear expenses.

1942 Crop in Barn

Most of that grain in the barn was 1942 crop. That was a magnificent crop. Many of us have been hoping that the government may be able to extend the quota beyond fourteen bushels to the acre. That would help us move out the surplus grain I had to stack up in the yard. Some of it will be damaged, but the loss should not be at all serious unless we have a wet spring.

So, you see, we are now facing toward the sowing season of 1944, and the west is faced with that question what are we going to do? Well, I'm going to sow another 400 acres in wheat; and most of the people are of the same mind. We'll put it in the ground, and we'll see where we stand at harvest time."

Mr. Hales said the 1942 crop from his farm averaged 45 bushels to the acre after a 16% loss from hail. It was literally a bumper crop, but at 25 bushels to the acre he will have approximately 10,000 bushels of wheat rolling in from his fields next August and no place to put it. At least he has no place right now, and he doesn't know what he will do with it. Of course there is the possibility the war may be ended by that time, and the Atlantic dams will be down. Or, the government may assist in providing temporary storage accommodation.

Whatever develops between seeding and "combining" time, Mr. Hales did not utter a word of criticism against circumstances or the government authorities. It is a wartime problem, and they put the emphasis in the west on that word war. Not that Mr. Hales did. In fact he was inclined to be reticent even to the point of declining to mention the exact number of bushels of grain he has now in stock. But the west itself has placed the emphasis of the sacrifice of its young manhood upon its attitude to the war. The casualty list of the R. C. A. F. alone, since the beginning of hostilities, and especiallly during the first two or three years testified to the quality of the young men of the prairie towns and hamlets and cities.

Mr. Hales told the Examiner that he had to burn a little of his wheat of last year, and probably a lot of other farmers did too. But that was only a slight loss that could not be helped. Some men put up big bins in the fields, but left the grain in them uncovered. Somewhere in the area cattle got around another man's field pile of wheat and treaded it into the mud of a wet spell. But, those were incidental losses.

Material help for the present and future would flow from additional orders beyond the quota levels, and also with release of freight cars to get the grain moving from the elevators.

Cough Drops Proving Substitute For Candy

The substitution trend, which is being seen in the use of hair tonics, shaving lotions and similar preparations by folk with an alcoholic complex, is by no means confined to that field.

Candy, as most people know, is scarce. Supplies are limited and disappear as soon as they reach the shelves or the show-cases. The result has been a tremendous increase in the sale of cough drops. Those not too heavily medicated have been the favorites of course, but any kind of a cough drop commands a ready sale. They form a substitute for the candy that is not available and there is the additional advantage that they are not taxed.

"I have sold more of one brand of cough drops in the last six months" said one dealer to the Examiner yesterday" than I did in the previous fifteen years".

Incidentally that particular brand is practically off the market now, so heavy have been the sales.

PO. P. Whitnall Trains For Pilot's Job

PO. Phillip Whitnall, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Whitnall, 549 Murray street, who escaped from occupied territory a few months ago, is ready to get back into action again. This time he will return, not as an air gunner, but a full fledged pilot, for he is taking a course at Belleville No. 5 I.T.S.

PO. P. WHITNALL

One of a crew of an R.A.F. medium bomber, PO. Whitnall was forced to bail out at 1,000 feet over enemy territory when Nazi anti-aircraft fire knocked out the plane. As this is the first time he has told anything about his adventure, his story follows:

"I hardly remember anything about jumping," he said. "It seemed that no sooner had I pulled the ripcord than I had hit the 'deck'."

From the time he landed in enemy territory until six months later when he was able to get back to his unit, it was a deadly game of hide-and-seek between PO. Whitnall and the Germans. He was never taken prisoner by the Nazis but managed to elude detection until he made his escape.

Asked how he managed to keep from being captured, the flier returned "just put it down that I was able to run a bit faster than the Germans." He would not state in what part of Europe he was forced down.

PO. Whitnall enlisted in December 1940 and he graduated from Mountain View in October 1941 as a wireless operator-air gunner. He arrived overseas in November of the same year and was attached to the R.A.F. until he was reported missing in May 1943. In October 1943, word reached his parents that he was safe in British territory. He was a former employee of the De Laval.

At the same station is another air gunner, who was shot down over enemy territory and later escaped from Italy. He is Flying Officer Jack Otten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Otten of Kingston, and a cousin of Mrs. G. M. Stenton, Water street. He too, is training as a pilot.

FO. Otten had his torpedo bomber shot into the sea from a height of about 100 feet. The plane crashed off the coast of Greece when hit by ack-ack fire and he floated for 3½ hours before being picked up by a Greek fisherman. Half-drowned in the dark seas, he was placed in a Greek hospital to recuperate, and later taken to a prison camp in Italy, where he spent 18 months. He was among the first of the Allied fliers to be imprisoned in Italy.

Regrets Attitude

BRISTOL, England, Feb. 18 (CP Cable).—Sir Alfred Beit, M.P., voicing support of recent proposals for greater co-ordination of the Empire's foreign and defence policies, told a meeting here yesterday that "I regret Canada's attitude but recognized her special position."

Health Board's Estimates In Two Amounts

"We can say decidedly that annexation cannot take effect until the first of next year," said Mayor Hamilton in a reference at the Board of Health meeting, Thursday afternoon to extension of services into the new areas when they are finally transferred to the city's household.

"City officials feel that it would be impossible to get the preparatory work done, although the Township would like it to be done this year."

Mayor Hamilton's statement relegated beyond immediate consideration of the incoming sections and their health requirements for this year as provided by the city's department.

Expected Expenditures.

Estimated expenditures submitted by Dr. R. A. Kelly, M. O. H., amount to $28,140.90 with receipts of $4,100, leaving $24,040.90 as a balance in the recommendation to the council.

The corresponding estimated expenditures last year were $24,955 and receipts $5,600, leaving the net at $19,355.

The actual payments in 1943 amounted to $23,372.22 with receipts of $3,957.04, and a balance of $19,415.18 as the net cost of the Board's activities.

Dr. Kelly presented a supplementary estimate of expenditures and receipts for the extended use of Queen Mary Hospital as a convalescent institution as proposed on occasion in discussions of its more general use.

Total estimated expenditure on that basis is set at $32,230.90 less receipts of $4,100, leaving $28,130.90 to be requisitioned, less unestimated receipts from convalescents.

Expanded use of the hospital would require three additional nurses and an extra maid, Dr. Kelly said, and accommodation would be provided for up to eight convalescents who could be transferred from the present hospitals.

Mayor Hamilton raised the question as to whether the proposed provision for convalescents was properly within the scope of the Board of Health's administration.

Two Lists for Council.

It was decided to recommend the general estimates to the finance committee of the council, and also to suggest that consideration be given to the supplementary figures to the committee in the event that it was favorable to convalescents project.

Alderman Dutton, presiding, congratulated Dr. Kelly on the detailed completeness of his annual report which the members received yesterday. Distribution of one hundred copies will include the members of the council and school boards and also the doctors of the city.

Millbrook Has Dance To Sell War Stamps

Millbrook is included in the Peterborough area for the Food Industry campaign to raise $26,000 by the end of February.

And to further the cause with a vigorous boost in the right direction, they are holding a big bingo and dance to-night in the Armouries. In getting ready for the event most of the folks turned out last night and went to work with mops and pails and brushes cleaning the floor and generally "tidying up."

The Food Industry's effort is to encourage people to buy more War Savings Stamps, a matter of putting away money now when the war has to be won, and getting it back with interest when the job is done and your savings flow back to you.

Exports Grow

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 —(CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said yesterday Canada's merchandise export trade "continues to reflect the needs of a world at war," with the flow of foodstuffs, clothing, forestry products and certain forms of armaments increasing considerably during January. Total value of domestic exports in January was $242,011,000, compared with $177,324,000 in the corresponding month of last year, an increase of $64,687,000.

Mechanics Institute Of50 Years Ago Did Spade Work In Technical Training

Through the tuition and inspiration afforded by its Mechanics Institute of fifty years ago, Peterborough merited a special place in the early introduction of technical instruction to Canada's young citizens of that generation.

In 1894 the Institute was in operation here as an adjunct of the federal Department of Agriculture. Its affairs were directed by well known public spirited citizens. Dr. George Burnham was chairman; Thomas Richardson was vice-chairman; and John Corkery was secretary.

The Institute occupied the second floor rooms over the present law offices of J. F. Strickland, K. C., on the west side of Water St.

The classroom and library were located in those upstairs premises, and among the subjects taught were mathematics and mechanical drawing. The instructor was Robert L. Hamilton, an employee in the shops of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

Student Roll

A list of the students in February 1893 gives the following names:—George Atkinson; Leslie Adams; Fred Browne; Tom Byshe; Will Connal; Ed Cookson; Herb Cluxton; R. Dormer; Charles Dawson; John Dawson; Russel Evans; Harold Fife; Herb Ford; Miss Helen Hilliard; (the only lady), R. G. Irwin; William King; Roland Wilson; Arthur Lang; R. M. Roy; J. M. Watt; T. McKibben; Alf. Plummer.

These students sent a selection of mechanical drawings to the World Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1894. The exhibit won a diploma and medal, the result of the recent work at the original Mechanics Institute.

It should also be said that the present handsome Public Library on George Street is in a great measure due to the work of men of the Mechanics Institute of fifty years ago. It is also worth recording that the original diplomas and medal are in safe keeping at the Public Library.

"Some of the students of that time are still with us and in responsible positions."

This information regarding the beginning of technical education in Peterborough was forwarded to the Examiner from Robert Hamilton of Kingston.

T. Miller Fined $100 For Gaming House

COBOURG, Feb. 18 — (ENS) — Thomas Miller of Brighton paid a fine of $100 and costs in police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to keeping a common gaming house. He was arrested by Provincial Constable Alex MacLeod of Cobourg, who seized a slot machine on Miller's premises. Magistrate R. B. Baxter directed that the machine and contents be confiscated.

"I don't believe that people have money to throw away on your machine. If someone talked you into handling it, you were foolish to listen to him," commented the magistrate.

Miller operates a grocery store and had the slot machine, one of them which operates with a handle, located in his store.

Reserve Army To Shorten Drill Parades

Revised regulations that were recently issued by the Federal Government in respect of the training set-up of Reserve Army units has meant a cutting down in the time spent in drill and other work by the Prince of Wales Rangers (RF) on parade nights, it was said at the Armouries Thursday by Major J. P. McGrath, M.M. The officer stated that from now on until the end of the current training year, which will be concluded the end of March, the Tuesday night parades are going to be over around 10 o'clock instead of lasting until almost 11 o'clock, as has been the practice prevailing in late months.

The reason for this, Major McGrath said, is that the battalion is working in excess of the training time allotted it under Department regulations, and at present is the equivalent of 14 or 15 nights' time over what would be in keeping with Reserve Army schedules.

In addition to this alteration, an important changeover is being made in the dividing up of battalion members for training purposes on the parade nights, Major McGrath said. Training will no longer be carried on in the company divisions as heretofore, and the regiment will be separated into two sections, one basic and the other advanced.

Introduce Change

Initiated for the first time on Tuesday night, it is left to the decision of the men themselves which section they will join. Later on tests of elementary training will determine the suitability of each man for the section he has chosen. NCO's and specialists, training on the Thursday before the regular parade night, will be instructed in the work to be given on the following Tuesday.

The battalion is anxious to increase the strength of its signal platoon, and points to the advantages training this field can give a young man, and especially one who expects to be called up for active service at some future date. Those who have left this platoon of the Rangers in the war years have all enlisted, and as a consequence of their reserve training have qualified for really worthwhile positions in Signal Corps work.

Pretty sure of a job in their chosen field, for good signallers are rare, they have in some cases gone as high as obtaining posts in divisional headquarters communications work. Their Reserve training makes it possible for them to start off at regular trades-pay rates when they enlist; and meanwhile they have covered a course in wireless operation that would cost substantial fees to obtain through correspondence school.

City Ice Cutting Goes Ahead Rapidly

Blocks of ice were sliding today into the big storage building on Rink street which the city recently bought from John Allin. It is being cut in the big brickyard pond on the Curtis property east of the canal.

Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Glover went down this morning to see the storing operations. Street Commissioner Burgess is in charge of the work which is progressing at a rate suggesting that the job will be completed in a week or thereabouts.

The council has already had an offer for the sale of this property which extends through to Townsend street, but Mayor Hamilton said there was no disposition in the council to dispose of it.

"We're not in the real estate business," he said; "that might be the rink site yet."

Pope To Appeal?

LONDON, Feb. 18 (CP).—The Nazi-dominated Vichy radio said today, "According to Italian Catholic quarters the Pope intends to send a personal message to King George VI of England and may also broadcast an appeal to all belligerents asking them to spare the Eternal City." The broadcast was recorded by The Associated Press.

Training Plane Missing In Coe Hill Area

TORONTO, Feb. 18 (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force training plane is missing on a night training flight from the air training station at Trenton to eastern Ontario, headquarters of No. 1 training command of the R.C.A.F. said today.

The plane, carrying three crew members, left Trenton last night at 10 o'clock on a scheduled 2½-hour flight which was to take it to Renfrew, Kilalloe and Coe Hill. Although equipped with radio, no word has been heard from the plane and search planes are out today looking for it.

Overseas Easter Boxes Must Be In March 1

With Easter Day on April 9 this year, the Post Office has set March 1 as the latest date on which Easter mail can be posted for overseas with a reasonable expectation of delivery in time for the holiday. Nevertheless, the public is urged not to wait until the last minute, when congestion of the mails is likely to prevail.

Attention has been drawn again to the fact that the Postal Service is still confronted with a tremendous volume of mail, with the problems of pressure on transportation facilities and the dangers of the transatlantic crossings, to say nothing of adverse winter weather to be faced in flying mail to the United Kingdom and the Mediterranean.

Recognizing as it does the importance of mail as one of the greatest factors in keeping the troops in cheerful spirits, the Post Office believes that neither Easter nor any other holiday, birthday or anniversary should be allowed to pass without sending a special message or gift to relatives or friends on active service.

Police Chief Reports Increased Delinquency

LINDSAY, Feb. 18 (ENS)—In his annual report submitted to the town council, Chief Police R. H. Lawler, stated that despite rationing of liquor and early closing of hotels, there was a sharp increase in the number of court cases involving breaches of the Liquor Control Act last year. There were increased also in prosecutions for juvenile delinquency.

In regard to other crimes the report revealed that Lindsay had a very lean record during the year. Commenting upon a new curfew by-law, Chief Lawler stated it might be more affective if the law could be applied to delinquent parents.

APSLEY, Feb. 18 (ENS)—A progressive euchre party was held this week at Mrs. James Downing's home. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. D. Newberry; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Roger Brown; men's first prize, Dan Whitmore; men's consolation, James Downing. Proceeds amounting to $5 were donated to War Service Club.

I.N.O. Examiners Give Aid For War Victims

There is always a certain fellowship brought into being through associations that people have with one another when their daily tasks bring them into contact with each other, and this all the more enriched when as a group they can unite and so some work of good for others outside of their own immediate selves.

Few people if any in these days ever miss the smallest of change that is usually contained in their pay envelope, and yet collectively from even a small group it can mount up to do some worth-while good in their name, from which each must gain some satisfaction, for no matter what shape or form good work on behalf of others take, it, always carries with it, its own reward.

In this manner, the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund is able to announce today that a contribution has been received from the I. N. O. Examiners, of the British Admiralty Technical Mission at the Western Clock Co. Ltd. of this city amounting to $6.25 per S. J. Hunter, and it is interesting to note that with the exception of the supervisor, all of the staff are local citizens.

To work under such auspices as they are, is in itself an inspiration for patriotism, since any connection however remote it may be with one which has such a glorious tradition as the British Navy has, cannot help but catch a vision of what it has meant to the Empire ever since that Drake vanquished the Spanish Armada.

Their effort on behalf of the sufferers from air raids over Britain could well serve as an inspiration for any others as a group be they small or large, and if such was the case, each in turn could do their good deed which would pyramid to one of such proportions as to be a most valuable assist for the work the fund is endeavoring in the name of the citizens to carry on.

The special appeal that has been made in the pats few days for help of a personal nature, to-day finds a response in a practical way with a gift from Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Steinkraus, who have given assistance in a similar manner on former occasions.

Draw for Cedar Chest.

Saturday is usually the busiest shopping day of the week, and those who happen to be in the Canadian Department Stores this week will be able to do a little to help the fund through the purchase of a ticket for a draw on a cedar chest with all the good things a housewife likes to have.

This draw sponsored by the management and staff is going to be held at a St. Patrick's Day dance to be held in the Legion Hall on Murray Street on March 17, tickets for which may also be procured from members of the staff, and all the net proceeds will come to the fund. This group has already raised $743.79 for the fund, and are now hoping to bring the total well above the four figure mark through this latest effort, which is a repeat of similar events held on the same day in the past few years.

IN MEMORIAM.

WATSON. — In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Madeline, who fell asleep February 18th, 1943.

At home in the beautiful mountains of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
And silently sinks the western sun,
With joy we shal meet her there.

—Sadly missed by Mother, Daddy and Patricia.

PETERS. — In loving memory of our dear little daughter, June Eileen Peters, who passed away February 18th, 1936.

God sent a little angel
To cheer us for awhile;
Who with her baby sweetness
Did our lonely hearts beguile.
She tarried just a little while,
God could not spare her long;
He needed little Junie
To swell the angel throng.
Then He called her back to him,
He'll shield her from all pain;
There was an angel missing,
So He took her back again.
Days of sadness will come o'er us
When our hearts are all "unrest"
Can we say, tho' hearts are breaking,
Jesus did it for the best.

Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Brother, Sisters and Grandmother McClure

Canuck Fliers Boost Plane Total

By RELMAN MORIN,
Associated Press War Correspondent

ALGIERE, Feb. 18 — (AP) — Flt.-Lt. James Francis Edwards of North Battleford, Sask., an R. C. A. F. fighter pilot with the City of Windsor Squadron, stepped out of his Spitfire to-day after a mission over the Anzio beachhead south of Rome and solemnly reported, "the old eye is still pretty good."

A year ago Edwards was noted as a sharpshooter. During the desert war he climbed into top scoring position in his squadron with 10½ victories over enemy fighters. Then he finished his tour of duty. Recently he returned for a second operational tour and was sent into the battle of the beachhead where the intensity of fighting in the air almost equals that on the ground.

Just to test out "the old eye", Edwards took a shot at a German fighter-bomber at a range of 500 yards which Spitfire pilots generally consider too great for accurate shooting. He saw pieces break off the German aircraft, then watched it crash.

"It's better than I ever did in the desert," the Flight Lieutenant declared.

This victory and a probable scored by Flt.-Lt. Hadley Everard of Timmins, Ont., brought the crack Canadian squadron's total bag to a round figure of 300 enemy ships destroyed or probably destroyed since its formation.

German Shell Killed Photographer

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN ITAY, Feb. 18—(CP Cable)—Lieut. Terry Rowe of Winnipeg, was killed almost instantly and two companions, Lieut. Colin McDougall of Ottawa and Driver David King of Burlington, Ont., were wounded Feb. 6 when a German shell struck a building near which they were walking, it was disclosed to-day.

The death of Rowe, an ace still photographer, and the wounding of McDougall, a motion picture cameraman, were announced respectively Feb. 11 and 14, without details. The wounding of King had not previously been announced. McDougall and King are recovering in hospital from shrapnel wounds.

These were the first battle casualties of the Canadian army photo unit whose soldier-cameramen follow the Canadians into every action.

Rowe had a hostof friends throughout the Canadian army and was known and admired by privates and senior officers alike. He was fearless and refused to consider risks when looking for pictures.

First dispatches last week on the death of Rowe and the wounding of McDougall said the casualties occurred on the Nettuno beachhead where they had gone to photograph Canadian special service troops, members of a joint Canadian-American force operating with the 5th Army.

Charges in an additional three cases were withdrawn today by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

APSLEY, Feb. 18.—(ENS).— The War Service Club held a sewing and business meeting combined this week at the home of Mrs. Wellington Lean. Plans were made for transportation of blood donors to Peterborough to-night. A quilting was planned to be held at Mrs. Downing's on February 23. Following the business session the ladies sewed on garments for the Red Cross Society. One Million Men In Army Post-War Plan

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP).—One million men constantly under arms and a Navy greater than the 1941 fleet in a world from which war has been banished is the paradoxical forecast of some observers here for post-war United States.

Maintenance of such a force was held essential by Marquis Childs, veteran foreign correspondent, in his first column, "Washington Calling," when he took over the syndicate spot vacated by the death of Raymond Clapper, in a Marshall Islands plane crash.

But he is not the first. Writers and Congressmen have said the same thing, and it has been said in varying degrees, in and of other countries of the United Nations.

Yet the general assumption—and certainly the hope and inspiration of the United Nations war effort—is that victory over the Axis Powers will forever remove the threat of aggression.

There has been a chorus of demands from quarters of varying influence for the post-war retention by the United States of bases established in other lands for the purpose of stopping the Axis.

The only purpose of an armament race among the victorious Powers in the post-war period would be for defence from each other, since they would have destroyed for all time the war-making potentialities of the traditional aggressors.

Thus it would appear the protagonists of perpetual maintenance of powerful armed forces, by any other of the Allied Powers, are making the tragic assumption that the United Nations ideal of a world free of the fear of aggression cannot be attained.

It would seem to a layman, only a compact and highly mobile international force would be necessary to provide against the rise to power of any ambition-mad country.

Tired Daddies

Children first: The Washington Times-Herald and the New York Daily News, ever ready to tell the United States and any other Government what it should do, have editorially demanded conscription of 17-year-olds rather than of the married men with children. They claim that there are some 1,800,000 boys between 17 and the draft age, 18, who should be called before the tired daddies in their 30's.

This, perhaps, is more acceptable than another suggestion frequently made by the same papers, that the Allies take the initiative in the use of poison gas as a war weapon.

Add 3,000 Ships.

Victory Fleet: Close to 3,000 merchantmen have been added to the United States Victory Fleet since the country entered the war and anti-administration critics are already fearful of what will be done with the merchant marine when the war is over. They are afraid some of these vessels will go to those Allies, including Britain, whose freighters bore the brunt of the early submarine campaign.

McNaughton case: No Canadian war figure has been more publicized in the United States than Lt.-Gen. Andrew McNaughton, former Commander of the Canadian Army overseas. His return to Canada and the controversy there over reasons for his retirement have had prominent play in American newspapers.

Radio heroes: So many American soldiers have been heard on United States radio programs that the inevitable witticism has been invented, something like this: A healthy-looking youth is downcast because he is classified 4-F. A friend asks what his disability is. "I failed in the radio audition," is the reply.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LATE BID ON LENGTH

IF YOUR partner lets the bidding go on by him a couple of times without saying anything, and then cuts in on his third turn with a suit call, he certainly could not have anything but a lot of suit length without anything worth while in high cards. By bidding that way, he not only warns you against expecting any honor strength from him, but he also is cautioning you against going on with your own suit or suits, as he has so few cards there that the opponents must have a dangerous number against you.

What a bidding sequence? Everybody bawled out everybody else, after that deal. East gave it hot and heavy to West for passing his 1-Spade overcall when he should have bid 1-No Trump, and West berated East for not rebidding his spades over the 2-Diamonds, each feeling that a game had been tossed away.

North hollered at South for doing so much bidding without a single really high card in his hand. South, who said the least, probably had the best case of all, after he was set three tricks at the 5-Clubs doubled.

First he had passed as dealer. Second, he was unable to bid at all over East's 1-Spade, even though his own partner had opened the auction. He did not cut in at all until his third turn, when North's 2-Diamonds came to him, and then he made the very cheapest bid in the whole category over it, in the next ranking suit, with his 2-Hearts. North should have been amply warned that South's hand was worthless except in his own declaration or declarations, and should have left it at 2-Hearts.

Eliminate All Capital Goods In Lend Lease

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP)—Virtual elimination of capital goods shipments to Britain under lend-lease is understood to have been agreed upon by British and American supply officials here. The decision is one of numerous adjustments being made to keep lend-lease exports closely geared to military needs.

For several months the quantity of machinery going to Britain has been decreasing steadily, largely because British plants now have about all they need except for occasional replacements.

The approaching climax of the war in Europe has accentuated the policy of limiting all lend-lease supplies to those needed primarily for war purposes. Lend-lease officials apparently are determined not to leave themselves open to congressional criticism that they have supplied other countries equipment having more use in the post-war period than during the war.

This is understood to be in keeping with a view President Roosevelt has expressed to some of his aides that there must be a clean break between expenditures under lend-lease and those designed to help other nations reconstruct their industries once the war is won. Beginning on the day of victory or as soon afterward as possible lend-lease shipments will stop and capital goods exports will be made on either a cash or credit basis.

Back To Normal.

Efforts already are being made to return exports to regular commercial channels where possible. One result is that textiles, drugs and chemicals for the Middle East are no longer handled by the lend-lease administration. This change back to normal business methods was made possible by the improved shipping situation.

Similar returns to commercial operations are planned for other items and other regions as rapidly as war conditions permit.

So far as could be learned there have been no major changes in lend-lease shipments to Russia except that the proportion of railway equipment has increased considerably in recent weeks. The Russians urgently need track materials and rolling stock to replace that stolen by the Germans in their retreat back into Poland and the Balkans.

War Appropriation Grows Each Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 — (AP)—President Roosevelt today asked the largest appropriation in history for the United States navy—$30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

The outlay, subject to Congressional approval, would compare with $27,435,037,198 appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year and $23,808,852,547 for the preceding year.

The tentative 1945 estimate for the war program of the war department is $18,001,451,840, compared with a 1944 appropriation of $59,036,297,571.

English People Generous Massey Reports

OTTAWA, Feb. 18—(CP)—Canada never has been more in the public mind in Great Britain than now, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, said at a press conference here to-day.

This, he said, is due to the large number of Canadian service personnel serving in Britain, to a realization of what Canada is doing in the war and to the knowledge of every housewife that a big part of her bacon ration comes from Canada. The bacon ration, he remarked, is not large but is an important item in the British diet.

Mr. Massey, making his first visit home since 1939, said he does not intend to settle in England. As soon as his work is finished he and his wife and their two sons, one a prisoner in Germany and the other serving with the R.C.A.F., intend to return to Canada.

"We couldn't have better ambassadors than the men in our three services," said Mr. Massey. "It makes me prouder every day of being a Canadian when I see them both at work and on leave."

The hospitality of the British people towards Canadians has been generous and sincere. The men feel that they are in a "friendly and homelike community."

Mr. Massey said he had wanted to return to Canada for some time to renew contacts and have a look at recent developments but pressure of work due to the war made that impossible. He was sorry his visit this time would be confined to three weeks.

"He expects to make one speech to the Canadian Club in Toronto, and to visit his home at Port Hope, Ont., but will not have time to travel further westward than Toronto.

Pilot Describes Shadowing Fleet

TORONTO, Feb. 18—(CP)—PO. Robert Burton of nearby Kettleby arrived last night with a group of other airmen returning from overseas and told how he shadowed the Italian fleet on its way to surrender at Malta after the capitulation of the Italian Government to the Allies.

Pilot of a torpedo-carrying Wellington bomber, Burton was one of three pilots who sighted the Italian fleet. The other two were ordered away and he was told to stay and watch.

"It was rather shaky business for we didn't know what the Italians were up to," he said. "I figured they were on our side though...I went in for a photograph of them in daylight. I was standing up taking the picture when they let go. Bam! It came so close I never did take that picture properly."

5-Man Board To Be Set Up

TORONTO, Feb. 18 — (CP) — Creation of a five-man arbitration board in a new set-up involving retention of the Ontario Labor Court is reported under consideration by Premier Drew's cabinet, the Globe and Mail said to-day in reporting that a labor bill to be introduced at the opening of the Legislature next Tuesday is almost "ready for final touches."

If the government decides upon the arbitration board, the newspaper said, the Labor Court's function would be to deal with disputes be-between employers and employees while the board handled certification of unions and other groups representing employees.

American Robbed Twice In One Week

MONTREAL, Feb. 18—(CP)—An official of the United States Army Air Force—E. Tex Reddick—whose parked car was broken into last week by thieves who stole $86,000 worth of bonds, later recovered by police, today had to thank again the same alert detectives. Last night they recovered $900 worth of clothing that had been taken yesterday from the official's car parked within a block from where it was when the first theft took place.

Reddick came here early this month as United States Army Air Force co-ordinator at an aircraft plant.

Refutes Blood Test

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18—(AP)—The California supreme court holds that blood tests to determine paternity are not conclusive evidence, United States Attorney Charles H. Carr said yesterday of the announcement that such tests had cleared Comedian Charlie Chaplin of being the father of Joan Berry's baby.

His office is not interested in the tests' finality, he said, and in any case the 54-year-old actor will be prosecuted on Mann Act and conspiracy indictments.

Canol Pipeline Completed In Far North

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Feb. 18 — (CP)—Final links in the American-financed Canol project pipeline from Norman Wells, N.W.T., to Whitehorse, were welded today near Macmillan Pass, astride the Arctic continental divide deep in the Mackenzie mountain range.

The welding thus completed one of the most vital parts of the $130,000,000 project, a program of the U.S. government for development and distribution of oil and gasoline in northwestern Canada and Alaska.

"The pipeline project is completed as of today we hope soon to make the first test runs at Whitehorse," said Brig.-Gen. L. D. Worsham of Evansville, Ind., commanding general of the northwest service command. Gen. Worsham was in charge of the project under over-all command of Brig.Gen. James A. O'Connor, former commanding general of the northwest service command.

Started In 1942

The project, started June 29, 1942, two days after the U.S. government proposed development to Canadian authorities of the area when a Japanese attack on Alaska appeared imminent, consists of:

Drilling of wells at Norman Wells, a construction road from Norman Wells to Whitehorse, pipeline which parallels the construction road, pump stations and storage tanks, a refinery which was dismantled in Texas and transported and enlarged at Whitehorse and a network of pipelines to other points in Canada and Alaska.

Canol, which stands for Canadian oil lines, is the farest north oilfield in the world and is about 1,000 miles north of Edmonton.

Terms of the agreement between the U.S. and Canadian governments, provided the U.S. government would construct the project and own and operate it for duration of the war. Thereafter the properties are to be valued and the Conadian government is to have first option of purchasing the pipeline and refinery at the commercial valuation.

Soldiers, Nurses Complete 60-Day Journey

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ITALY, Feb. 18 —(AP).—A little band of 13 American army nurses, 13 soldiers and four plane crew members attired in an odd assortment of ill-fitting clothes, stepped gaily from the deck of a trim British naval launch Jan. 9, ending a 60-day journey through Nazi-controlled territory during which they escaped death or capture countless times. They were aided throughout by Balkan underground workers.

The dangerous game of hide-and-seek with the enemy started when their transport hospital plane clash-landed in the mountains of Albania early last November, after being lost in a thunder storm and fired on by Nazi fighters.

Later as they trekked across the Albanian mountains they were caught in a Balkan blizzard which nearly brought their flight to a tragic end.

At the last they made a 26-hour forced march to a seacoast rendezvous after an attempt to rescue them by plane failed.

The most heart breaking moment of the journey came when rescuing planes, sent to pick them up, were forced to leave because approaching German troops were in a position to sweep the landing field with heavy fire.

"That was our lowest moment—when we saw our American planes fly away and leave us," said one nurse.

After the plane rescue failed the disappointed party resumed the long, devious walk to the coast, which they finally reached after a fatiguing 26 hour forced March.

That night they waited tensely on the rocky shores as a single row boat took them, a few at a time, out across the shallow waters to the waiting British launch. It was after midnight before the last of the little party was aboard.

As the rescue vessel neared its home port the nurses—feminine to the end—spruced up as best they could and dabbed on their last bits of lipstick which they had been saving for this moment.

New Drug Believed Effective In Treating Tuberculosis Cases

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 — (AP) — A new drug for tuberculosis, called Promizole, is reported in the proceedings of the Mayo Clinic.

It is in use, both in guinea pig experiments, where it is extremely effective, and in human treatment where its value is not expected to be known for some years.

The importance of Promizole lies in the fact that it is the third of similar new products to be introduced for tuberculosis in three years, all of the same chemical family, and that this last member of the trio is much less toxic for human beings than the previous two.

Promizole is a distinct relative of the sulfa drugs, but is really a sulfone, a somewhat different chemical family. Its potency depends on a benzene ring rather than an sulfas. The two predecessor drugs, also sulfones are Promin and Diasone. A strong suggestion was made recently that the latter is the long-sought cure for tuberculosis.

Actually all three have cured guinea pig tuberculosis. But human beings with tuberculosis react much differently than guinea pigs and the animal experiment do not mean as much as in some other medicines wheer they are sure indicators of an important human remedy.

The Mayos have had the same good results on guinea pigs with the new Promizole that they got with Promin and Diasone. The clinic also has used the new remedy on 56 human tuberculosis cases.

Since human beings who recover from tuberculosis may get well without medicines, the Mayo physicians think it will require years before there can be certainty about the effectiveness of new remedy.

W.I. Has Discussion On Home Economics

WESTWOOD, Feb. 18—(ENS)—The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the town hall on Tuesday afternoon, with a small attendance, largely due to the stormy weather and road conditions.

With the president, Mrs. S. Graham, presiding, reports were received from the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Wood, and the War Work treasurer, Mrs. H. S. Neilson. Several letters of appreciation for gifts were read. It was voted to send $1 to the Confederated Women's Institute for the Emergency Fund. A Canadian apple with its chief characteristics was given in answer to the roll call.

An address on "Present Day Home Economics and the Homemaker," prepared by Mrs. J. E. Glover of Hastings, who was unable to be present, was read by Mrs. W. Morris. The life history of the Canadian poet Archdeacon Frederick George Scott, beloved padre of the Canadian Corps in the First Great War, was reviewed by Mrs. A. Wood, who also gave one of his poems, "The Unnamed Lake."

A two-minute speech by each member on ways to economize revealed some valuable information. Mrs. F. Neilson sponsored a "word" contest which was won by Mrs. A. Wood and Mrs. E. Sargent winning second prize.

At the close of the meeting a lunch was served.

Allies Seize 2 Heights At Cassino

Enemy Losses Heavy On Beachhead Allied Lines Intact

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 19 —(AP)— Allied forces are holding their lines intact on the battle-churned Anzio beachhead after smashing back attacks by four full German divisions — 40,000 to 60,000 men—in the strongest Nazi counter-blows yet delivered, Allied headquarters announced today.

The 5th Army on the main front southeast, reinforced by New Zealand and Indian troops, tightened a ring on Cassino from the northeast, northwest and south, winning two heights west of Mount Cassino and reaching the railway station south of the town after throwing 50,000 shells into the ruined stronghold.

The powerful Nazi assault south of Rome knocked a hole in the Allied line near Carroceto, 10 miles north of Anzio, but 5th Army tanks and infantry struck back in several successful local counter - attacks, "causing heavy casualties to the enemy" and making some progress.

An Allied officer said that "unlike previous enemy attacks this is obviously the fullest-scale effort to throw the Allied forces back into the sea."

Front dispatches said the Germans were attacking with even greater fury today, and that Allied troops were defending their lines in the grimmest fighting. The Germans were spraying the whole area with shellfire.

The German communique asserted the Nazis had advanced 2½ miles south of Carroceto, or within 7½ miles of Anzio. The Germans claimed that they were still holding the Cassino railroad station, but the Algiers radio said Allied troops had occupied it.

The beachhead battle—which may be one of the most decisive of the war—was apparently in its crucial stage.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring was counter-attacking with units drawn from all over Europe.

The Germans also attacked elsewhere along the Cassino front, fail-

400 Lives Lost As Ship Sunk

VANCOUVER, Feb. 19 (CP) — The Empress of Canada, peace-time member of the White Fleet of the Pacific that connected Canada with the Orient, lies torpedoed off the coast of West Africa.

Loss of the former Canadian Pacific Steamships luxury liner with 400 of her passengers and crew was publicly confirmed here yesterday, a year after she went down off Freeport, West Africa. An Italian communique claimed the sinking March 15, 1943.

It was the eighth known loss of C.P.S., heaviest hit of all Canada's Steamship lines as far as tonnage is concerned. The 21,000-ton ship was second only to the Empress of Britain among the Company's announced losses.

The Canada was carrying troops and navy personnel, Italian prisoners and Greek and Polish refugees when she went down, and sharks and barracuda, with which the sea abounded, brought about most of the deaths.

400 LIVES LOLST

FOUR HUNDRED LIVES WERE LOST in the sinking of the Canadian Pacific steamship, Empress of Canada, when she was torpedoed by an Italian submarine off Freetown, West Africa, a year ago. The 21,500-ton vessel had been claimed in an Italian communique on March 15, 1943, but public confirmation of the loss was withheld by Allied sources until today. Before the war the Empress of Canada had operated out of Vancouver on Pacific runs.

Garagemen Nab 2 Burglars

Surprising three youths who had broken into the garage of Robert Nurse and Son at Fowler's Corners early this morning, Kenneth Nurse, 36, and his father, Robert Nurse, captured two of the burglars, but only after the former had fired two shots at the intruders and wounded one of them in the calf of the left leg. The third member of the gang got away temporarily in an automobile, thought to have been a stolen machine, but he was arrested a little later by Lindsay police.

The two men captured by the Nurses and held until police arrived, were James Sweeney, 20, R.R. 2, Weston, who was wounded, and William Rudd, 18, of 836 Queen Street West, Toronto. The other man caught in Lindsay after his car had jammed into a snow bank was Herman Sheppard, Weston.

Sweeny and Rudd appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to breaking and entering.

At the request of the crown they were remanded until next Friday for sentence.

Sheppard will be grought here from Lindsay later today to be arraigned.

Going to Hospital

Provincial Constable Price Morris told the court that Sweeney had been wounded and that it would be necessary to have him removed to hospital to have the bullet extracted from his leg. The youth did not appear to be suffering any pain when he came into court, although he walked with a slight limp.

The Nurses live some 80 yards away from the garage. Around 3.30 o'clock a burglar alarm they had rigged up in the interior of the garage began to ring and Robert and Kenneth Nurse sprang out of bed and began to dress hurriedly. The alarm rang three or four times while they were throwing on some clothing.

"We didn't waste much time in dressing," Kenneth Nurse said this morning. "I hardly know what I put on."

Robert Nurse armed himself with a rifle and his son with a revolver and they rushed over to the garage just in time to see three men carrying goods from the building to a car.

Kenneth Nurse called on the three to stop and when they failed to obey he fired a shot from his revolver over their heads. They paid no attention to that warning either and Nurse fired again. This time he aimed at the men and his shot hit Sweeney in the leg. Sweeney and Rudd came to a stop then but the third man rushed to the car and drove off in the direction of Peterborough. The Nurses escorted their two prisoners over to their home and called the local police.

Peace Efforts Will Fail Russian Paper Declares

MOSCOW, Feb. 19—(AP).—Failure of German efforts to make a separate peace with any of the Allies was predicted today by the Soviet trade union journal, "War and the Working Class."

Without referring directly to Pravda's recent Cairo rumor of Anglo-German separate peace talks, the magazine said Germany has been employing "unofficial diplomacy and underhanded methods" widely in an attempt to escape the full burden of inevitable defeat.

Naming Franz von Papen, German Minister to Turkey, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reich's minister without portfolio, as the main agents, the journal remarked:

"Of course we cannot doubt that the number of such peace ambassadors is much greater but it's most likely that the other participants in such intrigues are remaining in the dark for various reasons.

"There is no doubt that under the conditions of the present world war, complete defeat will end the operations of the German war machine on the battlefield. Most likely this will also be the fate of all attempts of bandit Hitlerite diplomacy."

The magazine paid tribute to both present and future Allied operations and said the front is "incessantly approaching the borders of the Third Reich."

"The devastating bombardment of German cities by the Allied air forces, together with the inevitable invasion of Western Europe by Allied troops announce the death in the near future of the robber Hitlerite band," it continued.

Issues Warning

The magazine said that alarm was spreading among Germany's satellites and served these warnings on Finland and Rumania:

"The Finnish servants of Hitler who recently bragged of their participation in the blockade of Leningrad and jibbered about a greater Finland extending to the Urals now are suffering their unconcealed fear of the payment they will have to make for their crimes.

"The Rumanians also are showing fear, but neither the Dniester nor

German Line Sagging Near Baltic

Fall Of Staraya Russa Exposes Several Key Points

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP)—Capture of the heavily-fortified city of Staraya Russa, eastern anchor of the German line in northern Russia, raised the possibility today of complete collapse of the easternmost salient of the Nazis' Baltic front.

Starya Russa and the important rail town of Shimsk, 30 miles to the northwest, fell to Gen. K. A. Meretskov's Volkhov army in an encircling drive from the northwest. The battle for Staraya Russa, the Russian communique said, cost the Germans heavily in men and material.

The strategic junction town of Dno, 50 miles west of Staraya Russa on the Staraya Russa-Pskov and Leningrad-Vitebsk railways was left exposed to Gen. Meretskov's hard-hitting Baltic veterans in their westward lunge.

Gen. Meretskov completed the capture of Staraya Russa by bypassing the city to the southwest and then launching a strong frontal attack from the east. Shock troops crashed the immense defence-in-depth German fortifications. Fierce counter-attacks were repulsed and large enemy stores and many prisoners were taken, Moscow said.

At Shimsk, like Staraya Russ a station on a branch of the Leningrad Moscow trunk railway, more than 1,600 Germans were killed.

Drive Past Luga

In developing his front south of Staraya Russa, Gen. Meretskov apparently was preparing to move across the forest and marshes toward Pskov, slightly more than 100 miles to the west, simultaneously with General Leoni A. Gorovov's rapid drive from the north and north west. Several towns southwest of Luga were taken by Gen. Govorov's forces yesterday.

Russian troops in the Ukraine meanwhile completed mopping-up isolated detachments of Nazis in the Cherkasy sector around Korsun and Shanderovka, where the remnants of 10 Nazi divisions were liquidated after a 14-day battle which Moscow said cost the Germans nearly 74,000 killed and 11,000 prisoners.

Jap Convoy Destroyed By Bombs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific. Feb. 19. — (AP).— Twelve Japanese merchantmen rushing oil and supplies to bolster the hard-hit bases of Rabaul and Kavieng were wiped out with an escorting destroyer and two corvettes during a three-day attack by Allied bombers northwest of New Ireland, Headquarters announced to-day.

Only two merchantmen eluded the explosives of the bombers which from Monday night until Wednesday morning destroyed 36,500 tons of merchant shipping in the attack and exacted a heavy toll of life aboard the vessels.

Bound south from Truk, the convoy was spotted off Mussau Island Monday night. By mid-day Tuesday, half of it had been destroyed. Wednesday morning, bombers flew as low as the top of their masts to blast seven more ships within an hour near Hanover.

One corvette blew up. Five 2,000-ton cargo ships went down with all their personnel.

A 7,500-ton tanker, upon being hit, was transferred within a matter of minutes to nothing more than a spot of burning oil on the water. An 8,000-ton tanker also was sunk.

The destroyer was eliminated early in the attack. Other ships wiped out included a 6,000-ton transport (the type of this vessel indicates it was carrying troops), three 1,500-ton cargo ships and a 500-ton freighter.

No loss among the attacking planes was reported.

Incendiaries, High Explosives Demolish Churches, Hospitals

LONDON, Feb. 19. —(CP)— Three waves of heavy and medium German bombers last night gave London its fiercest raid since the 1940-41 attacks, and long after the thunderous anti-aircraft barrage had died away fires glowed red against the sky as search parties dug through wreckage for victims. No immediate estimate of casulties was available, although they apparently were high.

Tons of high explosives and thousands of firebombs showered down, hitting at least three churches, two hospitals, a number of school buildings, a hotel, a large suburban store, and many apartments and rows of homes.

The barrage of anti-aircraft fire was the heaviest ever thrown at enemy raiders.

Fighter planes rose to chase the invaders. At least two were shot down by patrols over raiding bases in Belgium and Northern France, but there was no report immediately of the number bagged over Britain.

The last London raid February 13 cost the Germans nine of a force considerably smaller than that used last night.

The waves of the raiders roared in from the northeast. A third quickly followed. Once over London, the Germans scattered and showered their cargoes over half a dozen districts, at many times darting singly through the heavy barrage.

A group of soldiers who watched the raid, which lasted approximately an hour, said it was "the most terrifying spectacle we ever saw. We don't see how those German pilots up there could stand that barrage."

Canadian soldiers helped rescue occupants from threatened buildings when firebombs fell in one district.

In another district pyjama-clad American soldiers used sandbags to smother incendiaries which showered the neighborhood of an American Red Cross Club.

High explosives blasted a block of apartments, a church and an unused hospital in one section. A number of homes were demolished in another district, burying many of their occupants. A church and home were hit in still another district. Houses along four streets in a north-west suburb were set ablaze. A number of British service women were killed or injured when a bomb damaged a hotel in which they were billeted

At least 10 persons were believed to have perished in a block of apartments above several stores.

Rescue workers in another section toiled until dawn by the headlights of automobiles digging sur-

Fire Damages Wing Of Lindsay Armouries Setting Off Ammunition And Smoke Bombs

LINDSAY, Feb. 19 — (ENS) — Lindsay citizens were treated to an impressive display of shooting stars and fireworks this morning at 6:30 when fire completely damaged the north end of the Armouries setting off blank ammunition and smoke bombs. The loss is estimated at several thousand dollars and a court of inquiry is being held this afternoon under military authorities to determine the origin of the blaze.

The re was first noticed by Mrs. Fred Pullem, the caretaker's wife at 6:30, when she saw smoke and flames from her window. She roused her husband and the Sergeant Major and called the fire department. Firemen battled in sub-zero weather to prevent the entire building and guns and equipment of infantry and artillery units from being destroyed.

Included in the loss in the quartermaster's stores were the stores of the Midland Regiment and all the furniture and furnishings of the N.C.O.'s mess. There are two R.C.A. batteries and one infantry unit training there at the present time.

Although officials at the Armouries say the origin of the fire is not known, firemen have expressed the belief that it broke out somewhere on the main floor or the sergeants' mess. A bingo party was held there Friday night with about 500 people in attendance and everything appeared to be in good shape when they left.

The smoke bombs and ammunition stores caused fireman the most trouble as they poured water into the building, and for a time the flames appeared to be gaining. The building is of brick and stone and this prevented its complete loss. The officers' mess hall was also in the section which suffered the most damage.

Forecasts Exciting Session When Legislature Meets

TORONTO, Feb. 19—(CP).—The first session of Ontario's 21st Legislature opens Tuesday and some political quarters predict it may go down as one of the liveliest since the stormy days when Mitchell F. Hepburn was premier.

The political significance of the session will be unprecedented in Ontario at least, and for three reasons:

1. Premier George Drew's Progressive Conservative government goes into its first session since its election last August, in the minority, commanding at most only 35 votes in the 90-member house.

2. The session marks the "big" test in Ontario for the C.C.F. party which under the leadership of young, law-schooled E. B. Joliffe, forms the official Opposition for the first time

Moose River Hero Passes

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—(CP).—Dr. David Edwin Robertson, Toronto surgeon who survived 10 days' entrapment in a Moose River, N.S., gold mine in 1936, died in Toronto General Hospital this morning. Dr. Robertson, 60 years of age, had been ill for six weeks.

Dr. Robertson, besides the fame gained by the struggle for life in the Nova Scotia mine, was a noted child surgeon. He was chief surgeon of the Hospital for Sick Children for years during which time he became the first doctor in Canada to perform the operation known as sympathectomy which means connecting nerve centres to restore life to paralyzed limbs or nerves.

He served with distinction as a medical officer in the First Great War He married Miss Pauline Ivey, of London, Ont., and they had two sons, Donald and Graham. Graham, a flight lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Air Force, returned from overseas several days ago to see his father.

Dr. Robertson continued his surgery on behalf of crippled children following the Moose River experience which seemed merely to age him slightly.

On Easter Sunday, 1936, Dr. Robertson with Herman Magill and Alfred Scadding descended into the mine. Scadding was in charge of the property and Magill had been loaned money by Dr Robertson to finance the mine.

Dr. Robertson and his party were in the mine only a short period when a rock fall occurred and the three men, all Toronto citizens, were imprisoned 141 feet underground. The rock fall continued for four or five hours and the men could see the rocks tumbling down

Aerial Attack Fires Mandalay

NEW DELHI, Feb. 19 — (CP) — British heavy bombers made a "very successful" attack on Mandalay in Central Burma last night, blasting railway yards and other targets and leaving fires which returning pilots said were visible 50 miles away, an Allied communique said today.

R.A.F. medium bombers were out in force Thursday night against the Hehl airfield and the town of Myingyan, 60 miles southeast of Mandalay on the Irrawaddy river.

American medium and fighter bombers continued their attacks on Japanese troops, supply depots and communication lines throughout Northern Burma, destroying rolling stock and starting fires over a wide area.

Allied troops pressing to clear the Ngakyedauk Pass through the Mayu mountain range in Arakan met bitter enemy resistance. The Japanese launched several sharp attacks against British positions at the southeast end of the Pass Wednesday night but were thrown back with losses.

May Never Come

TORONTO, Feb. 19—(CP). —Quentin Reynolds surprised Toronto newsmen last night with a one-hour informal chat in which he said a European invasion across the Channel was so difficult it might never happen. In the Toronto Press Club inaugural meeting before a public address at Maple Leaf Gardens, the American magazine writer said his findings on German defence plans were so pessimistic they would not stand publication.

U.S. Shows Great Striking Power In East

War Machine In Pacific Now In High Gear As Allies Mass Forces

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

While it would be wise not to start celebrations pending details of the new battles in the Southwest Pacific, the overall picture of Allied operations is a gratifying one of great striking-power and initiative—two elements which spell victory.

Allied fighting men are wearing their caps at a cocky angle these days, and that fact is vastly more important than success in any single battle. They are beginning to strike when and where they want, and indications are that the new and magnificent machine in Pacific is in high gear and won't slow down again until United Nations' troops have the dust of Tokyo on their boots.

A great fleet of warplanes has attacked Truk, one of the world's most powerful naval bases, designed to withstand any manner of attack.

Units of Marine and Army amphibious forces have landed on the important island base of Eniwetok, in the Marshalls, and have established beachheads.

A great Jap convoy, en route from Truk to the Bismarck Archipelago —at least 12 transports and supply vessels, plus three warships — has been almost wiped out.

No wonder the Tokyo radio has sent out the shrill warning to its public that the attack on Truk is part of "persistent activities aiming at Tokyo on our Japanese mainland." The broadcaster indicated the Government's anxious state of mind when he made an appeal for the production of more warships.

The Mother Base.

Truk is more than a naval headquarters. It's the mother base for supplies and major repair work for the whole southwest Pacific. Thus the attack is gunning not only for warships but to destroy supplies and neutralize the efficacy of this vast centre. That would remove the chief remaining barrier to Tokyo and the Philippines.

Tokyo yesterday apologized because its fleet hadn't answered Admiral Nimitz' challenge, and come out to fight. The Jap spokesman said the Mikado's navy was "biding its time until the very end" and looking "for the golden opportunity to destroy the enemy at one stroke."

That probably is largely true. The spokesman might have been more accurate if he had said that the Japs were afraid to risk their ships now because they realized they were going to have to defend the motherland at close quarters before long.

CHUNGKING, Feb. 19 — (AP). —Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, Commander of the 14th United States Air Force, announced to-day his airmen sank 201,150 tons of enemy shipping in operations from October 1, 1943, to the present.

The announcement listed 38,700 tons as probably sunk and 80,250 tons damaged. In addition, 214 small boats, four gunboats, two tugs and four barges were destroyed.

Peace Time Trend Noticed

Roosevelt May Order Production Change

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(AP).— President Roosevelt to-day was reported on the verge of ordering into effect some of the major recommendations contained in a newly-devised master blueprint for swinging the United States' "arsenal of democracy" back into peace-time production.

Publication of the 10,000-word document, constituting in effect a strategy for economic victory on the post-war home-front, apparently signalled the beginning of a new era for government, business and workers—an era in which continuing production for war will be meshed increasingly from now on into restored production for peace.

The report contained numerous recommendations, some of which would require legislation, others which would need merely the order of the President.

It was indicated that Mr. Roosevelt already was moving to effect some of the economic reconversion plans, the operation of which would not necessarily depend upon the end of the war.

The expressed aim of the program, drawn up by Bernard M. Baruch and John M. Hancock, White House advisers and veterans of industrial mobilization in both the First and Second Great Wars, is to avoid economic chaos in the period of readjustment from war to peace and to create instead an "adventure in prosperity."

Weather Cuts Patrol Action

Mud And Dark Night Bewilders Soldiers

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Feb. 19 (CP Cable)—A combination of mud and dark nights has limited patrol activity on the Canadian Corps front in the 8th Army's Adriatic sector. In fact it was so dark last night that one soldier couldn't tell a hill from a cave.

"It was so dark that Jerry couldn't see us and we couldn't see him," explained Cpl. C. C. Nadjiwan of Cape Croker, Ont., who was on patrol last night with a scout platoon of a Central Canadian battalion, with Lieut. George Gallagher of Port McNicoll, Ont., as "scout leader."

"I started climbing what I thought was a hill and found myself inside a cave," Nadjiwan added. "That gives you an idea how far we could see."

The only encounter last night was between French-speaking troops and Germans whose positions the Canadians had occupied in early evening. When the enemy came forward to take up their nightly posts they were met with a burst of fire which forced them to beat a hasty retreat.

Today was the mildest in two weeks. The improvement set in after an early morning drizzle and snow flurries.

Tram Strike Ties Up All Montreal

Not a Tram Or Bus Moving; 4,000 Operators Out

MONTREAL, Feb. 19 — (CP).—Montrealers got to work as best they could to-day— or stayed at home in the warmth—as more than 4,000 striking tramway operators remained away from work in a tangled jurisdictional dispute.

Not a tram or bus moved this morning, with the next step in the walkout apparently awaiting result of a meeting of strikers in Atwater Market. An attempt was made to gather the workers at the market last night, but it came too late and only a few hundred men turned out.

The strike that disrupted the city's transportation service for the second time within a year started on a small scale yesterday afternoon when members of a Canadian Congress of Labor affiliate refused at one east-end car barn to operate cars with members of an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

The company suspended those who refused to work, and the stoppage spread quickly throughout the city, operators having as their avowed objective the reinstatement of the suspended men.

Officials of the C.C.L. denied any responsibility for the walk-out and in a statement said that responsibility rested with the company for not signing a new agreement creating a closed shop for the C.C.L. It appeared probable that the matter of the closed shop was the basic cause of the trouble, with the suspension of a few men merely the spark that set off the strike. The company later offered to reinstate the men, but the strike continued.

A company statement said that the situation "seemed to be one calling for definite and affirmative action by constituted authority."

Seymour Tories Elect Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS) —Progressive Conservatives of Seymour township met for their annual meeting here last night in an atmosphere made pleasant by the presence of W. A. Goodfellow, who they had helped to elect at the last Provincial election. It was the first time since 1934 they could gather at an annual meeting with a member of the Provincial Legislature on hand to thank them for the thumping majority they had given him in the township.

Both Mr. Goodfellow and Major Earl Drope, president of the County Association, spoke along general lines in their remarks to the gathering. Mr. Goodfellow was particularly emphatic in his thanks to the Association and urged the importance of continuing to function even during the post election years. Retiring president Alex. Stephens asked that his resignation be accepted, explaining he felt unable to continue owing to the pressure of work on his farm and the shortage of help. Mr. Stephens, who had guided the fortunes of the township association for the past three years, was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. To replace him the gathering elected able Ernest Irwin, chairman for the Petherick's district during the past 22 years. Other officers elected were 1st vice president, Alex. Stephens; 2nd vice president, Albert Stephens; secretary, Earl Brunton; treasurer, Hector Arnold. Honorary members of the executive, John Bracken, Premier George Drew, W. A. Goodfellow, Robert Innes, John Locke.

and Sergt. John Thompson and Constables John Stevenson, Percy Sexsmith and Leo Murphy of the city police were quickly on the scene. They failed to find any trace of the third man and it is assumed that while the Nurses were taking the other two to the Nurse residence, he had turned round and driven toward Lindsay.

Caught In Lindsay.

The Lindsay police had been notified to watch out for a car driven from the scene by Sheppard. Two police officers, Jack Sinnett and Russell Hargrave, reached the Lindsay-Peterborough highway in time to see the machine approaching.

The two men stood in the middle of the road and tried to flag the driver to a stop, but he is alleged to have deliberately attempted to run them down, and struck Sinnett a glancing blow, tearing his coat. The two officers then jumped in the police cruiser and began a wild chase through the streets of Lindsay, which ended when Sheppard took a blind road and was forced to stop in front of a gate. Sinnett and Russell jumped out behind his car and then grabbing the door, reached in and pulled Sheppard out.

In the car they found a .32 rifle, a number of cigarettes, and other apparently stolen goods, along with a small milk can filled with gasoline. The youth admitted that the car was stolen from Weston, and said he had been at the hold-up with two others whom he identified as James Dowler of Toronto and "Jerry," last name unknown.

3. Fate of the government depends on the attitude of the 15 Liberal members under former Premier Harry C. Nixon, who hold the balance of power.

While Mr. Nixon, dean of the House with his 25 years consecutive service as member for Brant, has made no statement, the Liberal attitude was defined at a recent caucus of members-elect and candidates defeated in the election. The caucus decided, it was announced, to support any legislation the Liberals consider is in the best interests of the province.

Will Not Trim Sails

However, Premier Drew says he will not cut his political cloth to fit any Liberal pattern.

"I believe our program of legislation meets with the confidence and trust of the people," he said last Saturday in an address at London, Ont. "Regardless of any political expediency, we intend to present the legislation we intended and leave it to the legislature to decide. We will not condition our legislation upon expediency but will stand or fall on the program we have mapped out."

As for any new election, one Progressive-Conservative source pictured the premier as "not af..d of one."

Joliffe, whose C.C.F. party elected only one member in 1934, is reticent about his party's position.

"Not having seen any of the government's proposed legislation it is not possible for me to make any comment at this time as to what kind of a reception it will get," he said this week in an interview.

The tangled political situation dates back to Oct. 21, 1942, when Mitchel F. Hepburn resigned as Liberal premier after having held office since July 10, 1934. He named Gordon Conant as his successor as premier, and remained in the cabinet as provincial treasurer until March 18, 1943 when his resignation from that office was accepted.

Six weeks later Mr. Nixon was named Liberal leader at a provincial convention. Mr. Conant did not contest the leadership because of a sudden illness and later turned the premiership over to Mr. Nixon.

Mr. Nixon remained in office until his defeat in the election last Aug. 4 when his party won only 15 seats compared with 38 for the Progressive Conservatives, 34 for the C.C.F., two Labor-Progressives and one Independent Liberal—Mr. Hepburn.

However the Progressive Conservative's effective strength has been reduced by three due to the appointment of W. J. Stewart, member for Toronto Parkdale, as speaker, the absence overseas of Hon. Capt. the Rev. A. W. Downer, member for Dufferin Simcoe, and the death last week of Wallace Welsh, member for Haldimand - Norfolk where a by-election will be held March 20.

That leaves Premier Drew's administration with but 35 votes when they go into the session Tuesday, against 34 for the C.C.F. or against a combined opposition of 52. Under Legislature rules, the speaker can cast the deciding vote in the case of a tie.

Marines Invade Another Island

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 19—(AP) —United States Army and Marine invasion forces, quickening the tempo of the Pacific Allied offensive, battled Japanese today for Eniwetok in the western Marshalls while confirmation of an indicated sea-air triumph over the Japanese base of Truk was awaited here.

Firm beachheads were won Thursday at Eniwetok, last life-line for by-passed Japanese garrisons throughout the Marshalls, while guns of battleships thundered a protective barrage and carriers supplied air cover. The assault forces then moved in strength against enemy pillbox defences already battered by repeated plane attacks.

The day before at Truk, 750 miles southwest of Eniwetok, an American armada sent hundreds of bombing planes to open the first attack of the war on enemy fleet concentrations in the heavily fortified base there. Although radio silence since has shrouded the perhaps prolonged action, Navy Secretary Frank Knox said confidently in Washington "I think this attack was a victory."

Two days prior to this thunderbolt stroke, a big force of land-based Liberators dropped 50 tons of bombs in the war's first attack on Ponape, Gibraltar-like enemy fortress in the eastern Carolines, 400 miles east of Truk.

Less than two weeks ago, sea, air and ground forces overwhelmed the world's largest atoll, Kwajalein, 570 miles east of Ponape, to imperil at one stroke the thousands of Japanese in the Marshalls over a mid-Pacific area 800 miles square.

Not An Invasion

At at Kwajalein, invasion forces moved far behind many other fortified Marshalls bases when they struck at Eniwetok. The atoll, 400 miles northwest of Kwajalein, has at least one and possibly two or three airfields and several seaplane bases scattered among its 30 islets as well as deep lagoon anchorages.

"The capture of Eniwetok Atoll has been undertaken by forces of the Pacific ocean areas," Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday in the first disclosure of the new operation.

(Tokyo radio spoke of "fierce fighting at Truk and said the attack was part of "persistent activities aiming Weather Bad.

Weather limited Allied aerial operations to about 300 sorties yesterday, but night bombers continued to blast German communications in the beachhead area last night.

Medium bombers struck at the docks at Castiglione yesterday and light bombers dropped explosives on Sezze, southeast of Cisterna. Three German planes were downed for a loss of one.

Describing the fighting on the beachhead, the communique said, "enemy losses have been heavy. Our lines are intact and we have launched several successful local counter-attacks."

Patrol activity continued on the British 8th Army front across Italy. Polish troops took Nazi prisoners.

The Germans suffered thousands of casualties in their attacks yesterday against the beachhead and failed to push through at any point, Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported. With troops, tanks, guns and planes the enemy began the assault Wednesday. In the early stages they broke through twice in the area of Cisterna, 14 miles northeast of Anzio but were hurled back by Allied counter-attacks.

More Than 100 Airmen Back In Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 19 —(CP) —Approximately 100 of Canada's fighting airmen from the far corners of the world arrived back here Friday —some to recuperate from wounds, others to become instructors and the remainder to remuster as aircrew men.

All of them, starting leave as soon as they pass through the repatriation pool here, will be on their way to homes throughout Canada Friday and Saturday.

Included were men from Ceylon, West Africa, North Africa and Britain. They weer greeted by cheers as they strode into the station concourse to the accompaniment of an R.C.A.F. band. Official welcome was given by high military and civic officials and then they were handed coffee and doughnuts.

FO. Keith Wilson of Carleton, Place, Ont., who served with an R.A.F. Mitchell Squadron, brought first hand news of the damage being done to the invasion coast of France. That has been his job for the last few months "and I can assure you we have been giving that area an awful plastering and it should be nice and soft when General Eisernhower and the lads land there one of these days."

Talk of Jobs.

Flt.-Lt. Ralph Rawland of Hamilton, Ont., reported on the activities of his British Coastal Beaufighter Squadron. When he left it a few weeks ago it, too, was "plastering" the French coast, concentrating on enemy shipping "and we aren't giving them much chance to move either." Most of the harbors along the enemy coast were filled with wrecks resulting from British and Canadian bombs.

Another general topic among the airmen he knew, he said, was post-war rehabilitation and they all wondered what Canada was going to offer in the way of jobs. "For myself, I'd like to be a newspaper man and I'm just wondering what opportunities will be open for me when we get this war cleaned up decisively," he added.

Jack, back to become an instructor after a tour of 30 operational trips, has been on recent Berlin raids and said: "This target is just about cleaned up and we can go on to another."

Wing Cmdr. E. R. Emond, O.B.E., of Ottawa, was one of the survivors, of the Empress of Canada, torpedoed of Freetown West Africa, a year ago with the loss of 400 lives.

FO. P. S. Gravel of Casselman, Ont., a flight engineer with a coastal command squadron operating in North Africa, had 470 operational hours to his credit and in that time saw an "awful lot of damage done to the enemy in one way and another."

Others in the party included FO. Bill Draper, D.F.C., of Toronto; and Cpl. L. A. Charbonneau, Kirkland Lake, Ont.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 19 (ENS) —Many people in this community will learn with sorrow of the death of Mrs. I. C. Brough, Tuesday, at the Private Patients Pavilion, Toronto, after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Brough became well known here while staying with her daughter, Mrs. Harold Hershey, during the time the latter's husband, Dr. Hershey, practised medicine at Roseneath.

Mrs. Brough was born in Montreal seventy-one years ago, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stapleton Caldecott, the former was treasurer of Wycliffe College, Toronto, for many years. Mrs. Brough had travelled extensively, visited all continents, excepting South America, and attended schools in Canada, England, France and Germany. In 1899 she was married to an Anglican clergyman, Rev. Beverly Smith of Toronto. There were four children of this marriage. Some years later she married Hume Brough of Toronto, who predeceased her.

Mrs. Brough's three sons are serving under three Allied flags, Lieut. Cmdr. Arnold Smith in the Australian Navy; Sgt. Gordon Smith in the American Army Medical Corps, and Frederick Smith in the Canadian Army overseas. The only daughter, Mrs .Harold Hershey, lives in St. Louis, Missouri.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from Mathews' funeral home, Spadina avenue, Toronto, with interment at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Russia Does Job

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19 — (CP). —Russia is "bleeding and blunting" the German armies in the present war as France did in the First Great War, Rt. Hon. Leslie Burgin of London, member of parliament and former Minister of Supply in the British Cabinet, said yesterday. In a Canadian Club address here, Mr. Burgin declared the Russians had accomplished "wonderful things" but the situation on the eastern front would not become too acute for the Germans until the Russians were closer to Germany.

The group leaders gave out sunshine bags to be used in March for aid of expense fund. A special offering was then taken for the furnishing of the new United church at Batawa. Mrs. W. Pratt took charge of the study period, the theme of which was "The Bible, the Common Possession of the World Church." Wider Uses Are Found For Farm Products

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 —(ENS) — The industrial application of many farm products in the post war world, was seen by Mrs. Gordon McCulloch, as one solution to the problems facing agriculture. The speaker discussed the question before members of the Seymour West Branch of the Women's Institute who held their February meeting at Mrs. Garnet Curle's on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. McCulloch cited a number of instances whereby new synthetic materials were resulting in the wedding of industry to agriculture. One of the most important of these products at the present was synthetic rubber which required linseed or soyabean oil. The dehydration of foods was resulting in great changes in distribution and broadened the markets for many foods formerly regarded as too perishable for shipment beyond a few hours travel. The discovery of uses for the valuable oils in sunflower seeds were rendering this another practical crop to be considered by the farmer of the future since it would supply a base oil used in shortening and cooling oil and also to replace an imported ingredient used in quick drying paint oil and castor oil. Mrs. McCulloch made no forecast as to the use of the product "similar in many aspects to wool," that is being derived from casein in milk but the mere fact that this was being done opened an entirely new field to dairy farmer.

The president Mrs. R. A. Rutherford presided for the meeting and Mrs. Robert McCulloch and Mrs. Raymond Free were named as a committee which will assist in gathering the names of those from district who are in the armed forces so that they may be entered in the history book of the community that is being assembled. Mrs. Charles Macoun was placed in charge of all editorial matter. Mrs. Frank McKelvie and Mrs. Harry Hoard were chosen as a committee that will take charge of packing boxes for hospitalized soldiers from the community. The 1944 program committee was elected as follows: Mrs. A. Curle, Mrs. W. W. Archer, Miss Phyllis Elmhirst, Mrs. Alex. MacKenzie. During the afternoon a special collection was taken for the emergency fund of the Federated Womens' Institutes of Ontario.

Other items on the program included a reading on "Culture" from 40 Years A'Growing" by Mrs. Ray McCulloch, piano solo, Miss Phyllis Elmhirst; violin solo, Mrs. Donald Rutherford accompanied by Mrs. W. Archer; reading, Mrs. Douglas Rutherford. Concluding feature was a demonstration by Mrs. E. J. Fairman who showed the members seven different ways of cooking apples.

True Greatness Is Taught By Jesus in Capernaum

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 20 is Mark 9:30-10:45, the Golden Text being Mark 10:45, "The Son of man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many.")

After healing the boy who was afflicted with evil spirits, as we read in our last lesson, Jesus and His disciples passed through Galilee on their way to Capernaum.

As they walked along, Jesus, possibly a little ahead of the others, He told them that He should be killed by His enemies, and that they did not seem to understand Him. They were busy talking among themselves.

When they were in a house in Capernaum, and Jesus had seated Himself, He asked them "What was it that ye disputed among yourselves by the way." They didn't answer, because they were ashamed. They had been arguing as to who should be the greatest among them in the coming kingdom which they expected to be established on earth.

Jesus said to them, "If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all." Then as a little child ran to Him, He turned it so as to face the disciples and taking the little one in His arms, He said, "Whosover shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth Me; and whosoever shall receive Me, receiveth not Me, but Him that sent Me."

John Changes the Subject

To change the subject, probably because they were ashamed of their smallness, John told the Master that they had seen a man casting out devils in Christ's name, and that they had forbidden him to do so. Jesus answered that this was wrong, "for there is no man which shall do a miracle in My name, that can lightly speak evil of Me, for he who is not for us is on our part."

Jesus then discoursed to His disciples on the way to be truly saved. Even a cup of cold water given in His name would not go unrewarded. But one who would offend a little child, "it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea." It was better, Jesus said, to lose a hand, a foot, or an eye, if such were unrighteous, to "enter into life maimed," than to go to the hell whole.

They next went to Judaea, and there the Pharisees came to Him and asked if it was lawful for a man to divorce his wife. Jesus referred them to the law of Moses, and said clearly, that marriage was a sacred union, and that "What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." The Jewish churchmen were divided on this subject, some wanting to make divorce easy; others being opposed to it.

The women of the neighborhood brought their young children to Jesus to be blessed, but the disciples were annoyed and rebuked the mothers. Jesus was much displeased, and said to them, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God." And He took them up in His arms and blessed them.

A young man came running to Jesus, and kneeling before Him, said, "Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" Jesus told him to keep the commandments. "All these have I observed from my youth," was the answer. Then, said Jesus, who loved this youth from his appearance, "sell all thou hast and give to the poor." Alas, this rich young man would not do so, and he went sadly away.

Hard for Wealthy to Enter Heaven

Jesus looked after him, saying to the disciples, "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God. . . . It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

The disciples were astonished at this saying, but Jesus explained that they who loved the riches of this world, material wealth, more than God, could not hope for eternal life.

Jesus then told them what was in store for Him, how when they came to Jerusalem "the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief priests, and unto the scribes, and they shall condemn Him to death, and shall deliver Him to the Gentiles.

"And they shall mock Him, and scourge Him, and shall kill Him; and upon the third day He shall rise again."

Even after this James and John asked Jesus if, when they came to the kingdom, one could sit on His right hand and the other on His left. "Can you drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" He asked. They said they could, and indeed every one of them suffered martyrdom in one form or another. Even then, said Jesus, "to sit on My right hand and on My left hand is not mine to give; but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared," for "even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

Great Forerunner of Christ Was Truly a Big Man

There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness to beat witness of the light, that all men through Him might believe.

St. John 1:6.

Do you ever look upon your little son and pray that he may be "a minister of Christ and a steward of His mysteries"? Then this ancient statement will thrill your heart and mind. Perhaps you will think of these familiar words as applying to your son, some day: "And, thou, child, shalt be called the prophet of the Highest". The age into which your son is growing will need the very best of our youth; young men filled with the highest of ideals to lead men and women into the way of peace—true and lasting.

"There was a man sent from God whose name was John". An old man is writing 50 years after the event. Yet he feels the thrill of those days. It seems but yesterday when the strange man was preaching. St. John, the beloved disciple, knew that for nearly four hundred years the voice of a prophet had not been heard in the land. "Had Jehovah forgotten" was the unspoken thought in the minds of many devout Jews. St. John very probably heard the news from a neighbour—a business man, who had journeyed to Jerusalem to purchase goods. Though a hard headed man he had confessed his sins to John the Baptist and had been baptised in Jordan. That night John, the son of Zebedee, could not sleep. "A prophet" "a man sent from God"? Next morning he told his parents—fairly well to do people—that he wished to go to Jordan. He went with their blessing and prayers.

He met the Baptist. Like many other Jews he confessed his sins and was baptised in the Jordan by John. He remained as a disciple, sitting at the feet of a living teacher. Very probably John told him of the young carpenter from Nazareth, who had come for baptism. He was constrained to baptise Him. Then came the revelation. A dove from heaven descended upon Him. A voice from heaven spake to the young carpenter; who came out of the water with face transfigured with joy. He immediately went away into the wilderness. "I can understand it" said John the Baptist.

A few days later the young man appeared and John exclaimed: "Behold, the Lamb of God." John and Andrew followed Him. Hearing footsteps He asked: "What are you looking for?" "Master, where do you live"? was the immediate reply. Quietly He said: "Come and see". That night they spent with Him listening to Him.

When John, the son of Zebedee, looked upon the face of the young carpenter he was fascinated. It was so beautiful, so strong, so gentle, that his heart went out to Him. Their eyes met. They knew they were to be friends, no matter what happened. The soul of John was knit with the soul of David's greater Son. Half a century later he writes with meaning: "We beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth".

The next morning the two men set out to find their own brothers. As true witnesses they begin at home — what an example. St. John brought his brother James, though he says nothing about it. He is too humble.

Andrew finds his own brother Simon and brought him to Jesus. Can you see that meeting? "When Jesus beheld him." It was a deep searching look and Simon never forgot it. Then the prophet said:

"I know that you are Simon, the son of Jonah, but you will be called Peter, the rock man, if you will follow Me". Immediately Simon's heart went out to the Lord. He felt he must be a disciple, a learner with the listening ear—the meaning of Simon—and sit at the feet of a living teacher, even the Son of God.

John the Baptist showed that he was indeed a man sent from God when he pointed to the Lord and knew that two of his best disciples would leave him. It takes a very strong man to say of another: "He must increase but I must decrease". Hearken to the Lord's own praise of His forerunner: "A prophet; yea, I say unto you, and more than a prophet; for this he of whom it is written: Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee"

God hath called you out of darkness into His marvellous light. Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord.

There Are No Atheists Found Among Fighters of Skies

Condensed from Air Facts
By FREDERIC SONDERN
For Reader's Digest

The bomber pilot was telling about his return from a mission. As the plane touched the ground on landing, there had been a shattering roar. One of the bomb toggles under the wing had failed to release its burden over the target. The bomb had stayed there unnoticed, until the shock of landing shook it loose. It had exploded on the runway and the plane had caught fire like a torch.

"I was still conscious," said the pilot, "and I tried to get through the little window next to my seat. Flames licked at my back and legs. I got half way through, but the chute on my back wedged me in it. I had to go back into the fire and try to get it off. But I couldn't. My fingers were numb. The last thing I remember was shouting, 'Please help me, God.' And the next thing I knew I was lying on the ground, with the Doc bending over me. Nobody knows yet how I got out that window."

He hesitated for a moment, then added, "My theory, of course, is that the Lord pulled a fast one." He said that very seriously and the fliers listening nodded agreement.

There was no skepticism. Most fliers are convinced, God has a lot to do with the getting them out of their tightest scrapes.

Another bomber pilot told this story: "When the ack-ack hit us both engines conked out and we headed for the sea. I began to pray. Well, that was the last I knew until I came to in the water. I was in bad shape. My leg was gone below the knee, the water was red all around, and I knew I'd bleed to death in a few minutes. Then something nudged me. Believe it or not, it was a piece of plyboard from the plane with the first-aid kit on it. I got the tourniquet out of it, and my co-pilot helped me get the thing on and stop the bleeding. Another plane came along and dropped a life raft. And four hours later we were picked up by a rescue launch. If you don't call that a miracle, I'd like to know what it is. God had something to do with that."

I know how he felt. One day I was a passenger in a medium bomber overloaded with supplies, and with three other passengers besides the regular crew, when a dozen ME-109's came at us. It was too late to do anything about it. We were easy game. The waist-gunner grinned at me, "I guess this is it," he shouted over the roar of the engines as he gripped his fir-

Anniversary

Sunday is a day of special significance to two of the most important youth movements in the city. It is "Thinking Day" for the Guides.

In the Scouts next Sunday is the first day of "Boy Scout Week." It is the anniversary of the birthday of Lord and Lady Powell. Lord Powell died in Kenya colony in Africa in January, 1941. It is fitting that the Scouts should commemorate the day, and rever the memory of their founders.

A service for Guides and Scouts will be held at 11 a.m. in St. Andrew's Church when the Guides and Brownies of the first Peterborough Company, and the Cubs and Scouts of the 8th troop will parade to the church.

Mrs. R. Whalon will speak on the significance of both movements, Cub Master K. K. McKee will read the lesson and the pastor of the church will preach on "Open Windows."

JESUS TEACHES TRUE GREATNESS

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Mark 9:30—10:45

By Alfred J. Buescher

On their way to Capernaum the disciples disputed among themselves who should be greatest among them.

Jesus understood them and said, when they were in the house, "If any man desire to be first, he shall be last."

Kneeling to Jesus, a young man asked Him how he could gain eternal life; Jesus loved this young man.

Jesus said to sell his wealth and give to the poor, and he went away sorrowing.

Report On Public Health

An excellent report on the health of this city during 1942 has been presented to the Board of Health by the Medical Officer. Some of the information contained in it should be known as widely as possible. For instance, there were 592 babies born here last year, and the birth-rate was the second highest that the city has ever known; but the really good news is that the infant death rate was the lowest ever recorded. There were no deaths from diphtheria, infantile paralysis or typhoid. There was not even a recorded case of smallpox. When we recall that smallpox has been a major plague within this century that is a splendid sign of improvement in public health.

There was a decline in the use of the public child hygiene clinics last year, and this can be attributed to the fact that there was, for a time, no M.O.H. to encourage their use. We hope that the clinics will be extensively used this year, for they are one of the greatest single factors in improving and maintaining health in a community. A good start during its first five years lays the foundations for lifelong health in a child; the public clinics offer freely a type of care which the child of wealthy parents could not command forty years ago; we should like to see this public service widely used.

There have been increases in the number of cases of venereal diseases under treatment. Last year there were 44 cases of gonorrhoea as against 27 in 1942, and 14 cases of syphilis as against 12 in 1942. Although the increase is definite, the incidence of these diseases is not great when considered in relation to the population of the city.

The diseases which were most frequent and most dreaded in an earlier day—mostly diseases of childhood—have been reduced to a point where they hold little terror, but tuberculosis and cancer seem to be on the increase, and as both of these are hard to detect in their early stages and demand very careful treatment when they have developed they create a new problem in public health work. Tuberculosis can be beaten before it begins by means not directly connected with the disease itself; that is to say, good conditions of health in childhood, good living conditions and good working conditions, combined with good diet and a reasonable standard of hygiene, can greatly check the occurrence of tuberculosis, and perhaps might stamp it out altogether in time. Cancer is a greater problem, and one with which we are still struggling; its cause is still in doubt, and its treatment is slow and tentative.

Peterborough's public health record is excellent, and the report of Dr. Kelly, the M.O.H., and R. M. MacPherson, the Sanitary Inspector, should be a matter of pride to every citizen. In this respect our city is the equal of any in the Province.

Ersatz

A news item from England tells us that Queen Mary has sent to the Chairman of the British Red Cross Sales, the parasol which Queen Victoria carried at the opening of the Great Exhibition in Hyde Park in 1851; it will be sold, or auctioned, to help the Red Cross. The parasol is of white China silk lined with green silk, and is richly embroidered in coloured silks in a floral design; the carved ivory handle is in the form of a Chinese dragon.

This parasol is 93 years old, but it is almost as good as new. True, it has not had hard wear, but the silk has not 'cut' or rotted from disuse, either. We wonder if a parasol of ersatz fabric would have lasted so long. But it is idle to wonder; we know very well that it would not. We are extremely ingenious these days in making substitutes for durable materials, but the substitutes lack many of the virtues of the originals, and the chief of these is durability.

Perhaps it is good for trade that we should use many materials which are only satisfactory for a year or two. It keeps us buying new things, and it keeps money in circulation. But we question how good it is for people to become accustomed to materials which lack 'quality'—the virtue which people formerly sought in a purchased article. And it is a fact that there is no point in putting fine workmanship into a garment which will have a life of less than two years.

Unless our substitute materials can gain durability and quality, they will not last. We must not follow the Germans in accepting ersatz fabrics and their accompaniment of ersatz thinking.

Mrs. Shaw's Unusual Will

A great deal of dust has been stirred up about Mrs. Bernard Shaw's will, and the impression has been spread that she left £150,000 "to alleviate the vulgarity of the Irish". Mrs. Shaw, who was a lady by birth and temperament, said nothing so gross, the actual wording of her bequest was as follows:

"In the course of a long life I have had many opportunities of observing the extent to which the most highly instructed and capable persons have had their efficiency defeated and their influence limited for want of any organized instruction and training for personal contacts, whether with individual or popular audiences.

"I have also observed how the authority which their abilities should give them is made derisory by their awkward manners and how their employment in positions for which they have valuable qualifications is made socially impossible by vulgarities of speech and other defects."

This does not say that the Irish are vulgar; it merely says that many of them would get on better in life if they had some social training, which is quite a different thing. The money is also to be used to bring masterpieces of fine art within the reach of the Irish people, which is surely a worthy aim. Many Irishmen have complained that the lack of just such endowments keeps Ireland from taking the place which she should take in the world. If any Irishmen have taken offence at a misrepresentation of Mrs. Shaw's will, we hope that they will reconsider the matter in the light of the facts.

Although we admire all the British peoples for their good qualities, we have found the Irish easier to live with than either the English or the Scots, for they have a give-and-take spirit which is very engaging. No human creature is more dense than a thick-headed Irishman, but thick-headed Irishmen are rare; most of them are quick in the uptake, ingenious and avid of ideas. They are ready to take offence, but they are quick to make friends again, they always have time for a joke, and they are hospitable to a fault. Their faults are obvious and irritating, but no one has ever exhausted their great virtues. They suffer a little from what Disraeli called "somewhat irregular logic", but they make up for it by a broad humanity which is worth all the logic in the world.

As for vulgarity, it exists everywhere in the world, and we prefer the vulgarity of the Irish peasant to the vulgarity disguised as niminy-piminy, affected gentility which afflicts us so sadly in Canada—the vulgarity which insists that chorus-girls must wear tights, and that nude paintings be hung in the dark corners of the art galleries. A little wholesome vulgarity does us all a world of good; better vulgarity than prurience, any day.

Mrs. Shaw's bequest does not become active until her husband is dead, and in the meanwhile he is vigorously fighting off the many groups and societies who want to get their hands on the money. He said that he had decided to leave such a bequest for the benefit of the English and the Welsh, but wartime taxes had not left him enough money to do so.

We hope that Mrs. Shaw's intention will be fully understood, and that the Irish people will get the full benefit of the large sum which she has left. The terms of her will, as they are set out here, contain nothing which is insulting, but rather a suggestion which would benefit any country in the world.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Cincinnati judge rules that reporters are not members of a learned profession. He must be a city-editor in his spare time.

In order to make him an acceptable successor to Hitler the Nazis are launching a publicity campaign to "humanize" Heinrich Himmler. Photographs will show him "as a papa with his own two children". The crocodile, we understand, is also a devoted papa.

The Mairsy Doats virus has pierced the hide of the Ottawa Citizen's columnist who bursts forth with: "Cowsy tweet, sowsy tweet, an' itty bearsy tunny; beesily tunny too". We are shipping him a teddy bear, with wishes for a speedy recovery.

A Swedish scientist says that it is quite likely that many germs reach us from other planets, being able to survive the extreme cold of the journey. Now when this planet is in such a mess, why does he have to suggest that we may be getting bad luck from the rest of the spacious firmament?

Diary Of A Book-Tester

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Read too long and too much today, resulting in a severe attack of the Miseries. Reading is a form of indulgence, like eating and smoking. Some men smoke heavily and some drink heavily; I read heavily, and sometimes I have the most awful hangovers. Tobacco manufacturers, I understand, hire men to make continual tests of their product, and these poor wretches get shaky hands and tobacco hearts, and when they take a bath nicotine oozes out of their skins into the water. It is the same with whiskey-testers. Well, I am a book-tester and I have an occupational disease, which is called the Miseries. To read a great many books for one's own pleasure is one thing; to read them in order to tell other people about them is a horse of another feather. To make matters worse I ate an apple and got hiccups, and was convulsed three times a minute for almost an hour. Hiccups are very funny to everyone but the man who has them. To have the Miseries and hiccups together is to drain a bitter cup.

MONDAY: Although I sent out several Valentines today, no one sent a Valentine to me. This is a sign of middle age. When one is a child one receives Valentines because one's parents and grandparents want to make one feel important. In youth one receives them because one is desirable in the eyes of the opposite sex... at least, that is why I used to receive twenty or thirty every year. In old age one receives Valentines again from one's children and grandchildren. But in middle life—ah, the bitterness of it—one is neither young enough to be indulged, nor old enough to be revered; one's endearing young charms have faded away and gray hairs and the dyspeptic's hiccup have supplanted the hyacinthine locks and the ringing laugh of yesteryear. I must remember to send myself a Valentine next year, to impress the postman.

TUESDAY: I hear on the radio that a class in elementary Russian, which is being given in Halifax, is an unexpected success. I am not surprised. A surprising number of Canadians have a real gift for languages which goes to waste because they have no chance to exercise it. Learning languages is an absorbing and rational hobby, and everybody who claims to be literate ought to be able to read and make himself understood in at least one language other than his own. To know another language is to have an insight into another culture, and to have a set of values different from those acquired in one's native land. The man who knows only one language is always inclined to take the habits and beliefs of his own people for laws of nature, and however widely he may travel he is quite likely to return home with the same invincible ignorance which he took away. But Canadians really like languages, and it is a pity that the linguists among us seldom have a chance to show their paces. Now several of them, to my knowledge, are doing first-rate work as liaison officers in the Army.

WEDNESDAY: Last year some kind people gave me a subscription to "Fortune" as a Christmas gift. I received it all through 1943, and then the subscription ran out and I have not renewed it; I am not the type for "Fortune," I feel. This seems to have caused the most dreadful consternation at the "Fortune" offices, for I have had a communication of some sort every week since the beginning of January, urging me to subscribe again. The letters take the attitude that I shall be tragically cut off from what is happening in the world unless I have "Fortune" in my home, and they love me too dearly to wish that to happen. They have cajoled, and threatened, and entreated, and the last letter was almost embarrassing, it was so humble in its appeal. I hardly know how to say this, but the raw fact is that I am not going to subscribe again. It is a matter of m-n-y; I would rather use the $12 to buy some shrubs for my garden. I have my eye on some fine bridal-wreath.

THURSDAY: Bananas are getting to be quite common in the fruit-stores, which may be a sign of something, or it may not. It is very welcome, anyway. The banana is a noble fruit, delicious unadorned, and equally delicious mixed with other things. The problem is always to ripen them for eating without allowing them to pass from ripenes to rottenness; the line between the two is hard to fix. But a green banana is an abomination, and unfortunately we have to import them green in this country.

FRIDAY: I receive quite a lot of acrimonious mail these days. "Chorister For Twelve Years" says: "I resent what you say about women in choir gowns; women have just as much right to wear them as men, and probably more if good character is to be a standard. It is all very well for you to sit back and sneer, but singing in a choir is a real sacrifice, and those who do it deserve every credit." Give yourself a pat on the back, madam. "Feminist" says: "Women have shown themselves men's equals, and superiors, in every sphere. I don't know what you mean by "ability to wear ceremonial clothes"; I know at least a dozen women in my own circle, than which none is better informed in Ontario, than whom none could wear clothes with more style and grace." Which nobody can deny. "King and Country" writes: "Your reference to the sweet picture of the Princesses was in the worst possible taste. If you don't like it, you had better get a one-way ticket to Moscow." I suppose, Tovarich, you mean that "Pravda" would never print anything so depravda as a picture of Mrs. Stalin's legs?

SATURDAY: Listened to Bellini's "Norma" on the opera broadcast this afternoon; I had never heard it before. Was there something wrong with my ears, or did it really sound as much like a hurdy-gurdy as I thought it did? The march of the Druids reminded me of the mid-day parade of an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe, back in the days of the touring theatre. It had the same jaunty, raffish sound....I am beginning to eye my coal-pile with anxious speculation.

Must Reject Theories

Individuals now own about $2,500 millions in war bonds and savings certificates. Further, there will be millions in refundable taxes. In addition, there are nearly two billion dollars in the savings accounts of chartered banks. It is clear that the future can be faced with optimism if the people reject the theories of those who would play with great resources as with a new toy.—Sarnia Canadian Observer.

"Hitler May Escape To Ireland"—George Bernard Shaw (By Thomas)

In The Megatherium

(NEW YORK TIMES)

GENERAL Eisenhower's election as an honorary member of the Athenaeum Club is another evidence of the high regard which his qualities have earned him among our British allies. Whether he is chosen for his eminence in military science or for his public services, he brings distinction to a distinguished company. Air Chief Marshal Tedder, his Deputy Supreme Commander, was elected with him, as was the former Viceroy of India. General Wavell came in last year, but he has written a couple of books and has thereby acquired something of the literary flavor of the Athenaeum, while General Eisenhower is an author of victory. The secretary of State for India, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Food Minister and we don't know what other members of the Government, belong to the Athenaeum.

The Athenaeum, something over a hundred years old, is the English club that we all know. A great resort of Macaulay's, it was founded by John Wilson Croker, whose edition of Boswell's Johnson Macaulay basted so savagely. In its early days the bench of bishops was so well represented that Abraham Hayward said they swarmed so that he expected every moment to find one dropping into his soup. Thackeray, who called it the Megatherium, was reconciled to Dickens there. There Anthony Trollope declared his regrettable determination to kill Mrs. Proudie. There, in 1830, young Benjamin Disraeli, careless of club rules, walked upstairs to the library to see his father Isaac, and was asked to get out. In the Sixties he came back as a member. In the billiard room, Herbert Spencer, whose cue is still preserved, acquired that skill that gave rise to the story of "a misspent youth."

There is no end to anecdotes of the Athenaeum. It is to be hoped for General Eisenhower's digestion that the occasional wartime steaks are better than when the enraged Sir Edwin Landseer remarked: "They say there is nothing like leather; this beefsteak is."

In Defence Of Fathers

(By J.H.G. in the WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

AS always happens in this country, when social legislation gets into public discussion, Canadian fathers are getting it in the neck again. One would think, to hear the back-of-the-hand libels being spread by the so-called social workers that the average Canadian father was an irresponsible spendthrift, a drunken guzzler of too much beer, a neglecter of his children. To wit: a no-good bum.

It is an old story with Canadian fathers. During the depression we founded a national system of unemployment relief on this assumption. Because we took it for granted that Canadian fathers would run, not walk, to the nearest pub if they got their hands on a dollar, we instituted relief in kind. We gave them relief tickets and vouchers which they took home to their wives. That this system forced Canadian mothers to advertise to the world that they were on relief seems not to have concerned anybody. The humiliation of the father was visited upon the wives and children.

Now that we aproach the adoption of family allowances, the campaign of slander of Canadian fatherhood is unloosed again. The social worker insists that family allowance cheques should go direct to the mothers. If the fathers got them they woud immediately go out and get drunk.

This wee, small voice is raised in protest. It seems to us that Canadian fathers have stood just about enough abuse; that it is time for them to organize into some such organization as the Canadian Fathers Anti-Defamation League and start a counter-attack.

It is undoubtedly true that parental peccadilloes cause much juvenile delinquency. Fathers who get too drunk too often have given the tribe a bad name. But no one appears to have paid the slightest attention to the exemplary behaviour of the overwhelming majority of Canadian fathers.

The average Canadian father is a pretty decent egg. He often works long hours at hard or distasteful work. He has to put up with bosses and straw bosses. His pay, regardless of it size, never seems to be quite enough. Yet he does his best to make it stretch. With him, the needs of his children come first. He tries to provide them with a home. He staggers through life under the weight of a mortgage, payments on a car, instalment plan payments and doctors' bills. Every once in a while he may get his head above water. He starts to think about a new suit of clothes, the trip he always wanted to make, or only an evening out with the boys.

It is always at such periods that little Johnny chooses to fall off a fence and break an arm, or tear the seat out of his pants, or wind his bicycle around a telephone pole. Father then dusts off his old suit, wears his old overcoat two more winters, forgets about his trip to see Uncle Tom in Medicine Hat.

Occasionally, the pressure gets too heavy and he may go on a mild, one-day bender. But his sense of responsibility for his family is too much for him. He climbs back on the wagon, full of remorse. Or perhaps he may take to dropping in for a beer or two after work with the boys. If he does, what of it? Can a man who works so hard to put his children through school, to feed and clothe and house his brood, be denied a simple pleasure, or even a mild vice or two?

For those who are convinced that the fathers of this country are socially irresponsible wastrels, we suggest a simple experiment. Let them stop at our schools when the children are out for recess. Look at how these children are dressed, even at the poorest schools. Let them look at the physique of the hordes of youngsters who play on the neighborhood rinks. Let them visit the neighborhood parks in the summer. Let them in short, get away from their sordid case histories and statistical balance sheets and get acquainted with the real job that fathers of this country are doing with their progeny.

Culled From Our Contemporaries

A Just Rebuke

This is an editorial to women by one of their own sex. Time was when we went to the movies, theatre or concert we just naturally removed our hats. Of late years this practice has been becoming less and less of a custom until now one seldom sees or has the luck to sit behind a hatless woman. I grant that the small hat snugged in behind the pompadour of the babushka are fashion's darlings but in every audience there is a smattering of the wide-brimmed off-the-face models and if you happen to sit behind a barrage caused by that style, the evening is ruined.—Amherstburg Echo.

Farmers Efficient

The help available for farm-work is seriously depleted by the dual demands of the armed forces and the munitions industry. New equipment and repair parts for the machinery at present in service are virtually unobtainable and certain basic stock foods are in very short supply. But despite these handicaps, the Canadian farmer has carried on so efficiently that not only is the British quota being almost doubled, but the supplies of meat for the domestic market have reached such a level that the Dominion authorities are seriously considering the question of lifting meat rationing restrictions, for a few months at least.—Sherbrooke Record.

Insignia Suggested

Communism has its hammer and sickle, but as yet our Socialists are without a distinctive insignia. How about a crystal ball, a ouija board and a clairvoyant's cockatoo?—Windsor Star.

'Floors' and 'Ceilings' On Families

Among the tribulations of this war is a habit that has come of imposing the jargon of economics upon the discussion of such a thing as the size of a man's family. The learned Minister of Justice, Mr. St. Laurent, writes that he doesn't approve of a family allowances plan which would "establish a floor" on the "number of children allowed to benefit."

What does that mean? If it means that Mr. St. Laurent doesn't believe in limiting allowances to a fixed number of children, with the allowances beginning after a man has a certain number of children, or stopping after he has a certain larger number, why doesn't he say so? That would be intelligible, whereas this word "floor," one that we have come to associate with wages and farm prices, is as confusing as it is ugly.

Had this come from Mr. Ilsley, submerged in decimals and percentages and all the jargon and rigmarole of finance, we shouldn't have wondered. But Mr. St. Laurent! It just shows what we're coming to.

A Bible Message

Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum. And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die. And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant. And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this: for he loveth our nation, and he hath built us a synagogue.

Then Jesus went with him. And when he was now not far from the house the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof: wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee: but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed. For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard these things, he marvelled at him and turned him about, and said unto the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. And they that were sent, returning to the house, found the servant whole that had been sick. (Luke 7: 1-10.)

The Difference

One of our favorite diplomats, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., has just been commissioned a lieutenant-colonel in the army. As one of Eisenhower's aides, he will do substantially what he did in civil life, which is deal with the exiled European Governments on behalf of the United States. The problem of the man who does, as a soldier, precisely what he did as a civilian is a confusing one, and we might just as well tip Lt.-Col. Biddle off to the angles. We know a biologist in New Jersey who was taken into the army as a captain. He does just what he did in civilian life, which is work in his own laboratory; there he wears, instead of a uniform, his old gray smock, and the routine of his life seems absolutely unaltered. We once asked him whether anything was different. "Well," he said, "I work the same, I live the same, and I even think the same, but now if a guinea pig bites me, I get the Purple Heart."—New Yorker.

In The Safest Hands

When we consider the influence of British sea power upon world peace in the years between the Napoleonic Wars and the First World War we can grasp what this possession of air power in the hands of England and the United States may mean for future peace. We have never wanted to see international organization rest upon an Anglo-American alliance....Nevertheless, it will be important that such predominance in air power is in the hands of the peacefully inclined English-speaking peoples of the world. The military airpower which we have been able to produce has been the natural result of our industrial capacity. While we keep that we should be able, also, always to possess air power throughout the nineteenth century, and whatever view one may take of the British policy, it is undeniable that England's dominance in sea power was a stabilizing factor and contributed greatly to world peace.—Providence Journal.

Mothers-In-Law

Dependency is dependency, whatever the relationship, and to penalize a taxpayer on the ground that those dependent on his support are not sufficiently close related by blood or marriage is abritrary and unjust. It is to be hoped that steps will be taken during the present session of Parliament to enact the necessary Amendments to the Income War Tax Act to broaden the scope of the clause defining dependents. There would probably be a lot less grumbling and the lot of dependent mothers-in-law would undoubtedly be made a good deal more comfortable.—Halifax Chronicle.

A Good Move

The report is current that Canada's Postmaster-General, Colonel William Mulock, following a Cabinet Council meeting some weeks ago in which the unsatisfactory mail service to Canadian troops overseas was under fire, pulled several big planes out of service for use in transporting letters across the Atlantic. It was a good move on the Postmaster-General's part, if the report is true.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP)—Pro football, which never claimed to be the great builder-upper the college game is supposed to be, may rely largely upon players who can't take the army grind next fall . . . The Green Bay Packers' Curley Lambeau, a visitor here, points out that boys are being discharged from the Army every day because the training is too tough for them, but a lot of them still can play football . . . "The army can't tape up a weak knee or give a boy a few minutes on the bench when he gets tired," Curley explains. "Why, we've had a lot of players who can't walk 10 miles."

George Parnassus, who piloted Ceferino Garcia to the world welterweight title and who thinks he has a coming champion in Juan Zurita, who fight Sammy Angott for the N.B.A. lightweight crown at Hollywood, March 6, tells this story about how he became a pugs' pilot . . . When George first came over from Greece 25 years ago, naturally he went into the restaurant business . . . He operated a big cafe in Phoenix, Ariz., when he first became interested in fighters . . . in a short time, the boxers had almost eaten him right out of business so he gave up the restaurant and started managing fighters on a wholesale scale . . . He has 20 of them now.

Saints Even Up Play-offs; Beat Generals

Facing elimination, St. John's came up with one of their best eforts of the season in the second game of their best-of-three semi-final playoff series with Generals in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. last night, winning 22 to 11 and sewing up the round. A third game will be necessary to decide the series and determine which team will meet Transports in the final series for the senior championship.

The Saints won on their merits. Facing a team that a week before had scored 33 points against them the second-placers checked Generals off their feet throughout the battle, and in addition displayed a lot of clever passing that had the Electricians more or less at sea. In fact, if the marksmanship of the winners had been on a par with their checking and ball-handling they would have won by a much larger margin, for they had far more scoring opportunities than the Generals.

The effectiveness of the St. John's defensive work is shown by the fact that the C.G.E. team was held to a single field basket and a successful free thrown, both thrown by Eleanor Craig, in the first half. Mary McPherson and Fran Merrett, who between them had scored 22 points against Saints in the first game of the series, were kept off the score sheet altogether until the second half.

At half-time the winners were in front 11 to 3, and their margin was never seriously threatened in the second half, although play was more even after the rest period and the Generals were outscored only 9 to 8 in the second stanza. It was 18 to 9 for the Saints at the end of the third quarter and they easily held their lead in the final canto, although the C.G.E. fought hard to close the gap.

Eva Clarke was top scorer for the night with six points for the Saints, while Teresa Heslip had five and Marg Hawthorne and Peggy Lawless four points each. Chief scorers for the losers were Mary McPherson with five and Eleanor Craig with three.

The teams:

St. John's 22—Marg Hawthorne 4, M. Dyer, Teresa Heslip 5, Eileen Hewitt 2, Eva Clarke 6, Doreen Groombridge 1, Peggy Lawless 4, Edith Harte-Maxwell.

Generals 11 — J. Hickey, Dot Allen, Fran Merrett 2, Shirley Mortimer 1, Mary McPherson 5, Eleanor Craig 3, J. Rahmel, Monica Lawless, June Moore.

Referee—H. Smith.

Umpire Jessie Morrow.

The unbeaten Transports kept in form for the final round by playing an exhibition curtain-raiser It was to have been with the O.W. A.C. team, but the latter were unable to fill the engagement, and the leaders met a Y Cadet squad instead. The latter put up a good battle in the first half, and it was 22 to 12 for the Transports at the half. Ruth Hewitt, Isobel Crary, Irene Stewart and Detty Flynn of Transports switched over to the Cadets for the second half, and the game finally wound up 45 to 21 for the league leaders. Beryl Dobbin sparked the attack with 16 points for the winners and Jessie Morrow hung up 12 points in nice scoring effort. Shirley Curtis with seven points was tops for the losers.

The teams:

Transports — Beryl Dobbin, Isobel Crary, Helen Miller, Detty Flynn, Jessie Morrow, Ruth Hewitt, Dot Bestard, F. Bestard, Irene Stewart, Jean Castle, R. Fleming.

Y Cadets — Patsy Martyn, Betty Stewart, Shirley Curtis, Edith McIllhagga, Essie Wright.

Referee—Howie Macdonald.

Tonight's game in the City Basketball League which brings together the Military Training Centre team and Pete McArthur's Orphans should give a good line on the outlook for the loop. It is a three-team affair and of course the two top outfits will meet in the playoffs so that a lot depends on the calibre of the team produced by the Training Centre. Tonight should afford a chance to decide that question. The Orphans lost their opening game to the C.G.E. team sparked by Joe Stewart so that if they should succeed in defeating the Soldiers by a convincing margin, the final outcome will at least be indicated. Except that a number of new players have joined the Military Training Centre squad since the team made its last appearance in the House League little is known about the club and its City League debut tonight will therefore be watched with some interest. The two teams are billed to tie into each other in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium at 7.15 o'clock.

And while we are on the subject of basketball it might be mentioned that Coach Bamforth's senior P.C.V.S. cage team, making their first interscholastic appearance of the season in the first game of a home-and-home series with Lindsay Collegiate Friday came through with flying colors. Despite the fact that it was the first time that many of the Peterborough players had performed in a strange gymnasium they soon adjusted themselves to the floor and the surroundings and opened up at a pace that was altogether too much for the Lindsay youngsters. The latter tried hard but their efforts were disorganized, P.C.V.S. rolling up a score of 26 points before half time. All that the losers could do in the way of a reply was to toss in one field basket for a half time total of two points. After the rest the Lindsay crew made a better showing so far as holding down the P.C.V.S. snipers were concerned but their own attack failed to get rolling and they were finally beaten 36 to 5, to give the Bamforth squad a lead of 31 points to carry into the second game which is billed for the local Collegiate gym on Friday of next week.

Plenty of Class

Frank Tunney's promise to give Peterborough an all-star wrestling card for next Tuesday night's show has been verified by the program the Toronto promoter has announced. In addition to the Holbrook-Gotch main bout which is a natural no matter which way you look at it, he is offering two other matches in which main-bout athletes, three of them making their first appearance in Peterborough will be seen in action. He has booked the classy Chicago wrestler, and former N.W.A. champion before Longson took over, Bobby Managoff against the formidable Karl Krippler Davis in the semi-final. Managoff is one of the most popular mat artists in the game and it will be interesting to watch him pit his skill and science against the rugged work of the dour Texan. Then in the opening bout the rowdy Strangler Bob Wagner, back in action after some years' absence from Canada will battle with the Canadian sailor Al Korman, a flashy performer who is confident that his speed will save him from the back alley methods of the notorious Wagner. He had better be right. The three bouts are all of main attraction calibre, rounding out probably the best-balanced card Bre'er Tunney has provided for Peterborough patrons.

Belleville juniors and the Tweed kids were both tossed into the discard in the junior B playoffs in the Belleville district group Thursday night. Ken Colling's favorites were beaten in hollow fashion before the home fans by the Trenton team who won 7 to 1 while Tweed who had been given a bye into the group playdowns were also trimmed at home by the Marmora-Stirling Combines who won 7 to 5. Scribe Colling has written the following swan song for the Belleville kids: "By far the better team Trenton pushed Belleville out of the junior O.H.A. picture last night. After Hamilton and Howe rattled in two goals each, early in the middle session, there was little left for the local fans except to watch a superior team race through to a 7-1 win. The first period, that was scoreless, was productive of the fastest 20 minues of the national winter pastime seen locally this season. Outside the fact that Harvey was sensational in the Trenton nets and the stellar playing of Floyd Hamilton, Howe and Ross LaMore for Trenton, there isn't much left to say. The Belleville kids again tried to stickhandle themselves into scoring goals, but that ancient art bounced back with the result the Holway-lead crowd stickhandled out of a possible third game. The better team won and there are no alibis so all and sundry from Belleville wish Trenton a championship. However, Stan Jackson's kids will still have to beat the Combines, who won 7-5 in Tweed last night and the Trenton-Combines series should be one of real interest. Belleville fans still have a good juvenile team to support."

George Campbell, Oshawa sport scribe and No. 1 rooter for the Generals is sounding the alarm bells for another defence man for the Motor City squad. Such a player is a "must" he says in effect. Here are his comments: "The next move — we would suggest — is up to the Oshawa Hockey Club. Of course, we are perfectly willing to admit that hockey players, good hockey players, especially defencemen, are scarce BUT they've been particularly scarce around these parts, in any quantity, ever since 1940. Geo. Ritchie and Don Daniels both graduated at the end of that season and since then the Generals have been going along very nicely continuing to win the O.H.A. title each year but missed out at "the last ditch" because they have had only one outstanding defenseman, instead of having at least two. A Toronto paper reported last week that "Oshawa Generals" had a scout out in Winnipeg look for a good defenseman. Well, it's a little late—but better late than not at all. The O.H.A. has given the Junior clubs until February 20 to get in their "military replacements." Other clubs, especially in the Western group, have been getting them right along. That just leaves the balance of this week to get a replacement for Eddie Reigle, who left the Generals in November. For a club that is more thorough and more business-like in all its moves than any other hockey club we've ever heard about, it seems to us that the local hockey men haven't paid sufficient attention, early enough in the year, to the matter of getting in good defensemen. May we point out that in 1939 when Oshawa won the Memorial Cup for the first time, we had Jim Drummond, Don Daniels and Geo. Ritchie for our defense duties. In 1940, the greatest team of all, when Oshawa again won the Memorial Cup, we had Geo. Ritchie, Don Daniels and Frankie Eddolls. Take either of those defense trios and compare them with our rearguard depts. of subsequent seasons."

The case of Bud Poile is bound to attract a certain amount of comment now that it is announced that he has been rejected for air crew by the R.C.A.F. because he failed in his Link trainer tests and that he is returning to the Maple Leafs' fold. Poile was formerly in the Canadian army but earlier in the winter he was allowed transfer to R.C.A.F. as air crew material. Now that he has failed to make good most people will feel that if we are running a war in this country Mister Poile should be reporting back to the army instead of being allowed to play professional hockey. For a youngster he has been around a lot since last fall. He was originally billed to play with the Cornwall army squad but new orders broke that up and then he was counted on to line up with the Kingston Army Frontenacs. His move to the Air Force stopped that. However he managed to play industrial league hockey in Toronto and now he is back with the Maple Leafs. It seems only common sense that having been released from the army for a specific purpose and having failed in that purpose Poile should be checking in to continue his army training. Selective Service should answer the $64 question of why the thing is not working out that way.

PCVS Students Win 36-5 In Basketball

Coach Bamforth's Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School senior cage team got away to a flying start in their interscholastic series with Lindsay Collegiate in Lindsay Friday afternoon, defeating the Scugog team 36 to 5 in the first of a home-and-home round, points to count. The return game will be played here next Friday night, and on the form shown last night the big lead set up by the Peterborough students should easily carry them through.

P.C.V.S. carried the Lindsay youngsters along at a hectic pace in the first half outscoring them 26 to 2. The losers were lost and the Peterborough team had little difficulty in piling up a count. The only reply was a field goal by Worsley. Lindsay did better defensively in the second half when P.C.V.S. were held to ten points, but even then the Scugog team never succeeded in developing anything that looked like a real offensive. Bell managed to toss in one basket from the field and score on a free throw and that was the extent of their attack.

Richardson with five field goals and two successful free throws for a total of 12 points topped the P.C.V.S. scorers, while Seabrook contributed 10 points and Ray Kidd 6 to the winners' total.

The teams were as follows:

P.C.V.S. 36—Green, Seabrook 10, Lee 2, Estlick 4, Richardson 12, Kidd 8, Collins, Thompson, Patterson, Metcalfe.

Lindsay Collegiate 5—Moore, Worsley 2, Trotter, Williams, Bell 3, Bryans, Wunker, Skitch, Gregory, Batt, Runnett, Ranson.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

The boys are hitting their stride slowly but surely in play for the primary event of the Neill Trophy. True there were a few one-sided scores, as there is bound to be in any bonspiel, but there were also some real close and exciting finish-thur just nosed out R. Williamson by one shot. On ice No. 3 Charlie Westbrook was one down going home, playing against Gil Putnam, and he helps himself to a two and wins the game.

On ice No. 5 M. Cruthers did the very same thing to Dave Grant. And then on ice No. 7 Geo. Sorenson beat out Dr. Clark by one point, so if you want any closer endings than that, why come around on Monday night and we'll see what the boys have to offer. It looks as if it is going to be a real series.

Most of the games scheduled on Monday will be in the main event. There may be a few "Consolation" games on the second draw.

And don't forget the mixed bonspiel this evening, 7:30 p.m. Coffee and doughnuts, two hours of curling and a good time all for 25c. Everybody is invited.

Fast Knockout Features Lightweight Bout

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP). — Al Davis, Brooklyn's bad boy battler, is today's fistic toast of the town.

Four years ago he drew a lifetime suspension from New York rings, and a barrage of boos from the fans, for hitting Fritzie Zivic with a series of low blows.

Last night, his exile lifted since he returned from the army, he stepped back into Madison Square Garden's ring a 4-1 underdog to Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia's dusky star who until last November held the New York- Pennsylvania version of the lightweight title.

Davis used his left hand as an eraser on all the bad things the boys have been saying about him. He kayoed the Philadelphian in one minute and three seconds of the first round.

It was the quickest knockout in the history of Madison Square Garden, and it was the first time Montgomery had been stopped in his colorful career. Outside of that, there wasn't much to the scrap.

Davis caught bouncing Bob with a left hook to the head and sent him down for a four count in the first fifteen seconds. Montgomery staggered to his feet, backed to the ropes under a flurry of blows, and finally took the full count as another left hook to the jaw connected.

Back on Nov. 14, 1930, Tony Canzoneri belted out Al Singer in 1.06 of the first round to take the lightweight title, for the former quick-finish record in the Garden.

Davis came into the ring at 142¼ pounds, five more than Montgomery weighed.

TORONTO, Feb. 19 (CP) — The way Dink Carroll tells it, any Montrealer who comes out of a boxing or wrestling promotion without owing a couple of grand must be either a financial genius or a swindler. Carroll, sports editor of the Montreal Gazette, puts the case this way: "There is a provincial tax of 12½ per cent on all professional sports ventures. This tax comes off the top and, after it has been subtracted, there is another Federal tax of 20 per cent, boxing and wrestling in the city of Montreal are subject to a still further tax of five per cent levied by the Montreal Athletic Commission. In the case of boxing and wrestling much of the talent is recruited from the United States. The pay-off is in American funds so you add another 11 per cent to the promoters' cost."

Greenhorn Gravy:

W. A. (Bill) Ripley of Indian Head, Sask., showed up at the Regina Bonspiel with a rink that had never before curled together. Bill was a first-year skip. All he did was score 14 victories without defeat, win the Bonspiel's three top prizes. It was a feat unequalled in Regina since 1929.

Hemstitching:

Harold Jackson, Detroit Red Wings' 26-year-old defenseman, turned professional with Chicago Black Hawks in 1936, at 18. He was doing all right until he was smashed over the shoulder by a stick one night in New York, playing against Americans. Muscles and ligaments were so badly mutilated an operation was necessary. The doctors thought he might never play again. But the next season, with 117 stitches in his shoulder, Jackson returned to hockey, languished in the minors for a time until the Wings defence difficulties gave Hal his chance this season.

Incidentally:

Joe Klukay, the Sault Ste. Marie boy who turned professional last season with Toronto Leafs, went home to the Sault on leave from the Navy last week-end and turned out with Soo Tech Juniors against a Sudbury Senior team in an exhibition. Klukay scored nine goals and assisted in five as the Juniors beat Sudbury 20-15...Among noted hockey players with service clubs at Camp Borden are Sandy Sandalack of Regina, Lin Bend of Portage La Prairie and New York Rangers and Glen Brydson, former major leaguer...American Hockey League owners want Cleveland Barons to challenge for the Stanley Cup... If Sweeney Schriner was ineligible to play for Vancouver in the B.C. hockey final, how about Roger Jenkins, Vancouver defenceman, whose home is in Seattle, and who has been playing in a Seattle league right along.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The much-discussed overseas tour to the army camps by Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers has been abandoned, it was announced by the club last night, and "Lippy" is scheduled to report at Brooklyn February 26 to make preparations for the start of spring training March 15 at Bear Mountain, N. Y. Durocher had been touring the service camps down south for a number of weeks and President Branch Rickey had virtually lots track of him until announcement was made from club headquarters a temporary manager would be appointed to take charge of the squad until Leo returned from his Mediterranean jaunt. This brought a quick reply from Rudocher to the effect he might not be going across the Atlantic.

The Dodgers have added a 17-year-old catcher to their roster in Leroy Jarvis of the American Legion team, Oklahoma City. The club now has four catchers, the others being Bobby Bragan, Mickey Owen and Ray Hayworth.

Rocco Rejected.

Mickey Rocco, first baseman of the Cleveland Indians in the American League, yesterday revealed he had been rejected for military service because of stomach trouble and said he expected to play baseball as usual next season.

Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics after he had made a name for himself with Detroit Tigers, yesterday faded from the baseball scene when he was sworn into the navy at the Little Rock., Ark., recruiting station, after having passed his medical test several weeks ago.

After playing all season, all four teams in the Quebec Senior Hockey League will engage in the playoffs on dates to be decided later, it was resolved at a circuit meeting in Montreal last night. The loop started out with eight clubs and a succession of withdrawals forced a revision of playing schedule three times.

Harry (Yip) Foster of the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League last night announced his resignation from the team to take a job in a Detroit war plant. Foster was recently reclassified 1-A by the Cleveland draft board.

Plazas Are Beaten By Lakefield

On very soft ice Lakefield juniors defeated Plaza Billiards by the score of 6-4 Thursday night. Plazas couldn't untrack themselves in the slow going.

Gib Brockley was the outstanding player on the ice with his rushes. Henry was the best man for Lakefield with his play-making while Loyst of Lakefield was the leading scorer with two goals.

Any outside team that would like to play any exhibition games is asked to please get in touch with A. Neiman, phone 7761.

New Champions Crowned In Canadian Army

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EPSOM, England, Feb. 19—(CP)—A new crop of boxing champions flourished in the Canadian Army in the United Kingdom today but whether they equal the 1943 variety can scarcely be determined because some of the Army's best mittmen are in action in Italy.

However, the full house which saw the 1944 finals in the municipal swimming pool building here last night got plenty of action, including one knockout.

They saw these new champions crowned:

Heavyweight, Tpr. Joe Main, Calgary.

Light heavyweight, Sgt. Jack Ennis, Windsor, Ont.

Middleweight, Gnr. Doug Marsh, Montreal.

Welterweight, Rfmn, Tom Settee, Prince Albert, Sask.

Lightweight, Pte. Russ McCarthy, Hamilton, Ont.

Featherweight, Spr. A. F. Butler, Kingsville, Ont.

Bantamweight, Gnr. Jack Billings, St. Marys, Ont.

Particularly crowd-pleasing was the bitter, bashing middle-weight battle between Marsh and Tpr. Frank Egan of Windsor, Ont. None in the crowd knew that the Windsor scrapper fought with a fractured bone in his left hand. He fractured the bone, broken a couple of months ago, in the semi-final yesterday when he defeated Gnr. Alf Foster of St. Catharines, Ont. Egan kept quiet about that because the injury would have barred him from the fight.

The only knockout was in the heavyweight final when Main landed a hard one to the side of the head in the final round of his bout with Pte. Frank Nieviadomy of Bienfait, Sask.

A major upset was created in the featherweight final when Butler took a clear-cut decision over Tpr. Larry Slobodian of Montreal, 1943 champion.

The closest bout of the night was the lightweight final. McCarthy finally gained the officials' nod after solving the straight left which Tpr. Tim Doyle of Vancouver used effectively.

THE BRONK TURNED DOWN — Bronko Nagurski, the former All-American football player and wrestling title claimant, gets the once-over from Capt. Harry Shapiro at Fort Snelling, Minn. The Bronk was turned down for U.S. army service because of an old football injury.

Falcons Upset Junior Lions

By The Canadian Press.

The Falcons added another victory to their string last night to lengthen their lead in Group 2 of the Junior "A" series of the Ontario Hockey Association by administering a 4-2 reverse to Brantford Lions at St. Catharines, the winners now standing four points ahead of Galt Kists. The result prevented Brantford passing Port Colborne into third position in the standing for a playoff berth.

The Falcons and Lions alternated in the scoring during the first two periods, with Brantford notching the lone tally of the second frame, but St. Catharines turned on the power in the third stanza for a two-goal splurge.

Scoring credits were widely spread. The four counters of the home club were registered by Phillips, P. Long, Jukes and F. Long, in that order. The Brantford snipers to find the net were Jeffrey and Evenshen. There were 12 penalties.

Week-end Tilts Promise Action

By The Canadian Press.

With top and bottom of the National Hockey League virtually conceded to Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers respectively, principal interest centres on the struggle for play-off berths among Detroit Red Wings, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks.

Only eight points separate the second-place Red Wings from the fifth-place Hawks, so any of the four club scould be eliminated from the four-team post-season playoffs in the dozen or so games remaining. Detroit leads Toronto by four points, Leafs have a three-point edge on Boston and the Bruins are a point ahead of Chicago.

Toronto and Boston have a chance to gain on the field this week-end with two engagements compared to one each for Detroit and Chicago. Leafs entertain Boston Saturday and play at Chicago Sunday, while Boston's other week-end contest is at Detroit.

The other two week-end games match Canadiens and Rangers with Montreal at home Saturday and on New York ice Sunday.

Royal Marines Carry On Great Tradition

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP)— Where British arms face an enemy, from the Dover Straits to India, there, too, the Royal Marines can be found fighting "with a courage terrible to see" as the official report described them at Dieppe.

There has never been a time in the tradition-steeped history of the corps, founded in 1664 by Charles II, when Britain's marines have fulfilled their original function to fight by land and by sea more fully than in this war.

Read the achievements of the corps from 1939-43 as related by the Admiralty in "The Royal Marines" and a scene from every chapter of British arms against Japan, Germany and Italy unfolds, no less vividly for the prosiac language and lack of dramatics in these official books.

The commando has been described as a product of this war's amphibions operations bnt the Royal Marines always have been commandos, trained from the outset for land-sea operations and specialized assignments requiring toughness, skill and initiative, at home in the battleship's 16-inch turrets or behind a Bren gun in the Malayan jungle.

The Marines' traditional role has been reinforcement of the navy's strength and they do it in a dozen different ways.

They form landing parties from ship to shore bases to carry out a definite task to be followed by swift re-embarkation. That was Namsos or Aandalsnes in the Norwegian campaign, or Boulogne or Calais later.

Take Rearguard Actions.

They fight the tough rearguard actions. That was Crete and Norway, too, for they were the last to leave as well as the first British troops to land in Norway in fulfillment of one of the corps' oldest traditions.

They create and occupy advanced bases on friendly or enemy territory. That was the occupaion of the Faroe Islands or the landing at Madagascar.

Against the Japanese, they went ashore in Malaya after the Repulse and the Prince of Wales had been sunk and fought gallantly in a jungle battleground foredoomed to failure.

The Marines have fought three times with the Canadians since 1939 —at Dieppe when sent in to support the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, at Hong Kong and Sicily, where they were the first of the sea borne invasion forces to land, assigned to knock out any big guns that might hamper the Canadians.

The family tradition in the Marines is so strong, a naval officer was led to remark, "They don't recruit Marines, they breed them."

Americans Turn Heat On Navy Output

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 —(AP)— President Roosevelt and the United States Navy gave further indication today that they expect the year starting next July 1 to be the decisive period in the war with Japan.

For that period, a budget of $30,789,000,000 was submitted to Congress. This record sum is more than $3,000,000,000 higher than the current fiscal year and about $7,000,000,000 more than the one before this.

Since the army is cutting back its money requests, the signs are plain that the real punch now building up belongs to the navy—which means the Pacific war.

The appropriations request calls for $8,084,000,000 for ships, undoubtedly including more aircraft carriers and their ideal screen, cruisers. This is the team, with some of the battleships, which makes up the task forces now ranging the Pacific.

The budget also asks $4,023,580,000 for aircraft and another $3,846,420,000 for the navy aeronautics bureau. A comparable total in a previous budget contemplated construction of 27,000 planes, but no figures were given in the new request.

A request for $50,000,000 for floating drydocks was another indication of how far the navy now is operating from its home bases. These docks are intended for repair of battle-damaged ships as near to the scene of the action as possible, and are considered great timesavers.

Another $2,000,000,000 is sought for arming merchant vessels. By the end of this year, the United States will have a merchant fleet of 5,000 ships.

The navy asks $6,739,909,000 for pay, allowances, subsistence and travel, showing how vast its personnel has become. This sum alone would have met all naval financial requirements 20 years ago.

Reporters Rebel At Censorship On Anzio Beach

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 19—(AP)— The Anzio beachhead action, which has blown hot and cold in the war news for the past few weeks, has been one of the most difficult of all stories for correspondents to cover—due to censorship restrictions. (The writer spent several days in the beachhead.)

Correspondents actually with the 5th Army amphibious forces have been forced to confine their reporting to individual feature stories or submit their copy to such lengthy delay that its perspective is entirely out of focus with the day's news.

At one time the correspondents neared a state of open rebellion, many leaving the beachhead because of the futility of trying to present any semblance of a prompt day-to-day story of the developments.

Now, with short-wave radio facilities from the beachhead to the cable point removed due to official belief there has been "alarmist reporting," the problem is even more intense. The only means of getting copy back to the cable point is through the courier method, which sometimes requires two days or more for transit.

From the first, beachhead radio facilities for the press were operated under strict "field censorship," a system which traditionally makes few major decisions of any sort and none regarding matters of policy. However, general situation stories on the day's actions were sometimes permitted to pass providing no major battle developments were indicated.

When in doubt at any time the censors were ordered to place the radio copy in a courier bag for the decision of higher officials at the rear.

Churchill Rated Topnotch Poker Player According To Story By German Labor Chief

LISBON, Feb. 19— (AP) — The secret of Prime Minister Churchill's statesmanship, the Nazi assert, is "his aptitude for the American game of poker."

Robert Ley, leader of the German labor front, writes in an article on Churchill in the newspaper Der Angriff, "the whole political secret of this man is his gambler's character. Churchill is a poker player."

"This curious game consists of irritating one's opponent into overreaching himself." Leys adds, "thus only a person with an aptitude for falsehood, bluff and hypocrisy can achieve a mastery of poker."

Orinoco River Source Found

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Feb 19 (CP-Reuters)—United States Army Flyers from the British Guiana base command have located headwaters of the 1,500-mile Orinoco River, thus ending the search for one of the last great prizes in the geographical wield.

The source of the river is in a mountain gorge in the jungle separating Venezuela and Brazil. The discovery is of considerable importance owing to an agreement setting the boundary of the countries as the mountain range constituting the watershed of the Amazon and Orinoco rivers. As a result the boundary will be moved east affecting some 1,000 miles of territory. Each country will take land from the other and also lose some.

The Coffee Club Helps Fund For War Victims

Friday dawned with the outlook none too rosy to maintain the daily record of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, which after more than three years on that basis has so far never failed in its boy scout daily deed for good towards the sufferers from air raids over Britain.

When this became known to the members of the morning Coffee Club who have supported the fund in quite a substantial way on previous occasions, ways and means of a modus operandi to see that this should not happen were sponstaneously sought, with the result that a draw was held for a prize, sight unseen, that was made available from the homes of one of the members.

That this was unanimously approved may be seen from the fact that of the twelve or so members present, all particpated to give a one hundred per cent endorsation towards helping to avoid a scoreless day, the net result of which was to make possible a contribution of $8.50 that is recorded in their name to-day.

Of course, there was a certain amount of attraction towards the prize that was made available, although one member stated he did not want it at all, and having come so close to winnng it that he was right next to the lucky person who did, there is now much speculation as to whether or not he would have turned it back again for purposes of a similar nature.

Keeps Up Good Work.

With a son overseas on active service since the early days of the war, Mrs. William Shannon has kept up a very practical interest in the needs of people who have suffered in the front line in Britain through giving on a monthly basis since the fund commenced its activities on their behalf, her usual gift of $3.00 once again appearing in the list of to-day.

One collection from the penny box located at the Canadian Corporation Associate Store on Water Street, was made, and this too appears in to-day's list to further the cause which the fund seeks to assist.

What is described as possibly the heaviest raid on London since the blitz took place Friday night, when casualties and damage would be proportionately higher, serving to emphasise the need that will undoubtedly follow. The fund now has $928.26 on hand towards the next contribution of £500, which could be easily completed in a short space of time, if everyone would heed that generous impulse and send in their contribution NOW to help the latest sufferers in the front line in Britain.

Proceeds of draw sponsored by the Coffee Club	8.50

Alvin E. Neil War Casualty

Staff Sgt. Alvin E. Neil, serving in Italy with a paratroop division, was wounded early in December, and died as a result of his injuries, January 29, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. John Neil, of St. Ola.

Enlisting in September, 1939, Staff Sgt. Neil joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and went overseas in December of the same year. He served 2½ years overseas and then returned to Canada as an instructor. In August, 1942, he joined the American Paratroop battalion and during last summer he served in the Aleutians. After this campaign, he returned to Vermont and then went overseas again in October.

Following the action where he was wounded, Staff Sgt. Neil was taken from Italy to North Africa, and he died in a hospital in a village there.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four brothers, Aldin of Peterborough; Ervan in the Army at Kingston; Clifford at home and Virgil at Glen Miller; and three sisters, Mildred, Jean and Marjorie at home.

KINGSTON, Feb. 19. — Lieut. James A. Rickaby, former sports director at the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville, Ont., and assistant to the District Army Examiner of Military District No. 3, has been promoted to the rank of captain.

Captain Rickaby, folloiwng the completion of an officers' training course at Three Rivers, Que., was posted to M.D. 3 Headquarters with the Directorate of Personal Selection.

Educated at Riverdale Collegiate, Toronto Capt Rickaby was senior athletic champion in 1935. He was valedictorian at the Toronto Normal School upon graduation in 1939. He enlisted in October, 1941, and received his basic training at Peterborough, where he was posted for 13 months with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps at the military hospital.

His wife, the former Margaret Turnbull, is now residing at 546 Albert Street, Kingston, Ontario.

Council Raises Tax Rate By Five Mills

HAVELOCK, Feb. 19 —(ENS) — At the special meeting of the village council this week, the tax rate was struck at 47 mills, this being an increase of 5 mills over the 1943 rate.

Reeve Seeney presided at the council and all councillors were present, sitting without remuneration. The returned requisition from the Board of Education for $10,000 was received, and on a motion by Councillors Sanderson and Leeson was accepted. The School Board also mentioned it was the council's duty to appoint a School Attendance Officer, but after studying the sattutes, the Council could not find where they were responsible for this appointment and on motion by Councillors Leeson and Martin, no action was taken.

A by-law appointing Mrs. Catherine Platt and Miss Eliza Wright as auditors was given its several readings, and adopted on motion by Councillors Martin and Ketchen. Another appointment H. B. Puffer as tax collector for 1944, at a salary of $150, was passed on a motion by Councillors Martin and Ketchen. Council adjourned to meet on March 6.

HIT-AND-RUN CRASH

When a badly damaged automobile was found in the middle of Park street at an intersection of Stewart Place and fragments of another machine discovered near by police had quite a hunt trying to find the hit-and-run car Friday night. The car on Park street was found to be owned by Norman Payne, Dummer township. Later the police learned that after the accident another car had been seen travelling north on Park street and west on that street. Sergt. John Thompson and Constable Percy Sexsmith found thet machine bearing the number given on Charlotte street in a badly damaged condition and it was brought to the police station.

Infant Death Rate Hits New Low

Infant death rate in Peterborough last year, 32.54 per 1,000 live births, was the lowest recorded, Dr. R. A. Kelly mentioned as one of the high lights of his six months in Peterborough and his first annual report to the Board of Health.

The resident death rate was 10.6; only one resident mother died as a result of childbirth; four residents of the city died in sanatoria from tuberculosis.

The per capital cost for the Department to the municipality directly was 62.2 cents and of all health work under the Board's supervision 83.5 cents.

"The people of Peterborough, on the whole, enjoyed a healthy year during 1943," Dr. Kelly observed. "After four years of war the death rate 10.6 is comparable with that of past years. Diseases of heart, arteries and kidneys were responsible for 44.86 per cent of all deaths in the city; cancer was second at 12.79 per cent, which is a slight increase over previous years. Both influenza and pneumonia were responsible for an increased number of deaths resulting from widespread epidemic in the autumn months. They were chiefly among elderly persons. I also wish to point out that no deaths occurred within the city from tuberculosis or other communicable diseases.

Infant Mortality

Infants who died during the first year of life numbered 19 to give a rate of 32.09 per 1,000 live births. Considering that of the previous year of 1942 the infant mortality rate for Canada was 54 and for Ontario 40, it will be seen that this is an excellent achievement.

Credit should be given to the practicing physicians and the various agencies, especially the Victorian Order of Nurses, who are doing prenatal, natal and post-natal work.

Total attendance at child hygiene clinics was 1,879, as compared with 2,114 in 1942. This is thought to be due to the fact there was no M.O.H. in attendance during part of the year. During November a third clinic was opened in the Park Hill Road area of Wartime Housing.

Because of the shortage in the nursing staff it was not possible to make sufficient home visits to encourage attendance. In all three clinics too much time was spent on immunization and not enough on child supervision. Sanitary conditions in the city were satisfactory last year due to the excellent service rendered by Sanitary Inspector MacPherson.

Variety Thieves

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.— (CP). — Hamilton thieves are not choosy—they'll take almost anything, from a live ferret to bathroom fixtures. James Law reported a $7 ferret spirted away from its hutch Thursday night, and a bathroom in a vacant Cannon street home was completely shorn of its appurtenances the same night.

Teachers Organize

OTTAWA, Feb. 19—(CP). — Formation of a Federation of Roman Catholic Teachers in Ontario was agreed upon in principle at a conference yesterday attended by religious and lay teachers from Ottawa, Toronto, Kingston, Peterborough, Belleville, Cornwall, Alexandra, Windsor, Mattawa, Pembroke, and London.

Kawartha National Park Idea Discussed With Hon. W. Thompson

First action on any of the projects that were discussed at the recent dinner session of the Kinsmen Club was a deputation to Toronto to inquire into the possibilities of the proposed Kawartha National Park which Senator J. J. Duffus outlined as a development of an extensive area of Peterborough county that is of no other use.

Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., Alderman Adam Sands of the Kinsmen, and Senator Duffus went to Toronto several days ago to consult the Hon. W. G. Thompson, Minister of Lands and Forests, explain to him the location and kind of country that has been proposed, and generally to enlist his interest and support.

Perhaps the major section of country lies between the Apsley and Buckhorn Road a section which Fred Marshall, former game warden, considers would make an ideal national park. Local opinion is generally attracted to the scheme, and the visitors to the Department reported a cordial reception by the Minister. The pith of the proposal would be the willingness of the Provincial Government to transfer to the Dominion a wide area that would be expansive enough for national park purposes.

At any rate the Kinsmen have something more than the pleasing echoes of their dinner in regard to this proposal which, as it has been said, cannot be drafted in a short time.

Young People Organize Special Parties

HAVELOCK, Feb. 19 —(ENS).— Three organiations of Young People of the village took advantage of the Valentine season and held parties this week. Girls' Class of Knox Presbyterian church staged their party at the home of Mrs. Donald Kirk. After the devotional and the business periods, th program was in charge of Mrs. George Kennedy. A contest, "A Maiden's Fortune" was enjoyed, and a Hawaiian puzzle. For the roll-call each member received a Valentine from the mail box. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will take the form of a toboggan party on Monday, February 28.

Bible Quiz.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Anglican Church entertained the members and their friends in the basement of the church. Rev R. E. Lemon acted as chairman. The program opened with a vocal duet "When He Comes Home" by Jean and Joan Quinn. A reading "Recollections o a Cathedral Chalice" was given by Oaklie Peters, and a Bible quiz between teams from Norwood and Havelock resulted in a tie with the score of 6 points each. A Valentine box contained a fancy Valentine for every one present. Refreshments were served by th lunch committee.

Describes Origin.

A social evening was the attraction for the party in the Y.P.L. at the United Church. Miss Stella Wilkinson read a story "The Origin of St. Valentine." Miss Margaret Anderson won the prize for writing the best sentimental telegram, and Angus McMullen carried off the prize in the autograph race. Several group games were much enjoyed and the serving of refreshments closed the event.

System Of Taxing Land Values Only Explained By H. B. Cowan, Sr. As In Australia And New Zealand

The Examiner recently published part of a letter received by G. W. Craw from H. Bronson Cowan, Sr., in East Melbourne, Australia, an interesting weather log of his journeyings on his two southbound trips across the equator to the antipodes.

The second part of the letter deals with the purpose of Mr. Cowan's assessment investigations in New Zealand and Australia which he mentions as "site-value rating." He does not use the phrase "single tax," but presumably there is a kinship between the two terms and ideas that may bring them fairly close together if not exactly so.

Mr. Cowan writes that 75 to 80 per cent of the ratepayers in Wellington, New Zealand, have their property tax rates reduced by the application of "site-value rating."

The procedure is described by Mr. Cowan as follows: "Find the total land values in Peterborough, and the total of all improvements plus the values assessed under the business tax, which is really a tax on buildings. Then divide the value of the land into the value of the improvements. That will give you the average ratio for the whole city, i.e., percentage of land values to improvement values.

Individual Ratios

When you know what that ratio is you will then know that every separate property in Peterborough which has a ratio below that average would have its rates increased just in proportion as its ratio falls below that average, were Peterborough ever to adopt site-value rating. You will know, also, that every property in Peterborough with a ratio above that average for the city as a whole would have its rates reduced just in proportion as its ratio rose above that general average.

Benefits All

In other words, site-value rating benefits every ratepayer who improves his property above the average, and increases the rates of every ratepayer who neglects to do so. The owners of slum properties are, for example, among those who are hit the hardest. Fortunately we have very few such properties in Peterborough. You will be able to imagine what would be likely to happen to a lot of the old business buildings along George, Water, Hunter and Charlotte streets within a few years after the introduction of such a system of rating.

I neglected to explain that all individual ratepayers have to do in order to find the ratio of their own properties is to look up their assessment notices, and then divide the value of their land into the value of their buildings. They can compare their ratios with the average for the city.

A funny thing about this system of rating (taxing) is that while the first effect is to reduce land values sharply, the ultimate effect is to increase them. This is because as soon as people find that the cost of sites has been reduced and that they can put up a house, or any other kind of building, and not have to pay rates (taxes) on it, the demand for land quickly increases. That starts land values up again. Then as new buildings go up, and as old buildings come down and are replaced by new and much better ones, land values show a further increase.

I have yet to find a case out here where that has not been the result.

Australian Experience

There are hundreds of municipalities in Australia under that system of rating, and none that ever adopted it has ever returned to our system of rating."

Mr. Cowan then refers to Melbourne, a city of 1,100,000 population. It comprises 28 separate municipalities, and Mr. Cowan is conducting assessment surveys in two of them, Camberwell and Brunswick.

"The value of the land in Camberwell in 1923, when it adopted site-value rating, was £3,165,260. Today it is £6,503,177.

The number of buildings in the city has increased from 7,594 to 19,985, an increase of 158 per cent. I am to address the members of the Council when the survey is completed, and also their guests from other councils.

Should any of the merchants along George street hear about this, and get afraid that were Peterborough to adopt 'site-value rating' they would have to pay the increase in rates or higher rents, you can assure them that that would not be the case, at least not after their leases ran out. That point has been examined time and again, in many different countries, and always with the same result."

Following Mr. Cowan's instruction as to method of procedure, for the interest of any readers of the Examiner who may be attracted to his work and also to the results which have obviously completely won him to the "site-value rating" or taxing plan, the Examiner obtained from the treasury and assessment departments at the City Hall the information which he advised.

The total assessment of buildings in Peterborough is $20,7155,595; total business assessment is $3,474,940; these combined assessments or valuations is $24,190,535.

The total value of land in the city is $6,577,444.

"Divide the value of the land into the value of the improvements (buildings and business), and that will give you the general ratio for the whole city, that is the percentage of land values to improvement values."

That ratio, according to repertorial arithmetic, is 3.67.

Separate Properties

Now, here are some individual local assessments: a house on Bolivar street: land $490; building $2,060; (divide land into building and the quotient is 4.2); therefore the percentage of land to improvement value in that instance is 4.2. And that becomes the ratio for that property.

Another Bolivar street property: land $250; building $2,050; ratio 8.2.

On the south side of King street, another example, land $700; building $1,850; ratio is 2.64.

Another on King street: land $520; building $1780; ratio 3.42.

On Princess street: land $290; building $2,760; ratio 9.5. And a last property on Princess: land $225; building $2,075; ratio is 9.22.

The general ratio for the whole city is 3.67; and the individual ratios for the six properties are: 4.2, 8.2, 2.64, 3.42, 9.5, 9.22.

Repeating Mr. Cowan again, if the ratio on a separate property falls below the general ratio, then that property would have its rates (taxes) increased "in proportion as its ratio falls below that average."

Only two of the six have ratios lower than the average. They are 2.64 and 3.42. Their rates would be increased in the proportion of 3.67 to 2.64 in the one instance; and 3.67 to 3.42 in the other.

But, in the other four cases, the rates would be lowered in these separate ratios: 4.2 to 3.67; 8.2 to 3.67; 9.5 to 3.67 and 9.22 to 3.67. The taxes of those last two Princess street properties, house and lot, would be about one-third of the amount their owners are now paying.

And as Mr. Cowan also commented, none of the hundreds of municipalities in Australia under the site-value rating "have never returned to our system of rating."

DINNER DRESS—Soft pastels are ideal for long-skirted Spring dance frocks and are the pet of many young women who know that they present the sort of picture that a man in the service wants to take away with him. This pretty frock is in mist green Celanese rayon jersey and it has an interesting draped shoulder effect, and a bodice which is almost hiplength. The skirt is softly gathered in back, as it is in front.—By Alice Alden.

Peterboro Normal School Holds Annual At Home

The Peterborough Normal School Peterborough Normal School C was gaily lighted and decorated Friday evening, when the annual "At Home" was held. Red hearts on white lace paper backgrounds were all through the school, and red, white, and blue streamers carried out a patriotic motif as well as being appropriate for the Valentine week. The assembly hall was particularly attractive, with streamers on every window, and large red hearts in evidence everywhere.

The stage was bright with red crepe paper, and large red hearts on white ground transfixed with arrows. Mr. E. H. McKone, principal in his words of welcome, warned the men in the audience to be careful of the significance of the decorations, since teachers had a habit of wanting their own way. However, he said that the staff and students of the school were very pleased to welcome such a large crowd and hoped that they would enjoy themselves.

The program consisted of three groups of songs by the school choir, with Mr. Q. McKinney conducting. The first group was a tribute to St. Valetine's Day, and consisted "In the Gloaming," and "I Dream of Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," the latter with Miss Paline O'Donnell as soloist. The second group consisted of two lively and colorful songs, 'The Viking Song," and "Song of the Gale," while the third was devoted to negro spirituals, "I Got Shoes," with Eileen Tanner as solist, 'Steal Away," and the popular "Who Built the Ark," with Miss O'Donnel taking the solo parts. As an encore the group sang, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

Tasty refreshments were served during the three supper hours, designated by small ribbons pinned on each person as he entered the hall. The order was designed for simplicity, since a red ribbon meant first, a white second, and the blue, third. The serving table was centred with a bouquet of red roses, and set with red candles in silver holders, on a large red streamer. Miss Olga Johnston was in charge of refreshments, with Miss Maryalyce Renwick supervising the tea room, assisted by Mable Chapman, Myrtle Hall, and Jean Thompson.

At the conclusion of the program, dancing to the music of the Hayloft Boys began, and cards, shuffleboard, a fish pond, ping pong, and several games were opened on the second floor, for those not dancing. Miss Lorna Michael was in charge of the games, and was assisted by several students. The school was open for inspection by the visitors, and many availed themselves of the privilege, wondering through the rooms, acquainting themselves with the building.

Receiving the guests were the principal and his lady. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McKone, and Dr. A. J. Madill, Miss Olga Johston, Miss Agnes Campbell, Miss Mary Card, and Allen Johnson. Miss Campbell, as president of the Literary Society, opened the program with a few words of welcome, and introduced Mr. McKone.

The hard-working decorating committee, whose efforts were admired and commented on, were June Crosby, Helen Baird, Mayme Cathcart, Mary Buchan and Alan Johnson.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

We will today give you a few hints on what is being worn for the more formal dress. If you are going to a five o'clock tea, dinner, cocktail party or the theatre, a smart black Bianchini rayon satin, cut away to a wide, formal neckline, a high drama setting for a pearl necklace, or a jewel clip. The gathered skirt comes back with gentle side tucking, and has long, slimming lines. With this is worn a small white turban, softly draped and caught here and there with jewelled ornaments in black to match dress. For the afternoon tea a very smart outfit is the two-piece suit dress, made in rayon crepe, either black or navy blue, with a checked taffeta dickie and cuffs to match. A hat with wide brim in front and narrow back with an upturned edge about 1½ inches deep, this to be made of the checked silk. Wear with this a pair of white gloves, and you will have a very striking ensemble. A very youthful looking suit is made in gold colored rayon crepe. The skirt is plain, the coat a loose swagger effect, hip length, and buttoned to the neck with gold metal buttons, this coat is collarless. A hat worn well on the back of the head made of gold velvet flowers and a gold colored veil worn around the hat, and under the chin, tied in a large bow under the left ear, This is a costume that can be worn for any occasion, formal or otherwise.

A smart sailor (small) and worn well forward over the brow, made of straw and lace fluted, and made in frill effect all around the brim and the only other trimming being a bow of velvet ribbon about 2½ inches wide placed directly in front of hat.

The violet shades are among the headlines for spring, for either old or young. A casual type suit made in imported violet wool crepe, with plastic flower buttons, giving that dressed up look to it.

A smart felt turban with high cornet, worn well forward, gives the finishing touch to the suit. The classic reefer, beautifully done in lilac herringbone wool, with three huge silver buttons down the front being its only trimming. A tailored felt hat in pansy purple, with matching gloves completes a spring outfit of which you will be justly proud.

Johnston—Goodhand

LINDSAY, Feb. 19.— (ENS).— A wedding of interest took place at the parsonage of Cambray United church when Velma Aileen, daughter of Mrs. Goodhand and the late Albert Goodhand became the bride of Malhon Ross, son of Mrs. Johnston and the late Mr. M. Johnston of Lindsay. Rev. P. C. Brown officiated.

The bride was gowned in celanese and lace with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her shoulder veil of white tulle was caught with white roses and she carried a white Bible and wore a corsage of pink carnations. She was attended by Mrs. Lorne Irwin who wore pink net over taffeta with matching accessories and corsage of carnations. Mr. Harry Griffis was groomsman.

DISTINGUISHED REVIVAL—The chignon hairdo slips beneath the 1944 beige felt cloche as smartly as did the Castle bob. Note the clever pleat of the brim; the striking trim is dark gray, not brown, grosgrain. Anyone who can remember back to the pin-up girls of the last war will immediately think of Lenora Hughes, not to mention Elsie Janis and Irene Castle, and ten to one the memory will come back topped with a cloche hat just like the model, above, with brown grosgrain trim. That is, the style's identical, but one must admit that the execution is a bit more streamlined and interesting than the 25-year-old original. Look for this cloche in many varieties.—By Prunella Wood.

History Of Names Speech Delights Art Association

"There were no heriditary surnames in England until the time of the Normans," said Mrs. James Turnbull, addressing the regular meeting of the Women's Art Association on the topic, "The Origin of Surnames." Mrs. Turnbull told the group that until the population of the world had increased considerably, surnames were not used, and the common distinction used among the Hebrews, for instance, was that of paternity.

Simon, John and Judas were the most common names in those times, the speaker continued, and therefore these were generally qualified by words which distinguished the person. For instance, there would be Simon Barjonas, meaning Simon, son of Jonas. The prefix "bar" meaning "son of." Other ways of distinguishing people were by place of birth or residence, occupation, and even moral characteristics. Taking the word Simon, there was Simon of Cyrene, Simon the Tanner, and Simon the Zealot,—each man distinguished by a qualifying word.

"The most complete method of nomenclature was developed by the Romans," continued the speaker, "and since each Roman had three names, his given name, his family name, and a surname, it was very easy to trace family backgrounds. However, this system was lost with the fall of the Roman Empire, and was never revived."

"When tracing English surnames," Mrs. Turnbull went on, "we must review the historical background of the country. There were four races in England, and each played a part in the forming of surnames. There were the Celts, the Anglo-Saxons, the Danes or Scandinavians, and the Normans. The Romans, although they were in England 400 years, and left a culture for the Britons, also left a people who had forgotten the art of self-defence, and so invading tribes kept England at war for may years.

"There were other races in addition to the invaders. The Hugenots and refugees from the French Revolution, came to England to escape persecution. Germans were brought over in the time of Queen Elizabeth, to teach the people mining and smelting, and consequently names of German origin are found around the mining centres. Dutch went to England to teach various crafts, and made their homes there, bringing in another language."

Mrs. Turnbull explained that when the Norman's had won the battle of Hastings, William the Conqueror had an Abbey constructed on the spot, and inscribed with the names of the men who had come over with him. It was called Battle Abbey, and although it was destroyed by fire, it was found that a Monk had made a copy of the names. "The copy was not very accurate," she went on, "and this accounts for the many discrepancies in spelling in certain names."

"Most English surnames, therefore, are from 400 to 800 years old," she continued. "In 1538 Henry the Eighth made it compulsory to register births, marriages and deaths. This caused a great many changes in name, because a great many of the people, although illiterate, were bilingual. Thus a name like Mills, might be put in the Norman, and would read Desmoulins, and was later contracted to Mullins. Similarly, the name Small, could be written Petit, and our name Pettit naturally evolves from it."

"A great many people really did not know just what name to take, since one man named John could have as many as fours surnames. Some would call him John, son of Will, or Wilson, or if he lived at the edge of the vilage, he might be known as John at the Town's End, or Townsend. Similarly, trades people would call him John the Saddler, and those wishing to joke, might call him John Whitehead. It therefore rested with the individual which name he chose and with the recorder which way it was written down.

"It is interesting to note," Mr. Turnbull said, "that nicknames were chosen least of all, but the origin of some is very amusing. A man who wore short stockings would be called "curt hose," or "short hose," from which Curtis gets its derivation. A man who was inclined to be lackadaisical would probably be nicknamed Doolittle.

The speaker continued by taking each group mentioned earlier, dealing with patronymics, matronymics, place of birth, occupation, and nicknames and giving several examples of each. and telling of the developments along the same lines in different tongues and countries. In Scandanavian, for instance, the suffix "son" was used, and various contractions of that method occur commonly in to-day's surnames. 'Ett" was the common Welsh suffix, while the letters "map" or "mab" mean "son of." These were later contracted to "ap" or just "p," so that David map Richard would become David Pritchard.

In Scotland, Mrs. Turnbull explained, the letters "mac" were used to denote paternity, while in Ireland, when surnames became compulsory, each person took his grandfather's name, with the original "hua," contracting to "hy," and gradually to the letter "o." The prefix "fitz" was the Norman way of denoting "son of."

The speaker took a list of names of women in the Association and used them as illustrations in her talk. A great many of those present found out for the first time the original derivations of their surnames, a great many of which were amusing as well as interesting. Mrs. Turnbull explained that she could only touch briefly on each aspect of the subject, since it covered such a vast amount of ground, but that she woud be glad to assist anyone in finding more facts about their surnames.

Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, the president, thanked Mrs. Turnbull for her unusual talk, and said that the group enjoyed hearing from one of its own members.

SECOND WIFE HAS ADVANTAGES.

She Reaps Benefits of First One's Work Can Profit From Predecessor's Mistakes.

Second wives are often eaten up with jealousy of their husbands' first wives. Frequently this is not without cause, because many a poor blundering tactless husband will not let his departed Maria stay buried in the cemetery, but is forever dragging her out of her grave and throwing her in the current wife's face.

Of course, it is silly for a woman to get green-eyed over a ghost, but no wife enjoys being reminded that she was not her husband's first choice and that she is sitting down at the second table, or maybe the third, to partake of the warmed-over affections and romance of the man she loves. Naturally she knows it, but she does not want to have the fact rubbed in.

First Wife Real Benefactor.

Now, in reality, instead of regarding their husband's first wives as their enemies by marriage, so to speak, and being jealous of them, the alive wives should look upon them as their benefactors and be grateful to them. For where the first wife sowed, the second wife reaps. Because Maria pinched pennies and hopped buses is the reason that Gwendolyn rides in a high-powered automobile and wears a mink coat and matched pearls. Also Number Two has the advantage of getting a husband who is conditioned.

This week our citizenship theme has been "The world needs women who understand their destiny". How to understand that destiny? Let's encourage all to take an interest in government, to know the problems of public life, to keep abreast of the times by reading (how about the editorial page before the comics?), listening and discussing. As women let us be particularly concerned with problems of housing, maternity and child welfare, delinquency, health and hospitals, education.

The Co-Ed Club met as usual for supper. Table talk having to do with a St. Valentine's quiz and various other topics. The few minutes left after supper were spent in practising dance steps.

The '38 Club held a bowling party. Perhaps if the few and far between strikes and spares could have multiplied by score keepers the sheets would have presented a healthier healthier appearance. However, low scores dont' indicate low spirits! Supper was served later in the "Y" Club Room by Margaret Edmison and Peggy Couch. The business meeting had to do with plans for the dance to be held on March 3. The Hostess Course report will be presented at the next meeting on March 1.

The Junior Supper Club on Thursday announced their supper meeting for next week. Members are asked to give the executive their ideas on programs so that there may be more variety in the meetings. The supper committee for next week is made up of the following members: Anita Davis, Nancy Ackerman, Mary Barrett, Patsy Martyn, Ann Young.

The Gym-Swim Club held a dance in the Recreation Room on Thursday evening entertaining soldiers from the camp.

The Friday Supper Club did not meet last week but the executive have been busy completing plans for the Gentleman's Night which will be in full swing this evening. More news for next week.

The Saturday Juniors expressed their artistic and creative urge in making Valentines and some choice numbers came into being under the capable direction of Miss Odell Millburn.

SPLASH-PROOF STYLE—Elizabeth Reller, radio actress, faces misty, moisty weather in a bloused raincoat, a wrist looped umbrella, and capeskin gloves as washable as her pocket handkerchiefs. Putting something aside for a rainy day is sound fashion, as well as financial, advice. Splash-proof fashions are easily come by, at reasonable rates, and they should be a part of every wardrobe worthy of the name. Wet weather is depressing enough without feminine disorder adding to the drab. The uninspired slicker raincoat is almost as rare as peacocks in the city; today's coats are dashing as well as water shedding. A child born on this day may possess some exceptional talents, lean to novel or unique employments, in which it should succeed, if erratic or strange urges be held in practical lines.

For Monday, February 21

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day on which the emotional, romantic, artistic and more idealistic relations should gain the major attention, since there may be more safety and progress attained in such expression, as more realistic and practical concerns may be expressed by wayward, reckless, tempestuous or erratic impulses. Dangers of many natures are indicated. Postpone all routine matters when possible, as the proclivities are on the subjective side.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of advancement, pleasant and prosperous relations of all pertaining to their inner, finer and more idealistic life. Spiritual, artistic, romantic or domestic and social affairs may be highly stimulated with exceptional talents or creative impulses flourishing. Against this there may be impractical, hectic and erratic urges that hold danger, defeat and disaster.

A child born on this day may possess unusual talents or exceptional creative skills, with art, music, or other cultural expressions. It may also have erratic or peculiar impulses.

Polish Forces May Aid Red Invaders

By JUDSON O. O'QUINN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 19 —(AP) —Polish underground forces may be ordered shortly to take up arms at the side of the advancing Red Army, thereby eliminating one of the three serious problems confronting Moscow and the Polish Government here.

Poland's London Government was reported Thursday ready to send the underground into action at Russia's side, but to have delayed the order pending an exchange of messages between Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin aimed at ending the Polish-Russian dispute.

The underground had been ordered previously not to resist the Russian advance inside Poland's old borders, but not to collaborate with Stalin's forces until the boundary and other problems had been ironed out.

The Russian newspaper Pravda had raised the question, in its February 12 attack on the exiled Polish Government, how could the Poles consider themselves friendly to Moscow when the underground was not fighting alongside an Allied army.

Churchill's appearance before Commons was awaited here as a possible indication of the next United Nations move to settle the Russian-Polish quarrel.

New Boundary

It is reported that a broad Russian proposal for settling the boundary is being circulated among Polish and British-American circles providing for Russia to take Koenigsberg for a naval base on the Southern Baltic and fixing the Polish eastern boundary along a modified Curzon line with Vilna and Lwow in Russian hands.

The western boundary as reported fixed by this proposal would extend from Kolberg in Pomerania through Oppeln in Upper Silesia. The old Polish corridor would be eliminated and the Poles would get the former free city of Danzig.

The district of Teschen, taken by Poland at the time of the Munich dismemberment, would be returned to Czechoslovakia.

Germany would lose East Prussia as well as the northeastern Baltic tip of Germany proper under these terms.

It was believed here that the Poles might be prepared to accept such boundaries although they would necessitate the shifting of populations—of Poles from the western Ukraine into Poland and Germans from Pomerania and Silesia into Germany.

The third Russian-Polish problem —an expressed Russian desire for removal of several members of the Polish government viewed by Moscow as anti-Soviet—happens to be the toughest of the three and nowhere near a settlement.

Aldermen Paid $5.00 A Meeting

By The Canadian Press

Most Ontario cities pay their aldermen for their services, it was shown to-day in a survey by The Canadian Press, the amount ranging from $4.50 and $5.00 a meeting in smaller cities to $1,200 annually at Toronto.

Of the 26 cities from which replies were received in the survey, only four—Kingston, Brockville, Port Arthur and Fort William—do not make any honorarium payment to aldermen.

Toronto pays the largest sum with its $1,200 a year while Hamilton and Ottawa each pay $500 annually and Windsor $400 annually.

However, in most centres remuneration is at $5 a meeting. One exception is St. Catharines which now pays $4.50. a reduction from the $5 paid there from 1929 to 1933.

Brantford pays $5 a meeting but there is a ceiling of $200 a year. At Niagara Falls, Welland, Stratford, Kitchener, North Bay and Sudbury the $5 is paid for both regular and special meetings. St. Catharines, St. Thomas. Belleville, London. Peterborough, Guelph, Woodstock, Sarnia, Galt and Chatham either pay only for regular meetings or did not specify whether payment was for both regular and special sessions.

Cities which pay their aldermen have had the system in effect for varying times, some since 1919 and others having adopted the plan as recently as 1939.

180,000 Holland Jews Believed Wiped Out

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP)—Nearly the entire Jewish community in Holland—numbering 180,000 persons —has been wiped out by the Germans, a document smuggled out of that Nazi-occupied country into Netherlands Government hands indicates.

The Government here is compiling from the document a catalogue of German atrocities leading to the mass extermination through outright killing, sterilization, and deportation.

It is believed some hundreds of Jews have managed to exist underground. At the war's start, Holland had some 120,000 Jews, and another 60,000 persons of Jewish strain.

Army Takes Over English Theatre

LONDON, Feb. 19 —(CP-Reuters) — Shakespeare has received notice to quit the Scala theatre in London which, under a War Office requisitioning order, is to be taken over on March 1 for United States troops.

The decision was made known a little more than 12 hours after the curtain had fallen on the opening night of a series of Shakespeare plays—the first that had been seen in wartime London for some time.

Donald Wolfit, who was producing the plays at this theatre in the heart of Soho, said "Six months of work went into the production. Thousands of pounds are involved, and when I walked into the theatre today I was suddenly presented with a requisitioning order.

"Ours is a non-profit-making organization formed in 1937 and we are furthering the effort to present Shakespeare, the national poet, to the nation.

"It is the first time that a theatre in full production has been closed for military purposes."

The Minister of War, Sir James Grigg, is to be asked in the House of Commons why some other buildings could not have been taken over and whether he will reconsider the decision.

FOR THE

RED CROSS AND COMMUNITY FUND

CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH:

The evil forces of Hitlerism and so called Japanism are already finding that their war machines cannot conquer the fighting spirit of the people of the Allied nations. Here in Peterborough we have no opportunity to show our heroism under crashing bombs and against the fury of our enemies. We have, however, the opportunity to "SERVE ON THE HOME FRONT," by contributing to the utmost of our ability to the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund.

Let us prove ourselves worthy of the bond of common allegiance between those brave people who are feeling the fury of the enemy and are sacrificing all they hold dear in order that democracy may continue to exist and that we may live on in comfort and safety. Let us give freely, more than ever before, so that our city may take its fair share of responsibility in seeing that our brave soldiers may be provided with the comforts of which they are richly deserving, and our local services maintained and made useful to their fullest extent.

I have confidence in the people of Peterborough and I know that they will not fail in this great cause which means so much to us all.

Sincerely Yours,
James Hamilton

Sweet memories of thee.

MEEKS. — In loving memory of Nathan Meeks, who passed away February 19, 1942.

The face I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still,
The hand so often clasped in mine

When I am all alone;
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Always remembered by his two Daughters, Pearl and Anna.

MOORE. — In loving memory of my dear husband, George William Moore, who passed away, February 19, 1943.

He is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In my lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by his Wife, Hazel Edith Moore.

MOORE. — In loving memory of a dear brother-in-law, George Moore, who passed away February 19, 1943.

WINDRIM.— In memory of a kind and loving husband and father, William Alexander Windrim, who passed away February 19, 1941.

Every man has to be broken in to domesticity. He has to be taught how to be a fireside companion, instead of a roamer, and get hardened to seeing his money go to the butcher and baker and doctor and beauty and specialty shops, instead of buying him good times. He has to learn not to argue with his wife, nor sulk when Aunt Jane comes for a nice long visit. And he has to find out from experience to make a quick exit when his wife gets up with a headache, or ties a towel around her head and starts in for house cleaning.

Oh, it takes a lot of work and worry and tears and heartaches and elbow grease to take a green boy and polish him off into a good husband, but that is what the first wife does. It is what makes widowers prize that smart women snap at sight whenever they get the chance. So Number Two wives might well say "thank you, ma'am" to the ladies who did the spade work for them.

Second Wife Knows Jealousy is Foolish.

Now futile as is the jealousy of a second wife for a first wife and incomprehensible as it always is to her husband, it is a heart-breaking problem to many a woman who lies awake at night, sobbing bitter tears into her pillow, while she wonders what to do about it. For she knows it is folly to remove all physical reminders of No. 1 from the house when she can't sweep all the memories of her out of her husband's mind.

Perhaps these unhappy wives will take a tip from a clever woman of my acquaintance, who is the third incumbent of her husband's heart and home, and who deliberately set herself to cut her dead rivals out by surpassing them. To being with, she had the initial advantage of being young and slim and pretty, whereas her predecessors had been ladies, who, before they passed on to a place where there is neither marriage, nor giving in marriage and hence no sentimental complications, had acquired the middle-age spread and lost whatever pulchritude they possessed as girls. Also, she was a foxy little piece of goods who knew on which side her bread was buttered.

So, instead of banishing her predecessors' portraits to the attic, she hung theme where they confronted her husband whenever he raised his eyes from his newspaper, and where he could not help contrasting them with the glamorous young creature at his side.

Then she went sleuthing among his old acquaintances until she adroitly found out the little peculiarities of the ex-wives that were likely to have gotten on a husband's nerves. They were good women, both, but Maria was a nagger and so bossy that her husband had never known his soul was his own, and Evelina was apoor housekeeper who half-starved her family. And neither had thought it worthwhile to placate their husband and keep him entertained and amused.

So Number Three made good on all the counts in which the others had failed, and she never, never, never has to listen to her husband tell about the "dear departed."

City Carpetball

Only three results received this week from five games scheduled with the L.O.L.-Brinton games and Jesse James vs. Wardens being the missing ones.

Looking over the scores received we note that All Saints' outplayed the Antiques in both games to boost their position into third place over the Old Sweats. This was made sure of when the Old Sweats slipped two games to the Mad Masons in their own back yard. The first one was tough to lose but the P.F.D. led all the way in the second game.

We would like to draw attention to those who mark the score cards. Please mark the cards the same in both games. Some have the habit of putting the first game one way and the second in reverse. If you were to put A over B in the first do the same in the second as it is liable to give the wrong count in the score sheets.

Results:

All Saints' No. 5, 17-14 vs. B.E.S.L. No. 9, 9-10.

S.O.E. No. 3 8-11 vs. Wardens No. 6, 15-6.

B.E.S.L. No. 1, 10-7 vs. P.F.D. No. 8, 11-13.

Schedule for next week:

B.E.S.L. No. 1 vs. St. James' No. 7.
P.F.D. No. 8 vs. Brintons No. 4.
Wardens No. 6 vs. B.E.S.L. No. 9.
P.F.D. No. 8 vs. S.O.E. No 3.
L.O.L. No. 2 vs. All Saints' No. 5.

Don Bests's Rink In Finals Royal York Cup

TORONTO, Feb. 19—(CP)—Sixteen of the 128 rinks which began curling last Monday in the 17th annual Ontario Bonspiel were still cup contenders as the big meet swung into its final day today.

Finalists for three trophies were decided in last night's draws. Don Best, Kirkland Lake gained, the final in the Royal York Trophy race with a 10-6 victory over Ross Tarlton's Hamilton Thistles, and Abe Simon's Barrie rink earned the right to meet him by downing George Doggett's Kirkland Lake entry by a 9-8 count.

W. A. Watson, Sarnia, won a berth in the Association Trophy final by trouncing A. F. McDowell's McIntyre rink 16-8. He will meet R. G. Dillon, St. Paul, who edged Gordon Plaxton's Toronto Granites by 14-13.

W. C. Arnott, McIntyre, defeated Dr. W. Young's Chapleau Rink 14-10 to win a place in the final round for the North American Trophy against P. H. Skitch, Lindsay, victor by 10-5 over Rev. J. S. Shortt's Toronto High Park Rink.

Three Toronto rinks, Ed Young's Royals, C. R. Redfern's Torontos and R. H. Howard's Granites, qualified for the semi-finals for the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie trophy, along with George Farr's Brampton quartet. All won quarter-final matches last night. Ed Young, Royals, and A. E. Wollard, Bobcaygeon, will play this morning with the winner to meet W. J. Drysdale's Kingston quartette for the Waterloo Trophy. Three teams were also in the running for the Sieberling Trophy, with Percy Skitch of Lindsay and Stan Sarjeant of Orillia to decide a winner to meet Dr. W. M. Baxter's Hamilton Victorias.

Carelessness On Part Of Donors Spoils Blood For Use As Plasma

In the past few weeks the Blood Donors Clinic has found that a number of the blood donations have been useless because the donors did not follow the prescribed diet. When fats are eaten for breakfast the blood will not dry and is of no use as plasma. According to the staff at the Clinic, the offenders are not the newcomers, but those who have given blood several times, and have slipped up.

The attendance was slighlty lower this week, with a total of 74 on Monday and 62 on Wednesday. Max Hutchinson of the R.C.A.F. gave his sixth donation, seven people made their seventh and Joseph Rowan gave his eighth.

Association Plans For Pot Luck Supper

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 19 — (ENS)—Mrs. T. C. Morden was hostess to the Women's Association of the United Church at her home this week.

The president, Mrs. E. Lawson presided and Mrs. M. Best read the scripture lesson taken from Luke 6:39. Mrs. Thomas Graham, in charge of the devotional gave an inspiring message, basing her remarks on this portion of scripture. Five members answered the roll call with a verse of scripture containing the word "peace".

The new holiday calendars were on display and prepared by Mrs. McConkey. The new programs were completed and handed out to the members. A letter of thanks was read from Lieut. Stewart Blake, serving overseas for a parcel received at Christmas.

The procuring of hymn books was discussed and Mrs. C. Best, convener of the devotional, was asked to look after this matter. A discussion on ways of entertainment brought the decision to hold a "Pot Luck Supper" followed by a good program to be held in the W. I. Hall Friday evening, February 25 with Mrs. H. Jamieson, Mrs. S. Blake and Miss Jean Fairbairn as a program committee and Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. McConkey as a supper committee.

Mrs. W. H. Lowes, voiced the appreciation of the members for the services given by the members of the committees in the making of same.

The program was in charge of Mrs. McConkey and Mrs. C. Best. Mrs. W. Downer, conducted a spelling match. Mrs. McConkey was in charge of a "Biblical Contest" and Mrs. C. Best sang "Jesus Took My Burden".

FIT FACTORS TOGETHER

THERE ARE hands on which a declarer has to move gingerly and make just the right use of each card, at just the right time. To do that soundly, sometimes he has to fit a lot of different factors together. Not only that, but he has to do it in advance, by foreseeing the exact way in which he intends to try to play each trick. If he slips in even the slightest respect, he is sunk.

North: ♠ A K 10 ♥ 2 ♦ J 8 7 3 ♣ A 9 6 5 3

West: ♠ 9 6 4 ♥ A 7 ♦ 2 ♣ K Q J 10 8 7 4

East: ♠ Q 5 2 ♥ Q 10 9 8 6 4 ♦ K 6 5 ♣ 2

South: ♠ J 8 7 3 ♥ K J 5 3 ♦ A Q 10 9 4 ♣ None

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
5 ♠	Pass	6 ♦

After play which made that contract, South could not understand how another declarer in the same duplicate game got set in only 5-Diamonds. The messing up was done after the same lead of the club K. Winning with the A, he discarded the spade 3. He scored the spade A, then finessed the diamond J, next the diamond Q and dropped the diamond K with the A. He finessed the spade J to the Q, and the heart 4 came back, the K being played and killed by the A. A heart return was ruffed, but later the heart J had to be lost to the Q.

The successful slam declarer started differently, discarding a heart on the club A, as he planned later to try to set up his fourth spade. Next he led the heart 2 and, when East played low, put in the J to force the A. He ruffed the club 10 return, ruffed the heart 5, scored the spade A and K, finessed the diamond J, then the Q, used the heart K to discard the spade 10, ruffed the spade 8 to set up his thirteener there, ruffed the club 9, dropped the diamond K with the A and used the good spade J for the last trick.

Stimson Says Bridgehead Position Better

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — (AP) War Secretary Henry Stimson spoke confidently of the Allied position at Anzio Thursday as dispatches from headquarters in Italy reported a fresh and fierce Nazi attempt to break up the beachhead south of Rome.

That beachhead, Stimson told his press conference, has been firmly established, with British and American forces holding superiority of striking power in tanks, artillery and aircraft and prepared to use present positions as a springboard for further advances.

Asserting there had been "unwarranted pessimism" in some news dispatches and discussions of the Anzio operation Stimson said:

"The situation in Italy now is an illustration to point up the old saying 'keep your shirt on'."

He was asked if he approved a theatre order, based on assertions that front-line dispatches were over-pessimistic, forbidding direct radio transmission of news stories from the beachhead and requiring instead that they be sent by courier to Naples for censoring.

"My only comment on that," the secretary replied, "is in accord with my usual policy: Gen. Wilson, commanding in the Mediterranean theatre, is in the best possible position to judge whether factors such as you refer to effect the operations in this theatre either favorably or adversely. The theatre commander is under a great responsibility, particularly at this time."

Director Elmer Davis of the office of War Information said he was making representations to the army against the stoppage of the direct filing of press dispatches from the beachhead.

Davis indicated he felt the action went beyond the acknowledged necessity of preserving military security.

vivors out of a badly-smashed row of dwellings. Eight were taken to hospital, five others were feared dead.

It was announced yesterday that in a recent raid German fire-bombs showered around the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Hall in the heart of London. A fire broke out in Westminster Hall, but the historic Government buildings had "an amazing escape," the announcement said.

This historic group of buildings had been free from raids since May 10, 1941. At that time Westminster Abbey was set ablaze, Big Ben was hit, and the House of Commons Chamber was heavily damaged.

ing handles and swung the guns into line. But I was not paying much attention. I was trying to remember how to pray. I hadn't in a long time—not since I was a kid, in fact. But it was a pretty good effort at that. It certainly was sincere and then I noticed that the gunner's lips were moving too.

At the last moment something must have scared the German squadron. Perhaps their fuel was too low for a scrap. Anyway, they suddenly turned and streaked off. The gunner and I very deliberately got out cigarettes and lit them. He was a hard-boiled youngster from South Boston, very tough and very efficient. We just smoked for a while. "Did you pray?" I finally asked him. "You're damned right I did," was the answer. And after another puff he added, "Most of us do."

The gray-haired padre smiled when I told him the story. "Yes," he said, "you find that there aren't many atheists among our fliers. Facing death in combat, they find that God is very near and personal. When they arrive from the training schools they're often a little chary about going to church. They seem to feel that godliness is not quite in line with being a hero. But most of them change pretty quickly. Come to mass tomorrow and you'll see what I mean."

The church that Sunday morning was the camouflage net over an anti-aircraft battery. The altar was a rough plank. The only music was the angry drone of fighters warming up on a field nearby. But there was never a spot more consecrated by the earnestness of worshippers. In the bronze, hard, young faces of those kneeling men was an intent sincerity that did not flicker for an instant during the entire service. There was no compulsory church parade of the kind that most soldiers detest. It was as the padre had said, very personal.

But the kids do more than go to church. They take their belief with them in their planes and on their missions. On a B-24, one of the ships that had flown the most dangerous missions over Italy, there is a navigator who was a divinity student before he went into the air force. His nickname naturally is "The Parson." That plane had a routine, too. "Time out for church," the pilot orders, as the ack-ack zone approaches. "O.K., Parson. Go ahead." And the Parsons says a little prayer. "Some of the other guys used to kid us about it," one of the crewmen told me. "But I notice they don't anymore."

Another young officer with two banks of ribbons on his shirt said, "If you ask Him real politely it is surprising what He will do for you. While another rather bashful boy said, "I've never been a religious guy; never had any desire to go to church. The family worried about it for a while, but I guess they finally gave me up as a bad job.

"When I got out here I had a tough time at first. I scared easy and I used to get badly browned off. Worried a lot about my wife.

"And then one day when I saw that there was a real tough fight ahead I remembered something that my dad had told me once, 'Son,' he said, 'when you're really in a spot, call on the Lord, He'll help.' Well, sir, I did just that. And it worked. I handled my plane better, and I shot better, I did everything better—all of a sudden.

"I've been calling on Him since. He takes care of my wife at home, I know that, and I do not worry about her any more. He's taken that sinking feeling away that I used to get. I'm careful, but I'm not scared any more. He'll see me through all right."

"And how about after the war?" I asked. "Do you think you'll forget?"

"How can I forget?" he answered slowly. "He's my best friend, isn't He? Well—He's going to stay my best friend."

Hollywood Irish Denounce Will Left By Wife Of Bernard Shaw

The Irish in Hollywood spoke up Friday — politely — in denouncing the will of the late Mrs. George Bernard Shaw, herself Irish, who left the bulk of her fortune to improve the manners and "alleviate the vulgarity" of the Irish.

The movie stars from Erin were not so polite in commenting upon Playwright Shaw, who said his wife was right about the Irish race being ignorant and without manners.

The O'Briens, Murphys and Sullivans of Hollywood were unanimous in urging that Mrs. Shaw's estate be spent first upon improving her husband. Bing Crosby was more moderate: He said he feared Mrs. Shaw's money would be wasted.

"The woman must have wanted to ruin the Irish in Ireland," he said. "Whoever heard of an Irishman with either an education or morals?"

Pat O'Brien, the he-man star turned picture producer, said, "H-m-m-m-m-m, it is obvious what motivated her suggestion. I hope they start working on her husband."

Barry Sullivan agreed. "If Mrs. Shaw really wanted to improve the vulgarity of us Irish," he said "she should have begun on the mister."

George Murphy took time out from acting with Frank Sinatra to announce:

"I have always wondered how a man with the great and scintillating humor of George Bernard Shaw could display at times a satire that bordered on the sadistic. After reading about his wife's will, however, I offer him an apology for what I have occasionally thought of him for I now realize he acquired these characteristics through marriage."

Jimmy Gleason tried some satire of his own. "I am sure," he said, "that Mrs. Shaw's bequest will be deeply appreciated, particularly by those supporters of the fact or fancy that the Irish are never at a loss for an answer, witty or otherwise."

Geraldine Fitzgerald said she never in her life met people with such nice manners as the Irish. Irishman Red Skelton ended the proceedings with announcement that he would make no comment; it would seem too vulgar.

When Toronto Irish heard that Mrs. Shaw had left some $600,000 to polish up the manners of their kinsmen, their cries of indignation left no one guessing as to what they thought of that lady and her money.

"No doubt the Irish will refuse the gift," said Magistrate R. J. Browne. "They will probably think the will has been interpreted incorrectly and that Mrs. Shaw must have meant 'Scotch.' She certainly couldn't have meant a cultured race like the Irish."

Rev. W. J. Johnston, minister of Eglinton United church, was puzzled as to what part of Ireland Mrs. Shaw had in mind. At any rate, he said, money could be spent in such a way in any country to advantage just as well as in Ireland.

"I think she was trying to be flippant like her husband," declared J. W. McFadden, Crown Attorney. "Despite what she calls our bad manners, we have just as many achievements of which to be proud as the English."

Bishop R. J. Renison, in Toronto for a few days, expressed surprise at Mrs. Shaw's unusual" will and said: "She must have been trying to imitate her husband."

Astonished that anyone could be "so presumptuous," E. J. Murphy, K.C., said that Mrs. Shaw and her money "will never prevent the Irish from acting awkward if they have a mind to."

"If Mrs. Shaw were alive, I might have something more to say," remarked Rev. W. L. L. Lawrence, of Windermere United church, "but since that is not so, my only comment is: May her soul rest in peace. Her sins are before the Almighty."

Lieut.-Col. Baptist Johnston chuckled, and said: "A whimsical will. The manners of every race could be improved but I have found the manners in Ireland very delightful and hospitality unbounded, even though the Irish still enjoy their ancient feuds."

Farm Research Facilities Sought In House

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—(CP).— Expanded research facilities for agriculture provided the dominant theme in a five-hour airing of farm problems in the House of Commons yesterday. The purpose for which members wanted more scientific study was to develop new uses for farm products and improved methl ods of production.

Replying to the suggestions which came from different quarters of the House, Agricultural Minister Gardiner pointed to $200,000 in last session's estimates for pilot plants and other facilities, not all of which has been spent, and to $325,000 in National Research Council estimates for the coming year earmarked for agricultural research.

Gordon Ross (L.-Moose Jaw) who advoted a research program last session was not satisfied. He wanted an immediate start on a laboratory to be specially devoted to agricultural research and separate from the National Research Council.

T. C. Douglas (C.C.F.-Weyburn) advocated the spending of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 on research either under direct government auspices or as assistance to co-operative organizations which were prepared to undertake the work.

The discussion which took place on agriculture estimates ranged over the whole field of farming, from the price of hogs, sugar, steers and wheat to prospects of future markets.

Mr. Ilsley announced a modification in the recently announced rule limiting the amount of tax exemptions for charitable donations to permit corporations to receive exemption on gifts up to their average for the two years prior to the start of the 100 per cent. excess profits tax. If they make larger donations the exemptions will not apply.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, was one of those urging more attention to agricultural research.

"I urge the Minister and the Government not to let the session pass without a substantial amount of money being set aside for agricultural research purposes," he said.

Mr. Ross, who operates a large farm, clashed with C.C.F. members several times and Mr. Douglas at one stage suggested Mr. Ross was a grain broker. Mr. Ross denied this and Mr. Douglas said in any case Mr. Ross spent a lot of time in a brokerage office.

"I may have done that and the honorable member might have learned more about the business if he had," punned Mr. Douglas.

"I know a lot of farmers who were 'broker' after coming in contact with the honorable member's brokerage," punned Mr. Douglas.

Live Stock Feeding.

Mr. Douglas, who is a clergyman and Saskatchewan C.C.F. Leader and frequently twitted by Saskatchewan Liberals with speaking on farm problems without being a farmer, turned on Mr. Gardiner.

"I make no apology for not being a farmer," he said. "The Minister of Agriculture is not really a farmer either. He supports a farm. He does not make the farm support him.

"The farm would support me better than anything you have ever done supports you," retorted Mr. Gardiner.

Later, in a clash with W. Bryce (C.C.F.-Selkirk) over the price of cattle Mr. Gardiner said some people tried to make out he was "just a poor school teacher," but he could go on the Regina market and pay a cent a pound more for a steer than Mr. Bryce could pay, take the steer to his farm, feed it his own grain, and make more money on it than Mr. Bryce could.

The point of Mr. Bryce's criticism was that at present prices it did not pay to buy steers, feed and finish them and market them. Mr. Gardiner said commercial feeders finished only 10 per cent of Canadian beef.

It was getting harder for them to make a profit because more farmers were finishing cattle raised on their own farms with their own grain. In this connection he said it would be a good thing if local markets for live stock were established which would avoid the cost of shipping cattle in to large markets and shipping them out again to other farms for finishing.

Want Closed Shop

Two weeks ago the provincial government passed legislation making strikes and walk-outs in public services, including tramways, illegal. The legislation provides fines up to $1,000 for those leading such a strike, and fines of from $10 to $50 a day for those participating. Union leaders met with company officials last night and the company reported that Paul Marquete, C.C.L. organizer had said he would try to get the men back to work.

The men who were at Atwater Market during the night, however, said that they were expecting to remain out until they had gained a closed shop for the C.C.L. Thus the strike showed a tendency to follow the pattern of the 60-hour stoppage of last March, which started with a dispute over a bonus payment and ended with recognition of the C.C.L. as bargaining agent for the workers.

Many industries took steps paralleling those which worked moderately well during the first strike, and announced pick-up points at which fleets of trucks would take on work-bound employees. Others, including some war plants, announced that production was suspended pending clarification of the situation.

Captain George Goold, last man to leave the ship, and 18 members of the crew came from Vancouver. They have been back here since on leave and told of the sinking, but public release of it could not be made until yesterday.

Given Time to Leave

The submarine fired a single torpedo that stopped the Canada, burst a fuel tank and flooded the water with oil. Then the sub surfaced and her commander, speaking in English, said he would give those aboard time to get away from the ship. Some time later a second torpedo exploded in the Canada and she went down in 10 minutes.

There had been plenty of lifeboats and rafts aboard the former Queen of the Pacific, but some rafts and boats jammed as they were hurriedly lowered in the darkness. Those who got away safely were spotted 15 hours later by a Catalina flying boat, and picked up the day after that by a destroyer.

The second torpedo ended the 22-year-old career of a ship that came off the ways in Glasgow and became the pride of Canada's Pacific fleet. She became famous in 1923 when she was the first ship to reach Yokohama after the Japanese earthquake.

She was turned into a hospital ship to serve thousands of survivors at the docks and then transported injured Japanese to Shanghai for medical treatment.

Donning war paint, the Canada was used as a transport. She participated in the raid on Spitsbergen, evacuated women and children from Greece and later evacuated 200 Free French from Russia where they had been held in prison camps earlier in the war.

Nazi Prisoners Prefer Canada To Germany When Russians Come

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 —(CP) —Nazi soldiers captured in Sicily and Italy would rather be in British or Canadian prison camps than in Germany if and when the Russians march in, three Canadian naval ratings believe.

This opinion was given authorities at a British port by Able Seamen, Jean Kroon, 22, Standard, Alta.; Lloyd Evans, 20, Ottawa and Stoker Thomas Fawdry, 23, Harrow, Ont., who now are en route to Canada on foreign service leave after engaging in combined operations in both the Sicilian and Italian campaigns.

"One day we found ourselves crossing the Strait of Messina with our landing craft loaded down with 'Van Doos' (Royal 22nd Regiment, Quebec," said Evans. "We had come up the Sicilian coast from Augusta and were bound for Italy.

"My craft was ferrying the Carleton and Yorks," interposed Kroon. "We landed those Canadians at Reggia under a tremendous covering barrage from our batteries operating on the Sicilian side. We had no opposition until later that day when a few bombers came over.

Lots of Raids.

'We suffered a few casualties, but in most cases the Canadians suffered from dysentery. Conditions were terrible, both in Sicily and Italy. We had to feed the Italians whose food had been looted by the retreating Nazis. They served us with some wine which they had hidden rom the Nazis whom they hated with hatred I didn't think was possible."

One day in Sicily they underwent 39 raids in 72 hours, Evans said.

Fawdey's craft landed units at Syracuse.

"We were ordered to follow our troops along the coast of Sicily lest things should go bad for them and an evacuation be necessary," Fawdry said.

"When things started to go well in Sicily, we were detailed to ferry hundreds of Jerry prisoners to North Africa. They were very sullen fellows on the whole, but those who did talk were glad to be out of it. They said they hoped the British could reach Germany before the Russians got there. They knew the campaign in Russia was going badly for them because some of them had fought on the eastern front."

"That's what they told us, too, when we spoke to them on the beaches," interjected Kroom and Evans.

"From North Africa we ferried gasoline and supplies to Sardinia," continued Fawdry. "That was after the Italians had chased the Germans off that island.... A short time later we bore a Western Canada infantry regiment across the Strait of Messina to Reggio. That was on the morning the invasion of Italy opened.

A Stiff Fight.

"Next morning we made another landing north of Reggio. This time we brought in the Yankee Rangers and they had a very stiff fight. For a time it was touch and go with them."

Fawdry's craft was then ordered back to Sicily and from there they went to Naples where they landed more troops, both in the city itself, and on the beaches to the north.

All three Canadian ratings eventually landed in hospital. Kroom suffered a severe attack of jaundice and Evans was hit by a winch handle at Messina while preparing for another engagement. Fawdry suffered an infected arm after leaving Italy and met with his companions in the North African hospital.

Gas Department Shows Profit Of $5,608

Elsewhere in this issue is printed the annual financial statement of the Gas Department of the Utilities Commission for the year ending December 31st.

The statement shows a profit of $5,608.38 for the year, after setting up the annual reserves. Revenue from domestic consumers increased $4,700.00 over 1942. Commercial revenue was down by a very small amount, and industrial revenue increased by nearly $1,000.00.

Expenses were higher in 1943 by $5,400.00 over 1942, most of which was occasioned by increases in the cost of coal and coke, amounting to $2,800.00. The proce of coal has advanced about 13% since 1939.

Total gas sold in 1943 was 49,790,400 cubic feet, which was 11% more than in 1942.

The average cost per thousand feet of gas was $1.48, and revenue received was $1.54.

The total number of consumers is 3,040, an increase of 200 over last year. The increase is all in the domestic group.

The average domestic consumer user 12,013 cubic feet of gas in 1943, which is a slight increase over 1942.

During the year $10,000 of debentures were retired, leaving a debenture debt of $223,000.00 outstanding.

4 MIGHTY AERIAL RAIDS ROCK HUNS

By GLADWIN HILL—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—United States heavy bombers dealt the Nazi homefront its fourth great aerial blow in 36 hours by bombarding northwest Germny today a few hours after the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. had hammered Stuttgart on the southwest border. Today's American force was officially announced as "approximating" the size of the record 2,000-plane armada which struck Leipzig and other key German centres in daylight Sunday, attesting the United States Air Force's growing strength.

The bomber section probably again approached the 1,000-plane figure, with an additional 1,000 escorting fighters.

The exact target was not announced immediately.

At the same time U.S. medium bombers hit the Coxyde airbase in Belgium.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of United States Army air forces, declared a fourth of German fighter production was knocked out in the Sunday attack, officially described as the greatest daylight air operation in history. A count today showed 126 enemy planes were shot down yesterday.

The first of the four mighty consecutive blows at Germany was a Saturday-night British-Canadian raid on Leipzig.

R.A.F. Mosquitoes jabbed into northern France and Belgium today without loss.

"Major damage" was done yesterday to important Nazi fighter plants at Leipzig, Brunswick, and Bernberg, the U.S. air force announced after a study of reconnaissance photographs.

Assembly Buildings Damaged.

The two main Messerschmitt-109 fighter assembly buildings at Leipzig-Mockau were severely damaged by direct hits, two hangars at an adjacent airport were damaged, and a parts plant at Leipzig-Heiterblick was set afire.

"These two Leipzig factories are the essential part of a production complex that produced more than half of Germany's Messerschmitt-109's since the two were principal Me-109 production centres at Regensburg and Wiener Neustadt were attacked by American air force bombers," the announcement said.

An Air Ministry communique said the attack on Stuttgart was "in great strength" and "intense fires" were left burning among factories of the city as the raid ended, when clouds lifted and left a clear target for thousand of tons of explosives hurtling from the bellies of the big bombers.

It was announced that in the smashing daylight raid—which Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the U.S. Army Air Forces said in Washington had knocked out one-quarter of Germany's fighter production—also cost the enemy 126 planes shot down. It was the greatest daylight air action of history.

Sixty-five Nazi fighters were shot down by gunners aboard four-engined bombers, and 61 fell to the escorting fighters, a U.S. headquarters communique declared.

American losses were 21 bombers and three fighters, two under the first-announced casualties of 22 bombers and four escorts, the bulletin added.

There were indications that the air offensive was resumed today, when the Hilversum radio in Holland went off the air.

Announced targets were seven aircraft centre cities as well as military installations in Rostock, on Germany's Baltic coast.

Germans Use 90,000 Men At Beachhead

Allied Troops Hold In Anzio Area Withdraw At Cassino

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 21 —(AP)—British and United States forces have stopped a supreme effort by densely-packed German troops to wipe out the Anzio bridgehead and have thrown the enemy back two miles toward Carroceto (Aprilia), Allied headquarters announced today.

The Nazi steamroller advance, aimed down the Anziate highway toward Anzio last Wednesday, was halted only after all elements of Allied power were called into play during 48 hours of the most intense period of the fighting.

"Our effort was very greatly assisted by magnificent support given by Allied naval units, Allied air formations and both British and American artillery," the communique said.

The German offensive reached its peak before dawn Saturday. Then Allied tanks and infantry, under cover of a heavy artillery barrage, began smashing forward at 6:30 a.m. and still rolled ahead yesterday.

Intensity of enemy effort was demonstrated by the appearance of elements of five regiments within one 1,000-yard area. Six enemy divisions 90,000 men threw their entire strength into the assault. Three others were held in reserve.

An Allied spokesman said the Germans now have 16 divisions involved on the Italian fronts. Nine of these facing the beachhead, it was announced, are grouped under the 14th Germany Army, commanded by General Eberhard von Mackensen, last reported on the Russian front. He is a son of the First Great War general.

Bulk of the remaining divisions stand on the main 5th Army front behind the Cassino defences. They include the 10th Army under General Henrich von Vietinghof. Both armies still are under Field Marshal Albert Kesselring.

Throwing everything they could muster into a mighty southward stab to split the Allied beachhead forces, the Germans had managed to punch some 4,000 yards below Carroceto before their advance was hurled back. Their casualties were heavy.

Other formations had to yield a crest in mountain fighting 1½ miles west of Cassino but on the lower Garigliano river front to the south-

Boy Is Pulled From Under Car

Dragged fifteen feet after his sleigh had slid into a passing automobile on Park Hill road Sunday afternoon, five-year-old Eddie Brill, 639 Stormont street, was pulled out from under the car with a bump on his head and a certain amount of shock as the only souvenirs of his adventure. It was a very close call from a serious accident.

Vincent M. McCabe was driving his car east on Park Hill road when the boy coasted down Stormont street on a sleigh directly into the motor vehicle. The driver slammed on his brakes in a hurry, pulled the lad out from under the car and hurried to the Clinic where an examination showed that Eddie had escaped with a slight bump at the back of his head.

9 Planes Down

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 21 — (AP).—At least nine planes made forced landings or crashed in Denmark yesterday, Copenhagen dispatches to the Swedish press said today. Nationality of the aircraft was not given. The planes possibly included some American aircraft participating in yesterday's record operations against Germany.

Reds Threaten To Outflank German Forces

LONDON, Feb. 21—(CP)—A 100-mile section of the crumbling German northern front was threatened with being outflanked today by a swift Russian advance toward the Baltic gateway of Pskov while powerful Russian thrusts were reported elsewhere on the 2,000 mile Russian front.

In addition to the push toward Pskov, the Russians were reported by Berlin to have renewed a drive toward Minsk in White Russia far to the south and to be attacking with mounting fury toward Krivoi Rog, big ore city in the Dnieper Bend.

Fighting through blizzards three Russian armies were driving toward the Baltic gateway of Pskov and yesterday they captured points within 30 miles of the important rail junction of Dno, 60 miles northeast of Pskov. They seized 114 villages in gains of two to 12 miles and killed more than 2,200 Germans, Moscow announced last night. Meanwhile a Soviet formation, fighting down the east sides of Lakes Peipus and Pskov was last reported only 28 miles north of Pskov.

Units of one Soviet army seized Bolshio Zvad and Maly Zvad, 30 miles north of Dno, which is a junction on the Leningrad-Vitebsk and Staraya Russa-Pskov lines. Another took Donets, the same distance to the northeast and a third captured Shilova Gora, 30 miles to the east.

Fascists Attempt To Murder King Peter

LONDON, Feb. 21 —(CP)—The Moscow radio broadcast a Cairo-dated Tass News Agency dispatch today declaring an attempt had been made to assassinate King Peter of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet Monitor, quoted the Russian dispatch as saying the attempt had been made by Fascists in an effort to put the blame on Yugoslav soldiers who, the dispatch said, are trying to return to their homeland to fight in the Partisan ranks of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito).

Baby Suffocated

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton announced today that Gerry Carmen, the four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McConkey, R.R. No. 4, Peterborough, died on Friday from suffocation caused when the child accidentally pulled a pillow over his face. Dr. Carleton suggests that parents should be warned by this tragedy to make sure that such hazards are removed from children's cribs.

LONDON—Sharp comment on the Turkish government was voiced in a Tass broadcast from Moscow today which said German propagandists were intensifying their activity and that their efforts were "facilitated by Turkish official circles."

Badly Burned Man 80 Walks Mile

Feet Frost-Bitten As Victim Was Without Shoes

APSLEY, Feb. 21.—(ENS).—Badly burned about the face and hands, when a gasoline explosion turned his cabin into a mass of flames, Albert Lions, 80, of Dundas, Ontario, made his way for more than a mile in his stocking feet to Couch's Landing on Loon Lake, early Sunday morning, and is now being treated at the Red Cross Outpost Hospital, Apsley.

Mr Lions had been living alone at a cottage on Loon Lake for the past week, taking a mid-winter vacation, which is a pastime he often enjoys. Sunday morning he was starting the fire in the cottage, and spilled what he believed to be coal oil on the fuel only to discover too late that it was gasoline. The surge of fire burned his face, ears, neck and arms, inflicting superficial but very painful injuries.

With his eyes almost swollen shut, the elderly man made his way to to the door while the flames roared through the frame dwelling. He struggled through the woods, and across the rock ground and the lake to Couch's Landing, where members of the Couch family rushed him to the hospital at Apsley.

On arrival at the hospital it was discovered that his feet were badly frost bitten and Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield, who was called, reports the frost-bite is more serious than the burns. The patient is also suffering from shock but appears to be making progress according to word from the hospital to-day.

The cottage was completely demolished by the flames, along with the entire contents.

The country over which Mr. Lions had to travel is rough and rocky, and covered with swamp and bush. At the same time, the temperature was hovering close to the zero mark, and there is considerable snow on the ground. Residents have expressed amazement over the fact that the badly injured man was able to cover the mile between his cottage and Couch's Landing.

Later today it was learned that Mr. Lions often takes the notion of coming up to the summer cottage for a spell in the wilderness, and in earlier trips had appeared well able to look out for himself. He is in good health, and quite rugged despite his years.

Seeds For Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP).—Americans imprisoned in Germany are going to, have their own "victory gardens." The Red Cross announced yesterday 648 garden kits have been sent to the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva for distribution in prison camps. Each kit contains three combination hoes and weeders and 14 varieties of seeds which, the Red Cross said, would provide "much-needed vegetables."

Thrill-loving Crowd Clamors For Seats At Murder Trial Of Wayne Lonergan, RCAF

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP).—Thrill-loving New Yorkers are clamoring by the score for seats at the murder trial of Wayne Lonergan, scheduled to open Wednesday, but only a few will get in.

Lured by the sensational aspects of the bludgeon-slaying of Lonergan's 23-year-old heiress wife, Patricia, last October, and an expected expose of cafe society night life, would-be spectators have besieged the District Attorney's office for weeks.

No attempt will be made to allocate seats, except to newspapermen besides the chances of the vast majority of hopefuls are doomed by the size of the small room in the Cirminal Courts building where the trial will be held.

Advance observations indicate the press will be represented by the largest aggregation of reporters assembled for a trial there in years. No less than 85 are expected to chronicle the day-by-day developments. Special telephones and telegraph wires have been installed to speed their reports to newspapers.

Death Of Free Enterprise Forecast By Gray Turgeon

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP).—Gray Turgeon, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Cariboo and chairman of the Parliamentary Committee on Reconstruction and Re-establishment, said here today that free enterprise may not survive the completion of the war.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Toronto Canadian Club, Mr. Turgeon said Canadians do not wish to break with democracy nor give up freedom of action, "but our people have decided, quietly perhaps but quite definitely, that never again will they or their children suffer want as in days gone by."

Canadians must be contented with their way of life "before we can contribute very much worth while to the life of the world beyond our borders." Free enterprise is "fighting desperately" for its life and is in danger of destruction.

Fearful of System.

"Man is superior to all destructive forces with the exception of those which shake his faith in God, destroy his trust in his fellow-man and take away his confidence in himself. We cannot rise above the things which make us feel impotent.

"That is why so many Canadians are fearful of the 'system.' They have despaired of private enterprise and they wish to build up something all-powerful—like an all-absorbing state—that will attend to everything to come between them and the earning of a decent living."

Those who feel that the "hunger of the 1930's" was not necessary, and who wish to apply the knowledge gleaned from war to industrial, agricultural and other activities when war is done "must plan without fear in the positive knowledge that full employment can be maintained," Mr. Turgeon said.

"But we must prepare openly. Our intentions must be known, our sincerity must not be doubted...our plan must be comprehended, our program accepted. It is our duty to convince the people that we are in earnest."

Stressing that he was expressing his personal opinion, Mr. Turgeon said he believed that "'free enter-

Japanese Troops Almost Trapped

NEW DEHLI, Feb. 21—(CP)—Confused fighting around the eastern exit of Ngakyedauk Pass in Burma where the 7th Indian division has been cut off, with the Japanese force there "beginning to disintegrate," was reported today by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command.

British relief troops were continuing to press from the north toward the eastern exit, the communique said, and a column of Japanese seeking refuge in the hills two miles east of the exit is being hemmed in.

Another enemy column which crossed the Mayu range into the Kalapazin valley and struck south toward the British rear at Buthedaung has been split up, it was said, and a raiding column which brought the Bawli supply road under fire for a time was eliminated except for a small group.

British troops carried out a surprise raid on enemy coastal defences south of Maungdaw Saturday night.

In the Kaladan valley to the northwest, Africa troops were reported making new advances and in the Chin hills widespread patrol action were underway.

Chinese forces in the Hukawng valley in extreme northern Burma have routed the Japanese from the entire north bank of the Tanai River from southeast of Taipha Ga to Mawnighka, the communique said, and have approached to within a few hundred yards of Laawng.

STOCKHOLM — Benito Mussolini is living in one small room in a modest farmhouse in Northern Italy.

Bombs Sink 3 Jap Merchantmen

CHUNGKING, Feb. 21 (AP)—Allied headquarters announced today the sinking of two Japanese vessels and damage to another in scattered American air attacks Friday and Saturday off the coasts of China and French Indo-China.

Fighter bombers dive-bombed and destroyed a 2,700-ton enemy merchant vessel off Campha Port, on the French Indo-China coast, while medium bombers sent a 1,200-ton freighter to the bottom off the East China coast in separate sweeps Saturday.

Medium bombers also attacked two 950-ton cargo boats off the Gulf of Tongkin Friday, leaving one with a large quantity of oil streaming astern.

All attacks were carried out without loss, the communique said.

REPORTED MISSING—Warrant Officer Donald Goodfellow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Goodfellow, Codrington, has been reported missing after a raid on Germany. He was a graduate of the Peterborough Normal School and taught at Dutch Line, near Hastings.

Five Gunners Fly Bomber Home; Crash At Base

A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN BRITAIN, Feb. 21 — (AP) — From five gunners came the story to-day of how the engineer and the navigator of bullet-torn Flying Fortress tried to bring it home from Leipzig yesterday—and gloriously failed.

The story began when a burst of cannon fire from enemy fighters killed the co-pilot and seriously wounded the pilot.

The first thought of top turret gunner Carl W. Moore, Williamsport, Pt., was to save the ship. He rushed to the cockpit, pulled the dead and wounded men from the controls and took over.

Moore and the engineer had only eight hours piloting experience and the navigator four, but among them they took turns flying the plane home, standing up for about three hours before they could get the dead and wounded men from their flying seats.

Scarcely Steer.

"The cockpit windows were shot out and it was 31 degrees below zero," Moore related. 'My hands were so swollen I barely could move them. The ship lunged so much I was sick all over the place."

Tense hours over Britain followed while the airmen groped their way to the home base.

Cardinal Arrested By Nazi Gestapo

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP)—August Cardinal Hlond, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Poland, was arrested recently by the Germans in Paris apparently because of his extreme anti-Nazis views, private information reaching London said today.

Cardinal Hlond, a native Pole, went from Poland to Rome late in 1939 at the advice of the Polish government, and later went to a health resort in France. He has publicly charged the Germans with atrocities against Polish priests.

Truk Losses Heavy For Japanese

Army And Navy Chiefs Dismissed By Tokyo Following U.S. Raid

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP). — The Tokyo radio acknowledged today Japan suffered heavy losses in the American attack last week on her great naval base at Truk and announced simultaneously that both the chiefs of the Japanese army and navy general staffs had been relieved of their posts.

Premier General Hideko Tojo, a broadcast said, has personally assumed the role of chief of the army general staff in a sweeping shake-up that seemed to be a direct result of the American assault, described earlier by Adimral General W. Nimitz, commander-inchief of the Pacific fleet, as "partial settlement" for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

In a short broadcast to the United States, the Tokyo radio quoted an Imperial Headquarters communique as acknowledging the attack on Truk had cost the Japanese two cruisers, three destroyers, 13 transports and 120 planes.

Another broadcast quoted an announcement of the Navy Ministry as saying Fleet Admiral Osami Nagano, chief of the Japanese navy's general staff, had been "relieved of his post."

Premier Steps In.

The announcement added Emperor Hirohito has named Admiral Shigetara Shimada, navy minister, to serve concurrently as chief of the navy general staff.

At the same time, the Tokyo radio said, the Japanese war ministry announced Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama has been relieved of his post as chief of the army general staff and Premier Tojo has assumed his duties.

The broadcasts were recorded by the United States Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service.

The communique announcing the Japanese naval losses at Truk acknowledged "some damages were incurred among the land installations."

Liberator Lost Over Atlantic

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 — (CP) — An R.C.A.F. Liberator bomber with six men abroad is overdue and believed to be down in the Atlantic Ocean off the east coast, it was learned unofficially today.

Those aboard the aircraft included PO. David Griffin, Toronto newspaperman now with R.C.A.F. public relations, whose next-of-kin has been notified.

It was understood next-of-kin of the others aboard the plane also have been advised and their names will be made public shortly.

While no official statement was immediately available here, it was presumed that aircraft of the eastern command, and possibly naval units, were searching the area for the missing bomber.

It could not be learned how long the plane has been missing or where it was going when the mishap occurred.

Truk Disaster Shakes Japanese Morale

Allied Toll Of Jap Shipping Creates Blockade That Appears Effective

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The U.S. Navy's victory at Truk is a dream come true, for it has administered a defeat which has so rocked the Mikado's capital that the Japanese are making no effort to conceal the devastating effects, both moral and material.

Not only has the Tokyo government acknowledged sweeping destruction but it tacitly has admitted the gravity of the situation by firing the chiefs of staff for both the navy and the army. None less than the great General Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic premier and master gangster, has taken over the position of chief of general staff of the army in addition to his other duties.

During the two-day engagement at Truk, naval forces sunk at least 19 ships, including several war vessels destroyed 201 warplanes and damaged 50 others, and probably sunk seven other ships. Bombs also created havoc among the enemy installations in this great base. As against this big killing U.S. forces lost only 17 planes and suffered moderate damage to one ship.

Meantime the marines and army forces have continued to consolidate positions on the important Jap base on Eniwetok. And to the south, American destroyers have blasted the Rabaul and Kavieng bases.

Tokyo certainly is right in saying the decisive battle of the Pacific has begun. The enemy also is both correct and frank in asserting that the raid on Truk is America's challenge, for there is far more significance in this sensational operation than appears in the material damage wrought, though that in itself is a heavy blow to Japan.

The big point, of course, is Allied fighting forces have demonstrated their ability to penetrate Japan's most powerful naval base by air, from aircraft carriers convoyed by a large fleet of warships. In doing this they invited the Japanese navy to come out and fight.

This momentous development was no flash in the pan. They were able to carry out such a highly dangerous operation because they are stronger than the enemy. Their superiority is due to two causes: They have been constantly amassing power as the result of the tremendous war effort, and the Japanese have been steadily losing strength.

"But," someone protests, "how can that be when the Japanese have in their possession all the vast wealth of China and Indonesia?"

It is true the Japanese have seized enough resources to enable them to wage world war indefinitely—if they were able to utilize those resources. In order to do that, however, the raw materials must be transported over thousands of miles of water to the mother country to be fabricated.

Water transport means ships—and the Japanese just haven't got the ships and they can't build them in sufficient numbers to meet their needs. They never have had enough

Goggin Heads Liquor Board

Former Wartime Housing Chief Appointed

TORONTO, Feb. 21—(CP)—Victor T. Goggin, Winnipeg-born engineering executive who has served as general manager of Wartime Housing, Ltd., since March 1941, has resigned that post and within a week will assume new duties as chief commissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Premier Drew announced last night that Mr. Goggin has accepted the appointment to succeed Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, whose resignation from the post he had held since April, 1939, was announced by the Ontario premier last Tuesday.

Through his work with Wartime Housing, said Col. Drew, Mr. Goggin "has established contact with most of the municipalities in Ontario and this well be extremely useful to him in his new work."

Mr. Goggin, who now lives in Toronto, has many business connections in Canada and the United States. Educated here and at Regina, he joined Wartime Housing after several years in New York as head of Goggin and Ripley, Inc., engineering consultants. He was president of the Canadian Club of New York in 1938, 1939 and 1940 and was in the forefront of activities supporting the British war effort. He was founder and first president of the Maple Leaf Fund, Canadian war relief organization in the United States.

Churchill Will Review War

Will Answer Criticisms From Members

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill put the finishing touches to-day to a fact-filled war review in which he is expected to discuss many phases of the global conflict at the next sitting of the House of Commons.

Indications are the Prime Minister's forthcoming report will be the most comprehensive he has delivered since last September and will throw new light on the Italian campaign and the battle for the Anzio beachhead, about which some members of the House have been critical.

Mr. Churchill also is expected to touch on the situation in the Pacific, the increasingly heavy Allied aerial offensives against Germany and perhaps on the results of the Cairo and Teheran conferences.

London newspapers predict the Prime Minister will warn Britain that the war is far from won and stiff, costly battles still lie between the United Nations and victory.

The Daily Mail said Mr. Churchill was disturbed by the defeat of the government candidates in the West Derbyshire by-election and his choice's close call in Brighton last week and might ask for a vote of confidence as a sign of a united front.

Montreal Strike Settled Trams Operating

MONTREAL, Feb. 21 — (CP)—Street-cars and buses operated throughout Montreal to-day, a development that surprised a good number of residents who went to bed last night believing that another strike of employees of Montreal Tramways was on.

A 30-hour strike of 4,000 operators ended late Saturday night, and cars operated normally throughout yesterday. Everything seemed back to normal until mid-evening when a sudden flurry of rumors and conflicting statements gave Montrealers another fit of tram-strike jitters.

The original walk-out started on Friday afternoon when two members of the C.C.L. were suspended for refusing to man the same cars as members of an American Federation of Labor affiliate. The C. C. L. has a collective bargaining agreement with the tramways, result of a 60-hour strike last March.

The tie-up became complete by Friday night, with the operators demanding a closed shop for the C. C. L. But at a continuous meeting Saturday afternoon and Saturday night, C.C.L. officials told the men to go back to work and leave the matter of a closed shop to a joint Federal-Provincial inquiry.

The men refused at first, but finally agreed to return to work after Paul Emile Marquette, C. C. L. organizer, and other union officials threatened to resign if the workers did not "observe the law and return to work at once."

The law mentioned was a new Provincial Government statute barring strikes in public services, including tramways, and providing heavy fines for those participating.

Union officials told one group who appeared doubtful about returning that they would not have to operate cars with A. F. L. men.

Cyprien Morin, Provincial conciliator, said last night that actually there had been no agreement concerning segregation of C. C. L. and A. F. L. men.

19 Jap Ships, 201 Planes U.S. Fleet Score At Truk

By CHARLES McMURTRY—Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 21—(AP).—Nineteen Japanese ships sunk, at least 201 planes destroyed and terrific damage to land installations, was the score in last week's United States Pacific fleet raid on Truk, Japanese primary base in the central Pacific.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the fleet, called the damage wrought by carrier planes in the raid Wednesday and Thursday "partial settlement" of the debt owed Japan for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor in December, 1941.

(The Japanese during the 115-minute aerial hammering given Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, put 18 American warships out of action, including eight battleships, destroyed 177 army and navy planes and the killed, wounded and missing totalled more than 3,000.)

Nimitz made no mention of troop landings at Truk, as the Tokyo radio had announced, but said airmen sank two light cruisers, three destroyers, one ammunition ship, one seaplane tender, two oilers, two gunboats and eight cargo ships.

One cruiser or large destroyer, two oilers and four cargo ships were listed as probably sunk.

Dominion-Provincial Conference To Outline Post-War Planning

By FRANK FLAHERTY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 —(CP) — Decisons taken at the coming Dominion-Provincial Conference may establish the framework within which post-war economic planning for Canada can proceed with more certainty than has been possible up to this time.

As a minimum it is believed the result hopes for is an understanding of the respective roles of the Dominion and Provincial Governments in measures projected to maintain a high level of employment and their roles in those measures of social security set forth as the first steps to be taken towards a con..ehensive system to protect Canadians from extreme hardship resulting from old age, unemployment and sickness.

While that is a minimum, the maximum might be a general agreement among the provinces on a method of amending the British North America Act whereby Provincial views could be tested on matters affecting the Provinces without reference to the British parliament, as well as changes in the Act itself as it relates to the distribution of powers as between the Dominion and the Provinces.

With matters of more immediate practical importance to be dealt with, however, it is possible that questions of constitutional change may be pushed into the background unless there should be a general disposition on the part of the Provincse now to act.

The time of the Conference is still indefinite. In the House of Commons Prime Minister Mackenzie King suggested it night be possible about Easter.

Most of the Provincial Legislatures, however, now are in session, and two of them, Quebec and Saskatchewan, face elections after the end of their present sessions. It is not known for sure whether they will have time between the end of their sessions and their elections to prepare for and attend a Conference.

The last Conference met in the Winter of 1941 and a large part of the new conference's work— that relating to finances—results from the earlier meeting's failure.

The 1941 Conference was asked to consider the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations aimed at re-adjusting the division of revenue sources and financial obligations.

It broke up after two days when three Provinces, Ontario, Alberta, and British Columbia, flatly refused to accept the Commission's proposals as a basis of discussion.

May Change Act.

The Dominion later acted by means of a temporary wartime arrangement to take over the whole field of Income Tax and reimburse the Provinces with payments equal to their previous collections.

The coming Conference will, in consequence, have to consider what arrangement is to replace the wartime one.

Generally the Royal Commission's findings were to the effect that the fields of taxation open to the Provinces under the British North America Act are inadequate to yield them enough revenue to permit them to carry out the services required in a modern state and which fall within their constitutional sphere.

The remedy proposed was a new distribution of powers, the allocation of the Income Tax field to the Federal authority, assumption by Federal Government of Provincial debts, abolition of present subsidies to the Provinces and their replacement by a "National Adjustment Grant," changeable every five years.

Canada's existing constitution, the British North America Act, was framed in 1867 before many of the present functions of government were thought of. It can be changed only by an Act of the British parliament.

"The other two boys wouldn't leave the pilot," said Base Commander Col. Eugene A. Romig, Byesville, O. "It was as fine an example of heroism as I've ever seen."

Romig went up in another plane to try to shepherd them in.

But the Fortress crashed on field and exploded, killing the engineer navigator and the pilots. Censorship prohibits explaining what happened to the bombardier.

"They might have made it if the controls hadn't been damaged," Moore said. "The ship didn't seem to want to land."

Nazi Raiders Over London

LONDON, Feb. 21 (CP)—London had its second air-raid warning within a few hours early today after German planes scattered bombs and incendiaries in several districts of the capital last night.

The second alert, however, was followed soon by the all-clear signal.

The Nazi raiders which set off the first alarm attempted to repeat their huge fire raid of early Saturday morning, which was the heaviest attack London had received since the blitz campaign of 1940-41.

The sirens blared the second warning at 3.26 a.m. (10.26 p.m., E.D.T., Sunday). The all-clear for the first raid had come at 11 p.m.

Some sections of the city were set blazing with tons of oil bombs and incendiaries. For some time after the all clear sounded the sky still glowed red.

The second alert apparently was caused by enemy reconnaissance planes.

In the short fierce raid last night the German fighter-bombers fanned out over London after flying up the Thames. They scattered incendiaries indiscriminately, causing fires in many areas. There were a number of casualties.

Three schools and a convent of the Roman Catholic Church, a hotel, houses, apartments and business properties were burned out or destroyed. A memorial was damaged and surrounding trees were blown from a park across a road.

Incendiaries were the Germans' chief cargo, literally hundreds falling in one district, but some high explosives were mindled with the fire-bombs.

The Berlin radio described the radio as a "massive assault."

Prime Minister Churchill today inspected the areas damaged last night, and in response to cheers from hundreds of office workers waved with the V-sign and shouted "it's quite like old times again."

With his cigar at a jaunty angle, Mr. Churchil poked through the rubble and chatted with workers cleaning up the area.

When word of his presence spread, clerks on their lunch-hour left their sandwiches and surged into the street, causing a traffic jam.

Ski Troops Ready To Search For Plane

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—United States Army planes from the Rome air depot took to the skies again today in a wide flung search of upper New York State for "Getaway Gertie," four-motored bomber, and her crew of eight which has been missing since early Friday.

Today's search is being concentrated within a 50-mile radius of Watertown as most of the reports of persons hearing a plane early Friday emanated from that sector.

Trained ski troops are being held in readiness at the Rome base. If the plane is spotted in the snow-covered north country, groups of ski troops would be flown to the nearest airport and then taken by truck as close as possible to the scene.

Roy Williams Hurt In Car Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS) —Roy Williams, 19, of Seymour township, was still unconscious in Belleville Hospital on Sunday following an accident on the Stirling road one half mile south of here early Saturday afternoon.

Williams was driving south in a car owned by his father, Rae Williams, of Seymour, when he broke over a hill to collide with a truck, police said was driven by Victor Irwin, who was returning from Hoards with a load of grain. The two vehicles sideswiped, with the rack of the truck catching the car which veered into the embankment and travelled an estimated hundred feet following the impact. Neither Irwin nor his passenger, Donald Sharp of Hoards, was injured, and the damage to the truck was estimated at between $50 and $75. Williams was removed from his car in an unconscious condition and the vehicle was a total wreck. Provincial Constable J. McKenzie of Campbellford is in charge of the investigation.

Jenkins To Get Cobourg Garbage Work

COBOURG, Feb. 21 — (ENS). — Cobourg Town Council held a special meeting here over complaints received in regard to the new garbage collector and on motion of Deputy-Reeve Robert Love and Councillor Alan Field, terminated the services of Clarence Hie on the grounds that he had not fulfilled the terms of his contract. A resolution was then passed, appointing Harry Jenkins to the job at a salary of $3,000, the amount of his tender.

Mr. Jenkins was collector of garbage when the municipal garbage collection system was put into effect last year. When tenders were called at the beginning of this year, Mr. Jenkins tendered for $3,000 and Clarence Hie tendered for $2,700. As Hie had the lower tender, he was given the contract. Hie used a team whereas Jenkins used a truck. It was found that the team was unable to handle the job and as a result of complaints, a special meeting of the town council was called and Mr. Hie's contract was terminated.

For the balance of this week, the new schedule on which Hie operated will continue but next week the schedule will revert to that under which Jenkins operated when he held the contract.

He is a regular attendant at St. Paul's Anglican Church, and also at the sessions of Marmora L.O.L. 319, of which he is a Past Master.

On the evening of his birthday, friends tendered him a surprise party. The event was marked with the cutting of a birthday cake covered with candles.

Here's Quick Relief from

SINUS PAIN

3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-Purpose Medicine . . . Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's best relief they've found. Try it!

Surgeons bless the SLEEP that BANISHES PAIN..

● Many a soldier owes his life to the miracle of ether. A few deep breaths in the rough shelter of a field hospital . . . then gentle, blessed sleep, while the sure hands of the surgeon work their wonders of surgical skill.

In his fight against pain and death on the battlefield, the Doctor's unseen partner is Alcohol . . . for alcohol is a basic ingredient in making ether for the anaesthetics. As a practical antiseptic, pure alcohol is in constant use by Doctors and nurses in hospitals, in dressing stations, on the field of battle itself. This same versatile product has an essential function in the manufacture of countless tools of war . . . plastics, explosives, propellants, navigational instruments. So many and various are its uses that without it our whole war of production would be seriously handicapped. The demand for pure alcohol by a nation at war is stupendous . . . and insatiable. Our function is to produce it to the full extent of our capacity.

The Dominion Labour Code

At last the Dominion Labour Code has been completed and its provisions made public. On the surface it looks like a good code, and one which will work fairly for everybody. But even the most carefully framed code has to be tried out before its strength is proven. There may be situations not adequately covered by the Code, and there may be situations where it is not just in its workings. We shall have to try it and see. The leaders of the two chief labour groups have approved it, and it seems to be agreeable to employers' associations. It supersedes the provincial codes now in existence, and it has been framed to work as smoothly as possible in provincial as well as in Dominion matters. On the whole, it seems to be a good Code.

But a Code is useless unless the people whose actions it is supposed to control are really anxious to make it work. If the Code reveals faults it will be possible to adjust it. But if the discovery of a fault merely leads to abuse of the Code as a whole, and if one of the affected groups, or a single province, uses the discovery of a flaw as an excuse to be uncooperative, we shall have trouble. But if all the parties concerned are genuinely anxious to make the Code work, it should be a success.

The Code at present applies only to war industries. If provinces wish to take the necessary measures it can be made to apply to civilian industry as well. There are at least three provinces—Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia—which have civil labour codes of their own; it remains to be seen whether they wish to scrap these for the Dominion code; the change would not be extreme in any case.

The success of the Code is now a matter of co-operation, and we shall not be able to tell much about it until we see how it works.

Bouquet For The Board Of Works

We think that the Board of Works deserves a bouquet for its good work in keeping the streets clear during the recent heavy snowfalls. After an unusually mild three months we have had a great deal of snow, and it has been dealt with most successfully.

In this matter of snow clearing we think that Peterborough has a particularly good record. Travellers who get about a great deal in the winter time tell us that the streets here are better-kept than those in many larger cities and that there is no city of comparable size in Ontario which does a better job in this matter. We are glad to pass the compliment along to the right quarter.

The Word War

We have high hopes of involving Canada in another war, and once the issue is joined much blood and printer's ink will be spilled before it is finished. We refer to the Word War, which A. P. Herbert has been waging in Great Britain for at least fifteen years; in that time he has rallied to his side several powerful newspapers, no less a statesman than Winston Churchill, and a host of private persons who are eager to strike a blow for better English.

The forces for a successful Word War already exist in Canada. The Ottawa Journal has struck many a blow in defence of the language, and it occupies a strategic position not far from Parliament Hill, where the enemy is strongly fortified; the Brantford Expositor is a tireless and valiant fighter, rarely allowing a week to pass without banging some careless speaker or writer over the head with Fowler's English Usage: the Port Hope Evening Guide has taken up the sword against the forces of unrighteousness, and could probably be encouraged to fight more often; and we ourself have struck at the foe with cudgel, rapier, catapult and cannon, whichever weapon seemed most appropriate.

And as for the Enemy — he is everywhere, but he seems to be strongest in governmental and official circles. He vaunts himself; he is puffed up; he walketh with a froward mouth.

Up, warriors of the Word War, and smite him in the vocabulary! Abuse his usage! Hammer his grammar! Divided we merely peck and nag; united we shall work a word revolution. Is it to be war to the utterance?

Monkeyshines In Copenhagen

A good story comes to us from Stockholm about some recent monkeyshines in Copenhagen. It appears that a Danish constable one day saw two Gestapo agents go into an apartment building; they did not come out again for some time, and the policeman, thinking that this was his chance to curry favour with the Gestapo, went into the apartment house to help them. After he had been gone some time the Copenhagen police force sent two detectives into the house to find out what had become of him, and these also disappeared.

The policeman and the two detectives turned up at police headquarters some hours later, with a humiliating story. The two Gestapo men had gone into the apartment house because they had been tipped off that it was the headquarters of a ring of Danish saboteurs. When the policeman went in, the Gestapo picked him up as a suspect, and when the two detectives followed him they met with the same treatment.

Meanwhile the real Danish patriots—the saboteurs—had escaped. Which just goes to show that no good can come of trying to snuggle up to the Gestapo.

Lincoln On Education

The recent celebration of Lincoln's birthday in the United States has brought the usual number of quotations, appreciations and anecdotes, some of them of unusual interest. One in particular has taken our attention, and we reproduce a part of it here; it relates to Lincoln's education:

"His whole schooling was less than one year, but his education did not cease when he left school. It went on throughout his life. At the age of twenty-three he learned English grammar. In the year 1849, when he had already sat in Congress, he learned by heart the geometry of Euclid. He was a reader. Though he had few books, they were mostly great books. His library consisted of the Bible, 'Aesop's Fables', 'Robinson Crusoe', 'Pilgrim's Progress', a history of the United States, 'Weems' Life of Washington', Franklin's 'Autobiography', a Life of Henry Clay, the poems of Robert Burns, the plays of William Shakespeare, and the Revised Statutes of Indiana. Somebody has said that for a liberal education one needs only to know James' psychology, Shakespeare's plays, and the Bible, and makes haste to add that all of James's psychology is to be found in Shakespeare, and all of Shakespeare is to be found in the Bible. At all events, we may safely say that anybody who is master of these books that Lincoln mastered is entitled to be called a man of culture...."

At a time when we are concentrating more and more on forcing education upon the public, and determining that every man shall be cultured painlessly and almost against his will, this story of rigorous determination has its point. Lincoln's own opinion on education has come down to us:

"Upon the subject of education I can only say that I view it as the most important subject which we as a people can be engaged in. That every man may receive at least a moderate education and thereby be enabled to read the histories of his own and other countries, by which he may duly appreciate the value of our free institutions, appears to be an object of vital importance, to say nothing of the advantages and satisfaction from all being able to read the Scriptures".

Well, every man has a moderate education nowadays, but we have not observed any marked increase in reading either history or the Scriptures, and our free institutions, though the subject of the greatest of all wars, have rarely been attacked so fiercely at home. Great as education is, it is nothing unless allied with character, and we do not seem to be any better at producing character now than we were in Lincoln's day.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Hitler has called to arms all men up to the age of 60. Quite useless; they are old enough to remember what happened last time.

"Japs Peddle Bootleg Liquor To Poison Yanks" says a headline. The Japs don't know that it didn't work during Prohibition.

The editor of the Kitchener Record is alarmed because boys and girls under twenty often sit up till midnight. No cause for worry; they make it up by sleeping later in the morning.

Tim Buck thinks that "capitalist relations" will have to be continued for some time after the war to ensure prosperity. That is going to dish him with the C.C.F.

A tribunal in Marseilles has condemned Etienne Aule, who is one hundred years old, to death "for terrorist activities". At his age he deserves a medal for activities of any kind.

We are glad that we were not responsible for the typographical error which made the Superior, Wis., Telegram describe the wife of the mayor — who was christening a ship, as "taking the bottle of champagne in both hands and swigging it like a veteran".

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

MOST of our farmers will be giving consideration at this time of year to plans for the seeding and fertilizing of spring crops, and following the low yields of feed grains last year it is desirable that we should have as full a harvest as possible of these crops this year. With this in view the use of fertilizers is highly important and farmers are likely to use larger amounts of these. In this matter it is important to learn some of the actions chemical fertilizers have had when applied to our soil. We have been large users of phosphates, or super-phosphates, in the treatment of our cropping fields. In the use of phosphates it is a rather mysterious fact that we often get the benefit of only a small percentage of this fertilizer which we apply. Under many conditions of land the greater part of the phosphates distributed become "fixed" in the soil and only a percentage of it, sometimes as low as 20 per cent, is then available as soluable plant food. Some of the residue will doubtless be made available for future crops through the action of soil bacteria, but what we want is that it shall mostly be effective this year. Careful experiments have shown that an application of barnyard manure, and often a very light application, will usually get almost magical response from the phosphate. It has been suggested that this is caused by the ammonia in manure, as nitrogen in the form of sulphate of ammonia is considered by some authorities as better for mixing with super-phosphate than nitrogen in the form of cyanamid. However, it has been proven that a light dressing of manure will multiply the immediately favorable result from the use of super-phosphate.

This is highly important as by giving lighter dressings of manure, with an application of chemical fertilizer, the barnyard litter may be used over more fields and serve an increased purpose in fertilizing crops.

Nitrogen is the plant food which nourishes the young and growing plants, gives them leaves and stems, as well as a good root formation, to sustain the heads, but the production of good heavy grain depends upon the available phosphates for the plants to feed on.

Our crops must depend upon the nourishment they get from the soil and a careful study and planning of how we can, and shall, give good seed every opportunity to root, put forth the stalks and leaves, and finally to fill a good large head with plump grain, is the soundest kind of farming. This can all be included in what we must do to prepare for a good crop, and the fitness of the soil to feed that crop is of the highest importance. Growing food on farms is in reality a highly scientific matter, but is guided mostly by common sense.

THE quality of seed that we use and its freedom from weed seeds is of of the greatest importance. Farmers must take great care this spring as to the small seeds they purchase as grass seed of all kinds is quite scarce and alfalfa seed of good quality will be very difficult to secure. The retail price ceiling for alfalfa seed has been fixed at 27c per lb., while it was selling in United States as high as 55c per lb. Several hundred thousand pounds of this seed have gone across the line and it is very scarce in Ontario. Small quantities have been coming from the West but these are not first-class. I am told there is a good deal of mustard in some samples and it is difficult to separate mustard from alfalfa. This can only be done by a spiral seed cleaner. There are very few of these in Canada, and then the work they do is often not a very complete separation. Farmers should only buy certified seed, or where they do buy from a grower, should have a careful examination of the seed made by a competent person. It is usually better to seed with some other variety than with inferior or unclean seed.

BRITAIN, located right in the war zone, with her shipping under threat of submarines, is exporting seed potatoes to the amount of over one million one hundred thousand bushels, and sending them to Malta, West and South Africa, Rhodesia, Italy, Corsica and Sardinia. These potatoes were grown in Scotland, Northern Ireland and in the Eastern Counties of England. Substantial quantities of potatoes for food are also being shipped from Britain to Iceland and Gibraltar. After over four years of war it is surely an extraordinary position for Britain to find herself in that she can make such shipments of a staple food.

A Peel County farmer called to see me the other day. He is a pig raiser on a considerable scale as his chief farm income is from marketing bacon hogs. I asked him if he had reduced his usual number of sows when there seemed to be a run in that direction. "No," he replied, "I bought a few extra at reduced prices, and got some choice ones." He markets his pigs in small lots as they get ready, and of the last lot four-fifths were selects. "I figure," he remarked, "that Britain would still need bacon and I have found it profitable to breed and feed pigs." His alfalfa pig pasture, he claims, was a money saver, and he is not rushing his pigs to make 220 lbs., at 5½ months, as he considers it more profitable to take a little more time and get a better growth of lean meat and have less excess fat.

NEW ZEALAND farmers have suffered a reduction in their pigs because that country does not grow grain enough for their own feeding. The war in the Pacific has shut off importation of grain and it is estimated that over one hundred million gallons of skim milk, buttermilk and whey have been wasted because of lack of grain for mixing, which is a serious loss. The result is that while New Zealand killed 605,311 bacon pigs in 1939-40, in the year 1942-43 only 419,480 bacon pigs were slaughtered which is a reduction of almost one-third. The total pig killings in New Zealand was highest in 1940-41 having reached a figure slightly over one million and 1942-43 was reduced to 758,000.

Previous to the war that Dominion exported a good many bacon pigs to Britain in a frozen condition. This was favored by some traders as when these pigs reached Smithfield, in London, they were thawed and then cured and didn't have to make a long journey as bacon. British people favor a mild cure and these pigs could be given a mild cure and the bacon marketed, as soon as it was out of the smoke house, as Danish bacon was. New Zealand has not specialized to any great extent in breeding the best type of bacon pigs, but it is being discussed, at the present time, and it is likely this Dairy State will endeavor to become a good pig producer as well.

CANADIAN wheat in store at the end of January was just slightly under 360 million bushels which is about 110 million bushels under what it was one year ago. Oats and barley in store ran to 75 million bushels which is about 11½ million bushels over what it was a year ago. We are quite well supplied with grain.

J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers said, early in this month, that within the past few weeks the meat situation in Canada had swung from a position of acute scarcity to surplus and, he added, "we can all make up our minds that the period of scarcity is over," for the duration of the war. This story rather contradicts Mr. Hepburn's recent threat that we would likely be eating horse meat. I think his horses are safe yet. With most of our meat marked for export to Britain, a shortage of shipping facilities is apt to cause congestion occasionally. We have to get a few scares about meat spoiling but it is not difficult to keep meat for an extra week. We are killing meat animals at a rapid rate just now, but the prices to the farmer is pretty firm, and likely to be.

SINCE early in September Neil McKinnon of Hillsburg, Wellington County, has bought in this province 264 mares all of which he has shipped to the Province of Quebec. He has now an order for 1,200 to 1,400 in foal mares to be purchased in 1944. The buying of these mares should help the horse market in Ontario quite substantially. Neil McKinnon is a good judge of a horse and also of values, and has served the breeders of horses in this province in more than one capacity.

A NAZI CULTURAL MONUMENT

—By Thomas

"In The Gloaming"

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

SHE was a very old lady—in her 96th year—when she died last Monday at her home in England's Berkshire. She was Lady Arthur Hill, the widow of Lord Arthur Hill, who had managed the finances of Queen Victoria's household. She had lived in close retirement from the disturbed twentieth century world. When interviewed in 1939 she spoke of the songs she used to write. She had once written two volumes of them. They were called Holiday Songs and had been dedicated to Queen Alexandra. But it was all so long ago, she said. She had written nothing for some twenty years.

But she recalled how one morning in 1867 a friend had sent her a poem in a letter. It began with the words:

In the gloaming, oh! my darling,
When the lights are dim and low,
And the quiet shadows falling,
Softly come and softly go;
When the winds are sobbing faintly
With a gentle unknown woe,—
Will you think of me and love me,
As you did once long ago?
It was best to leave you thus, dear,
Best for you and best for me.

"I liked them very much," said Lady Hill, "and after breakfast went upstairs to the piano and wrote the music in fifteen minutes—or twenty minutes at the most. It just came to me."

Like many other effective things in composition, it had been easy. There had been for those few minutes a full opening of the heart, without the hindrances of conscious effort. "I think it was extraordinary," she said, "that an amateur should have the knack of composing a song that seemed to be liked so universally."

Yet perhaps it was just because she was an amateur that she was able to write so directly, matching and expressing with her music the simple poignancy of the words. And words and music together have an appeal that seems to be timeless; for they combine to waken the inevitable memory of the things that were longed for in the heart, but denied by circumstance.

American English

(CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR)

THE final volume has now been issued of A Dictionary of American English, edited by Sir William A. Craigie and James R. Hulbert, Part XX, Virginian Dogwood—Zu-Zu (University of Chicago Press. $4). It continues the popular adjective Virginia and includes also such important adjectives as west and western, whaling, white, wild, and yellow. Wideawake for a soft felt hat reminds us that the American language boasts many good words for hats, from coonskin and beegum to ten-gallon sombrero.

Water-gap and windgap stand for the imagination with which our forefathers met with descriptive terms the challenge of the American landscape. Waiter girl, that awkward sister of waitress, is typical of our addition to compounds. Yarrup and yucker, two of the many aliases of the flicker, bring to mind that some of the most pungent coinages in American are echoic formations, among which whippoorwill, yawp, and whack are included in this part.

Whistling is, like whittling, a pastime dear to the American heart, and we have put it into the heartsblood of our national idiom. To pay for one's whistle is to pay the piper. And to pay too dear for ones whistle is to pay the piper more than his piping is worth.

The way of Americans with way is a caution. We sing way down upon the Swanee River, we live way back in the woods, we come from away off thar, we drive way out West, we point way over yonder, and sometimes we are way ahead of time. In fact, there are no two ways about it: we have a wap-up (i.e., a bang-up) time with way, and just for good measure, we are wont to want to see each other the worst way.

To go where the woodbine twineth, a phrase with a final fall, means to depart for regions unknown, where the lion roareth and the whangdoodle mourneth for her first-born. That jocose coinage, whangdoodle, is here, both in the sense of the fabulous animal referred to above and in the attributive sense of loud and noisy. Here also struts whoop-jamboree, a slang-whanger of an adjective; here also shouts Mark Twain's whoop-jamboreehoo, an earlier whoopee, which goes the whole hog of agglutination and adds a hoo to whoop-jamboree.

To speak of the far-famed Wenham Lake ice is to retire to the quiet mood of rural peace. In the middle decades of the last century, our clippers carried ice from this Massachusetts lake to all quarters of the globe and gave similes to poets: "Eyes as clear as Wenham ice," wrote Oliver Wendell Holmes. Wenham became a generic name for ice from other ponds. Some of it, at least, came from Cambridge's Fresh Pond, the Everetts told Lady Emmaline Stuart Wortley when she visited them in the summer of 1850.

Every reading man who is at all word-conscious has special information on American words, which will enable him to fill in gaps in this dictionary. What we all should do is to send our information in to the Department of English of the University of Chicago for use in supplementary volumes. This is every American's dictionary of his own language. The more he co-operates with its editorial staff, the more complete and helpful will be his dictionary. R.M.H.

Unconsidered Trifles

An old lady out shopping saw a queue and from force of habit attached herself to it. After a quarter of an hour, having made very little progress, she asked her neighbor what they were queuing up for.

"Blood transfusion," was the reply.

The psychologist explained how easy it was to judge a man's character from his clothes.

"Socks show a man's temperament very clearly, they tell whether he is generous or avaricious, nervous or phlegmatic," he announced.

"They also keep his feet warm," muttered an unbeliever.

Part of Peace Machine

Even the most competently managed international investment bank could not function successfully in a world given over to economic disorder or in countries wracked by political strife. The mere cessation of a World War will not, in short, assure a return of conditions favorable to foreign lending. But the existence of an international organization equipped to engage in investment operations at the first feasible moment might of itself help to restore order in world economic affairs. Secretary Morgenthau, at any rate, concludes that such a bank, operated as a companion agency of an international stabilization fund, "could help provide a sound financial foundation on which enterprise can build a prosperous world economy."—Washington Post.

A Bible Message

The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice; let the multitude of isles be glad thereof....

The hills melted like wax at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth. The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory....

Zion heard, and was glad; and the daughters of Judah rejoiced because of thy judgments, O Lord. For thou, Lord, art high above all the earth: thou art exalted far above all gods....

Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart. Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness. (Ps. 97: 1, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12.)

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name. (I Chron. 29: 11-13.)

Timber From Scottish Soil

The fact that our woodlands are so widely scattered over the surface of Scotland is apt to conceal from the public eye the extent to which they have had to be denuded in the interests of war supplies of timber. When it is remembered that in the years preceding the outbreak of war we had to import 96 per cent of our requirements of timber, it will be apparent how drastically, in view of shipping stringency, we have had to draw upon available home supplies. When corresponding exhaustion of home woodlands was taking place during the last war it was an uncomfortable thought that practically nothing was being done to replant the countryside. The experience of the last war led to the creation of the Forestry Commission, which has developed a total of 253 forest units throughout Great Britain extending to a plantable area of 767,000 acres. As 120 of these units covering a plantable area of 306,341 acres are in Scotland, there is no need to stress the large share which Scotland is destined to claim in British forestry development.—Glasgow Herald.

Pinball Triumph

Here's a story of how the lowly pinball machine recently saved the day for an automotive plant making electric generators for the Navy. Engineers, using huge baking ovens for drying finishes on the generator armatures, found that some took longer to dry than others. In their search for a device to regulate oven conveyors, they hit upon the "ratchet relays," the electric timing devices which record the score and control lighting in pinball machines. Mounted in the baking ovens, these devices did the job, regulating the conveyors so that each armature reached the oven door at the proper time. The company got the ratchet relays from confiscated pinball machines held by the police.—Newsweek.

No. 1 Saboteur

Blair Fraser contributes a grim but arresting and thought-provoking article to the February 15 issue of Maclean's Magazine in which he brands VD—venereal disease—not without reason, as this country's No. 1 Saboteur. It is bad enough that it should weaken, if not paralyze our war effort by sapping the physical fitness of war workers and men in the fighting forces. But it is, if possible, worse, that it is sapping Canadian girlhood and thereby destroying our motherhood of tomorrow in the bud. We shall never know just how many babies that ought to have afforded the natural increase of the population will never be born. But we shall know to our shame and sorrow how many children were entitled to sane minds in healthy bodies as their birthright, will be born to lives of sickness, deformity, mental deficiency and premature decease through the "fifth columnist" activities of VD the No. 1 Saboteur.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Red Cross Work Lauded By Fighting Men

NORWOOD, Feb. 21—(ENS) — The executive of the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society met in the Red Cross Room on Thursday evening, with the president, S. S. Breckon, in charge. The treasurer's report was given, and included in this was a donation of $10 from the Women's Institute for the Prisoners of War Fund. Outstanding accounts for wool and sewing material were presented, and the treasurer authorized to pay them.

Bert Lochhead was appointed as Red Cross liaison officer. Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe and Mrs Ernest Patterson were appointed delegates to the annual meeting to be held in Toronto on March 29, with Mrs. F. Webster as alternative. L. C. Gunstone and A. Bitten were appointed to act as chairman and secretary-treasurer of the campaign to be held the first two weeks in March. The groups reported 36 large quilts and 17 crib quilts handed in since the first of the year. In addition to this, two large quilts were donated to the branch by the Women's Institute. The wool convener reported a quota of sweaters, gloves and helmets ready for shipment and a quota of socks almost completed. Five knitted baby sets, consisting of jacket, bonnet and bootees had been handed in and were on display. Another baby jacket had been donated by Mrs. D. N. King. The hospital quota of handkerchiefs, pillow cases, and dressing gowns is also nearing completion. New quotas of knitting and sewing have been sent for.

About 30 cards and letters have been received so far from the boys overseas, acknowledging the receipt of and expressing their appreciation for the smokes sent them for Christmas.

BASES BLASTED IN ADVANCE ON TRUK—A picture made from a navy dive bomber showing the strafing of a burning Jap cargo ship within the anchorage of Eniwetok atoll, which has just been invaded by U.S. forces.

This air strip in the centre of Truk's Uman island, guards the great Jap naval base from air attack. The photograph was made February 4, by marine airmen in daring 2,000-mile flight in Liberator bombers. This aerial reconnaissance paved the way for the present attack on Truk.

Show Delights Men Overseas

By MARGARET ECKER

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN BRITAIN, Feb. 21 (CP)—"The best thing of all is hearing Canadian girls talk and sing," said W.O. Joe Casoff of Montreal, as he settled back to watch the R.C.A.F. Revue, "The Blackouts," in the village near the R.A.F. station that is his post.

It was a hep-cat number, and the Canadian girls with Canadian smiles and nice legs were really turning on the heat. The audience—R.C.A.F. air and ground crew—went wild.

The show is good, fast and funny entertainment. But it wouldn't need to be good to get the thunderous reception it is receiving up and down Britain. The boys and the girls of the Air Force would love it anyway, because it brings Canada and Canadian fun to folks who get pretty homesick, inspite of the job they're doing.

"Jeez, a pretty girl after all these years," shouted an airman as pretty LAW, Georgette Gelinas of Windsor, Ont., warbled "My Air Force Boy," in an evening dress you would never see in England.

LAW. Edna Bond of Ottawa, is one of the favorite comediennes and it's not hard to see why she bubbles with humor.

"You see, this is my moneymoon," she said as she looked proudly at Flt. Sgt. Frank Downie of Vancouver, star of the show.

Lavinia Saddon of Niagara Falls, Ont., said she enlisted as a clerk stenographer and served with the R.C.A.F. as an equipment assistant in the United States. She displayed a diamond on the third finger of her left hand. "I'm going to get married and settle down as soon as I can."

Yugoslav Partisans Cross Julian Alps

LONDON, Feb. 21—(CP)—Yugoslav Partisans who have smashed across the Julian Alps to stroke at the Nazis in Northeast Italy, are battling near Udine, 20 miles northwest of Gorizia, headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced to-day.

The broadcast communique said fighting also was raging along the Hungarian border, in the Travnik area of Bosnia and in Croatia.

More than 200 Germans were killed in various clashes, the bulletin said.

Halifax Muddle Brings House Planning

By The Ottawa Staff Of The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP)—Profiting by bitter experience in the East, National Housing administration officials are laying plans and surveying west coast cities in anticipation of a rush of population to that area when the European conflict ends and all forces are concentrated in the Pacific.

"We don't want any more Halifax muddles and heartbreak," an official said, referring to the overcrowding of that port during the early unplanned rush of the war.

Labor Notes: The government is scanning the field of possible representatives of the public, labor and employers to fill 13 positions of important labor boards.

Three of the positions are on the expanded War Labor Board which, now composed of a chairman, a labor representative and an employer representative, is to be increased under the new wage-control order to a six-man board—a chairman, vice-chairman, two representatives of the public and one each of labor and employers. The reduction in the proportionate representation of labor has been one of the major criticisms of the new order.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has declared the government's intention to consider some revisions after all major labor organizations have made representations. No appointments are expected to be made until a decision is reached on these changes.

The new wartime labor relations board which is to have charge of administering the new labor code on labor relations is to be composed of a chairman, vice-chairman and not more than eight other members.

It is considered likely that the man chosen to head the board will be one already closely in touch with labor matters. Within the Labor Department itself three names are mentioned as possibles—Deputy Minister Arthur MacNamara, Assistant Deputy Minister Vincent MacDonald, who had an important part in drafting the order, and Assistant Deputy Minister M. M. Maclean, who also helped frame the code and charge of the department's conciliation service which will hold an important place in the functioning of the new regulations.

New Zealand's Troops Share Pacific Battle Honors

By D. W. LOCHORE
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Feb. 21 — (CP Cable)— New Zealand troops have shared in the honor of mounting the topmost rung of the Solomons ladder.

The comparatively inexpensive capture of the Green Islands Atoll completes the envelopment and isolation of Japanese forces left in the Solomons. They have been neutralized and their fate is sealed.

Prime Minister Fraser announced on Saturday that Maj.-Gen. H. E. Barrow-Clough, commanding the New Zealand 3rd Division, had reported the whole Green Islands Atoll now is in Allied hands with the exception of a small area which is in process of being reduced.

The blast of construction work has succeeded the blast of guns as the area is being transformed to a great military workshop. Night raids by enemy bombers are expected, but the force that has landed is declared to be capable of putting up a strong defence.

Airmen In, Too.

The forces which landed on the Green Islands, 250 miles southeast of Kavieng, New Ireland, early last week were mostly New Zealanders, with some American support. Their landing, guarded by a fleet, was made possible by air supremacy achieved over a wide sector and in this sphere New Zealand airmen played a conspicuous part.

Only last week it was announced that New Zealanders had shot down their 100th Japanese plane in the Solomons-area.

The Allied convoy boldly sailing up the west coast of the Solomons toward the Green Islands, 140 miles beyond the previous northernmost landing at Empress Augusta Bay, passed a string of Japanese airfields close on its right and left hands, yet the Allied air forces had done their work so thoroughly that the Japanese were unable to hinder operations.

An official war correspondent with the expedition states that the New Zealanders took their share of a daring commando raid on the Green Islands on January 31 when for 24 hours the Dominion troops scouted for enemy gun positions, barge stagings, and installations. They destroyed an oil dump, crippled two barges, fought off a determined bombing and strafing attack,. and retired with only two per cent casualties.

The men lived up to the slogan for the day which was: "If you find trouble return it with interest."

In a destroyer, flagship of the convoy, Gen. Barrow-Clough, commanding New Zealand forces in the area, watched his troops take possession of all required positions without any early land encounter.

With what a correspondent stated was nonchalance, the Dominion troops raced into the action, staged four degrees south of the Equator. He said the outstanding feature of the invasion was the splendid example of battle-tested soldiers going about a familiar job.

HYDRO Lightens The Way
● In the operating room, under a shadowless flood of light, surgeons perform miracles with the help of Hydro. Sensitive electric cutting instruments are used in many delicate operations. Elsewhere, it powers the X-ray and therapy machines. It protects nurseries from air-borne germ infection. It conditions the air, runs the elevators, pumps the water. And these are but a few of the many ways in which electricity serves.

Hospitals provide an outstanding example of the benefits derived from 24-hour Hydro service. Indeed, without the ever-present aid of electricity, there could be no modern hospital. With its help . . . surgery and medicine discover new ways and means to fight and control disease and illness . . . industry creates new and better products for the progress and welfare of mankind.

Just as the doctor relies on electricity to aid him in healing the sick, so we, in our everyday life depend on it to assist in performing many of our daily tasks. No matter where we live . . . be it city or farm . . . we can look forward to even better living in the days to come, by planning now to enjoy more of the benefits that electricity can bring.

Joe (Pancho) Castilloux, Montreal welterweight who won the Southern Golden Gloves championship at Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday, was disqualified Saturday following an investigation into his amateur status when he admitted he had fought as a professional before entering the U. S. Army. Castilloux declared his only desire was to fight again and the Golden Gloves tourney was his only opportunity.

The outcome was Wallace Smiley of Chattanooga, runner-up in the welterweight division, was awarded the Southern title and was named for the tournament of champions which opens in Chicago February 28.

United States troops won the coveted professional and amateur heavyweight title of North Africa Saturday as the week-long boxing tourney among Allied soldiers in Algiers ended.

Pte. Claude Brown of Cropper County, Kt., took the professional crown by outpointing Hor. Thompson, Many, La., while Pte. Cecil H. Shumway, Dallas, won the amateur championship by gaining a decision over Perry Bryson, of Midlothian, Tex.

The British Army gained one title when Tommy McGrath outpointed Edward O'Neil, of Hot Springs, Ark.

Big Mat Names Feature Tuesday Card

Big names in the wrestling world are listed for Promoter Frank Tunney's mat show at the Brock Arena on Tuesday night. In the feature spot will be that bane of the mat fans, Jan Gotch, the Pitiless Pole, meeting tall Vic Holbrook the fine-looking California.

But Tunney has come up with a semi-final that practically steals the spotlight from the main bout. The names of Bobby Managoff is a truly big one in wrestling ranks, almost as big as that of Wild Bill Longson who defeated him for the world title. Managoff has never visited Peterborough before but his reputation has run ahead of him and his former recognition by the N.W.A. as World Champion has made him a big drawing card. Far from giving the Bouncing Bobby an easy task for his first bout here, the opponent selected for him to show his dashing power is none other than Karl Krippler Davis. What a smasher that one will be.

In keeping with his policy of consistently bringing in new faces, Promoter Tunney has added two more new names for the third bout. In this match the well-known Strangler Bob Wagner will be introduced against Sailor Al Korman, a chunk of dynamite from the Navy who made a great hit in Maple Leaf Gardens the other night. With such a suporting card it will be strictly a test for Tuesday's main bout to maintain the feature spot. With such a tantrum-tempered wild man as Gotch and such a magnificent grappling giant as Holbrook "having at each other" the peak of excitement will probably be reached not once but many times. Looking the whole card over it is hard to see many quiet moments once the first gong goes.

In the amateur senior welterweight class. The French navy also gained one championship when Marcel Cerdan scored a one round technical knockout over Joseph N. Di Martino, of Stratford, Conn., in the professional welterweight finals.

Gil Dodds Wins.

Gil Dodds, the flying parson of Boston, won the Baxter mile Saturday night at the New York A. C. Indoor Meet, Madison Square Garden, in 4:06 to come six-tenths of a second from the world's indoor record for the distance. Joe Nowickiof Rochester copped Halpin half-mile event from John Fulton of San Francisco in 1:53.

Catcher Bill Dickey, Pitchers Hank Borowy and Joe Page and Infielder Oscar Grimes are among the six players who have already signed up for 1944 with the New York Yankees, it was announced last night. Page won 14 and lost five while playing with Newark Bears last season.

The Detroit Tigers Saturday announced the signing of two free agents, Pitchers Joseph Hare and Walter Back. The latter has been in organized baseball 20 years, the last five of which he spent with the Philadelphia Nationals. Hare had been with the Detroit club on a previous occasion.

William Helis' Rounders was beaten by a nose Saturday in the $25,000 New Orleans Handicap at Fair Grounds by Marriage, the eight-year-old gelding owned by Coward and Dupuy. This was the second successive year for Marriage to win the feature.

Bon Best's Kirkland Lake-Peterborough rink came as close to capturing for the second year in succession the Royal York competition, the primary event in last week's big Ontario bonspiel as any rink could possibly do without actually winning it. In fact the Best outfit, with Ray P. Best of Peterborough acting as vice-skip for his son Don were not beaten until the very last shot of the long competition. Going home in the final game Saturday with the only other survivor, the fine rink skipped by A. J. Simon of Barrie the Best quartette were down two shots. But battling it out in the last ditch they succeeded in building up what could have been a three-end and that would have meant victory. They had three stones to the good when Skip Simon threw the last rock of the game. If he had missed completely the Kirkland Lake-Peterborough rink would have won. If he had taken out only one the game would have been tied. But the Barrie skipper succeeded in knocking out two of the Best rocks and won the game 10 to 9. It was a great finish to one of the best games in the big tourney. Several rinks from this district gave a good account of themselves. Percy Skitch's Lindsay quartette, well known here, won the North American Life Trophy and A. E. Woollard's Bobcaygeon rink reached the semi-finals of the Waterloo Trophy before being eliminated.

The Public School Hockey League is having quite a time getting its playoff setup arranged. It was decided at the start of the season that the schools finishing first and second would meet in the final series for the championship. So far as first place was concerned there has been no difficult. The smart King George team, sparked by high-scoring Jeff Stock settled that by going through the schedule undefeated to take over the top shelf and qualify for the finals. But there has been a real battle for second place and it is not over yet. Last week King Edward looked to be out of the running but Queen Mary with a chance to get into the finals blew a game to Queen Alexandra and that result put King Edward back in the picture tied with Queen Alexandra for the second slot. The two tried to settle their argument Saturday morning but failed for the simple reason that neither outfit could break through the rival defence and score. When it was all over neither team had found the nets and now they will have to decide the deadlock with another game this week. In the meanwhile King George are waiting round for the final series to get under way.

A Word For The Whipper

Because Peterborough fans have probably asked the question too as to why Whipper Billy Watson doesn't happen to be in the armed forces the following explanation by J. P. Fitzgerald, veteran sports editor of the Telegram should be full of interest. Writes the dean of sporting commentators: "Introducing "Whipper" Billy Watson, wrestler. Billy has been back home in Toronto since 1940, and has worked himself up to the top rank in his chosen profession. The particular reason for this effusion arises from the very fact that he has developed into one of the best drawing attractions in the grappling game. As a result he has been subjected to a great deal of criticism which, to make a long story short, centred around why a big husky athlete of 224 pounds stripped was not and is not in the fighting forces. The pointing of the finger of criticism at the Whipper is utterly unjustifiable. Let us go into details. Billy Watson went over to England in 1936 with a few other Y.M.C.A. wrestlers. When the war broke out he at once applied for enlistment in the R.A.F. and was turned down even as a physical instructor because of one eye that was next to totally blind and owing to a spinal injury. Coming home in 1940 he made another try for the air force, this time the Canadian, and could not get to first base with the departmental doctors at Ottawa. On February 11th of this year he was called up because of outside pressure and was again refused, this time in Toronto, and no hope was held out of his ever being able to pass the medical test for the fighting forces."

* * * * * *

"Apart from his eye and spine injuries," continues Scribe Fitzgerald, "the Whipper has been subjected to the following hurts in the course of his career—broken shoulder, broken hand, ribs broken several times, two operations on the ear, and the common lot of most wrestlers, knee-cartileges. Apart from these incidents, he seems to have thrived on the wrestling diet. At any rate, he still likes it as a sport. That answers any questions as to why the Whipper is not in the army. Goodness knows he tried hard enough and it may be gathered that it has been the biggest disappointment of his life that he has not been able to wear a fighting uniform. He freely admits a feeling of envy every time he sees a lad in air force blue. Whipper Billy Watson is no roughneck. In fact he is at 28 pretty close to a model young man. At any rate he came up through Hope United Church and the York Bible Class and is a credit to both. He married an English girl in London in 1939 and the couple are blessed with a little daughter."

The Junior Playoffs

Says Ken Colling in his Belleville sport column: "Rome Taylor dropped in to say the playoff dates between the Combines and Trenton had been arranged. The series will open in Stirling on Monday night with the second game slated to be played in Trenton next Wednesday night. The venue of the possible third game will be decided in a new method, explains Rome. If a deciding game is needed the match will be played on the home ice of the team gaining the greater number of goals in the first two contests. Frankly it sounds rather screwy, as neither the Stirling or Trenton rinks have housed much over 700 patrons for any game thus far this season. If the management of the two teams would lend an eye to the future they'd play a possible third game at the Hume Arena, where at least 2,000 fans would turn out to see the Combines and Trenton battle it out in a third and deciding contest. (No charge for the suggestion, fellas.)"

Canadiens with two wins over the lowly New York Rangers and Leafs with a victory over Boston and a tie with Chicago Black Hawks were the principal winners in the N.H.L. week-end program. Leafs needed the points a lot more than the Canadiens who have been in a separate league all season with the rest of the teams in the other loop. They hadn't much trouble with Boston Saturday night. The Bruins have played three terrible games in a row in Toronto and have been slaughtered on each occasion. Saturday night they were shellacked 10 to 4 and never looked like a potential winner. The Leafs followed up this win by invading Chicago Sunday and playing a scoreless tie with the Black Hawks. The Bruins spent Sunday night absorbing another trimming, this time at the hands of the Detroit Red Wings but they made it close. The final count was 6 to 5 for Jack Adams' team who look more and more like surefire second placers.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Bill Calladine did not fatten his average much over the week-end. An assist on the final Boston goal at Detroit was the best he could do in the two games....Babe Pratt of the Leafs has set up a new scoring record for defence players. Already he has amassed 46 points, beating Flash Hollett's record of 44 set up last year....Pratt has been credited with 33 assists this season and how many of them were earned is a matter for the conscience of the official scorer....Oshawa Generals had quite a battle on their hands before they succeeded in trimming the Hamilton Whizzers 4 to 2 on Saturday night....Bud Poile scored four goals for the Leafs Saturday night, finding the path to the goal easier than it has been for him in the Industrial League this season.

Edmonton Vics Team Star Studded

EDMONTON, Feb. 21—(CP)—When Edmonton Vics, Alberta's lone entry in the Allan Cup scramble, hit the play-off trail next month against New Westminster Lodestars, their lineup will be studded with players who once had more than a passing acquaintance with things to do with the National Hockey League.

Some of the more prominent players on the club are Leroy Goldsworthy, Paul Runge; Louis Holmes, Earl Robertson and the Hanson brothers, Oscar and Emory. The first four all had experience in the N.H.L. Goldsworthy served at New York for both Rangers and Americans, as well as at Montreal, Boston and Chicago.

Runge was with the old Montreal Maroons for a time and later was up with Art Ross' Bruins. In between times he was a prolific point-getter in various minor circuits.

As netminder for the amazing Amerks of a few years back, Robertson once put the stamp of success on his efforts by being chosen all-star National Hockey League goalkeeper.

Holmes spent most of his defence career in the minors, although Chicago Hawks had him up for a stretch at one time.

The Hansoms, Oscar and Emory, are members of the hockey-playing family of that name from Camrose, Alta. They were more than passably good in the American Association.

Other members of the Vics include Jimmy Graham, veteran amateur centre-ice man; Jimmy Anderson, a good little forward in his time; Johnny Molyneaux, one-time member of several of Al Ritchie's Regina aggregations; Tommy Brant, most of whose experience was acquired in intermediate circles and Ab Superstein, for a number of years a standout junior in and around Edmonton.

Bruce McKay, a University of Alberta student and Bill Ingram, property of the Black Hawks, will also be available for duty with the Vics.

TORONTO Feb. 21—(CP)—Detroit Tech outclassed and outscored an off form University of Toronto Basketball team by a 66-38 score here Saturday night. The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP).—If there's any loose change left around the boxing world after Beau Jack goes into the army, "Boomy" Davis and Willie Pep likely will split it up..The Beau will likely pile up a big income tax bill fighting Bob Montgomery, Davis and Sammy Angott in a three-week stretch from March 3 to March 24—and after that he shouldn't have to worry about the rigors of basic training... After that quick kayo over Montgomery, Davis is the big attraction now but Pep, just discharged from the navy, likely will find more good opposition.

Ray Best Loses In Finals Royal York Cup

TORONTO, Feb. 21. — (CP).—Rinks skipped by Percy H. Skitch of Lindsay, Ont., and C. R. Redfern of Toronto, to-day held the aftermath spotlight of the 17th annual Ontario bonspiel as officials conferred to determine the winner of the grand aggregate at the six-day tourney which ended early Sunday.

Skitch, defeated in early rounds, came strongly at the finish to win the Seiberling trophy and the North American trophy, both consolation events.

The premier events of the 'spiel—the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie trophy and the Royal York trophy—went to Redfern and to an underdog Barrie, Ont., rink skipped by Simon. Redfern's rink edged George R. Farr, of Brampton 11-9 in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie event after gaining the final bracket with an 11-5 triumph over R. H. Howard of Toronto Granites. Farr reached the final by defeating Ed Young of Toronto Royals 11-9.

In the final for the Royal York trophy, Simon's four upset Don Best's formidable Kirkland Lake, Ont., quartette, 10-9.

W. J. Drysdale of Kingston, Ont., won the Waterloo trophy, defeating Ed Young of Toronto Royals 14-10. Play for the sixth trophy awarded at the 'spiel, the Association trophy, resulted in a convincing 19-7 vctory for W. A. Watson's Sarnia entry over R. G. Dillon of St. Paul, Minn.

Skitch won the Seiberling trophy with a 14-8 triumph over Dr. W. M. Baxter's Hamilton Victorias, while his North American Life trophy dedecision was gained 18-11 at the expense of W. C. Arnott's McIntyre, Ont., four.

Poile Sparks Toronto To 10-4 Win

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

They said he lacked condition, had been away from pressure hockey too long and probably wouldn't "mesh," with his new forward line partners, at least for a couple of games.

So Norman (Bud) Poile, the 19-year-old Fort William, Ont., centre who was one of the National Hockey League's most precocious rookies, came back to Toronto Maple Leafs after almost a year's absence from major league competition to score four goals, three of them within three minutes and 20 seconds.

He did it Saturday, stunning his critics with the best individual effort of the N.H.L.'s 17th week-end of campaigning as Leafs smothered Boston Bruins 10-4. The standings remained pretty much unchanged. Montreal Canadiens became more firmly entrenched than ever with a double victory over New York Rangers, 5-2 at home Saturday and 7-2 on New York ice Sunday. Detroit Red Wings conquered Bruins 6-5 in Detroit Sunday to remain second best, three points ahead of Toronto who battled Chicago Black Hawks to a 0-0 draw Sunday at Chicago in the first scoreless tie for more than two seasons.

Gardiner Busy

Ray Getliffe, Phil Watson and Elmer Lach each collected two goals as Canadiens romped to their double triumph over the tailend Rangers.

The week-end's busiest operative was Netminder Bert Gardiner of Bruins, who handled 49 shots against Toronto and 47 against Detroit. The Bruins also lost Ross Kopak with an aggravated ankle injury. He will be out at least a week.

Boston trailed all the way against Leafs, despite two goals by busy Bep Guidolin. Young Jackie Hamilton pressed Poile for scoring honors, tiring three goals. He actually flashed the red light four times, scoring twice on a penalty shot awarded when dumped by Dit Clapper on a breakaway. After Hamilton beat Gardiner with a high shot to the left corner on his first try, the officials ruled the puck had not been placed in position correctly and Jackie had to do it again.

Poile scored his first goal in the second period, then added three more late in the third. Poile has been granted permission to play with Leafs while awaiting transfer from the R.C.A.F. to the Canadian Army.

Babe Pratt's four assists against Bruins gave him 13 goals and 33 assists for a 46-point total constituting a new record for an N.H.L. defenceman in a single season. The old mark of 44 points was held by Flash Hollett, who had 19 goals and 25 assists with Bruins in 1942-43.

Against Detroit Sunday, Bruins went to the front with a two-goal first period, but wilted in the second when the Wings scored four times. The Bruins outscored Detroit 3-2 in the last period but could not get the equalizer.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announcement players participating in the "Outlaw" California League will be suspended from organized hockey caught representatives of the California circuit in Ottawa scouting for talent. Even school leagues were given the once over. The C.A.H.A. warning was superfluous, however. Selective Service has already refused permission to a group of 10 Ottawans seeking to make the California jaunt....Bill (Ottawa Journal) Westwick says no permits will be issued to permit any players crossing the border to play in the California league....That is the circuit which has the former major leaguers, Ching Johnson and Charlie Sands, as playing coaches. The league comprises San Diego Sky Hawks, Pasadena Panthers, Los Angeles Monarchs and the Hollywood Wolves....These are the same Hollywood Wolves of which you are undoubtedly thinking....A number of Alberta hockey players have joined the league in the last few seasons, some of them entering California universities and making hockey pay for their education.

Incidentally:

Louis Keller, director of athletics, University of Minnesota, is proud of his Varsity hockey team but he says United States will turn out players on the same scale as Canada..."Murray Murdock, now coach at Yale, once told me you could not depend on an indoor rink to produce hockey players," says Keller. "You have to have corner-lot rinks and the weather to turn out the stars."

Round and About:

Wilf Cude, coach of Montreal Canadiens junior hockey team, comments cautiously: "We're playing mighty good hockey and we'll have a fair enough team in the Canadian play-offs but we hardly figure to beat Oshawa or St. Michael's. Still you never can tell."....One of Canada's most famous golf holes, the 14th at Vancouver Marine, is being altered. It has been a 90-yard shot to a green situated 30 feet above the tee. The hole can not be seen from the tee. The hole is being changed to a 135-yard shot to a punchbowl green, located on the 15th fairway. Bob Samson, one of the club's charter members, had scored four holes-in-one on the old 14th and has offered a prize for the first ace on the new 14th.

G.O.P. Stalwarts Ready To Give Battle

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(CP)—Republicans, anti-New Deal Democrats and plain Isolationists are blasting the Roosevelt regime in attacks which Senator Claude Pepper (Dem., Fla.) declares are identical with those which destroyed the League of Nations and elected Warren G. Harding, Republican, president in 1920.

Republican leaders of that day, Pepper said in a brief, blistering senate address last week, "Bear upon their souls the penalty of a war which has consumed another guiltless generation of men."

Now, he said, they are attempting to regain power with vague promises of international co-operation, as they did in 1920. Harding, promising international co-operation, abandoned the League immediately after his election, Pepper declared.

Anti-administration groups have been having it pretty much their own way because no candidate is campaigning for the Democratic nomination.

President Roosevelt and his chief aides, called by their critics "the Palace Guard," are being attacked for autocracy, defiance of the constitution, spendthrift generosity to other countries, and with responsibility for virtually everything that is not perfection in the United States.

Last week's Lincoln birthday celebrations brought the greatest concentration of anti-Roosevelt speeches.

Because Democrats — and the public in general—appear to take it for granted that Mr. Roosevelt will eventually be the only Democratic candidate for nomination, or that he will be nominated in any event, there is little pre-convention speech-making.

But the Republicans are full of fight, with Governor John Bricker of Ohio and Wendell Willkie already campaigning for nomination, and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York almost a certainty for the final balloting although he denies presidential aspirations.

They are strengthened by a strongly vocal group determined to prevent Roosevelt winning a fourth term in the White House. Pepper, a strong internationalist and one of the first American statesmen to see the responsibilities America would have to assume when the present world struggle was in the making, described the Republicans as "a party that sat with its arms folded and its thumbs twiddling while the nation burned with despair and distress."

BRITISH BLOCKADE BAY OF BISCAY—An Admiralty proclamation issued in London has claimed a tight control on shipping in the Bay of Biscay and waters in the vicinity. An estimated 200,000 square miles of waters were declared dangerous and vessels entering without permission to do so at their own risk. Here British sailors are seen in a recent mine-laying operation.

From Irish territorial waters around the south of Ireland into Bay of Biscay, the Allies have created a 200,000-square-mile mine barrier (as indicated by darkened area of map) to prevent Nazi supplies from reaching France by sea and block all German sea communications in that area. Not only is this considered a vital step in invasion plans, but some experts think it indicates the invasion area will lie somewhere between Cherbourg and Ostend.

west a British Corps under Lt.-Gen. Sir R. L. McCreery repelled two savage Nazi counter-attacks in the Mount Ornito area.

The fierce beachhead battle may have had repercussions on the 8th Army front where Douglas Amaron, Canadian Press War Correspondent reported Sunday that enemy opposition to Canadian Corps patrols near the Adriatic was considerably less than usual. He said the Germans may have withdrawn some of their troops to strengthen the beachhead and this might have accounted for the lack of German activity.

Domei, official Japanese news agency, said Emperor Hirohito has personally installed Premier Tojo in his new post as army chief of staff. Tojo also has been serving as war minister, head of the munitions industry, minister of commerce and industry and minister of education.

19 Jap Ships Sunk.

Doemi also announced General Atsushi Ushiroku has been appointed vice-chief of the army general staff, "concurrently assuming the post of war councillor." Lt.-Gen. Shojiro Iida was named commander-in-chief of the army central district headquarters, the news agency added.

No mention of new assignments for Nagano or Sugiyama was made.

The Imperial Headquarters communique asserted Japanese army and navy forces in the Truk group sank two American cruisers and damaged an aircraft carrier and one unidentified warship. The Domei news agency said the latter "might possibly" have been a battleship.

Tokyo claimed 54 American planes were shot down.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's headquarters announced yesterday 19 Japanese ships were sunk in the attack upon Truk, seven more probably sunk and 201 Japanese planes destroyed.

American losses were given as 17 planes. One surface ship also suffered moderate damage, it was reported.

ler-Benz auto works now engaged in turning out engines for Messerschmitt fighters and Heinkels, the Bosch works which is one of Germany's leading specialists in ignition equipment for all kinds of engines, and factories for producing army trucks and submarine parts.

Stuttgart also is one of the main railroad junctions on Germany's lines to Italy.

U. S. Army headquarters announced the largest number of heavy bombers ever employed in a daylight operations—1,000 or more—participated in yesterday's attacks. Twenty-two were lost.

The swarms of protective American long-range fighters ran up a new theatre record for themselves in number of enemy aircraft shot down in a single operation. They destroyed 61 German pursuit planes six more than their previous record—established over Brunswick Feb. 10. Four Allied fighters were listed as missing.

A communique issued last night said the number of German planes that fell before the guns of the four-engined bombers had not yet been determined.

R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and Allied fighters provided support for the American plunge against German fighter-plane factories at Leipzig, Gotha, Bernburg, Brunswick and Halberstadt and against military objectives in Tutow, Oschersleben and elsewhere in the Reich.

15,000 Fliers In.

"At stake to a great degree," said a U.S. headquarters statement, "is Germany's ability to resist the coming invasion. The ultimate objectives not only are to complete the domination of the air when the invasion comes, with a resulting reduction in ground and naval casualties, but also the increased freedom for bombers to make precision daylight attacks on war industries and communication."

More men than are in an infantry division were involved, Gen. Arnold said, an indication that upwards of 15,000 fliers participated.

The wide range of the targets—from Tutow, 75 miles due north of Berlin, to Leipzig in southern Germany—scattered available enemy defence aircraft.

Photographs brought back from Bernburg revealed 240 bombs landed on the Junkers assembly plant there. Explosions enveloped the target. Other bombs fell among more than 100 enemy planes on the ground.

For Leipzig the attack came only a matter of hours after the R.A.F. night bombers laid waste a great section of the city, Germany's fifth largest industrial centre. Leipzig was hit with 2,576 U.S. tons of high explosives and incendiaries.

At the same time, Mosquito bombers hit Berlin and other formations bombed targets in western Germany, Holland and northern France.

Berlin said great fires were set in Leipzig and casualties were caused.

The British-Canadian loss of 79 bombers was the heaviest ever inflicted by the Germans. The previous high was 58 in the Berlin raid of last August 23. The U.S. Air Force lost 60 on two occasions—the Schweinfurt attack of last October 14, and Brunswick-Oschersleben-Halberstadt assault of January 11.

While American heavy bombers were attacking the German targets yesterday mediums of the U.S. 9th Air Force veered from their steady pounding of northern France and attacked targets in Holland.

enemy aircraft in combat and destroyed 74 more on the ground. More than 50 additional Japanese planes were damaged before they could take to the air.

The attackers paid for this with only 17 planes lost and "moderate damage" to one surface ship, which Nimitz did not identify. There was no air opposition the second day of the attack, Nimitz said.

From the Marshall Islands meanwhile came word United States infantry and marine troops now are driving the enemy from Eniwetok Island. In a new landing yesterday, Nimitz said, they seized half the island.

Casualties continued light, said Nimitz, who previously disclosed the capture of Engebi Island and its strategic airport, the enemy's main Eniwetok atoll base.

Southwest Pacific Allied headquarters reported the fortress of Rabaul has been weakened February 18 by three more aerial attacks, one of which at least temporarily knocked out the important Vunakanau airdrome southeast of the town.

Ontario Plans To Seek More Tourists

BRACEBRIDGE, Feb. 21—Ontario plans to conduct a major campaign to bring an even greater volume of tourists into the Province than ever before, once the war ends and travel restrictions are lifted.

Premier George Drew told the Muskoka Tourist Development Association here Saturday night that a Provincial conference of tourist resort owners and other interested persons would be held in Toronto April 14 and 15 to work out plans against the day when the United States travel once more assumes flood proportions. He stressed that no Government could properly invite tourists to visit across the border in wartime, but there was every reason why steps should be taken now to prepare for after the war.

"So long as we are entrusted with the responsibility of Government, I can say definitely that the moment the war ends and travel limitations are removed, it is our intention to conduct a vigorous campaign in the United States directed to bringing people here," the Premier said. "It is more than dollars and cents. We in Ontario are given a special opportunity of interpreting to our friends of the United States not only Canada, but the wider fellowship of the Empire. We are anxious as a Government to co-operate in every way in stimulating those contacts."

The Premier told of a considerably increased appropriation for advertising Ontario resort attractions. The Toronto conference would explore various means of stimulating the flow of visitors to the Province. He was inclined to think that every dollar spent in maintenance of resorts and connections would be worth $100 a few years from now.

Douglas Oliver, director of the Ontario Publicity and Travel Bureau, stressed the importance of preparing now for the postwar days. He gave figures which showed that Ontario had enjoyed the major share of tourist travel prior to the clamping down on gasoline and travel. Mr. Oliver read a letter from a United States soldier in the Southwest Pacific, who had received some of the literature sent out from the Travel Bureau at Queen's Park. As soon as the "brawl" was over, wrote this soldier, he was coming to Ontario for his holidays.

The association commended the work of Mr. Oliver and the Travel Bureau, and various speakers expressed a determination to continue the co-operation with the bureau which had been so profitable in the past.

J. Frank Kelly, Liberal M.P.P. for Muskoka-Ontario, introduced Premier Drew. He referred to the opening of the Legislature on Tuesday and remarked that he would have to "keep my powder dry." Later the Premier rose and said, amid laughter, that he hoped the powder would be kept in that state.

Why THE RED CROSS?

The Red Cross continues to exist because no other agency can perform the humanitarian work it undertakes.

The Red Cross is unique and indispensable because it is at once national and international.

THE RED CROSS is non-political, non-sectarian, non-belligerent. It represents neither governments nor creeds, but Humanity itself. Thus, in all belligerent countries and in all war areas it is immune from expulsion or attack in the performance of its humanitarian task.

That task is the relief of human suffering, wherever suffering is found, and no matter who is the sufferer.

WHAT THE RED CROSS DOES

Governments delegate to the Red Cross this task of safeguarding their citizens in enemy countries, of ministering to the destitute, and of collaborating with the fighting services to save life and alleviate pain.

The task includes supplying food and comforts to war prisoners, looking after civilian war victims, collecting blood serum to restore the wounded; building, equipping and staffing hospitals; supplementing stocks of medical and surgical supplies, and providing auxiliary nursing services.

A UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD

National Red Cross Societies throughout the world are linked together in a universal brotherhood through the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva, Switzerland—a neutral country.

Here in 1863, the Red Cross was founded through the efforts of the Swiss author and philisopher, Henri Dunant, who had been impressed by the pioneer work of the Englishwoman, Florence Nightingale.

Here, in 1864, was drawn up the Treaty which committed sixteen nations (since joined by others) to observe the international conventions which make Red Cross work possible.

Since then, the emblem chosen—the Red Cross on a white ground (the flag of Switzerland "in reverse")—has become the worldwide symbol of man's humanity to man.

HOW THE WORK IS CO-ORDINATED

This International Committee of the Red Cross sits continuously in Geneva, supervising and co-ordinating the international work of the Red Cross Societies.

It sends its own delegates regularly into prison camps, and sets up international agencies to aid prisoners of war, refugees and other war victims. It keeps a card index of all prisoners of war, and arranges intercommunication between them and their families. It arranges exchange of prisoners. Through it are transmitted the parcels of food, clothing and comforts which go to prisoners of war in all belligerent countries.

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM

Since the Red Cross deals with broad human relations, governments entrust to it the raising of funds needed to carry on its manifold activities. This it does through appeals to industry and to the private citizen.

The appeal of the Red Cross is to fundamental goodness and compassion—the desire we all have to help our suffering fellowbeings, no matter what their colour, creed, nationality or politics.

The Red Cross is the practical expression of that ideal which was preached so powerfully on the shores of a Galilean lake—the Brotherhood of Man.

THIS, THEN, IS YOUR JOB!

So—the Canadian Red Cross is YOUR Red Cross. YOU make it possible. It is through YOU, and in YOUR name, that it carries on its unique and necessary work. It is YOUR dollars . . . contributed as generously as your means will permit . . . that must meet the present expanding need.

SKIING GOOD

Though the weather was on the warmish side Saturday and Sunday, there was plenty of snow at Jackson Park and by "waxing up" ski enthusiasts were able to overcome the handicap of sticky conditions. Hundreds thronged the park both days, and despite all the congestion only one accident was reported. A 16-year-old girl lost control on a downhill run, colliding forcibly with the stump of a tree. Slightly dazed, in true sportsman manner she refused to let the mishap daunt her, and in a quarter-hour was back in action negotiating the same slope.

SKI PATROL

Its first ski patrol of this winter was carried out by the Prince of Wales Rangers (RF) on Sunday morning, with about 80 of the battalion participating. Four miles out on the Old Norwood Road, a small number of the best skiers played the role of a withdrawing force, disrupting and harrying with all the tactical methods at their command the advance towards Peterborough of the larger body of attacking troops. The scheme gave members of the ski patrol an opportunity to put into practice lessons learned at indoor sessions in previous weeks. Returning after their workout, the men had a luncheon cooked at the Armouries.

TRACTOR DISPLAY

A veritable wealth of farm tractors, seven to be precise, may be seen on the display floor of the Hood and Cumming Motors. They are the last instalment of the company's quota of 12 for the current 2-month period ending June 30. Representing essential tools of agriculture, they replace the gleaming new models of cars which would normally be gracing the show room floor at this season of the year.

MATERIAL IS READY

The special material which may be used by the merchants who are decorating their windows in support of the Red Cross and Community Fund drive is now ready and may be secured at the campaign headquarters on George street, below Charlotte. Mayor Hamilton is again offering a cup this year for the best decorated window, and every merchant is asked to back up this annual drive. In past only weak support has been given by some of the business men in connection with the window displays.

SNEAK THIEVES BUSY

The 64-year-old master mariner from Liverpool, N.S., was the skipper of the Nova Scotia rum-runner I'm Alone, whose shellfire sinking by a U.S. coastguard ship off Louisiana in 1929 was one of the high spots in the history of Rum Row.

$31,697 Surplus By Council In 1943 Audit

The city council will begin its budgeting for 1944 with a nest egg of $31.697 as a surplus from last year, City Treasurer M. E. Shaver informed the Examiner today.

Some of the civic departments and committees in their estimating for the current year are showing increases over the appropriations they received for 1943. The Board of Health has sent its estimates on to the finance committee with alternative plans, one involving a substantial increase over the other to provide for use of Queen Mary Hospital in accommodating convalescents. Then, there is an increase in the requirements this year for Nicholls Hospital.

The five-figure surplus affords a margin on the credit side which should be a material help to the council in its effort to maintain the tax rate around the thirty mill rate.

Youth Sentenced To Two Months

Two months in the county jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on Norman Buott, 16, Toronto, who had pleaded guilty last week to stealing a purse and $39 from Mrs. Stella Terrio, Elm street.

"I thought at first it was a joke" said Mrs. Terrio in giving evidence in police court this morning, as she described how Buott had snatched her purse as he was passing witness and her sister on Charlotte street.

"He started to run and I ran after him" said Mrs. Terrio. "There was a boy walking along with a bicycle and I asked him to chase the man with the purse."

Afterward Mrs. Terrio stated she noticed a car standing in a driveway and had gone in and asked assistance.

She had accompanied Adrian Brooks and Jack Paris in the car until Buott was caught.

In the meantime the boy on the bicycle had rescued the purse from the fugitive and her money was inside it when she recovered her property.

Buott admitted that he was on suspended sentence from the Toronto juvenile court.

"I broke into a place" he said when asked by the magistrate as to the nature of the offence with which he had been charged in Toronto.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 (CP) — The Governor-General, Chief Scout for Canada, said here last night that a "Chins Up" Fund of $42,000, raised in Canada by the Boy Scouts Association to assist British Scouts, will be used after the war to help revive scouting in Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, France, Poland and other countries.

Mosher Approves

WINNIPEG, Feb. 21 — (CP). — A. R. Mosher of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said here yesterday that the labor relations code tabled in the House of Commons last week contained "the best regulations with respect to labor that had ever been brought into this country."

Madrigal Final Brings $41 To War Victims

Oftentimes in the daily march of events of a community, a great deal may be gained by pausing to consider and reflect on the glories that belonged to yesteryear, for they spread an influence that had much to do with conditions prevailing at the present time, among which culture could be said to play an important part.

Within the memory of all who can look back for the past fifteen years on things that counted in the realm of the fine arts as they concerned this city, the fame that came to the group known as the Peterborough Madrigal Singers under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park is synonymous with those days, for they brought fame to this Central Ontario city that was immediately a credit to themselves and their native hearth.

From a modest beginning which saw their first public performance in the Sunday school at Fairmount, they rose to such great heights that the renowned Salvi, world famous harpist with whom they had performed in Massey Hall at Toronto, wanted them to accompany him on a tour of England.

Gained Fame

That they attained to front ranking position was evidenced by their preforming with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in Varsity Arena at Toronto, and gave no less than five different appearance at feature concerts in the Eaton Auditorium, all of which speaks in glowing terms of the direction given them by their leader, reflecting her own ability in the realm of musical art.

From the standpoint of cultural art, let alone the joy that this local group of some thirty-four ladies obtained themselves from their association together, their disbandment some three years or so ago was a distinct loss to the community, but even in severing these ties they still may be said to be responsible in this day for some good work, since on two previous occasions, a donation has been handed in to the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, which has already done its quota of good for the sufferers from air raids over Britain, and now a third and final contribution, from their winding up process amounting to $40.97 is listed in today's receipts for the fund, to add yet another bit of good to their past achievements for the same purpose.

This came as the result of the disposal of the balance of their music through Miss Mary Medd, past president, and Miss Helen Lytle, treasurer, and represents one-third of the amount gathered, the balance being just as equally divided between two other worthwhile causes also connected with the succesful prosecution of the war effort.

Some day in the future, perhaps the glories of the past will serve as an inspiration for the future, and if such is the case, then the work already accomplished will then add another laurel leaf to its crown of achievement.

Valentine Gift

Friendship's festival has always seen one local lady turning over her husband's Valentine gift to the fund, this year being no exception, for it is again recorded today, and thus it goes on its way to express in most practical terms something which goes even deeper than friendship to the war-torn sufferers from air raids over Britain.

Previously acknowledged	$73,476.52
Third and final proceeds from wind up of the Peterborough Madrigal Singers	40.97

Public's Memory Jogged About '44 Markers License Office Says "We've Warned You"

If you like waiting in lines for your automobile licenses, ration books and permits, just keep on waiting until the "dead line" is two or three days away, and you'll wonder why so many other persons had to put off that duty until the last minute.

That is what happened last year with public complaints against everybody but the dear public itself.

J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, remarked this morning that the experience of last year could be avoided if people who have the money would decide right now to get their gasoline ration books and the other things that go along with them. So, don't say you were not warned, if some day along toward the end of March you find yourself kicking your heels in a long line leading up the stairs to the crowded office of the Chamber.

CAPTAIN PROMOTED—Capt. J. Duncan, paymaster of the 2nd Canadian Division overseas, has been promoted to the rank of Major. Before enlisting in the 4th Light Anti-Aircraft unit, he was employed at the Canadian Nepheline Company, and his family live at 553 King St.

Car Driver Is Fined $40

Failure to remain at the scene of an accident cost Samuel Hilliard, Hunter Street, a fine of $40 and $2.50 costs in police court to-day.

"It was the first time I had been in an accident, I guess I was scared," was the only explanation Hilliard offered the court as to his failure to remain at the scene after the borrowed car he had been driving had been involved in an accident at the junction of Park and Stewart Streets. Hilliard pleaded guilty to the charge.

Police Inspector Reid told the court that the accused had borrowed a car and after it had collided with another owned by Norman Payne, Dummer, he had driven off.

Later he had reported that the car he had been driving had been stolen.

In the meantime, the police had located the borrowed car in a damaged condition on Charlotte Street West.

3 Boys Fined For Being Drunk

Three Ford Avenue youth, Thomas Price, 16; Harry Dunford, 17; and John Smith, 17, all pleaded guilty in police court to-day, to having been drunk on Brock Street.

"These boys were drung and sitting in a car on Brock Street," explained Inspector J. F. Reid. "They had half a dozen bottle of beer left in a case in the car. Their story was that they had met a drunken soldier earlier in the day and had bought the case of beer off him for $4."

"I hardly know what to do in these cases," said Magistrate Langley.

Fines of $10 and $2.50 costs were imposed on the two older boys, Dunford and Smith while Price was fined $10 and $1 costs.

Dunford told the court that the car in which they had been sitting belonged to him.

7-Point Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 21 — (CP). — The League of Nations Society Institute unanimously adopted on Saturday a seven-point policy proposed for the League of Nations by Dr. H. M. Tory of Ottawa, president of Carleton College. The points advanced by Dr. Tory were that all nations should be represented in the League; membership must be permanent; the League should be the guardian of international justice; enforce international law with military police; if necessary provide machinery for the peaceful change of obligations; act as the mechanism for preserving international economic and social relationships, and be democratic in constitution and spirit.

Kinmount Has 65 People In Armed Forces

With a population of 300, Kinmount is represented by 65 of its young folk in the armed services of Canada.

They are disposed as follows: 46 men in the Army, 10 in the Air Force; 4 girls in the Air Force; 1 boy and 1 girl in the Navy; 1 wireless operator in the Merchant Marine, and 3 Nursing Sisters attached to the Army Medical Corps.

Kinmount is an overgrown hamlet at the extreme northwest corner of Peterborough county. Reeve David Curtin recently remarked to the Examiner that he was doubtful whether any other community in the county had a larger percentage of its youth in the war than has Kinmout. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schroeter have three sons in the Army overseas and one son in the R. C. A. F., still in Canada.

The community as a whole is also doing its part to support its absent youth. The branch of the Red Cross Society packs a box for each one of the 65 young men and women on arriving overseas, and at Christmas time an extra generous parcel is made up and mailed. These boxes are contributed by the people of the village and surrounding country by direct gifts and through draws and bingos.

Merchants Must Sell $1,000 Daily In Stamps

One thousand dollars a day in War Savings Stamps for the rest of this week!

That's the challenge to the local food industry and also to the people of Peterborough as the February campaign of the food folks begins its last week.

Here is how you can help the sale of War Savings Stamps, the food industry, especially its Peterborough purveyors, and last but not least, yourself: buy stamps with your groceries and meat; and if you have just enough money for the T-bone steak, you could substitute with hamburger and take the rest out in stamps. As you say, how many are doing that? And the answer is the kind of persons who are determined to do their utmost to help the cause in whatever words you express it. Hasten the victory is one of the handy slogans.

You can buy Stamps in the stores or from the bread and milk lads who call on you. You can attend the big bingo next Saturday night in the Armouries. If you have never been at one of those affairs the food industry committee would like to welcome you next Saturday night.

Don't overlook the "Kick in a dime and split the pot" stunt in the three theatres. The first draw this week is tonight at the Regent; Wednesday at the Centre, and Thursday night at the Capitol.

Then there is a wind-up dance next Tuesday night, which is mentioned as a suggestion that you keep that date open.

Peterborough's food industry is not going to turn in $1,000 War Stamps sales every day this week without the generous help of the public.

Millbrook Carnival Night Nets $650 For Stamp Drive

MILLBROOK, Feb. 21 (ENS) — Marked success attended the gala night held in Millbrook on Friday evening, when $650 was realized in connection with the Food Merchants' drive to raise $1,000 through the sale of War Savings' Stamps in the district covered by the village and Cavan township.

The large attendance was gratifying, and would have been much increased had it not been for the blocking of side roads. Many of the country residents, unable to use cars, hitched up teams of horses and brought sleigh-loads in for the merry making.

R. A. Ford was the district chairman, and among the committee members from Peterborough who came out to give their support, and assistance, were: F. J. Lynch, rural chairman; J. Jebson, district chairman of the stamp committee; K. A. Skirley, Harley Weir, Roy Taylor, L. Browne, E. McIlwain and Robert Hotrum, who was in charge of the bingo games, in conjunction with Ivan L. H. Gray, of the local workers. Ten long tables were arranged in the auditorium of the Town Hall for the bingo, and these were kept practically filled throughout the entire evening.

The six contestants, holders of the gold tickets, who had invested $2 in the play, entitling them to a final 'play-off,' were: Mrs. P. I. Bentley, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Miss Josie Sutton, S. J. McCarthy, J. H. Barringer and Delbert Olan. Miss Sutton was the first to call 'Bingo,' winning the pair of white flannelette blankets donated by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Payne. Another special, a pure-bred Plymouth Rock rooster, donated by Mr. M. McDowell, was won by S. J. McCarthy.

Military Band

Local men who looked after the collection of tickets and money included: T. W. Belch, R. Larmer, P. I. Bentley, A. Muspratt, E. Nelson, D. Sheppard, T. W. McCamus, M. W. Kinsman, E. H. Barnes, and others. Cashiers at the town hall were Ethel Belch and H. A. Kerr, of the local Bank of Toronto staff, and in the council chamber, Postmaster T. H. Collins. They also served at the Armouries where the concluding dance was held, doors opening about 11 p.m., and music being furnished by the Orchestra from the Training Centre, Peterborough, by kind permission of Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty, O.C.; The use of the Armouries was by courtesy of Lt.-Col. E. H. Bounsall (E.D.), 2nd Midlands.

The entrance fee was the purchase of one War Saving Stamp, along with a book in which to place all other stamps won during the evening. There was also a ticket entitling the holder to participate in the draw, on February 29, at Peterborough, prizes totalling $215 in War Savings Stamps.

War Savings Stamps were, of course, the main prizes given, but others included baskets of fruit, and groceries, pyrex ware, rubber boots, men's ties, suspenders, breakfast foods, and other items of groceries. They were donated by local merchants, and by Canada Packers, National Grocers and others, of Peterborough.

Wins Cake

The draw for the door prizes was made at the Armouries. Ruth Forsyth, of Peterborough, won the three-storey wedding cake, donated by Reeve H. D. Bigelow, and valued at $12; the lucky number was 540, and Marlene Richards, little daughter of Sgt. B. L. Richards, overseas, made the draw. Neil Stewart won the second prize, stamps to purchase a $10 certificate, and Joan Martin the third, a $5 Certificate. Members of the local Company of Girl Guides, under their Captain, Honor Gibson, served as cloak room attendants at the Armouries for the dance.

The council chamber at the town hall was utilized for various games of chance, and was so crowded that would-be contestants had difficulty in finding standing room before the various attractions. In charge of the wheels of fortune were L. Rowling, H. M. Trick, M. W. Ball and A. H. Jeffrey; Percy Hamilton looked after the dart game, and Reeve Bigelow took care of the 'lights and numbers' contest. Sandwiches and hot coffee were on sale at the town hall, and at the Armouries, where three dances were a quarter with a stamp included.

Reporter Given Rough Passage

By DILLON O'LEARY

MONTREAL, Feb. 20—Newspapermen covering Montreal's tramway strike got a rather rough ride from the strikers, with one definite casualty in their ranks and one or two near ones.

Stanley Mantrop, Montreal Star reporter, was beaten up on Friday night when he attended a strike meeting in St. Henri car barns. Ejected from the meeting, he was followed and pummelled by several strikers, losing his hat and coat in the scuffle. As a result he was confined to bed.

On Saturday afternoon a Montreal Gazette reporter was roughly ejected from the meeting of 2,000 strikers at Atwater Hall, with threats following him as he was bustled out. He contrived to cover the meeting, however, by donning an apron and other disguising clothes, and then selling meat pies and garlic at the back of the meeting hall. He scribbled his notes on wrapping paper.

Another Montreal Star reporter, remembering Mantrop's fate, observed Saturday afternoon's meeting from a careful distance—about a block away.

This reporter, at Saturday night's huge strike meeting, was told by a policeman to whom he identified himself that "if you represent the English press, for your own good you better get out of here. Some of these fellows are liable to beat you up." Trusting to the fact that as an out-of-towner the strikers would not be able to identify a Globe and Mail reporter, the advice was not taken—but a discreet silence was maintained thereafter.

Hogg-Gaynor Vows Pledged

Bailieboro United church was decorated with ivy for the candlelight wedding recently, when Mary Winnifred Gaynor, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaynor, became the bride of Elmer Russell Stewart Hogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hogg, with Rev. A. H. McConnachie officiating.

Miss Jean Campbell of Port Hope played the music, and preceding the ceremony Miss Ferne Gaynor, sister of the bride, sang "Because," and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white embossed organza, fashioned with a long waistline, buttoned down the back, and a full skirt. Her veil of white tulle was caught to her head by a halo of orange blossoms, and she carried a testament, brought by her aunt from Jerusalem.

Miss Margaret Brackenridge of Bailieboro, attended the bride, and was dressed in floor-length blue embossed organza, with insets of silk net, and a cap and short veil of blue tulle. Her ring bouquet was filled with sweet peas and forget-me-nots. Mr. Donald Cathcart of Springville was best man. Ushers were Mr. Edgar Hogg, brother of the groom, and Miss Evelyn Gaynor, sister of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for about sixty guests at the home of the bride's parents. For a trip to Toronto and Hamilton, the bride wore a printed silk dress, brown tweed coat with wolf collar, and black accessories. On their return the young couple will live in North Monaghan.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

These days we feel we must buy food that will go the farthest and still look and taste different each time it is served. Take a chicken for example, a non-rationed food, and a food the whole family have a smile for each time it appears on the table. We have two good examples to give you today, and we feel sure they will be very welcome, both to those who have the meal to prepare and those to whom it is served.

Take a chicken that you have had for Sunday dinner, stewed and served with mashed potatoes, gravy and all the rest that goes to make up a fine Sunday dinner. On Monday cut the chicken in small pieces, place in a deep baking dish, put on some of the chicken stock and over the top put a crust made as follows:

Two cups sifted flour, three teaspoons baking powder, large piece of butter, ½ cup sweet milk.

Sift the flour and baking powder together three times, cut up butter with this and add milk. Place on baking board and roll out to about one inch thickness, place over the chicken and bake about 30 minutes. Serve at once.

Chicken Mousse

One cupful of white meat of chicken, ground very fine, one cupful chicken broth, three egg-yolks, one tablespoon granulated gelatine, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains paprika, ½ pint cream (whipped).

Beat the yolks of the eggs and stir lightly into the broth, add seasonings, and cook in a double boiler like custard. Just before removing from the fire add the gelatine which has been allowed to soften in a little cold chicken broth. Pour this custard over the chicken meat and stir over ice water till it begins to set, then fold in the whipped cream, turn the mixture into a mold, let stiffen and serve garnished with parsley. This will serve six people.

Chicken Curry

Cut up the remnants of a boiled or roast chicken into two-inch squares. Dredge with flour and brown in a little hot fat together with one onion chopped fine. For one pint of cubed meat, prepare one pint of gravy to which add one teaspoonful of curry powder, mixed with two tablespoons cold water. Add this gravy to the chicken and last of all introduce the beaten yolk of an egg and serve at once in a border of mashed potatoes. This will serve four to six people.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, February 22

Exceptional progress and satisfaction may be expected on this day, judging by powerful and propitious lunar aspects supported by excellent auguries from mutual configurations. It is a time to push forward with all the energy, ingenuity and concentrated initiative in launching new, unusual and ambitious objectives. Practical and enduring effort as well as innovation and novelty should reach high climax as well as much personal gratification, popularity and prestige. Friendship and festivities are also in order, with inner or unexpected joys and riches attaining new goals.

It It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of outstanding success and good fortune, with major objectives reaching new highs by means of original, ingenious and cleverly creative endeavor, possibly in channels out of the routine or customary. The talents and skills may be under excellent tempo for daring or audacious exploitation, with those in influential positions heartily co-operating. But avoid extravagance of funds, energies, and pleasurable indulgence although celebrations, romance and hospitality are much in the picture. It is a time for reaching to ambitious goals.

A child born on this day may be initiative, imaginative and idealistic, as well as practical, ingenious and constructive. It should have a pleasant and prosperous life, romantic and adventurous.

CASUAL AND DURABLE—The skirt is a pleated tweed plaid; the jacket, useful indoors and out for casual Jack Frost days, is fine ribbed corduroy. If you have always been enough of a skater to have laid by a variety of swirl-skirted, dramatic ice frocks, you can make a classic appearance still on this season's rinks. But buy such a one, new, you can't; fabrics have been limited per model by the government, and wide, figure making skating frocks are out for the duration. A kilted school or sports skirt, or woollen slacks, mate well with a cordurella jacket...and the type of cotton corduroy given that feminine name is the one with the fine, whipcord ribbing. It doesn't rough up plushily, is pliant over warm interlining, takes wear and wet without losing looks or tailoring. These mix-mates add up to a good skating outfit.—By Prunella Wood.

WAR MAKING BETTER COUPLES
Wife Appreciates Husband's Feelings and Man Gets Taste of Mate's Home Cares

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow and have to play the part of both mother and father, and in so doing I have learned to see the home from a different perspective. I am the one who comes home dead tired at night to find things out of order, slap-dash meals not to my liking on the table, the children frowzy and unkempt and like as not in a row. Then I ask myself: Is this the way I treated my husband? Is this the way I kept house? Is this the kind of food I fed him? And the answer makes me feel like shedding tears of repentance.

If I were every to marry again, I would make a better wife for having filled the shoes of a man. My working experience would be a great blessing, and I wonder if there are not many other women who do not have the same feeling.

MRS. J. L.

War Teaches Consideration

ANSWER: The old saying that one half of the world does not know how the other half lives is nowhere else so true as it is in domestic life. There is no man who would not make a better and more considerate husband if he could swap places with his wife, even for a month, and find out by experience how exhausting and nerve-wearing it is to cook and wash and patch and mend and baby-tend for a family. Nor is there any woman who wouldn't make a better wife if she could go through the trials and tribulations and anxieties that a breadwinner does who knows that the very lives of his family depend upon his keeping his job.

For, curiously enough, husbands and wives are almost invariably jealous of each other and each one thinks that the other has gotten the better of the matrimonial bargain. A husband will say to his wife: "I wish I could take it easy like you and have nothing to do but stay at home and look after the children." And the wife thinks that her husband leads the life of Riley, and that he spends his days swapping stories with other men and going out to luscious lunches and maybe flirting with a pretty stenographer.

But if the husband had to spend one day sweating over the cook stove, and listening to the baby howl, and settling the children's rows and answering the million calls for M-o-t-h-e-r, he would sigh for his shop again. And if the wife could see that every dollar her husband makes is wet with his blood, she would know how hard it come and she would be glad she has the spending instead of the earning to do.

I think that after the war many a woman who has worked in a defense plant will make a better wife because she ill know from experience what it is to come home so tired that she wants to do nothing but throw herself on a couch and have nobody speak to her and so she will not badger her husband to take her out dancing, or complain because he isn't an interesting conversationalist. And I think that many a man will be a better husband because for the first time he will really appreciate that it is a wife's work that holds a home together and makes it comfortable, and that without her presence in it everything goes to sixes and sevens.

Perhaps we would all be kinder to each other if we had walked a little in each other's shoes.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Will you be kind enough to tell me what an engagement stands for? My fiancee and I are both 24 years of age and deeply in love and I would never think of asking another girl out. She writes me three or four times a week regularly and in each letter tells me how she feels toward me and how much she misses me, and that she never goes out with anyone and doesn't want to. Also, my friends tell me she is faithful.

But when I see all the fellows here at my camp who are running around, night after night, and lying to their girls back home about being true to them and not going anywhere, it makes me sick. Don't you think a fellow should be faithful to his fiancee if he thinks enough of her to give her a ring? It makes me wonder if my girl isn't doing the same thing. I always looked upon an engagement as something holy, but I am afraid that it has become just a farce.

Rolled Rib Roast

For small families this is still one of the choicest roasts—tasty and economical

A three to five pound rolled rib roast is the ideal order for the small family. Delicious hot or cold; it will also supply at least one savoury left-over meal.

A roast of this size takes about 30 minutes to the pound for medium done. Place fat-side-up on a rack in an open pan; 325° F. With the roast, cook potatoes which you have previously pared, boiled in their skins then peeled and salted.

Serve with a leafy green vegetable and brown gravy.

Martha Logan

CARVING A ROLLED RIB ROAST
The roast is placed on the platter with the largest cut surface down.
Push the fork into the left side of the roast an inch or two from the top—keep the guard up. Now slice smoothly across the grain from the right side to the left. Uniform slices one-eighth of inch thick make nice servings. Thin slices make the roast go further. Carve servings for all present before transferring from platter to plates. Remove cords only as necessary.

Curling News

By HERB. MARTIN

With the same rink that won "The Royal York" trophy last year in Ontario's big open bonspiel, Don Best of Kirkland Lake, came within one shot of doing the same thing again this year. He was pitted against Abe Simons' strong Barrie quartette and only lost to that outstanding curler by one shot. It is no small feat to reach the finals in any of those bonspiels, but to do it two years in a row is something just a little out of the ordinary. And so we join with all other curlers in congratulating this rink on their success.

Ray Best, father of Don, played vice position on the rink. It would have been awfully nice if Ray could have celebrated his year as president of the O.C.A. by being on the rink winning the Royal York trophy.

It was a good day for curlers on Saturday. The ice was good and the crowds good also. In the afternoon the boys enjoyed two and one-half hours of curling with the following successful skips: Tom McArthur, Dave Grant, E. R. Shirley and Stan Lowe.

In the evening every ice was occupied and it was by far the largest mixed bonspiel of the season. The ladies are working hard to put these Saturday night games over and they deserve much credit. The winning skips were George Green and Harry Dulmage.

The committee in charge on Saturday night was: Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. E. Purvis, Mrs. T. Doughty and Mrs. Don Clark.

Play for the Neill trophy continues to-night at 6.45 p.m. and 8.45 p.m.

jealousy than of giving either party a sense of peace and security. At any rate, my mail is flooded with letters from girls who are half-crazed with jealousy at the thought that their fiances may be running around with girls they have met at the different camps, and who see in every young woman in a canteen, or a U.S.O. hut, or who is a hostess at a soldiers' dance a siren who is trying to snatch their boy friends from them.

And I get equally as many letters from men in the service who are just as green-eyed and suspicious of what their girls are doing. And I suppose, human nature being what it is, that it can't be helped and that there is no cure for it. It is a waste of words to tell either party to view the situation with a little philosophy and common sense.

A girl who has been popular and used to stepping out to places of amusement gets mighty tired of sitting at home reading an improving book and knitting sweaters and writing letters to her soldier or sailor, and she would like to go to a party now and then with her old crowd, even if she is engaged. And that doesn't mean that she is in the least unfaithful to her sweetheart, or that she has fallen in love with some other chap.

And the same thing can be said about the boy in the camp. He is sick and tired of looking at uniforms and having nobody but other men to talk to, and he wants to look at a girl in a pretty frock and dance a little. But that doesn't mean that he isn't true to Poll, or that he is having an affair with another girl.

On the contrary, so far as my experience goes, the whole topic of these boys' conversation is the girl back home. They want to talk about her and to tell her how beautiful and wonderful she it. And there is nothing in their conduct to justify a qualm of jealousy in the May or Susie they left behind them.

It seems to me that the girl who cannot trust her sweetheart to look at another girl, and the boy who is so suspicious of the girl he is engaged to he has her watched, have very little faith in them. If I were either party and had a sweetheart whom I thought was of that unstable a character and was that little to be trusted, I wouldn't want to marry him or her. I would want a husband or a wife in whose honor and affection I believed.

Frank Lennard Rugby President

TORONTO, Feb. 21 —(CP)—The Ontario Rugby Football Union ended the 1943 season with a credit balance of $41,000, it was reported at the annual meeting Saturday when the 1943 officers were re-elected and two recommendations prepared for submission to the Canadian Rugby Union.

One of the proposals for the C.R.U. was a rule change, the O.R.F.U. recommending that the use of the "minute flag" to signal one minute to play be abandoned and that the end of play in each quarter be signalled by firing a pistol from the timer's bench. The other suggestion was that the deadline for entries into the Grey Cup competition be set at Sept. 1. Present deadline is Oct. 1.

An application for entry into the O.R.F.U. senior series was received from Windsor but this will not be discussed until the union's June meeting.

Officers re-elected were: president, Frank Lennard, Dundas; vice presidents, J. E. McLean, Hamilton, Dr. H. G. MacDonnell, Kitchener, E. J. Paul, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, Harold Bailey, Toronto.

All Industries Covered In New Legislation

TORONTO, Feb. 21 (CP)— Labor Minister Charles Daley of Ontario on Saturday announced decision to withhold a provincial labor relations act scheduled for presentation to the Ontario Legislature next week, and said necessary legislation will be passed to bring all industry in Ontario within provisions of the federal government's new labor code.

(The new code, presented in parliament Thursday by Labor Minister Mitchell, does not cover certain non-war industries and businesses but provides that it can be extended to cover all industry through concurrent provincial legislation.)

In his statement, Mr. Daley noted the Ontario government had urged creation of a uniform labor code applying to all industry in Canada and administered by provincial boards. At the Dominion-provincial labor conference last fall, he said, eight provinces had supported these recommendations.

While the Federal Government had "chosen to disregard" Ontario's recommendations, newspaper reports indicated the code will apply to 2,500,000 of 3,500,000 persons employed in industry in Canada. "Under those circumstances," said Mr. Daley's statement, "we have no choice but to accept this code for which the Dominion government must assume full responsibility."

Mr. Daley said the provincial government had drafted a labor relations act for Ontario to be presented at the opening of the legislature next week, but added that "it would be impractical to introduce such an act applicable only to those industries not described as war industries as the same may be changed by Dominion order-in-council from time to time." He did not disclose provisions of the proposed labor relations act.

Hamilton Team Trims St. Kitts

(By The Canadian Press)

The leading Saints were only three points to the good in the senior O.H.A. standing after the second-place Hamilton Majors handed them a 6-2 trimming Saturday night at St. Catharines. Marksmen for the winners were Dillon Brady, with three; Doug Runions, good for a brace, and Clarence Shillington one. Red Reynolds and Blink Bellinger were the scorers for St. Catharines.

Majors drew the only score in the initial frame, had a 3-1 edge in the second and worked it to 6-2 during the final 20 minutes. Goaltender Art Childs of Hamilton suffered a damaged nose in stopping a drive from Reynolds but finished out the engagement after getting stitched up.

In the Junior "A" series Oshawa Generals registered a 4-2 win over Whizzers at Hamilton, thereby maintaining a four-point lead in Group 1 standing over St. Michael's who had edged out Marlboros 4-3 in the afternoon tilt at Toronto. Johnny Chenier notched the only counter in the first two periods at Hamilton for Generals but Love, Ken Smith and Curry each found the net in the last frame. Watson was a double scorer for Whizzers, getting both on a pass from Brown.

The Kists had a narrow escape in their fixture at Galt with Stratford, requiring overtime to extinguish the Kroehlers 5-4. The visitors were leading 4-3 with barely five minutes to go in the third when Kazarian tied it up and Bernie McCarthy notched the winning goal in the extra session, this being McCarthy's second tally of the struggle.

Training Centre Beaten 56-35

Military Training Centre cagers were only able to filed 5 men for their City Basketball League game with Pete McArthur's Orphans in the Y.M.C.A. gym Saturday night but playing without subs the Soldiers staged quite a battle before they finally succumbed 56 to 35.

Pete McArthur had Jim Ferguson and Steve Csumrik in his lineup giving him three of the six House League captains. The Orphans played good basketball all the way, opening up a strong offensive in the first half that saw them in the van 27 to 14 at the half and they kept on the pressure in the second session, despite the fact that the Soldiers never stopped trying.

Baird with 17 points and Paul Estlick with 12 were top scorers for winners while Tony McIlveen contributed 13 points and Mortimer 11 for the Military Training Centre.

The teams:

Orphans 56 — Baird 17, Kemp 7, Estlick 12, Ferguson 5, Ssumrik 10, McArthur 5.

Military Training Centre 35—Dull 8, Grotnick, Chambers 3, Mortimer 11, McIlveen 13.

Barons Increase Lead In American Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

The American Hockey League's leading Cleveland Barons strengthened their lead on first place in the circuit two more points last night by blanking the Indianapolis Capitals 6-0 but they suffered humiliation Saturday when the lowly Pittsburgh Hornets handed them a 6-2 thrashing and broke their long winning streak.

Hershey Bears, former leaders who slipped about two months ago and now occupy second place, suffered a 3-2 defeat at the hands of cellar-dwelling Providence Reds. Buffalo Bisons whipped Pittsburgh Hornets 9-6 in the third game last night.

Wendell Jamieson, Art Giroux and Bob Gracie scored three counters for Pittsburgh in the first period Saturday in their game with the leaders. In the second period Tommy Burlington and Pete Horeck scored Barons' only two tallies and in the final Johnny Roubell, Cliff Barton and Leo Richard added three more for Hornets to make a total of six.

3rd Shutout

Last night, however, Barons were back to their regular form and Goaltender Paul Gauthier recorded his third shutout of the season when Caps were routed 6-0.

Horeck and Lou Trudel scored two counters apiece, 18-year-old Clayton Lavell scored a goal in his first game of pro hockey and centre Les Cunningham scored the other for Barons.

The league's leading scorer, Tommy Burlington, picked up two assists to bring his points total to 67.

Reds staged their best offensive game of the season when they defeated Hershey 3-2. Thirteen penalties were called in the encounter, one of the roughest played here.

Billy Whittet, Wilfred Hoch, and Roland Forget were the Providence goal-getters, while Billy Hudson and Peggy O'Neil scored for Hershey.

Buffalo Bisons packed seven goals into the second period when they trounced Hornets 9-6. Walter Atanas scored three of them while Fred Thurier got another after he tallied in the first period.

Al Picard from Sudbury, Ont., was in the nets for Buffalo and made their fourth goalie in their last four games.

WHO MAKES THE LEAD?

EVERY NO TRUMP declarer knows that a singly guarded king is a sure stopper if the lead comes from the left, up to it, but may be killed off at the start if the lead comes through it, from the right. Most good players know the same principle applies with reverse fashion if you hold two or three cards headed by an ace, opposite two or more headed by the queen, that a lead through the ace makes the queen a sure trick-taker, while a lead up to the ace, through the queen, may kill the face card. How many think of that applying also to a suit contract?

Where North played the slam at 6-Diamonds, it was set at once by a heart lead through South's K. Where South played it at 6-Spades, there was no chance to stop him, as a heart lead would have been up to the K. Actually, West led a club, away from his own K. South refused the finesse, took out trumps and used diamonds to discard all but one heart.

Both of these North-South pairs in a duplicate were devotees of the Blackwood convention, but South at Table 2 decided it was more important to use a 5-Spade bid to commit his side to a slam. On that bidding, any fine player in the North, who could not support a thrice-bid spade suit—thus a six-card suit—would have bid 6-Clubs in response to give South a choice between the clubs and diamonds.

North in this case decided, however, that his singleton A was enough. South there bid pretty strongly, to be sure, but made his hand a trick stronger thereby.

Bomber Lost In Lake Ontario

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb 21 —(AP) —A missing United States army bomber was feared lost in Lake Ontario to-day after coastguardsmen reported hearing a multi-motored plane headed toward the Canadian shore.

Coastguardsmen at the isolated Gallups Island station in Lake Ontario and at the Oswego station 50 miles west reported hearing a roaring noise overhead but because of the storm were unable to identify the plane. Provincial police at Kingston, Ont., and R.C.A.F. authorities at Picton, Ont., said they had no reports of the missing plane.

The bomber, with a crew of eight, flew here from Westover Field, Mass., yesterday, circling over Syracuse municipal airport for an hour where it reported it was running out of gas and unable to land because of poor visibility. The commanding officer at Westover Field ordered the crew to bail out.

Planes from the Rome Army Air Field braved the storm to assist in a fruitless day-long search yesterday. Forest rangers, game protectors and State police in this vicinity were asked to participate.

$100 Donated To War Relief

BRIDGENORTH, Feb. 21 (ENS)— —The executive of the Bridgenorth Red Cross met last week in the work room. The president, Mrs. G. Ray was in charge and a motion was passed that $100 be divided between the Russian, Greek and Chinese Relief Funds.

Mrs. F. Moore and Mrs. G. Ray were appointed delegates to the annual Red Cross convention in Toronto.

So that the Red Cross branch may carry on, a membership drive will be started on March 1. Although the allocation is being met by the County having levied a tax of 1 mill on the dollar, the membership fee will still have to be continued.

The executive decided to make arrangements with the Ennismore ladies to call a meeting as soon as possible and try and get an organization started in Ennismore to work with Bridgenorth Red Cross.

Belmont Institute Completes Quilts

HAVELOCK, Feb. 21 (ENS) — With an unusually large attendance of members and visitors at the Belmont Institute on Thursday, three large quilts were completed. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon, and many of the women were able to remain for the best part of the day.

The president, Mrs. George Hartin, presided, and the roll call was responded to by each member donating an 18-inch crazy-quilt block, with enough blocks given for a quilt top. The motto for this meeting was "Give sympathy and not criticism." Several cards of thanks were received from the boys overseas, who had received their Christmas parcels from the Branch. A donation of $5 was made to the Federated Fund in connection with the F.W.I.O. An order was received for four more quilts and next Thursday will be devoted to the quilting of them.

The Institute is to quilt a fancy quilt for the school pupils, on which tickets will be sold for war work. The price for sale of quilts was raised to $8. The girls of the Home Making Club are sponsoring a money raising event for their work and asked for the cooperation and support of the Institute members. It was decided to allow 50 cents a person for anyone taking a car load to the Blood Donors Clinic in Peterborough, and it is hoped to have enough volunteers for the bus in the near future. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"
These days most people are working harder, worrying more, sleeping less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living lowers resistance—increases body and mental fatigue. Overwork; hasty meals; irregular hours; worry—any of these may upset proper kidney action.
When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and poisons remain in the system. Then backache, headache, rheumatic pain, disturbed rest or that "tired-all-the-time" feeling may soon follow. To help keep your kidneys in good order—to help guard against physical let-down—use Dodd's Kidney Pills, for over half a century a favourite remedy for faulty kidneys. Roosevelt Orders Delicate Operation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)— The War Department said Saturday that Capt Lester Samuels, Army Medical Corps, will be given a brief leave of absence to go to New York to treat Anna Mayer, 21, who has been hiccoughing for 45 days.

While he was chief surgeon at the Van Wick Hospital in Jamaica, N.Y., Samuels saved the girl's life with a delicate operation after she had suffered a 42-day siege of hiccoughs.

During the present attack her weight has dropped from 115 pounds to 81, and she asked Samuels to return for another operation.

Permission was refused originally, but it was granted after Miss Mayer's family appealed to President Roosevelt.

Mystery Figure Commits Suicide

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21—(AP) — Charles Bedaux, international mystery man, died at a hospital here on Saturday, and John E. Burling, immigration agent, said he had taken an overdose of sleeping powders and left a suicide note.

Burling said Bedaux swallowed the powders a few hours after he had been informed that a Grand Jury would be convened to decide whether he could be indicted for treason and for communication with high German officials and the Vichy French Government.

A special Board of Inquiry had decided that Bedaux was a citizen of the United States and could be admitted to this country.

Bedaux had been held by immigration officials here since he was brought to Miami from North Africa in an army plane late in December.

He was taken to the hospital on Tuesday in an unconscious condition, and never regained consciousness.

W.A. Elects Officers For Current Year

OMEMEE, February 21 (ENS) — An interesting worship service, based on the theme, "Blessing of Home Life" began the meeting of the Women's Association which was held at the home of Mrs. David Weir on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Rea, president, read a call to worship. A poem "Dear Plain Old Home" was read by Mrs. W. Weir, and Mrs. H. Lamb gave the Bible reading from Proverbs 31:10-31. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Rea and Miss Lillie Race gave a topic entitled "Doing Without God."

The regular business was conducted by Mrs. Rea, including the treasurer's report, which showed a balance of $259.64. As it was the first time in 1944 that the Association has met, the election of officers was held, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Rea; 1st vice-president, Mrs. David Weir; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. G. Overholt; secretary, Mrs. V. Lang; treasurer, Mrs. H. Deyell. Mrs. V. Lang and Mrs. W. D. Weir were appointed a committee to prepare and frame the Honor Roll.

Mrs. V. Lang then spoke to Mrs. Rea on behalf of the members, voicing appreciation for the years of faithful service she has given to the Association. Peru To Set Up Embassy In Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 21—(CP) — Announcement by the Peruvian Foreign Office in Lima that Canada and Peru will exchange diplomatic missions was confirmed today by the External Affairs Department.

It was learned also that Prime Minister Mackenzie King plans to choose at a comparatively early date a Canadian Minister to Lima.

The rapid growth of Canada's diplomatic corps has made it difficult to obtain men suitable for the various posts and therefore it has not been possible for Canada to take action as speedily as Peru has done.

The Peruvian Minister — Emilio Ortiz—accompanied by his wife and daughter, will arrive in Ottawa around May 1, H. F. Davila, Peruvian Consul-General, told The Canadian Press. Mr. Davila, who has been in Ottawa for three years, will return to Lima. He said the plan of his Government was for the new Minister to also perform the duties of Consul-General.

W.I. Presents Gifts For Members Leaving

OMEMEE, Feb. 21—(ENS)—Mrs. J. L. Brooks opened her home for the February meeting of the Omemee Women's Institute. The roll call was responded to by donation of a quilt block. It was decided to have the draw for the cord of wood donated by Mr. V. Jones at a dance to take place in the Coronation Hall, Omemee, on February 25. Proceeds of the draw will go to Red Cross Funds. Plans were laid for packing a bale of clothing for the Russian Relief next month and some discussion was heard regarding the Blood Donor Clinic which will make its first appearance in Omemee on February 23.

The program included the following numbers: Reading the Scrap Book by Mrs. J. L. Brooks, a reading entitled "An Old Fashioned Ditty" by Mrs. R. Cornwall, a solo by Mrs. E. Woods, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and several numbers by a trio of girls with guitar accompaniment—Misses Doris Brooks, Henrietta Parker and June Parker.

Mrs. T. E. McPherson, president, then called on Mrs. Albert Sloan and daughter, Miss Florrie Sloan, to receive gifts from the Institute because they are moving to Peterborough and will be forced to partially discontinue their associations with the group. Mrs. Sloan's gift was a lovely cheese and cracker dish and her daughter's an attractive silver relish dish.

PLAN GREATER AIR RAIDS - CHURCHILL

By JAMES M. LONG—Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 22 — (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill told the world today that Allied bombing far beyond anything yet "employed or indeed imagined" would strike Germany in every corner in prelude to the final smashing by British and American invasion armies of "approximately equal" power. The three great Allies still stand "absolutely united" and "none of the ground made good at Moscow or Teheran" has been lost despite disquieting articles in the Soviet press, the Prime Minister declared in a confident but cautious war review in Commons.

The Allies stand united on war plans which made certain a victory that "may not be so far away," he declared.

Mr. Churchill said he could neither guarantee that the war would finish in Europe this year, or extend into 1945, and declared Hitler still is in "full control" in Germany, with 300 divisions in his army.

Half a million Nazis are fighting in Italy, and "Hitler evidently has decided to defend Rome with the same obstinacy as Stalingrad." But Allied leaders are confidence of success, and reinforcements are pouring in from Africa.

The Prime Minister devoted a long passage in his speech to the major efforts of the British Isles in the war, saying it would prejudice the interests of the alliance if the other members, including the Dominions, did not know that Britain is playing her part.

Have Confidence

"Hitler and his police force are still in full control (in Germany) and the Nazi party and Generals have decided to hang together," Mr. Churchill said, declaring he could give no guarantee that the war in Europe would end this year—or that it would not.

Speaking of the Italian front, he said "the forces in the bridgehead are well matched. We are definitely stronger in artillery and armor and when the weather is favorable our air power plays an important part."

Allied leaders there are confident of final success, the Prime Minister continued, and "we have sufficient forces at our disposal in Africa to nourish the struggle as fast as they can be transplanted across the Mediterranean."

"We must fight the Germans somewhere unless we are to stand still and watch the Russians," he remarked.

Mr. Churchill disclosed an order tightening censorship in the Mediterranean war area was made at his telegraphic request.

Asked if he had investigated the tightening up, he said, "inquiries did not take me very long as I myself sent a telegram asking for stricter censorship on alarmist reports about the position in the bridgehead—not by the correspondents there but by persons in Naples and Algiers.

Reds Reach Suburbs Of Krivoi Rog

Nazi Grip Loosens On Iron Centre As Pressure Grows

LONDON, Feb. 22 —(CP)— The Berlin radio announced today the evacuation of Krivoi Rog, iron ore city in the lower Dnieper Bend.

BY EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Feb. 22 (AP) The Red Army pushed into the inner defences of Krivoi Rog today in a thrust so powerful that it seemed unlikely the Germans would be able to retain their grip much longer on this important iron ore and communications centre in the Dnieper bend.

The fall of Krivoi Rog, coming on top of the loss of the manganese centre of Nikopol, would constitute one of the hardest industrial blows the Nazi war machine has suffered since the beginning of the Russian winter offensive.

A Soviet communique said Russian troops yesterday drove into the outskirts of the city, through which one of two German-held railways runs west from the Dnieper bend. The other line runs parallel about 20 miles to the southeast.

A drive across these lines by the Red Army would trap a German force probably larger than 10 divisions previously encircled and crushed in the Cherkasy pocket 140 miles to the northwest, field dispatches indicated.

Capture Kholm

On the northern end of the front the Russian war bulletin said, Soviet forces captured the big German base of Kholm, midway between Lake Ilmen and Novoskolniki, and a number of other points, including the town of Poddorye, district centre of the Kalinin region 25 miles northwest of Kholm.

Capture of Kholm came after Red Army troops cracked German lines south of the city, severed the highway running westward to Loknya and forced the Lovat River north and south of Kholm, the communique said.

West of Lake Ilmen other Red Army forces were driving on Pskov, German communications base, from three directions. These forces were credited officially with capturing approximately 112 towns and villages in yesterday's advance, including Soltsy and Volvot, district centres of the Leningrad region. Soltsy is 24 miles northwest of Ino, which is 60 miles east of Pskov on the Staraya Russa-Pskov railway. Volot is 27 miles east of Dno.

A special Soviet announcement, summarizing results of the Red Army northern offensive last month said.

More than 90,000 Nazis were killed in the Leningrad-Volkhov offensive and that another 7,200 were taken prisoner.

The 97,200 Germans killed and captured in the Leningrad region were in addition to 73,200 the Russians reported killed or captured in the Cherkasy tap in the Ukraine, and the 17,000 Nazis reported killed or captured during the storming Feb. 8 of Nikopol, maganese centre 55 miles southeast of Krivoi Rog. This makes a total of more than 190,000 Germans put out of action in about one month's fighting on the two fronts, Russian estimates indicated.

Mrs. Gandhi Dies

LONDON, Feb. 22 (CP).—Mrs. Mohandas K. Gandhi, wife of the Indian leader, is dead, the new Delhi radio said today.

Mrs. Gandhi, 74, had suffered intermittently from heart attacks at Poona, where she was detained with her husband. Last Sunday an official announcement said her condition had taken a grave turn.

Charges Nazis Hold Shares In Aluminum Co.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 —(CP) — M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, said last night in the Commons that to vote concurrence in a report of the war expenditures committee on operations of Aluminum Co. of Canada would "do violence to one's intelligence."

He said the report was obviously designed to "whitewash the deal" between the company and Government.

Aluminum Co. plant developments at Arvida, Que., the nearby Shipshaw Power Project, and prices charged to Allied Governments for aluminum were examined by the committee following statements made by Mr. Coldwell in the house last year. In a report tabled last month the committee said none of the charges was borne out by the facts presented by witnesses in evidence.

To-night, during debate on a motion that the House concur in the report, Mr. Coldwell said all his major statements about Aluminum Co. undertakings had been amply confirmed by witnesses appearing for the Company and the Government. There was no question that his allegation "that the Aluminum Co. of Canada was and is a monopoly is proven conclusively."

"The report takes refuge in the hope that there might be future competition in Canada," said Mr. Coldwell. "This is as improbable as it is irrevelant. The fact is that there is a monopoly that we ignore at our peril; yet, the reports says none of the allegations is substantiated."

Taxation and other concessions given to the company had enabled it to tighten its "stranglehold" on aluminum.

"I said last session that our Minister at Washington (Hon. Leighton McCarthy, now Ambassador) had been counsel for the Aluminum Co. of Canada up to the time the agreements between the governments and the company were made," Mr. Coldwell said.

"That was admitted in this House. I said, too, that he was still vice-president and director of the parent

CCF To Contest By-election

SIMCOE, Ont., Feb. 22 —(CP)— Officals of the C.C.F. in the Haldimand-Norfolk riding to-day announced that the C.C.F. will contest a by-election for the seat made vacant last week by the death of Wallace W. Walsh, who was elected Progressive Conservative member in the Ontario election last August 4.

Name of the candidate will be announced "within a few days."

In a statement to-day, J. Alex Wallace, president of the Norfolk C.C.F. Association, said: "Ever since the General Election last August the Progressive Conservative party and its big interest supporters have been conducting a widespread and intensive campaign of falsehoods against the C.C.F.

"So many untrue statements have been made that the C.C.F. does not propose to let them go unchallenged. The reactionaries have asked for the fight and they are going to get it."

Churchill Likes Bells To Observe Victories

LONDON, Feb. 22 —(CP) — Prime Minister Churchill prefers the ringing of bells as a victory salute, rather than the roar of guns.

To the proposal by Apt. Leonard F. Plugge, Conservative, that cannon be sounded to commemorate major military successes, Mr. Churchill said to-day:—

"Personally, I favor bells. We are likely to hear quite enough of guns anyway."

Arrest Montreal Strikers

7 Men Charged Under Anti-Strike Law

MONTREAL, Feb. 22 — (CP). — Seven employees of the Montreal Tramways Company today were arraigned in criminal court and pleaded not guilty to charges laid in connection with a 30-hour strike that tied up trams and buses here last week-end. Their trial was set for February 28.

They were released on $25 bail. All are members of the operating personnel of the Tramways Company.

The seven are Georges Bonneville, Armand Quevillon, Georges Coursol, Joseph Primeau, Roger Cadot, Romeo Daigneault Durocher.

They were all charged with "participating illegally" in the strike. The charges were laid under provisions of a recently-passed provincial law that prohibits strikes or lock-outs in public services, including tramways. The legislation provides fines ranging from $10 a day to $50 a day for those participating in such a strike.

German Drive Peters Out Near Anzio

Armies Reach Stalemate After Big Battle

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press War Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 22—(AP). — Heavy artillery barrages and small but fierce infantry clashes marked the fighting yesterday in the Allied beachhead south of Rome, where, 5th Army officers said today, savage British and United States resistance and their counter-attacks have definitely beaten the Nazi all-out drive to push the Allies into the sea.

Allied front-line troops and the Germans fired everything they had at one another at several points yesterday, but neither side gained any ground and positions all along the beachhead remained as they were.

Allied artillery, in a fierce exchange of fire, shelled German infantry and tanks forming up around Aprilia "factory" east of Carroceto and apparently broke up preparations for a renewed enemy attack. None developed.

As another day passed without decisive actions either on the main front around Cassino or at the beachhead. 9th Army spokesmen interpjreted relaxation of German pressure against the beachhead as meaning the German offensive to erase it had failed for the sqecond time since the Allied landed at Anzio and Nettuno just a month ago.

Held 100 Sq. Miles.

The lull in fighting left approximately 100 square miles of the beachhead in Allied hands, with the front's boundaries running roughly from the coast west of Carroceto more or less in a straight eastward line about 1½ miles south of Carroceto to a point about two miles southwest of Cisterna, then due south to the beach again.

At the coastal end of the main southern front in the lower Garigliano region British troops engaged in several small clashes with the Germans, but around the vital highway town of Cassino and the equally bomb-battered Abbey Hill overlooking it, only patrols were active. Guns of both sides exchanged shells.

On the 8th Army front across the peninsula, Allied artillery fire scattered two small German attacks toward Indian-held positions in the Orsogna area yesterday.

French-Canadian troops beat off a German patrol of 30 men which attacked a battalion outpost Sunday night. At least one of the enemy was killed. Maritime troops captured two German infantrymen found in a slit-trench. The Canadian front was quiet except for these minor encounters, War Correspondent Douglas Amaron of the Canadian Press reported. He said the poorly-dressed Germans have replaced German paratroops opposing the Canadians.

Medium bombers struck at rail yards at Orte while fighter-bombers lashed at German troops, supply dumps and gun positions in the beachhead area. Fighter patrolled the area.

Allied planes flew about 500 sorties, destroying three German aircraft for a loss of none. German activity over the beachhead was estimated at about 60 sorties.

CPL. RONALD SMELT

Cpl. Ron Smelt Helps Patrol Take 2 Germans

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Feb. 22—(CP Cable).—Two German infantrymen who liked warmth in their slit-trench too much found themselves prisoners of the Canadians.

A 12-man patrol from a Maritime battalion probing enemy defences northeast of Tollo captured the Germans Sunday night. They were the first prisoners taken on that section of the Canadian corps front and their capture earned members of the patrol a week's leave at the British 8th Army rest centres in southern Italy.

At the same time as the sleepy, bedraggled Germans were being rooted out of their hole, other German infantrymen attacked a French-speaking battalion southwest of the Maritimers. The Germans were driven back, and at least one was killed.

Taken At Once.

Lieut. Russell Ganong of St. Stephen, N.B., whose father is a Major-General in Canada, led the patrol which captured the two Germans. The Nazis popped their heads out of a trench three feet in front of Ganong, Sgt. Ron Sprague of Sussex, N.B., and Cpl. Ron Smelt of Peterborough, and were promptly taken in tow.

"We rushed them back as quickly as possible and although they were frightened at first they were quite happy by the time they got to company headquarters," Ganong said.

The Germans who came to this front only recently to replace paratroops were poorly dressed with rags for puttees and socks for gloves.

Apart from these counters the corps front has been quiet.

To Abolish Ontario Labor Court

TORONTO, Feb. 22 —(CP) — Ontario Labor Minister Daley today announced the Labor Court of Ontario will be abolished and replaced by a Labor Board as a result of the Ontario Government's acceptance of the new Dominion Government labor code regulations.

"The labor court will automatically come to an end and be replaced by a board," Mr. Daley said in an interview. "The board will consist of at least five members, possibly more. I am planning to go to Ottawa as soon as possible to talk over with Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, (Federal) Minister of Labor, just how the board will be established."

He said further that the board "will not cost labor unions anything. They will not have to present their cases through lawyers, as in the court, which is part of the Supreme Court.

Wreckage Of Liberator Plane Discovered Dave Griffin, Newspaperman Said Killed

HALIFAX, Feb. 22—(CP). — At least four or five of the crew and passengers aboard the giant Liberator bomber missing in the Atlantic Coastal area since last Friday are still alive, it was indicated today in an announcement by Eastern Air Command of the R.C.A.F. here, which said wreckage of the four-engined aircraft had been sighted by searching planes.

"Four or five people were observed in the vicinity of the wreckage," the announcement said, adding that it was a United States Army aircraft that brought the quest to a successful conclusion.

FO. David Griffin, former Toronto newspaperman, was killed in the crash of the big aircraft, it was learned here today. Griffin was a member of the R.C.A.F. public relations branch.

Meanwhile other aircraft continued their search for a two-engined aircraft which has been missing from the R.A.F. station at Debert, N.S., since Sunday night.

U-Boat Crews Losing Nerve Sea Escorts Too Effective

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

A PORT IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Feb. 22—(CP).—It is a losing battle now for the German submarine packs in the North Atlantic, and there are indications that the U-boat crews themselves are beginning to see the writing on the wall,

Survivors from destroyed submarines used to brag a lot to their captors but now they haven't got much to say. My impression is that the Atlantic U-boat assignment was all right back in 1941 and 1942, but for the past year their job has been nothing to envy. Their opponents were getting too strong.

Steadily and methodically the Allies' strength has grown for the Atlantic escort and anti-submarine war and here at this naval base when you talk to crews of Canadian and British fighting ships you find conclusive evidence that they have the upper hand in the marathon battle against the U-boats.

There will be more sinkings, but the heavy losses of a year ago when sometimes many merchant ships in a single convoy would be sent to the bottom aren't likely to be suffered again.

From the top commanders here to the sailors who man the guns and fire the depth charges there is a steadfast feeling of confidence that the worst is over and that with continued vigilance any major efforts by German submarines can be defeated.

These are the things that have produced this favorable turn in the Atlantic battle:

1. Increase in the number of escort vessels—destroyers, corvettes, sloops, frigates—and improvements and ingenious developments in anti-submarine devices and instruments to locate U-boats under the surface.

2. More extensive air cover from Coastal Command aircraft of the

London Raided Damage Slight

LONDON, Feb. 22—(CP)—British and United States medium and light bombers, sustaining the air offensive which nearly 2,000 U.S. heavy bombers and fighters punctuated yesterday with attacks on two Nazi aircraft plants at Brunswick and six German airfields, jabbed today at enemy targets in the Netherlands and northern France.

American Marauders sprayed bombs on the strategic German airfield at Gilze-Rijen.

It was announced that three British fighters were missing from R.A.F. night operations in which Mosquito bombers assaulted targets in western Germany, attacked two enemy E-boats in the channel and laid mines in enemy waters.

A German raid on England last night barely disturbed London, only a handful of Nazi planes crossed the Channel, dropping a few bombs in southern England. "Little damage and a small number of casualties were reported," an official announcement said.

The German News Agency DNB said in a broadcast today that Allied bombers attacked targets in southern Germany and th Danube and Alps areas at noon today.

The raids, in swift follow-up to the 2,200-ton R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. assault on Stuttgart Sunday night, crushed the two aircraft component factories at Brunswick which had been damaged severely by a record U.S. air armada Sunday. Targets in Hanover and several large aircraft parks and other targets near the Netherlands border also were attacked.

Maj.-Gen. Federick L. Anderson, deputy in charge of the U.S. strategic bombing force in Britain, asserted Leipzig factories producing 38 per cent. of Germany's single-engined fighter planes were kocked out by Sunday's record raid.

Anderson said the Bernburg plant,

Drew Seeking Legislation For 22-Points

Increases Proposed For Teachers In New Legislation

TORONTO, Feb. 22 (CP)—Legislation dealing with post-war planning and employment as well as with such other immediate problems as education, labor relations, forestry development and agriculture was forecast today in the speech from the Throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews at the opening of the first session of Ontario's 21st Legislature.

The 5,000-word speech, longest in years, dealt at length with educational matters and said that religious education would be offered in public and secondary schools. It also proposed increases in teachers salaries and said immediate courses would be modified so additional teachers could be trained immediately to meet an acute shortage.

Limit Work Week

Several measures for the improvement of labor relations would be submitted during the session, said the speech, specifically mentioning a bill to limit the work week to 48 hours and to assure an annual holiday of one week with pay for commercial and industrial workers. The new Dominion Government Labor Code making collective bargaining compulsory in war industry would be extended to all industries in Ontario.

As well as forecasting legislation to establish in the Province a Department of Planning and Development for the post war period. The speech said that the Ontario Department of Highways has prepared plans for a four-year highway construction program which will provide 27,840,000 man days of labor after the war. Expansion of the mining industry, development of fish anr game resources and forest areas would also furnish employment after demobilization of the armed forces.

Agricultural education in the province has been curtailed through the loan to the Federal Government for war training purposes of buildings belonging to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph and the Kemptville Agricultural School. However the Kemptvile school buildings would be returned to Ontario May 1 and the building at Guelph "at the earliest possible opportunity."

County Committees

"Leadership in the organization and control of agriculture has in the past depended too much upon the government" and legislation will be introduced for the formation of county agricultural committees "so that practical farm operators may themselves advise in regard to suitable policies and have a recognized place" in their administration.

Action to assist in farm marketing problems was predicted, including the introduction of a measure to acquire the union stock yards in Toronto "so they may be operated as a public enterprise in the sole interest of the breeders of the province."

In a reference to liquor and beer restrictions imposed by the Federal Government, the speech said that it was proposed to have only one permit in future for the purchase of spirits, beer and wine. Separate

Roosevelt Hurls Tax Bill Back

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 —(AP)— President Roosevelt tossed the $2,315,000,000 tax bill back to Congress to-day with a veto message in which he described it as "wholly ineffective" and a relief measure "not for the needy but for the greedy."

In a message to the House of Representatives, already rumbling with talk of over-riding the veto, Mr. Roosevelt said the legislation was replete with provisions which not only afford indefensible special privilliges to favored groups but set dangerous precedents for the future."

He said this tendency in itself was sufficiently dangerous to counter the loss of "a very inadequate sum" in additional revenue. He calculated that the bill would enrich the treasury by less than $1,000,000,000 net a year.

Manpower Shortage Curbing Deferments

LONDON, Feb. 22— (CP).— A manpower shortage is forcing Britain to abolish draft deferments in certain industries for men born since 1904, the Ministry of Labor announced yesterday.

Munitions and aircraft body building are among the works in which these men no longer will be exempt.

The action is designed to provide more men for the armed forces, coal mining and the merchant navy.

Main Jap Fleet Not Based At Truk

Believe Warships Patrolling Waters Near Homeland Protecting Motherland

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The mystery of the whereabouts of the Japanese fleet which from time to time has anchored within the "invulnerable" shelter of Truk is bringing this column many inquiries from readers. Honesty compels me to admit that I don't know. Still there are some relative facts which are illuminating.

There have been numerous occasions during the war when a large Japanese fleet was reported at Truk. This base, one of the strongest ever developed, could shelter the Mikado's entire navy. However, the exigencies of global conflict have compelled the Nipponese to keep their main strength in home waters, to protect the motherland, while Truk has been used as the chief station for the central and south Pacific operations.

The American force which carried out the devasating raid on Truk last week undoubtedly was much disappointed it didn't find more warships in the anchorages, though unhappy Tokyo thinks they did well enough as it was. On Feb. 4 two photo planes took pictures of Truk.

Planes Tipped Hand.

The Japanese, who saw the photo planes at work and turned anti-aircraft guns on them, may have guessed the appearance of the photographers presaged a major attack and moved the greater portion of the Truk fleet to safe waters.

This would tend to substantiate the idea—widely held among naval men—that the Japanese will try to avoid a big naval battle until the day when they will have to defend themselves in home waters. It probably means also that they will no longer risk basing a large fleet at Truk, since the recent Allied advance into the Marshall Islands will enable them to raid the base by sea or by air more or less at will.

Despite all this it would be a mistake to assume that Truk's value already has been nullified. It still remains the main barrier to progress towards the Philippines and Japan proper. and so long as it operates in strength it will provide support for numerous other island bases like Wake, Ponape, Guam, Bonin and Marcus.

Rescued Bomb Victim Dies

Doctor Performs Operation In House Ruins

LONDON, Feb. 22 —(C P) — Suspended by a rope in a narrow shaft sunk into the ruins of a bombed building, a London surgeon performed an operation last night to free a friend who had been trapped more than 20 hours beneath heaps of rubble.

All day long the trapped man, Maj. Guy Edney, had laughed and joked as repeated efforst were made to free him. While 50 Civil Defence workers tried to move more than 100 tons of rubble under which he was buried, fire broke out. It was finally extinguished. Three shafts were sunk but they caved in. A fourth shaft held and the physician was lowered and performed the operation.

After his release Edney was rushed to hospital but he died within an hour.

The bodies of Edney's wife and three friends who were in the house with him when it was bombed still are in the wreckage.

Fiery Debates May Force New Election

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 —(CP)— Parliament Hill today buzzed with speculation whether fiery debates in the House of Commons would lead to an early general election.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a Commons speech yesterday warned the Opposition that if the Government cannot obtain co-operation in dealing with Parliamentary business "then we shall have to consider what our responsibility is."

This remark immediately was associated in political circles with a declaration by the Prime Minister Jan. 31, in his first major address after opening of the 1944 session. At that time Mr. King said the government did not propose a general election un tilthe war was done, unless prevented from following this plan in some way impossible to control.

It was, he said, the intention of the administration—"with the cooperation of members of Parliament generally"—to carry on with the prosecution of the war to the limit of its power.

Not Getting Co-operation

Yesterday, the Prime Minister indicated he did not think the cooperation the government had the right to expect was being given.

He gave his viewpoint after the House had discussed for almost two hours a motion that Wednesdays be set aside for committee meetings, with no general sitting of the House. The motion, moved by the Prime Minister himself, ran into opposition from the Progressive Conservatives, including House Leader Gordon Graydon, and from some C. C. F. members. Finally it was approved by a recorded vote of 113 to 34.

Mr. Graydon, as the chief Progressive Conservative spokesman, said ne believed the setting aside of Wednesday for committee work would retard rather than speed the session.

The day's sittings in general were stormy, with Hughes Cleaver (L.-Halton) running into Opposition

Crusade Against Vice Hits Rooming Houses

MONTREAL, Feb. 22—(AP)—Authorities have started "total war" against commercialized vice in this city. As a sequel to the closing down of all known disorderly houses here early this month, a series of raids have been made "and will be continued in an effort to clean up shady rooming houses and hotels," it was said today.

Provincial Police and night patrol detectives have been helping members of the morality squad ferret out carriers of venereal diseases.

not to be used in a battle of this kind when they are false and still less are they to be used if they are true.

"In the first case they needlessly distressed the public; in the second, they encouraged the enemy to attack. I am glad radio facilities have been restored to correspondents in the bridgehead.

"These were not the people who caused the trouble, but others in the rear. The liberty of the press is of high consequence. So also are the lives of the troops."

"It is the wish and the desire of the correspondents to discharge their responsibilities and help the troops in every way but at the same time accidents will happen in the best regulated families."

Asked whether as a one-time correspondent himself, Churchill would have resented writing dispatches to the policy dictated by the Generals in the field, Mr. Churchill replied: "I certainly should never have been allowed in South Africa, where I was a correspondent for some time, to say that the position inside Ladysmith was desperate."

In his general war review, he declared:

"I have never taken the view that the end of the war in Europe is at hand or that Hitler is about to collapse, and I have certainly given no guarantee or even held out any expectation that the year 1944 will see the end of European war, nor have I given any guarantee the other way.

"On the whole my information goes to show that Hitler and his police are still in full control and that the Nazi party and generals have decided to hang together."

He placed the strength of the German army at about 300 divisions although many of these have been substantially reduced in number — but said their fighting quality is still high.

Turning to the bombing offensive on Germany, the Prime Minister said this, while absorbing 3,000,000 Germans, had drawn with other British and American activities, four-fifths of the German fighter force.

Helped Soviet

"This also has been of some assistance to the Soviet Union," he said. "This statement should be made in justice to the western allies."

He said the British navy and the R.A.F. have sunk more than half of the U-boats known to have been destroyed from Jan. 1, 1943 to mid-February, 1944, and added:

"We have sunk by British action alone since Jan. 1, 1943, 19 enemy warships and also a large number of E-boats, escort vessels, minesweepers and other auxiliaries."

British action was "predominately responsible for the sinking of 315 merchant ships aggregating 835,000 tons."

Mr. Churchill said 7,677 officers and men of the Royal Navy and about 4,200 of the merchant navy had lost their lives in British ships in the same period, but added that matters had improved as to merchant shipping lately.

He said "Britain has lost by disablement 95 ships of war" but did not classify them.

"The Anglo-American air attack on Germany must be regarded as our chief offensive effort at present," he said.

"The United States bomber force in Britain now has begun to surpass our own and soon will be substantially greater still.

Pilot Loss Heavy

"The honor of bombing Berlin has fallen almost entirely on us.

"Excluding Dominion and Allied squadrons working with the R.A.F. the British Isles lost 38,300 pilots and air crews killed and 10,400 missing and more than 10,000 aircraft since the war began and made nearly 900,000 sorties in the North European theatre.

"In the four most recent raids by British and American aircraft on Germany, 9,000 tons of bombs were dropped.

"These constitute the most violent attacks which have ever yet been made on Germany, and they also prove the value of saturation in every aspect of the air war.

The spring and summer will show a vast increase in the force of attacks directed on military targets in Germany and German-occupied countries.

"Long-range bombing from Italy will penetrate effectively to the southern parts of Germany.

"We look for very great restriction and dislocation of German munitions supplies no matter where their factories have been withdrawn."

"The whole of this air offensive constitutes the foundation upon which our plans for the overseas invasion stand.

"The scale of the attacks will reach far beyond the dimensions of anything which yet has been employed or indeed imagined."

Disavowing any intention to be dissuaded from the full use of bombing, Mr. Churchill declared:

Expect Retaliation

"The idea that we should fetter or further restrict the use of this prime instrument for shortening the war will not be accepted by the governments of the United Nations."

Warning Britain to expect retaliation with the Germans using automaton planes or rockets, he added: "Retaliation by the enemy so far has been modest but we must expect it to increase.

"The Germans are preparing on the French shore new means of attack on this country, either by pilotless aircraft or possibly rockets or both, on a considerable scale.

"We long have been watching this with utmost vigilance.

"We are striking at all evidences of these preparations.

"Our production of aircraft, fighters and bombers, judged by every possible test, already far exceeds Germany's.

U.S. Trebles Output

"Russian production is about equal to ours and American production alone is double or treble German production.

"The air power of Japan also is being overmatched and their production is incomparably small compared with that of the great powers Japan has assailed.

"This air power was the weapon with which both marauding states selected as their main tool of conquest.

"There is a strange, stern justice in the long swing of events."

Mr. Churchill said that on the Italian front German reaction to the Allied landing had been "remarkable" and "Hitler evidently has decided to defend Rome with the same obstinacy as Stalingrad."

"The forces in the bridgehead are well matched," he continued.

"We are definitely stronger in artillery and armor and when the weather is favorable our air power plays an immense part.

Gen. Alexander, who has seen more fighting against the Germans than any living British commander, says the bitterness and fierceness of the fighting now going on at the bridgehead and on the Cassino front surpass all his previous experience.

"Our leaders are confident of final success and the troops are in the highest spirits—spirits of offensive vigor.

Half Million Huns

"The fact that something like half a million Germans now are in Italy is not unwelcome to the Allies. We must fight Germany somewhere unless we are to stand still and watch the Russians.

"We have sufficient forces at our disposal in Africa to nourish the struggle as fast as they can be transported across the Mediterranean."

The House cheered as Mr. Churchill added that this time last year he was "deeply anxious about the situation in Tunisia where we had just sustained an unpleasant check at Kasserine Pass—but I placed my confidence then in Gen. Alexander and in the British, French and American troops who were engaged in battle, and that is how I feel about it now."

Mr. Churchill told the House nearly 100 Italian ships are operating in the Mediterranean and that Italian troops and airmen are fighting alongside the Allies and rendering great service behind the lines.

Of the Italian government squabble he said he is "not yet convinced that any other government could be formed which would command the same obedience from the people, but when Rome falls the whole Italian situation will be reviewed. I should be sorry to see an unsettling change made at a time when the battle in its climax is swaying to and fro.

Must Take Rome

"We shall see much more clearly how to proceed and have much more varied resources at our disposal if and when we are in possession of the capital city.

"What we have agreed with the United States government is to win the battle for Rome and take a new view when we are there."

He declared that in Yugoslavia the Partisans of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) numbering 250,000 are engaging at least 14 of the 20 German divisions in the Balkans.

Describing Tito's force as the only group in Yugoslavia who are doing any effective fighting against the Germans, he said Tito and Lt.-Col. Deakins, who parachuted to Yugoslavia as a British representative, both were wounded by the same bomb.

"The saddest case of all the 'diseases of defeat' is Greece," Mr. Churchill said.

"It is painful to see the confusion and internecine strife which has broken out there and which is to be advantage of the German invader who watches with contemptuous complacency Greek killing Greek with ammunition sent them to kill Germans."

2 School Boards Voted $7,400 By City Council

The Board of Education won a point of equity and accounting in pressing last night its claim to a proportionate share of half the money received by the Council in December from Wartime Housing Limited for municipal services to the tenants of the Crown Company for the last three years.

The Council received $14,800 from the company, and by Alderman Cotton's motion last night, seconded by Alderman Mark, $7,400 will be apportioned to the Board of Education and the Separate School Board on the basis of the tenancy of their respective supporters in Wartime houses, and will be credited to them, thereby enabling each Board to reduce its requisition to the Council this year by the amount to which it is entitled by that division.

The contention of the Board was plainly and mildly renewed last night by a deputation composed of G. W. Craw, chairman, D. V. Canning and J. F. Reed, and J. E. Huggins, secretary-treasurer. It was a matter of principle and fair dealing, they said, and Alderman Glover acknowledged that "my thought has been all along that we would give the Board credit for their share when we finally received the money from Wartime Housing. It won't make any difference to any ratepayer, and no difference in the amount the Board is going to get, but it will help them to reduce their estimate this year".

"It will allow us to present a true picture of our financial situation and it should be done," said Mr. Canning.

'It won't harm us if a portion is given to the School Boards," Alderman Cotton agreed.

The argument which was reviewed by Mr. Craw was mostly a repetition of the Board's claim as previously reported. He said that the Council's decision to retain the full amount received from Wartime Housing for the years 1941-2-3, but to transfer to the Board half the amount received this year from the company was unfair. The Board was a separate corporate body and had a right to share in the funds received from Wartime Housing for the services supplied to its tenants.

Wartime Housing had finally agreed last fall to pay on the basis of $24. for one type of their houses and $30. for those of the other type, as lump sum annual amounts for the ordinary municipal services including education. This payment was a substitute for taxes collected by the system of assessment and levy of the local rate.

Mr. Craw admitted that the Board estimated annually for its needs, including certain increases caused by the attendance of children from Wartime houses, and the money was duly received frtom the city council. The money was actually collected through the taxes from the Board's supporting ratepayers in each of three years. Although this actual increase in any of the three years might not have been substantial, nevertheless it had to be shown in the tax rate for Board of Education purposes. Now that the council had received a lump sum payment from Wartime Housing, the Board was entitled to be credited with a proportionate share of that money.

"We feel we are entitled to our share," Mr. Craw stated, "so that we can pass it on to our ratepayers who elected us to look after the affairs of the schools of the city."

He pointed out that St. Catharines had given their Board of Education half the amount received from the company; Hamilton had adopted the assessment plan; and in Brantford the company had done certain renovating of school property.

The members of the deputation also said the Board of the last three years had understood from the city that they were to receive a share of the Wartime Housing money, and that was all they were asking.

The Cotton-Mark motion carried. Alderman Dutton remarked: 'We'll be agreeable, but Alderman Sands and I are diehards just the same."

When the Board of Education is revising its estimates this year, and arrives at the amount it will require from the council, it will be in the position of reducing its total by the share of the $7,400 to which it is entitled by the council's action last night.

Car Ownership Mix-up Features Appeal

TORONTO, Feb. 22. — Which one of three bachelor brothers owned a car which figured in an accident on a country road in Northumberland-Durham was a question presented to the Appeal Court at Osgoode Hall on Monday.

Bert Richardson sued William Cairns, a farmer, as the result of a collision between two cars on the crest of a hill, and was awarded $165.40 by Judge J. A. McGibbon at Cobourg.

The three brothers were Richard, John and William Cairns. "Richard bought the car and John was to contribute to it but never got around to it," said W. J. A. Fair, of Peterboro, appealing for William. "Richard had the car registered in John's name aftr he (Richard) had been convicted under the Traffic Act and was refused a permit. John died and Richard took out a license under William's name, unknown to William. Although William did not know this, he was sued as the owner."

Mr. Fair went on to say that John left a will saying "my chattels are to remain the property of my brothers. So the car belonged to Richard because he bought it. When he put it in William's name, he just played a trick on him."

The court, presided over by Chief Justice Robertson, held that the car had been accepted as a gift under the will by William and the appeal was dismissed.

Mr. Fair told the court the defendant's car was wrecked at the time, and William, now 76, was the last of the bachelor farmer brothers, Richard having died a month ago.

permits now are needed for the three.

The speech — which was based largely on plans to implement the 22-point program on which Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative party campaigned in last summer's Ontario election—told of plans to limit the cost of power in southern Ontario municipalities to a maximum of $39 a horsepower. "Grants-in-aid which will make this possible at the outset will be in a very few years be unnecessary."

Amend Soldiers' Vote Act

There was a brief reference to the Active Service Election Act which provided for proxy voting for members of the armed forces serving outside Ontario. The speech said only that the act, criticized by Premier Drew during the election last year, would be amended and gave no details.

Financing Education

Reorganization of the department of education had brought new vigor to the direction of education but "the most difficult single educational problem requiring solution is the unsatisfactory method of financing the maintenance of the schools of the province.

"Intensive study has been given to this subject and the results of the inquiries which have been made will be reported to the legislature where the subject will be fully discussed."

Development of vocational training in schools, a program of adult education and appointment of a committee to plan for the education of new Canadians were predicted.

An Ontario forest resources commission will be appointed to supervise the development of the 100,000,000 acres of accessible Crown forests under the control of the department of lands and forests, the speech said, referring also the establishment of the Kirkwood forest management unit near Thessalon in Northern Ontario and the setting aside of park areas in the Sault Ste. Marie and lakehead areas.

A full-time public health program including adequate school health service was "long overdue" and "it is therefore planned to make it possible for local municipalities to implement section 35 of the Public Health Act which already provides for such service.

"The provision of adequate hospital care for all our citizens will require some time to fulfill but certain immediate steps are being taken to bring this about. Committees have been set up by the government and by the hospitals to study the problem with a view to inaugurating a new policy."

Marmora Soldier Killed In Italy Battle

CPL. ROBERT WRIGHT

MARMORA, Feb. 22.— (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright received official notification from Ottawa that their son, Cpl. Robert John Wright of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, was killed in action in Italy on February 8.

The late Cpl. Wright joined up with his regiment on the outbreak of war when only sixteen and was one of the youngest soldiers in the Canadian forces. About two weeks ago he was mentioned in a news dispatch from Italy as being one of a number of N.C.O.'s taking a refresher course. This past week his parents received no less than four letters from him all written in a cheerful mood. Twice in his army career he has had minor mishaps. While in England he was slightly injured as his motorcycle on one occasion got out of control and landed him in a ditch. He was laid up for a few weeks in Sicily when his motorcycle blew up under him.

company—Aluminum Ltd. That was confirmed last session. Yet the report declares none of my allegations was substantiated.

Mr. Coldwell said the report confirmed his statement Aluminum Ltd. was a member of an international cartel. He said it also confirmed what he said about the cartel itself, the Alliance Aluminum Co. of Basel, Switzerland. This corporation still was in existence and "Aluminum Ltd. carries its shares in the cartel as an asset."

Interest Unaffected.

"The German Nazi-controlled interest is still there and is apparently unaffected. The report says, and the evidence amply confirms this statement, that this cartel set a world minimum price. Yet the report draws the remarkable conclusion that prices were unaffected by this cartel and declares that none of my allegations, including my charge that Aluminum Ltd. was a partner in a world cartel was substqantiated.

The auditing firm of Price Waterhouse had established the 1939 cost of aluminum at 8.31 cents a pound, higher than would be expected with a greatly expanded output.

"But we had to accept Price Waterhouse figures throughout, in the absence of any other auditor," Mr. Coldwell said.

"Let us remember that Price Waterhouse, internationally - famous auditing firm, has been declared guilt yof gross negligence by a United States Commission in connection with the auditing of the financial operations of an internationally known firm.

Mr. Coldwell said the company administrators, technicians and workers had planned and developed "a marvellous project," but they could have done this equally well for the people and government of Canada.

"My criticisms are directed against the financial interests in the background, who, as I said, were in a position to hold a pistol at the heads of the United Nation in their extremity," he said.

Parkhill Scouts, Cubs At Salvation Army

The 9th Parkhill Community Scout Troop, under Leader Parks and the 9th Cub Pack under Jack Lambert attended a service at the Salvation Army Temple on Sunday, together with the 4th Salvation Army Guides under Leader Mrs. Arthur Smith and the 4th Brownie Pack under Leader Anna Hubel. The Colors were received by Major J. Wood. Prayer by Ronald Routly was followed by a vocal solo by the Brownie Leader, Anna Hubel. Guide Leader Mrs. Smith read the Scripture and each troop leader conducted their groups in reciting the Promise. "Mountain Climbing" was the subject of Major Wood's address. The young people were shown that the grandeur and thrill associated with mountain climbing in the ordinary sense can be no less real in spiritual mountaineering The qualifications, said the speaker, were outlined by the Psalmist: "Clean hands, a pure heart, and those who have not lifted up their soul unto vanity."

Eniwetok Island Captured; Raid Shumushu

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 22.—(AP). —Capture of Eniwetok Island by United States army troops fighting in the Marshall Islands and bombing of Paramushiro and Shumushu Islands at the northern end of Japan were announced last night.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported Enitwetok Islands at the western edge of the Marshalls had been taken, and Parry Island, another segment of Eniwetok atoll, was under heavy attack by American air and surface troops. The marines already have captured Engebi Island in the atoll.

Search planes of the fleet air wi[ng] dropped more than five tons o[f] bombs on Paramushiro and Shumushu Islands the night of Feb. 19, Nimitz said.

The Japanese have a navy base at Paramushiro. Shumushu Island is just to the north; and both form the northernmost segments of the Kurile Islands in the Japanese archipelago.

At Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific it was announced nine more Japanese ships—fugitives from battered Rabaul harbor—were sunk by Allied planes, bringing to 44 the total number of Japanese ships sunk by bombs and guns in the Bismarck archipelago area within a period of one week.

Sgt. Douglas Pocock Is Reported Safe

From unofficial but very reliable sources word was received today by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pocock, 740 Water street, that their son, Sgt. air gunner Douglas L. Pocock, who was reported missing some weeks ago in a flight over Germany, was forced down in a neutral country and is safe.

The young airman enlisted in October, 1942, and after graduating went overseas in August, 1943.

Elmhirst Cow Given Place In Honor List

In the annual honor list of the Holstein-Friesian Association is prominently mentioned the three-year-old "Snowflake Alcartra Tensen" in the herd owned by the late Gilbert J. Elmhirst of Birdsall's, whose sudden death from a heart attack Saturday night was a shock to his many friends in the county and city.

This honor list singles out for recognition the leading producers of last year. "Snowflake" headed for both milk and butterfat twice-a-day milking section of the senior three-year-old class in the yearly division with her production of 814 pounds butterfat from 23,239 pounds of milk. This record is, incidentally, the fourth largest for milk production ever made in this class in Canada. "Snowflake" was also an honor list leader as a two-year-old in 1942.

To gain a place in the list, an animal must have completed a record of performance test during 1943 that rated among the top five made in any part of the Dominion in its class for either milk or butterfat.

Mr. Elmhirst had long been one of the prominent farmers of Peterborough county. He had been for some years developing a Holstein herd, and during the last two years was beginning to get some of the results for which he had hoped. His death will be especially regretted by his associates of the Peterborough Holstein-Friesian Association.

Ice Merchant Charged With Raising Prices

COBOURG, Feb. 22—(ENS)—W. S. Cann, local ice merchant, was charged in court Monday with selling ice in October of 1943 at a price higher than he charged during the basic period. Magistrate R. B. Baxter, at the request of defence counsel, T. F. Hall, K.C., reserved his decision until March 13 in order to permit Mr. Hall to file written argument. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board was represented by Solicitor Alan Field of Cobourg.

Mrs. Mary Waller, local woman, testified that she had bought ice from the Cann firm for the past 32 years. In 1942 she paid in October the sum of $2.50 for a month's supply of ice. She also produced receipts showing that on August 3, 1943 she paid $3.75 for 25 block at 15c a block; Sept. 13, 1943, 22 blocks for $3.30 at 15c a block and Oct. 1, 1943, 14 blocks at 15c, amounting to $2.10. On October 30, 1943 she had paid $1.60, at 20 cents per block for eight blocks of ice. This latter purchase had been designated as "imported" ice, she testified. Following her complaint to the W.P.T.B. an inspector called on her and she gave him a signed statement which was dated Nov. 9, 1943. In this statement, which was produced in court, she said that in 1941 she paid, $2.50 per month; 1942, $3 a month; 1943, at 15c a block and that in October of 1943, the price was raised to 20c a block. The blocks seemed to become smaller in size and some only looked about 15 pounds each, she stated.

Didn't Know of Scarcity

To Mr. Hall she testified that she was unaware that ice was scarce last year although she knew that there was only one dealer handling it instead of the two in previous years. She said that she did not know that Cann ran out of his ice in his own warehouse and recalled that she had complained to him of the decreased size of the blocks. Mrs. Waller testified that she had asked Mr. Cann's son why the ice had been raised to 20c a block and had been informed in reply that it was "imported."

Magistrate Baxter drew her attention to the fact that her signed statement did not agree with her receipts as her bill for one month in 1942 read $2.50 and her statement read $3.

"When did he start charging you $3?" the magistrate asked.

Mrs. Waller replied that she might have a bill at home which covered that point.

"Well, you haven't one filed here for that amount," commented the magistrate.

Evidence of her husband was that in the early part of 1943 the price charged by Cann was 15c a block which was raised later in the year to 20c. The blocks were no larger at the increased price and if anything they were smaller, he estimated.

Made Investigation

W. R. Payne of Peterborough, inspector for the W.P.T.B., said that he investigated Mrs. Waller's complain and that Mr. Cann had given him a signed statement in which the latter stated that after he had run out of ice, which he had harvested himself and sold for 15c a cake, he bought a supply from the Haas estate which he sold at 20c a cake because of the increased costs in buying it, washing it, transportation and cutting it into blocks.

Mr. Hall commented on the "very fair treatment" accorded Mr. Cann by Mr. Payne, declaring that it was pleasant to run across a government official of that kind. In reply to a question from the magistrate, Mr. Payne said that the proper procedure for Mr. Cann was to have applied for permission from the W.P.T.B. to raise his price.

Cann testified that his ice busi-

UNIVERSAL CARRIER

Often termed the "most useful vehicle in this war", the Universal Carrier is the pet of the Infantry, supporting and complementing their actions over terrain that would be impassable to almost any other means of transport. This speedy, lightly armoured, open-topped vehicle travels on caterpillar tracks at a speed comparable with that of road-confined automobiles. It can mount a Bren gun for action against enemy troops and aircraft, be utilized as a smoke screen layer, barbed-wire destroyer, for laying communication wires, and for many other types of work. The hard-hitting Infantry have a tough affection for these speedy weapon carriers that can take as much punishment as the versatile infantrymen themselves, and still come back to hand out even tougher punishment to the enemy.

Rotarians Back Post War Plans

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 22 (ENS)—Rotarians here are ready and willing to cooperate with any organization or group that concerns itself with the problems of post war planning, declared President E. A. Stuart in summarizing the discussion on this question which featured the noon-day luncheon of the club on Monday.

In the absence of a regular speaker, a number of members voiced their opinion on the question which has been the principal local topic of current interest for the past month. Major N. Alex. MacColl told members the Legion had already formed a Re-habilitation Committee comprising 12 members, and that they had voted $50 to a general fund with the provision that the Municipality vote a "proportionate sum."

He pointed out, however, that the Legion was more directly concerned with such matters as pensions, and completing the civilian training of soldiers where it had been left off at the time of their enlistment. Major MacColl felt the work pile idea could be sponsored by the Rotary Club.

No Interest

Recalling that the Post War Planning meeting called by the Mayor last Friday night had been a wash-out when less than half a dozen turned up, several expressed the view that it was up to the business men of the town as well as Rotarians to take an interest and attend the next meeting.

This was similar to the view of Rotarian H. N. Carr, ex-M.P.P., who saw in the post-war work pile a great opportunity not only to help the returning soldiers but to add as well to the national income by assisting every employee in the country. Mr. Carr suggested paying for the work with interest free currency that could be issued by the Government instead of bonds. This could be amortized in 20 or 30 years and would be a vast improvement over the present system of paying the debt every ten years or so (in the form of interest payments) and still owing it. Mr. Carr saw no reason why if such a plan were adopted it could not be extended even to the municipal field.

A proposal to make Rotarian Charles Davidson, a charter member of the club, was heartily endorsed by the meeting. Mr. Davidson has been ill for the past nine months and the move was made in recognition of the fact he had been formerly one of the most active members.

As the tentative date for a hockey night here was set at March 3. It would feature competitions between Stirling and Campbellford school teams. According to Rotarian William Hogle this would probably wind up the hockey activities here for the season.

Police Salaries Unchanged By Commission

On a motion moved by Judge S. L. Smoke and seconded by Mayor James Hamilton the Board of Police Commissioners decided at its regular meeting Monday to make no changes in the salaries of the members of the police department for this year.

Some time ago a request signed by all members of the force asking for an increase had been received and at Monday's meeting Chief Sam. Newhall in making his annual report had recommended increases amounting to approximately 6 per cent for himself, Inspector James F. Reid and Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher and to a 10 and 12 per cent in the case of other members of the force.

Chief Newhall had budgetted for the increase in his estimates of expenditures for this year, and set $43,465 as the sum needed to finance the operations of the department for 1944.

However the commission declined to grant any salary increases, trimmed off a few of the other items in the estimates and decided that $40,380 would be enough to cover departmental expenditures for the year. This sum is only slightly in advance of the estimates for 1943 which had been set at $40,365.73.

"Personally I am not in favor of any increases in salary," declared Judge Smoke when the estimates were reached.

"Three or four of them should be coming down so far as the service they are rendering is concerned," remarked Mayor Hamilton.

"Certainly the salary paid first-class constables here is below that in most other Ontario cities," objected Magistrate E. A. Gee.

"I don't like to see these estimates going up year after year," remarked Judge Smoke. "We are not elected by the people but we are here to represent the people. The police department is costing plenty of money now for the service we get."

Gee Suggests More

"Some of these men should be getting more in keeping with what is paid in other cities," declared Magistrate Gee.

Judge Smoke moved that the salaries of the police department for 1944 remain the same as in 1943 with the cost of living bonus included. Mayor Hamilton seconded the motion.

"There is one thing to be considered," said the Mayor. "The firemen are coming back to the council for another increase this year and I don't know just what the attitude of the council may be. If the firemen are given another increase this matter may have to be re-opened."

Magistrate Gee suggested that an increase of 5 per cent instead of the 10 per cent recommended should be granted but the motion to provide no increases in salary was carried.

The chief's recommendations had called for $2,900 salary for himself, $2,280 for the inspector and sergeant-detective, $1,950 for Sgts. Wigg, Puffer and Thompson, $1,900 for acting detective Menzies and Naples, $1,840 for each first class constable, and $1,000 for Police Matron Maguire.

The present scale which remains in force as a result of the commission's action is $2,600 for the chief constable, $1,900 for Inspector Reid

OBITUARY

MISS L. HAWLEY

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 22 (ENS)—Lucina May Hawley, 77, former organist and talented piano accompanist was buried here Monday afternoon as many friends gathered to pay final tribute to a highly esteemed citizen.

Miss Hawley was a resident of this town for nearly sixty years, and was born here a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hawley. During her early days here she gained a considerable reputation for her interest in music and painting and for many years gave instruction in piano. Miss Hawley was organist at the Methodist church for nearly twenty-five years. In 1925 she went to Toronto, where she worked in the income tax office of the Provincial government for nearly ten years, but failing health forced her to retire about seven years ago, and she returned to Campbellford in 1942.

Miss Hawley is survived by two brothers, Charles of Winnipeg and Harry of Detroit. Two other brothers predeceased her, William dying in Calgary in 1929, and Fred, who passed away in Toronto in 1927.

The funeral service was held from Bennett's Funeral Parlors, and was conducted by Rev. G. N. Maxwell of St. John's United church. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery. The pall bearers, all of whom were members of St. John's United church choir, were Dr. H. O. Richardson, Charles Howey, H. M. Donald, George Nicholls, Harold Twigg and Walter Henson.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. Charles Hawley, Winnipeg; Mr. Harry Hawley, Detroit, and Mrs. Jessie P. Chase, a former resident and intimate friend, now of Toronto.

Carpenter Injured By Fall From Roof

COBOURG, Feb. 22 (ENS).—Herbert Harden, Cobourg carpenter, was badly injured Monday morning when he fell from the roof of a house occupied by R. Beatty. Mr. Beatty's house was damaged on Sunday night by a fire and Mr. Harden was engaged in making repairs at the time of the accident. He was taken to Cobourg General Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a fracture at the base of the skull. A brain specialist was called in last night. Mr. Harden is middle-aged.

A Uniform Labour Code

Yesterday we said that the Federal Labour Code would stand or fall according to the degree of co-operation with which it was received by the provincial governments, by management and by labour. The Provincial Government of Ontario has acted quickly and helpfully by announcing its intention of introducing legislation during the current session which will make the new Code apply to all labour disputes in this Province, and not merely to those in war industries. The Hon. Charles Daly, the Minister of Labour, has said that more than fifty per cent. of Ontario's working population is in war industry anyway, and nothing but confusion would come of applying a different labour code to the smaller number of workers.

A uniform labour code for the whole Dominion would have many great advantages. Workers and employers would know where they stood on important questions and a reasonable degree of Canadian solidarity would result from that feeling. At present both employers and workers are apt to cast their eyes across the border when they want inspiration in labour matters, and it is doubtful if such an attitude is really good for Canada. While we have no desire to be isolationist or to shut out any good example which may come to us from the United States, it is better that we should adopt new ideas as a nation, and not piecemeal. This will be particularly apparent in the period after the war. It is already amply clear that the line which the U.S. has taken in war finance will require a different sort of post-war reconstruction from that which will be most beneficial to Canada. It may be that we shall be able to put our house in order quicker than our neighbour. Uniformity of action on the part of management and labour will undoubtedly show itself valuable then. Ontario has given a lead toward establishing such uniformity, and we hope to see the other provinces follow in due time.

Shrove Tuesday

Today is Shrove Tuesday, and we hope that our readers have not forgotten the traditional dish of pancakes which should grace it. The French call the day Mardi Gras, or Fat Tuesday, and it may be that they do so because of the fat which is used in making the pancakes.

Pancakes on Shrove Tuesday is an innocent jollification which has at various times aroused the indignation of those people — and there are always plenty of them—who do not like to see their fellow-mortals enjoying themselves. Oliver Cromwell and his Puritan adherents suspected the Shrove Tuesday pancakes of some dire theological significance, and at one time and another the old custom has been condemned. But it has persisted. Threatened customs, like threatened men, live long. The beginning of the pancake custom is lost in history, and the end of it is not yet in sight.

Boy Scout Week In Canada

This week is Boy Scout Week in Canada, and we are glad to have an excuse for saying a few words about that admirable body, the Boy Scouts' Association.

Perhaps the best justification and recommendation of the Boy Scout movement is found in a comparison of it with the Hitler Youth Movement. Both institutions are superficially alike in aim; that is to say, they are organized to give boys a discipline and training supplementary to that which they receive at home and in school; they concentrate on outdoor activities; they give boys a uniform to wear, a code to follow, and an ideal to live up to. If, in 1938, a Boy Scout and a lad from the Hitler Youth had been matched in a contest of woodlore, first aid, rope work and similar skill, we do not think that there would have been much to choose between them. But there would most certainly have been an unbridgeable gulf between them in the world of the spirit. The Hitler Youth boy was training himself to be a good soldier and a worthy follower of the Fuehrer, and he knew it; the Boy Scout was quite without military ambition, glad to serve anybody who needed his help, and his attitude toward his country and its leaders might have been anything between admiration and strong criticism. The Hitler Youth was nationalist and militarist in its doctrine; the Boy Scouts are democratic and international.

The physical discipline and the training of the Boy Scouts is excellent, but it is not the most important part of Scout work. It is the Scout spirit, imparted without too much formal lecturing, which is the more valuable part of the movement. A Scout may, in his manhood, forget all about knots and how to make a fire with wet wood, but he is not likely to forget what it is to be a responsible individual, or what is expected of him in a crisis. He may grow to question his duty to his country, but he is not likely to forget his duty to humanity. There is nothing fascist about the Scouts; their whole mental and moral atmosphere is anti-fascist. In paying special honour to them this week we show our admiration of an institution which has done fine work in the democratic countries of the world. The Hitler Youth will have to unlearn all that was carefully taught to them. The Scout will be able to carry the best part of his training all through his life.

The Parliamentary Librarian

After seven years of vacancy the post of Parliamentary Librarian has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Francis A. Hardy; henceforth he will act with M. Felix Desrochers as one of the joint librarians of the splendid collection. For many years Mr. Hardy has been the English-speaking Assistant Librarian, and he has shown himself able in every way for the position which is now his. Let us hope that he will fill it for many years to come.

The appointment of a trained and experienced librarian to be head of a great library may scarcely appear to be a matter for surprise or excitement, but in this instance it is. The post of Parliamentary Librarian has usually been given as a valuable piece of party patronage. Now this has not been, in itself, a bad thing; contrary to popular opinion, a man can usually be found within a party who is quite as well qualified to have a position as a man who is outside that party; some excellent librarians have been established in the Parliamentary Library under strict patronage. But though these men were well suited for the post by their learning and temperament, they knew very little about directing a library, and left most of that work to their assistants. Running a library of half a million volumes is a complex task, and it needs training and experience. Mr. Hardy has both. Congratulations are owing to him on a well-deserved appointment to an office of honour and usefulness, and to the Government on having chosen a man entirely for his merit, and without reference to his party views.

Officers On Loan

We are glad that Canada is going to lend a large number of junior Army officers to Britain; we are sure that the Hon. Mr. Ralston's statement on this subject will give general satisfaction.

Canada has more officers than it needs; Britain has too few. The young men in the Canadian Army who have been cooling their heels in Canada without much chance of getting into active service or gaining promotion will be glad of the chance to change their condition. The Canadian Army collected a large reserve of officers as a precautionary measure, and now it appears that there are too many of them. It seems merely good sense to let them go where there is something for them to do.

It is also a good thing for Canadian officers to make the acquaintance of their British equivalents and British troops. The more the men of the Commonwealth see of one another during this war, the better it will be for us all. Our young men will know their contemporaries from everywhere in the Empire, and they will learn to respect them and understand them. And we are confident that our officers will command friendship and respect in return. By all means let us lend them to Britain; they will serve the common cause as well in one British Army as in another, and widen their experience, also.

Toward The Spring!

By VERA FOYNE
In the Christian Science Monitor

TODAY has been an unexpected bit of bounty, an extra ration point slipped in ahead of schedule. So, today, I abandoned typewriter and desk, went out in the mild air to listen. In this neck o' Connecticut, I noticed, the mercury was up to 56 degrees! My winter tweed felt heavy as I trudged uphill, away from streets and shops, up toward the sleeping fields whose dreams cannot be bought.

Down the hill to meet me little rills came running. On either side of the narrow road, they ran with brisk and cheerful sound, carrying the molten snows, making light of winter. From pine to spruce Canadian sparrows flittled—those small white-throats with their ever-blithe cheep. Even on icy days they never sound depressed, only subdued. But on this afternoon their small voices spoke of spring.

At the top of the hill, the road bent left, led past an orchard. An apple orchard nearly thirty years old, seasoned trees, beautiful in their bareness. Pruners were at work among them, lopping off suckers, redding them to bear. By autumn—next autumn—all the boughs will be bright with fruits, with McIntoshes and Baldwins. The clear shapes of the trees will be lost, the branchy outlines blurred by a thick dress of leaves. Standing there this afternoon on the road, staring at their stark skeletons, this was hard to believe. Still, I know that potent sap lives in those skeletons and that spring never fails in its potent renewal!

WITHOUT haste the three pruners moved their ladders from tree to tree, climbing, cutting, tossing the lopped branches down till all the pale gold turf was littered with dark lace. Two of the men were Hungarians, vivid in colour, with strongly modeled faces. The other was a New Englander, a Scots type, on the dour side, silent and set upon his business. Under the trees, cheering his men on, stood Seumas O'Keefe, the Irishman. Irishman, did I say? He was born right here in New Eden. Yet his parents out of County Antrim have given him their Irish brogue, a tongue, and that colour of mind which stems from the Green Isle and bubbles into talk lively and rich. O'Keefe's fists were thrust into the pockets of his leather windbreaker. Sturdily he stood, a solid and vigorous stump belonging to the ground as much as any tree! All his eighty years had been spent among growing things. His round, ruddy face was clear of guile, fresh as a boy's. Nobody would guess how many seasons had passed over his shoulders. From under his cap hair sprang out in a silver halo above his green-blue eyes.

The mere sight of him was tonic, made me feel hopeful.

"Is it really spring, Seumas? Can today last?"

His eyes twinkled.

"Ye can't count on it for certain till March seventeenth. 'Tis then the smoke curls out of every chimney, so they say in Antrim, where they sleep all winter and never tumble into work till the true coming of spring."

His eyes went back onto the trees and the three men at work there. By instinct and long experience, he saw every separate bough and its worth.

"Take off that one next, Miklo!" He spoke to one of the Hungarians. "See, near the middle. It's a sucker that'll carry no fruit."

The man nodded, set his small saw sliding back and forth. A fine yellowish dust fell on the turf.

O'Keefe's fist settled back in his side-pocket.

"Good workers, these Hungarians. Miklo has been with me seventeen years and the other fellow longer. Their spines keep straight; they walk like men. It's from the military training. A bit of honest discipline harms nobody. Young Dicky, me grandson, snaps his feet together and calls me 'Sir' now when he comes home on leave. Uncle Sam is teaching him what his mother never did." Seumas O'Keefe chuckled. "He used to have the manners of a bull. I don't hold with the old just because I'm a white-head, but respect is a proper thing in a human being. Him that fails in kindness to a child or a cat, to an apple tree or a woman in her age, pretty quick fails in reverence, too. Respect of living creatures is God's way. The wildness in us needs pruning. An unpruned boy don't bear good fruit no more than an unpruned McIntosh tree."

O'KEEFE picked up a branch from the earth, turned it in his fingers. His face was serious. It glowed like a healthy apple.

"Maybe, here in America, we let 'em run too wild, lads and girls alike. The Chinese don't scold children, so I hear tell, but the children have reverence in them from their first days unto their last. What are any of us—yellow, white, or black—but the children of God's eye?" Seumas held up the pruned branch against the cool blue sky, looking at its intricate twigs each tipped with a tight bud. Half a hundred tiny, tight buds sleep, who would not wake nor unfurl this spring. "War is a hard pruning," Seumas said, Gently, with a sort of compassion, he laid the branch back on the ground. His red fist rested against his corduroy pants. There were soil stains on it, warm colours of earth clinging to his skin. "When things go hardest is when ye hold hardest to faith. Me mither were never a whiner, not she!" Deep feeling surged through his sea-green eyes and Seumas O'Keefe's voice rang blithe. "Once me fayther broke his leg. Us shavers were too little for aught but play. I remember well—four years I had, and Katie two, and Paddy boy three. So she hired out at fifty cents a day to keep a bit o'soup in the pot. At the end of it, what did she do? Shure, she took us all to the door, pointed her finger. 'Look, childers, the buds do be opening' on our quince! God never forgets his business."

The Grand Design

The report from Washington of 3-day discussions between the Governments of the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada on "the reduction and even the elimination" of tariff barriers is most welcome. This announcement means that the three governments are now shaping the keystone in the arch of post-war reconstruction and security. The grand design at last takes final form. The crucial importance of trade in every phase of post-war reconstruction —domestic and international — is obvious and has been repeatedly stressed in these columns. All the international economic planning hitherto undertaken has been designed to the single end of creating a freely-trading world. And every major declaration of policy on behalf of the United Nations has agreed that the freeing of trade is the chief war aim on the economic side. —Winnipeg Free Press.

RELENTLESS TIME —By Rube Goldberg

The West Derbyshire By-election

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

LOSING a parliamentary seat which had been in the possession of his family for three hundred years, the Marquess of Hartington was defeated in the riding of West Derbyshire, England. The Government candidate lost the by-election to Alderman Charles White, running as an Independent Socialist, by a large majority, with an Agriculturalist candidate coming in a very poor third.

The results in this by-election could hardly be interpreted as a straight rejection of the Government, any more than they could be read as a strong trend in Britain toward Socialism. Several factors probably influenced the voters, and perhaps the foremost of these was a desire to end the three-centuries-old domination by the Cavendish family. Unquestionably, that family has sent able and worthy representatives to Parliament, but perpetuation of the seat in its name has been a virtual monument to feudalism—and a lot of people are getting fed up with feudalism in Britain.

Had the hands of the Labour and Liberal parties not been tied by the presence of a Government candidate in the field, it is certain that Alderman White would never have witnessed the tremendous turnover at the polls which saw a swing of more than ten thousand votes since the last by-election. In another by-election held the same day at Kirkcaldy, the Labour candidate won handily. A Labour candidate in West Derbyshire might have been equally successful, for the riding appears predominantly industrial in the light of the meagre 233 votes which were polled by the Agriculturalist candidate.

Although the war and foreign policies of the Churchill Government still receive strong support in Britain, there is more dissatisfaction with its domestic policy than is widely realized. It is probable that this feeling also played its part in defeating the Marquess of Hartington, but, as we have indicated before, the young aristocrat's family record was very likely his greatest handicap.

Only Themselves To Blame

(LETHBRIDGE HERALD)

FANATICAL Hutterite leaders are wholly responsible for Alberta Government's decision to pass legislation to prevent the further purchase of land by this sect in this province during the war. Their deliberate flaunting of public opinion as expressed in the legislation first passed by the Alberta Legislature and disallowed by the Federal Government because it dealt with enemy aliens, a responsibility of the Dominion in wartime, as well as the Hutterites, has brought about the decision to introduce a new measure to apply to Hutterites only. Had the Hutterites respected the strong public opinion adverse to their acquirement of more land while the war was on, this legislation wouldn't have been necessary. Instead, once the legislation was disallowed they proceeded to buy more land with the result that the agitation against them broke forth anew and Edmonton's decision to bring in a new bill is the result.

The Hutterites, or at any rate extreme elements amongst them, have done their utmost to avoid observance of the regulations respecting conscientious objectors. The Mennonites on the other hand have done everything possible to cooperate. All conscientious objectors are asked to do is to render alternative service in camps or on farms for regular wages, a very considerable part of which is deducted for Red Cross work. Extreme Hutterites have sought to avoid the application of this regulation to their military age youth with the natural result that patriotic people have become aroused in hostility to them. All this feeling could have been prevented had the Hutterite leaders used good sense. There was no persecution of this sect because of its conscientious objection to war. Their youth were not being forced to serve in the armed forces. All that was expected of them was compliance with the regulations dealing with conscientious objectors, regulations that are common in every country engaged in war.

It is to be hoped the boards dealing with those subject to alternating service will in the future be more drastic in their dealings with the Hutterite youth of military age. Only enough labour should be left with the colonies to carry on their operations, the surplus should be taken into alternative service and placed at work in the forests or mines or on the farms of those of our farmers who are short of labour by reason of the enlistment of their sons for active service.

The extreme element of Hutterites have acted in such a way as to make themselves extremely unpopular—and finally the people, and through them the governments have been aroused to action. That could have been avoided if good judgment had been used by the Hutterite leaders.

Culled From Our Contemporaries

An Impossible Arrangement

The danger of the emancipation decreed by Moscow is that it is of a kind to furnish to the U.S.S.R. at the next international conferences an enormous influence which might eventually turn out to our detriment. If other countries decide to follow this example we shall end up in disorder. Can one imagine Washington according the same independence to its forty-eight States, or Ottawa to its nine provinces? Once started along this line, there is really nothing to prevent pushing the bidding constantly higher. There is a real danger, the gravity of which should not be minimized. Nobody is opposed to Russia's getting out of the victory all forseeable, reasonable and legitimate advantages. It is important, however, that she should not act so as to take the lion's share. That would be to scatter many germs of new conflicts. After more than four years of a painful war, no man with brains and heart would lightly accept the semblance of an international order susceptible of causing sooner or later a new appeal to arms. Our civilization will not resist indefinitely the assaults of a world gone mad. — Montreal La Patrie.

Do You Blame Them?

Yet 1,200 Signed

A good example of how little petitions frequently reflect public opinion is seen in the beverage room vote in Collingwood. Although 1,200 signed a petition for a vote on this question only 649 voted in favor of the beer parlors. — Barrie Examiner.

A Bible Message

Come near, ye nations, to hear; and hearken, ye people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein; the world, and all things that come out of it.... Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you.

Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert....

And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness; and the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err therein....

And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. (Isa. 34: 1; 35: 4-6, 8, 10.)

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS. (Jer. 23: 5, 6.)

Letter To The Editor

A SIGNIFICANT ELECTION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The readers of the Examiner no doubt, would be interested in the editor's views upon the election in West Derbyshire, when the cobbler's son won the election from the Duke's son, whose family had held the Riding for some three hundred years, in this medieval allegiance. It shows that after three hundred years, that the people of West Derbyshire have awakened to the recognition of the fact that men should be elected to office upon their merit and not by reason of the fact that they belong to a family of benevolent dictators.

Canadian people would be interested in the results of this election, by reason of the fact that here, we believe in recognizing a man for what he is, and not because of the dim past, some of his forefathers were able to acquire the lion's share of the common people's heritage.

A new order is definitely being established in the Old Land and people will not be forced to leave the Old Country to possess the privilege of living their own lives, as many of our forefathers did.

G. N. GORDON.

"Well, there is only one correct placement for that voice that I can see—a deserted island in the Pacific."

Practical Ideas Suggested To Women To Save Clothes

Clothes conservation has become one of the most important items in war economy, and Miss J. Reid of Lever Brothers, Toronto, is giving a demonstration in the C.D.S. this week, to show the women of Peterborough the best way to care for delicate rayon fabrics so they will give longer wear.

"My mother calls me a glorified washerwoman," Miss Reid laughed, "and I guess at that she is not so far wrong because we give practical demonstrations of the right and wrong way to do things."

Miss Reid is one of eight young women who have travelled from coast to coast for the purpose of explaining how to prolong the durability of women's clothes. One of her companions, Miss E. Archibald, will arrive on Thursday to assist her for the balance of the week, with the Lux Washability program.

The girls have made it a point not to talk to women in groups, but to treat each case individually, so that the customers can see for themselves and ask any questions. The girls illustrate how to wash and iron properly and supply charts showing how to wash woollens and rayons.

Miss Reid pointed out that in rayons particularly, women should avoid wringing and twisting. They should use only lukewarm water at body temperature, and by all means avoid extreme heat in drying. In ironing slips, she suggested that the ironing should be done with the grain or weave, for this avoids bulging seams and baggy hem lines. Sweaters are always a problem, she indicated, and their lab has recently devised a new system. They suggest taking a piece of heavy brown wrapping paper and folding until there is a sharp edge. This is wonderful for bringing up the nap, if it is used to brush the sweater when it is damp. There is no weight to spoil the pattern.

"Women to-day don't realise that these fabrics have to be treated scientifically. It's not like the good old days when the materials were so good, we didn't have to worry about them."

Miss Reids booth will be open during the regular store hours and women are asked to drop in and see for themselves, with no obligations involved.

Shower Given For Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miles, 556 Homewood avenue, recently entertained at their home at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Purcell (nee Birdie Davis). The evening was spent in games and cards.

Later the bride and groom were seated beneath an arch decorated with pink and white streamers and white bells, and a gaily decorated wagon, filled with gifts, was drawn into the room by Miss Joan Miles. Mrs. G. E. Whitehill assisted the bride in opening the gifts.

At the conclusion of the evening, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Women Observe International Day

A telegram, received by the Nation president of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Miss Margaret Wherry, of Montreal, was read at the International Day meeting of the Peterborough Business and Professional Women's Club, held Monday evening. The telegram read as follows: "Hearty New Year greetings to you and all members of Federation. Firm decision taken by Allies hasten defeat of common enemy in accordance with declaration of Teheran Confernece which call on us women Allied countries work still more intensively and productively. Best wishes for success in your work. (signed) Valentina Hrizodubov chairman and secretary, Tatiana Zuyeve, Soviet Women's Anti-Fascist Committee."

The theme for consideration at the International Day meeting was, "The role of women in post-war rehabilitation." The president, Miss Anne Jamieson, in her remarks, said: "As trained women in our various occupations, we have much to contribute to reconstruction, both educational and spiritual, as well as financial. But, we have to prepare for that contribution now, by studying the various programs already drafted, and by collaborating with other women's roganizations that we may make our influence felt.

"Before the war," she continued, "thirty-one countries were affiliated with the International Business and Professional Women's Club, but now only twelve remain. This fact alone shows the need for increased efforts on the part of all still in a position to help."

In recognition of the celebration, the International president, Dr. Madison Phillips, of New York, who has just returned from an extended trip to England, will broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Sunday, February 27, from 1:45 to 2:00 p.m.

Mrs. J. Cridland Re-elected Head Conservative Women

Mrs. J. Cridland was re-elected president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Peterborough, at the annual meeting of the group, held Monday afternoon in the Paragon Hall. Mrs. G. K. Fraser in the chair for the election of officers, and the slate is as follows: Honorary presidents, Senator Iva C. Fallis, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mrs. J. F. Strickland, Mrs. E. Birdsall; honorary vice-president, Mrs. J. Mills; President, Mrs. John Cridland; first vice-president, Mrs. T. Skinner; second vice-president, Mrs. W. Hughes; third vice-president, Mrs. D. Miller; secretary, Mrs. R. E. Clarke; treasurer, Mrs. G. R. Cottrell; Ward chairmen are: north, Mrs. H. Staunton; centre, Mrs. J. Pickering; west, Mrs. H. M. Wilson; south, Mrs. E. Fisher; east, Mrs. A. Leach; Claraday, Mrs. Roy Pilling.

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., in addressing the group, told of the growing realization in government quarters of the importance of women in their activities. He said that an Advisory Women's Council, with representatives from every Association, was being formed, and told of the executive meeting of the Dominion Association to be held March 3 and 4, at which delegates from each Association will be present. The growth of the Association staff at Bracken House in Ottawa was also outlined by the speaker, who told of the various publications sent out, and asked that any members of the Association who were not receiving copies of Public Opinion to get in touch with him.

Senator Iva C. Fallis spoke briefly, and said that, "in wartime the government is given practically unlimited powers, and tends to become autocratic. This is becoming increasingly evident in Ottawa. But, since it is the people's money that the government is spending, and since no one is asking for information detrimental to the war effort, it is within the rights of every citizen to know how his money is being spent."

Senator Fallis said that she did not deny that there were men in the government who were doing fine jobs, but that most of the credit had to go to the people, who worked, saved and sacrificed to keep the country going. "The time has come," she continued, "for a reminder to be given, because it is the people who are making possible the continuance of this war, and therefore they have a right to know how the government is spending their money."

Senator Fallis' address was a follow-up of a remark made by Mr. Fraser, when he said he had been trying to find out how much the government was paying for ships built in its own yards, and of the difference between the cost of ships made in government yards and by private concerns.

Captain Harold Scott, M.P.P., also briefly addressed the meeting, and said that he was leaving for the opening of Parliament that afternoon, and would do his best to be worthy of the confidence shown by the voters who elected him to office.

Annual reports from the secretary and treasurer were given, and monthly reports on the progress of the new study groups being formed were given by ward chairmen. Mrs. Cridland told of the war work being done at the Red Cross rooms by members of the Association, and reported a total of 55 articles completed. These articles however, included 11 smartly tailored men's coats, as well as dresses and other articles for children and grown-ups. Two representatives to the Local Council of Women, in addition to the president, were named—Mrs. E. Fisher and Mrs. M. Brown.

At the close of the meeting, the members were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser and the executive, and tea and cakes were servel.

Mrs. L. Groombridge was soloist, and sang "On the Shore," and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

Grove Firsts Tie Old Boys In Exciting Tilt

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 22 (ENS) — The Grove School's first hockey team came from behind in the dying seconds of an exciting hockey tilt to force a tie with their Old Boys, 7-7.

The game is an annual fixture, played against a team made up of graduates of the Grove. This year, despite wartime restrictions, the Old Boys iced a surprisingly strong team, and forced the play in all three periods. Led by their captain, Charlie Robinson, who counted five of their goals, the Old Boys showed such stars as the Grove's headmaster, Mr. G. W. Smith, Phil Horton, R.C.A.F.; this trio formed the front line. Edgar Moore, Grove coach, and Ollie Herold of Toronto, alternated with Bob and Louis Fleming of Toronto on defense, with Bill MacBrien, Toronto, in the nets.

Played on hard, fast ice, the game soon developed in to a free-wheeling, wide-open contest. Eayrs scored the opening counter on a pass from Langmuir early in the opening period. He tallied again a minute later to gain a 2-0 lead for the school. The Old Boys came right back with three goals. Charlie Robinson banging the first two in, and at the close of the second period Horton skated in fast to count the third tally.

The school tied the game up early in the second frame, Giroux taking a pass from Harris and whipping it past MacBrien. The O.B.'s peppered Hyde for two or three minutes and were finally rewarded by a goal by Robinson. Then Harris evened things up, dumping the puck in the net to polish off a nifty play.

The score was tied, 4-4, going into the last period, when Giroux let go a blistering shot that got past MacBrien for the fifth score. Then the Old Boys let loose with two goals in as many minutes, the first by Horton and the one following scored by Robinson. A short while later, Giroux again put the game into a tie, only to have Robinson shake himself loose around the Grove net and put the Old Boys into a 7-6 lead.

The climax of the game came when Giroux dashed in on the Old Boys' goal with only seconds remaining in the game, and scored to tie the contest. The bell to end the game had gone, and the Old Boys argued that the game was over when Giroux scored. However, the referee had not blown his whistle signifying stoppage of play, and the goal was allowed.

Both goalies played well, despite the high score against them. Robinson with five tallies was the pick of the Old Boys, and Herold and Moore played sound hockey on defense. Giroux with four goals led the scoring parade for the Grove, while Smart and Patton looked good defensively.

Old Boys' line-up: Goal, MacBrien; defense, Moore and Herold; centre, Smith; wings, Robinson, Horton; subs, B. Fleming, L. Fleming.

Grove line-up: Goal, Hyde; defense, Roy, Patton; centre, Harris; wings, Giroux, Mackenzie; subs, Langmuir, Eayrs, Campbell, Smart, Shanly.

Referee: Captain H. F. Ketchum, Peterborough.

Cain Increases Scoring Lead

MONTREAL, Feb. 22 — (CP)— Herbie Cain of Boston Bruins has increased his lead atop the National Hockey League official scoring race during the last week, moving three points up on Lorne Carr of Toronto in a week that was generally dull as far as the leaders were concerned.

The official figures released today gave Cain 31 goals and 34 assists for a 65-point total, three ahead of his mark of a week ago, and three ahead of the present total of Carr, who had 60 points last week.

Doug Bentley and Bill Mosienko of Chicago remained in their third-place tie, but had Joe Carveth of Detroit pull up to share it with them. Each has 54 points, one ahead of Carl Liscombe of Detroit and Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens.

Cain remained the league's top goal-getter with 31, while Carr and Mud Bruneteau of Detroit ran their totals to 29 each. In the assist department, Elmer Lach retained his leadership with 37, three ahead of Cain, Clint Smith of Chicago and Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens.

Detroit's Harold Jackson remained as league bad man with 64 minutes in majors and minors, a minute more than Mike McMahon of Canadiens. McMahon also has a couple of 10-minute misconducts, which are counted separately by the league.

Police Salaries and Sergeant Detective Meagher, $1,600 for the three sergeants, $1,500 for the active detective and first-class constables and $800 for the police matron, with the cost of living bonus fo $179 a year added to these amounts.

No Action Taken

In his report Chief Newhall pointing out that permanent detectives were paid at the same rate as patrol sergeants and when acting for any length of time were usually paid a little higher than first class constables had recommended that both acting detectives Naples and Menzies should be paid an extra $60 a year when engaged on that work.

No action was taken on that recommendation.

The chief constable had also recommended the establishment of a pension fund.

Judge Smoke declared that the matter of providing a retiring allowance for members of the force who might be retired was entirely up to the city council.

"Certainly this board cannot do it," agreed Mayor Hamilton.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that I think the chief should be retired," said Judge Smoke. "Furthermore I am of the opinion that when a new chief is appointed he should be given a free hand to consider the personnel of his force and to make recommendations to the commission as to his opinion of the ability or otherwise of members of the force, having regard to their age and fitness for their duties."

Estimates Passed

Having settled the salary item the commission made short work of passing the estimates. Chief Newhall had included an item of $37,190 for salaries. This was cut to $34,455.00.

The commission also cut the clothing item from $1,900 to $1,600, the upkeep of the station from $500 to $400, the upkeep of automobiles, motorcycle and radio from $2,000 to $1,500, and insurance from $150 to $100 and finally sliced $100 from an item of $200 for attending conventions. Then an item of $700 to cover a new car at the end of the year was added and the estimates finally passed as follows:

Salaries, including cost of living bonus	$34,455.00
Police Commission	550.00
Telegraph and telephone	400.00
Clothing and equipment	1,600.00
Upkeep of station (heat, light, etc.)	400.00
Printing, Stationery, postage	275.00
Incidentals	300.00
Upkeep cars, motorcycle, radio	1,500.00
Insurance	100.00
Conventions, Victoria, B.C.	100.00
New automobile	700.00
Total	$40,380.00

On motion of Judge Smoke, seconded by Mayor Hamilton, the estimates of the department were set at the above total of $40,380 and on motion of Mayor Hamilton, seconded by Magistrate Gee, the council will be notified that the police commission considers a force consisting of a chief constable, eighteen other officers and a police matron is required.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

From Peterborough athletes who are serving in the army, on the sea and in the air, G. H. Roper, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. has been receiving a bunch of letters from overseas, thanking the Association for the Christmas greetings and membership cards sent out to former local members. Stoker Gordie Burns, basketball star and forward passer of the last Collegiate interscholastic football championship squad who is serving on the new British battle cruiser H.M.S. King George V writes to say that he has several trips to Gibraltar and had the honor of being on the ship that brought the Prime Minister home. Gordie adds "Since being over here I haven't taken an active part in any sport except that I did get in a little softball and open air basketball while stationed at our base Niobe" and he winds up "Would like to take this opportunity to wish all the fellows in the basketball league a good season and tell them to keep throwing them in for me." Capt. Jim Gillespie at headquarters of the 9th Infantry brigade overseas sends his thanks and the former hockey goalie and softball out-fielder adds that he has met Jim McClenaghan, former boys' secretary here, overseas several times lately. Lieut. Harry G. Marsh, former football star with the Orfuns and basketball guard with Outboard Marines, also with the army overseas says, "I often think of the friends and good times I had around the Y in Peterborough."

* * * * * *

Another football player who sends his greetings to the Y.M.C.A. from overseas is Sergt. Frank Spencely, of the S.D. and G.'s and a former member of the Orfuns. And still another well-known athlete who has acknowledged receipt of a Y.M.C.A. card is Flight Sergt. Bill Harle who played a lot of smart rugby with the P.C.V.S. squad and is now overseas with the R.C.A.F. Wally Agnew, "somewhere in England": "We in our unit are unable to play hockey this year due to the fact that we are too far from any rink." He adds, "always looking forward to the day when we can all be home to take our place as citizens of a peaceful country and world." M. Caraveggie writes: "In England here our boys really like the Y.M.C.A. They can get anything from them. Other Peterborough former members who have written are Flying Officer Gordon Johnston with the West Africa Air Force and Max Doughty, "somewhere on active service."

Plenty Of Stars

Promoter Frank Tunney has studded his weekly card at the Brock St. Arena tonight with stars of the wrestling firmament. Each of the three bouts on the program is worth of top line billing and it is seldom that fans in a smaller centre get an opportunity of looking over so much talent on the one night. The feature attraction between the handsome Vic Holbrook, the powerful and speedy giant from the Pacific Coast and the knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out Jan Gotch who always tries to win the hard way—for the other fellow—is enough in itself for an ordinary bill. With two men who are as far apart in appearance and style as day is from night pitted against each other that main bout should prove one of the most thrilling staged here. And yet it is only one of three star attrations. The semi-final clash between the former world champion Bobby Managoff the Chicago favorite and the rowdy son of Texas Karl Krippler Davis should be another wow. Managoff is the crowd-pleasing type while Davis is one of those ornery battlers who doesn't even bother to acknowledge his introduction. They should stage a merry mill. As for the opener any bout that has Strangler Bob Wagner lined couldn't be dull. Wagner is a bad man and that is said advisedly and as his opponent Al Korman is a Canadian sailor the Strangler will have everybody pulling against him. He'd probably worry if they didn't.

Peterborough ball fans will appreciate the following from Ken Colling's Belleville sport column: "It was exactly 20 years ago yesterday that saw Jack "Chief" Williams leave Belleville to join the spring hurling staff of the Rochester club in the International League. The Red Wings trained at Haddon, Georgia, that year. In his two years of pitching baseball for the Belleville Nationals, 1922 and '23, Jack Williams had established himself as one of the best lefthand pitchers in Canada. It was his work against the mighty Toronto Hillcrests in the fall of 1923 that stamped the "Chief" as a professional prospect and he was signed by Walter Hapgood, business manager of the Rochester club. However, Williams did not remain with the Rochester club that year but rather was farmed out to the Bridgeport, Conn., club in the old Eastern League. Today Jack "Chief" Williams is back in the Canadian Army, where he first gained prominence as a baseball pitcher overseas in 1918."

The Puzzle Grows

"Hockey fans will be more than a little bewildered to learn that "Bud" Poile is slated to play a few hockey games with Toronto leafs," says Jack Koffman in the Ottawa Citizen. "Poile, the story goes, is waiting to switch back to the army after missing out in his aircrew test....Just what is going on is a complete mystery....Poile was all set to play hockey with the army team in Cornwall....When that blew up, he suddenly appeared in Toronto and played a game with the R.C.A.F. team on the grounds that he was transferring to the Air Force....Now he's leaving the R.C.A.F. and is lining up for a few games in the N.H.L. while awaiting a change to khaki....We wonder whether "Red" Dutton will step in and order Leafs to keep hands off Poile....Surely a decision of this kind would not be as ridiculous as the one which barred Joe Cooper from playing here Wednesday....If the N.H.L. prexy has any special reason for putting the finger on Cooper, this would be a good time to let the public in on it."

When it comes to battling there is no better fighting team in the country than Pick Hines' Toronto Navy outfit. The Sailors have won a lot of games this season simply because they didn't know they were licked. Apparently down for the count they have fought back until they finally won out over an opponent that logically they had no right to beat. It happened again last night when the St. Catharines' Saints, now only three points in front of the in-and-out Hamilton Majors and anxious to add to that lead invaded Toronto. At the end of the second period the visitors had the Navy down 3 goals to 1 and it looked like all that was needed was to wrap up the two points and start for home. And then the Tars struck. They fired two goals early in the final session to tie up the count and drive the game into overtime and then Bus Benson who had shot the equalizer in the third period drilled the winning goal into the St. Catharines nets to give the Navy a 4 to 3 win.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Congratulations are in order to Mrs. Vernon Selkirk and her ladies' rink for winning the Gibson Trophy. There is also an orchid for Mrs. Reg. Turner's rink for the battle put up in the final game which was not decided until the final shot, Mrs. Selkirk's quartette winning 7 to 6....Incidentally this column, took a little glory last night off the Toronto bonspiel record of Skip Percy Skitch's Lindsay rink. That clever aggregation, as a matter of fact, won two of the competitions instead of one....Art Ross is frantically trying to strengthen the Bruins for the stretch drive....He is bringing up a pair of rookies, Clarence Schmidt and Tom Brennan from the Boston Olympics....Charlie Redfern's Toronto rink won the grand aggregate at the Toronto spiel with a record of 10 wins and one loss....The runner-up was none other than Percy Skitch of Lindsay whose rink won 12 games and lost 2 during the week....We have had a suspicion that the official scorer in Toronto has earned himself an assist on Babe Pratt's high-scoring record but the following paragraph from the Stop, Look and Listen Column of Monday night has us guessing. We quote: "Chiefly because of scorer's generosity in giving him assists Babe Pratt has 46 joints made up of 13 girls and 33 assists." Well, live and learn.

Mrs. V. Selkirk Captures Gibson Trophy

By HERB MARTIN

To Mrs. Vern Selkirk's rink goes the honour of winning the "Gibson Trophy," the main event of the ladies' schedule.

By the narrowest margin possible, one shot, this rink came through Monday afternoon to win the trophy when it defeated Mrs. R. Turner 7 to 6. Both rinks played all their schedule games and were tied with 9 wins and 2 losses each, and that, of course, meant a play-off game.

The game was enjoyed by many spectators and while maybe there have been better games played throughout the season, yet the closeness of the score kept up the interest. And at that the game was not decided until Mrs. Turner's last stone rolled out to leave Mrs. Selkirk with two points, which meant the game.

The outstanding feature of the game was that out of the eight players participating, five of them were playing their positions for the first time. Both of the leads were new players, both vices were playing the position for the first time, and it was Mrs. Selkirk's first year as a skip. They all played well and deserve great credit.

Sailor Crew Whips St. Kitts

By The Canadian Press

The unpredictable Toronto Navy, No. 3 squad in the three-team Senior series of the Ontario Hockey Association last night staged a garrison finish on home ice to vanquist St. Catharines Saints 4-3 in overtime. Dropping their second fixture in a row, the visitors still cling to a three-point margin for leadership over Hamilton in the standing of the league in which there are only two more scheduled games, St. Catharines at Hamilton Friday night and Hamilton at Navy next Monday.

The Saints scored first against the Tars, with Mundrick doing the trick, but Barlow evened before the close of the first period. St. Catharines came back in the second to lead 3-1 but the third stanza saw Barlow and Benson notching one apiece to secure another deadlock. Benson registered the payoff counter in 8.07 of the overtime session.

The marksmen for St. Catharines were Mundrick, McAtee and Goble. Barlow and Benson upheld the scoring honors for the Bluejackets with two goals each.

By winning the two remaining tilts, Hamilton Majors can finish the schedule in top spot with a one-point advantage and thus be in a position to choose favorable play-off arrangements.

Ice Merchant

ness had been started by his grandfather in 1888 and had been operated down through the family. He said that he often had trouble with Mrs. Waller, as she wanted to get more ice for her money. She had been duly informed of the increase in price to 20c a block and had not objected. The reason for the increase had been that due to running out of ice he had bought what he expected to be 300 blocks of ice from the Haas estate but on coming to pick it up found that the four tiers of ice had diminished to 180 blocks. This had to be trucked to his warehouse where it was washed and each block cut into the six component parts. There had formerly been two ice dealers in Cobourg but Mr. Stan Pratt dropped out and he was left the sole ice dealer in town. Due to ice harvesting conditions of last winter he only had a limited supply of ice on hand and in order to spread it as fairly as possible had limited everybody to four days a week. In the latter part of September he ran out of ice and bought the ice from the Haas estate in order that his customers would not be left without any. Mr. Cann denied that he ever delivered a block of ice weighing as little as 15 pounds for the reason that they were standard blocks. All his customers were notified of the increase in price.

Refused Permission

Mr. Field, in cross-examination of the accused, produced a letter written by Cann to the Fuel Controller, asking permission in March of last year to raise his price to 25c a block. This permission was denied in a reply from the Controller.

"That is right. I left the price at 15c a block until I ran out of my own ice and raised it 5c a block when I had to get the Haas ice in order to accommodate my customers," commented Mr. Cann. "I was aware that I was breaking the regulations but I had to pay more for the Haas ice and had more expense in washing and cutting it, and therefore I raised the price. Even at that I didn't make any money on it."

Summing up the case, Mr. Hall said that the case hinged on whether the letter or spirit of the law would be enforced. Cann's income had remained the same while his living costs had gone up. He went out of his way to accommodate his customers and at no profit to himself, Mr. Hall said.

The Sports Round-Up

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 (AP)—Bill Britton, former Texas Christian University freshman athlete probably scored the first touchdown of 1944. It was in the Pyramid Bowl game New Year's Day, which started at 12:30 Cairo time, and Britton tallied within 10 minutes.

First returns of this department's recent appeal for basketball statistics: Norfolk, Va., nominates Eloyd Tabor of the 101st Cavalry team for top one-game honors on the strength of his 28 field goals against the Army Airdrome....But his 56 points trail Bill McElduff, who made 64 for Marianna, Ark., high school. ....Deshler, Neb., high school averaged 71.8 points for 13 games despite a low of 33 in one game....A contender for college honors is six-foot, eight-inch Noble Jorgenson of Westminster, who went into last night's Garden game with 279 points in 16 starts.

Reasonably sure:

Old Cy Young's name appears on a plaque in baseball's Hall of Fame as "Denton Tecumseh Young" but his middle name actually is "True." ..He was given it in honor of a general under whom his father served in the war between the States.... In pointing out the error, Cy grins: "I think I'm the guy they mean."

Shorts and Shells:

March 25 will be the National Baseball Congress's nation-wide registration day for sandlot ball players. Only requirement is that the kids must want to play baseball and must sign their names.

Here and There in Sport

During his 39 years as a policeman in New York, Patrick Joseph McDonald, now 63 and a captain of Gotham's traffic squad, is still throwing some weight around—his own 310 pounds which is distributed throughout a six-foot-two frame. Beginning in the early part of the century, McDonald hit the headlines of sport pages because of his ability as a weight tosser and because he tipped the scales at a mere 285. He recounted yesterday he established a junior athletic record of 37 feet and three-quarters of an inch for the shotput and the mark still stands.

Between 1911 and 1933, McDonald won the 56-pound throw 11 times in championship events. He copped the Olympic crown at Antwerp in 1920 with a distance of 36 feet 11 ⅛ inches and previously at the Stockholm Olympiad in 1912 he pitched the 16-pound shot 54 feet four inches to win that event. He also won the U.S. national senior 16-pound shotput six times between 1911 and 1912.

Al Rubeling, Toronto infielder last season, yesterday sent in his signed 1944 contract to play second base for the Pittsburgh Pirates with whom he played 47 games in 1943 after leaving the International League team.

After trimming Philadelphia Bob Montgomery Friday night with a first-round knockout, Al Davis, Brooklyn welterweight, was signed yesterday for a 10-round bout with Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., New York's lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden March 17. Davis agreed to weigh 144 pounds or less.

Three players of the Cleveland Barons, Tom Burlington, Les Cunningham and Lou Trudel, monopolize top positions in the individual scoring race of the American Hockey League with 67, 61 and 60 points respectively, it was announced last night in the league's weekly bulletin from New Haven, Conn.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Playing on ice that got somewhat heavy towards the end of the games, the Neill Trophy competition continued Monday night. Just whether we will continue this evening we are not sure. However, we have now reached the eights in the main event and have also played seven games of the consolation. It was the intention of the committee to play double headers each night and by so doing they would reach the finals in both events by Friday night. However, the weather man seems to have something to say about all this, so we'll just have to wait and see.

Omemee Outfit Whips Lindsay By Score Of 12-5

LINDSAY, Feb. 22—(ENS)—Omemee Bombers defeated Lindsay Silverwoods Monday night 12-5 in the last scheduled Victoria County League game here at Lindsay.

The game was very ragged in the first period and half the second period as Silverwood's couldn't give the Bombers any opposition. The home team seemed to rag the puck, not knowing where or how to pass it. When they did manage to get it in the Omemee zone they were helpless to put it in the net.

Omemee opened the scoring on a goal by Dart followed by Brooks and Parsons. Lindsay broke the ice when Workman scored from well out and to one side of the nets. Brooks finished the scoring for that period.

In the second frame the Bombers planted four in behind O'Connell before Lindsay could figure out what was going on. Dart scored from Parsons, Nurse slammed one in, Thurston got one from a scramble and Deyell scored his only goal. With about 5 minutes left to play Lindsay sent every man, but the goalie, inside the Bombers' blue line. This resulted in Gerver scoring on a set up by Gassien and Coombs flicking another in, one minute later.

Lindsay put on the pressure in the final 20 minutes but to no avail. Dart scored his third goal of the evening on a break-away, but Gassien evened that one on a lovely shot to the left hand corner of the net giving Fisher no chance. Dart again scored for Omemee on a nice play set-up by Deyell and four minutes later banged in another on a clean breakaway.

Gerver finished the scoring for Silverwood's with 5 minutes left to play. Bradly finished the scoring for the game after banging one in with practically every one on top of him.

The only real action of the game was when Workman was going to take a swing at his much bigger rival Williamson. It seems that in the mixup Deyell of Omemee also passed a comment on Williamson's way and after that took a couple of swings at him. However nothing became of the fray.

For Omemee, Deyell, Fisher, Parsons and Brooks were the best on the ice. Gerve, O'Connell and Gassien were Lindsay's best.

ISN'T IT THE TRUTH ? By Ti-Jos No. 33

HATS OFF TO THE WOMEN!
No, it isn't easy to run a house in wartime! And we men can thank our wives that the sacrifices we should be proud to make are as light as they are. So if, sometimes, meals strike us as a little dull, let's remember that they would seem like banquets almost anywhere else in the world today.

Calumet Stables Loaded For Big Year

MIAMI, Feb. 22 — (AP). — Canny Ben Jones wore a smile of satisfaction to-day, and the explanation aound Hialeah Pak was that the stables of Calumet Farm are loaded again for a big year.

Without calling on his brilliant 2 and 3-year-olds, the Calumet trainer has annexed four stake races during the Hialeah program, and is busy with plans to ship his 30-odd charges to Louisville early next month, as if his prospects were not excellent for the two biggest events of the Florida season immediately ahead.

The 5-year-old Sun Again turned in his second straight win on Saturday in the $7,500 McLennan and became the horse to beat in the $25,000 Widener March 4.

The veteran picked up where the speedy mare Mar-Kell left off with victories in the Evening Handicap and the Winter Playground.

Jones says Sun Again is near the peak he showed two years ago, before an ailment eliminated him from the Kentucky Derby picture, and he is good for more wins.

As for Mar-Kell, Jones asserts she is the fastest mare in competition to-day. He is willing to match her, weight for weight, with anything in the female division.

This would seem cause enough for satisfaction, but there is more.

Still untried as 3-year-olds are the fillies Twilight Tear and Miss Keeneland, both rated high in the Kentucky Derby winter books; as well as the clever Pensive, who may be the Calumet color-bearer in the $15,000 Flamingo next Saturday. The mile and an eighth event for 3-year-olds is a Derby pointer.

Pensive, son of Hyperion and Penicuik II, has been breezing in the morning gallops. Some time ago Jones cautiously whispered the chestnut colt would bear watching.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Feb. 22 — (CP). — Basketball is not a major sports spectacle in Canada although it qualifies in United States. Authorities give several reasons, including lack of suitable playing space, poor coaching and indifferent promotion.

Undoubtedly hockey's popularity is an important reason for basketball's failure to click. The seasons coincide and it is significant that basketball's boom on the Pacific Coast in the last 15 years followed withdrawal of hockey as an important sport there. The same holds true in some parts of the Maritimes.

With good coaching, promotion and playing conditions, however, both basketball and hockey can thrive in the same city. An example was Edmonton in the era of the famous Commercial Grads, world women's champions. Immense crowds watched the Grads games. Young players developed. Hockey did well, too.

PO. Frank Amsden of Winnipeg, R.C.A.F. sports officer at Malton, Ont., thinks basketball will boom after the war because it is played so generally at air stations.

Ab Rennick of the Toronto and District Basketball Association, says minor teams have not received proper encouragement. He believes missionary work such as exhibition tours by crack U.. teams is desirable. Appropriate gymnasia were needed but, with encouragement, the game could rival hockey as in the States where basketball draws crowds of 15,000 and more.

Angelo Pastore, former University of Syracuse player, now at Merritton, Ont., says basketball became popular in the States through the High Schools playing night games and catering to the public as well as the student body. Graduates played for colleges or went into industrial leagues. Stunts were added to game programs to popularize the sport.

Pastore says the Canadian game could be improved. Canadian players were too anxious to make floor-long rushes and crowd under the basket instead of using pattern plays, waiting for the opening "which always comes."

Pastore is right to some extent, of course, but in some parts of Canada, particularly on the Pacific Coast and in Windsor, Ont., formation play is in general use and the old helter-skelter brand has disappeared. This is largely due to proximity of United States cities and games with United States teams.

Influx of United States servicemen has spurred the men's game in Edmonton where it is booming now as never before.

Hard Frenchman Beats 2 Yanks

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(AP). — From out of the recent Allied North African boxing championships, the word drifted today that Tony Zale, may have quite a scramble on his hands from the French sailor-flailer, Marcel Cerdan, if the war ends in time.

The word on the thumping tar from France, now 26 years old, gave him the unanimous vote as the boxer most likely to succeed, especially the way he tossed his block-busters through the "senior welterweight" division. If you believe all you hear, he can pitch either hand like a 16-inch shell. He flattened two of three Americans he met in a round apiece.

Marcel is no newcomer to the business of denting ears. In fact, the International Boxing Union recognizes him as the middleweight champion of Europe—or it did when last heard from. The more reserved British Board of Boxing Control doesn't go quite that far, but concedes he's the head man in France.

Canadian Skiers Win Slalom Events

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Feb. 22. — (AP).— Skiers representing Canadian clubs won top men's honors in the downhill racing and slalom in the 23rd annual Washington's Birthday tournament yesterday.

Harvey Clifford, Ottawa Ski Club, won the slalom in 3.74 seconds. Pierre Jalbert, Lavoire Ski Club, took the downhill competition in 1.26.1.

Following Clifford in the men's slalom were Bjorn, Royal Norwegian Air Force; Louis Georges, Toronto Ski Club; Jalbert and Ed Smith, Middlebury College; Ernest Bion, Lebanon Outing Club, N.H.; Per Fuerst, Telemark Ski Club, New York City. Georges and Bjorn followed Jalbert in the downhill.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Los Angeles All-Stars defeated Fords at Windsor, Ont., seven years ago tonight to win a two-game series billed as the world's amateur basketball championship. The Californians — 1936 Olympic titlists—followed their 40-31 victory over the Canadians in the first contest with a 28-19 verdict in the second game of the best-of three series.

Training Table Is Being Shown Here

Because studies conducted on Air Force personnel by the Medical Branch of the Royal Canadian Air Force showed that individual food likes and dislikes interfered greatly with the adequate nutrition of many of the personnel, an educational program on nutrition was instituted in the R.C.A.F. One aspect of this program was the production of a motion picture film, in sound and colour, called "Training Table," giving information on the nutritional value of the R.C.A.F. rations.

The joint Nutrition Committee of the Canadian Medical Association and the Canadian Life Insurance Officers' Association, on hearing of this film, approached the Royal Canadian Air Force for permission to produce a booklet based thereon for distribution to the people of Canada. Permission for this was granted by Honourable C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air and a million and a quarter copies of a colourful, 20-page booklet, "What They Eat to be Fit" were printed and distributed to Air Force personnel and to the people of Canada under the joint auspices of the Canadian Medical Association and the life insurance companies in Canada.

Famous Players Canadian Corporation, wishing to co-operate in making available to the public this information of vital interest for the betterment of the health of the Canadian people, secured permission from the Royal Canadian Air Force to have printed, at their own expense, on regular 35 mm. film the R.C.A.F. 16 mm. "Training Table" film. At the same time Paramount Film Service agreed to distribute the film free of cost to all theatre operators in Canada who desire to show it in their theatres. There are 1,200 moving picture theatres in Canada with a total weekly seating capacity of 5,000,000.

Famous Players also felt that distribution of the booklet "What They Eat to be Fit" to the theatre audiences was necessary to assist those who saw the film to take full advantage of the suggestions given therein, and they have been supplied with 250,000 copies, free of cost, for distribution in their own 300 first-run houses. As the supply at individual theatres is limited, copies will be available to adults only on request to theatre attendants.

Showing of the film in Peterborough began on Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

British Backers Study Plans For Ice Hockey

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON Feb. 21—(CP)— Britain's post-war hockey plans propose modern arenas featuring sections where spectators would sit at tables behind glass and enjoy matches while wining and dining. They already do that at dog races here.

Such luxurious arenas would be only the most-up-to-date, of course, but the promoters aren't fooling about these ambitious plans—nor about the projected trans-Atlantic league made possible by air transport.

Plans call for an All-British League, from which the international teams would be drawn, and a second league which would have both Canadian and British players. The second league would be maintained to foster British performers and roughly would compare with Canadian intermediate standards.

Although amateur in name, players would receive salaries in the form of "expenses" and it's a good bet such fees would be more than the average $50. a week paid Canadian hockeyists around London before the war. There would be no lack of players because, for one thing, many a Canadian player would rather star in a British circuit than turn professional and be nothing but a minor leaguer back home.

The British Hockey Association considers the trans-atlantic scheme and its off-shoots a definite possibility. Four of the strongest exponents of this post-war "big business" are Percy Nicklin, famed hockey coach who came to England from Canada several years ago; Brig. Gen. A. C. Critchley of Calgary, big-time sports promoter in peacetime here; F. S. Gentle, chairman of London's Harringway Arena, and Arthur Elvin, a high official at gigantic Wembley Stadium.

Pre-War Conversations

Nicklin, assistant general manager of the London's White City Stadium and Harringay, said the international play had been discussed with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association before the war.

"The standard of play should be as high as ever," said Nicklin, coach of the British team which won the last Olympic title. "Many first-class players here with the Canadian armed forces are anxious to join league clubs. Close contact is kept with managements across the Atlantic who have agreed to help with players."

Gentle visualized as many as four or five of Britain's best teams meeting a similar number of Canadian and American clubs.

"Teams would make the journey in turn and play a round of fixtures," he said. "Expenses, including air transport, would be more than covered by gate receipts."

Among the teams mentioned as possible interational candidates are Wembley, Harringay and Earl's Court, all from London; a provincial club, possibly Nottingham, and two Scottish teams. These teams would be an All-Britain League.

Scottish clubs, which prior to the war played in a league of their own, would be incorporated into an All-Britain League. Previously, the Scottish Leagues were considered inferior to the English.

The Scottish teams likely would be from such cities as Dundee, Perth, Ayr, Falkirk, Glasgow and Edinburgh, all hockey hot-beds in the few years preceding the war. In England and Wales, teams from outside London probably would come from Newcastle, Leeds, Birmingham and other industrial centres, and Brighton. Cardiff has a large site reserved for a hockey stadium.

FEATURE BOUT—At a Canadian Armored Brigade boxing meet overseas the highlight of the evening was an exhibition match between Tommy Brown, Westchester, heavyweight champ of Camp Borden in 1942, Left, and Sergt. George Nyberg, Port Arthur, former professional middleweight in the U.S.A. Sergt. Nyberg, rated fourth in the world in his class, won the bout.

Lowly Rangers Meet Chicago

By The Canadian Press

Tonight's only National Hockey League game sees the Chicago Black Hawks taking on the lowly Rangers at New York, and if the result is as expected, the Hawks will be sole possessors of the fourth and last play-off spot in the League standings.

At the moment the Hawks and Boston are still tied for that vital last play-off berth. A victory for Hawks tonight would boost them within four points of the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

After their scoreless tie with the Maple Leafs at Chicago Sunday, the Hawks threaten to pour it on against the Rangers tonight. That game at Chicago was not only without goals; it was without penalties, and that sort of thing can't last.

Apart from the duel for fourth place the League standings should be unchanged after the midweek battling. Thursday's card has Toronto playing at Canadiens and Detroit at Rangers. Detroit in second place is three points ahead of Toronto.

Discuss Franchise

TACOMA—(AP). — Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball League are meeting in Hollywood to-day to decide the future of the Sacramento club franchise which is wanted by Tacoma interests. Fans of Sacramento are clamoring for retention of the team.

66 Members First Time In Legislature

TORONTO, Feb. 22 — (CP). — The new Ontario Legislature opens Tuesday, first sitting of he 21st Legislature.

A total of 88 members will file into the red-carpeted, high-walled Legislative Chamber for the opening at 3 p.m. and 66 of them will be entering the Chamber as members for the first time. Their inaugural session is expected to be a lively one, with Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative Government commanding but 35 votes against 34 C.C.F., 15 Liberals, two Labor-Progressives, and one Independent-Liberal, former Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

But the veterans will be on the sidelines as the House opens, including six former Premiers—E. C. Drury, G. Howard Ferguson, George S. Henry, Mitchell Hepburn, Gordon Conant, and Harry C. Nixon. Of these, Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Nixon are members of the new House.

Many members, new and old, have already been at work in caucus. A meeting of the Cabinet took place late yesterday while a lengthy C.C.F. caucus was going on farther down a Legislature corridor. No announcements came from either meeting.

There will be little of the peacetime pomp in to-day's opening, although Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews will inspect a naval guard of honour as he enters the Parliament Buildings to deliver the Speech from the Throne.

Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government went into power in the Provincial election last Aug. 4, electing 38 members on a 22-point program on which most of the government's legislation is expected to be based. However, the government's strength has been reduced to 35 by the recent death of Wallace Walsh (P.C.-Haldimand-Norfolk), the absence overseas of Hon. Capt. the Rev. A. W. Downer (P.C.-Dufferin-Simcoe) and the appointment of W. J. Stewart (P.C.-Toronto Parkdale) as Speaker. Today Mr. Walsh's seat is draped in black.

Opposite the Government seats are Opposition Leader E. B. Jolliffe and his 33 C.C.F. followers. The 15 Liberals under former Premier Nixon, holding the balance of power, are seated on both sides of the chamber.

Former Liberal Premier Mitchell Hepburn sits as an Independent Liberal, on the Government side of the House, close to the two Labor-Progressive members, A. A. MacLeod and J. B. Salsberg, representing Toronto seats.

Premier Drew has already indicated the Government's intention of standing or falling by its legislative program, and both the C.C.F. and the Liberal parties have indicated their intention of supporting any Government legislation which they consider is in the best interests of the province.

Tax Bachelors

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 22—(CP). — Two untapped sources of government revenue through taxation were proposed here by M. A. Campbell, secretary-treasurer of Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, and president of the O.E.A. "I would tax bachelors $15, and every married couple without children $20 a year," he said.

Keene Woman Now 100 Can't Grow Old

TORONTO, Feb. 22—For a lady who is celebrating her 100th birthday, Mrs. James H. Campbell is altogether too gamin to be convincing.

Grinning from ear to ear, she was squealing with delight at her flowers yesterday afternoon when interviewed and admonishing the gaping reporter not to write too much—"I'm kinda tired of it. Looks to me like a lot of nonsense."

Mrs. Campbell not only doesn't act her age, but she refuses to look it either. Her bright blue eyes twinkle mischievously, her voice is rich and full, her wit sharp and aggressive. She doesn't think the modern generation is going to the dogs—far from it, she thinks it's wonderful.

This unusual old lady says her method of keeping young is to always be cheerful. Living by the axiom that everything turns out for the best, she has had an unusually happy life. Her family consists of six children, 14 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren — all of whom dote on her.

Everything happens to her in the four's. She was born in 1844, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eddington, formerly of Scotland, in Keene, Ont. In 1864 she married James Campbell at Harwood and the Chippewa Indians gave them a charivari. She was widowed in 1904.

Now living with her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Rathbone, 12 Kingsway Cres., Mrs. Campbell keeps up on the war news and hopes she'll live to see the end of it. She calls Adolf "Hilter," but her family gets such a kick out of it that they won't correct her.

Her cake today won't have 100 candles, because of the shortage of candles. Instead Mrs. Rathbone is having an immense affair, shaped like an open book, with a tall fat candle in the middle, graded like a thermometer. It's a cinch Mrs. Campbell will love it.

People Who Buy Fire Insurance Set Own Rates

People who buy fire insurance set their own rates, R. Leopold Jones, research officer of the Canadian Underwriters Association, told members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel on Monday.

Mr. Jones in his address on Fire Insurance Rates explained clearly just why the rates paid were a matter of individual and community responsibility.

Introduced by Rotarian Durham Collins, the speaker began by outlining certain basic principles of fire insurance to show that the system depended upon the spreading of the loss of the few over the many. Fire insurance companies, he explained, had to depend upon the premiums paid to cover fire losses, expenses and profits for it was obvious that these could not be long paid out of reserve or capital.

Mr. Jones explained how the Fire Underwriters' Association functioned in striking the rate of insurance, pointing out that this was a matter of extreme difficulty because of so many factors that entered into the situation. For one thing the fire loss varied greatly from year to year. In 1932 it was thirty million dollars, while in 1936 the loss had dropped to fourteen million. The water works system and fire fighting equipment in a municipality had to be taken into consideration, and then came the nature of the buildings, their immunity or otherwise to exposure to fires and many other considerations entered into the picture.

Thorough Inspection.

The speaker told of how the Association's engineers thoroughly inspected the water works system and fire department as a first step. Then other engineers made a map survey of the municipality, showing each building and many other features. Dwellings were not inspected, but their rates were based on the nature of their construction, 40 cents per $100 for solid brick, 50 cents for brick veneer, and 60 cents for frame buildings.

Mr. Jones described the inspection made in connection with mercantile insurance. Building inspectors made a survey sheet, covering every feature of the interior and exterior of the building and the rates were based on the findings in these reports considered in connection with the rating of the fire-fighting facilities of the community. In other words he said all the people had to do to obtain lower fire insurance rates was to eliminate the defects shown in these reports and their rates would automatically go down.

"Cut down the fire losses and you will cut down the rates." said Mr. Jones.

The speaker pointed out that the Fire Underwriters Association was doing a job in this inspection that no single company could possibly hope to do without having to raise its premium rates to an impossible height. He quoted from the report of the Ontario Government investigation of some 20 years ago to show that the work that was being done was in the interest of the public as well as in the interests of the company.

320 Companies Competing.

"There is no danger of a corner in fire insurance," said Mr. Jones. "The difficulty is rather in too much competition. There are 320 companies competing for fire insurance in Ontario." The speaker showed that the rates had gone down steadily in this province. In 1905 the average in Ontario was $1.60 per $100, while to-day the average rate was 60 cents.

In his closing remarks Mr. Jones mentioned the C.C.F. proposal for state insurance. "In my opinion," declared the speaker "such schemes are fundamentally unsound."

Rotarian E. L. Sackville moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. President George A. Gillespie was in the chair.

producing 30 per cent. of the Nazis' twin-engined fighters, likewise was knocked out, and restoration of the factories at Brunswick—without counting yesterday's devastating blows—had been set back "an additional three or four months."

Week-End Program.

The fighter kills during the operation brought to 94 the number of enemy planes shot down by fighters in two days. The previous two-day record was 87, established January 29-30.

Recapitulation of Allied losses since the present gigantic operations began February 20 suggested a decreasing scale of resistance.

The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. lost 79—including 18 Canadian—bombers in the opening assault on Leipzig early February 20; the U.S. Army Air Forces lost 21 bombers in daylight attacks Sunday, but with their fighter escort destroyed 126 German planes; the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. lost 10—including one Canadian—bombers in Sunday night's Stuttgart raid, and the Americans lost 15 bombers yesterday.

An official announcement today described the force which attacked London as small, and said there also was minor activity over parts of south and southeast England.

"Bombs were dropped at a few scattered points," the announcement said. "Little damage and a small number of casualties were reported."

The alert in London was accompanied by only moderate anti-aircraft fire, but there was the usual searchlight display and night fighters went aloft to intercept the raiders.

Many Will Agree

OTTAWA, Feb. 22 —(CP)—J. F. Pouliot (L.-Temiscouata) said Friday in the Commons that the Army Act is a "badly-drafted" piece of English legislation and therefore was willingly accepted by the "Tory party."

The legislation under which Canadians served in the forces should be "clear, not goofy as this is," said Mr. Pouliot after reading some provisions of the Act.

3 Young Boys Fight Platoon Till Shots Gone

BARMOUTH, Wales, Feb. 22 — (CP).—The "battle" of Cader Idris has ended but while it lasted this struggle between three young boys who stole the Royal Marines' ammunition at a nearby camp and repelled a brigadier's batman, regimental police, the national fire service and a marine platoon was quite an engagement.

The youths, ranging in age from 12 to 14, broke into the armory of a marine camp near this north Wales town last Thursday, took three of the six rifles and all the ammunition. They surrendered on Friday under a flag of truce only when they were down to their last two rounds.

Discovery of the theft set off a hue and cry. First the lieutenant-quartermaster was recalled from leave and then the brigadier's batman was sent after the boys. He returned to regimental police for reinforcements when bullets started whizzing round his head.

Forced To Retire.

The police in turn retired in the face of superior fire, and the national fire service was called out. They also had to give up and the boys retired to the mountain around nearby Cader Idris when they occupied an old mine.

A marine platoon tracked the boys down Friday and the marines, led by two subalterns, made a frontal assault with blank cartridges. Things were too hot for them and they took cover. One of the subalterns went back for reinforcements and a captain to supervise operations. By then, however, the boys had almost used their ammunition. Flying a white flag, they came out of the mine without their rifles which have not yet been found.

The boys were escorted home by eight marines and placed "under restriction" there. On Saturday night, however, they were seen going to a movie, admired by the boys of the neighborhood.

protests when he moved concurrence in a report of the War Expenditures Committee and upheld the policy of holding most sittings in camera.

When the House rose in the evening the discussion was on an amendment moved by Joseph Harris (P.C.-Toronto Danforth) that the report be not accepted, but that evidence heard at in-camera sittings be tabled for study.

Saved a Million.

Mr. Cleaver said information desired by the committee could best be obtained at secret meetings. The committee had saved millions of dollars for the Canadian taxpayers. Renegotiation of shipbuilding contracts alone had saved from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader whose charges against aluminum interests during the last session brought an inquiry by a War Expenditures Sub-Committee, said the report approved by that committee was an attempt to "whitewash the deal." Instead of the report making clear his charges were unfounded, as it claimed, it had in fact supported most of them, Mr. Coldwell said. Mr. Coldwell cited findings in the report which he said supported his charges that the Aluminum Co. of Canada was a monopoly; that its parent company Aluminum Ltd., was part of the International Cartel; that prices by the United Nations were exorbitant; and that the company was given under the contracts, whether deliveries of aluminum were made or not, a sum of $164,000,000.

LIQUOR CASES LEAD

Breaches of the Liquor Control Act loomed up the largest in the list of 1,138 cases disposed of in the city police court during the past year as presented in the Chief Constable's annual report. There were 312 such cases. Breaches of the city's traffic bylaw were second in line with 157 cases and thanks to a special campaign carried on by C.P.R. police last year breaches of the Railway Act were third on the list with 135 prosecutions for trespassing on the railways.

WANT COLD WEATHER.

One group of business men to whom the prospect of an early spring is not an altogether pleasant one is the logging camp operators of the Haliburton County lakes district. They are beginning to worry about the possibility that warm weather will set in before they can get their logs trucked across the frozen surface of the lakes. In an effort to hurry up the process as much as possible, some have requested the help of Selective Service in obtaining an emergency supply of trucks. Should the ice soften up too soon, it will mean towing the logs across the lakes at far greater expense in time and money.

Service Station Operator Guilty

In a detailed judgment given by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning Robert B. Rogers, former proprietor of a service station was found guilty of a breach of the oil regulations, the indictment charging him with selling gasoline without the valid coupons.

Evidence in the case in which the prosecution was conducted by W. F. Huycke, K.C. and Rogers was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair was heard some time ago and judgment had been reserved until today.

Magistrate Langley found that under the regulations a prima facie case could be established by the prosecution if a shortage could be shown and he held that a prima facie case had been established and the onus was therefore on the accused to raise a reasonable doubt.

His Worship said that the only explanation offered had been suggestions that there must have been a leak in the tanks or pumps or that there may have been a theft of some of the coupons but no direct evidence had been given to bear out those suggestions.

However the magistrate stated that he was satisfied that the shortage was not as great as the crown evidence stated it to be and that while a conviction would have to be registered under the presumption set forth in the regulations he felt that perhaps a misunderstanding on the part of the accused may have been responsible. For those reasons he did not propose to impose a drastic penalty.

Accordingly he fined Rogers $25 without costs.

Mr. Huycke for the prosecution expressed his agreement with the penalty set by the court.

Fire Victim, 80 Is Improving

APSLEY, Feb. 22 (ENS)—Condition of Albert Lions, 80, who was admitted to Apsley Red Cross Hospital, Sunday, suffering from burns and frostbite, is reported to be somewhat improved by his physician, Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield.

Dr. Smith said this morning that Mr. Lions was recovering from the shock a good deal and was resting quietly. The swelling from his burns has gone down somewhat, his feet, badly frostbitten, remain a question mark, though they show a slight improvement. The doctor said he felt his patient had a fair chance of recovery now.

Mr. Lions, who was alone in his cottage on Loon Lake, was badly burned about the face and hands early Sunday morning when he spilled gasoline, instead of coal oil on the stove. His cabin became a roaring mass of flames and he walked in his stocking feet about a mile to Couch's Landing for help.

Frank Gerow, Norwood Guilty Of Assault

Frank Gerow, Norwood, was found guilty by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court this morning of common assault on Rule Emery and was fined $5 and $8 costs.

The charge arose out of an argument in a Norwood garage.

Emery, an employee of the garage, swore that after words had passed between Gerow and himself, the accused had struck him several times in the face and chest with his fist, had shoved him back against a car and had grabbed him by the throat.

Two witnesses, Howard and D. Ford, called by Emery, stated that they had not seen any blows struck.

However when Gerow went into the box to give evidence he admitted that after a verbal argument he had reached into a car in which Emery was working and pulled him out. He stated that he did not strike the complainant but had grabbed him by the coat and shaken him.

Magistrate Baxter declared that once Gerow had seized Emery and pulled him out of the car he was guilty of common assault. "You had no business to go in there and touch the man," he told the accused.

City Purchases Barn Finds 4 Horses Within

Discovery of four "race horses" in the barn on the Allin ice property recent acquired by the city was humorously reported to the council last night by Alderman Swanston as a surprise that suggested for a while that "we might be the owners of a racing stable." Presumably somebody had rented the stall room for the winter.

"They look a little lean and I guess they wouldn't do as entries in the garbage handicap," the property chairman commented. "I don't know what tracks they run at, if any, and I felt pretty sure they didn't belong to us."

He was in both England and North Africa, and arrived in Italy only a short time before being wounded in action. A brother, Ronald, also serving in the army, is now stationed in England. Pte. Brand's wife is employed as a driver at Stock's Bakery.

Seek New Quarters For Children's Aid

The council instructed Alderman Dutton Monday night to look around for some quarters suitable for an office for the Children's Aid Society staff. The present three workers are crowded into the most crapmed spot in the city hall, part of it unheated, and the other cut off from daylight.

It was suggested that possibly the old registry office on Court House Hill might be made available by the county council. The building has been out of use for years, but it has a vault and might be renovated if the county would turn it over to the Society without charge. The obstacle to that possibility is the altitude and the hill-climbing, and Alderman Sullivan said that possibly Alderman Dutton might be able to find a suitable place down near the water level in the centre of the city.

Sea Cadets Parade To All Saints' Church

The Peterborough Sea Cadets and officers, under the leadership of Capt. S. Longhurst, attended the morning service in All Saints' Church, the rector, Rev. W. A. Filer, who is the chaplain, was in charge of the service, assisted by Capt. S. Longhurst and T. H. Boddy. The message was based on the verse, "They cast four anchors out and wished for the day." Every young man needs the following equipment to sail the sea of life successfully. There are four anchors: Anchor of hope, Anchor of the Bible, Prayer, and Christ on board the vessel.

The boys were accompanied by their band on parade and made a most impressive appearance. There were about 110 officers and cadets, and the church was filled.

Shop Breaking, Thefts Show Increase

"The past year brought the usual total of fatal accidents—eight—and a greater reluctance to punish the parties responsible was noticeable," declared Chief Constable Sam Newhall in his 24th annual report of the Peterborough Police Department, presented to the Board of Police Commissioners at its regular monthly meeting on Monday.

"Just how to remedy this appalling situation will require a tremendous effort on the part of right-thinking people," says the report. "Juries, eye-witnesses to accidents, maudlin sympathisers, and others, more action from the press and pulpit, and a great deal more thought for the victims and their sorrowful families might work wonders in this killing age."

"I am pleased to be able to report that murder is not included in the past year's crime sheet," says the Chief Constable. "It was only a miracle that prevented same namely, a safe breaker trying to shoot a police officer; there was, however, quite an increase in crime, mainly shopbreaking and thefts of all kinds, mostly committed by youths under 20 years of age, which is hard to explain. There was a noticeable increase in drunkenness, but a decrease in same in charge of autos."

1,168 Cass Prosecuted.

The Police Department prosecuted 1,168 cases during the year and collected $7,135.73 in fines and costs; two hundred and eighty-one of these cases being all classes of traffic violations, the report stated.

The Department had 40,092 telephone calls, and 164 windows and doors were found insecure, the owners of premises were notified, and after examinations were made secure.

Fire alarms totalled 17 and were responded to. False alarms were investigated on complaints of the Fire Chief. Four hundred and twenty-five lodgers were given shelter and in some extreme cases were supplied with meals. Thirty-seven lost children were picked up and handed over to their parents. Fourteen arrests were made and 260 summons executed for outside police departments. Thirty homes where owners were away or on vacation were visited several times during the day and night and all were found to be in order on the owners' return to the city. During the year there were 329 accidents reported by the police and others, resulting in injury to 92 persons, 8 of which were fatal. All were investigated, many prosecuted and where necessary 78 special reports were made out and sent to Registrar of Motor Vehicles in Toronto. That number of special reports represents $10,069.40 in property damage.

The value of property lost during the year was $5,220.98; value of property recovered and returned to owner was $3,628.21; and value of property unrecovered was $1,592.77.

Property valued at $15,586.38 was stolen, $13,929.13 of which was recovered.

During the year 246 bicycles were reported stolen to this Department, 178 of which were recovered and returned to their owners. The value of the stolen bicycles amounted to $4,650.75. The value of bicycles not recovered amounted to $1,657.256.

ARRIVES IN ITALY—Word has just been received that Spr. "Bill" Brethour has arrived in Italy. He was attached to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and went overseas with that unit. Born at Bancroft, where his parents still reside, he spent many years at Warsaw before enlisting.

Cup Is Offered For Best Window Display

Competition for the silver cup donated by Mayor Hamilton for the best window display boosting the Red Cross and Community Fund is expected to be very keen.

While the cup is only awarded for one year, a replica is given the winner for permanent possession. Herb Jamison, manager of the C. D. S. store, is a member of the public relations committee for the campaign and is in charge of the display windows.

The window material and display cards have arrived and now may be had at the committee rooms on George street below Charlotte. The material is all properly laid out and merchants will have no difficulty in making a selection.

The committee in charge of the campaign is asking the merchants to co-operate as fully as possible in helping to put this $60,000 drive over. The campaign is scheduled to start February 25 and be concluded by March 3.

The windows must be ready this week-end for judging and one of the judges will be Miss M. L. McCarthy.

Of the total objective $30,000 will be allocated to the Red Cross as Peterborough's contribution to the Ontario objective of $5,000,000, while the remaining $30,000 will be divided up among eight agencies, thus making one appeal do instead of nine. The agencies are Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., St. Vincent's Orphanage, Children's Aid Society, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Salvation Army, Victorian Order of Nurses and Corvette Peterborough.

Soldier's Gift Brings Aid To War Victims

An insight into the part that their pre-war associations sometimes play in the life of the soldier on active service, comes to light from time to time through their acts while away from this country, an instance of which comes to the forefront through a donation just made to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund by the Range Pals, who are a group of young people living in the vicinity of Route No. 7, Peterborough.

Before he entered active service for the country's cause, Sapper Arthur Sayer was one of this club's very active workers, and took a leading part in events which helped to raise money for this fund in its early days of operation.

This Christmas past, he sent the club members a small table centre piece with a flowered centre and embroidered edges from England, for which they held a draw among their own immediate circle, and at their regular meeting last Friday night, held at the home from which Spr. Sayer himself proceeded when he left here, they voted the proceeds, which amounted to $7.26, to this fund, it being acknowledged in this day's receipts. The draw resulted in Mrs. Howard Quinn being the lucky winner.

Sponsor Another Effort

This same club, under the leadership of Miss Margaret Bell, president, and Miss Betty Sayer, secretary, are now embarked on a further effort to give assistance to the fund, through their sponsoring the sale of tickets for a draw on a cut work table cloth which are now on sale at 10 cents each or three for 25 cents.

These may be procured from any member of the club, who in the past have worked quite energetically on behalf of the fund, the results of which have been of material assistance in quite a substantial way.

Appearing also in today's receipts is a collection made by the secretary of the fund from the penny box at Whiddon's service station on Highway 28, which amounted to $2.50, giving it a further credit for good work done on behalf of the fund.

Git Honors Memory

Loving reminiscences of days now long past are recalled when people pay tribute to those who have passed on by doing some good for others in distress in their name. Today a gift is recorded "In loving memory of the late Lewis H. Deyman" who passed away six years ago on February 22, and there would seem no better way to pay a tribute to his memory than in this manner.

On Sunday night, the heaviest raid since the blitz took place on London, when a large number of fires were started through the use of incendiary bombs, with their consequent loss of life and property damage, which undoubtedly will make many claims on the Lord Mayor's National Air Raid Distress Fund, to which all gifts from this fund have been sent.

Previously acknowledged	$73,516.40
In Loving memory of Lewis H. Deyman, February 22, 1938	2.00
The Range Pals, proceeds of draw on gift from Spr. Arthur Sayer	7.26
Penny Box collection at Whiddon's service station	2.50
Total to date	$73,530.24

MAHOOD. — In loving memory of our dear father, Alexander Mahood, who passed away 10 years ago to-day, February 22, 1934.

We are sad within our memory,

For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
We think of him in silence,
No eye may see us weep;
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
To those who love a father,
Cherish him with care;
You will never know his value
Till you see his vacant chair.

—Ever remembered by daughter Mabel and sons Wilmot and Bert.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Of course we all know, that this spring's styles are much softer of line, and decidedly more feminine than heretofore, and how smart and lovely they look.

The new shades are also beautiful, and gives one such an uplift, when we all seem to be living in such gloom. Some of the more popular shades are, Jonquil Yellow, sprouting green, Rose petal, flower blue, larkspur blue, Victorian violet, frond green, also the ever popular black, navy and all shades of brown.

A smart dress of Larkspur blue rayon crepe. This is made in coat style, the dress scalloped from neck to bottom of skirt, and fastened with some of those beautiful plastic buttons which are so much in the fashion eye today.

Another dress in Jonquil yellow. A plain skirt, and waist in coat effect, hip length, and showing the very new square neck with three tiny ruffles around neck, and cuffs. Four buttons on front of waist are of brown, and these buttons are centred with colored prints and tiny green leaves.

The hat worn with this costume is in a large Dutch bonnet style with high crown, the hat in jonquil yellow felt, with a small bunch of small flowers in brown directly in front. Wear gloves to match the flowers.

A pretty hat in gray, in the large pillbox, worn well forward on the head. This hat is in straw, and its only trimming a bow of soft blue straw across front. Another smart hat in small pillbox style, in Victorian violet felt, and a bunch of lighter shade violets on either side. A veil in the same shade falls to shoulder length at back, and nose length in front. A hat slightly rolled at either side with low crown, and narrow brim in front, worn very much over the face. At the back falling down on the hair are two bunches of flowers, one either side of back. This hat is in black straw, flowers are in rose petal pink, and is worn with black suit which has the dressmaker touch, the lapels and pockets being braided.

COMPROMISE NEEDED IN HOMES.

Becomes Answer to Most Domestic Problems, Would Practically Eliminate Divorce.

It has been said that life is just a series of compromises and, if this is true of human relations in general, I often wonder why we so seldom introduce it into the family circle. Believe me, if we did, we would not only find in it the answer to most of our domestic problems, but we would make marriage a peace parley instead of a battle ground, and practically do away with divorce.

Outside of the home no one except a congenital idiot expects to be perpetually yes-yesed and to have everyone drop all of their own opinions, tastes, habits and preferences and adopt his or hers; but in the home only too often there is an autocrat who arrogates to himself or herself the right to boss the whole show and with whom everyone must agree, or else there are ructions.

We Can't Plan Others' Lives.

Even the most egotistic and overbearing of us do not expect to set a pattern of others' lives for them, for well we know that if we tried to force Smith to become a vegetarian because we happened not to like meat, or to make Mrs. Smith give up her clubs because we believed that a woman's place was at home, we would soon be flocking by our lonesome. Also, we know that any business would end in bankruptcy if each partner tried to run it in his own particular way.

So we leave Smith to his thick steaks, and congratulate Mrs. Smith upon being elected president of the Higher Thought Association, and the business firm prospers because the partners walk warily and keep off of each other's toes.

But we use no such common sense and appeasing tactics in dealing with our domestic affairs. We run our homes on the rule-or-ruin principle, and if you will trace every unhappy marriage to its source, you will practically always find that it is the result of a man and woman getting together who refused to arbitrate their differences of opinion. Each is determined to make the other a rubber stamp of himself or herself.

Now, of course, it is impossible for two people of different sexes, with different backgrounds, with different teachings, with different habits and tastes to agree on every point. They are bound to see things from different angles, and that is probably what attracted them to each other in the first place. But as soon as they are married what drew them together thrusts them apart. Neither will concede the right to an opinion to the other, and another marriage heads for the rocks.

Strife Makes Homes Miserable.

I get hundreds of pathetic letters from husbands and wives who say that they are married to good, kind, upright men and women; that they have fine children and lovely houses, but that they are utterly miserable because their homes are places of strife in which they quarrel over trifles so continually that they sit up in silence when they are together for fear of starting something if they speak.

One woman wrote that she was thinking of getting a divorce because she liked boiled poatoes and husband was addicted to French fried. Another couple argued over the baby's formula until he grew up and was drinking cocktails. And of course, there are always differences in families and religion that are as good for a fight as a nickel is for a ginger cake.

And apparently it never occurs to any of these otherwise intelligent people to compromise their differences of opinion by cooking two dishes of potatoes instead of one, or by each putting up with the other's mother, or by granting to each other the right to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences.

There is talk about revising the marriage ceremony. If it is ever done, I hope they will put in a clause about binding husbands and wives to compromise their difficulties. If they do, fewer will break their vow to cleave to each other until death shall them part.

Legion Branch No. 52 Adds 264 Members

Last year's djrive to increase membership in the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion resulted in the addition of 264 new members, it was reported at the monthly meeting of Canadian Legion Branch No. 52, held at the Legion Hall Monday night. A large number of members were on hand, presided.

The results of the drive, which was province-wide, indicated that Peterborough stood in second place among all the branches in Ontario, being exceeded only by Ottawa. Now past the 500 mark in membership, Branch No. 52 is expecting a further steady increase during the year.

Twenty-three members were initiated at the meeting, and Harold Yelland, reporting on sick committee activities, stated that 17 members had been visited during the month of January.

The results of the weekly bingos continue to be very satisfactory and for the first month of the current year Robert Hotrum informed the meeting that 145 lots of 300 cigarettes totaling 43,500 were sent to the boys of the Army, Air Force and Navy overseas.

Nicholls Trust Wants Member On New Board

Representation of the Nicholls Hospital Trust on the Board of Management of the proposed civic hospital was suggested to the Council in a letter received last night from E. Bruce Fowler, secretary of the Hospital Board.

The letter was referred to the special hospital committee of the Council for their consideration, and also without any comment from the members last night. The text was substantially as follows:

"The Board wishes to assure the City Council it is their desire to cooperate in every way possible in the adjustment of this problem in order that the Hospital and its management may be brought more in line with present day conditions and with the necessary hospital requirements provided for this city.

"Some matters should be definitely settled before details of the scheme can be worked out. For instance in Clause 3 it is suggested that a Private Bill be sought on behalf of all the citizens and in Clause 7 it is suggested that the levy be made on the taxable property of all citizens. These two clauses, be believe, govern the whole situation, and in our opinion should be first definitely settled before regulations of the propect are laid down.

Want Representation.

"As regards Clause 5, the Board of Nicholls Hospital Trust is definitely of the opinion that representation on the proposed new board should be sought by the Nicholls Hospital Trust. The reason we make this suggestion is obvious. The Trust has provided hospitalization for the city of Peterborough for half a century with very little cost to the citizens. Under your suggestions the Trust hands over to the city, lands, buildings and equipment which have been provided almost entirely by the Nicholls Estate. Furthermore, the Hospital will benefit very materially in perpetuity from the income of an endowment of $242,000.

"There is the ethical situation which should not be ignored, and it is the feeling of this Board that this city, in the spirit of justice, equity and gratitude, should endeavor to preserve definitely the memorial which was originally established.

"There is a large measure of opinion that it would not be in the best interests of the whole situation, nor would it contribute to the self-respect of the citizens of this cty if we fail to perpetuate the some manner the original purpose of the benefaction which has served us for almost sixty year. For the present we believe this can best be done by continuing the Trust to administer the endowment, and by placing at least two members of the Trust on whatever Board of Management may be established.

CPL. STAN McCORMICK

All Canada feels that they have a proprietory interest in the first Lancaster bomber they produced named the "Ruhr Express" and which, since it arrived in England, has been named "Q for Queenie" by its crew.

During thhe past week an R. C. A. F. picture depicting the huge bomber's life, from the time it was only a drawing until it made its first bombing trip, was shown here, and Cpl. Stanley McCormick, has written home that he is one of the ground crew, who nurses "Q for Queenie's" engines along. Although he was supposed to be taking a part in the picture, his family were unable to pick him out. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCormick, St. James Street.

"In the raid that night, which really plastered the Reich,our plane was the tenth to take off and the first to come back. She's a good ship." he wrote proudly.

Cpl. McCormick enlisted and went overseas in 1941. Before joining up, he worked at the C. G. E. and the Johnson Motors, and at one time was an Examiner carrier boy. A brother, James McCormick, who enlisted in August, is with a ground crew working on aerial engine repair, and is still stationed in Canada.

One of the Stormont Dundas and Glengarry "old orginals," Dick Ryan, has returned to Canada in the past few days with a lowered category, after having spent more than two years overseas.

Formerly employed at Brooks' Grill, Pte. Ryan served as a cook with the Glengarrians and he claims that the morale of English people will never be broken. During his time overseas, he had one narrow escape, and not in action. He had just walked out of a pub with five other men, before it was blown sky high. Before he joined the Army, he lived with Jack Blodgett, Sherbrooke St. West.

Pte. Geo. Gainey, brother of Mrs. Stan. Murdock, 28 Cricket Place, who has been fighting with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy for some time, has seen considerable action and on his last rest in early January, wrote several letters home. They are in part:

"We had our Christmas dinner January 2 and are now on a few days rest. I am in an old house wth our platoon and we are just getting cleaned up. It is snowing a little today and the boys have built a fireplace in our room. Half the wall is blown out, so the fire place works fine if the wind is blowing the right way. Right now it's coming the wrong way and my eyes a.e full of smoke."

Another says: "I have just had a bath, and believe me, out here that is quite an experience. We get a big boiler full of water and take turns. The only trouble is that you have to carry your own water. But it makes you feel much cleaner anyway."

Good Support

Pte. Gainey took part in the fierce fighting around Ortona, and he writes that the men received wonderful air support. Mrs. Murdock has already received a parcel of things which he picked up there. This soldier says they hear a lot about a second front, and the men would be glad to see one, for it would help ease the pessure on them, as fighting during December was very fierie.

"The weather along the coast has been a lot like England, lots of rain, but no snow yet, but we can see snow on the mountains from here. Joe Venlin came up Christmas Eve and he is with our unit. I was certaily surprised to see him."

This letter was written earlier than the others and the soldier explains that he was only able to write home once in December because he was too busy." This was dashed off while he was sitting in a big truck, surrounded by a sea of mud. Christmas and New Year's were drab for his group. There were no parcels and few letters, but they had ther celebration later. A brother, Joseph Gainey, is at present in England.

Edinburgh is an attractive city which seems to hold a good deal of interest for Canadian boys stationed overseas. Carlyle Jaquith of Peterborough, who has been overseas seven months, has written about a leave he spent there a few months ago, which is particularly interesting.

"Princes St. and Edinburgh as a whole are lovely, almost as nice as Peterborough. All along one side of Princes St. are flower beds and park. Across the wide thoroughfare are the shops. One feature of the parks along here is the famous flower clock.' From this street you can get a perfect view of Edinburgh Castle, from which a good view of the city may be obtained. One can pick out the Art Gallery, Scott's monument, the Off in the distance is the Firth of Forth and the Firth Bridge. Down what is called the Royal Mile from the castle, is Holyrood Palace. Here may still be seen the apartments of Mary Queen of Scots, and the ruins of Holyrood Abbey. On the way down this road, we passed the house where John Knox lived.

Lived In Peterborough

"My visit to Edinburgh was cut short as I wished to travel further north to Cupar in Fife. I visited the Bethunes, Mrs. Bethune came to Scotland from Peterborough before the outbreak of the war and plans to return when it is over. From here I went on a trip to Dunfermline. This town is mentioned in Burns' poems. There is a very beautiful glen and park there which was given to the town by Andrew Carnegie. It is said, as a boy, Carnegie used to gaze through the huge gates of this park, which was formerly an estate, and wish that some day he could own it. Later, after he made his fortune in Amerira, he bought the estate.

"My second leave was spent at Balliol College, Oxford University. During our course there, we listened to some interesting speakers, among whom were the Hon. Quinten Hogg M. P. and Dr. A. D. Lindsay (Master of Balliol.) Other events included a visit to Lady Tweedsmuir's concert by the London Symphony Orchestra at the Sheldonian Theatre and a dance at Rhodes House.

Likes St. Paul's

"London is my favorite spot for visiting. The first place I went was St. Paul's Cathedral. All the buildings around have been bombed. so now it rises majestically up from the surrounding ruins. Westminster Abey, also proved exciting, but for beauty, St. Paul's excels it in my estimation.

"Across Parliament Square from Westminster Abbey, are the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben. It was quite a thing hearing it strike. Up Whitehall from Parliament Square we passed the Cenotaph and No. 10 Downing Street, and on up to Trafalgar Square.

"On another visit, I met Bill Loomis from home, at the Beaver Club. That day we went for a walk down the Mall to Buckingham Palace and the nearby St. James Park. On the week-end preceding my Oxford trip, I stopped off in London and went to the Palladium Theatre at Oxford Circus. and saw Irving Berlin's stage presentation of "This Is The Army." It was even better than the picture.

"That same day I attended a performance of the Sadler's Wells presentation of the opera, "La Traviata," at the New Theatre, St. Martin's Lane. During the performance the alert signal sounded, but it continued without interruption. To be truthful, it gives one quite an uncomfortable feeling. The 'all clear' sounded while we were groping in the darkness of the blackout and one of London's dense fogs. We ended up at the rear entrance to the Admiralty. You couldn't even see your hand in front of you."

Mrs. Edgar Sorby, 468 Charlotte St. received word in recent weeks that her daughter, Nursing Sister Lieut. Gwen Sorby, has arrived overseas. Lieut. Sorby is a graduate of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal and had worked in that city until she joined the Nursing Corps. Before going overseas, she served for a time at Petawawa. A brother, Capt. Lionel Sorby, returned last summer after three years in England an is now stationed in Ottawa.

Aldermen Given Authority To Buy Horses

Having tentatively offered T. J. Cavanagh $3,500 for his entre equipment used in the collection of garbage, the property committee of the council believed that it was beginning to move toward assuming the work and carrying on operations by municipal government.

'He agreed with Alderman Curtis and me the other afternoon and we wanted to be fair with him," Alderman Swanston said, moving deletion from his property report of the following inventory and valuation clause:

'That we offer Mr. T. J. Cavanagh the following prices: 11 horses at $125 each, to be approved by the city's veterinary doctor, $1.375; five tarpaulins, $108.27; twelve horse covers $84; twelve feed bags $30; two complete single harness which has never been used; ten complete single harness|or five set of double harness, convertible either way within a few minutes. This includes ten sets of back pads, shaft holders, lines, etc.; 15 collars, of which 11 have been made to order, $750; four large scoops $8.40; two small scoops, $3; one Dietz lantern, $2.85; three lanterns, $5.25."

After reviewing the result of negotiations, Alderman Swanston asked the council for instructions as to the next step.

Alderman Sullivan proposed that the committee be given full authority to continue as it had begun if Mr. Cavanagh wished to discuss prices directly with the council. Alderman Mark seconded the motion which gave power to act in buying horses and equipment.

Raps Extremists

QUEBEC, Feb. 22—(CP).—The history of Canada should be taught in English-speaking provinces and in Quebec in such a way as to strengthen national unity, Abbe Arthur Maheux, professor at Laval University, told the Catholic Women's League here last night. Abbe Maheux attacked "extremists of French and English Canada who are doing a Nazi job here."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DON'T INSIST ON BREAKS

IT IS UNSOUND to play the hand in a way which won't work unless you get a lucky break, which is against the probabilities. George Washington didn't do things that way. Instead of depending on luck, he gave the kind of effort necessary to win, figuring out thoroughly the best way to use the game little army he had. The way he won is also the way to win in bridge.

West peeled off three diamond tricks in a hurry, then led the spade Q to the A. South promptly dropped trumps in three rounds, then went after clubs, intending to discard his two spades on them. But when he played the Q to the third round, West discarded, leaving East with the high J. South now had no way to get rid of his final spade, so had to lose it as the setting trick.

Needing only two spade discards on the clubs, there was no necessity for South to depend on the clubs breaking three and, three which was against the probabilities. He could have had the probabilities and made his contract if he had been more thorough in his planning. After getting in on the fourth trick with the spade, A, he should have scored only the A and K of hearts, then the K and A of clubs, followed by a small club, which he could have ruffed with the J to prevent an over-ruff.

Next he could have gone to dummy with the heart 4 to the Q. His club Q then would have cleared that suit. On it and the established 9, he could have thrown his two spade losers, leaving him a trump then for the only remaining trick.

Canucks Protect Shipping Bag Three Subs

By FRANK LOWE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 22 —(CP)—Three German submarines were destroyed and several others damaged by British aircraft and warships when a pack sought unsuccessfully for 11 days recently to slip through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean.

The submarines' effort, which Canadians with the R.A.F. and the Royal Navy helped frustrate, was made under cover of darkness in a moonless period, a joint Admiralty and Air Ministry communique said. Apparently they sought to get through to harry Allied shipping around Anzio in Italy.

Allied Headquarters said some submarines already were active there and the Germans have claimed sinkings of transports and warships at or near the Anzio beachhead.

During two nights of the 11-day period, three large Allied convoys passed through the narrow straits without interference, the communique said.

The engagement opened when a Wellington bomber, captained by Sgt. D. M. Cornish of Scout Lake, Sask., sighted the bluish, phosphorescent wake of a submarine and attacked shortly after midnight. The U-boat surfaced and opened fire as the bomber ran in, Cornish said. Depth charges were dropped and the submarine's guns ceased firing.

For several days afterwards, sporadic battles with other U-boats continued, with several separate engagements between Allied surface and aircraft and Nazi undersea ships being reported.

Anti-Louse Powder Curbs Typhus Spread

ALGIERS, Feb. 22 —(AP)—Anti-louse powder "DDT," applied for the first time on a mass scale to combat an epidemic, has arrested the spread of typhus in Naples, Brig.-Gen. Leon Fox, Birmingham, Ala., field director of the United States Typhus Commission, told the opening session of the Allied Medical Conference today.

Fox termed the powder the greatest single weapon against the disease. During January, he said, some 1,300,000 persons in the Naples area and their clothing were dusted.

TOUGH RECOVERY JOB IN ITALY—Tense moment in toughest recovery job of the Italian campaign. Moving up into the attack against St. Leonardo two tanks went off the road in the dark, plunged into a 40-foot defile and lay piled one on top of the other. Canadian Ordnance Corps officers working with the Tank Brigade secured invaluable assistance of British R.A.S.C. personnel operating caterpillars. Moving the 32 tonners necessitated winching the first tank over on its side releasing the one underneath; then using three Caterpillar tractors equipped with drum winches to haul the great machines up an almost vertical bank. British-Canadian teamplay completed the job in a few hours despite mud and rain.

Man's Life Span May Last 150 Years If Serum Works

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 22 — A Russian-originated serum which may ultimately lengthen man's life span —possibly to 150 years—is described in the American Review of Soviet Medicine.

Dr. Vladimir V. Lebedenko, Russia's Red Cross representative in the United States, is suggesting the 150-year figure in public addresses. Dr. Lebedenko was in Toronto on Thursday attending an international conference of orthopaedic surgeons.

There is nothing fantastic about the serum nor in the way the Russians hope it may work. The purpose is simply to aid in restoring to man his normal health, and with it his normal life span, which many scientists suggest has been shortened since Methuselah.

The serum's originator, Alexander A. Bogomolets, says in the Soviet Medical Journal that he hopes the serum "will provide a means of fighting the precocious senile fading of the body, of fighting for its normal longevity." The longer life would come from both preventing and curing diseases peculiar to ageing and to old-age.

For Whole Body.

This serum is peculiar in that it is made for an entire system of the human body (the reticulo-endothelial system) instead of, like most sera, as an antidote for a single disease or a specific poison produced by microbes.

The system is that part of the body which governs man's natural defences against disease. It plays a role in his nutrition, in healing, in destroying microbes, in formation of hormones, and in forming the bones and the elastic skeleton of the body known as the connective tissues.

The serum, oddly enough, is a poison for this human protective system. It is made the same as the sera used to kill disease germs, and the antitoxins which immunize people against specific diseases: by inoculating into a horse some of the tissue cells of the spleen and the bone marrow of a dead human being. These spleen and bone marrow cells are part of the protective (reticulo-endothelial) system.

The cells produce in the horse a serum which can destroy tissue cells. Its name is anti-reticular cytotoxic serum. When given in small doses to animals the serum shows its destructive power by retarding recovery from whatever disease the animal has. But, in barely more than trace doses the serum stimulates instead of damaging the disease-fighting system.

Heals Wounds

These minute doses now are given to human beings in Russia, and the report summarizes the results of thousands of cases, particularly its good results in speeding the healing of wounds and of broken bones among Russian soldiers.

The time has not been long enough to measure any effects on life span. But the variety of other reported benefits is surprising.

Two diseases in which Bagomelets says there should be favorable results, since both are due to quite an extent to ageing of the body, are cancer and high blood pressure. Good results are also reported with scarlet fever, infection after childbirth, pneumonia, abscesses and schizophrenia. It is reported as promising in blood-poisonings and in acute rheumatism, and is declared to be a good tonic in convalescence.

R.C.A.S.C. Fights Blazing Drums At Petrol Dump

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY, Feb. 22 (CP)—Flames shot 100 feet in the air and metal containers sky rocketted in all directions when a shell scored a direct hit on a petrol dump of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

The effect was more spectacular than it was destructive for only a limited amount of petrol was stacked in any one dump, but only fast work by the Army Service Corps men saved what might have been a serious loss.

"Everyone pitched in to help clear away stacks within range of the one that was blazing," said Capt. Fred Perrott, Ottawa, in charge of the petrol point. "Shells kept plopping in but the men went on working just as though nothing was happening."

Capt. G. A. MacGregor, Hamilton, Ont., said tins from the burning stack were shooting up in the air "like sky rockets" and landing as much as 50 yards away. The whole area resembled a gigantic blow torch.

Shovel Off Tin

One blazing tin landed on another stack and Sgt. David Shepherd, Rumsey, Alta., quickly shovelled it out of the way. Then, still using his shovel, he beat out a fire which was beginning to spread.

"It would have been a nice thing to watch if it hadn't been our petrol burning up," Shepherd said.

A chain gang was formed to pass tins back to trucks and jeeps which whisked them away to a safe area. The last tins removed were so hot they burned the hands of the persons carrying them.

Members of the Provost Corps stopped traffic, for there was a wall of flame across the road, then piled their own jeeps full of petrol and helped drive it away.

8 Monks In Abbey When Shells Hit

WITH THE 5TH ARMY AT CASSINO, Feb. 22 —(AP)— Only eight of the Benedictine monks of the Monte Cassino Abbey were in the monastery with an unknown number of civilian refugees and German troops Tuesday when American planes reduced the historic structure to a shapeless pile of rubble.

Italian civilians who have reached Allied lines from the abbey said most of the monks left the abbey weeks ago when Allied forces first approached this area.

Stalin Claims Final Hour Nearing Fast

Believes Russians Bearing Brunt Of Battle

LONDON, Feb. 23 — (CP) — All German attempts to "introduce disharmony in the camp of the anti-Hitlerite coalition" are doomed to failure, Premier Stalin told the Russian people today in a special order of the day commemorating the 26th anniversary of the Red Army.

Praising the Red Army for smashing Germany "to the edge of catastrophe," the Russian premier again emphasized his contention that Russia has been bearing the brunt of the war effort, but declared:

"All the more hopeless will the situation of Hitlerite Germany be when the main forces of our allies go into action and the powerful and growing offensive of the Allied states is launched against Hitlerite Germany.

"It should now be clear to all that Hitlerite Germany is advancing inevitably toward catastrophe. The hour of final reckoning for all the crimes committed by the Hitlerites on Soviet soil and in the occupied countries is approaching."

Stalin's proclamation, which was broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, said in one year the Russians won back three-quarters of the territory taken by the Germans since their 1941 invasion and advanced westward as much as 1,000 miles in some places.

Stalin said the Nazis, aware of approaching retribution for their crimes, are resisting "with the fury of desperation" and are fighting for every foot of Russian soil. Therefore, he added:

"We must be vigilant and not allow over-confidence in our ranks, or complacency.

"There has never yet been a case in the history of war when an enemy jumped into the abyss of his own accord. In order to win the war it is necessary to force the enemy to the abyss and push him in."

The Germans, Stalin asserted, are seeking to save themselves by ordering total mobilization in the rear, "although Germany's manpower reserves are depleted," and by making desperate efforts to introduce disharmony in the camp of the allies and thereby "drag out the war."

"Hitlerite diplomats are rushing from one neutral country to another, trying to establish contacts with pro-Hitlerite elements, and hinting at the possibility of separate peace, sometimes with our state, sometimes with our allies," he said.

"All these subterfuges of the Hitlerites are doomed to failure."

They are armed with the new infantry anti-tank weapon, called the Piat (projector, infantry anti-tank), which fires a 2¾-pound projectile that can pierce four inches of armor. The guns, operated by one man, can also be used to demolish pillboxes.

Million Jobs To Open After War

Survey In Canada Gives Facts For Post-War Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 (CP)—When peace returns and the transition from war to peace economy is completed, there may be available to Canadians from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 unfilled peace-time jobs said an interim report on rehabilitation tabled today before the Commons Reconstruction Committee.

The report was prepared by Dr. G. M. Weir, acting director of training in the Pensions Department and tabled by Pensions Minister Mackenzie.

Questioned by newspapermen Dr. Weir said later it appeared safe to assume there will be about 500,000 jobs additional to those available in 1939 after the transition from war to peace.

Replies to questionaires had been on different bases, he said, and it could not be said exactly what number of the total of between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 "available" jobs could be called "new" jobs.

An official summary of the report said that it was based on the opinions of more than 50,000 people in Canada and on a questionnaire filled out by 347,000 members of the armed forces.

Based on the opinions of these Canadians, the report said, it is believed:—

1. That full employment in the post-war period is feasible;

2. That professional opportunities will be increased by about 50,000, with need for doctors and dentists heading the list.

3. That construction and building, manufacturing and agriculture will offer the greatest opportunities for employment for men in the armed services; and that the three principal fields for women will be in professional, personal and miscellaneous service, vocational and clerical work.

Dr. Weir said his report is based on assumptions that growth of population and industrial development after the war will continue at as rapid a pace as in the past; that fairly full employment and gradually improved standards of living will be realized; that government controls will be relaxed; but that there will continue to be government direction and an extensive program of public works if needed.

Maintain High Wages

The report also assumes, he said, that social services will be developed fairly rapidly; that post-war expansion will not primarily involve in-

MILLION JOBS

By WES GALLAGHER—Associated Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—In the opinion of many Allied military leaders—an opinion reflected in Prime Minister Churchill's speech in the House of Commons yesterday — Germany still has a mighty war machine at her disposal. Here is a picture of Nazi military might, as compiled from the opinions of two top Allied officers charged with assessing German strength, and from information obtained from an anti-Nazi German underground leader aiding the Allied cause.

None of these men believe that a combination of Allied bombing and Russian ground successes will cause a German collapse, although they acknowledge the contributions of both.

None of them believes that a civilian revolution is possible at the moment.

All are convinced that bloody, large-scale battles must be waged on the western front to beat the Germans into submission.

All say that German reserve stocks are low, but that German ground forces have no serious shortage of war materials.

They agree German military strength is in about the same relative position as it was in 1917 in the First Great War.

In general they sum the situation up this way:

1. Civilian strength: Allied demands for unconditional surrender and the Russian determination to crush Germany have hardened both civilians and soldiers to the point where they feel they must stand fast to the last.

Propaganda Strong

German propaganda is still strong and grips the people's minds. thus, although Allied bombings have created terrible hardships, the only outward result has been an increase in sullen hatred.

Eleven years of the Hitler regime have left the country devoid of leadership outside the Nazi party and the army, which is co-operating.

2. The German Army: despite huge losses on the Russian front estimated to have been between 1,00,000 and 1,500,000 men in the last eight months, Hitler has not yet reached the bottom of the manpower barrel.

600,000 a Year.

The German army still has the same number of divisions with which it started the war — more than 300. These divisions have dropped in strength from 15,000 to 10,000 or 12,000 men in some cases.

The German high command in the past three months has been able to increase strength in the West— France, Belgium, Holland, and Western Germany—from about 40 to 60 divisions.

Each year a new military class brings 600,000 to 800,000 teen-aged recruits into the army. Allied officers say these youths are fanatical fighters.

There is no scarcity of arms, although production has been heavily cut. The Germans have been

3 of 4 Quadruplets Die Day After Birth Condition Of Mother 23 Reported Good

DECATUR, Ala., Feb. 23 — (AP). — Two more of the quadruplets born to a paratrooper's young wife died in Benevolent Hospital today—leaving only one, a girl, alive.

The boy, Edmund Hutto, Jr., died last night, and this morning two of his sisters, Sherianne and Yvonne, succumbed. Diane, one of the four born yesterday a month prematurely, still clung to life, fed by eyedropper.

Mrs. Hutto, 23, was reported in a satisfactory condition. Her husband, a farm worker before becoming a private in the Paratroops at Fort Benning, Ga., was dazed by announcement of the births.

The Huttos reside at Hillsboro, Ala. The quadruplets were their first children.

Allies Repel Two Attacks Against Anzio Beachhead

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK—Associated Press Correspondent

NAPLES, Feb. 23—(AP).—Fifth Army troops threw back two localized German attacks west of Cisterna yesterday, Allied headquarters announced today, as Field Marshal Albert Kesselring brought his long range artillery into play and apparently regrouped his forces for another attempt at driving the Allies off the Anzio beachhead.

Nazi artillery lobbed shells at the nerve centre of Anzio and other beachhead objectives, and 130 German planes hit at ground troops, but the Allies countered with 1,600 aerial sorties, and gunfire against enemy troop and vehicle movements.

A lull continued in the fighting on the Cassino sector to the east.

Otherwise headquarters reported only normal patrolling from both fronts, with more snowfalls hampering movements in the mountains.

British guns shelled enemy troops and vehicles near the Nazis' main concentration point of Carroceto. Allied group troops could see the Germans busily moving their forces in rear areas, indicating Kesselring was preparing for a renewed assault after repulse of his second major offensive last week-end.

Need Breather.

The enemy also maintained steady pressure around the perimeter of the beachhead.

The Germans sorely needed a breathing spell, for they suffered the heaviest casualties of any comparable period of the Italian campaign during their four-day assault from last Wednesday through Saturday.

The German 114th Jaeger (Rifle) Division suffered particularly heavy losses.

On the 8th Army front, French Canadians on the coast beat off an attack by 30 Germans late Sunday, and Allied artillery on a sector held by Indian forces destroyed houses near Arielli which the Germans were using as machine-gun and artillery observation posts. A German raid on 8th Army lines northwest of Casoli was broken up.

Capture of a German prisoner was the only incident reported yesterday on the Canadian Corps sector. Patrols made normal sorties into enemy lines and encountered the usual machine-gun opporition.

Two-Way Raids Worry Londoners

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A substantial number of German raiders made a two-directional assault on London last night, showering high explosives and fire bombs over wide areas here and in other English sections, causing casualties including at least 10 killed and starting fires in several districts.

The raiders stirred up a barrage which many agreed was the heaviest of the war. Ten of the enemy planes were destroyed. two by Sqdn. Ldr. C. A. Anderson of Toronto, a Mosquito pilot.

Making the 11th assault on London this month and the fourth in five nights, the attacks came in two waves over the east and south coast. They converged on London and then spread out.

The main cargo of the raiders was incendiaries, perhaps many of them the new explosive type the Germans say they are using. In size the attacking force appeared equal to any sent against Britain in recent nights, perhaps larger.

For more than an hour massive and continuous barrage was hurled skyward. Gun flashes combined with burning incendiaries to turn night into day.

Anti-aircraft shell fragments came down like metallic hailstones, kicking up sparks from the pavement and clanking on rooftops. At least six persons were killed by these fragments.

Londoners going to work today saw cleanup gangs clearing bomb damage and sweeping the streets.

A number of schools, including a famous one in the London area, were among the buildings wrecked.

One house was destroyed and six others were damaged by incendiaries dropped in the outskirts of an East Anglian town and several casualties were caused at one town in the

Five Factories For Planes Hit Tuesday

Opposition Heavy As Allies Attack On 2 Sides

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—American bombers and fighters, striking powerfully from Britain and Italy in the first co-ordinated assault deep into Germany, crippled enemy aircraft production anew and knocked 133 Nazi fighter planes from the sky, U.S. army headquarters declared today.

Sixty-one big bombers were lost in yesterday's joint assault, which included diversionary raids by planes based in Italy, the announcement said. It listed 41 bombers lost from the force attacking from Britain, and 20 missing from the U.S. 15th Air Force based in Italy.

(Allied headquarters in the Mediterranean said only 15 Italy-based planes were lost yesterday, and a spokesman said 12 were bombers. This would make the day's total bomber losses 53.)

Get 310 Fighters

"In three days of record-breaking operations aimed at destroying Germany's capacity to maintain aerial resistance, American air force planes have accounted for 310 enemy fighters," headquarters said, with 153 falling to fighters of the 8th and 9th Air Forces in Britain, 117 destroyed by 8th Air Force Bombers, and 40 by 15th Air Force Bombers.

The Germans threw up savage resistance as the Britain-based bombers struck the Junkers-88 assembly plant Bernburg and airframe and component factories at Aschersleben and Halberstadt. The 15th Air Force Bombers from Italy blasted two Messerschmitt factories at Regensburg, and bombed freight yards at Petershausen, 20 miles north of Munich.

An announcement said the Italian-based aircraft were in record strength. Fliers returning to Britain said the fighting was even more intense than in the Schweinfurt raid of last October, when the Americans lost 60 bombers.

Heavy bombers flying from Britain bagged 34 enemy fighters yesterday, and their escorts knocked down 59, while the bombers of the 15th air force destroyed 40 Nazi craft.

Other enemy craft were hit on the aprons of factories and in parking areas.

A community said the 8th and 9th air force lost 11 fighters yesterday, and that two fighters of the

Highway Revenue Exceeds Expenses By $209,000,000

TORONTO, Feb. 23—(CP).—The Province of Ontario has received $209,000,000 more in revenue from its highways since 1932 than it has spent on them, Guy R. Marston of Simcoe said today in his presidential address to the 50th annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

Mr. Marston, county engineer for Norfolk county for 31 years, said "it would appear" that the money "has been diverted for other purposes."

"In 1929 the bonded indebtedness for provincial highways was $128,000,000," said Mr. Marston. "In March, 1943, it was $332,000,000. That is a debt of $46,000 a mile for the provincial highways....

"From October, 1932, to April, 1943, the Ontario revenue from highways was $304,000,000. Subsidies to counties and townships during the same period were $43,000,000. Expenditures on provincial roads were $200,000,000, leaving a surplus of revenue over total expenditure of $61,000,000.

"Bearing in mind that $148,000,000 has been added to the bonded indebtedness of Ontario during that period it would appear that $209,000,000 has been diverted for other than road purposes. I have collected these figures from books issued by the Ontario Government and from pamphlets issued by the Federal Government.

"Last year county and township councils were asked for a five-year post-war program of roads. Some have asked no increase in expenditures, some 50 to 100 per cent., some 400 to 500 per cent. Apparently some councils think taxpayers can stand no further increase in taxes.

"People in rural sections need and deserve good roads and are willing to pay taxes to the various departments of the government, but they feel they should know for what they are paying taxes and where the money goes. Thousands of young men have left the farms, not because of dislike of farming, but because they cannot be happy without good roads."

Batter Rabaul With 52 Tons

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 23 —(AP)— American planes pounded the Japanese base at Rabaul on New Britain with 52 tons of bombs in a raid which enemy fliers did not challenge, Allied Headquarters reported to-day.

Reconnaissance revealed an "unusually low" number of planes on airfields and ships, in the harbor of this principal enemy strong-point in the South Pacific, a Headquarters spokesman said. Fewer than 100 aircraft were counted.

The spokesman gave no explanation of this thinning of shipping and aircraft, but daily raids by Solomons-based planes and a naval bombardment of Rabaul and its harbor last Friday have made the bastion a graveyard for the enemy's air and sea craft.

An Allied communique to-day said ground forces have captured Gabumi village and established a bridgehead on the Mot river in Northeast New Guinea. Gabumi is 11 miles Northwest of Saidor.

Japanese Losing Grip In Burma

NEW DELHI, Feb. 23 — (AP). — Allied troops are wresting the initiative from the Japanese on the Arakan front in Burma, an Allied southeast Asia command communique said today.

Sustained attacks by British and West African troops have driven the Japanese from strongpoints in this sector in the past few days. Mopping - up operations continued throughout yesterday.

Gurkha units have played a major part in routing the enemy, front-line dispatches reported. Scores of demoralized Japanese troops have been wiped out by the knife-wielding Indian troops.

Allied troops have almost entirely cleared the enemy from the important Ngakyedauk Pass in the Maya

Nazis Evacuate Southern France

LONDON, Feb. 23 (CP CABLE)—Evacuation of France's Mediterranean coast began yesterday, said a commentator on the German-controlled Paris radio, because the French government considers southern France will be the first region invaded by the Allies.

This statement by commentator Robert De Beauplan constituted a reminder that the time is not far off when weather will be suitable for invasion anywhere along France's coastline. De Beauplan said the blow may fall along a line from Nice on the Riviera to Toulon and Marseilles on the eastern end of the Gulf of Lions to Perpignan on the west.

The commentator, however, also warned that if the Allies invaded elsewhere than in the south every region of the country must be ready for the sudden attack which would turn the area into a gigantic battlefield.

Britain, Russia, U S A Absolutely United

Independence Of Poland A Condition That Britain And U.S. Will Insist On

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Prime Minister Churchill's unadorned war review before the House of Commons yesterday was another of his masterful speeches and one which must increase Allied confidence in the state of the Global conflict.

Without encouraging over-confidence—indeed with warning of hard days to come—the Prime Minister's summary clearly showed that the Allies are on the road to victory both in Europe and in the Orient. However, he displayed his usual astuteness in refusing to predict when the European war will end. He couldn't guarantee it would be this year, or yet that it would extend into next year, but (just a fillip of cheer) it "may not be so far away."

Of far greater importance than the date of the war's end was his assurance that the big three—Britain, Russia and the United States—still are "absolutely united." This was the outstanding point in his speech.

Unity among these three dominant powers is vital not only to the winning of the war but to peace. A rupture in the partnership likely would mean a third great war.

Mr. Churchill's insistence that Britain is intensely interested in maintaining Poland's independence is a statement which applies equally to the United States.

I take that to mean that while the western allies recognize that unity among the big three is essential to peace, yet this doesn't involve the abject surrender of high principles by any one of the trio, we stand erect.

Mr. Churchill was answering the fear expressed by some that Russia intends to take over not only the Polish territory she occupied in 1939, but perhaps other Polish territory as well. He asserted his conviction that repeated Moscow declarations for a strong, independent Poland "represent the settled policy of the Soviet Union."

The Prime Minister confirmed that he and Premier Stalin had agreed at Teheran "upon the need for Poland to obtain compensation at the expense of Germany both in the north and west." This means that the Allies have contemplated giving a reconstituted Poland the German province of East Prussia and some territory adjacent to Poland on the west. So at least this much dismemberment of the Reich is under consideration.

Lonergan Lawyer Angers Judge

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 —(AP) — Opening of the trial of Wayne Lonergan, charged with the bludgeon slaying of his heiress wife, Patricia, was adjourned to-day until tomorrow when his council failed to appear in court.

When an assistant defence counsel notified the court he had received a telegram from Edward V. Broderick that he was in Toronto completing an unfinished investigation, Judge John J. Freschi announced "I think his conduct constitutes contempt of court and I shall ask him to answer for it at the conclusion of this trial."

"I have never heard the equal of this in all my experience," he said.

There were 200 special jurors already in the courtroom when Broderick's associate, William Merritt, said the chief defence counsel was in Toronto and would like postponement of the trial until February 28.

The Toronto-born defendant, an R. C. A. F. Aircraftsman, was not present.

Russian Bombs Hit Sweden

Believed Jettisoned By Damaged Craft

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 23—(AP). — The Swedish telegraph agency said today Russian lettering was found on bomb fragments at Straengnaes, 40 miles west of Stockholm, after a small number of foreign planes dropped explosives there and on the capital last night.

Signal lights, indicating they were trying to land, also were dropped by the planes, and it was believed possible that they were damaged craft which jettisoned their explosives before attempting emergency landings.

Russian bombers raided Turku, on the west coast of Finland, 150 miles from Stockholm, earlier last night.

Several of the bombs which fell in Stockholm crashed directly into a summer open air theatre, in the only extensive open area in the southern section of the city. No casualties were reported, but hundreds of windows were said to have been shattered.

A Swedish communique identified the aircraft, which came from the east, only as "foreign planes." The number of planes involved was placed officially at three, but private reports said there were 10.

Writers Eat Beaver Meat

Guests Disagree On The Taste

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22 (AP)—There are Canadians who claim beaver meat is a delicacy.

There are below-the-border men who definitely agree and others who definitely don't.

In fact, they can't tell what beaver tastes like. They agree only that beavers make dandy dams.

The meat tastes like rabbit, lamb, venison or caribou, depending on whose report it is.

The Outdoor Writers Association of America ate beaver at its annual convention here Monday night. Some guess took "seconds" and some didn't down their "firsts."

Anyway, the Outdoor Outfitters of Ontario who supplied the meat contributed to all the 300 guests' entertainment and gave the man who was reminded of caribou a chance to bask in the admiration of his less cosmopolite table companions.

One comment dropped into the discussion sounded like "for me, I'll just take a good baked 'coon."

Bridge Subsidy Increased By 25 Per Cent

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP) —Increase of 25 per cent in the Provincial subsidy for construction of bridges, payment of Provincial road subsidies to municipalities twice yearly and abolition of the machinery rental arrangement with municipalities were announced to-day by Highway Minister Doucett of Ontario.

Addressing the Ontario Good Roads Association's 5th annual convention, Mr. Doucett said that there are 5,453 bridges in Ontario with a span greater than 10 feet which do not come up to standard and 10,222 sub-standard bridges with less than a 10-foot span.

"As of January 1, 1944, we are raising this subsidy (now 50 per cent) to 75 per cent of the amount spent in rebuilding and standardising these sub-standard structures and in construction of new bridges," he said. "The new rate of subsidy will be applicable where not less than $1,000 is spent in a given year on a given structure by a County or $500 by a Township. Where lesser amounts are spent the present standard subsidy.... will still apply.

To assist municipal financing, road subsidies henceforth will be paid in two instalments, March 31, and September 30, instead of once a year, said the Minister, adding there will be "a reasonable hold-back on the September 30 payment pending final accounting."

Dealing with the machinery rentals system of subsidies, the Minister recalled that when a municipality buys power machinery for use in road and maintenance, the practice has been to place a rental charge of so much a day on the municipal books, the Province paying half the amount of the yearly rental.

This system is abolished as of last January 1, he continued and in its place the Highway Department henceforth will pay a straight subsidy of 50 per cent of the cost of the machinery.

"The new system is simple, avoids bookkeeping and cleans up each of these machinery purchases in one transaction rather than dragging them over the years," he said.

Can Wear Civvies On 7-Day Leave

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 — (CP) — A chance to return to "civvies," if only for a few days, has been granted to all ranks of the Canadian Army, including the C.W.A.C., according to an announcement in routine orders.

The order states that army personnel may be granted permission to wear civilian clothes while on furlough or pass of not less than seven days. They must leave or return to stations in uniform, however.

Thus ends, according to opinion in local military circles, one of the most widespread violations against dress regulations.

"In the past, it has been the temptation of many a soldier to put on his civvies, perhaps just for an evening of dancing, while he was on furlough," said one senior officer. "It's on natural for a soldier to crave a little change from the usual routine. Now he can indulge in that happy transformation without fear of apprehension or punishment."

creases in jobs arising from "boom" conditions; that there will be effective conversion of war industries to peacetime pursuits; and that, in order to provide full employment, a reasonably high national income must be maintained to assure decent standards of living and adequate social services.

Mr. Mackenzie said in a statement to the committee that on the basis of the survey it is estimated that provision should tentatively be made for the vocational training of close to 200,000 young people now in the armed forces.

The minister said the comments and conclusions in Dr. Weir's report merely suggested the extent of the problem and the scope of the partial inquiry already made.

While "far from being conclusive," they were offered on the basis that factual data collected from several thousand people are a better guide "in assessing the nature and extent of rehabilitation problem than the intuition or judgment of any one official."

Want Stenography

Dr. Weir is a former Minister of Education in British Columbia and has conducted several National Surveys.

Mr. Mackenzie said the conclusions and opinions in the report were not offered as the opinion of the Government or even Dr. Weir, but were the concensus of "substantial numbers of people with specialized knowledge of the subject matter about which they were consulted."

A survey of women in the armed forces had shown that "an extraordinary preponderance" was in favor of stenography as a post-war occupation. Other high-ranking choices were homemaking, nursing, University courses, teaching, bookkeeping and clerical work.

In the case of men, a questionnaire directed to 16,720 students in 48 R.C.A.F. training centres across Canada showed the two principal preferences for post-war training to be electrical engineering and radio.

A total of 1,201 wished to continue in the R.C.A.F., while 1,160 said their preference was for aeronautical engineering and mechanics. Much of this engineer training would be on the senior technical school level, said the report.

Inquiry among 4,000 naval ratings gave radio, motor mechanics, machine shop practice, electrical engineering and welding as the principal preferences. Those wishing to continue in the navy were sixth on the list.

Mr. Mackenzie said a questionnaire based on the possibility of educational and training courses being provided between the end of the war and ultimate discharge was directed to 9,435 soldiers, of whom all but 25 per cent. had completed Public school or had taken more advanced educational courses up to and including university degrees.

Of these, 61 per cent. indicated a desire to have trade training, 36 asked for further educational courses and 21 per cent. asked for both types of training.

Reds Observe 26th Birthday

LONDON, Feb. 23—(CP).—A series of triumphs over the German invaders of Russia was fashioned for the 26th anniversary today of the formation of the Red Army.

Soviet troops, which swept the Germans from almost three-quarters of occupied Russia in a year, yesterday captured Krivoi Rog in the Ukraine and pushed their northern advance by taking 300 communities, sending the Germans retreating upon Pskov along a 150-mile curving front.

"The German Fascist war machine has been placed by the Red Army on the verge of complete defeat," said the Soviet information bureau.

Premier Marshal Stalin himself announced the capture of Krivoi Rog, which the Germans had defended with fanatic zeal in four months of bitter fighting.

Pskov has particular significance for the Red Army. It was there in 1918 that the Russians defeated the Germans in a battle which has been officially designated as the army's beginning.

The advance toward Pskov has brought the Russians to within 10 miles of Dno, half-way point between Staraya Russ and Pskov.

force in Italy were missing, for a total day's loss of 74 planes.

A headquarters spokesman in Italy said three fighters were lost yesterday over the Anzio beachhead area, and that 50 enemy planes were downed during the day, including the 40 over Germany and 10 over the beachead.

The Mediterranean air force sent out a record number of planes for one day in the blows on Regensburg as well as at Zagreb airdrome and Sizenik harbor in Zara and in Yugoslavia.

Loss of 61 bombers over Germany is a new record since it is the first figure for combined operations from Britain and Italy of the U.S. strategic air force in Europe.

R.A.F. Mosquitoes maintained the offensive during the night hitting unspecified targets in western and southwestern Germany without loss.

The Berlin radio claimed the Americans lost 104 planes, of which 15 per cent were fighters.

The bombers from Britain also attacked airfields and other targets in southern and central Germany while those from Italy blasted ports on the Dalmatian coast and the Zagreb airport. So deep into Germany did some of the Britain-based bombers penetrate that their fighter escort was unable to accompany him all the way to the target.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire also was encountered and the flak in one section was described as even worse than over the Ruhr Valley.

Despite the fierce opposition, excellent results were reported.

Allies Repel 2 Hun Attacks

NAPLES, Feb. 23—(AP).—Allied 5th Army troops in the Anzio beachhead sector south of Rome have thrown back two local Nazi attacks, Allied headquarters announced today.

Casualties were inflicted on the Germans, the communique said.

Patrols and artillery were active on the main 5th Army front at Cassino and on the British 8th Army front across the peninsula, the bulletin said.

In a powerful burst of activity, Allied planes flew about 1,600 sorties yesterday, with light bombers and fighters described as "very active" over the beachhead, attacking troop concentrations, gun positions, supply dumps and motor transports.

Nazi activity over the beachhead amounted to 130 sorties, the bulletin said.

The communique also reported the heavy bombers had blasted the airfield at Zagreb and the harbors at Zara and Sibenik.

Fifty enemy planes were destroyed during the day for a loss of 15 Allied aircraft, it was disclosed.

Finnish Peace Seems Remote

By JOHN H. COLBURN
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 23.—(AP).—Juhu K. Paasikivi, former Finnish cabinet member whose arrival here Feb. 12 led to rumors that his government was trying to contact Moscow with a view to negotiating a separate peace, returned to Helsinki to-day without any indications that Finland is any nearer getting out of the war.

Paasikivi, who played an important role in negotiating the treaty that ended the Finnish-Russian war of 1939-40, left Stockholm by plane at 9 a.m. (4 a.m. E.D.T.), accompanied by his wife

He declined to comment on the subject of Finnish peace negotiations, but appeared to be in a less jovial mood than on his arrival, impressing correspondents as a man whose mission has been none too successful

When asked if he planned to return to Stockholm, Paasikivi said, "I've been here too long already."

A possible indication that a Russian-Finnish peace is not likely in the near future came from Helsinki yesterday when it was disclosed that Finnish trade negotiations with Germany were resumed Feb. 18. This step was taken despite United States State Secretary Cordell Hull's warning Jan. 31 that the Finns must break their alliance with Germany or suffer the consequences.

However, some diplomatic observers expressed the opinion that peace negotiations might not have gone beyond the sounding out stage and Finland still may find a way to quit the war.

Pte. John Moxam Arrives Home

BANCROFT, Feb. 23—(ENS). — Pte. John Moxam arrived home last week much to the surprise of his wife and family, after more than four years overseas.

He enlisted with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment September 9, 1939, at the age of 32 years, training three months in Picton prior to going overseas in December of 1939. The boys sailed with no unusual experiences, having only sighted several sharks and schools of porpoises.

During Pte. Moxam's stay in the Old Country, his training took him throughout England, Scotland, and Wales. It was during his six weeks' commando training that he received injuries which necessitated his removal to hospital for treatment and eventually led to his homecoming. While on one of his commando training schemes he relates that he had the pleasure of being billeted at Lord Bennett's estate.

Pte. Moxam arrived in Canada early in February. Although he was overjoyed at arriving home to be with his wife and family, there were sad memories for him also, as his father and one brother Eric pased away during time he was overseas. Pte Moxam has one brother, Pte. Douglas Moxam, also overseas, who went overseas with the P.W.O.R.'s, later being transferred to the O.I.C.'s. Just prior to John's homecoming the two brothers arranged several days' leave which they made use of in sightseeing the points of interest in the Isles.

Pte. John Moxam was among the troops sent to France in 1940 just prior to that country's fall before the German onslaught, and said that when he left the beaches of Dunkirk he had no belongings to take, as all was lost in their rapid return to the Channel.

Pte. Moxam is now home on 30 days' leave and upon its termination he will report back to Headquarters at Kingston.

Herbert Harden Dies After Severe Fall

COBOURG, Feb. 23 — (ENS) — Fatally injured on Monday morning when he fell from a roof which he was repairing, Herbert Harden died Tuesday afternoon in Cobourg General Hospital. Mr. Harden had been fixing the roof of a house occupied by R. Beattie, the house having been damaged by fire on Sunday night, when he lost his footing and fell to the ground. He was taken to Cobourg General Hospital where it was found that he had a fracture at the base of his skull and no hope was held out for his recovery when the extent of his injuries had been determined.

He was born in Detroit and came to Canada while a young man. For the past 23 years he had been a resident of Cobourg, with the exception of four years overseas with the Cobourg Heavy Battery. He was a carpenter by trade. He is survived by his widow who was Dorothy Atchison of Cobourg, whom he married 22 years ago; two children, Clifford and Isabelle of Cobourg; a brother, Ambrose, in Saskatoon, and a sister, Mrs. Clarke Thomas of Colborne. Cobourg Flier Safe When Bomber Found

COBOURG, Feb. 23 — (ENS) — Word was received Tuesday that Flying Officer Douglas Campbell of Cobourg, missing since Friday, had been found safe. He was captain of the crew of the Liberator bomber which disappeared Friday, and was spotted Monday on an island where it had crashed. When a radio broadcast said Tuesday the plane had been located, his mother, Mrs. Maude Campbell, was confident that her son was safe. Late in the afternoon she received a phone call from her daughter-in-law in Trenton, that Flying Officer Campbell was safe.

It was not known here that Flying Officer Campbell was on the bomber until it was learned that the plane which had been spotted had been missing since Friday, the same date as that on which the Cobourg flier was missing.

He enlisted with the R.C.A.F. at Toronto in 1940 and had been located since then at various air stations, having served as an instructor at Aylmer and in Saskatchewan. He received his flying officer's commission in 1943. For about a year he has been flying in the Eastern Coastal Command. Twenty-five years of age, he was born and educated in Cobourg. Three years ago he married Doris Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Cobourg.

Red Cross Works On New Quota

HAVELOCK, Feb. 23 (ENS) — Twenty-seven ladies were at the work room on Tuesday afternoon, continuing the work on the new sewing quotas and labelling of finished garments. One quilt was quilted and two quilts were bound, and a carton of quilts will be shipped next week.

Orders were taken for the blue regulation Red Cross workroom smocks. The convener of the Blood Donor Committee reported a bus load of donors would be going to Peterborough on Friday night. A membership drive to collect the fee of $1 will be started next week, in conjunction with the National campaign. Although the allocation for Belmont and Havelock is being met by the County, having levied a tax of 1 mill on the dollar, the membership fee will still have to be continued.

Two crib quilts were made and donated by Misses Eleanor and Muriel Forsyth and gratefully acknowledged. A large carton of quilt patches were received from headquarters, and distributed to sewers to be made up into quilt tops. The Branch sent flowers to Assistant President, Mrs. Annie Anderson, who is ill.

THE ORDER OF ST. JOHN

SERVING HUMANITY Since 1099 A.D.

The Venerable Order of St. John is the oldest Order of Chivalry in the world. In 1099 A.D. members restored the old hospital of St. John in Jerusalem and provided a body of men, called the Brothers of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, to attend the sick. Later, the Order became a fighting Brotherhood and consisted of Knights to defend the Hospital and the sick, as well as Brothers to nurse them.

Always the Order lived up to its motto—"Pro Utilitate Hominum"—for the service of mankind. Today the Order of St. John, which controls the St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade, still serves humanity. Through the Association it teaches the science of First Aid and Home Nursing; through the Brigade its members put this instruction to practical use rendering a First Aid and Nursing Service throughout Canada and the British Empire.

Wartime has brought about a wide expansion of the Order's activities. But when peace comes this great work will go on, as it has for nearly a thousand years, for the Order of St. John is dedicated to serving humanity.

For further information, get in touch with your local St. John Ambulance Association Branch or Brigade Division; or write Commandery Headquarters, 321 Chapel St., Ottawa, Ontario.

Mr. Churchill's Report

The immediately arresting portion of Mr. Churchill's war review was that in which he spoke of vastly increased air raids on enemy territory. The air offensive, he said, was "the foundation upon which our plans for overseas invasion stand". That foundation has been well and truly laid, and now it is to be doubly reinforced. The public, however, may begin to wonder when the structure will be built on this foundation? It would be difficult now to determine exactly how long talk of invasion has been going on, with discussions of the difficulties involved and tremendous threats of what the invasion will accomplish. If the invasion does not come off some time this spring the enemy may reasonably begin to think that he is being hoaxed. Meanwhile Mr. Churchill is very encouraging about the campaign in Italy, and expressed his satisfaction that the enemy was taking the defence of Rome so seriously. "We must fight the Germans somewhere unless we are to stand still and watch the Russians", he said. And watching the Russians, though interesting and instructive, is an entertainment for which we should eventually have to pay a high price. The Russians provided forty per cent. of the Allied dead in the First Great War—a fact which we are apt to forget; they will not pay such a price again without demanding a full recompense.

Mr. Churchill was noncommittal when talking about the possible length of the war. He dealt firmly, however, with the popular idea that Germany is ready to crumble and that Hitler is at odds with his military leaders. Too many of us have the naive notion that our conception of Hitler is the only possible one, and that it is only a matter of time before the Germans brush the mists from their eyes and see him as we see him. To millions of Germans Hitler is their God-inspired Leader, and will aways be so. The sentimentality which the French were able to feel for Napoleon after his downfall should teach us a lesson; the Hitler myth is, if anything, stronger than the Napoleon myth, and will last as long. The Germans cannot reasonably be expected to look to us for guidance in their hour of need; they will continue to look to Hitler until it is glaringly obvious that he is defeated. And perhaps even then they will sentimentalize over him.

Though satisfactory, Mr. Churchill's war review was far from startling. It was a record of brilliant routine work, and routine, however excellent, is quiet reading.

Forgotten Money

The banks of Canada contain $3,549,-635 of forgotten money, as Parliament learned on Monday last. Men and women have deposited it, usually in modest sums, and have then forgotten about it.

Incredible as this may seem to those of us who know exactly how much money we have and who pass many a weary hour comparing it with our debts and our obligations, there are apparently people who forget where their money is. The Ottawa Journal records a case of a man who entered an Ottawa bank a few years ago and deposited $5,000; he has never been heard from since. It may be possible that he had come by the money in some questionable way and thought that a bank was a good place to get rid of it, but it seems unlikely. On one occasion a magazine published a list of unclaimed bank accounts in Canada, and several of the people listed turned up to claim their money, confessing cheerily that they had completely forgotten it; one of them was a judge of some distinction!

We are glad that there are three and a half millions of unclaimed money in Canada, however. It seems to put money in its proper place. We are continually being assured that money is not everything in life, and we do our best to believe it, even though everything we do seems to be involved with money in some way or other. Clearly there are people who hold money in such light esteem that they forget where they put it. Happy, enviable people! Their treasure is not of this world.

False Whiskers For John Bracken

The Windsor Star takes a simple pleasure in coincidence which we cannot but admire. What is more, it sometimes reminds us of the Eatanswill journalist in Pickwick who, when asked to produce an article on Chinese Metaphysics, read the encyclopaedia articles on China and Metaphysics, and then combined his information. On February 12 last Mr. John Bracken visited Windsor; February 12 was the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The coincidence was too strong for the Star's self-control.

As a result it has published two pictures of Lincoln and two of Mr. Bracken, and invites its readers—we are included in that happy band—to comment on the resemblance. But in order to assist the imagination it was wrought a few changes in the pictures of Mr. Bracken. In the first one it has painted in a full head of black hair; Lincoln wore his hair rather long, and Mr. Bracken affects what we believe barbers call "the business man's trim"; and about Mr. Bracken's throat it has painted the turn-down collar and the narrow black stock of Honest Abe. The second picture of Mr. Bracken is even better. Not only has it long black hair and a stock, but a Lincolnian chin-whisker has been added. The effect is striking, and we think that Mr. Bracken should seriously consider growing such an adornment.

The effect of the comparison is striking. Of course Mr. Bracken looks like Lincoln. A great many reasonably thin men do, and if they are given a black wig, a beard and a period costume the resemblance is sometimes striking. Raymond Massey looks even more like Lincoln than Mr. Bracken, if the Star hasn't heard about it.

However, this is a trend in political publicity which should provide a lot of fun if it is properly encouraged. Given a mane of white hair from a wig-maker's, and a cravat with a horseshoe pin in it, Mr. King might set up as an impersonator of Sir Wilfred Laurier. Mr. Coldwell, with a sofa-cushion under his vest, and a shaggy wig and beard, could represent either Karl Marx or Moses, according to whichever character he thought most suitable to his audience. Perhaps it would be possible to arrange meetings at which all three leaders would appear on the stage in costume; such political tableaux vivants could be counted on to draw tremendous audiences. The Star has started something which we sincerely hope will not be allowed to perish from lack of encouragement.

New Head Of L.C.B.O.

The Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon has resigned his post as Chief Commissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, after having devoted his best efforts to it since 1939. Mr. Gordon accepted his onerous job from Premier Hepburn, knowing that it was a thankless task, but accepting its responsibilities in a thoroughly public-spirited manner. He also entered the Provincial Cabinet as a minister without portfolio. When the Liberal government was defeated Mr. Gordon's Cabinet rank vanished, but Premier Drew asked him to remain at the head of the L.C.B.O.—a fine tribute to Mr. Gordon's ability. Now he has resigned. No one is surprised, for it has long been common knowledge that he was anxious to be relieved of a heavy responsibility. Mr. Gordon will continue to represent West Kent in the Legislature.

He is succeeded by Mr. Victor T. Goggin, who has had wide administrative experience, and who has recently resigned the managership of Wartime Housing, Ltd. Doubtless Mr. Goggin knows what he is taking on, and his courage commands admiration. At present the liquor situation in Ontario is complicated by matters which lie outside the authority of the L.C.B.O., and that body must take kicks both from the prohibitionists who think that there is too much liquor for sale and the disgruntled drinkers who complain that there is not enough. But we see that the Government means to clarify the situation at least to the point of making one permit do where three have been needed before. We wish Mr. Goggin good luck and success in his new position.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Parliament would get on with the job quicker if its excess prophets were confiscated.

A news story relates that a man who drank hard cider found himself unable to rise from his chair. Sitting tight, presumably.

We hardly know what to make of the Associated Press story from Durham, South Carolina, about the old lady who sometimes borrowed her neighbour's false teeth; in any case the despatch was followed by a note to editors — "Eliminate story woman borrowing false teeth. Taste questioned".

A Problem Without A Solution

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THERE is much to be learned about the sensations and the course of drunkenness from a novel called "The Lost Weekend" which the Oxford Press has just published; its author is Charles Jackson, and it is his first novel, although he is an experienced writer in several other forms. I recommend this book without hesitation to everybody, but particularly to those who are interested in what is sometimes luridly called "the drink problem." The use of the word "problem" in such a connection is perhaps unwarranted, for to talk of a problem is to imply that a solution exists. But is there a solution for the problem of the habitual drunkard? Mr. Jackson thinks that there is none.

THE chief character of his story is Don Birnam, a man who, at thirty-five or so, finds himself a hopeless alcoholic, obviously drinking himself to death. He is a periodic drinker, and when the fit is on him he drinks for days at a time. But — and this is important — drinking brings him no pleasure; he does not drink for the pleasure of the palate, for the people who do so do not become drunkards; he does not drink to forget himself, for in his cups he has a vivid and unflattering knowledge of what he really is; he drinks because an irresistible compulsion drives him to drink, and until the urge is satisfied he cannot stop. During one of his bouts he passes through every sensation of exaltation and debasement, and the craving for more liquor is the uppermost thing in his mind; when he cannot get it he suffers real agony, and imagines that he will die if he cannot get the necessary stimulant; it is indeed possible that if he did not get his glass at one of those critical moments he might die, so reduced is he physically and morally. Drink is a passion with him.

TO urge such a man to use his will-power is as useless as it would be to urge him to stop falling through air by the same means. Where his vice is concerned he has no will-power. Nor is it correct to say that drink has robbed him of his will. Something else has done that, and the key to that something else is buried so deep in his mind that he cannot find it. The habitual drunkard cannot be cured by external means; he might perhaps be able to cure himself but it is rarely that he wants to do so or has the power to do so. If he had the sort of will which would enable him to stop drinking he would not have become a drunkard in the first place. No good is done by denying drink to such men; they are the poor wretches who poison themselves with toilet lotions and similar poisonous compounds. Indeed it is doubtful if anything can be done for them at all; the real pathos of their affliction lies in the pain which it gives to those who have to care for them or who love them.

DON BIRNAM'S guardians are his brother Wick and Helen, who loves him. He cares nothing for them; alcohol, taken in great quantity can kill, or perhaps supersede natural affection. His chief concern is to deceive them so that he will be free to have his drunk in peace when it comes along. Perhaps 'peace' is not the right word to describe his state; 'freedom from interference' would be more correct. He suffers from delusions of grandeur and hideous self-abasements; his moral sense is distorted and he steals a purse, so inexpertly that he is caught; when he attempts to pawn his typewriter on Yom Kippur and finds all the pawnshops shut he imagines that the whole world is in conspiracy against him, and lapses into maudlin self-pity; in the long nights his unsatisfactory love-affairs, a youthful homosexual indiscretion, his failure as a writer, his yearning passion for his mother, his doubts of his father and all the ghosts of his mind rise to devil him. He loses control of his natural functions; he reaches the earliest delusions of delerium tremens—and at last he emerges, shaken from his phantasmagoria. He has survived another drunk, and the next is as predictable as the rising of tomorrow's sun.

BIRNAM is not a man who occasionally drinks too much; he is not a man who drinks for conviviality. He is a slave to drink, and his type is more common than many people suppose. He is incurable, and there are only two courses open to him; he can drink himself to death or he can live the life of a tormented invalid under constant surveillance...."The Lost Weekend" is a remarkable feat of imaginative writing. Mr. Jackson has wisely kept his book short, for too much of it would be intolerable, and he has made no obvious attempt to draw a moral from the plight of his hero. For, after all, what moral is there to draw? The Don Birnams of this world cannot be saved by prohibition, as a spell of prohibition itself proved. They are not created by the existence of drink, for millions of men and women drink without becoming drunkards or coming within a thousand miles of that miserable state. A lack of balance in the mind, a deep-rooted misery, a dissatisfaction with life-these are a few of the possible explanations of Don Birnam's decline, but none of them quite fits the case. "The Lost Weekend" does not solve a problem, but it gives us a fuller understanding of the extent of the problem.

Unconsidered Trifles

Customer—"I've brought that last pair of trousers to be re-seated. You know I sit a lot."

Tailor—"Yes, and I hope you've brought the bill to be receipted. You know I've stood a lot."

The court was silent except for the clear-cut tones of the defending counsel. Everyone hung on his words and many thought he would easily win his case.

"And now, gentlemen of the jury," he began to wind up, "I ask you: Where could this prisoner have hidden the watch? Not in his pocket. The constable has already told you that the man was searched. Not in his shoes—the watch was too large. Then where was it hidden?"

"Please, sir, I put it under my 'at," said the prisoner.

"There are many little ways of practicing economy in the home," proclaimed Mr. Wheeze to his guest, after making sure Mrs. Wheeze was out of hearing.

"So," encouraged the visitor politely.

"Yes. Last winter my wife said we must get a new sofa in the spring."

"Well—"

"Instead, I got a new spring in the sofa."

THE NEXT ROOST

'The Name, Your Honour, Is O'Brien'

(HAMILTON SPECTATOR)

STRANGE men have always been coming up from the sea, but never more so than in this tragic war. There have been many profoundly pathetic instances of castaway marines who have survived the Huns' cruel wrath on the great waters. There have also been some humorous cases. There was, in fact, Seaman Terence O'Brien, as odd a character as ever did business on the Seven Seas. Swarthy of skin, with sloe-black eyes, and a headpiece which served as an improvised turban, his aspect was typically Hindu.

He dropped his anchor in New York the other day, and, as sailors will at times, immediately set out to make Bagdad on the Subway an even drier place than it already is. Thus filled to the hatches, with both sidelights burning none too brightly and not responding to his helm any too promptly, he eventually fetched up at a police station; went there of his own volition. New York was crowded and rooms were hard to obtain. Where could one be warmer on a cold night than in the lock-up? All was well so far.

But Seaman O'Brien began to spin yarns to the station man, blood-curdling tales about high crimes in the world's ports. One in particular was so lurid that the police cabled to the authorities in Glasgow for further instructions. Meanwhile the voluble sailor was securely tucked away.

Next morning in court there he was as large as life. The clerk asked his name to make sure. "O'Brien," says he, with a touch of proud defiance. The magistrate, who also happened to be Irish, looked askance and shook his head dubiously.

"I know," agreed the respondent knowingly. "But thta's me monicker — Terence O'Brien." The court was still unimpressed, whereupon the man proceeded to explain. "It's a long story, Your Honor, and I don't want to be taking up Your Lord's valuable time in telling it. It probably wouldn't make any sense if I did. But that's the name. What's more, I live in Cape Colony, South Africa."

An officer informed the bench that there was nothing against the sailor. His "crimes" were just fevered fictions, and Glasgow had cabled back that it didn't want him at all and was not interested. The mariner had simply wanted a lodging for the night and chose that method of getting it.

The court looked him over again, and then discharged him, but stumbled over that thoroughly Hibernian "monicker," the Hindu countenance and garb.

"The name is O'Brien," was his parting shot, and he left bewilderment in his wake.

Ode To A Limerick

(SATURDAY REVIEW OF LITERATURE)

(The Limerick, it is said, is going out of fashion. Cowl Rider wrote recently in the Saturday Review of Literature asking what had become of it. He hoped it would not die and recalled some of his favourites. Here are seven of them.)

There was a young monk of Siberia
Who of fasting grew wearier and wearier,
Till at length with a yell
He burst from his cell
And devoured the Father Superior.

There's nothing in afternoon tea
To appeal to a person like me;
There is little to eat,
What there is is too sweet;
And I feel like a cow in a tree!

There was a young lady of Twickenham,
Whose shoes were too tight to kick in 'em.
She came back from a walk
Looking white as a chalk
And took 'em both off and was sick in 'em.

There was a young lady of Twickenham.
Of sausages never got sick on 'em.
She knelt on the sod
And prayed to her God
To lengthen and strengthen and thicken 'em.

There once was a maiden Circassian,
Was loved by a gemp'mun of fashion.
* * * * * * * * *
(The asterisks indicate passion.)

There was a young lady named Psyche,
Who was heard to ejaculate "Pcryche!"
For, when riding her pbych
She ran over a ptych,
And fell on some rails that were pspyche.

There's a "don-cher-know" chappie named Cholmondeley,
Whose appearance could scarce be called colmondeley;
In the zoo he was spied
And at once lodged inside
The baboon cage. (This reads rather rolmondeley.)

Culled From Our Contemporaries

Hair Tonic As a Beverage

Police say that hair tonic is having a run among local bibbers who look for potency in their beverages. One thing certain: Those who drink it will age in the wood much longer than the stuff they consume.—Hamilton Spectator.

Taxes Overlook Nothing

The heirs of a man who left an accident policy of $50,000 now find they will be called upon to pay succession duties on the amount, it being ranked in the same light as life insurance. In the matter of taxes the Government doesn't overlook many bets apropos of the announcement that in respect to income assessment, part time char-ladies were not to be overlooked. — Renfrew Mercury.

Earnings Not Ignored

The suggestion is made in a Toronto newspaper that the Government should get out of the liquor business. Some years ago, the suggestion came from similar sources that the Government should get into the business, taking it out of private hands. The idea was that, with private profit abolished, there would be no incentive to promote the business. But it, seemingly, has not worked out that way. Governments have not ignored the earnings.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

Time to Start Thinking

It may not be an open-door policy but Canada will have to admit immigrants after the war. Wide-open, habitable spaces around the world will have to accommodate more people. We had better be thinking about who we want for neighbours and where we are going to put them. — Farmer's Advocate.

A Bible Message

And there shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots: and the spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord; and shall make him of quick understanding in the fear of the Lord: and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove after the hearing of his ears: but with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth. (Isa. 11: 1-4.)

And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.

And the angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou that art highly favoured, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.... And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. (Luke 1: 26-28, 31-33.)

Believe It or Not

The story of what happened to $26,521.05, the sum held in deposit in a Toronto branch bank by a resident of Connecticut, as told in The Windsor Star, is one of those "believe it or not" stories. But the figures don't lie. And the story is a good example of how the government can drive money away from the country.

The owner of the money died and the estate was a large one.

Both the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario got into that deposit for succession duties.

The Dominion took $3,057.55.

Ontario took $10,951.54.

The will had to be probated in Ontario at a cost of $1,050.

So, out of the $26,521.05 that was deposited by the American in Canada, only $11,461.96 survived the onslaughts of the succession duties collectors.

When that $11,461.96 got back to Connecticut, the United States tax took $12,995.31 and the State of Connecticut took $1,745.79. The two combined made $14,741.10. The tax computation was made on the original total of $26,521.05, which was the amount before Canada had got her mitts into it.

So, the total tax on the $26,521.05 was $28,-750.19 plus the $1,050 probate costs in Ontario, or a grand total of $29,800.19.

Instead of getting $26,521.05 out of it, it cost the estate the whole $26,521.05, plus $3,279.14. That made it an expensive pastime to deposit money in Canada.—St. Catharines Standard.

About a National Library

Paul Martin, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Labour, and an M.P. who is not afraid to concern himself with things cultural, told the Library Association of Ottawa on Wednesday night that Canada should have a national library. Said he:

"Just as we want to build a Canadian industry for the security it affords our people, so too we want to build a Canadian civilization for the comfort, dignity and stature it will afford our people."

We agree. In the post-war, Canada should have a national library, and, if possible, a national theatre, and more thought generally for the basic things of civilization. In that way only will we achieve to real greatness, get away from the notion, all too prevalent in our story, that material things are ends in themselves, instead of being means to an end.

What we fear, however, is that in achievement of this better life we are going to need more than an occasional speech such as that made by Mr. Martin. When it comes to cultural things, we Canadians are more talkers than doers. Loud in our professions, and always on the verge of doing something about them, we invariably end up by doing nothing. For years on and now, we have been hearing about a national library; yet the only national library we possess, the Library of Parliament, has been allowed until now to go for four or five years without so much as a Librarian.

Perhaps Mr. Martin made his speech before the wrong people.—Ottawa Journal.

Coal Production Problem Irks Premier Curtin

By J. E. HOLDSWORTH
Canadian Press Correspondent.

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb.— 23 — (CP Cable. — The Federal Government has decided on a new approach to the vital problem of increasing Australia's coal production. It seeks to give a commissioner full control of coal problems.

Prime Minister John Curtin said recently that nationaliziation of the mines would not increase production, as some elements of the Labor Party claimed, but a new Coal Bill was introduced by him in the House of Representatives last week making the Coal Commissioner, appointed some time ago in one of the many attempts to solve the coal stoppage problem, virtually dictator of the industry.

The Bill gives the Commissioner full control over production, handling, supply distribution, storage, marketing and consumption of coal. It also empowers the central coal authorities to override any award governing miners' wages and work conditions.

Owners and miners alike will be responsible to the Commissioner, but owners suffering loss by reason of the Commissioner's orders will be entitled to compensation. The Commissioner will be able to control opening and re-opening of mines, control prices, and require any owner to midify excess profits these will be payable to the Commissioner. The Commissioner also is empowered to direct that any person shall not be employed in the industry.

The Bill has just reached the first-reading stage.

Oppose Tax Plan

Recommendations of an All-Party Parliamentary committee on introduction of Pay-as-you-go Income taxation are being attacked in the press and trade union circles. Vigorous protests centre on the proposal that employees have to find an extra 25 per cent, the amount of unforgiven taxes, before pay-as-you-go begins July 1.

The secretary of the Trades and Labor Council in Sydney says the Union movement holds there is no lag and that the alleged lag is "mere legal fiction created by the bureaucrats."

The Sydney Daily Telegraph, in an editorial headed "this would be a swindle," points out that Britain, the United States and Canada give taxpayers a clear start for the year.

The Sydney Morning Herald said the portion of the report purporting to "forgive" 75 per cent of the taxpayers' "mythical debt is simply a device to increase the taxpayers' liability for the coming year by 25 per cent."

The newspaper added that the Commonwealth treasurer "might ponder that, justice apart, he could strike no more effective blow against the forthcoming Victory Loan than increase the taxpayer's liability by 25 per cent during the next financial year."

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Splendid

Saves Real Money.
No Cooking. Real Results.

To get really surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—anyone can do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it's hard to beat, for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 oz. bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough syrup—about 4 times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it is actually splendid. It works in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Vic Holbrook Wins In Two From Jan Gotch

The score in last night's Tunney wrestling rodeo at the Brock St. Arena was two wins for the heroes, one win for the villains.

Vic. Holbrook, California sensation nobly upheld the cause of the popular choices by defeating the rowdy Jan Gotch in two straight falls in the main bout and Chicago's Bobby Managoff only took 14 minutes to polish off Bunny Dunlop in the semi-final.

In fact the only thing that kept the favorites from a clean sweep was a victory for the rough-house Bobby Wagner over Sailor Al. Korman in the opening bout.

The tall and good-looking Holbrook, who has jumped into instantaneous popularity with Peterborough fans who like his style, speed, cleverness and cleancut methods gave the hard-hitting Gotch a wrestling lesson in the feature bout of one of the season's best cards. The Pitiless Pole tried hard, wrestled more than usual and gave his best to beat the giant from the Pacific Coast but his best wasn't nearly enough. Holbrook took the first fall in 27 minutes with an effective application of his pet abdominal stretch hold and the second in seven minutes by quick action in flooring the Pole after the latter had fallen over Referee Bert Maxwell.

In the early moments of the bout Holbrook let Gotch carry the battle, contenting himself with clever releases whenever the pressure began to be felt. The Polish grappler did not go berserk in his usual style but he managed to get away with a lot of hair-pulling, gouging and a few punches tossed in when Referee. Maxwell's attention was diverted, In addition to this unorthodox stuff Gotch found time to carry on a verbal warfare with the referee and also to cut loose a kick at the head of an interfering spectator that almost shot the intruder back into the second row.

Holbrook Takes Over

Holbrook finally got a bit tired of trying out his rowdy opponent and decided to take charge of the bout and from then on Gotch didn't enjoy the party. First the Californian slapped an Indian death- lock on Gotch's legs and added a new turn to it by playfully twisting the Pole's neck. Then Holbrook quickly switched to a scissors hold which he used to roll Gotch around until the bad man looked seasick. Finally the Pole managed to get out of that jam and slapped a toehold on the tall bomber from the Coast but he couldn't turn that to any advantage and Holbrook soon kicked himself out of danger. The next moment he got an opportunity to

Hershey Bears Down Hornets

By The Canadian Press

Although Hersey Bears are firmly entrenched in first place in the eastern division of the American Hockey League, last night's 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh Hornets left them trailing eight points behind Cleveland Barons. Providence Reds and Indianapolis Capitals battled to a 3-3 draw in the circuit's only other game.

Pat Paterson, put Bears in the lead with the lone first period goal. Ross Knipfel deadlocked the count when he scored for Hornets at the start of the second. Peggy O'Neill, Hec Pozzo and Pat gave Bears a 4-1 lead in the second and they kept the lead after that.

In the final frame Fred Hergert scored a fifth before Art Giroux and Bob Gracie made Hornets' total three. Bulldog Drummond bagged the sixth for Bears just 35 seconds before the final whistle.

Tony Demers scored two counters in the third period to give Reds their tie with Caps. It was his last game with Providence, before going to New York Rangers. Harold Cooper got their first goal in the opening period.

Roy Glover, Bill Thompson and Rod Morrison scored for Caps.

SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

Sporting writers are still digging up scoring performances and talking about by-gone records in Canadian hockey history. For instance one Toronto writer the other night referred to the feat of Steve Vair of Barrie in scoring 18 goals in an O.H.A. game. That probably is about as high an individual record as can be found anywhere in the history of hockey but so far as this column is concerned the performance given by Maurice Park in an intermediate O.H.A. game against Belleville at Brock St. Rink before the First Great War was one of the greatest scoring stunts in the annals of the game. The Petes defeated the hapless Belleville team on that occasion by 31 to 1 and Park playing centre for the winners fired no fewer than 15 goals. That was quite a feat but it fell three short of Steve Vair's mark. However the Park scoring splurge was remarkable for one feature. The star Peterborough centre—now Lieut.-Col. Park—scored nine of his goals in succession. In other words he pulled off the hat trick three times in a row. On several of his goals he took the puck from the faceoff and no one laid a stick on it until the bewildered Belleville goalie pulled the rubber out of the cage. We are waiting to hear from other claimants who can show a record better than nine goals in succession.

* * * * * *

Incidentally that 31 to 1 score against Belleville was not the biggest in local hockey history. The high mark goes to a game played in the old Charlotte St. Rink at the beginning of the century when a Toronto team called the Excelsiors was brought down to Peterborough to play the junior Colts. When the Excelsiors got here they declined to go on the ice with the youngsters; they had come down to play the Peterborough junior O.H.A. team and they refused to play anybody else. So the game was held up until Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan and the rest of the crack Colts were rounded up. When they finally got under way the Toronto team surprised everybody by scoring the first goal. Then the Colts started to roll and from then on the visitors rarely had the puck. When it was all over and the last returns were in the Peterborough stars had piled up a total of 40 goals against the one scored by the visitors. There have been other high-scoring feats. The same Colts once defeated Barrie here 27 to 0 in a junior O.H.A. playdown and Barrie defaulted their home game after that exhibition. Markham intermediates were beaten here on another occasion in an O.H.A. games by 27 to 3. However the 40 to 1 score is the highest all-time scorefest and the 31 to 1 Belleville count is the top performance in a local O.H.A. game.

Trains Navy Police

Al. Korman the sailor-wrestler who was beaten by Strangler Bob Wagner in the opening bout on the Tunney card at the Brock St. Arena last night is on the staff of H.M.C.S. Stadacona at Halifax and returns to duty there at the end of the week after enjoying 28 days furlough. Korman's duties with the Navy are to teach the members of the shore patrol, that is the military police of the Navy, combat stuff; in other words how to take care of themselves when the going is tough. Korman told this column last night that a number of sailors from this district had gone through his classes. Two of them he mentioned are well-known here. They are Provincial Constable Dave Adair of Cobourg and Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon Broughton of Port Hope, formerly of Peterborough. The two provincial officers he said are now on duty at the Navy Signal School at St. Hyacinthe, Que., where Adair is now a petty officer in the shore patrol and Broughton a leading hand. Korman is one of a number of service men who still get a chance occasionally to work in some wrestling. Another of course is Flight Sergt. Ted Miller who has been seen in action here frequently and who by the way has been moved from Trenton recently to another post. Still another of course is Pat Flanagan who is in the R.C.A.F., training for air crew.

"We could be wrong, but all these stories you are reading coming out of the United States about sport enthusiasts asking the approval of government leaders for the continuance of athletics, sound awful phoney and unnecessary to us," says Doug. Vaughan in the Windsor Star. "This department has always favored the continuance of sport in war time for the simple reason that we feel it is needed. But we can't go along with those who weep crocodile tears because they foresee the possibility that there may be no major league baseball this summer or no National League hockey next winter. If baseball or hockey or any other sport was considered by government officials to be a hindrance rather than a help in the war effort, we wouldn't have been playing games this long. We are convinced that nobody in high places, in Canada or the United States, wants sport to be discontinued, which is all the more reason why no special concessions should be sought. You don't see the theatres asking for indorsement or newspapers crying over the shortage of paper. Why should sport merit special consideration?"

Chick Appel, Stratford Beacon-Herald sport scribe has stood right up in meeting and announced that in his opinion the junior A championship lies between Oshawa Generals and St. Mike's. His interesting comment follows: "Galt fans are pretty high on their Kist Canadians, and they have a perfect right to be, but after hearing some of them rave about what their youngsters are going to do to such classy aggregations as Oshawa Generals and St. Michael's gives this observer a huge belly laugh. After having had the praises of the Galt Kists crammed down one's throat, as was done Saturday night, there was only one thing that appeared uppermost in the minds of the more rabid Galt fans. These fans could see nothing but a Memorial Cup for Kists, or at least a junior "A" O.H.A. championship. Frankly this corner has no favorites, outside of Stratford Kroehlers, and there's no kidding the troops that they are of championship calibre, as at present constituted. As a matter of fact, this observer, along with a good majority of hockey fans, would relish seeing Oshawa Generals' domination of the junior O.H.A. competition terminated this season. The same might be said of St. Mike's, because between the Irish and the Generals they have hogged the title picture too long for the good of the sport. And yet, what team is going to end their reign? Certainly not any of the other teams in the O.H.A. this season. It's strictly between Oshawa and St. Mike's which club will gather up the marbles, and the best wager seems to be the Generals."

* * * * * *

Although the Canadiens have first place in the National Hockey League cinched and the Detroit Red Wings are almost sure fire second-placers there is still very much of a race for the other playoff berths. Last night the Chicago Black Hawks by defeating the New York Rangers 8 to 4 took over possession of fourth place, two points ahead of the Boston Bruins and four behind the Toronto Leafs in the third slot. However the Hawks have two games in hand so far as the Leafs are concerned and by winning those could be tied with the Daymen. Rangers are definitely out, but it will be a while yet before it can be decided what team will join them on the side-lines to watch the playoffs. One thing has been proven this season. The hockey fans are not discriminating. The quality of hockey played during the current campaign has undoubtedly been the worst in the history of the organization and yet the gate receipts will set a new record. It probably proves merely that there are a lot of folk with a lot of money to spend.

Lou Boudreau Of Indians Gets Draft Call

CLEVELAND, Feb. 23 (AP)—Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland Indians' 26-year-old manager, may be the first major league team pilot to be drafted in the present war.

"I'm ready to go—just like the rest of 'em," Lou said at Chicago after his reclassification to 1-A by his Harvey, Ill., draft board.

He has no idea how soon he will be called. He is youngest of big league managers and one of the

THE MILDEST CIGARETTE YOU CAN SMOKE.

ANY tobacco expert will tell you that Burley tobacco is a cool-burning, cool-smoking tobacco. Nature made it that way. In Buckingham, a proportion of Burley is scientifically blended with Virginia and Turkish tobaccos in such a way that the entire blend of tobaccos is cool-burning, cool-smoking.

That is why a blended Buckingham is cool-burning, cool-smoking, and more pleasant to the taste. That is why a Buckingham is definitely milder.

Smoke a Buckingham and enjoy a mild cigarette—a cigarette that is "Throat Easy". You will find it the most satisfying cigarette you ever smoked.

Chicago Plans To Ease Out Boston Bruins

By The Canadian Press.

Chicago Black Hawks should be 2-1 favorites today to muscle out Boston Bruins for the National Hockey League's last play-off berth.

Those odds seem fair enough, despite the shoddy display Hawks gave last night in stumbling to an 8-4 victory over New York Rangers before 10,201 Madison Square Garden fans who watched one of the wackiest games of the season.

Hawks now hold fourth place by a two-point margin over Bruins, who have only nine games to play against 11 on the Chicago schedule.

Both combatants were in charitable mood last night, Chicago contributing a gift goal when Earl Seibert whisked the puck into his own cage while pawing after a flying disc. Rangers reciprocated when Goalie Ken McAuley and Bob Dill bumped at the goalmouth, stumbled and carried the puck into the net.

Only Doug Bentley's sharpshooting kept Hawks alive in the early stages. The winger fired all three Chicago goals in the first period, then added a fourth after George Allen punched two past McAuley early in the third. Mush March and Cully Dahlstrom collected the other Chicago tallies.

Al Palazzari, Dutch Hiller, Ossie Aubuchon and Dill scored for Rangers, who haven't won in 11 straight games.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP)—This will be a jolt to those who painfully followed the Hockey Hall of Fame controversy a year ago featuring Kingston, Halifax and Montreal claims. Kingston won, of course, and now, is apparently suffering a twinge of conscience.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll reports Dr. E. J. Austin of Kingston has suggested a Golf Hall of Fame be established, advanced Kingston's claim and then stated flatly that Montreal has prior claim. Dink figures this is Kingston's peace offering.

Austin contends Canada was 15 years ahead of United States in introducing golf. First club on the continent was evidently the Royal Montreal Golf Club founded in 1873. Then came the Quebec Golf Club in 1875, the Toronto Golf Club in 1882 and (note carefully) the Kingston Golf Club in 1886.

In Austin's book the first United States Club was the Tuxedo in New York in 1886.

First relic for the Golf Museum should be some of that blue air which we have heard surrounds so many golfers immediately after making a shot.

Incidentally:

Hockey relics for the Kingston Museum are being offered from many sections of the Dominion. An unusual Japanese Cloisonne Vase has been donated. The vase was presented to North Battleford Beavers when they toured Japan 15 years ago...Claude Robinson of Vancouver, one of the founders of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, plans to send minutes of the original C.A.H.A. meeting...Many hockey sticks have been offered—one of them formerly used by Cyclone Taylor.

Hither and Yawn:

Ken Watson's defeat in British Consols semi-finals after 19 straight wins in the Winnipeg Bonspiel was only his second setback in Curling competition for a year. His other loss was in a Winnipeg Strathcona Club game...Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara urges revival of the spectacular drop kick as part of Canadian football. He suggests it either be made a four-pointer or the placement value be dropped to two points...Compound fracture of the arm suffered in a game at Saskatoon the other night may end the career of Sid Brown, 29, who, with Sid Abel and Marcel Tremblay, formed one of amateur hockey's greatest forward lines with Flin Flon Bombers before the war. Brown has been with Bombers eight years.

Lots Of Action In School League Games

Four games were run off in the junior section of St. Peter's School Hockey League on Saturday. The morning half of the schedule brought together the Spitfires and the Lancasters in the first game, and in the second game the Mosquitoes met Hurricanes. After a see-saw battle all the way, Spitfires edged out Lancasters by a 1-goal margin, final score being 4-3.

The teams:

Spitfires — Dick Foley, Laverne Jones, Leo Tobin, John Cameron, Terry O'Leary.

Lancasters — George Roberts, Paul McGee, Jim Clarke, Dick O'Brien, John Cupoli, Jim Griffin.

The second game saw Mosquitoes blank Hurricanes 2-0 in a very close struggle.

The teams:

Mosquitoes — H Clarke, B. McCoy, B. Fontaine, R. O'Connor, James Armitage.

Hurricanes—Ron Collins, James McTeague, Don Griffin, Ray Lindsay, Bill Russell, Andre Picard.

In the afternoon games, Mustangs tangled with Tomahawks, and Stukas opposed Liberties. The kids really did well in both these affairs, and many will be heard from in future hockey wars. Lads like Hotts, Alberico, Ferren, Conroy, Connelly and Richardson will bear watching.

Mustangs nosed out Tomahawks 4-3 on goals by Hotts 3 and Alberico 1. For the Tomahawks Toal 2 and Veel 1 were the goal-getters. In the fourth game of the day, Liberties outlasted Stukas with a 4-2 edge in the score. Conroy 3 and Jones 1 is the way the goals were potted by the winners. For Stukas, Richardson and Ferren netted one each.

The teams:

First game—

Mustangs—F. Alberico, J. Corkery, W. Bruce, D. Hotts, K. Barrett, J. Hertir, K. Schriever.

Tomahawks — E. Toal, P. Peel, T. King, A. McCabe, G. Lorenz, J. O'Connor, B. Pearson, N. Gordon.

Second game—

Liberties — M. Connolly, C. Whibbs, E. Conroy, T. Wolff, M. Fitzpatrick, P. Jones, C. O'Brien.

Stukas— J. Richardson, M. Basciano, J Whibbs, J. Ferren, C. Sullivan, J. Schrieber, O. Caccavella.

Kitchener Curlers Win Consols Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 23—(CP).—P. G. Hall's Kitchener rink last night won the British Consols Trophy by defeating A. J. Parkhill's Oshawa four 10-5 in the final.

Hall reached the final by trouncing M. R. Reed's Glanford rink 14-5 while Parkhill disposed of Col. W. O. Morris' Toronto rink 15-11.

Score by ends of the final:

Kitchener..	100 110 204 01x—10
Oshawa	011 001 010 10x— 5

Doctors Scratch Alsab At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Veterinarians scratched Alsab out of a race at Hialeah Park yesterday on the ground that he was injured, but Owner Al Sabath took exception to their ruling and later sent the highly successful horse through a stiff workout to prove his fitness.

The $700 bargain colt that won $349,870, was entered in a $3,000 event, his first as a 5-year-old, in preparation for the $25,000 Widener Handicap, March 4.

A crowd of 9,422, one of the largest week day throngs of the meeting, turned out to watch the horse make his 1944 debut.

But in making the routine examination given all horses before they are permitted to run, the veterinarians found a swelling on the left foreleg which they diagnosed as a bowed place which was filled.

The veterinaries, representing the Florida State Racing Commission and the track, ordered Alsab scratched. News that the horse was out of the race brought a chorus of boos.

Sabath insisted that the horse was ready to run, and offered to send him on a turn of the track between races. Hialeah officials told him the routine did not permit such dashes. He asked then that the horse be allowed to work out after the last race, and an announcement was made publicly.

Ridden by Jockey N. L. Pierson, Alsab appeared on the racing strip about half an hour after the last race.

Later the veterinarians examined the leg and said they would file a written report tomorrow.

Asked how the incident affected Alsab's standing in the Widener, Sabath said, "I have not declared him out. If he is scratched, they will have to do it."

St. Mike's Trim Marlboros 6-2

By The Canadian Press

The lead enjoyed by the mighty Oshawa Generals in Group 1 of the O.H.A. Junior "A" was shaved to two points over Toronto St. Michael's last night, while in the other group St. Catharines Falcons were widening their lead over Galt to two full games.

While Oshawa were idle, St. Michael's were beating Marlboros 6-2 in an all-Toronto game. St. Catharines defeated Port Colborne 5-4 and Brantford jumped into third place in their group with a 9-5 victory over Stratford.

In the game at Toronto St. Michaels were on the wrong end of a 2-1 first period count, but from there on they had an easy time, scoring twice in the second and three times in the third. Lindsay had two goals for St. Mike's, the others going to Schnurr, Thompson, Dunlap and Sadler. Snipers for Marlboros were Darling and Laivior.

At Port Colborne the Falcons had to come from behind, scoring the last three goals in the last seven minutes of play McMurdy and Delmonte each had two and Phillips got the other goal for St. Catharines. Gravelle scored twice for Port Colborne, Savicky and Pitts each once.

Buddy Basso of Copper Cliff made his debut with the Brantford Lions as they chalked up their 9-5 victory over Stratford. He earned two assists. Davis had three goals and Jeffreys and Evanshen two each, with Powell and Jolly getting the other Brantford scores. For Stratford Selisizzi had three and Kullman and Kapusta one each.

Durham County Reports To Farm Forums

More than twenty farm Forums have been formed in the county and several others are projected, Forbes Heyland reported to the directors of the Durham Federation of Agriculture last week.

Attendance at a union meeting of five Forums was seventy-five men and women, indicating the deepening interest in the comparatively new medium of rural communication and education.

Shaw's School was packed on another occasion and more than one hundred Forumites were present at Maple Grove.

"The questions discussed are of vital interest to the farming communities, and will go a long way to clearing a pathway by educating the people for final action when the opportunity comes." Mr. Heyland said.

First Job Done

The secretary said he had completed the first part of organizing by attending meetings in Clark, Hope, Cavan, Manvers and Darlington townships. Up to the present more than ninety cards have been returned to him properly signed, and interest will take a long jump as soon as the canvassers have completed their work.

One township was to be finished by February 15, two by February 29, one by March 7 and a fifth by March 15. Cartwright is engaged on ts canvass now, with its own township organization, and hopes to be all through in a couple of weeks.

The plan of financing has been frequently explained to prospective members who ask what does it cost to become and be a member. Here is the answer: "You may pay one dollar to be a member for this year, and then go on the plan set down with the sanction of the Ontario Legislature. You sign an official card and it is forwarded to your township clerk, and thereby you pay one-fifth of a mill on your total assessment. This will be collected with your taxes.

Fee Divided

If a farmer is assessed for $5,000 this plan means that he will pay one dollar for Federation purposes; that is 1-5 of a mill on $5,000. That dollar is apportioned as follows; 25c to the Ontario Federation; 25 cents as an annual subscription to the Rural Co-Operator; 50 cents to be used by your own county."

One of the statements at the Durham meeting was: "If ever farmers wanted to have a say in their own affairs now is the time.

The stronger the organization the more likelihood there is of getting the things done as we know they should be done. No person knows the farmers' problems so well as the farmer himself, and he should have the first say in the solution of these problems, and then have the power to see that the solutions get reasonable treatment."

Durham was not one of the first ion, but it is making up for some tardiness when the movement was turning the first sods in Ontario. counties to see the light of Federatable to draw upon reserves which are adequate, but now are dwindling seriously.

The German army has lost little of its mobility. Recently there has been evidence that an entire infantry division was moved from Southern France to the Italian front in less than a week, which is an excellent record bespeaking organization and adequate transport.

There is some shortage of tanks, but defensive warfare in which the Germans now are engaged uses fewer tanks. They have created no new armored divisions, but instead have converted many to armored grenadier divisions which use about 250 tanks instead of 400 and have increased defensive fire power.

The German defensive works along the invasion coast probably make it one of the most formidable military obstacles ever conceived.

3. Air strength: In contrast to the Army, the Air Force has been striking less and less vigorously, and some believe the crack in the German military front—which developed in the Navy in the last war—may come in the Air Force this time.

Losses Enormous.

German air losses have been enormous and their fliers have shown no consistent ability to deal with R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. night bombers or the day bombing of the U.S. air forces. By concentrating on fighter production, however, the Germans have maintained their front line defensive strength at a fairly high level.

Increasing German night attacks upon England and Allied night losses, which recently reached a new high of 79 on a single night, indicate that the German Air Force still has a tremendous kick left.

4. Seapower: German seapower has been so weakened it is not expected to be a serious factor in an invasion of western Europe and except for submarines may not even put in an appearance.

The principal sea problem facing the Allies is that of making amphibious landings with warship and air support against strong shore defences.

In general: The Germans are expected to have land superiority when the fighting begins. Weakness in the air, with Allied seapower versus the German land defences, constitute the unknown factors.

Francis Biddle Angry At Falange Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(AP)—Attorney-General Francis Biddle said yesterday that the official Falange party of Gen. Franco of Spain is no better than Fascism and Nazism; and that no Falangist is fit to be a United States citizen.

Biddle flung his charge, which follows other examples of Allied displeasure with the Franco Government, in commenting on plans for action, begun in San Juan, Puerto Rico, yesterday, to take away the American citizenship of Isidro Conde Fernandez on the grounds that he belonged to the Falange.

Jolliffe-Drew Likely To Tangle Soon

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP)—Ontario's legislators will get down to business today in the first session of the province's 21st legislature with the throne speech, outlining the Progressive Conservative government's widespread legislative program, the first item of business before them.

Dr. Hobbs Taylor (PC-Huron) will move the address in reply to the speech which was read at the opening sitting of the assembly yesterday by Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews. It proposes legislation dealing with post-war planning, education and labor matters as well as forestry, mining and agricultural development.

John L. McDonald (PC-Stormont) will second the address in reply after which it is expected the House may hear the first full-dress debate of the session between Premier Drew and the new C.C.F. Opposition Leader, E. B. Jolliffe.

The first tiff between them came yesterday when Mr. Jolliffe made his opening utterances in the Ontario House, rising to speak to the premier's motion for the appointment of W. J. Stewart (PC-Toronto Parkdale) as speaker. He was critical of advance announcement of the choice of speaker but concurred in the choice of Mr. Stewart.

Quoted Meighen

He quoted former Conservative Prime Minister Arthur Meighen as once making a similar protest in the Dominion House, to which Premier Drew replied he was pleased to see the opposition leader already quoting a former Conservative leader.

Premier Drew explained and was supported by ex-Premier H. C. Nixon, Liberal leader, who seconded the appointment motion, that the procedure followed precedent long-established here. Practice in the British parliament left the appointment motion to private members because the speaker there was chosen for life. He expressed the hope that Mr. Jolliffe would again find occasion to quote the former Conservative prime minister, and said he was sure the new speaker would benefit from the opposition leader's instruction.

Mr. Nixon told the House that "a great deal of work to be done in preparation for the House session," falls to the speaker who, in his 25 years' experience in the House, always had been chosen in advance.

The incident quickly passed, but it may have set the tone for the coming session where Premier Drew's government commands only 35 votes in the 90 member House. The C.C.F. strength is 34 and there are 15 Liberals, two Labor Progressives and an Independent Liberal — former Premier Mitchell Hepburn, who missed yesterday's opening.

Perhaps the biggest point forecast in the throne speech was legislation to establish a 48-hour work week in Ontario and assuring one week's annual holiday with pay to commercial and industrial employees. The speech, covering other things, also proposed to offer religious education in the public and secondary schools of the province, and to raise minimum salaries of teachers.

Apply NOW for your New Gasoline Licenses and Ration Coupon Books

On March 31, the present gasoline licenses and ration coupon books will expire. After that date no gasoline will be sold except on the presentation of a 1944-45 ration book. Applications for new gasoline licenses and ration coupon books should be made without delay.

Commencing April 1, under the 1944-45 rationing plan, the operation of which will be basically the same as that now in effect, all non-commercial vehicle owners will again be allowed a basic "AA" gasoline license and ration coupon book, containing 40 units for a passenger car, or 16 for a motorcycle.

Similarly, owners of vehicles eligible for a "Special" category, who can prove their need, will be granted an extra vocational allowance, fixed in advance for the year ending March 31, 1945. In determining the extra allowance — which will be measured to individual needs — the previous category and mileage of the car will not necessarily be an important consideration.

The extra vocational coupons will again be issued in books labelled "Special", and each book will contain not more than 60 units. To permit constant review of the needs of each category applicant, only one "Special" book, or portion thereof, will be issued at a time. The Oil Controller also has the right to refuse any application for a "Special" category, or to suspend any ration coupon book for an infraction of the regulations. The shortage of gasoline is still acute. Do not apply for a "Special" category unless your need is urgent.

On and after April 1, service station attendants will not accept gasoline ration coupons unless the license plate number of the motor vehicle for which they were issued is written in ink on each coupon. Every motor vehicle must also display on its windshield a 1944-45 sticker indicating the category of the coupon book submitted at the time of the purchase.

If the owner of a motor vehicle sells, transfers or disposes of it in any way, it is his obligation to see that the gasoline license and ration coupon book for that vehicle is returned immediately to the nearest Regional Oil Control Office.

PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY APPLICANTS

For Category "AA" or "Motorcycle" Category

1 Secure Category "AA" application form at nearest Post Office.
2 Obtain 1944 motor vehicle permit and/or license plates.
3 Submit properly completed application form, together with motor vehicle permit and registration fee of $1, to an issuer of motor vehicle licenses.
4 From the issuer you will receive your Category "AA" or "Motorcycle" ration book, and the return of your motor vehicle permit stamped to show that a ration book has been issued.
5 Affix "AA" sticker to car windshield.
6 Write in ink on each coupon the license plate number of the motor vehicle.

For "Special" Category

1 Secure application form for both Category "AA" and "Special" category from nearest Post Office.
2 Obtain Category "AA" ration book and affix "AA" sticker to windshield.
3 After it is properly and accurately completed, mail special category application form to the nearest Regional Oil Control Office, along with motor vehicle permit.
4 If you are granted a special category, turn to the first page of "Special" ration book, where the number of units you will be allowed for the year ending March 31, 1945, will be noted. On the basis of this allowance, plan your next year's driving.
5 Affix "Special" category sticker to windshield.
6 Write in ink on each coupon the license plate number of the motor vehicle.

(Only registered owners of passenger-type motor vehicles — other than commercial motorcycles, buses, taxicabs, and drive-yourself cars — who must of necessity use their cars in essential business, are eligible to apply for a "Special" category).

GUARD YOUR RATION BOOK

When you receive your 1944-45 gasoline ration book, guard it carefully. Do not leave it in your car. If, because of your negligence, it is lost or stolen, it may not be replaced.

Staff At Fairs Makes $9 For War Victims

Some time ago the staff at the Robt. Fair Store Ltd. decided to do something as a group on behalf of the war effort, and in looking around to ascertain what shape it would take, they decided to ask one of the wholesale firms with whom the firm does business, to send them some pieces of material with which it was hoped they could work to prepare something for sale, the proceeds of which could be utilized for that purpose.

The firm responded with a supply of ends of a type of goods which hardly fitted the scheme as at first proposed, so they set to work to market it in small quantities, which of course only produced a very small sum at each sale.

This by careful saving was kept intact, until shortly before Christmas it had risen above the $11 mark, when it was handed over to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund to take its place in the special donations that were being raised at that time, where it has since gone on its way to do the good work for which it was intended.

That in itself was a fair sum to realize from what normally were considered waste ends, but nothing undaunted, their experience was such as to cause a continuance, which now has resulted in a further $9 coming from the same source, which gives them a total of over $20 by that one means, an effort of such proportions as might be suggestive and inducive of work in a similar direction by other groups, for good work to be done on behalf of the war effort.

This is the only one of its exact type that has appeared in this column on behalf of the fund, among the un-numbered multitudes of various means by which money has been raised to give the fund a boost.

Personal Gifts

During the past few days, reports of the number of raids made by the enemy on London, with its consequent loss of life and damage to property, reminiscent in the words of Prime Minister Churchill of the earlier days of the blitz, there must have been a feeling of wishing to do something in a personal way to help these latest victims of a warfare that takes no consideration for civilian life and property, and two of these have put this into prompt action by making a personal gift to the fund.

Contributions in this manner are listed today from Mr. Fred Hills, who has given in a similar way on many occasions, as also is one from Mrs. F. C. Anderson, which brings the fund close to the $1,000 mark in money that is now on hand towards the next donation of £500.

6 Cars Damaged In Series Of Traffic Crashes

Considerable property damage was done but no one was hurt in a series of accidents on city streets Tuesday.

Three vehicles were involved in an accident on Water street north. Norman Little, Warsaw, was driving north and in front of 704 Water street, a truck owned by E. Payne, 716 Water street pulled out from the curb. When Little applied his brakes his machine skidded into a parked truck owned by H. J. Zinston, 29 Water street, and was damaged while the truck also suffered from the impact.

There were also three motor vehicles in a traffic mixup on Rubidge street. Archie McMaster, 174 McDonnel street was driving his truck south on Rubidge street and there were cars parked on both sides of the thoroughfare. McMaster applied his brakes as he neared a north-bound truck driven by Michael Coughlin, 512 College street.

McMaster's truck skidded into the other machine, after colliding with the side of Coughlin's truck and then struck a parked automobile, owned by Archie Stewart, 209 Rubide street. All three vehicles were damaged.

When J. F. Shaughnessy, 10 Haggart street, stopped his car at foot of George street, a truck driven west on Lansdowne street by Carl Thompson, Corbeyville, Ont., making a turn into George street struck the Shaughnessy car on the left side, damaging the door, and doing other damage.

Two other cars were damaged in a collision at Stewart and Dalhousie streets. William A. Jones, 580 Downie street, was driving north on Stewart street and John H. Byrd, 8 New Romaine street was travelling east on Dalhousie street. The two vehicles met in collision at the intersection.

Burglars Rob Service Station

Burglars who broke into the Davis service station, 593 Reid street during the night got away with a few dollars in five-cent pieces and coppers but apparently nothing else was taken.

The loot consisted of around $2 in nickels, and $2 or $3 in coppers.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window at the rear of the place and then lifting the latch. Foot prints in the fresh snow indicated that two men were involved, one apparently remaining on watch outside while the other entered the building.

Robertson Young, 231 Bethune street, also reported a break-in at his house during the absence of the family but nothing was taken.

England Retains Beauty Of Pre-War Days

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 23—(CP).—It hasn't been hammered into the ground by block-busters—the England most Canadians dream about seeing one day, the England of Jane Austenish, Bronte-esque, Dickensian things.

It's still there, in spite of bomb craters, defence emplacements and teeming, rough-and-tumble soldiers from evtry Allied country.

Between four and five, there's still tea before the fire, with the curtains drawn against the winter greyness, in the 14th-century rectory at Perivale. There's still roast beef and Yorkshire pudding to be had at the Whyte Hart at Bletchingly.

You can still have your pint of bitter with bread and cheese at one of the Cheshire Cheese's elbow-worn tables in London, much as Oliver Goldsmith did.

Long-haired boys, and bespectacled girls in slacks still sprawl on the floor in Chelsea garrets and argue about Epstein, Robert Helpmann's "Hamlet" and Karl Marx.

Stripe-trousered men, carnation in buttonhole, still raise their hats as their city-bound bus passes the Cenotaph in Whitehall.

These are the things that warm Canadian hearts toward England, in spite of the pinpricks.

Its good to get away from the war—and you can over here.

There's a big noisy dine-and-dance place outside the gate at Perivale, but once under the oaken arch, the path is much as it was when the first priest built the little grey stone church around 1380.

There's a gap in the hedge and you see the rectory, little and low, of grey stone, plaster and oak beams so old they seem to be petrified.

"These are some of the newer graves," said the rector, pointing to lichen-covered slabs through which you could see the date "1740." The church is tiny and dim and smells of the ages.

The rector's son has been missing since Dunkirk, but you don't talk much of war here—the chat clings to gentle things.

The past has a different face at the Hind's Head at Bray or the White Hart at Bletchingly. The Hind's Head stands in the shadow of the church of the turncoat Vicar of Bray who adjusted his politics three centuries ago to those of his King. Consequently he always ate well, drank well, and remained the Vicar of Bray.

His spirit lives at the Whyte Hart. There's always a blazing fire in the oak-beamed pub where the Duke of Windsor, when he was Prince of Wales often stopped in on his way through Maidenhead. There are still good wines to be had with the well-cooked game dinner, and liqueur for your coffee.

This is the England of a gentler, more mellow age, you think, until an Army convoy of tanks and transports roars by on the road to war.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 23—(CP).—A series of two-day courses in farm mechanics will be held at six centres in Brant county starting late this month and continuing throughout March, it was announced recently by Ian MacLeod, county agricultural representative. Stamp Campaign Needs $5,000 To Reach Quota

The Food Industry's campaign to sell $26,000 in War Savings Stamps this month was $5,000 from its objective Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the committee were beginning to think of the possibility of Peterborough not accomplishing what it set out to do.

"We can do it, that is buy extra War Savings Stamps this month, if we just go at it in the right spirit, it is such an easy and little thing, and Peterborough will be certain of its rightful place among the communities that do things."

Some of the food shops had sold a trifling string of stamps up to the end of last week, mere 'peanuts', such as 50 cents, $1.25 or up to $3 and change.

Then on the bright side were stores with sales of War Savings Stamps all the way from $200 to $300 and $400.

"If we could get them all levelled up to that $300 mark we'd have had the objective right now. Or if we had some more real help like we got from the good folks of Millbrook, we wouldn't have anything to worry about in this last season of our drive."

The Food Industry is appealing to the citizens not to let this week go by without buying some stamps, and thereby taking a part in the campaign.

Bandit Group Makes Six Break-ins

LINDSAY, Feb. 23—(ENS)—Six Robberies were committed in the Lindsay district in one night by a group of experienced "rob and run" bandits who, travelling at top speed, committed break-ins at Cannington, Woodsville, Lorneville, Kirkfield, Coboconk and Bobcaygeon. Investigation by Provincial Constable W. McBrien Tuesday has revealed that the thieves used a car stolen the night before from Dr. McBroom of Toronto and abandoned it the next morning in Vaughan township with part of the loot from the various robberies still in it.

The bandits first broke into the C.N.R. tool shed at Cannington and from there went to Marshall's Mill at Woodville where they broke into the cash register and in the same village stole gas from the pumps in front of McKague's store. Continuing on to Lorneville the thieves entered Eldon Creamery and using the C.N.R. tools broke open a two-ton safe. At Kirkfield they broke into Peffer's mill and at Coboconk entered Shields grocery store and smashed a safe. At Bobcaygeon, Pool's Garage was entered and the safe smashed open.

In commenting upon the robberies P. C. McBrien said that it was undoubtedly the work of a group of experienced men. However a check up has revealed that approximately only $75 in cash was stolen in all. Garagemen and store owners in the rural district had been warned only a short time previous not to leave large valuable stock on hand over night.

Cities Urge Use Of Playgrounds

The experience of other cities is usually invoked when the municipal council of Peterborough approaches some prospective enterprise which is likely to entail some cost. And it is not entirely a consideration of costs which sends the council canvassing comparative results and methods in other cities. Often it is simply the guidance that may be available from the course followed elsewhere.

Playground grants in other cities of Canada comprise a subject into which the Petermorough Council has not directed enquiring letters. But, here is a mere glimpse of what a few progressive cities did last year in financing supervised playgrounds for children:

Toronto, $235,000; Calgary, 32,000; Vancouver, $18,000; Sault Ste. Marie, $4,000: York township, $1,100.

This information is cribbed from representations made to York township council by a deputation of sixty persons, ratepayers, members of home and school associations, of the Canadian Legion and so on. They impressed upon the council the fact that in 1939 the number of cases of juvenile delinquency in that municipality, virtually a city, was 725; and last year the corresponding number was 1,173.

Reeve MacRae said: "I'm 100 per cent for the scheme but you can't put all the blame for juvenile delinquency on the lack of playgrounds. The parents are first to blame."

The deputation asked that $5,000 be appropriated for playgrounds, and the Reeve reminded them that York might have to build a new incinerator, and if the war lasted another five years "we'll have to improve the sewage disposal system." In the administration of the township the importance of sewers and incinerators obviously receive primary attention.

ARRIVES IN ITALY—Trooper Morley Elshaw, who formerly worked in Genelco, enlisted in March, 1943. After training in Oshawa and Camp Borden, he went overseas in the second week of October. Early in December he arrived in North Africa, and a later letter has informed his friends that he is now in Italy.

$60,000 Asked But Agencies Need $75,000

The Red Cross and Community Fund campaign for $60,000 begins on Friday.

Judge Smoke is chairman of the Fund executive, and His Honor frankly takes the people of Peterborough into the confidence of the committee with the information that there is a balance from the year that is now closing.

However, against that credit in the bank there is the fact that the eight auxiliary agencies receiving assistance from the Fund in addition to the contribution that will be made for the furnishing of the corvette "Peterborough" will require in excess of $75,000.

The Navy League, for example, is asking for $3,000 more than it received last year, and the public is fully aware of the increased opportunities of helpful service to the Canadian naval arm, devolving to the Navy League with the steadily expanding number of Canadian men in that branch of the armed forces.

Responsibilities Grow

The work of the Red Cross Society keeps pace with the extension of Canada's participation in the war, and is obviously a commitment that grows from month to month of necessity. On the other hand the Community Fund is also providing for the sustaining of local welfare agencies which are grouped together, thereby avoiding separate appeals for support.

In this group are listed the local work of the Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., Children's Aid Society, St. Vincent's Orphanage and Victorian Order of Nurses, and also the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

In subscribing to the Fund you may indicate the apportionment of support which you may wish to designate, or you may leave that sharing to the executive of the Fund.

The outstanding fact which the people are asked to keep in mind during this coming campaign is that the need has not diminished in this fifth year of the war, and that the objective of $60,000 is adjusted to requirements that are actually greater than in the previous years of the functioning of this Fund.

Soldiers Give Blood While Going To Front

Canadian soldiers in a secondary area in Italy, moving up to the front, were recently asked for blood donations" which were flown to the battle zone according to a reference in a letter which Sam Carpenter has received from his son, Gunner Gerald Carpenter, a signaller with the Royal Canadian Artillery.

No explanatory comment indicated whether this appeal to the men in the Army was for an emergency need at the front or other circumstances compelled the authorities to enlist the help of the soldiers themselves.

Heavy Accident Loss

TORONTO, Feb. 23 (CP).—Ontario's industrial accidents in 1943 totalled 131,458 with 424 dead and a total cost of $11,144,754, H. H. Stedman, superintendent of Swift Canadian Co., Ltd., told a mass meeting in the Ontario College of Education last night.

Soldiers Send Thanks For Cigarettes

Many boys serving overseas at Christmas time were the recipients of cartons of cigarettes despatched them with the good wishes of the Peterborough Workers and Unemployed Association, whose president is C. Holland. Now cards and letters have come back to the association, expressing the thanks of the boys, their pleasure at receiving that gift of 300 cigarettes each, and their wishes to be remembered to the folks back home.

One card that is typical of the feeling of the lads overseas expresses the sentiments of all in thoughtful language. It is from Pte. H. P. Kearney, somewhere in England. He says: "Just a few lines to let you know that I received your cigarettes, which I certainly appreciated. I want to thank you one and all for what you are doing for us lads. Things will be breaking about the time you get this, so here's telling you that you people will always be in our minds and that we will remember you as you remembered us."

Incidental stricture on the quality of British "fags" is evidenced in the notes of some. L-Bdr. P. Nixon writes: "We are always more than happy to receive Canadian cigarettes as they are a great deal better than the English ones." And the same sentiment, in very similar words, is expressed by Pte. D. J. Farthing, "I hardly get a Canadian cigarette anywhere," is the wistful note struck by L-Bdr. W. O. Hopkinson.

Hit The Spot

"They sure hit the spot," said Pte. J. T. Lang, summing up his appreciation of the Workers' Association's gift. And what a replenishing of their tobacco supplies really means to a soldier is clearly shown in the phrases used by two of them, Pte. Doughty of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders and Pte. G. F. Bocock. The former write: "Cigarettes are at a premium over here"; and the latter, with an almost audible sigh of relief, "They came just in time."

An observation from his own experience, that undoubtedly reflects the opinion of many other Canadian boys serving in the forces, was written in a letter of thanks to members of the association by K. Childs. He says in part: "As a member of His Majesty's Naval Forces for the past three years, I have been to many parts of the world and made many friends, but I find that the hand of friendship is warmest and most quickly offered by the folks at home."

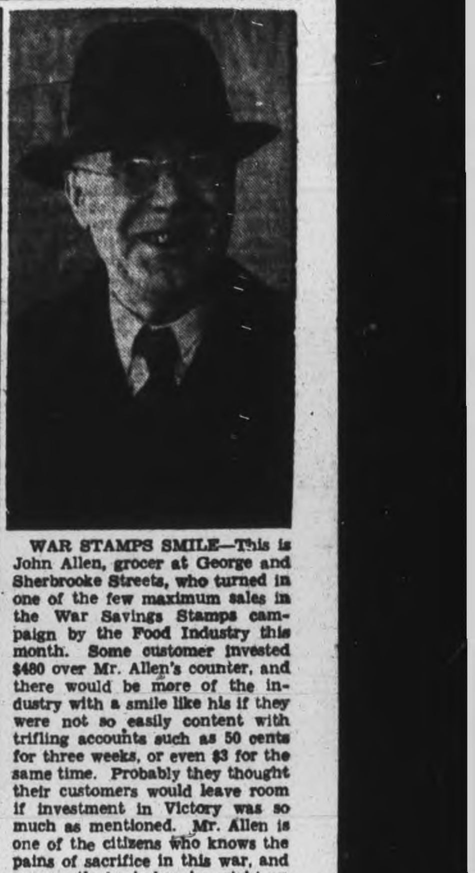
Guild Members Make Birthday Donations

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 23.—(ENS).—A meeting that coincided with the birthday of one of their members gave Christ Church Parish Guild a new idea for adding funds to their account. The birthday was Miss Ethel Bedford's and she has long been a member and enthusiastic worker in the branch so the hostees, Miss G. Maynard, marked the occasion by serving birthday cake and sandwiches. The money raising plan was that whenever a member observed her birthday she should contribute a cent for each day in the month in which it occurred. Miss Bedford contributed 29 cents for February.

Fifteen ladies attended the meeting with the president, Mrs. R. A. Linton, presiding. The evening was spent in sewing and several matters of general business were discussed. Mrs. R. W. Higginson, Sebastopol street, offered her home for the next meeting on March 6.

Name Candidate

SIMCOE, Feb. 23.—(AP).—An executive meeting of the Haldimand-Norfolk Progressive - Conservative Association decided last night to present the name of Charles Martin, Simcoe businessman, before a party nominating convention next Monday which will determine the Progressive-Conservative candidate in the March 20 Provincial by-election. The by-election was made necessary by the death Feb. 9 of Wallace Walsh, Progressive Conservative.



WAR STAMPS SMILE—This is John Allen, grocer at George and Sherbrooke Streets, who turned in one of the few maximum sales in the War Savings Stamps campaign by the Food Industry this month. Some customer invested $480 over Mr. Allen's counter, and there would be more of the industry with a smile like his if they were not so easily content with trifling accounts such as 50 cents for three weeks, or even $3 for the same time. Probably they thought their customers would leave room if investment in Victory was so much as mentioned. Mr. Allen is one of the citizens who knows the pains of sacrifice in this war, and apparently he is keeping right on trying all the time, whatever he accomplishes.

Council Demands Action On Gas Tanks

Annexations deliberations advance into the secondary stage Friday night when the city and township councils will meet at the city hall "to discuss terms of settlement."

North Monaghan council requested in a letter to the city council Monday night that a session be held "as soon as possible." Intervening engagements prevented the two groups meeting earlier than Friday.

B.A. Gas Tanks

A letter from British-American Oil Company, appreciating the city's forbearance in regard to the appeal to the company to remove its big gasoline storage tanks from the centre of Ashburnham, and suggesting a marking of time because of wartime conditions.

"I think the company should take action to remove a hazard to the people and property across the river," said Alderman Sullivan, "and that this council should go on record as urging the company to move the tanks somewhere else."

"Our interest has not abated at all," said Alderman Swanston. "We want them removed."

Alderman Dutton said he was of the same opinion, and the council could not ignore the demands of the residents of that part of the city. It was not only a question of menace to their property, but even their lives were in jeopardy.

Alderman Sullivan's motion, seconded by Alderman Dutton, directed that the B.-A. Company be informed that the council insists upon the removal of the tanks as soon as convenient.

The word convenient did not seem strong enough to suit some of the members, and it may be reinforced when the letter goes forward.

Want Members

TORONTO, Feb. 23—(CP).—A suggestion that all forms of transport in Canada—air, rail, highway and inland water—might be combined into two great systems after the war was made last night by P. C. Armstrong of Montreal, special representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Each system would be under one administration, said Mr. Armstrong, in an address on post-war economics prepared for delivery at a meeting at the University of Toronto under auspices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Advertising and Sales Executive Club.

City Expresses Its Sympathy

Resolutions of sympathy to the families of the late Harry Evans and Miss Alma Beavis were recorded in the minutes of the Council, Monday night, and City Clerk Outram was directed to send copies to the respective relatives.

Recognition of the long and efficient service of Mr. Evans as Street Commissioner was expressed in a motion by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Alderman Swanston. In receiving this motion Mayor Hamilton said "Mr. Evans was a grand old man, and we all owe this tribute of respect and appreciation to his memory for the work he did so efficiently for many years."

The second resolution, by Alderman Glover seconded by Alderman Sullivan, was: "That in the untimely death of Miss Alma Beavis in a motor car accident on February 12 this Council lost from its administrative staff an employee of exceptional merit who gave zealous and unselfish service in an important position for the general good and benefit of the community and its citizens; and that the sincere sympathy of this Council be conveyed to Miss Beavis' mother and the members of her family."

Miss Beavis was a member of the staff of the city's Welfare Department.

"During the trying years of the depression," said Alderman Glover, "Miss Beavis was a loyal and capable employee who did not regard the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m as the extent of her day's work. It was an opportunity to her to help those in trouble. She was adapted for that position and will be greatly missed by those with whom she came in contact and to whom she gave kindly attention."

Alderman Dutton remarked that sometimes the chairmen of committees get credit for the efficiency of the departments for which they are responsible, and sometimes that credit is due. As chairman of the welfare committee for some years, Alderman Dutton said he had been in a position to know the quality of the work Miss Beavis gave that department and the public is served. Sympathy and common sense were most marked in all her dealings with the people who applied to that department for assistance.

"Peterborough was often commended for the efficiency of the administration of its welfare work, and was cited up and down the Province for what we had been able to do. We were saved from the kind of situations which caused considerable embarrassment to other councils, and that was largely due to the fact that we had in our welfare department persons like Miss Beavis who were seized of the importance of the work they had to do. I should like to add my word of tribute to a valuable civic employee whose service will be greatly missed."

W.A. Reports Many Activities At St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Feb. 23—(ENS)—The W.A. of St. Thomas' Anglican Church met for its February gathering on Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. H. J. Russell reading the lesson, Mrs. A. E. Chevis taking the W.A. Litany, and Mrs. Westmacott the special prayers for missions, and for world peace.

Reports were all encouraging, that of the Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Russell, showing that work for the annual spring bale is well under way; also quiltings have been held, with one sold, others done on order, and another completed for sale. The quiltings are held on Friday evenings at Mrs. Westmacott's, beginning at 7:30 p.m., and the workers enjoy a cup of tea when the evening's task is finished.

The Junior W.A., under its superintendent, Miss Isabella McCorry, reported meetings well attended, held every other Thursday after school, and with last week a special Valentine tea, Mrs. Chevis and Miss Rose Macnamara being invited guests. Following the regular meeting, afternoon tea was served, games enjoyed, and each member receiving a valentine before dispersal. The leader, who is employed at Peterborough, expects to arrange for the meetings on Saturday afternoons in the future, this fitting in better with her own free time.

A letter was read from the W.A. prayer partenr, Miss Whelpley, in charge of the Sunday School by Post, Prince Albert, Sask., telling of work done among the juvenile delinquents while in gaol, and after their release; this has proved of deep interest and value. The chapter from the study book, dealing with the activities of the various churches along missionary lines in Brazil, was read by Miss Macnamara, and discussed. A social hour was enjoyed at the close, with Mrs. J. E. Allen as hostess, and the other present contributing to the W.A. mite-box. Mrs. H. J. Russell will be the hostess for March. Expressions of thanksgiving that the rector, Rev. E. A. Chevis, is recovering satisfactorily from his long illness, were sent by Mrs. Chevis to her husband, who hopes to be able to resume his parochial work within a few weeks.

Harris Intends To Wipe Out City Of Berlin

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 23—(CP)— The R.A.F. with its heavy ratio of Canadian and other Dominion personnel, in addition to doing a lot of other things, is making Hitler's speeches easier for him.

With the R.A.F.'s bomber command operating as it is now there is no need for Hitler to tell his Germans that this will be a hard year for them. The Germans, the record shows, learn the hard way, but if they do not know that the Battle of Berlin is in full swing or how tough 1944 is shaping up, they will never know.

As January waned bombs crashed down on Germany at the rate of 100 tons of every hour of the clock, most of them on Berlin, black, smouldering and flaming and thoroughly disorganized, after three of Bomber Command's special doses in four nights.

After attack No. 13 on Berlin—No. 14 left the German capital virtually cut off from the outside world for a time—it was estimated in London that more than 250,000 British, Dominions and Allied airmen and airwomen at Britain's bases had so far been thrown into the fight.

Some experts figured the Battle of Berlin, at that point, might be considered half over, a thought which should make any Berliner tremble. No one doubted but the Battle of Berlin would stand as the biggest air battle of all time.

Take 500,000 Men

Some experts conceded that it may need 500,000 men and something like 20,000 sorties by Allied heavy bombers to win the battle. It may cost in round figures 6,000 men and 800 aircraft, the figures on personnel engaged including ground staffs, mechanics and armorers, bomb armorers and office staffs as well as the men who fly

The aim of Bomber Command Chief Sir Arthur Harris' intention is to destroy Berlin as the nerve centre of the German war organization and to lay in ruins the city's great industrial plants which form a substantial part of the German war potential.

Perhaps half way through this job of destruction the records showed more than 20,000 long tons of bombs had wiped out most government buildings and scores of important war plants.

Cost to the R.A.F. has been well under five aircraft for every 100 sent out and for every bomber lost the air force dropped nearly 60 tons of bombs.

Greatest cost has been in trained airmen, something like 3,000 men with wings while at this stage it has been impossible to assess the toll taken of German military personnel manning ground gun batteries and searchlights, many crews of which have been certainly wiped out in the saturation of bombs.

Two Leaders In House Of Commons Give Members A Shouting Session

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23 — (CP). — The buttons came off the parliamentary foils in the Commons yesterday in a day of acrimonious debate that ended with Leaders of the two main parties shouting at each other across the floor, their followers making the Chamber rock with applause.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, were the principals in what veteran parliamentarians called the most tempestuous scene in years.

Through the long day member after member spoke on a motion to concur in a report of the House War Expenditures Committee and a Progressive Conservative amendment for tabling of the evidence on which it was based—evidence taken in camera.

The House voted down the amendment, 118 to 50, and after a lengthy discussion the motion for concurrence was withdrawn by Hughes Cleaver (L.-Halton), the committee chairman.

It was a day of interruptions, points of order and points of privilege.

When the concurrence motion moved for the appointment of a 1944 War Expenditures Committee.

Oppose Secrecy.

Mr. Graydon said his party would oppose this more, believing the committee's work had been rendered largely unimportant because it had sat in camera. The Progressive Conservative members named to the committee would reserve the right to refuse to sit if its sessions were behind closed doors this year.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, said his group suported formation of the committee, but believed it should have open sessions unless the security of Canada were at stake. John Blackmore, New Democracy Leader, said his group also favored the committee, but believed a large percentage of its meetings should be open.

Mr. King said the committee's purpose was to assist the Treasury in effecting economies in war expenditures; but the Progressive Conservative Party was unwilling to assist in securing such economies.

Mr. Graydon interjected that "the Prime Minister is not going to put words in my mouth again."

Mr. King said he was "amazed" at the Progressive Conservative position. The Opposition Party would have to assume responsibility for its action.

Protests Again

The rights of members were not taken away by appointing the committee. They were, in fact, given additional opportunity to inquire into war expenditures.

When a committee began a public investigation the public got the idea something was wrong. Munitions concerns should not be put before the public as institutions doing something contrary to the public interest. Public investigations would the people would be reading instead hte people would be reading instead of paying attention to the war effort.

"We are in times that are very grave indeed, much graver than honorable members have yet begun to realize, and we are heading rapidly into a situation which will be the most desperate this world has known," Mr. King said.

"I say, therefore, that for any body of gentlemen to refuse to assist the government in every way they possibly can in this war effort, in effecting economies, or to ask the government to take a step which will confuse the public mind and divert it from the winning of the war, into an effort to win elections and make political capital......"

Here Mr. Graydon jumped up amid protest from government members and applause from his own group.

"I rise to a question of privilege and I want the Prime Minister to sit down," said Mr. Graydon.

Mr. King said he would not sit down at Mr. Graydon's request.

Interrupted

"At the request of the Speaker," said Mr. Graydon and Mr. King replied: "Certainly; and so far as the Speaker is concerned I am quite prepared to follow the rules of the House. But I am not going. . . . "

Mr. Graydon interrupted to insist he had the floor. Both party leaders stood silent for a moment amid an uproar.

Mr. King then glanced at Speaker Glen and then took his seat. Mr. Graydon also sat down, and then rose when Speaker Glen asked him if he wished to raise a question of privilege.

"The Prime Minister has made a very serious charge against me and against this group which I at the moment lead, and that is, that instead of confining our efforts to winning the war we now are bending our efforts towards the winning of the election," said Mr. Graydon.

He said the Prime Minister should withdraw the statement.

Speaker Glen said he did not consider the statement of the Prime Minister a charge against the opposition leader. The statement was "an expression which is very common on the floor of the House and I do not think a question of privilege arises out of it."

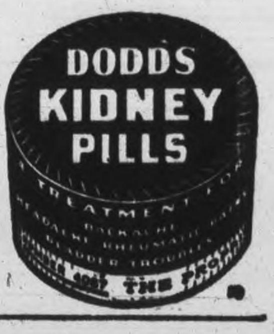
WELL-PLANNED RAID.

The R.A.F. raid that destroyed Germany's Mohne and Eder dams in May, 1943, was planned with engineering exactness a year in advance.



Plunging the country into peace

ALMOST before the "Cease Fire" has stopped echoing...almost before the last drift of cannon smoke has vanished down the wind—the opening shots of a new and even greater battle will be ringing in our ears. This country of ours will be plunged with bewildering suddenness into the vast, critical but inspiring First Battle of the Peace!

Make no mistake about it there will be nothing "phony" about this battle. Its front line will run through every home and factory, through every office and store in the Dominion. It will be a battle for the re-employment in civilian life of more than half a million soldiers, sailors and airmen. It will be a battle for the re-employment on peace production of hundreds of thousands of workers now occupied in war plants. It will be a formidable battle and a fateful one—and you can help to win it.

You can help by setting your sights now on the kind of Canada you want to see after this war. You can help by figuring out the kind of home, the kind of town, the kind of country you want to live in when Victory is won. You can help by planning—for the future needs of your home, your business, your farm. You can help by making ready to make work as soon as peace is here.

Think for a moment of all that will need doing. The refurnishing and refurbishing that will be required in every dwelling in the land. The changes, the improvements, the new equipment that will be needed by every factory and office and store. The new transportation that will be required—the new automobiles, street cars, buses, trains. The new trucks and tractors . . . The new planes. Think of the new farm equipment that will be needed—and the possibilities which rural electrification will open up to country homes. These are things which you can plan for—and yet they are only half the story.

For beyond your personal planning lies community planning. There will be new homes to build by the hundred thousand . . . and new schools and new hospitals. There will be thousands of miles of new highways to lay down . . . and thousands of miles of old highways to widen and straighten and regrade and relight. There will be railroads to modernise and electrify . . . there will be new rolling stock, new depots, new bridges to produce. New recreational centres, cultural centres, civic centres will be needed, new libraries, enlarged universities, new parks and arenas.

We must plan for these things—and we must start planning at once. For peace, like war, will strike suddenly, and, while there must not be the slightest relaxation of our efforts to win the war—if dislocation is to be avoided . . . if readjustment and re-employment are to be carried through swiftly and smoothly . . . if we are to win the peace we must work for the peace by planning for the peace—now.

Many governmental, municipal and industrial groups already are planning for post-war development. Many individuals are planning. But more planning is needed; more is possible. For by planning today, we prepare ready-made markets for tomorrow—markets which will absorb our fullest productivity and create full and gainful employment for all.

L.C.W. Passes Resolutions For Provincial Group

Several resolutions of importance and interest to Peterborough women were passed at the regular meeting of the Local Council of Women. It is the Council's duty to read and pass the resolutions, which are then forwarded to the Ontario Provincial Council for consideration. All resolutions must go through the Provincial Council, since they have the authority to present them to the government.

The first resolution brought to the attention of the Council was sent in by the Public Health committee of the Peterborough Local Council, read "That, the Peterborough Local Council of Women ask the Provincial Council of Women to bring to the attention of the Ontario and Dominion governments, the necessity of immediate action to see that all children of pre-school age are medically examined to prevent if possible, the increasing number of cases of rheumatic fever."

The second, sent from the Peterborough Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, deals with temperance. "That we recommend through the Provincial Council of Women to Mr. George Drew, premier of Ontario, the sponsoring of a formation within the Legislature of a Temperance committee, representative of temperance minded members of various parties in the House, to deal with all legislation affecting the liquor traffic, as we believe is done in the British House of Commons."

Proper Pictures.

The convener for cinema and printed matter of the Peterborough Local Council of Women sent the third resolution, "That the Peterborough Local Council of Women ask the Ontario Provincial Council of Women to urge the Motion Picture Censor Board to prohibit the showing of horror motion pictures, Saturday or holidays or any other days that school children can attend the theatres. Furthermore, that consideration be given re allowing children to see films in which drinking scenes and other forms of vice are depicted, believing that films of this kind have a tendency to place in the minds of children impressions which often give a wrong and distorted view of life."

The fourth resolution was presented by the Peterborough Women's Association of the United Church of Canada, "That the Peterborough Local Council of Women urge the Ontario Provincial Council of Women to ask the Dominion government that beverage rooms in Canada be closed earlier than at present, and that no chairs or tables be allowed in beverage rooms, and that a law be passed making it an offence to serve women any kind of liquor in a beverage room."

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

To-day I am going to give you some recipes for sweet bread, rolls, muffins, etc., that are made very quickly, yet are so tasty and a much enjoyed addition to any meal. These can be served with either raw or preserved fruit and make a dessert that the whole family will enjoy from the oldest to the youngest. In these days when it seems so difficult to get something different each day, for any course, especially the last served (dessert). We can use so little sugar, butter, or shortening of any kind, that when we pick up a paper or magazine and see some recipes that do not call for too much of these ingredients and yet appeal to the taste we at once try them out.

This is why I am giving you two or three recipes to-day that will do all these things for you, and you will want to repeat them many times.

Orange Bread.

One cup white sugar, three tablespoons melted butter, juice and the grated rind of one orange, one egg, two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, one cup chopped dates, ¾ cup boiling water, one teaspoon soda. Bake in a moderate oven one hour. Nuts or cherries may be added.

Sugary Apple Muffins.

2½ cups sifted flour, 3¼ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon each of cinnamon and nutmeg, 4 tablespoons shortening, ½ cup plus two tablespoons sugar, one egg (well beaten), one cup milk, one cup of finely chopped, pared and cored apples. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening and ½ cup sugar, stir in egg, then flour mixed with milk. Fold in apples, fill greased muffin pans almost full. Sprinkle with remaining sugar and little s[illegible] Bake in hot oven 375 degrees, [illegible]o 30 minutes.

Orange Bran Muffins.

One-third cup shortening, ¼ cup sugar, one egg, ½ cup bran, one teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup orange juice, ¼ cup milk, 1¾ cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon soda. Blend shortening and sugar until creamy, add egg and beat. Stir in bran, orange juice, and milk and rind. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda, and add to first mixture, only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in over (400 degrees) about half an hour.

Tea Scones.

One cup flour, one heaping teaspoon baking powder, ⅛ cup sultana raisins, ⅛ cup white sugar, a little salt, ½ cup of milk. Mix all together to a soft dough. Knead lightly. Roll out in rounds ½ inch thick. Cut across top. Bake 20 to 30 minutes at 375 degrees.

Selwyn Friends Honor Newlyweds

SELWYN, Feb. 23 — (ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Simpson (nee Elva Northey) of Peterborough were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening when a number of their friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McIlmoyl to shower them with gifts in honor of their recent marriage. A short program of readings and musical numbers preceded the presentation of the gifts, which were drawn into the living-room by little Dorothy McIlmoyl and Garnet Northey, dressed as a miniature bride and groom.

Mis Velma Northey, a cousin of the bride, read a short address expressing the good wishes of the community. The gifts were unwrapped by Misses Ruth Davis and Winifred Northey. Both Elva and Ray expressed their appreciation, and invited all to visit them in their new home in Peterborough. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge, after which the bride, who is a very competent pianist, entertained the gathering with a few piano selections.

Mary Ross Talks To Baby Band

Miss Mary Ross, of the Victorian Order of Nurses, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the George Street Baby Band, held at the home of Mrs. R. Hetherington, George Street. Miss Ross traced the history of public health from the time of infanticide, which was the only method of weeding out the weak, to the present day, when so many measures are used to keep a community fit.

Miss Roma Williamson, another guest, gave two enjoyable humorous readings. In the devotional period, Mrs. D. Keene read the Scripture, and Mrs. H. L. Roberts led in prayer. After a vote of thanks to the two guests, and also to Mrs. Hetherington for the use of her home, the hostess served refreshments.

Married Folks Need Nights Out; Constant Companionship becomes Boresome.

Dear Miss Dix: We have been married 16 years and have six children. My husband and I are very much in love with each other, but we have one problem about which we differ. With my family I have a lot of work to do and am kept at home almost all the time, but I like to go to a club meeting once every two weeks, and to the ladies' club on the alternate week.

My husband objects to my going to these meetings. He says I should stay at home, but I feel that I need two or three hours' recreation away from my family and my work once a week. I wouldn't mind his objections so much if he didn't go anywhere either except to his work and home, but he steps out whenever he pleases.

He has agreed to abide by your decision. What do you think?

MRS. A. C.

Constant Companionship Bad.

Answer: I think that any husband and wife who merely vibrate between their work and their homes and who have no outside interests or diversions are headed for the divorce court, or else are doomed to be one of those quarreling couples who fight just for the fun of the thing and to put a little pep into their lives. For no two people can be together all of the time, day in and day out year in and year out, without talking out.

They have told each other every thing they know until they become as boresome as an oft-repeated tale, so the sit up in a silence you could cut with a knife, or else the wife feels that she will scream if John starts again on what he said to the boss and the boss said to him, and the husband jams on his hat and makes for the front door when the wife tunes in or her theme song about the price of butchers' meat.

Maybe our grandparents were more domestic-minded than we are, or they had stronger nerves and more resistance; but nowadays if a husband and wife keep each other interested and from losing their taste for each other they have to stir about and get some fresh ideas and new points of view. They must have something to say that keeps their mates from yawning in their faces.

You should not begrudge your husband his nights off as long as he doesn't take too many of them, nor should he try to keep you nailed to your fireside without any respite from domesticity. You need a change even worse than he does because he at least, works in a group where he hears what other people are thinking and can swap a good story, while you are tied to your cook stove and washing machine. And, no matter how much any mother loves her children, nobody can deny that she needs some adult society. Just ask your husband how he would like to have nobody to talk to but the baby.

Husbands make a great mistake when they try to keep their wives

BeardedCanucks Revive Army Tradition

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

With the Canadian Corps in Italy, Feb. 23 (CP)—A British Army tradition which dates back to the days of Queen Victoria is responsible for five flourishing black beards in the pioneer platoon of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

The tradition that one N.C.O. and four other pioneers be allowed to wear beards died out before the last war, though some regiments still observe it, and was revived in the Canadian Army by the R.C.R.'s a few days after the battalion came into Italy.

The battalion colonel, now a brigadier, ordained that beards be grown and offered a prize to the pioneer with the best-looking growth at the end of the first month. The prize, a bottle of champagne, went to Pte. Tom Blanchette of Windsor, Ont.

Sergeant Jealous

"I think mine was better," said Sgt. Tom Gray, London, Ont., "but I was more or less out of the running because I was the sergeant."

Gray and Blanchotte are still wearing the beards with which they started five months ago. The other pioneers, Pte. Lawrence Gibbons, London, Ont., Pte. C. H. Bowman, Hamilton, Ont. and Pte. J. G. Gilgardner Kitchener, Ont., have, for one reason or another had to shave them off since then, though their new growths are quite luxuriant.

Pioneers are the night hawks of the battalion. They clear mines and booby traps, repair roads, prepare some defences and do other similar "sapper" jobs, most of them under cover of darkness.

Makes Him Homesick

Entertainment, once a sore point among soldiers of the Eighth Army is now being brought as close to the front lines as military authorities will permit. ENSA shows have been given in San Vito and Lanciano, both still within range of German guns.

Tommy Trinder and Leslie Henson, two of Britain's top line entertainers, have given shows in the Canadian area, while the regular touring ENSA parties stay as long as two weeks at a time, giving two shows daily to capacity audiences.

Strange reaction to this entertainment came from Pte. Louis Canada of Pine Falls, Man. Shells, mortars and bombs have not affected his morale, he said, but ENSA shows "bust it wide open."

"It's the music that gets me," said Louis, member of a scout platoon. "It makes me homesick, and that's bad."

CANADA DRY

FIRST in FAVOUR

When seeking quick refreshment between spells of duty, men and women of Canada's armed forces call for the Champagne of Ginger Ales. They know by experience that Canada Dry quenches thirst faster.

Despite the difficulties of securing raw materials during these years of war, never for one moment has there been the slightest change in the quality of Canada Dry. For quality is the basis of Canada Dry's world-wide reputation — quality that results from pure, wholesome ingredients, expertly processed according to a secret scientific formula that has never been successfully imitated.

Tomorrow — just as today and yesterday — at home or abroad — it's Canada Dry for flavour, tang and quality.

from belonging to a club or two. It give some variety in their lives, something to think about besides their husbands' faults and peculiarities and, if they have a reforming complex, they can take it out on the city or some cause, instead of the unfortunate men to whom they are married.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am the father of two young ladies, 33 and 29 years of age. They have been working since they were 18 years old, paying board at home regularly, and are good church members. Have I the right to enter their room and go through their closets and dresser drawers, checking upon them; or are they entitled to the privacy of their own room?

Father Keeps Daughters in Peonage.

Answer: Well, Sam, in these days of the emancipated woman and the adolescent girl who tells her parents where they get off, you are certainly a museum specimen. I didn't know any such father as you still existed. And why your daughters have stood for your tyranny and espionage all these years is something beyond comprehension.

It is no wonder they are old maids, for you don't have to be an FBI to know that you have kept them from ever having any boy friends or any chance at getting a husband because you were holding them in ritual peonage and wanted to keep them single so they would support you. You didn't want to share their pay envelopes with any husbands and it is dimes to doughnuts that you never let them handle the money they earned by their hard labor.

As for your right to go through their closets and dresser drawers checking up on them and trying to see if they have snitched maybe a bobby pin or a ribbon for themselves the answer is NO. You have not any such right. And if you had any decency about you, you would not any such think of doing such a thing. And your daughters should have enough spunk to rebel against the way you are treating them and make a strike for their personal liberty.

Dear Miss Dix: We have been married over five years. Have two small children. My husband entered the service a year ago. He writes me that he has met a girl with whom he has fallen in love and that he is living with her and wants me to give him a divorce so he can marry her.

What should I do? Should I be patient and hope that he will realize what he is doing to his life, as well as that of his children, or should I grant him a divorce?

UNHAPPY WIFE.

Answer: Why don't you play for time? Tell him that if after two years he still wants a divorce you will give it to him. Perhaps by that time he will be as tired of his current Lady Love as he got of you. But, in any case, see that he makes some provision for the children and doesn't leave them for you to take care of .

A man of his caliber doesn't seem to me to be much of a loss as a husband. I earnestly advise you to begin to learn some trade by which you can support yourself and the children, as you will proably have to do it in the end.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, February 24

IT MAY require swift, clever and discreet management and wariness to avert dangerous and difficult situations, which may involve personal calamity or harm, together with loss or reversale in the fortunes and important endeavors. Impulsive, rash and unguarded actions along all lines are urgently admonished against. Employers or others in influence may be averse to giving constructive support, and clever moves may be needed to side step sudden involvements, with subtle and sinister as well as above-board deals to be circumspectly handled. Use finesse instead of force where major issues are involved. Aiming high and with determination, surprising denouements may be foreseen. Adherence to the codes is needed. Guard against accident or illness.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which decisive, cautious and concentrated effort in launching expansive, new or critical ventures of scope and ingenuity are involved. This may be amidst dangers and difficulties of a physical, financial and personal nature. It may be necessary to approach superiors, employers or other influential persons with diplomacy rather than forced issues, which would provoke antagonism and defeat. There may be subtlety and craft as well as open enmity to handle with shrewdness and restraint. Shun strife and be alert to accident, explosions and be attentive to all public rules and regulations. Be wary as to fraud and distortion.

A child born on this day while eventually successful and fortunate, may be subject to sudden accidents, illness and reversals. Proper caution and vigilance may avert much trouble and opposition in life.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 — (AP) — George Trautman, Jack Zeller and Warren Giles, the professional committee to look into high school baseball in the United States, might do worse than take a good look at the Illinois State High School tournament next spring..Its entry of 88 teams isn't big for a state the size of Illinois, but reports from Peoria, where coach Dick Baxter originated the event, say there's plenty of enthusiasm and the committee might spread it to other States..in fact, one of the big attractions for the kids is the presence of Major League scouts at the finals.. The tournament was only started in 1940, but the finals played at Oak Park and Cicero the last two years draw crowds of 5,000 or more.

Nat. Fleischer's third and biggest ring record book, containing the records of all champions since 1719 and of virtually all the important present-day fighters, in and out of the services, will be off the presses in April.. Back in 1890, a pitcher who won 22 games for the Cleveland National Leaguers but lost 31 was named, most appropiately, Tom Beatin.. And when Frank Smith of the White Sox was nosed out of a no-hitter in the opening game of 1910, the St. Louis player who spoiled it in the ninth- inning was Raymond Demmitt.

Here and There in Sport

A new National Hockey League attendance record is possible this season, according to Bill Tobin, president of the Chicago Black Hawks, who currently hold the edge on Boston Bruins in their duel for the last play-off spot in the N.H.L.

The Hawks have been drawing huge crowds at home lately and Tobin said last night that the total for 19 home games is 263,606 fans. That's an average of 13,874 a game.

"If we can keep that average through our remaining six home games," Tobin announced cheerfully, "the Hawks will have drawn 350,000 spectators—a new high in hockey history. The way it looks now, the total attendance in the league will be a new record."

Another record has actually been set—a total of 518 seasonal scoring points in United States collegiate basketball. The record-holder is Ernie Calverley of the Rhode Island State College Rams, who popped in 45 points last night when his team walloped the University of Maine 115-37. With at least one more game to go, Calverley has an average of 27.26 points a game. He has a medical discharge from the army.

Jimmy Orlando, former Detroit Red Wings defenceman, said at Montreal last night he is "trying to enlist in the Canadian Army." He has been living with his parents in Montreal pending an appeal from a four-year sentence at Detroit for violation of the United States Selective Service Act.

The biography of a race horse is just off the press in England. It's the story of Golden Miller, who failed in his early races, failed as a hunter, was "condemned" by a veterinarian, and then developed into a king of the turf. Golden Miller was perhaps the greatest steeplechaser of all time, with one victory in the Grand National and five in the Cheltenham Gold Cup.

The Fair Grounds closed its 1943-44 racing season yesterday with twin features, the Washington's Birthday and the Mardi Gras Handicap. The Brandywine Stable's fleet Everget came from behind under a strong ride of Jockey Arnold Kirkland to take the $3,500-added Washington's birthday event.

The Mardi Gras, carrying $3,000-added and the sixth race on the program, went to C. U. Yaeger's Corona Corona, favorite in the betting.

Vic Holbrook

clamp his stretch grip on Gotch and it was curtains. He twisted the Pole into the general shape of a doughnut and dropped him on his back on the mat and Jan was content to stay there for a couple of minutes before he limped painfully out of the ring.

He was still the worse for wear when the second round started and it was soon over. Gotch tried to carry the fight to pull up on even terms but he failed to make much progress and then the end came unexpectedly. The Pole tried to push Referee Maxwell away when the official went in to break a hold, Maxwell was knocked to the mat and Gotch toppled over him with his shoulders on the canvass. Holbrook was too alert to miss that chance. He simply flopped on top of the Pole and held him there for the count and then left the ring amid the cheers of the crowd.

Davis Is Missing

It was announced that Karl Krippler Davis who was to have met the former world champion Bobby Managoff of Chicago in the semi-final had declined at the last moment to wrestle Managoff here and that he had apparently taken a run-out powder. The Ontario Athletic Commission is being asked to deal with the case. Called on at the last moment to meet the formidable Chicago mat star, Al Bunny Dunlop made a valiant attempt to give Managoff a tussle for the honors and didn't do too badly at that. The Toronto strong man backs away from none of them and he tried all his skullduggery on the Chicago product just as if he were a guy named Joe. He gave Managoff some busy moments, especially when after he had been drop-kicked out of the ring by the former champ who almost booted Bunny for a field goal from the 30-yard line, he came back armed with some foreign object that he used to rub into Managoff's eyes.

The Chicago grappler ended the bout in a hurry at the 14-minute mark when he softened up Dunlop with a couple of drop-kicks, tossed him twice with a flying mares and then used a body slam to take the fall.

Bunny claimed that his shoulders were not on the mat and from the side-lines he could have been right. The irate loser jumped to his feet, grabbed Maxwell by the hair and tossed him to the mat with a flying mare and then charged Managoff. The latter was ready for him however and tossed the Toronto strongman across the ring with a body slam and Bunny decided that was enough of that. He was still disputing the decision however as he strode angrily to the dressing-room.

Sailor Is Beaten

Al Korman of the Canadian Navy was stacked up against the notorious Bob Wagner in the opener and was finally beaten after giving the Portland, Oregon, bad man a good argument. Korman did a lot of the attacking in the early stages and one occasion after tossing Wagner around twice with body slams pitched him out of the ring. That reverse seemed to fire the rowdy Portlander, however and for the rest of the battle Korman was on the catching end. Wagner finally took the steam out of the sailor with a few elbow smashes and then applied a couple of flying mares and pounced on the tar for the fall after 17 minutes of spirited action.

Bert Maxwell handled all three bouts with the dual role of announcer and official timer as usual falling to Fred Scates.

Leo Durocher. Brooklyn Dodgers' manager, was rejected in the spring, and the next youngest major league boss is Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox who will be 38 in October.

Boudreau, who has led American League shortstops in field since 1940, his first full season in the majors, will be 27 in July. He is married and the father of two children.

Ray Mack's decision to remain on his war job, reported three weeks ago, and the possible drafting of Boudreau would break up what sports scribes have called the greatest double play combination in the major leagues. Last year, Boudreau set an American League record for participation in double plays.

Doug Bentley, Chicago, formerly in a third place tie with his teammate, Billie Mosienko, scored four goals and one assist last night when Hawks trounced Rangers 8-4, to give himself sole ownership of that position. Mosienko got three assists to give him a total of 57 points—two behind Bentley.

TRY THE OTHER MAJOR

WHEN YOUR partner has made an informatory or takout double of one major suit, it is up to him to be ready for your bid of the other major, even if you have four small cards in it. Ordinarily such a four-card major is far preferable, in responding to a double, to the bid of any minor, even if it is of six cards or more and is strong.

North: ♠ None; ♥ A Q 10 6 4; ♦ A 10 7 5 3 2; ♣ A Q
West: ♠ 10 8 6 4 3; ♥ 8; ♦ 9 8; ♣ 10 8 7 5 3
East: ♠ K Q J 9 5; ♥ 5 3 2; ♦ K Q J 6 4; ♣ None
South: ♠ A 7 2; ♥ K J 9 7; ♦ None; ♣ K J 9 6 4 2

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Dbl
4 ♠	5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥

East refrained from either sacrificing or doubling that because he thought he had a chance to set it. West, feeling sure that one or the other of the opponents could ruff spades, avoided that suit and led the club 5 instead. He was overjoyed to see his partner ruff it. East then returned a diamond honor, but his side didn't get any more tricks. After winning that diamond, South got rid of the hostile hearts in three rounds, discarded four of North's diamonds on clubs and had a trump left to ruff the dummy's last diamond.

The fine bid for that sequence was South's 5-Hearts. He knew his partner would not have put in a double when vulnerable over a 2-Spade bid unless he was prepared for a response at the three range by South even if the latter had a weak hand. So he must have had a powerhouse, reckoned South. That was certainly right, and the selection of hearts instead of clubs was sound as a dollar after hearing his partner's double.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K J 10 7; ♥ A Q 4; ♦ 3 2; ♣ A Q 9 4
West: ♠ 9 8 4 2; ♥ J 8 5 2; ♦ 7; ♣ K 7 5 2

South: ♠ 3; ♥ K 6 3; ♦ K Q 8 6 4; ♣ J 10 8 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

After North bids 1-Club and East 1-Diamond, what should be the rest of the action by keen players on this deal?

9 Hun Divisions Opposing Allies

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press War Correspondent

On the Anzio Beachhead, Feb. 23 (AP)—One month after landing at Anzio, Allied beachhead troops are holding their own today against a force of nine divisions the Germans have sent here from various parts of Europe and are continuing to inflict heavy casualties on the enemy.

This is the story of Anzio: No brilliant victory, no triumphal entry into Rome, but a hard, gruelling struggle against odds and with risks that has tied up a great German force on the southern front and which probably will have a profound effect on the course of the war.

Beachhead troops so far have met and repulsed two full-scale German offensive to split them into two by a push down the Albano-Anzio road and drive them into the sea. They are preparing to meet and throw back further German efforts to do this.

The danger is not over, for the Germans may pile up more and more strength around them. But the present prospect is that the beachhead troops will hold on and eventually, when the Germans have spent themselves in costly assaults, strike back in force.

Condemns Bombing

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) Fourteen American and one Canadian clergymen have endorsed the stand of Lord Lang, former Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishop of Chichester against the destruction by bombing of German cities, it was announced yesterday.

Synthetic Tires Are All Needed For Use Of The Armed Forces

By J. E. DUNN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SARNIA, Ont. Feb. 23—(CP)—On the banks of the St. Clair River near Sarnia, the intricate equipment of Polymer Corporation Limited is throbbing at full pitch to squelch wartime rubber shortage fears with the synthetic product. Erected near Imperial Oil's petroleum pipe-line from the Untied States fields, this Dominion government-owned plant plans production of about 40,000 long tons of synthetic rubber annually, sufficient, the experts say, to meet war-time requirements.

From oil, coal, salt and water, the $446,000,000 plant, operated for the government by the Crown company, Polymer is expected to produce the synthetic variety in sufficient quantities to conquer any rubber bogey raised by the Jap conquest of the crude rubber countries of Malaya and the East Indies. In peacetime Canada consumed around 35,000 tons of crude rubber annually, but the 40,000 synthetic production estimate holds no rosy picture for the civilian car driver.

Record Job

Fighting the war problems of the rubber industry is the primary objective, J. R. Nicholson, managing-director of Polymer, told newspapermen when they made a tour of the giant undertaking recently. The motorists' needs must await the war trend.

One June 10, 1942, the first attack on the bush country, where the vast plant now stands, was made and a year and eight months later a construction and engineering job, which would have required three years in peacetime, was completed. What was once an Indian reservation is now a community of 10 factories, homes for employees, roads, ball park, a hospital, general store and other places that make up a self-contained centre.

The 5,000 or so men from all corners of the globe who performed the tremendous building feat, upset the tranquil routine of Sarnia life, especially on pay days, and for a while the new "boom town" even underwent a food shortage as every eating place was crammed. Home of Imperial Oil's huge oil tank system, Sarnia thus shot into the forefront of the rubber world.

4 Rubber Firms

The Polymer plant extends over 185 acres. To maintain operation more than 1,600 employees will be required. Launched by Canadian government funds, it is operated on a management fee basis under the Polymer Corporation by three companies, St. Clair Processing Corporation Limited, a subsidiary of Imperial Oil; Dow Chemical Corporation of Canada Limited. Dom Chemical is a subsidiary of Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Mich., and Canadian Synthetic is a subsidiary of four firms, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Firestone Company, Dominion Rubber Company and Goodrich Tire and Rubber Company.

The two main types of synthetic rubber produced from the petroleum gases out of the Imperial refinery nearby, are Buna-S and Butyl. An annual production of 34,000 long tons of Buna-S and 4,000 long tons of Butyl is planned.

Oil piped from the refinery, coal, salt and water are subjected to certain pressures and temperatures as they move through the various processes in the 10 units or factories before the synthetic rubber pours out of the vats.

A number of plastics are among the products and these, when war ends and rubber demand dwindles, will likely establish another new industry for Sarnia. Plastics will be demand when peace returns for the making of costume jewellry, combs, lenses and numerous other articles.

Creamery Butter Production Down

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP)—Production of creamery butter in Ontario totalled 3,486,800 pounds in January, a reduction of 785.600 pounds from the production in the corresponding period of 1943, it was shown today in the monthly dairy report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

However production of factory cheese showed an increase, with 1,529,800 pounds compared with 1,500,600 a year ago.

Stocks of creamery butter held in dairies in the province totaled 2,912,300 Feb. 1, compared with 3,715,200 Jan. 1 and 1,882,000 Feb. 1, 1943. Warehouses in Toronto had butter holdings of 3,523,000 pounds Feb. 1, 4,4651,000 Jan. 1 and 849,300 Feb. 1, 1943.

Commercial dairies sold 33,152,100 quarts of fluid milk with a sales value of $3,445,000—exclusive of the Federal Government's two-cents-a-quart subsidy—in January compared with 28,845,000 quarts with a sales value of $3,410,100 in December.

Plastic Eyes New Invention

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 — (AP) — Plastic eyes, made from a material used for false teeth, may replace glass eyes after the war, Brig. Frank M. Lott, chief of dental services for the Canadian Army, Navy and Air Force, said yesterday.

When shortages in glass eyes developed for treatment of casualties in the Canadian, British and Russian armies, the Canadian Dental Corps devised artificial eyes of acrilic plastic (methyl-metacrylate), a plastic also used in dentures, Lott said in an interview at the annual meeting of the Chicago Dental Society.

Before it is hardened by boiling, Lott said the plastic is soft and can be moulded to fit the individual eye socket. It can be given life-like coloring, and the eyes cost little to make.

Teilastic also is being used to make artificial ears and noses for wounded men, Lott said.

Truck Driver Offers Eye To Blind Girl

TORONTO, Feb. 23 —(CP)—Arthur Cairns, 27-year-old Toronto truck driver Monday offered to give one of his eyes to Hazel Belbin of Moose Jaw, Sask., if doctors thought the cornea could be transplanted to restore her sight. Miss Belbin, 25 and blind for 17 years, last week went to New York for such an operation but doctors told her that the trip was in vain.

Cairns suggested that the cornea of a live person's eye might be transplanted more successfully than one from someone who had died.

American Papers Are Given Privileges

LONDON, Feb. 23— (CP) —The Chicago Tribune, the Chicago Sun and the New York Times have been granted the privilege of distributing weekly overseas editions to American troops in the European theatre of operations through post exchanges, Maj.-Gen. John Lee, deputy commander of the theatre, announced yesterday.

The same privilege also will be available to other American newspapers "in a desire to provide troops overseas with the news as quickly as possible within certain conditions set by the decision," the announcement said.

The conditions include that the maximum size of the newspapers is not more than eight pages 12½ by 7½ inches; the number of copies to be determined by the army exchange according to the demand, and the sales price to be set by the exchange service.

Germany Boasts Non-Stop Blitz Launched Against City Of London

All Japs Taken Prisoner Listed As Killed In Action

Written for The Associated Press by YIN TSO

CHUNGKING, Feb. 24—(AP).—When Japan attacked the United States in 1941, homefront propaganda experts built up a new conception of the average American. They portrayed him as a rascal, a bully, a man of weak character spoiled by easy living. Unlike the Japanese, he was afraid of death.

President Roosevelt was portrayed as the arch-villain of the democracies, with Winston Churchill as a misguided lieutenant, led by the nose.

Seventy per cent. of all Japanese propaganda today is directed against the United States. It takes strange forms.

Last September large American flags were painted at main Tokyo intersections so the American colors would be tramped under foot by all who passed.

When children buy toy guns some shops give them wooden statues of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and General Chiang Kai-Shek for target practice.

There is little war-humor in Japan. Jokes about the Emperor, or even about Premier Hideki Tojo, are unthinkable. War is war, a grim business of fighting and dying gloriously for the Emperor, and the Japanese soldier is too exalted a subject for wit.

Even if Japanese soldiers are known to be alive and well in prison camps, they are automatically listed as dead and their families notified of their "death in action."

Although the Japanese deride the Americans, they fear their growing might.

Japan's blow at Pearl Harbor convinced the Japanese people, who were told that the U.S. Pacific fleet was annihilated, that Japan proper was immune to enemy air attack. The "Shangri-La" raid of April 18, 1942, was a bitter disillusionment.

Now the Japanese people are being told if Japan is defeated the United States will totally disarm, destroy all their heavy industry and punish their leaders as war criminals.

Somehow I cannot imagine the war ending by Japanese unconditional surrender. Personally, I think if Allied troops land on Japan proper the Japanese will fight to the very end.

Canadians Miss Injury In Blitz

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP Cable).—A group of Canadian army and naval officers escaped injury in an air raid when a bomb fell near the club where they were living, blowing in the walls and doors, smashing windows and showering the place with plaster and concrete debris.

The officers include Cmdr. K. S. McLachlan of Montreal, Royal Navy officer recently returned from Italy where he took part in the Anzio landing; Col. M. C. O'Neill of Edmonton, chief Roman Catholic chaplain of the overseas army, and Lt.-Col. C. S. Wallace of Toronto, who has returned to London from the Mediterranean where he directed Canadian public relations during the Sicilian campaign and the early part in Italy.

Lt.-Cmdr. Harlow Wright of Sherbrooke, Que., and Paymaster Capt. Charles Hill of Ottawa were also shaken by a bomb blast. Hill was flattened as he walked in a London street.

Cmdr. Harold Beament of Ottawa and Lt.-Cmdr. Tony Law of Quebec were both in the London Club were shaken but not injured and which was blown in by blast. They helped rescue others from debris.

Slavic Troops Derail Train

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (AP). — Traffic on the main Trieste-Ljubljana railway was paralyzed for two days after Yugoslav Partisans derailed a train near Rakek, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced to-day. Trieste is an important German-held Italian port on the Adriatic Sea 5 miles southwest of Ljubljana, industrial and rail centre in Western Slovenia.

Meanwhile, early announcement of Yugoslav war unity with Tito established as the dominant military figure under a regime headed by King Peter was predicted in London to-day.

Numerous Conservatives in the present Yugoslav Government in exile were believed ready to acknowledge Tito's command of all forces fighting Hitler if Peter remains titular monarch of a government not too closely allied with Russia in political theory.

Air Raid Fails

CHATHAM, Feb. 24 (CP).—Chatham's first "air raid" of the war fizzled yesterday when the lone, unsupported attackers apparent objective—a small child dressed in red—was removed. First mistaken by onlookers for an aircraft, a great bird with wingspread of several feet swooped low over Patterson Avenue, lifted, circled and flew away after the child was hurriedly taken indoors.

Ack-Ack Crews Use Rockets

Use Of These a Secret For Past 2 Years

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (CP). — Heavy rockets which leave the ground with a crashing roar and burst in brilliant explosive patterns form a spectacular part of London's defences which have been putting up one of the heaviest barrages of the war during recent German raids.

The bursts can be identified readily on clear nights by the close grouping of multiple colors and the heavy smoke. The rockets have been in use about two years and long since passed through the experimental stage, but correspondents only now are permitted to disclose their use.

They still are not allowed to describe the projectors or the rockets themselves, their range or how they are fired.

F.D.R. Veto On Tax Bill Voted Down

Senator Barkley Starts Clamor That Brings Upset

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—In strident rebellion against President Roosevelt's tax views, the House of Representatives today voted 299 to 95 to pass the $2,300,000,000 new revenue bill over his veto. Ninety-nine Democrats and 1 minor party member joined 199 Republicans voting for override.

The Senate is expected to duplicate the House action tomorrow, putting the tax bill on the statute books, "the president's objections notwithstanding."

A rebellion in Democratic ranks that reeled political Washington back on its heels preceded the House action. Involved were Senate Democratic Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky, and Chairman Robert Doughton (Deb.-N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, both of whom called for action over-riding the president.

An unanimous Democratic vote returned Barkley today to the Senate leadership he resigned a sensational rebuff to the president's veto, and the veteran Kentuckian announced he would continue in the important party post.

Re-elect Barkley

Stamping, in effect, their approval on Barkley's bitter denunciation of Mr. Roosevelt's tax message, Democratic senators accepted his resignation and enthusiastically re-elected him leader—a leader greatly enhanced in Congressional, if not also party, prestige.

The president, to whom Barkley directed his stinging rebuke in an extraordinary speech yesterday climaxed by his resignation, had joined in asking Barkley to continue, in a telegram saying "your differing with me does not affect my confidence in your leadership nor in any degree lessen my respect and affectino for you personally."

After the party conference, Barkley too expressed to reporters his "deepest personal affection" for Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt's veto message described the tax bill as a measure for the relief of "the greedy."

Today's House action was one of the worst legislative setbacks the president has suffered since he took office 11 years ago.

Some anti-fourth-terms and lukewarm administration followers believed Barkley's resignation and expected vote of confidence to remain as senate majority leader would slow up or actually "jeopardize" the President's renomination.

The answer, in some quarters, was that Barkley himself was a possible candidate behind whom various anti-Roosevelt factions of the party could rally.

With Allied capitals around the world looking on, a domestic drama of far-reaching implications rose to crescendo pitch as Democrats took

Huns Abandon Port Of Dno Big Baltic Base

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP). — The Berlin radio today announced the Nazi evacuation of Dno, last important base east of the Baltic gateway city of Pskov.

A Moscow communique had announced previously that German and Red Army troops were engaged in bitter, hand-to-hand street battles for the German-fortified city.

Other Soviet forces were 44 miles northeast of Pskov and 25 miles northwest of that communication centre and gateway to the Baltics.

Rogachev, White Russian Dnieper town above Gomel, also has been evacuated by Nazi forces falling back before the Red Army, the Berlin radio said.

Moscow has remained silent recently on the White Russian offensive, which the Germans announced yesterday had broken the Nazis' lines northeast of Rogachev, resulting in heavy fighting.

Announcing the capture of 180 localities and killing of 2,500 in this northern fighting, Moscow also told of 6,000 Nazis killed and considerabe booty captured near Krivoi Rog, Ukraine ore centre taken by the Russians Tuesday. Since then Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's conquering troops captured several communities west and northwest of the Dnieper Bend town.

The force fighting in the streets of Dno reached there in a 10-mile advance in 24 hours after a six-day drive that pushed it forward 50 miles. One formation reached the city after clearing a portion of the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway northeast of Dno and other units to the

Poland Refuses Allied Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — The Polish Government in London is understood to have rejected a proposal made several days ago by Great Britain and the United States for settlement of Russo-Polish difficulties, but it was believed London and Washington will persist in efforts for a solution.

While terms of the proposal were not made known here, they were believed to provide in general for acceptance by Poland of Russian possession of the Eastern areas of pre-war Poland and for compensating acquisition of German territories to the north and east, such as East Prussia.

LISBON, Feb. 24—(AP)—Hundreds of aricraft have been reported flying southward in the last few days, apparently to bases in the Mediterranean. This brief dispatch from neutral Portugal suggests that powerful reinforcements are being added to the Allied Mediterranean air command to increase the blows against Hitler's Europe from the south.

CCF To Support Legislation If Progressive

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, said today so far as his party is concerned defeat of a government measure in the Ontario Legislature would not constitute want of confidence in the Progressive Conservative Administration unless the C.C.F. so defined it before the division.

Making his maiden speech in the legislature in the Throne Speech debate, the Opposition Leader withheld judgment on legislation forecast in the Speech from the Throne until "we see the legislation itself." But he promised that "to the extent forthcoming legislation does represent progress and reform, we shall support it, we shall welcome it."

He warned Premier Drew that his 37-member government was in the minority in the 90-seat House and "while we do not ask the government to accept direction or dictation from any group; we do suggest it would be common-sense democracy to pay some attention to the views of the Opposition and to pay more respect to the legislative processes and importance of the House.

The C.C.F. position on divisions in the Legislature he defined in these words:—

"I am authorized to state on behalf of all C.C.F. members, that if, on any division in this House this session, the government fails to receive a majority, that result will not, so far as we are concerned, constitute a vote of no confidence in the administration, unless it is stated in our behalf prior to such division, that so far as we are concerned, the question is one of confidence or no confidence.

"And I hereby invite the prime minister, when he speaks in this debate, as I trust he will, to state on behalf of his government what circumstances would be interpreted by him as giving rise to a question of confidence or no confidence."

Warns Against Tricks

But if the premier "refuses or neglects to make such a statement, if he insists on reserving to himself the right to interpret the conduct of this House after the event rather than before....then we shall be obliged to conclude that he is not so much interested in stable government in this province as he is in pulling an electoral rabbit out of the hat."

Burma Action Is Making Progress

NEW DELHI, Feb, 24 —(CP) — Allied troops mopping up Japanese forces in the Ngakyelauk Pass in Burma have all but cleared the Pass of the enemy, after repulsing one attack at the Eastern exit yesterday, a communique said to-day.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command announced that an important hill point near Kyauktaw in the Kaladan valley was captured and that destruction of a Japanese raiding party is proceeding north of the Ngakyedauk Pass sector in the Mayu range.

U. S. fighter-bombers supported ground troops in the Hukawng valley area February 22, heavily raiding military installations, troop concentrations and communication lines. R.A.F. medium and heavy bombers bombed targets in South Burma, including the big enemy base at Akyab, and set off explosions seen 50 miles away in an assault on Prome.

Allies Blast German Plants Making Ball Bearings; Demolish Plane Factories

London Fire-Fighters Have Busy Time Rescuing Bomb Victims After Daring Raid Against Capital

LONDON, Feb. 24—(AP).—American heavy bombers battered aircraft factories at Gotha and the ball-bearing works at Schweinfurt today in their fifth consecutive day of smashing at the very roots of German air power, deep in the Reich.

The four-engined craft renewed the war's greatest aerial offensive as swarms of British Typhoons and American Marauders were striking across the Channel.

Gotha is in central Germany, 150 miles southwest of Berlin. Schweinfurt, where the American air forces suffered loss of 60 heavy bombers last October 14, is 220 miles southwest of Berlin.

Swarms of fighters—R.A.F., Dominions, American and others—supported the attack, described in a communique as part of the "record-breaking air offensive against the German fighter aircraft industry and related plants."

Official statements here and from Allied headquarters, Naples, said a total of 343 German 'planes had been shot down in the last four days by American airmen in attacks on Germany.

Many Victims Trapped

LONDON, Feb. 24 —(CP)—Smoke from fires set by German night raiders last night hung over London to-day as Nazi reconnaissance planes flew boldly over the city and touched off the first genuine day alert the capital has experienced in many months. Appearance of the German scouts, apparently checking damage done in the fourth sharp raid on London in six night, underscored an R.A.F. commentator's warning that the German air force has shifted strong bomber formations to France and presumably is ready to continue the current series of streamlined attacks.

Anti-aircraft guns roared into action as two enemy planes were spotted streaking over the capital at high altitude shortly after the breakfast hour. It was the first real daylight alert since last July 9, although a friendly plane set off a false alarm last January 2.

Thousands of incendiaries and many high explosive bombs showered down for an hour before midnight, causing dozens of deaths and widespread damage. At least four of the raiders, most of which attacked from a great height, were reported downed.

One of the worst incidents of the German raid last night was a direct hit on a large block of working-class flats. Many people were buried in the wreckage, and this morning rescue squads were still digging them out—the majority alive—from beneath burning debris.

Antiques and art treasures were lost in another district.

All the stained glass windows of a chapel near an historic structure were smashed and its clock blown to bits. The exterior was gouged but there was only slight damage to the richly-ornamented interior.

Another bomb missed another of London's most famous buildings and smashed a six-storey apartment house next door.

Berlin is boasting that a non-stop offensive has been launched against London, according to a dispatch to the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet.

The Budapest radio, commenting on the fact that the attacks on Britain were being made at a high altitude, said stratosphere bombers were being used and the Germans had developed a new high explosive bomb filled with a substance called 'K' and nicknamed 'Fat Emma.'

While British authorities said there was no reason to believe the Germans were using any new or unusual type of plane, an R. A. F. commentator said the Nazis were employing more powerful bombs

Nazis Regroup To Launch 3rd Anzio Push

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press War Correspondent.

NAPLES, Feb. 24 — (AP). — Fighting flared again yesterday on the Allied 5th Army's Anzio front, with artillery gunners breaking up German groups preparing to attack west of Cisterna and Allied troops repulsing Nazi attempts to infiltrate their lines south-west of Carroceto, Allied Headquarters announced to-day.

While four-engined bombers were ranging into Austria and attacking an important German aircraft assembly plant at Steyr, the tactical air force swung over the coast of Italy and Yugoslavia, showering bombs on enemy shipping from which the enemy has been feeding supplies into the Italian battle areas.

The air command announced six heavy bombers were loss in the Steyr attack. The bomber crews shot down 32 enemy fighters and escorting fighters accounted for another.

Patrol actions and sharp exchanges of artilleryefire continued on the main 5th Army front in the Cassino area. Allied shells apparently hit German munitions or gasoline dumps in the mountains northwest of Cassino. Explosions were observed in three places.

No Ground Changes.

Although fighting took place at some points on the beachhead and enemy movements suggested Nazi Field Marshal Kesselring was regrouping his forces for a third try at driving the Allies into the sea, the German High Command did not commit any sizeable forces to action yesterday and no ground changed hands.

German planes continued to bomb and strafe beachhead troops until rain late in the day kept them on the ground. Heavy cannonading

Japanese Told of Great Disaster at Truk

Tojo Admits 18 Ships Sent To Bottom By Allied Bombs

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This column has found nothing good to say about Gen. Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic premier, but we must give him grudging credit for the great horse-sense he has displayed in taking his people into confidence at once in the matter of Nippon's disaster at Truk.

Naturally Tojo didn't tell the exact truth; he isn't capable of it. However, he wasn't so far off the beam, and he served the people hot mustard.

He told them Japan had suffered "losses greater than the enemy's", and bluntly announced loss of 18 ships. (An Allied communique reported 19.) He said "the war situation is truly grave," events "by no means permit optimism," and "the empire is literally standing at the crossroads of a rise or fall."

Of course, Japan's head gangster is wholly selfish in thus exposing the facts. But he needs the support of all Japan, for he knows that armies and navies are helpless unless the public is back of them. Winning wars means complete partnership.

There are times when it's necessary for authorities to suppress news temporarily as a matter of security. However, there have been numerous instances when officials have delayed issuing news for long periods and later found it impossible to justify the action.

There's a disposition in some official quarters—and this is true on both sides of the Atlantic—to view their publics as lacking understanding.

There's a widespread feeling that the Allied publics have served their apprenticeship as junior partners and are due for full partnership. This question is of special importance now as we draw near to the crucial operation of the European war—the invasion of France—when an all-out effort in the home front is vital.

Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and other great figures have been emphasizing the magnitude and its dangers. In a general way the public understands the position, but many people are telling me that they lack the "feel" of the thing, and most of them say they think they've been "shielded" too much from distressing news. They ask for full partnership.

8th Army Troops Have Little Activity

WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Feb 24 — (CP Cable). — Normal patrol activity continued yesterday on the Canadian Corps section of the British 8th Army front, with German forces who lost three prisoners in two nights being more wary than usual.

Apart from brief exchanges of machine-gun fire in No Man's Land, no incidents were reported by any patrols. The weather was again cold and dull, after one fine day.

Yank Planes Rain Bombs On Marianas

Newest Allied Target Just 1,300 Miles From Heart Of Tokyo

By CHARLES McMURTY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 24—(AP)—The war's first blow against the Mariana Islands, deep within Japan's defence ring, was dealt powerfully Tuesday by hundreds of planes from Allied aircraft carriers.

The bombing of the Marianas, 700 miles northwest of Truk and 1,300 miles south of Tokyo, took place the same day invasion forces completed a six-day conquest of Eniwetok Atoll, western Marshalls air base within land-based bombing range of Truk.

The Mariana and Eniwetok developments were disclosed yesterday by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Rear Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, who captained the carrier Hornet from which bombers took off for Tokyo in 1942, presumably led into the daring Mariana operation elements of the same task force used last Wednesday and Thursday against Truk, demonstrating the sustained striking power of the fleet.

Radio silence to protect his ships' movements precluded details as to whether the Mariana raiders sank any warships in the harbor at Saipa nisland. Tinian, a naval air base, also was a target Tuesday. It and Saipan are near the bottom of the Mariana ladder of islands ranging north directly toward Japan.

The attacked bases are approximately 3,800 statute miles southwest of Pearl Harbor.

Capture Complete

Capture of Eniwetok, second Atoll in the Marshalls to fall to Americans this month, was completed by a 12-hour Marine drive on Parry Island. It was invaded last Thursday after air and ship preparatory assaults.

Admiral Nimitz also reported Po-

Winthrop L. Carter, president of Canadian Nashua Paper Company, died Tuesday evening, at Brookline, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Carter was not only president of Canadian Nashua Paper Company, but also of Canadian Sealright Comany Limited, and was their directing head since their inception and establishment in Peterborough. He was also president of the Nashua Gum and Coated Paper Company of Nashua, New Hampshire.

An outstanding leader of industry in the New England States, Mr. Carter was an active and prominent citizen in his own State and city. One of those activities was his chairmanship of the State Committee of the United States war loan for Massachusetts.

In the establishing days of Canadian company, Mr. Carter used to come to Peterborough three or four times a year, but in later times confined his visits to the annual meeting. He missed the meeting last year, but was expected here next month.

Butter Ration

duction in the ration, resulting from decreased production in November, December and January, will mean a saving of 5,000,000 pounds, equivalent to one week's normal ration allowance.

Production during November, December and January was about 5,400,000 pounds below that of the correspondent period a year ago. The board said an important factor in the decline was the 1943-44 winter subsidy payments which diverted milk from butter production to cheese production.

Butter quotas to hotels, restaurants and other eating places will be reduced along with the household ration.

First Hatches Of Baby Chicks Seen On Market

"The sound of baby chicks is a harbinger of spring," writes the Grenville agricultural representative in the department's weekly report. "First hatches are being taken off at the local market.

That is one new note in the agricultural survey of Ontario as winter wanes. Prices of weanling pigs are higher all over the province, egg production is in increased volume, and crates are scarce in some places.

"There is a tremendous increase in demand for young pigs and sows for breeding' in Bruce, and most of the seed barley has vanished form the local market. Dufferin farmers who have been feeding beef cattle are not optemistic about returns they may expect from winter feeding.

No Farm Labor

Huron hatcheries report excellent sales; farm labor is "practically non-existent" more than 35,000 bushels of oats and barley have been listed by seed survey. Orders for more than 50,000 trees for windbreak and woodlot plantings were recently received at Farm Machinery schools in the county.

Waterloo says barley is scarce, and, "there are more than 30 vacancies for farm help on dairy farms.'

The recent snow seems to have been fairly general and to have added timely protection to the fall plantings.

Middlesex says beef cattle producers are concerned over the lack of demand for finished cattle. Prices are lower than a month ago.

Here are some Oxford auction prices— 15 cows averaged $306; heifers not a year old brought up to $177.50; and ont team of horses brought $425.

Interest in seed grain is developing rapidly. Some of the counties report a sufficient local supply, but as in Lennox-Addington "several men who had grain to sell report that they are sold out".

CCF To Support

The premier, continued Mr. Jolliffe, "has it in his power to put an end to the rumors which have circulated ever since last summer that his government plans a snap election at the earliest opportunity." The C.C.F. was prepared to fight elections whenever they were called but "this is no time for fast plays and smart political manoeuvres and the public knows it."

Have Job To Do.

The C.C.F. never agreed to the view that the Provincial legislature "could be almost forgotten" during the war. While the conduct of the war rested with the Federal Government and while lasting solution for post-war pr[illegible] be reached on a national scale, "constructive Provincial measures" could help in winning the war. "And we do not believe that any real solution ill be found for post-war problems unless this Province adopts, and actually implements, the same bold and progressive policies as are required at Ottawa."

Some of the measures included in Premier Drew's 22-point election program last year and on which legislation was forecast in the speech from the throne "were in the C.C.F. election platform of 1937", and "it is only natural that we should support progressive legislation .... because we have been advocating such measures since the inception of our movement."

However, said Mr. Jolliffe, legislative reform would not "put an end to the fundamental evils in our society."

Previous reforms were "utterly inadequate" to meet the crisis of the depression and he described as a "pipe-dream any thought that "the next crisis can be met by another instalment of social legislation."

Demands Action.

Unless the Government moved to implement its 22-point election program "certain consequences will inevitably follow." Some could have been implemented by executive action without waiting until the Legislature met.

"It is not my intention to dwell at any length upon the Government's election promises, but the Government must very clearly understand that if matters of this kind continue to drift for month after month, the people of Ontario will hear about it, and hear about it every day until they next go to the polls."

Widespread political regimentation itself is still indulging in a particularly obnoxious form of regimentation which is undemocratic from first to last" by failing to abolish patronage. He quoted from a London Free Press report of a speech in London by Dr. Hobbs Taylor (P.C., Huron), which said: "We must have a certain change of jobs in repayment of workers for their long hours of work....In Huron we asked for nine and we already had eight. The ninth was something new and that hasn't been decided yet."

The Government, he said, should repudiate Dr. Taylor's statement.

"I started taking Syntona and right from the first my food began to digest better. The aches and pains went away and now it is wonderful how different I feel. 6-POUNDER ANTI-TANK GUN

Indicative of the versatility of the infantry, and the manner in which they adapt weapons from almost every branch of the service to their own advantage, is their use of the deadly, six-pounder anti-tank gun. Mobile to the extreme, the weapon is generally towed behind a light truck. In difficult terrain, it is light enough to be man-handled into position by its five-man crew. With a long, effective range, the gun can be set up in a matter of seconds, and pours its deadly armour-piercing shells into the vitals of the enemy's lumbering mobile units. The projectile, weighing but six pounds, punches a small round hole in the enemy armour and richochets inside with a devastating effect. If gas supplies are hit, the tank will go up in flames. The number of rounds that can be fired by a trained gun crew in a minute reaches almost rapid-fire speed.

Two Members Leave Parks Commission

COBOURG, Feb. 24 — (ENS). — Eldon McFadyen and J. S. Walden have resigned from Cobourg Parks Commission. Both stated that they had intimated verbally last year that they didn't want to be on the Commission this year but had been appointed by the council anyway. Last year's Parks Commission had drawn up the municipal garbage collection system and it had functioned very satisfactorily until the Town Council this year appointed Mr. Lyle Hie and turned down Harry Jenkins, who collected the garbage in 1943. Last week Mr. Hie's services were terminated and Mr. Jenkins was rehired. It is also understood that the council's action in not re-appointin, Mr. J. H. Lafay, secretary of the Parks Commission, to the 1944 Commission, had incurred the resentment of some of the members.

C.C.F. Leader All Set For Maiden Speech

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (CP)—Today is "leaders' day" in the Ontario Legislature and the newly-convened House will hear C.C.F. Opposition Leader E. B. Jolliffe make his first full-dress speech and one which may well set the political tone in the closely-divided chamber.

Mr. Jolliffe, elected in York South at the provincial election last August along with 33 other C.C.F. members, will be speaking in the throne speech debate. His address is expected to be lengthy, perhaps taking up most of the afternoon, but there is a possibility Premier Drew may also be heard making a reply for his Progressive Conservative minority government.

The opposition leader indicated his intention of speaking by adjourning the speech debate yesterday. His motion came after Dr. Hobbs Taylor (PC-Huron) had been heard moving the address in reply to the throne speech and J. L. McDonald (PC-Stormont) had been heard as seconder.

In seconding the address in reply to the speech yesterday, Mr. McDonald, farmer native of the Cornwall district, brought loud applause from the C.C.F. benches with a declaration that Canada is "still in the economics of scarcity of distribution."

Wants New System

He called for a new municipal taxation system, said the state owes everyone opportunities for a full and happy life and warned that democracy might not survive if there were a return to the hard day of 1929-30 when farmers were getting 52 cents per 100 pounds for milk and five cents per pound for hogs.

The Stormont member's greatest applause followed his remarks that peacetime "overproduction" was in reality "underconsumption."

He said the system of distribution in charge "of the so-called economic experts has lagged." Economic conditions in Germany could be held partly responsible for Hitler's rise to power there and if Canada could solve the problem of distribution, then the standard of living could be set through production.

Dr. Taylor warned that this war could be lost through a belief that it would soon be over. He said Canada "was in for a shock" when the able-bodied soldiers start pouring out and the wounded start pouring in.

Dealing extensively with health the Huron doctor-member declared publication of the percentages of armed services rejections of medical unfits had shown "just how bad the national health had been allowed to drift...."

He believed however that no Canadian health scheme would be good enough unless it served all of the people and had medical services of the highest plane.

Right after adjournment of yesterday's session the 16 Liberals under former Premier Harry C. Nixon (L-Brant), held a caucus and elected J. Frank Kelly (L.-Muskoka-Ontario) as party whip in the House. The caucus also decided to leave in the hands of the Haldimand-Norfolk Liberal Association the question of whether to contest March 20 by-election in that riding. The by-election was made necessary through the death of Progressive Conservative member-elect W. W. Walsh. The C.C.F. and Progressive Conservatives have already indicated their intention of contesting the riding.

Franceschini Case To Be Re-opened

TORONTO, Feb. 24 —(CP) — William Dennison (C.C.F. Toronto St. David) gave notice of motion to-day he will question the Provincial Government regarding James Franceschini, Italian contractor who was interned shortly after the outbreak of war and was later released.

Mr. Dennison will ask tomorrow if Franceschini or the Dufferin Construction Company is now the owner of the Royal Cecil Hotel in Toronto. The C. C. F. member wants to know on what date Franceschini first secured a hotel licnece; on what date beer dicence was granted to the hotel's owner and if the premises operated under the control of the custodian of enemy alien property and if so for what period.

Mr. Dennison will also ask if the Government has received a request from any municipality or municipal representatives for the setting up of a Provincial Cooperative Fire Insurance Fund which would carry insurance on both Provincial and Municipal buildings on a mutual, low-cost basis. He also asks the total amount of fire insurance premiums paid each year on all Government property in Toronto, the amount of fire losses recovered each year during the past 40 years and what ratio losses recovered bear to premiums paid.

The C.C.F. member also wants to know who were appointed members of the Provincial Fuel Committee in 1943 and what salaries or other remuneration has been paid to each member to date. Mr. Dennison asks further if the committee has made any recommendation regarding lignite or peat fuel development or use.

Finns' Position Most Critical

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP).—Finland has apparently entered its most critical period of the war with the departure from Stockholm yesterday of Dr. Juno K. Paasikivi, peace envoy.

The immediate issue confronting the Helsinki government, assuming peace terms have been arranged with Russia, is whether it can save the country from the fate of Italy —prevent it becoming a battleground for German and Allied armies.

On the other hand, if peace negotiations at Stockholm failed, the issue is how long Finland can stave off Red army attacks expected to follow up the recent Helsinki air raids.

If the negotiations at Stockholm were conclusive, it is believed here the next few days should see the tale told—either in Finnish reports to rid the country of Germans or in new Russian blows at Finland.

A break in Germany's northern flank caused by withdrawal of Finland which would be similar to the break in the south caused by withdrawal of Italy.

Estimates of German strength presently in Finland vary greatly, but it seems certain they could make a stand against any Finnish defection—at least one that would do enormous damage to Finland — if they wanted to. But they would stand to lose their total force involved. The Nazis in Finland are jeopardized by progressive weakening of supply lines to Germany.

Outlaws Oust Mill Team From Play-offs

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 24 (ENS)—Defeat of the Mill team, which for the past two weeks has headed the town league, was an unexpected feature of a double header game here Wednesday night. They lost by a 4 to 2 score to the Outlaws and were automatically eliminated from the play-offs which begin on Monday, as last night's exhibition was of the sudden death variety.

The Hydro vs. Clerks game which opened the evening resulted in a 3 to 3 deadlock, and being pressed for time there was no extra period to give a chance to break the tie. As it stands now the Outlaws will meet the winner of the Hydro-Clerks game in the best of three series slated to begin on February 28.

For both games last night the ice was heavy but the Hydro-Clerks got any advantage there was from playing first. The teams were fairly well balanced, yet the Clerks had the edge on the play especially towards the end of the game. M. Maxwell, who was on loan from the Mill, gave a good account of himself in goal and saved the day for the Hydro on several occasions as Poulton, Nesbitt and Burgiss came in with some hot ones.

Clerks Score First

The Clerks opened the scoring in the first as D. Burgiss tallied while in the second period Bill Nesbitt got the equallizer for Hydro. E. Archer and E. Turley each counted once during the same period while L. Nesbitt and A. Shillinglaw evened the score. Neither side registered in the 3rd though Hendy went through to aim a couple of hot ones that narrowly missed the mark.

The teams were:

Hydro—Goal, M. Maxwell; defense, A. Yearwood, E. Hawkins; centre, B. Pollard; wings, A. Shillinglaw, T. O'Rea; subs, B. Nesbitt, Ed. Turley, E. Archer.

Clerks—Goal, E. McComb; defense, O. Hendy, C. Poulton; centre, L. Nesbitt; wings, Burgiss, Turner; subs, Dooher, Poste.

In the Outlaws vs. Mill encounter the winners were sparked by Duffy Nicholas, who returned to the ice for his second game after an injury that kept him out for two weeks. Also on hand to give his team mates the kind of help they needed most, was net minder Gerry Martin, who was once again blocking the net after missing five games. The Outlaws went into the lead early in the second period and from then on were never seriously threatened by the Mill. Oliver, Milne, Sutton and Nicholas did the scoring for the winners while K. Messenger and R. Kemp collected for the Mill.

The teams were:

Mill—Goal, M. Maxwell; defense, E. Wilkes, Charles Cork; centre, J. O'Rourke; wings, Ross Kempt, K. Messenger; subs, Bert Nicholas, H. Bennett, Carl Pettifer, J. Wilson.

Outlaws—Goal, Gerry Martin; defense, P. Milne and B. Ostofi; centre, K. Sutton; wings, Ed. Sutton, Wes. Mechetuk; subs, Duffy Nicholas, Gord. Hay, W. Oliver, Percy Pree, D. Green, W. McKelvie.

Referee (for both games)—Russ Ayrhart; timekeeper, Earl Gummo.

Final League Standing:

	P	W	L	T	Pts
Mill	5	4	1	0	8
Clerks	5	4	1	0	8

Rural Delegates Prefer Standard Time

TORONTO, Feb. 24.— Unless it can be defintely proved by Governmental authorities that Daylight Saving wartime is furthering the war effort, the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities favors a return to standard time, according to a resolution passed last evening at the organization's annual conference here when 400 delegates represented 22 counties and 160 townships, towns and villages.

They clamed the return to standard time would not only alleviate general inconvenience in rural areas, but would result in a considerable saving of extra power now used for lighting. Copies of the resolution will be sent to Prime Minister King and Premier Drew among others, it was decided.

Premier Drew is also to be asked for legislation requesting the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to establish a uniform industrial rate throughout the Province so that rural municipalities may have the same opportunity of attracting industries, according to another resolution which was passed.

Financial Help Sought.

On the premise that many elementary and secondary school buildings are in need of remodelling or rebuilding, the association urged in another resolution that the Provincial and Dominion Governments consider incorporating in their postwar planning some program whereby both will assume at least 50 per cent. of such expenditure where the project is initiated by local authorities and approved by the Department of Education.

The Canadian Bankers' Association is to be immediately notified of the passing of a resolution urging the reduction in the current rate of interest charged by the chartered banks. It is pointed out at the meeting that experience of many years shows that the risk involved in loaning money to county municipalities is practically nil, and that many municipalities in Ontario are now planning postwar projects, where in many cases, short-term financing is preferable, to the issuing of long-term debentures, as was the case after the last war.

The Oil Controller will also be asked to grant additional gasoline allowances to members of councils of rural municipalities so that they may better look after municipal business. The Provincial Government will be petitioned to extend the powers of the Counties Reforestration Act to make it possible for municipalities to purchase land for reforestation purposes.

Ask Subsidy Extension

The association also recommended that the $1-a-cord subsidy allowed to dealers when they retail wood to the consumer be extended to the farmer who "manufacturers and distributes" his own wood to consumers. Members felt that the present fuel regulation was an "unjust discrimination" toward farmers.

Officers elected were: President, N. A. Fletcher, Hannon; vice-presidents, J. N. Corry: Atwood; Peter J. Mather, Keene; secretary-treasurer W. S. Wilmine, Stoney Creek; directors, D. A. Hill, Waterford; O. Foster, Staples; H. E. Kilman, Fenwick; J. P. Meilleur, Casselman; George McIntosh, Moose Creek; S. Nicholson, Belleville; E. Campbell, Chatham, H. L. Muir, Casselman.

Julian Sale, D.S.O. Reported Missing

TORONTO, Feb. 24— Sqdn. Ldr. Julian Sale, D.S.O. and Bar, has been reported missing after air operations for the second time within 10 months, according to word received by his stepmother, Mrs. J. S. Holmested, 89 Forest Hill Road.

One of two members of the R.C.A.F. who hold the D.S.O. and Bar, Sqdn. Ldr. Sale was reported missing last May, and two months later turned up safe in Gibraltar.

It was learned that Sqdn. Ldr. Sale had ordered his crew to bail out when his Halifax bomber was badly hit over Duisberg. He remained at the controls until he was sure that all his crew were out. As he jumped, the plane exploded.

In February, he was awarded the D.S.O. again for saving the life of a crewman in bringing a blazing bomber to a safe landing. The bomber, returning from a raid over Germany, caught fire just as it reached its base. Sale gave orders for the crew to bail out, and prepared to follow. However, one of his crew discovered his parachute was damaged, so Sale resumed his position at the controls and brought the bomber in for a landing.

He is known to skiers in the Peterborough district as he competed here several times.

Garbage Collector

COBOURG, Feb. 24 — (ENS). — Harry Jenkins, garbage collector last year, resumed collection of the garbage this week, replacing Lyle Hie. Mr. Hie had been awarded the tender at a figure of $300 lower than Mr. Jenkins, but due to many complaints Council terminated his services and gave Jenkins the contract at the figure on which he had tendered. Starting next week the old schedule of collection will be resumed.

Choir Elects Officers

COBOURG, Feb. 24—(ENS).—Mrs M. Eves was elected president at the annual meeting of Trinity United Church choir. Other officers are: Vice-President, Milton Harper: Secretary, Helen Hobart, and surer, Lilian Hoskin. Mr. Frank Parkinson has resigned as organist and he is being succeeded by Alfred Mortimer.

Colds Reduce Donors

MARMORA, Feb. 24 — (ENS) — Largely due to the prevalence of colds, only fifteen donors took the semi-monthly trip to Belleville Blood Donors Clinic on Sunday with these donations, a year's donations from the district were completed. Donors Sunday were William Lavender 6, Ervin Badour 6, Harry Pack 6, George Gazley 5, Clayton Clemenger 5, Earl Lucas 4, Gordon Jarvis 4, Douglas Stocker 3, C. R. Whittemore 3, John Fox 3, Mrs. Frank Grant 3, Roy Smith 2, W. Hamilton 2, Don Marett 2, Tom Paranuik 1.

Export Trade Or Subsidies?

The Governor of the Bank of Canada, Mr. Graham Towers, has taken the opportunity given to him by the publication of the Bank's annual report to set down his opinions about the business future of Canada, in the years after the war. As Mr. Towers sees it, Canada will have two choices: either she can keep up a high production and employment, exporting those goods which she can produce well and cheaply, or she can become self-contained, "deliberately building up high-cost industries which depend for their existence on some form of subsidy from the community at large". Mr. Towers is certain that the development of international trade would be the better plan. He says:

"I believe that this country has a greater interest than almost any other in following the first course if it is in fact open to her. Internal adjustments will be required under either alternative, but they would be less fundamental and painful under the first. Moreover, the specialized character of Canada's resources, and her relatively small internal market severely restrict the standard of living which she can achieve without the benefit of a large export and import trade."

In Mr. Towers' opinion—and he is in a position to know what he is talking about—a high-tariff policy in Canada would keep down the standard of living, and no amount of special legislation for social security would be able to raise it. In brief, a high standard of living springs from national wealth, and Canada can only increase her wealth by expanding her export and import trade.

Mr. Towers sets out the Canadian problem with great clarity. In round figures, there were 4,000,000 Canadians gainfully employed in 1939, and there were 300,000 who wanted jobs but could not get them. At the end of 1943 there were 5,100,000 Canadians gainfully employed, and of these 1,900,000 were either in the forces, or in war industry, or producing food for wartime exports. The number of men working to supply civilian wants was 3,200,000 in 1943—that is, 800,000 less than before the war. But this smaller group is able to produce more actual goods than the larger prewar force, because it works for longer hours, because we have had good crops, because industry has become more efficient under the conditions imposed by war, and because almost all these workers are actually producing, and are not busy in capital development and maintenance.

When the war is over not all of this 5,100,000 are going to want jobs. Mr. Towers thinks that there will be about 4,700,000 who will want civilian work; that is to say, about 700,000 people are going to be looking for work after the war who were not working before it. Can we give them jobs? Yes, says Mr. Towers, we can if we use the knowledge of production we have gained in the war years. Canada "will be able to produce a vastly greater volume of civilian goods and services than it has ever known before. By the same token, a vastly increased volume of consumption and capital development will be necessary if this output is going to be fully absorbed and high employment maintained. The adjustments required will clearly be of unprecedented magnitude, and bold planning on the part of labour, farm and business organizations, as well as governments, is urgently needed".

The Canadian task will be great, but it will be impossible unless the greater part of the rest of the world decides to follow the same path. If world-trade is to be re-established tariff barriers will have to be lowered, currencies stabilized within reason, and large international loans will have to be arranged. Political and economic co-operation can establish and maintain world peace, if the nations will it. The alternative is outlined thus in Mr. Towers' report:

"If sensible international arrangements cannot be worked out, Canada, like most other countries, will presumably have no choice but to adopt increasingly nationalistic economic policies. Growing economic and political friction between countries would inevitably result, and it is hard to believe that any nation would deliberately choose such a course if all its implications were clear. On the other hand, it would be foolish to expect that any given country will make and fulfil international commitments unless it sees an interest in doing so. Self-interest is indeed the only practical basis for durable international agreements. What we badly need, therefore, is a hard-headed appraisal by each country of what that self-interest really is in the long run, and what is necessary to achieve it."

Canada has made her choice, and has distinguished herself among the smaller nations by her eagerness to found a world prosperity on political and economic co-operation. If Canada took steps now to act upon lending and tariff policies which would help her to establish a large world trade she would give even stronger proof of the excellence of her intentions. She would also be seizing a great opportunity for self-improvement.

Astounding Canine Sagacity

An Ottawa alderman told his colleagues at a council meeting about an astounding example of canine sagacity to which he had been a witness. He is an employee of the power plant at Beauharnois, in Quebec, and one day he was idly staring out of the window when he saw four dogs of small size playing near an open spot in the river where the plant's digester discharges. One of the dogs fell into the water. The largest dog present immediately took command of the situation and crept as close as he dared to the hole, while a smaller dog held his tail in his mouth. The rescuer dog seized the drowning dog by the ear and hauled him out on the ice. Then all the dogs lay down on the ice, snuggling the wet dog amongst them, and kept him there till he was warm and dry. (We have it from a confidential source that one of the dogs rushed to a liquor store in search of brandy, but it had all been sold by the time he got there; this dog belongs to an old lady known to Ottawa as Old Mother Hubbard).

The Kingston Whig-Standard has this comment to make:

"The alderman's colleagues, we understand, were unkind enough to suggest that liquor rationing had not yet become sufficiently drastic, but the narrator stuck to his story. We're willing to accept it, but we think the dogs of Ottawa could learn something about foresight from those of Kingston. When the latter see a hole in the ice, they always erect a clearly-printed sign, and in extreme cases they stand guard in a ring around the hole, until someone comes along and fills it up".

We are not really surprised by these stories. We have long respected the intellect of dogs. In Dr. Poole's excellent history of this county there is record of a dog from the north country—his name was Rover—who actually got the nomination for the federal house once, so universally was he respected, and he would have run as an independent if he had not failed to qualify in the matter of property ownership. His disqualification was directly traceable to jealousy on the part of the old parties; he had a fortune in bones and two doghouses, but these were contemptuously brushed aside.

We do not lay too much stress on this. We merely mention it.

The Democratic Pig

The pigs of Canada are solidly behind the country's war effort; since 1939 they have taken their place in the front line without a grunt of protest, and it may safely be said that few of our pigs who have been drafted for overseas service will ever return; they have filled many a gap on the home front, as well, and yet no one has said a good work for them. Manifestly, we are unfair and ungrateful in our attitude toward pigs.

Dr. Johnson knew the worth of a pig. It was he who said, "Pigs are unjustly calumniated. Pig has, it seems, not been wanting to man, but man to pig. We do not allow him time for his education; we kill him at a year old". And what is worse, we do so without a kind word. We boast of our beef, we sentimentalize over our dogs, but we never speak of pigs except in derision.

Can this be because the pig is the only democrat of the animal world? Horses and cats look down on man, but we love them. Cows and dogs look up to man, and we cannot do enough for them. Only the friendly and philosophic pig accepts man as his equal, and man scorns him.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"An enticement manoeuvre by our command" is how the Japs describe the loss of the Marshalls. Come on, Tojo, entice us some more!

A Wisconsin man who fell from a three-storey window sat up on the pavement and asked for a drink. We should say that he had already had a drop too much.

The eighty thousand fans who went to the England - Scotland international soccer match recently drew a royal flush—King George, Queen Elizabeth, King Haakon of Norway, Princess Elizabeth and General Montgomery. The latter, in a black beret was, we presume, the Ace of Spades.

Canadian Scene

By DUAHCIM

(The second in a series of letters from a father to a son in the armed services)

Cedar Hill, Sunday, February 13th, 1944.

DEAR SON: Your Grandfather and I—and, of course, your dog Mike, have just a few minutes ago returned from a walk along the path through the cedars. It has been a beautiful day, bracingly cold and sparkingly bright with winter sunshine. A little snow—in very short supply this year—has fallen and compassionately clothed the land's unseemly nakedness. As we approached with the sun at our backs the white, red-roofed, stone-chimneyed house which nestles against the kind shoulder of this Cedar Hill—and is your first interest in the Canadian Scene, my son, the cedars' snow-splotched winter green was darkly beautiful. And that grand old sentinel pine that tops our hill in prideful silhouette and majesty was something to see and behold. Your Grandfather and the old pine have an affinity, respectful and proud, for each other. The old gentleman has a habit of pausing for a last view of his old friend before he enters the house and I think that in spirit these two old comrades of many, many years straighten their ancient selves in parting salutes of mutual regard.

WE are now snugly ensconced in the west room. The slanting sun is bathing the soft browns of the interior in diminishing warmth and I have lighted a fire of birch logs in the fireplace. Your Grandfather is nodding, your dog Mike between his knees, in his old chair facing, at just the right distance, the cheery blaze. Your mother, with Peter and Sara, has taken the car for the usual Sunday afternoon cruise—Peter at the wheel, of course, and how importantly! All have written their weekly letter to you, except the old gentleman, who insists that his be included in this writing. His talk today, as we walked, was largely of and about you, his first grandson.

I HAVEN'T received a letter from you since my last writing, but your mother has passed her's on to me. Thank you, my boy, for your kind mention of myself. Your Grandfather shared your mother's letter with me and gave vent to several satisfied French-Canadian 'heins' as he noted allusions to himself and his activities. He finally gained full possession of it and retired behind a smoke-screen of "Old Brier" to more thoroughly enjoy the reading.

Reading back the preceding pages I think the domestic scene has been sufficiently portrayed. That larger scene, the Canadian scene, in which you evince a greater interest, I have to relate, than many much closer to it than you, must now be given attention.

A SHORT few months ago you were a boy. Now you have become in that short time, first a soldier, then a man. And as a soldier you have learned, and are learning, the arts of war. You have learned these intricate arts sufficiently well to achieve your recent promotion. I take it you are a reasonably good soldier. We at home are pleased. You have become, too, in the process of becoming a soldier, a thinking citizen of your country, your heritage, Canada. Your last letters addressed to me could only have been written by one of a mature, or maturing, mind. You have learned, in the process of becoming a soldier, to think. I congratulate you.

But thanks to an educational system which denied you the right to knowledge of even the fundamentals of citizenship, you cannot be classed as a good citizen. Only after you have applied yourself to that end with all the assiduity that you have displayed in learning the arts of war will you have become proficient in the arts of peace and citizenship. Then you will be able to voice an intelligent opinion — and not until then. The help that I may be allowed to give you, be it little or great, it is my duty as a father and a fellow-citizen to grant, that you may become on your return from service a democratic force in a democratic country. In a truly democratic country each voter, such as you and I, is that force. And used intelligently that will to favour that which we consider of benefit and that will to defeat measures of legislation we consider opposed to our ideas of good government is the essence of the true democracy we are fighting for. Our will as citizens of Canada, that force as represented in the vote, is the government of this Canada that gave us birth and being. You are fighting the good fight as a soldier; each right-thinking citizen here at home is striving to protect and maintain our right to this self-government.

IT IS not possible in this one letter to delve deeply into details of our system of government; its inherent qualities for good, its acquired variety of faults. Later, when we are discussing a subject uppermost in thinking minds at this present writing, post-war reconstruction, we can examine all that is good and, potentially perhaps, bad. What I have been trying to do, however awkwardly, in this letter is to impress upon you that you and I, and Tom Jones, and Smith, the lawyer, are the government and have ful power to act in the good interests of our neighbours. It is not only our privilege to act, it is our sacred duty to do our part in legislating for the honoured and deserving citizens of our great land, that it may prosperously and proudly take its place in the period of post-war reconstruction that is to come. Your duty as a soldier well and victoriously done, our duty as civilians painstakingly taken care of, and we have nothing to fear in the after-war future. There are those among us here at home who habitually "view with alarm." I am not one of them; I am Canadian and unafraid.

And so, my son, ends this first lesson. I hope it may fill any gaps in your previous knowledge and understanding of citizenship. I might add that a good citizen is aware of his rights as such and is jealous of his voting power. He acquaints himself fully with any question, political or economic, and studies it carefully before exercising his privilege of voicing an opinion.

IT was my intention, in this writing, to attempt a picture of the current political and economic situation here at home. A fear that I make my letter over long restrains me. It is very important, however, in that it concerns most emphatically our future way of life. The true democratic way of life that is so satisfying to the real Canadian is being threatened by two, greatly similar, political parties that are, in some districts, gaining a considerable following among the credulous and unthinking. The leaders of these groups, by playing on the fears of the weaker of our people and promising to all and sundry manna from heaven, have become strong enough in representation to occupy seats in provincial Houses of Assembly and in the federal House of Commons. The doctrine they preach is not acceptable to the true Canadian; it is a doctrine of civic defeatism. Curiously enough, they, too, lay claim to democracy. Strongly pacifistic at the outset of the war, one of them, at least, is now for prosecuting it to the bitter, bitter end—or as long as the nation that gave birth to their political creed sees fit. I realize the above are bitter words; I feel strongly on the subject. I do not intend to pursue the matter further in this except to write that it is the duty of every citizen to combat these threats of un-Canadian people to wholly change our way of living. I am referring, of course, to the two socialistic parties. You know of them in the cursory way of youth as they have been active for quite a numb[illegible] years. Of late one of the leopards is showing [illegible]ots.

THE evening is far spent, my boy, and I must soon say goodnight. We are both tired, no doubt. The political ground covered in this writing is not extensive, I discover on reading back, but I think a step in the direction you require. Now that the duties and requirements of citizenship have been emphasized sufficiently we can proceed apace with further study. In planning our next letter I shall include a summarization of all the parties in the political field, with their aims and objects and their published plans for post-war reconstruction. From that point we can move on to criticism of their policies and plans. Particularly as these policies and plans affect the returning soldiers.

May the soldier's God watch over you, my son.

Goodnight.

WHO GOES THERE? —By Thomas

A Master Craftsman

(BRUCE HUTCHISON in the KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

YOUSUF KARSH came to Canada from Armenia, one of the most persecuted nations in the world. Today he is established as the greatest portrait photographer of our time. Once again, as through all the history of the British nations, the oppressed and exiled of other lands have brought us new talents, new crafts and new wealth. Surely there is something to be said for a civilization like ours in which an Armenian boy can become the friend of kings and statesmen because his genius is recognized.

Karsh is not only a master craftsman with light and shadow and the mysterious chemistry of the camera. Many photographers understand the tricks of the trade. The thing that has made Karsh known all over the world is an understanding of human nature. Every face to him is an individual personality and somehow he contrives to take the mask off it, to catch it at the moment when all the barriers are down, and the character behind it shines out, just for the fraction of an instant.

This is not easy, either for Karsh or for the model. It usually takes an hour anyway, and at the end of it Karsh may be tired but the model is exhausted; unless, of course, he is like Mr. Churchill, who told Karsh he would give him two minutes in a room in the House of Commons and then, unconsciously, yielded to Karsh's camera the greatest picture ever taken of him, the picture by which he will be known to the ages.

With the ordinary person, Karsh takes his time. You wonder, indeed, whether he is ever going to take your picture at all. He sits you down and you talk, about everything. Karsh seems to have all the time in the world and photography is the last thing in his mind.

But all the time he is sizing you up, studying not your face, which is incidental, but your mind. Even when he focuses the camera he makes no move to push the little rubber bulb which controls it. He folds his arms and keeps the bulb hidden under one elbow and presses it when you're not looking.

This, apparently, is the real trick — to know when to take the picture, the infinitely small moment of time when the face has removed its disguide and revealed what lies behind it.

The pictures which Karsh has lately taken of the King, of British statesmen and of that mischievous old gnome, Mr. Shaw, shows that he is one of the greatest students of human nature now living. Yet to look at Karsh you would never suspect it. He is a little, frail man, with a massive bald head, clustered around with black curls, and of a nature so modest, so gentle, that you imagine he has no understanding of the world. Besides, he is very young, despite his looks, and apparently no match for the tough, worldly men he has to unmask. But he always unmasks them because he is himself a very great man who has chosen to follow photography rather than business or politics.

Mrs. Karsh likewise is a remarkable character —a French lady who bubbles with good spirits beside her soft-voiced husband and manages the business of the firm. In private life the Karshes—like all people worth a moment's time —are quite mad. As a result, all the better madmen of Ottawa gather around them, and an evening in this group acts on you like a bottle of champagne.

Not the least of such an occasion is Mrs. Karsh's French cooking, her astounding stews, flavoured with the herbs which she grows herself. This culinary magic is even applied to the birds of the countryside, where the Karsh house sits alone. Mrs. Karsh spends a great part of her time feeding the birds on her special mixtures of suet and peanuts and what not, and the rest of it chasing off the squirrels who invade the birds' feeding pen.

To this end she has invented a Heath Robinson device which, when a cord from the house is pulled, jerks a gadget and waves a flag and is supposed to terrify the squirrels. Of course they pay no attention to it. This is very annoying to Mrs. Karsh, and Yousuf smiles wistfully. Human nature is a continual carnival for him and better than any contemporary he is able to record it.

A Great River Was Their Road

ALONG the shores of the St. Lawrence River below Quebec the countryside is divided into long narrow strips of cultivated fields; pasture land and hay fields, green strips of wheat and oats, fields of potatoes or cabbages, fruit trees growing in neat rows. Each field is divided from the next by weatherbeaten rail fences. Back of the cultivated land rise wooded hills and behind them the deep blue line of the Laurentian Mountains.

Near the river are the villages, gay little houses strung along both sides of the road. The houses are painted yellow or pink, or white with trimmings of red or blue around doors and windows. Some of them have steep roofs with wide curved eaves. In the hip roofs of other houses small dormer windows look out like alert eyes. On the highest point of land stands the village church of gray stone, with steep roof and slim tapering spire, shining silvery in the sunlight.

So they are strung along the broad and powerful river, the little villages of cozy houses, the narrow fields and silvery church spires.

It was a long time ago — far back in the seventeenth century—when French peasants first began to build their little houses of log or stone close to the river. They came then to New France, a colony of the French kingdom in the vast, lonely wilderness along the St. Lawrence, where dark forests of spruce and pine and birch came close to the shores.

Huge grants of land were given to important gentlemen called seigneurs, who in turn allotted strips of their territory to the settlers, the habitants. Each farmer built close to the river because that was the only road, and the houses were placed near one another for safety and companionship. Their land ran back from the river in narrow strips.

They were hardy, courageous folk, those French habitants, who cleared the forest from their land to plant wheat and corn. The grain was taken to the seigneur's mill to be ground, and the women baked the bread in outdoor clay ovens, just as many habitant farm women do to this day. The women spun wool from their sheep and wove it into homespun cloth for the family clothes....

In spite of their hardships and the lonely life in the wilderness, the French habitants kept their gaiety, good humor and sociable spirit. They liked to gather in one another's houses to talk and dance, and to sing the lilting folksongs they had brought from France.

In the centuries since the habitants came to New France, farms and villages have spread over the fertile countryside until most of the land, up to the woodlands, is cultivated. Although roads pass through the villages and the railroad reaches some of them, they are not unlike those of the past. The houses stand in neighbourly closeness along the road with narrow strips of field behind them. People are used to automobiles passing through the villages. Sons and daughters bring back news of city life from Quebec or other towns, but many of the old ways in the villages are unchanged.—From "Young Canada," by Anne M. Peck. (New York: McBride.)

A Bible Message

God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds; who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high; being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they. For unto which of the angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father and he shall be to me a Son?....

But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom. Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows. (Heb. 1: 1-5, 8, 9.)

No Slander on Wives

Injustice has surely been done F. D. Shaw, member for Red Deer, as a result of publicity given to certain remarks made in the House of Commons on the subject of soldiers' wives. The impression seems to have got around that Mr. Shaw slandered soldiers' wives.

The Red Deer member was discussing the problem of dependents' allowances and said:

"The minister (Mr. Ralston) indicated that where the wife at home has probably not conducted herself as it is believed she should have, inquiries are made in the community. I do not know just what that implies, but I do know that in many instances it is virtually impossible for a soldier's wife to appear at a dance without having some of the community talking about it for a week afterwards. I am very much afraid that if you go into a community and try to obtain an impression from some of the people there how a soldier's wife is conducting herself, you may in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred not get a very favorable impression."

This caused a flurry, one member saying, "I do not agree with that at all, ... a slander on the wives of the soldiers," and another that it was "a slander on the whole community."

Mr. Shaw replied that he was not impressed because his remarks were being improperly interpreted. And that seems to be the case. He was defending, not slandering, the good name of soldiers' wives, and suggesting that if the method of finding out about the conduct of soldiers' wives was to make inquiries in the community, the verdict would be mostly unfavorable. Mr. Shaw knows what gossip can accomplish and was properly suggesting it is not a reliable guide. —Montreal Gazette.

A "Prodigious" Feat

Farmers will still have serious obstacles to overcome. However, they have proved that they are not people who are easily discouraged. In this regard it is interesting to note that agricultural production has increased prodigiously since the commencement of the war in spite of employment in war industries and enrolments which have decimated the ranks of the agricultural class. As Charles St. Pierre, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, has emphasized "the money revenue coming from the sale of farm products in Canada, which was 710 million dollars in 1939 increased in 1942 to 1,803 million dollars, or 50 per cent." This is a fact without precedent, capable of being repeated this year if the weather is favorable.—Montreal La Presse.

Taxes in Thailand

The Tokyo radio says that the parliament of Thailand has adjourned. Thailand, you'll remember, used to be Siam, but the only Siamese left are cats and twins.

Thailand may be a come-lately in parliamentary government, but the politicians in Bangkok do as the politicians are doing everywhere else. The Thailander solons adjourned after "approval of the greatest national budget in the history of the country, 339,000,000 bahts."

The baht is a new one to us, but we guess that the taxpayer provides it. When Siam's reformed pirate dynasty ran an absolute monarchy in Bangkok, the country was called the "Land of the White Elephant." We'll wager that the boys who have to dig up the bahts think it still is.—Chicago Daily News.

Canada's Losses Total 25,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 (CP)— Total casualties in the R.C.A.F. since the outbreak of war now exceed 11,000, navy casualties are more than 1,100, and merchant navy casualties are more than 1,200, official spokesmen for the two services and the Transport Department said today.

Official army figures were not available, Defense Headquarters said. An unofficial compilation set total army casualties at about 11,700, making a total of 25,000.

(Prime Minister Churchill told the British Commons yesterday that since January 1, 1943, 7,677 officers and men of the Royal Navy and about 4,200 merchant navy officers and men have lost their lives, with the total naval personnel lost since the start of the war at 41,000. Losses among men from the British Isles in the R.A.F. totalled 38,300 pilots and air crews killed and 10,400 missing).

Here is an unofficial breakdown of approximate Canadian figures:

Army—Killed, 2,765; missing, 1,114; prisoners, 3,338; wounded, 4,490.

Navy—Killed, 1,084; missing, five; prisoners, nine; wounded, 159.

R.C.A.F.—Killed, 7,876; missing, 2,005; prisoners 1,117.

Merchant navy — Killed and missing while serving in Canadian ships, 660; killed and missing while serving in ships of other United Nations, approximately 600.

R.C.A.F. Instructor Buried At Lindsay

LINDSAY, Feb. 24—(ENS)—With military honors the funeral was largely attended here of FO. W. Bruce Frederick, son of Mrs. Frederick and the late Rev. A. B. Frederick of Lindsay. The young R.C.A.F. officer lost his life on Saturday in a plane crash at Little Lake, near Barrie.

He was well known in Lindsay and district and as a student of the Collegiate Institute he took a major role in athletics. He attended McGill University previous to his enlistment in 1941 and received his wings at Moncton in July, 1942. For the past several months he served as instructor at Camp Borden and it was on a routine training flight that the disaster occurred which cost the life of himself and his fellow officer, FS. John Burns of Toronto.

FO. Frederick is survived by his young wife, the former Annette Beall of Lindsay and baby daughter, Lynda, as well as his mother and two brothers, Gordon and Eugene, both of the R.C.A.F.

Government Aids Fluorspar Output

OTTAWA, Feb. 24—(CP)— The Government has advanced $113,783 to assist in production of fluorspar in Hastings county, Ont., it was reported in a returned tabled yesterday in the Commons for G. S. White (PC, Hastings-Peterborough).

Advances made were: R. T. Gilman, Madoc, $22,778; H. C. Miller, Ottawa, $34,196; Reliance Fluorspar Mining Syndicate, Ltd., Madoc, $46,961; and Trent Mining Syndicate Ltd., Trenton, $9,848.

Partial repayments have been made on all the advances, the return said.

Spain Requested To Curb Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Foreign Secretary Eden announced to-day that Britain and the United States have made a series of requests to Spain to take a more strict view of her obligations in neutrality and said, "conversations now are proceeding in Madrid."

Speaking for the Government in the House of Commons war debate, Eden said active German espionage in Tangier was one of the points raised.

"We never asked anything from Spain but strict neutrality," he said. "In the dark days of the war when we were alone, the attitude of the Spanish government in not giving our enemies passage through Spain was extremely helpful. It was especially so at the time of the North African liberation. But as time passed we felt it right to draw the attention of the Spaniards to certain practices by which they were helping the Germans."

He added that since the North African cleanup and the collapse of Italy, Spain could not longer plead alarm at German concentration on the Spanish frontier.

C.P.R. Engineer Dies Formerly Of Havelock

ERIN, Feb. 24 — Robert Hendley Walton, 62 of Howland avenue, Toronto, engineer on the C.P.R. train running between Orangeville and Elora, died on his train Tuesday afternoon. He collapsed at the throttle near Orton, and died in the baggage car before the train reached Hillsburg, where Dr. George Reynolds was waiting to attend him.

Walton complained of feeling ill early in the day, consulted a doctor at Elora, but felt well enough to board the train for the return trip to Orangeville. His body will be sent to Toronto on the Owen Sound train to-night.

He began to work for the C.P.R. at 14 as a call boy at Havelock. He was divisional master mechanic at Farnham Division, Quebec, in 1918, and later went to the Laurentian Division and the New Brunswick District. He returned to Toronto in 1935. He leaves a widow; a son, W. Walton. Montrea; a daughter, Mrs. H. W. Tuck. Sorel, Que.

OWNERS OF COMMERCIAL VEHICLES!

Apply NOW for your new Gasoline Ration Books

On and after April 1, no graded gasoline will be sold except upon the presentation of a 1944-45 ration coupon book.

To assure themselves sufficient gasoline to carry on normal business activities after March 31, operators of commercial vehicles are urged to complete at once and in detail the required application for each of their vehicles. By co-operating in this way, they will help to reduce to a minimum any delay in issuing new gasoline licenses and ration coupon books.

The operation of the 1944-45 gasoline rationing plan is basically the same as that now in effect. After investigation, an allowance will be fixed for each commercial vehicle. This allowance will be measured to the essential wartime needs of the vehicle.

On and after April 1, service station attendants will not accept gasoline ration coupons unless the license plate number of the motor vehicle for which they were issued is written in ink on each coupon. With the 1944-45 gasoline license, a new windshield sticker, bearing the letter "T", will be issued. Until this sticker is affixed, no gasoline may be purchased for the vehicle.

PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY APPLICANT FOR "COMMERCIAL" CATEGORY

Every commercial vehicle operator must obtain a separate gasoline license and ration coupon book for each commercial vehicle in operation, and must file a separate application for each such vehicle. Here is how he obtains his gasoline license and ration coupon book or books:

1 He secures his 1944 vehicle license plate and/or permit.
2 He secures an application form from his nearest Post Office.
3 He fills out this form, answering every question completely and accurately.
4 He has this form properly endorsed.
5 He sends by mail to the nearest Regional Oil Control Office his application, his motor vehicle registration permit and a $1 registration fee. (The fee of $1 must accompany each application).
6 He will receive, after a week or more during which his application is carefully investigated, his gasoline license and ration coupon book or books, and his motor vehicle registration permit will be returned.
7 He should write in ink on each coupon the license plate number of the motor vehicle.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

According to pre-season data issued by the American League, Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Phillies have the longest honor roll of players serving in the war with each having 33 in the armed forces.

The team rosters range from 39 on the list of both Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox to the 25 claimed by Detroit. Chicago will have five players who have been lured out of retirement because of the manpower shortage as well as five youngsters fresh from amateur ranks. Washington has also come up with five ex-amateurs. Altogether there are 16 rookies for the loop who boast no previous pro diamond experience.

The youngest of the American League newcomers will be Carl Scheib, with Philadelphia, who observed his 17th birthday Jan. 1, a few months younger than Emery Hresko, a high school student who is turning out with Detroit Tigers. The oldest active players to sign 1944 contracts are Joe Heving of Cleveland and Jim Turner of New York, both of whom admit 39 years.

Fritzie Zivic, one-time world welterweight boxing champion, asserted at Pittsburgh last night he would like to have one more ring appearance before joining the U.S. Navy March 13 and suggested a return bout with Ralph Zenelli of Providence. The latter secured the decision against Zivic at Boston last December.

Champion Phil Terranova of the featherweight scrappers will defend his title in a 15-round bout with Sal Bartolo of East Boston at Boston Garden March 10, the Goodwin A.C. announced at Boston yesterday.

Hershey Clips Hornets Again

By The Canadian Press

Hershey Bears have handed Pittsburgh Hornets two 6-3 defeats in as many night.

Last night the Hornets were beaten 6-3 by Bears on home ice, after they took a 6-3 thrashing at Hershey Tuesday night.

The two defeats removed Hornets from a possible spot in the post- season American Hockey league playoffs.

Lloyd Roubell, Pittsburgh centre scored his 100th goal in nine years of league play, but the 2-1 first period lead he helped get for his teammates faded in the second session before a three goal attack by Bears. Tony Hemmerling and Art Giroux scored the other two Hornet counters.

Hec Pozzo led the Bears' offensive by scoring two counters. Bulldog Drummond, Peggy O'Neill, Ross Knowles, Henry Lauzon, and Bob Daley were the other Hershey goal-getters.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Just 21 years ago tonight President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League introduced the two-referee system. Used for the balance of the 1923 season, the plan lasted until the end of the 1937-38 campaign when the system of one referee assisted by a linesman was inaugurated.

Invite Big Teams

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 24.—(CP). —Officials in charge of the hockey hall of fame here said yesterday they have invited Montreal Canadiens, N. Y. Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks of the National League to play exhibition games here in aid of the hockey shrine against Kingston Frontenac team. Frontenacs recently withdrew from the Ontario Association's Senior 'A' group, but most of the players still are stationed here.

Diehard Sports Save Team For Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 24—(AP)—An eleventh-hour drive by a sports editor and a cafe owner, who in 48 hours raised $52,000 and fought off a rival bid of more than thrice that amount, has saved Sacramento its Pacific Coast League baseball franchise.

Dick Edmonds, young sports editor, and Yubi Separovich, cafe man, beat a deadline by hours and snatched the franchise back from Tacoma, Wash., which seemed to have the club sewed up.

Super Salesmen

League directors scheduled a meeting for Tuesday in Los Angeles at which to transfer the club to Tacoma. Edmonds and Separovich started out at 5 p.m. last Saturday and by the hour Monday had called on every sports-minded citizen they knew of. One contributor came through with $20,000. From lawyers, business men, bowling alley proprietors and plain baseball fans cheques, cash and pledges came pouring in.

Edmonds and Separovich took their money to Los Angeles, even though they knew Tacoma virtually had the deal clinched. Ten days earlier, Tacoma announced and Sam Breadon, St. Louis Cardinals president, confirmed that Sacramento's franchise had been sold to the Washington city for $50,000. Tacoma had raised $125,000 more to make good the club's operation.

They're Good Talkers

To complicate matters the train to Los Angeles was held up by a snowstorm—but the directors waited for the men from Sacramento. After presenting their case Edmonds and Separovich went outside to wait the directorial decision. At 7 p.m. Tuesday it came, in favor of Sacramento.

The home folks plan a parade for the two winners when they get back.

Honus Wagner 70 Years Old

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24—(AP)—Honus Wagner, oldest active man in a Major League baseball uniform, observes his 70th birthday today—but with only 33 candles on his cake.

"This is my 33rd year in the National League uniform," smiles the bandy - legged, 'Flying Dutchman" of baseball's rough-and-ready era. "Besides I don't feel 70 anyway. I feel more like 33."

The League's former hitting and baserunning champ is starting his 12th year as a coach for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Honus doesn't look—or act—his age. Septuagenarian or no, he say's he'll be out on the field as usual this season during pre-game drills, passing on his wealth of baseball lore to rookies and veterans and showing them, with his 70-year-old arm, exactly how to field that ball.

Unless he's lost some of his 1943 spryness, and he'd be the first to deny that, he'll still be first on his feet this year when there's a "beef" with the umpire and he'll still "jockey" opposing pitchers with the best of them.

Honus' playing days ended in 1917, but as he goes about his winter duties as Deputy Sheriff in Carnegie he is stopped constantly—for chats about baseball past and present.

SPORTS—Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the hardest-fought basketball games of the season should be seen at the Y.W.C.A. gym Friday night when St. John's and C.G.E. Generals meet in the third and decisive battle of their best-of-three senior semi-final series. It is curtains for one or other of the rivals. The winners go on into the final round against the Transports; the losers retire for the season. Each has won a game, the Generals winning the opener 33 to 24 and the Saints coming back to take the second one decisively 22 to 11. Now it is all up to tomorrow night's battle and it should be just that for the teams are evenly matched and play hard, fast basketball. C.G.E. have the edge in shooting ability but on the other hand the Saints are probably the best checking team in the loop and they pass the ball around nicely. It is anybody's game. Incidentally the senior fixture is the second contest of tomorrow night's doubleheader and it is billed to start at 8.45 o'clock. The Y Cadets and Normals will meet in the first game of the twin card at 7.45 o'clock in the second game of their best-of-five intermediate final series and it should be a real contest too. Cadets got the jump two weeks ago by winning the first game 18 to 16 but they had to come from behind and then hold off a strong Normal finish to take the decision and tomorrow night's game is likely to be just as evenly contested. The double bill shapes up like one of the best of the season.

The race in the Ladies' City Five Pin League which over the early part of the season was as close at a damp day in July, with Westclox and Outboard Marines battling neck and neck and Brintons only a step behind has been opening out in recent weeks and the standing at the end of the second section, published today shows that the Big Bens have set up a commanding lead and are now five points in front of the second place Outboard Marines while Brintons have dropped back until they are six points behind the Outboards and 11 behind the leaders. Westclox will be hard to beat from now in with that much margin to the good for they have been bowling very steadily and showing no signs of weakening as the season passes. Unless the clock-makers run into a slump and they haven't anything that looked like one throughout the first two sections of the schedule it will be difficult to knock them off the top shelf. This week for instance Outboards made a clean sweep of their games with the Maple Leafs but they failed to gain a point on the leaders who held their lead by knocking off the third-place Brintons three in a row.

Scribe Walshe Wins

Bill Walshe, Kingston sports scribe went out last summer and in co-operation with Clarence Phillips captured himself the grandfather of all the muskies. He got plenty of fame at the time and now it turns out that he also got himself some jack too for he is now the half owner of a $100 war bond as a result. We'll let Bill tell the story himself as follows: "Ontario may claim the best fishing waters on this continent, according to the annual fishing contest conducted by the authoritative Field and Stream magazine, which is announcing winners for 1943. Frontenac County, and this department with Clarence Phillips, share in the spoils with the equivalent of a $100 War Bond for the biggest maskinonge. Now mounted in The Whig-Standard office the huskie muskie's 57-inch length and 25-inch girth is evidence of its 54 pounds of weight when hooked out of the St. Lawrence, near Brophy's Point, last August. Ontario fish won 18 per cent of the prizes in the contest, which has been held annually for 33 years and is considered the biggest in U.S. and Canada. Included in the prize winners is a world record wall-eyed pike, caught in the Niagara River, Ontario, beating the world record catch of last year. The contest for fresh water fish is conducted in nine classes with 10 prizes in each group. Ontario waters proved outstanding for the larger fish with seven winners in the muskie group, five great northern pike winners and the world record wall-eyed. Seven winners were also produced by Ontario in the trout family but there were no bass winners from Ontario although Frontenac County is rich in small-mouth and large-mouth bass."

Bobby Managoff, Chicago wrestling star, threw a little light on the question of why so many wrestlers and professional football players are not in the armed services, when he was here the other night to battle Al Bunny Dunlop on the Tunney weekly card at the Brock. Managoff talking about the prospects for pro football across the border this fall remarked that the cash-and-carry teams would still have a great many of their stars and he explained it this way: "You see many of the fellows who star in football and look strong enough and big enough to be a one-man commando force usually have some physical injury that keeps them out of the army. It is the same with us wrestlers. Most of us have suffered injuries. We are going around with damaged cartileges in the knees or perhaps a back injury or torn shoulder ligaments. They are not enough to keep us out of the wrestling game or keep the footballers off the gridiron but the service doctors refuse to take a chance. When they find such injuries they reject the big fellows, apparently afraid that there will be break down just when it would cause the most trouble." There are, of course, many pro wrestlers in the army or navy. One who comes to mind is big Ed Don George who holds the rank of lieutenant commander in Uncle Sam's Navy.

A Hollow Title!

St. Michael's Academy football team of Belleville were guests at a complimentary banquet the other night and presented with windbreakers for their feat of capturing the senior and junior Bay of Quinte championship in six-man football and also of winning the Cossa senior 12-man title. The Belleville youngsters undoubtedly earned the six-man championships they were celebrating but their claim to the Cossa title on the strength of beating only one team, the Stirling Collegiate, is rather hollow. The Cossa territory covers a wide section of Ontario but most of the Collegiates in the district did not carry on last season so that there was really no competition for the secondary schools senior title. What happened was that the Belleville Irish expanded their six-man team into a regular-sized football squad, played and defeated Stirling and now rank as winners of the coveted Cossa blue ribbon. Jack Doran of St. Michael's is quoted as saying, "Maybe we only beat Stirling but no other school challenged us or disputed our claim to the senior Cossa crown." Well if there is any real glory in that kind of a championship the Belleville kids are entitled to celebrate. Anyway their other victories were worthy of the honors paid them.

Art Ross of the Boston Bruins comes in for more than his share of knocks from the Toronto scribes but when it comes to doing a good turn for the boys in the armed services Ross makes the Maple Leaf management look cheap. Tonight Ross has his battered Bruins in Ottawa to play the Commandos an exhibition game for the benefit of the R.C.A.F. He's even going to dress the injured Bill Cowley. "This is a benefit game," the Bruins boss snapped out, "and Ottawa fans have a right to see Cowley." As Jack Koffman of the Ottawa Citizen remarks, "You have to doff your hat to the man for more than one reason. He'll take his hockey club all over the country for any cause that will aid some war fund." That is a nice tribute to Ross and what's more it is deserved. The Bruins have donated a number of choice home gates to the Red Cross and have never hesitated to stage exhibition games for worthy war causes.

Play-off Dates Set By O.H.A.; Must Break Ties

TORONTO, Feb. 24—(CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association today announced dates for play-offs both in the Senior A and Junior A groups. It was also announced that if games were tied after the regulation 60 minutes of play, overtime periods of 20 minutes duration would be played, the first goal deciding the contest.

Games will be governed by two referees but there will be no linesmen. Neutral goal judges will be appointed.

In the Senior A group, St. Catharines Saints and Hamilton Majors, the only civilian teams in the League will play in a best of seven series to decide the champion. The first game will be played at St. Catharines, March 2 with subsequent games at Hamilton March 4, St. Catharines March 6 and Hamilton March 8. Locale of other games if necessary will be decided later.

In the Junior series, Oshawa Generals and St. Catharines Falcons will meet in series A, the first game being played at St. Catharines, Feb. 28, in a best-of-seven series. Later games will be at Oshawa, March 1, St. Catharines March 4, and Oshawa March 6 with other games if necessary being played at St. Catharines, March 8, Oshawa March 11, and St. Catharines March 13.

In the B series, Toronto St. Michael's and Galt Kists will meet in a best-of-five series the first game at Galt, Feb. 28, and subsequent games at Toronto March 1, and Galt March 4. Additional games if required will be played at Toronto March 6 and Galt March 8.

Port Colborne Recreationists and Brantford Lions both stand a chance of making the C group play-offs in the western division in games that remain to be played in the League's schedule. Whatever team makes the third place in the standings will play-off against Hamilton Whizzers with the first game either at Port Colborne or Brantford Feb. 28. The second game will be at Hamilton March 1 and the third game of a best-of- three series at Brantford or Port Colborne March 3.

Toronto Navy Juniors have challenged to play in the series and games will be scheduled against Hamilton, Port Colborne or Brantford—the winner of series C—all of which will be played on the home ice of the O. H. A. team.

The semi-final round between the winners of series B and C will start around March 10 with the league final to start a week later.

Not So Young

MIAMI — (AP) — Manager Leo (Lippy) Durocher of the Dodgers expressed surprise yesterday at the suggestion of President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn club that he should return to the player line-up by holding down the shortstop position once more. Durocher suggested Rickey must have been thinking of "the Durocher of 20 years ago or thereabouts."

Pepper Comes Back

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 24. —(AP).— Pepper Martin, the "wild horse of the Osage" who romped to fame with the St. Louis Cardinals, said last night that he would don a Card uniform again this season after three years out of it.

Last year he managed the Rochester, N.Y., club in the International League.

The dog distinguished himself during the height of enemy raids by locating buried victims and saved other people from injury by falling ruins, dragging them to safety.

By HYE BOSSIN

Bing Crosby, Charles Boyer and Jack Benny are among the stars who wear wigs, or "dome dollies," as they are known in Hollywood. Even Filmland's best technicians, who have devised many things of value to the war effort, haven't found the answer to the unfertile conk and there, as here, it's case of hair today and gone tomorrow.

Would you call the boys fresh hair fiends?

Elmo Lincoln, who played the first Tarzan role in 1919, will appear in "The Hairy Ape," which is being produced in Hollywood by Jules Levey, ex-Torontonian who got into the film business as a salesman... Did you hear about the two aspirins talking. One said that it had a headache. "Why don't you take a man?" asked the other "I did," was the reply, "but I took an overdose- Sidney Greenstreet" . . . The reason why so many fans ask that photos of the stars be autographed in white ink has been discovered. The fans wash the white ink off and write what they would like to have on the photo... Hollywood does things in a big way. One film company has started a pension scheme in which persons earning over $200,000 per year are to receive $1,000 per week when they reach the age of sixty.

A Chicago firm just found the answer to serious absenteeism. On two days each week, during the rest periods, workers are shown movie serials. The suspense is kept going from week to week and on those days absenteeism is reduced.

Might be an idea for absent members of legislative bodies, committees and so on.

Beverly Whitney, the Toronto songbird who was signed for Hollywood in New York, is in the midst of a movie city romance, it's said. Not so long ago she was reported engaged to Tommy Manville . . . Leslie Fenton, who dropped out of pictures to join the British army, was invested with the D.S.C. by King George at Buckingham Palace. Fenton distinguished himself during a Commando raid on the French coast . . . They're having a war loan drive across the line right now and Gene Tierney auctioned off one pair of nylon hose for $200,000 in bonds.

Hollywood's prize portrayer of Nazis is Helmut Dantine, who plays one in "Northern Pursuit," a film in which Errol Flynn again does his one-man army routine. Dantine was a Nazi in "Edge of Darkness," "The Pied Piper" and "Mrs. Miniver."

An Austrian soldier, he was interned when Hitler grabbed that country and freed three months later when he agreed to leave his native land. American relatives brought him to Los Angeles. After getting some education the acting bug bit him.

Right now he's a very happy man. He just became a USA citizen and in "Passage to Marseilles" he gets his first important role of a more sympathetic nature—that of a convict who sides with the Free French.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(AP)— All that Gil Dodds needs to do to break the indoor mile record Saturday is to run six inches near the inside rim of the track—and maintain his usual speed. Expert observers, noting that Gil usually runs 18 inches from the border, figure that he travels 11 yards more than the mile, which is measured a foot from the rim. . . . Glenn Cunningham used to run inside that line.

Iron Man

Cincinnati Reds are pretty proud of the endurance feat of Ray Mueller in catching 140 games last season, but Ray has a long way to go before he can equal Wilbert Robinson. . . . Back in 1896, Robbie caught all three games of a triple header for the Baltimore Orioles then came back next day to work through a doubleheader.

One-Minute Sports Page

While major league magnates are worrying about players the bosses of the Bushwicks, powerful Brooklyn semi-pro club, have more players available than they can use. A lot of good athletes are working in war plants hereabouts and can get off week-ends. . . . The Lucknow, Ont., Maple Leafs have an all-Chinese hockey line composed of Bill, Albert and George Chin. Their father (honestly) is named Charlie Chin and there are 14 kids in the family.

Habitants Seek To Shatter Points Record

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens, having already passed their own record of 60 points, seek in their remaining 11 games to shatter the National Hockey League mark of 77 points in a single season established by Boston Bruins in 1929-30.

Canadiens now have 63 points and can exceed the Bruin standard by achieving seven victories, or the equivalent. Boston established its mark in a 44-game schedule, however, while Canadiens will have played 50 when the season ends March 19.

Now 18 points ahead of the second-place Detroit Red Wings, Canadiens face a tough schedule with three games in the next four days. They will be at home tonight to Toronto Maple Leafs and to Boston Saturday, with an out-of-town date against Detroit scheduled for Sunday.

Another capacity house is expected for the Montreal-Toronto clash. The only other contest tonight sends Detroit to New York for a game with the tailend Rangers.

Oshawa Swamps Rangers 16-2

By The Canadian Press

The Generals played for keeps last night at Oshawa when they swamped Toronto Young Rangers 16-2, thereby regaining the lead in Group 1 of the Junior "A" series of the O.H.A., with St. Michaels two points behind for second place. Meanwhile, at Hamilton the Whizzers retained third spot in the group standing by tossing a 12-5 reverse at Toronto Marlboros. Hamilton next will play at Stratford Friday night in a fixture worth four points to the winner but the Whizzers cannot overtake the Toronto students.

Ken Smith and Bob Love helped appreciably in the compiling of Oshawa's adding-machine total with a quartette of goals each while Curry and Taggart added two apiece, Batten, Porter, Chenier and Schewchuk dividing the balance. The two scorers for Young Rangers were Rutledge, who copped the first counter of the one-sided match, and Dewsbury, who was responsible for the final goal of the contest.

Scoring stars for the Whizzers in the tilt at Hamilton were Murray Comfort and Tomuik, each with four, while Mirco Narduzzi bagged three for his share, Jacklin getting a single. For the Dukes, Leachman and Lawson accounted for a pair each and James added the fifth counter.

TORONTO, Feb. 24 —(CP) — Now that hockey, lacrosse and golf are giving the Hall of Fame idea its full measure of publicity, we think the time is ripe to start a Poker Hall of Fame.... To lead off we'd like to contribute the pair of dice that regularly appear with devastating effect to end the Friday evening sessions of the Brookdale Peanuts and Poker Society.... And as a relic of no intrinsic value we'll throw in the blue chip we bit in two while repressing a scream after drawing a pat straight flush the other night.. we understand a fellow in Plum Coulee, Man., once made a pair of deuces beat a full straight. Those deuces should be accorded a place of honor..on other hall of fame fronts, activities continue. Fred (Montreal Gazette) Kerner reports talk around his city is for establishment of a lacrosse hall of fame in Lachine Que., where the game long has flourished.. Kerner says, incidentally, that the Mann Cup play-offs seem absurd again this year with plans for a National semi-final matching British Columbia and Ontario champions in Toronto, the winner to meet the Quebec champions in Montreal in the final.

Grid Groans

Flt. Lt. Lew Hayman, the football fellow, is in the West again, still talking about his favorite game. Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini couldn't get Lew to express preference for the old Western code which permitted blocking up to 10 yards ahead of scrimmage but Hayman did say this: "In any game where you have three downs to gain 10 yards, blocking won't give it to you unless there's a fourth down." With three downs lone long gain is needed and that can be made only by lateral passing, says Lew. "When the backfield can't block, the players are used on laterals where the risk is greater but so is the gain." ..A couple of Hayman's old stars of Toronto championship days, Bill Stukus, and Art Evans, used to claim Lew was a simon Legree in training season, now they're both with the R. C. A. F. overseas and Bill writes: "Lew is a sissy compared to the Commando Course Art and I are taking now."

Chitchat:

Hamilton Wildcats are being dined by the city to-night to celebrate their Dominion football title.. That scoreless tie Leafs played at Chicago Sunday was the first no-goal game this season and only the second in the last three years.. Gordon Drillon of N. H. L. fame has transferred from Army to R. C. A. F...Before the service hockey league folded in Winnipeg crowds totalled 35,000 in six weeks. In the next six weeks, Winnipeg hockey drew only 10,000.

3-Year-Old Good Bid To Try Flamingo

MIAMI, FLA., Feb. 24—(AP)— H. E. Jacoby, a Chicago business executive, thinks he made a sound investment when he acquired a racing stable last year and became the owner of the three-year-old chestnut colt, Good Bid.

Under Jacoby's brand-new colors, the flying son of Psychic Bid has never finished worse than second in four outings at Hialeah Park. In his last eight races he has been in the money six times and is installed as one of the favorites for the $15,000 Flamingo Saturday.

Don't overlook him in that mile-and-an-eight test of possible Kentucky Derby contenders, counsels Jacoby.

MRS. FREDERICK MAGEE

ORANGE CORNERS, Feb. 23 — (ENS) — The death occurred last week of one of the oldest residents of the community, Sara Jane Elliott, beloved wife of the late Frederick Magee of Emily. She was the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott and had lived all her life in this community with the exception of a few years in childhood when the parents moved to Fairmount.

In her 77th year she was highly respected and loved by all who knew her, and was a faithful member of St. John's Anglican church, and president of the Women's Auxiliary for many years.

Her husband predeceased her in September, and her only son, Stanley, was killed in a highway accident in June of last year.

Left to mourn her loss is her only sister, with whom she made her home since shortly after the death of her husband, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Magee, a niece, Mrs. Norman McBain, and one granddaughter, Daisy.

The service was conducted at the home and cemetery by her rector, Rev. Mr. Pooley, with interment in Emily cemetery. The pall bearers were all neighbors and friends: Herbert Jackson, Wilfrid Jackson, Evans Storey, Herbert Parker, Cleveland Bailey and Ernest McCall.

Same Chairmen Re-named For Committees

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP). — Chairmen of the Commons Standing Committees were named to-day and in each case the chairman is the same as last session. They include:

Privileges and Elections—D. F. McCuaig (L-Simcoe North).

Banking and Commerce—W. H. Moore (L-Ontario)

Public Accounts— W. A. Fraser (L-Northumberland).

Standing Orders—W. H. Golding (L-Huron-Perth).

Mines, Forests and Waters—J. R. Hurtubise (L-Nipissing).

Possibly the most important of the standing committees is Banking and Commerce. This session it will have to study revision of the Bank Act. Its chairman Mr. Moore has guided the committee for several sessions.

The general meeting at which the committee chairmen were named was presided over by W. H. Taylor, Chief Government Whip.

A motion by W. R. Macdonald (L-Brantford City) that all last session's chairmen be reappointed brought objection from M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, that such a procedure was contrary to the rules of the House. He expressed belief each standing committee should choose is own chairman, just as special committees do.

The meeting carried Mr Macdonald's motion after several members praised the work of last year's chairmen.

nape and Kusai in the Carolines were pounded by heavy bombers Monday, apparently to neutralize them against interfering with the impending Mariana stroke.

Japanese resistance is believed almost over on Nissan Island in the Green group.

The island, occupied by New Zealand and American forces last week, lie between Bougainville and New Britain.

At headquarters in the Southwest Pacific an Allied communique said American soldiers and marines have wiped out all enemy resistance in Western New Britain.

Conclusion of a campaign which started Dec. 15 with the landing at Arawe, and which took the lives of 7,000 Japanese, meant the Allies have a 200-mile-wide opening in the enemy's defence arc from Java to Rabaul, New Britain, through which to drive north.

Distance from the Allied position to Rabaul, battered enemy base at the northeastern tip of New Britain, is about 250 airline miles. Because of the terrain, it seems doubtful that an overland arch to Rabaul will be attempted.

3 Injured As Bus Slides Into Ditch

BANCROFT, Feb. 24 (ENS) — Two passengers and the driver of the Belleville-Bancroft bus were injured when the vehicle ploughed into a ditch three miles north of Millbridge on Highway 62 at 5.45 p.m. Wednesday.

Edgar Stapley, owner and operator of the bus line, was driving at the time and received a bruise to his right shoulder, while Miss Emily Hennessey of Hybla was cut on the back of the head and Pte S. Armstrong of West Huntington was bruised on his right side.

Mr. Stapley said that something seemed to have let go underneath, rendering the controls useless. The bus continued on the road for a short distance before taking to the ditch, where it came to a stop before a four-foot embankment, still upright but having jolted the passengers severely.

The injured occupants of the bus were treated at the scene by Dr. S. Lamb of Bancroft, who found their injuries of a superficial nature and later released them. Damage to the bus was not great.

Personals

C. McAllister passed away at his residence early Thursday morning after a lengthy illness.

A pancake supper held on Shrove Tuesday by the War Workers of Bancroft was a great success, and about $60 was taken in.

J. L. Churcher, reeve of Bannon township, attended the Good Roads convention in Toronto.

Court Awards $115,091 To Injured Toolmaker

TORONTO, Feb. 24 — (CP) — One of the largest awards for damages in the history of the province was made yesterday by Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay in a judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall. John Alexander Martin, 54, engineer and toolmaker, was awarded $115,091 in his action against W. G. Deutch and Sarah Deutch for injuries received when he was struck by a car owned by the former and driven by the latter on the Queen Elizabeth Highway near Burlington, September 4, 1939.

resounded from both lines throughout the day.

Units of the British 8th Army beat off a small-scale German attack in the region of Guardiagrele, about 20 miles inland from the Adriatic on a highway southeast of Ortona. Other patrols inflicted casualties on the Germans near Arielli. Canadian patrols reporte brief exchanges of machine-gun fire.

In sweeps across the Adriatic, planes of the tactical air force wove a close-knit pattern of bombs along the length of the Yugoslav coast covering Zara harbor, the harbor near Marina, a landing field near Knin, a motor convoy north of Split and shipping in the Drvenick Channel. Spitfires attacked Corfu off the Greek coast.

At some points hedgehopping Spitfires saw Yugoslav Partisan forces waving as they roared to their targets.

On the northwest coast of Italy medium bombers blasted enemy shipping in Castigliencello harbor, near Leghorn.

Must Aid Farmers

KINGSTON, Feb. 24 —(CP)— H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday in an address at Queen's University that agriculture must be made economically attractive "to hold the best of our farm youth." He said rural people must be given educational, recreational and cultural opportunities equal to those enjoyed by urban dwellers.

Railway Men Seek National Policy

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP). — The Dominion Joint Legislative Committee of the Railway Brotherhoods yesterday asked the Dominion Government to consider a national transportation policy at the proposed Dominion-Provincial conference.

In its annual brief prepared for presentation to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of the Cabinet, the committee recalled it had urged "more orderly regulation of all forms of transportation and the early adoption of a national transportation policy.

The committee urged adoption of a health insurance scheme providing adequate medical, dental and hospital service on a broad scale and the appropriation of at least $2,000,000 to assist individuals and organizations engaged in scientific medical research.

The Government's plans for a social security scheme should be advanced as rapidly as possible, the committee said.

An active drive to eliminate level crossings with an appropriation of at least $1,000,000 was asked.

Dealing with income tax regulations, the brief asked amendment to allow railwaymen exemption on expenditures for meals and lodgings while away from home. The committee allowance for away-from-home expenses was at present restricted to those paid on a mileage basis.

Barkley Move

sides in the most serious challenge thus far to Mr. Roosevelt's leadership.

At Post 7 Years

Barkley's senatorial colleagues virtually guaranteed him a smashing vote of confidence to reject his resignation as majority leader—a post in which he had served as the President's legislative lieutenant for seven years.

Mr. Roosevelt, moving swiftly to head off revolt that promised, in the eyes of some observers, to elevate Barkley to the foremost ranks of presidential possibilities this year, expressed hope the Kentuckian's resignation would not be accepted. He urged Barkley, in a telegram addressed "Dear Alben," not to resign.

Party dissension flamed high in the House of Representatives too, as that body convened to vote on the question of overriding the President's veto of a $2,300,000,000 new tax bill—the issue which led Barkley to announce, in an impassioned speech on the Senate floor yesterday, that he was through carrying "the flag of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Chairman Robert L. Doughton (Dem., N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, another erstwhile Roosevelt stalwart, declared the veto message marked the point "where I part company with the President of the United States."

The President had contended the tax bill was inadequate for wartime needs.

REPORTED MISSING

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Yelland of Penetang, formerly of Peterborough, that their eldest son, James Yelland, is missing after air operations overseas. He has been serving as an observer with the R.C.A.F. overseas for more than a year. His father was formerly an employee of the Canadian Canoe Company here and during the last war was overseas with the 52nd Battery.

PETERBOROUGH IS SECOND

Stamp sales in Peterborough city and county for the month of February totalled $15,096, which amounted to 149 percent of the objective. This figure puts Peterboroug in second place in Ontario only being surpassed by a northern Ontario unit. While sales in the province showed an increase of 19.33 percent over January a year ago only 92.37 percent of the Ontario objective of $675,000 was reached.

BLOOD DONORS

Eighty-nine blood donors appeared at the Clinic, a number slightly larger than that for the first session of the week. There were 25 from the C.G.E. and Genelco, and good-sized groups from the Quaker Oats, De Laval, Westclox and Brinton Carpet plants. In addition, several donors were in from Keene. Seven war veterans, six of the last war and the other one of this, and all employed at the Outboard Marine, came together as a group. Norma Smedmor of the C.G.E. hung up a record as the first girl to give a seventh donation; and another C.G.E. employee, Allan Banks, made his eighth contribution.

CHARGE DISMISED.

A charge of vagrancy against Harold Brooks was dismissed in police court this morning when it was stated that no evidence would be offered by the crown. Brooks had been on remand since Monday.

REPORTED MISSING.

Flight-Lieutenant Harold A. Hancock, R.C.A.F., youngest son of Mrs. George Hancock and the late Mr. Hancock of Port Hope, is officially reported missing after air operations February 20. He enlisted two years ago and went overseas in January, 1942.

$17,688 FROM BUSES.

Kingston's municipal treasury will receive from the Kingston City Coach Company $17,688.38 as the city's share of the tax on the operation of busses in 1943 calculated on the volume of the transportation business.

MADE PILOT OFFICER

Warrant Officer J. W. Roper, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Roper, 604 Walkerfield avenue, has been promoted to the rank of pilot officer. He has been in the R.C.A.F. for about two years and at present is a flying instructor at Oshawa. Before joining up, P.O. Roper worked at the Western Clock Company.

OUT OF SEASON.

Shirley Florence, 560 Homewood Avenue, has reported a live caterpillar on the lawn of her home. Apparently the litte fellow doesn't mind the cold, because Shirley said that he was full of pep, and wriggling away at a great rate, up a large bank of snow. Joan Marlowe, 13, who lives next door also spotted the little brown wonderer.

THAT WAS A COLD ONE.

The mild weather Peterboro has been enjoying for the greater part of this winter is in vivid contrast to the conditions throughout the winter of 1933-34. Ten years ago today, for instance Walter Peters, the city's official weather observer, was telling the world that for the 18th day in February the thermometer had gone well below the zero mark that morning and that up to that stage there had been 43 days of sub-zero temperature during the winter.

2nd By-election Attracts Keen Interest

The Conservatives are uneasy about the by-election although they had a 5,000 majority in the last vote in Bury St. Edmunds in 1929. In the 1931 and 1935 general elections Capt. F. F. A. Heilgers, Conservative, was not opposed.

Indicates Trent.

Mrs. Ashby, who resigned the vice-presidency of the Liberal party organization and the chairmanship of the women's Liberal Federation to run as an independent, supports the Prime Minister as war leader, but for her the party truce is dead and she has won over useful Liberal and Labor supporter.

Within the next few days Conservative Members of Parliament, including Toronto-born Beverley Baxter will flock to the constituency to speak for Maj. Keatinge, while Mrs. Ashby has prominent independents and left wingers, who will speak for her, including Charles White, the Independent Socialist, who defeated the Marquess of Hartington in West Dergyshire.

If the by-election goes against the government it will leave no shadow of doubt that a broad section of public opinion is swinging away from tht coalition government. But if Maj. Keatinge wins it will be a sharp rebuff to the anti-government forces and the political controversy may ease up.

Bancroft Youth Dies Overseas

Pte. Donald Frederick Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, of Bancroft, has died of wounds received while fighting with the Eastern Ontario regiment in the Italian campaign. A telegram notifying them of their loss was received recently by the parents, who only a few days prior to that had had word from their elder son, Edward, with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, that Donald was coming along fine. His death occurred Jan. 29.

Enlisting on April 20, 1942, Pte. Thomas joined up in Brockville. He trained for 6 months in Canada before going overseas. He was only 18 at the time of his death. Besides his parents and brother, Edward, there are six sisters surviving. His father has been a member of the Veterans' Guard.

War—4 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press

FEB. 24, 1940—Hitler declared in address that Germany will fight "until the terror of the plutocracies has been broken." Russian troops advanced to within 7½ miles of Viipuri. Prime Minister Chamberlain announced Britain would spend £100,000,000 in Canada in the first year of the war.

City Council Blocks Midway

While Kingston city council were merely frowning on the Conklin carnival shows the other night, Peterborough's council raised the bars against the Wallace Brothers outfit.

Kingston Kinsmen was sponsoring Conklins, and Canadian Legion was interested in the Wallaces with support and split. Their council's property committee listened to objections from within their own circle and undertook to bringing in a decision at an early date.

Peterborough's action was to inform the Legion that professional midways were out of favor here, but if the Legion wished to conduct the kind of carnival show put on by several of the local service clubs, the council would be glad to assist by granting the use of one of the parks.

Too Much Gambling

Apparently the "gambling tail" of some of the itinerant carnivals has wagged the business into widespread disrepute. Alderman F. R. Brooks said at the Kingston property committee meeting: "This type of entertainment is nothing more than gambling and is disgraceful. They take money away from people right under their eyes. They take thousands of dollars from people who cannot afford it. I don't know whether it is the duty of the council to prevent such people from playing those games, but they certainly were robbed."

Peterborough aldermen, most of them, will recognize that sentiment as an echo of their own.

The motion halting Wallace Brothers at the local borders was proposed by Aldermen Glover and Sullivan.

BELIEVED DEAD — Wireless Operator Charles Fitzpatrick, previously reported missing, is now believed dead, according to official word received by his brother, Edward Fitzpatrick, near Hastings.

CANUCK-U.S. SPECIALISTS TOGETHER —These men are members of the first special service force in training at Fort William Henry Harrison, near Helena, Mont. The force is made up of U.S. and Canadian specialists, trained together to fight as a unit, shoulder to shoulder. A Canadian officer, not in the photo, is drilling the men at bayonet practice.

M.O.H. Discovers Three New Cases Of Tuberculosis

One new case of active and two of quiescent tuberculosis were reported in January, Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., informed the Board of Health at its recent meeting.

"The active case is now in a sanatorium and the quiescents are under observation. All contacts of these and last month's cases were skin tested, 42 in all, with 15 being positive. They will be examined at the next visit of the Travelling Chest Clinic."

There were 21 cases of chickenpox in January, 1 of measles, 12 mumps, 1 scarlet fever and 19 whooping cough.

Thirteen patients were cared for at Queen Mary Hospital, seven remaining from December, and six were admitted. They stayed a total of 178 hospital days with an average of 13.7 days per patient. "Only eight were residents of the city and remained for 109 hospital-days. There were no deaths."

With the appointment of Miss Isobel King, Reg.N., effective February 14, succeeding Miss Geraldine Conley, as public health nurse, Dr. Kelly hoped that the department's routine would be fully resumed. "This appointment is temporary, until a fully qualified public health nurse can be engaged."

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson reported that analysis of milk samples showed that all specimens were properly and adequately pasteurized, and butter fat content was satisfactory. One of the pasteurizing plants was renovated and enlarged in January. This work was done in accordance with recommendations of the department. "In this plant considerable new equipment is being installed to replace old and worn out pieces."

Restaurant Inspection

"The license of one restaurant has been withheld due to failure of the operator to complete recommendations previously made. Two other restaurant operators have been advised that unless a better housecleaning routine is established, this department will be obliged to recommend cancellation of their licenses. In each of these cases, however, immediate steps are being taken to bring about a better general state of cleanliness."

Mr. MacPherson reported that sterilization of eating utensils in all the hotels was found "very satisfactory."

"Two bakeries have been definitely improved by painting the interior walls, ceilings and equipment. The operators of most bakeries are anxious to maintain a state of cleanliness within, and on most occasions voluntarily and willingly repaint when necessary. This is not always the case, and one operator was required to do a general housecleaning and repainting. It was necessary to use some coercion, and a definite time limit was set for the completion of the work."

"The operator of one butcher shop was required to do some general cleaning up of walls, ceilings, meat racks and refrigerator. There was nothing drastically wrong, but it was agreed that a little more soap and water would help."

Mr. MacPherson touched upon other phases of his work, including the testing of samples of ice from a number of natural ice fields. One was found contaminated, but the others were all in the Class A group. Three permits to cut and store natural ice for delivery in the city were issued.

"In an effort to deter garbage collectors from unnecessary damage to containers, a number of damaged cans were replaced and the contractor was billed for them. Police detention cells were visited several times to ascertain the effectiveness of ozone deodorizing machine. It seems to be working satisfactorily."

Dairy Farms

Dr. Harold Worton, V.S., B.V.Sc., reported that at the request of Mr. MacPherson he had continued inspection of dairy farms. Two milk shippers were accepted after meeting requirements. One new shipper was refused permit until certain specifications were met.

"On a routine test for tuberculosis by Veterinary Inspector one shipper was found to have diseased cattle. Milk from this herd was discontinued as soon as I was notified of this case. This substantiates the value of pasteurization."

Nursing Service

As with other branches of the health department, the report of the Public Health Nurses, Mrs. I. Gibson and Miss M. Hurtubise, were too detailed for publication. Some of the January work may be indicated.

Homes visited 147, for first time 126; individuals visited 233, first time 192.

Health supervision visits included: infants under one year 41, of which 27 were first calls; pre-school children 15, of which 11 were new; other visits 40, of which 31 new.

Persons with acute communicable disease 16, new 15; suspected cases 2; venereal disease 3.

Tuberculosis supervision: active cases 4; arrested 24, of which 21 are new; contacts with tuberculosis 64, of which 60 are new; suspects 2. Nine visits were made to infant boarding homes.

New Department To Cost $35,000

In planning the collection and disposal of garbage as a direct service of the property committee, the council accepted the committee's estimate of $35,000 and sent it on to the finance committee for budget consideration.

The property committee's estimated requirements for this year are as follows: Garbage collection, $35,000; market and plumbing inspector's department, $6,374; property, $1,814.50.

Corresponding requisitions last year were: Garbage collection, $31,500; market and plumbing inspector's department, $4,700; property, $3,140.

The council has cast the die for a new deal in the collection of garbage. The contract system is being discarded, and the council assumes the entire responsibility for this service which is being developed by the property committee.

The appointment of Garfield Torrance as foreman of the incinerator and superintendent of the garbage collection department took effect on Wednesday, February 23. He assumes the duties of foremanship.

The Board of Health has released Sanitary Inspector MacPherson "for a period to assist in organizing the garbage collecting system."

That collaboration may continue for three or four weeks, and it may be that both men will be sent to Toronto for a few days to observe methods there of collection and disposal of garbage.

In the meantime the committee has been negotiating with T. J. Cavanagh for his entire equipment.

In purchasing the Allin ice property on Townsend Street, the city came into possession of a spacious stable that will "come in handy" to house the garbage collection horses. Alderman Swanston, chairman, remarked this morning that he had suggested to Aldermen Ovens and Curtis that they take over the planning of rearrangement of the stable accommodation, and they immediately took that detail upon themselves and set out Wednesday afternoon to attend to it.

Expert To Give Help On Victory Garden

The visit of George Rush, vegetable expert with the Ontario Department of Agriculture, to Peterborough next Monday to discuss Victory gardening at a meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, has prompted the Vegetable Growers to hold an afternoon session with Mr. Rush in the office of F. C. Paterson, county representative of the Department.

William C. Wilks, secretary of the Horticultural Society, extends a general invitation to all citizens who are thinking of planting a garden of vegetables this year.

"Mr. Rush is a specialist in this particular field and will answer your problems relating to gardening," Mr. Wilks informed the Examiner today. "There will be door prizes consisting of collections of vegetable seeds, copies of Webb's garden guide and Hick's seed catalogue. Admission is free, the public is welcome, and we hope they will turn out in a large number, and a silver collection will be accepted to help us pay incidental expenses of this meeting.

Mr. Wilks said that the time to begin planning for that Victory garden is approaching as Spring begins to show signs of breaking in on winter's lease, and Mr. Rush will be helpful even to those who have had experience. This meeting is next Monday night at eight o'clock.

For those city folks who have not yet attended a Horticultural Society meeting it may be helpful to them to add that the Department of Agriculture office is at the corner of Hunter and Chambers streets.

Norman Hamley Received DFC 25 Years Ago

Twenty-five years ago this month Norman H. Hamley, back in Canada after serving with the Canadian Army and later with the newly organized R.A.F. in the First World War, went to Hamilton to receive his award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, which he had won for general meritorious service on the Italian front. It was about the time of the Armistice that Mr. Hamley, then a lieutenant, was first notified of his selection for that outstanding decoration.

Mr. Hamley, who is with Trebilcock's and who lives at 352 Park street north, transferred to the R.A.F. in 1917 after recovering from a wound received fighting in France with the 10th Battalion. His training in England with the infant R.A.F. was short, and with only 38 hours in the air to his credit, he was sent to the Italo-Austrian front in northern Italy near Verona.

In the months that ensued before the Armistice was signed he flew a single-seater fighter, and his role was that of protecting observer and reconnaissance planes operating over enemy lines. In the course of his operational flights he got credit for five planes and three balloons shot down, all in a period of seven months.

Mr. Hamley was shot down once, and landed without being injured on an island in the middle of the Piave River, which was then part of no man's land. With the Austrians on one bank of the river and the Allies on the other, he remained on the island for a day and was finally able to swim back to his own lines.

Besides the D.F.C. Mr. Hamley was recipient of the Italian Service Medal, awarded by the commander of the Italian armies.

Presentation of the D.F.C. is recalled in an item in the Bowmanville Statesman last week.

400 Farm Hands To Be Returned

With spring drawing near, the time is approaching for farm workers employed during the winter in essential war production jobs and related industries to go back to their agricultural pursuits, and in the coming five weeks some 400 will be transferred in the area of the local Selective Service office.

The total as given this morning by W. H. L. Mellis, labor officer, is 407. Of this number 128 have been employed during the slack months on the farm by organizations engaged in the manufacturing and processing of foods and kindred products; 125 have gone back into the bush to help in the cutting of timber; and the remainder, 154, have worked in industries directly concerned with the manufacture of munitions of war.

The deadline for the effecting of these transfers is March 31, Mr. Mellis said, but in exceptional cases the return of farmers may be postponed a short while. This would be particulraly true if the weather continued wet at the end of that month and proved impossible to go to work in the fields. In such a case, farmers now employed at war work might remain in their present positions for a week or two beyond the March 31 deadline, if they so desired.

Already a few farm workers have gone back to agriculture, Mr. Mellis said, and by the beginning of March the transfer is expected to hit its stride.

Dismiss Count Against Lloyd

A charge against Donald Lloyd, Lakefield salesman, of having received five stolen tires, knowing them to have been stolen, was dismissed on preliminary inquiry this morning when Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., informed the court that no evidence would be offered.

The charge against Lloyd followed a series of recent cases in which several youths were sentenced to jail for stealing five tires and tubes from a car belonging to Major James McGrath. The latter's car was stolen one night from in front of the armouries and was found next day in a bush in North Monaghan stripped of its tires.

When he was first arraigned the accused had elected summary trial and there had been several remands before this morning.

Today W. J. Arthur Fair appeared for the accused and asked that he be allowed to change his election and take trial by judge and jury.

No objection was taken by the Crown and this morning's proceedings were therein a preliminary inquiry.

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., asked for a short adjournment to consult witnesses and when he returned to court announced that no evidence would be offered.

The charge was accordingly dismissed on preliminary hearing.

Use Midget Subs

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—(CP)—The British Information Services here disclosed yesterday that three midget submarines participated in the daring attack last Sept. 22 on the German battleship Tirpitz in Alten Fjord, Norway, last Sept. 22.

SERVING OVERSEAS — Petty Officer Richard A. (Tiny) Walsh, son of Mr. R. Walsh and the late Mrs. Walsh of Hastings, is now serving overseas. He enlisted in the R.C.N.V.R. in August, 1942, and received his training at Toronto and Halifax. Petty Officer Walsh worked with his father in Hastings for a time and then was employed in Toronto.

Burglars Break Open Safe Get $267 Cash

Breaking into the office of the Rehill Fuel and Builders' Supplies Company, 210 Wolfe street, some time early this morning, burglars moved the office safe on hand sleighs out into the yard of the premises and cracked it with picks.

A check-up indicates that the burglary yielded around $267 in cash.

Everything around the office was all right at 2 o'clock this morning when police on their rounds visited the property. About an hour later residents in the neighborhood heard a hammering noise, but did not notify the police.

The burglars had entered the building by forcing a window at the rear and then opening a door.

The safe was taken to the entrance and placed on a pair of sleighs to be moved back into the yard. The sleighs, the safe and the two picks used in breaking into it were found when employees of the firm reported for work at 7 o'clock.

Milkman Sells $500 In Stamps

In this appeal of the Food Industry of Canada for an extra $2,000,000 in War Savings Stamps investment at this stage of the war—and the headlines have not won it yet—you cannot say that you did not have an opportunity of getting around to the grocery or meat shop.

The milk and breadman is calling every day, and with War Savings Stamps, even if they are not trying to put on the pressure—at least not like Goebbels or a mere tenth grade muscle man of the Gestapo—so Peterborough will have no excuses if we fall down on the local objective of $26,000.

Roy Taylor is authority for the bright bit of information this morning that a local dairy sold $500 in stamps—rather Certificates—at one house. Obviously there are not a great many $500 spots along the milk routes; but there could be a grand total of houses where they could afford one Certificate or a dollar in stamps by way of beginning another book of sixteen that will cost $4 and get you $5.

If you feel like doing something Himmler wouldn't like simply call at the grocery or meat shop, or hail the break or milk man or the soft drink chap. They've all got War Savings Stamps, but they are not shouting it from the house tops.

$1,016 On Hand To Offset Raids On London

The renewing on a larger scale of air raid attacks on the civilian life of Britain, and particularly London by the enemy in recent days, points to an extra urge on the part of the management of the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund to take stock of what is on hand in order that ways and means might be found to complete as speedily as possible the next donation of £500 in order to help them in a time when it must be sorely needed.

With today's receipts, the fund has now passed the first four figure mark towards that objective, having at the moment the sum of $1,016.48 for that purpose, and since a total sum of $2,240.00 is required to complete this amount, it can readily be seen that the half-way mark has still to be reached.

Help From Westwood

Indirectly, one event held for another purpose has been made the means of giving help to the fund, when a booth was conducted in the Westwood Town Hall at a dance held there on February 18, and this netted the nice sum of $10.00 through Mrs. William Morris, which is listed in today's receipts for the fund.

On previous occasions the fund has received help from this same centre through the Women's Institute, and it would seem that this type of effort finds a real place in activities of this sort, and could perhaps be conducted on a wider scale by being utilized for similar purposes at other events of a like nature.

Draw For Clock

In response to a suggestion from the secretary of the fund, G. Dormer of the Sugar Bowl last week conducted a small draw for a clock which has also been of assistance in an amount of $9.50 credited to its account today, repeating a few previous efforts from the same source to give a helping hand to the fund.

The Lord Mayor of London, Sir Frank Newsom Smith, has acknowledged the receipt of the £500 cabled to him on January 15, by a letter just to hand dated January 31, in which he says in part "I am deeply grateful for this further generous gift, and will be glad if my warm and sincere thanks can be conveyed to all, and the High School students for the raising of this amount. Their gift will go a long way towards relieving the distress caused by enemy air raids.

"I deeply appreciate the sustained and generous support given to my fund by the citizens of Peterborough and District." The letter was accompanied by official receipt for the amount stated.

Previously acknowledged	$73,564.74
Proceeds of booth at Dance held in Westwood Town Hall per Mrs. W. Morris..	10.00
G. Dormer (Sugar Bowl) from draw on a clock ..	9.50
Total to date	$73,564.74

Night Phone Rates Will Begin At Six

The announcement that from March 1, night rates on long distance calls will begin at 6 p.m. instead of 7 as heretofore, will be of special interest to boys and girls telephoning home from camps and barracks all over the country. The change will be effective also on all lines of the Trans-Canada Telephone System.

Two main results are expected from this change—the added convenience of the longer night rate period, and lessened congestion on war-busy lines which, because of material shortages, cannot be extended. There will be an obvious saving to users through the one-hour's lengthening of the night rate period.

Midget Sub Crews Get Decorations

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (CP). — Pictures released to-day in connection with the honors paid to the crews of British midget submarines which torpedoed and crippled the German battleship Tirpitz indicate that this new British naval weapon is about 40 feet long, with a deck beam of from five to six feet and a hull flare giving considerably more than ordinary width below the waterline.

The number of men winning medals for crippling the Nazis' mightiest battleship indicate that the craft, known to Navy personnel as "tiddlers," carry crews of from three to four.

The cryptic official accounts of the performance of the midget submarines also hinted at a cruising range up to 2,000 miles, since they apparently made a voyage of about 1,000 miles to reach the Tirpitz' hideout in a Norwegian fjord.

Lieut. Basil Charles Godfrey Place and Lieut. Donald Cameron, commanders of the X-6 and X-7, respectively, won the Victoria Cross for helping to carry out the "most daring and successful" attack on the Tirpitz. Both now are prisoners of the Germans.

The Conspicuous Gallantry Medal was awarded to Engineroom Artificer Edmund Goddard and the D.S.O. to Sub-Lieuts. Robert Aitken, Richard Haddon Kendal, and John Thornton Lorimer for their part in the feat.

Demobilization Problem Engages British

By SYDNEY GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 24 — (CP). — The demobilization sweepstakes goes galloping merrily on in Britain with the latest entry from the Liberal Party, whose program would return to civilian life immediately after the European War a far greater number of men than anything yet proposed.

Even on the eve of second-front battles, demobilization problems are receiving the most intensive study. The Government has put forward through Labor Minister Bevin a "first in, first out" plan, and the Conservatives a "points" scheme on which men would receive points for length of service, prospects of employment, marital status, and so on.

The gravamen of the Liberal problem is the recruiting of a professional army, as far as possible on a voluntary basis, to continue the war against Japan and remain in being after all hostilities cease. To attract volunteers, army pay and conditions of service would be greatly improved.

Want All-out Push.

There are other recommendations in the Liberals' report, made by a committee of nine headed by Sir John Stewart-Milne, but the report is unlikely to be adopted if for no other reason than its conception of limited army effort against Japan. While there is no question but that part of the huge forces gathered to crush Nazism will be demobilized after that is accomplished, the Government has made it clear compulsory National Service is to continue until the Japanese are defeated.

Bevin's program probably will be the one finally adopted, perhaps with concessions to the objections raised by such groups as the trades unions. The unions' insistence that key men must receive priority may be met, especially in the building trade which will have the vast job of "lifting" the face of the country.

The Minister's program has the cabinet's support which means, because of the cabinet's coalition character, the support of Conservative, Labor and Liberal party leaders. And, probably just as important, the principle of "first in, first out" is the one most likely to sound the fairest to the greatest number of people.

Fresh reports have been cropping up about cabinet changes with Sir John Simon, Lord Chancellor, who has been in office continuously since 1931, Agriculture Minister Hudson and War Secretary Sir James Grigg most prominently mentioned as due for changes.

Few Present At W.I.

BETHANY Feb. 24 (ENS)— The members of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Edwin Veale Monday evening for their regular meeting. The attendance was small, due to a stormy night and illness. Mrs. Price, vice-president, presided and the members answered the roll call by giving an economy hint.

Reports were received on the number of quilts finished during January also on wool received and made into helmets. Mrs. Price reporting on the war work, told how there were still quilts to be finished, if possible, during February. Mrs. Armstrong reported that 22 boxes had been sent to local boys overseas. A contest was held on St. Valentine and Miss Lily Thompson won the prize for the best answers. A social hour was spent and a vote of thanks moved to the ladies in charge assisting the hostess.

Knife Wielding Gurkhas Wipe Out Japs

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, WESTERN BURMA FRONT, Feb. 24 (AP)—Scores of demoralized Japanese, abandoned by guerrilla forces behind the British lines, have been wiped out in the Northern Arakan jungles in the last 48 hours by yelling, knife-swinging Ghurkas.

Word of the death of these lost, wandering Japanese in the hills, jungles and forests of the Western Burma front—remnants of an enemy raiding party from the Bawli front who stubbornly refused to surrender—came today from British 14th Army Headquarters.

Further south, meantime, Allied troops were reported in a communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia Command to have almost entirely cleared the enemy from the important Ngakyedauk Pass in the Muya Hills, where a British column broke through a few days ago to bring aid to the stranded 7th Indian Division.

The Ghurkas caught up with the enemy after tanks had rolled up to point-blank range and swept the Japanese-infested jungle with light machine-guns. Casting aside modern weapons and shouting their deepthroated battle-cry, the Ghurkas charged, waving their heavy curved knives. Most of the Japanese were wiped out in a few minutes.

One Indian patrol heard firing on its left flank and moved in that direction, coming into the rear of a Japanese pocket under attack by British troops. The British troops reported they were mystified when resistance suddenly melted. Advancing on the enemy position they came upon the Ghurkas wiping their bloody knives and rounding up the Japanese mules.

Lord Louis' communique said Allied troops captured a high point overlooking the western exit of the Ngahyedauk Pass after severe fighting, in which a number of Japanese were cut off and driven out to the lower slopes to be shelled heavily. The enemy, however, still was fiercely resisting at some positions in the pass.

Aiding Deserter Serious Offence

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 —(CP)—Assistance to a person deserting from the Armed Forces is made a violation of the Defence of Canada Regulations under an amendment published today in Canadian war orders and regulations.

Penalties of imprisonment for not more than six months are provided for persons found guilty of persuading or assisting a member of the forces to absent himself without leave or desert, to to conceal such a member. A similar penalty is provided for persons performing any act to make a member of the forces physically unfit for service.

WHY NOT HAVE BABY SLEEP THROUGH NIGHT

YOU and your baby both need sleep. There is a sure and easy way to get it. Let Mrs. B——, Jr., of Winona, Ontario, tell you in her own words: "Night after night, as soon as we would get settled in bed, 'Baby' would start crying. . . . Baby's Own Tablets changed all this. What a blessed relief."

In no sense are these "sleeping" tablets. They contain no opiates or stupefying drugs. They help give refreshing sleep by clearing away wastes and poisons that disturb rest.

Sweet-tasting, easily crushed to a powder, if desired—Baby's Own Tablets bring quick relief from teething troubles, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and colds. Try them. 25 cents.

The scholarships, valued at $300, will be open to qualified women graduates in any research field.

Killer Group Curbing Sub Activities

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

A PORT IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Feb. 24—(CP)— The "killers" of the North Atlantic are the destroyers, sloops, frigates and corvettes of the special Royal Navy groups which are on the offensive against German submarines lurking in the ocean for the great convoys from Canada and the United States.

These groups, with a number of Canadians serving in them, go out from this port and others to hunt the U-boats up and down the North Atlantic. The killers have a roaming assignment from the Azores to the Arctic seas and Newfoundland to the Bay of Biscay.

Their work is entirely offensive and they supplement the job done by the regular escort vessels which stick with the convoys and fight off direct attacks on merchant ships and tankers.

This new tactic of hunting out the submarines has been a huge success in beating the enemy on the Atlantic and in this anti-submarine port when they talk of the killer groups, the veterans in the business immediately mention "Walker and Gretton," the top commanders on this job.

They are Capt. H. J. Walker, C.M.B., D.S.O., in the sloop "Starling" who commands the top scoring group, and Commander P W, Gretton, D.S.O., and Bar, O.B.E. and D.S.C. in the destroyer "Duncan," whose group is right on Walker's heels.

The men who sail in these groups are to the navy what the commandos are to the army—men with unusually daring assignments with a thrilling record of achievement and missions far from routine. They are the scourge of the U-boats and the Germans know it only too well. Several times they've sent out special long-range bombers to try and destroy the groups but they've failed, Walker and Gretton still prowl the seas.

Meet Church Leaders On Education Plan

The forces and energies may be well stimulated for positive grasp of fine prospects. It is an auspicious time for travel, agencies, publicity, writings and promotional enterprises, in which new decisions and agreements should be made with promptness and strategic efforts. Adventure or romance may enjoy sudden and surprising culminations. Shun extravagances.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a particularly lively and eventful year, in which swift, clever and decisive moves may be made while fortunate conditions are in the air. This pertains to writings, contracts, finance, business and legal matters and promotional enterprises, in connection with agencies, transportation and communications. There may be sudden turns demanding definite and prompt action, even if unforeseen change or travel are imperative. The element of adventure and romance is of major importance, but avoid plunging and over extravagance, in business as well as private affiliations.

TWO-WAY LEAP YEAR PROMISE—Her ring is a diamond-set Greek key circle . . . and its classic motif spells constant allegiance. His ring does not match hers, as once was the fashion, but is of plain palladium metal. This is the year when any maiden can propose marriage to the light of her heart . . . and be within the proprieties, according to legend. Whether or not the boy friends subscribe to this legend is a poser to which there is no registered answer. But established it is that not for years have there been so many double-ring ceremonies, in which both He and She accept a wedding ring; it's just possible that gallantry dictates that the least a man can do is say: "I'll buy my own ring" when he accepts the soft impeachment.—By Prunella Wood.

DOROTHY DIX

GRACIOUSNESS CHIEF ASSET

Properly Cultivated, It Will Take A Woman Farther Than Beauty, Wit Or Brains.

A group of high school girls ask me what is the one greatest attraction a woman can have. I think it is GRACIOUSNESS. That is your one best bet, girls. Cultivate it. It will take you farther than beauty, or wit, or brains. For there are people who care little for looks. Others who are allergic to wisecracks. And just loads of them who can't abide feminine highbrows. But all of us go down like ripe grain before the sickle before graciousness. Moreover, it is one of the charms that has no age limit to it. It works just as well when you are 70 as it does when you are 17.

It is hard to define graciousness because it is so intangible. There is no one particular thing you can put your finger on and say this is it. It is just the knack that some women have of tying a blue ribbon around the ordinary facts of life and making you feel that they are presenting you with a bouquet, instead of chucking a bunch of weeds at you.

Gracious Woman Attracts People

There used to be an old music hall ditty in which the aggrieved hero sang: "It isn't what he says, it's the narsty way he says it." The gracious woman is the reverse of this. It isn't what she says or does that draws us to her, as flies are drawn to the honey pot. It is the lovely way she says and does it. Other people may be just as kind, just as good, just as helpful to us, but do it in a way that leaves us desiring to do something lethal to them; while she leaves us simply sloshing over with gratitude and ready to kiss her feet.

Take, for instance, such a small thing as an invitation as an illustration of this. Haven't you had a woman, whose character was all angles without a single curve in it, say to you: "I was just telling my husband the other day that we simply MUST ask you to dinner before long. I am so ashamed of how we have NEGLECTED you." And, unless you had passed into the sanctified state and were beyond all natural human reactions, didn't you feel like throwing something at her and telling her that you would starve before you would put your feet under her table?

But, on the other hand, the gracious woman would have proffered her invitation in such a way that it made you feel that she had been simply pining for your society, and that she would consider it the honor of her life to have you in her house. Wild horses couldn't have kept you from accepting her invitation and, even if her dinner consisted of nothing but corned beef and cabbage, you would go away feeling that you had a feast that would make Lucullus turn over in his grave with envy.

Two Ways To Make Gifts

Same way about gifts. Good old Aunt Jane may send you a cheque that makes you persona grata once more with the butcher, or she may send you the dress or hat you need so sorely, but if they come wrapped up in a moral lecture you have to gulp down your resentment before you can say "thank you."

Just as few people know how to receive graciously as know how to give graciously. A friend of mine, a rich and most generous woman, says that there are stingy receivers just as there are stingy givers, and that much of her pleasure in helping people is spoiled by the grudging way in which they take favors. They would die rather than show that they liked anything you gave them, or appreciated the spirit that prompted it.

Above all, graciousness is the magic that turns even the most ordinary home into a paradise on earth, for it is what makes marriage a picnic instead of a treadmill. Most husbands and wives do their duty by their mates and their children but they do it with groans and complaints that are hard for the party of the other part to endure.

But when a husband and wife treat each other graciously; when they fall in with each other's plans with enthusiasm instead of having to be nagged into them; when they make as great an effort to be agreeable to each other as they are to strangers, then there is a marriage that never ends in the divorce court.

Graciousness is a charm to conjure with, girls. Try it.

This Week's Best Wartime Recipe

Contributed By Mary Moore Readers

Dear Mary Moore: I discovered this Princess Pudding when leafing through my cook book for some dessert that did not call for too much sugar. I have plenty of my jams and jellies left from last summer and thought maybe other of your readers were in the same postion as I, so I am sending this on. It's chief merit is that it saves sugar, uses your jelly, and besides that it is easy.

Princess Pudding.

(Contributed by Mrs. L. Young).

One cup quick-cooking tapioca, 3½ cups boiling water, ⅓ cup sugar (I only used ¼ cup and added up to 1 1-3 sups jelly), ½ teaspoon salt. Cook the tapioca in the water with the sugar and salt until clear and jellied. Add jelly and stir until dissolved. Chill very well and serve cold. I like to save the cream from the top of the milk and whip it, but pouring cream or a soft custar is good with it.

I make a soft custard by heating 1 cup milk nearly to boiling point. Mix 1 egg with 2 tablespoons sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, then pour the hot milk slowly over it stirring. Cook stirring constantly, until a coating will form on spoon. Remove from heat and add ½ teaspoon vanilla. This will keep for 4 days if kept covered and in refrigerator.

Question: Could you please tell me how to make a good gravy of roast pork. Mrs. H. McIn.

This custard will take place of cream in a great many cases—I know a lady who serves it over raw, sliced unpeeled spy apples— she is dieting to reduce and think it is quite delicious. Everybody to their own taste—I'prefer to munch the apple out of hand. Thanks.

The "Y" Stands Behind OUR BOYS

The 'Y' On The War Front

All through the main theatres of war the Y.M.C.A. has played its part. In 1914 and again in this world-wide struggle the "Y" is filling the important part of helping to keep up the morale of our fighting men. Through seemingly endless days and nights, through death and disaster, mobile and stationary canteens provide hot tea, biscuits, cigarettes, chocolate, amusement, writing materials, and comfort to our fighting men. The "Y" is doing its mighty part over there.

THE "Y" ON THE HOME FRONT

On the home front the work of the Y.M.C.A. is different but no less important. The work it has done and is doing of making better citizens out of young men is doubly important in this time of crisis. Clean, healthful, supervised sport and entertainment. Not only for the civilians but also for our boys in uniform. Supervised sport for our young boys. For the boys in uniform, the local Y.M.C.A. provides free use of their social rooms at all times. Provides free use of their swimming and shower facilities, including towels and soap. In the past months hundreds of our boys in service took advantage of this, and in two months of the summer last year, some 10,000 men in uniform used the "Y" facilities. Men on week-end furloughs are looked after by the "Y" with sleeping accommodations, and if these are not available at the "Y", suitable accommodations are found elsewhere. We ask your help in continuing to do this important work in Peterborough.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

The suits are so filled with the spirit of spring that they make you fairly feel it. They fit with a fluid ease, are gently tailored, are soft and pretty with delicate detail. If you are the kind of person who has always felt that you could not wear a suit, because it was too tailored, this season you will definitely change your mind. You will love the ease, graciousness and soft becomingness of the 1944 suits. And this does not apply only to suits. The smart coats, made in soft wools, and tweeds, that give one that willow slim look. A pretty coat shown in Frond Green wool, with a blonde fox collar, and the hat in one of those many youthful bonnet styles in the same shade of green with a blonde ribbon trim and veil.

The dresses are shown both in coat effect one piece and coat style two piece. The monk shoulder and the square neckline are new spring features. The new button trims are very much in the foreground, and while the dresses are rather plain, still these beautiful buttons give everything a dressed up appearance.

There are, too, many of the spring hats made of the same material as your dress, suit or coat and are made very much in millieary effects. The Scotch beret, worn either forward or in off-the-face effect, is very becoming to the young girl, especially those who have the new long hair do, in fluffy curls.

This season, as never before, so much depends on the way you wear your hair as to whether it is easy or hard to get a becoming hats. Some of the hats are designed for a sleek hair do others for long hair and others for curls. There is a hat style for each type, but one must look until they find the right one.

The hat, gloves and purse must match, these being in bright shades if the coat or suit is dark, or dark shades if the suit is bright.

I saw a very striking outfit on a lady the other day. She was wearing a lovely soft black dressmaker suit under her fur coat and her hat was of emerald green, a small forward perching pill box with black veil. Her gloves matched her hat and with the new square neckline of her blouse, she wore emerald green beads. It did give a very striking effect. Will give you more fashion hints next week.

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON
(Society Editor of The Examiner)

Post-war rehabilitation has been, and is continuing to be, the subject of countless discussions, and, although much has been said on this question, and of plans for this future need, little information has been given out regarding the work now under way to place ex-servicewomen in suitable jobs—jobs where their talents will be used to the greatests advantage.

Placing ex-servicewomen in positions in which their particular aptitudes will be utilized, is the job of Selective Service officers, who check the letter which each women receives with her discharge papers summarizing the experience and skills acquired by the applicant while on Active Service. The machinery in operation which is now placing an average of about 25 women a month in Toronto alone, will make a foundation for the vast rehabiliation scheme which will come into effect after the war.

Although most of these girls who are being placed today are going into war work, they still retain their skill learned in the service of their country, and therefore would still demand high employment priority when peace comes. Indeed, a great many employers, realizing the training in discipline and selfreliance given servicewomen, have expressed a preference for discharged women as employees.

Need Readjustment

It is reasonable to assume that a woman who has been in one of the services for some time will find it difficult to re-acquaint herself with civilian life and ways, and therefore she needs guidance and assistance in finding a new job. Selective Service officers provide this help, and see that time and consideration are given to her. The object of the rehabiliation scheme is to provide suitable, permanent, employment, in as short a time as possible.

In the majority of cases, women do not wish to return to their pre-enlisted employment, even though they have the privilege of doing so under the Civil Reinstatement Act. A great many of them have acquired additional training, which qualifies them for better jobs. For those who wish to learn other trades, approved schools are open, and commercial, industrial, and technical knowledge can be obtained, with living expenses paid during the training period.

Placement officers preferably veterans, so that they can handle returned women understandingly, have been trained, and it is their duty to try to interest employers in returned service people. In addition, every attempt is made to place them in jobs where they will be happy.

CREAMS LAST LONGER

To make skin creams last longer, try setting the jar on the radiator or in a bowl of hot water before using them. The creams lose none of their effectiveness if they are slightly more greasy, or thin, and spread more easily and go further.

Lent Creates A Problem Which Cheese Can Solve

By MARY MOORE.

Cheese souffle is an old favorite in our house, but it never quite satisfies me because it sticks to the baking pan so badly.

After eight years of making it the same way I've finally joggled myself out of my rut and worked out a cheese loaf that will turn out of the pan whole and crusty-looking onto a hot platter; it looks so nice flanked with opened baked potatoes and accompanied with tomato sauce.

Emem's Cheese Loaf.

(A delicious meat substitute).

One and one-half cups grated cheese, 1⅓ cups cooked rice, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, yolks and white separated, and beaten separately.

Heat milk in top of double boiler with the rice and cheese. Beat the yolks and pour the hot milk mixture over them and stir. Fold in stiffly beaten white and add salt. Have a small loaf pan ready with hot melted bacon fat (or cooking oil—not butter) and have it so hot that when cheese mixture is added it bubbles. This heat insures a crust that will not stick. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Potatoes can be baked at the same time and are an ideal accompaniment. Serve the cheese loaf with

Tomato Sauce: 2 cups tomatoes, canned or fresh, 2 slices of onion, 1 bayleaf, 3 cloves, 3 tablespoons each flour and butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon sugar. Cook together tomatoes, onions, bayleaf and cloves 15 minutes. Then put through sieve, forcing through as much of the tomato pulp as possible. Melt butter, stir in flour and add the strained tomatoes, salt, pepper and sugar. As soon as thick and hot serve. This sauce is also delicious with fish, or poached eggs.

Macaroni and Cheese Croquettes.

A nifty new form for an old favorite.

Two cups cooked elbow macaroni or macaroni pellets or shells, 1 cup hot thick white sauce (see text), 1 cup grated cheese, egg and crumb for dipping. Make a thick white sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter (or using 4 tablespoons cooking oil) and adding 4 tablespoons flour; stir in 1 cup milk until thick. Add salt and pepper to taste. Then melt the cheese in the hot sauce, and stir until partially melted, then add the macaroni. Spread out on hot greased platter to cool. When cold cut into squares, dip in beaten eggs, then crumbs, and fry in deep or shallow fat. This is good and looks nice too, with well drained spinach and sliced buttered beets.

Cheese Pie (Cheese Cake)

I learned to like this dish from some Jewish friends of mine, and since then have found it to be popular with a good many people. It is, of course, not a main course savory dish like the above two suggestions—but could be eaten as a hearty dessert, when you have served soup, let us say, and possibly a large salad—it makes a good Saturday night's supper.

Line pie plate with raw pie crust. Pour in mixture of: 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup cream or top milk, 4 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup blanched almonds or pecans (these may be left out when not available), 1 cup currants (these may be substituted with raisins), 1 teaspoon salt. The beaten whites are folded into mixture just before pouring into pie plate lined with pastry. If crust is brushed with beaten egg whites before mixture is poured in it will help prevent it becoming soggy. Bake at 450 for 10 minutes, then at 350 for 20 minutes longer.

Perfect Welsh Rarebit.

Two tablespoons bacon fat, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 1 cup thin cream or top milk, 1¼ cups grated cheese, 1 egg, toast or toasted whole wheat crackers. Melt the fat and add the flour, mustard, salt and cayenne and mix well. Add cream slowly and bring to boiling point, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir until blended. Remove from heat. Beat the egg well and pour the hot sauce over it. Mix well. Serve immediately on hot toast or crackers. This is also especially good if served on waffles that have no sugar in them—I did this one evening when I had some unexpected and hungry callers drop in after a skating party, and I had to make two batches.

Corn and Cheese Fondue.

I am especially fond of this because I like corn and cheese both—another nice way after you try this is to try Corn au Gratin.

One cup milk, 1⅓ cups breadcrumbs, 1 cup stewed or canned corn, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese, 1 tablespoon salt, pepper paprika to taste, 3 egg yolks, beaten until thick, 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Mix together the milk, crumbs, corn, cheese, butter and seasonings. Add the yolks and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites. These are best if baked in individual buttered baking dishes, because they will slip out neatly and have an attractive glazed appearance.

Corn au Gratin.

While this dish alone is not sufficient to substitute for meat or fish, it does boost the protein part of a meal — you could serve two slices of bacon with it and boiled spinach and have a nice economical dinner or supper. To two cups canned corn add 2 cups medium white sauce in which 1 cup cheese has been melted. Add salt and pepper and if you like it quite thick add 3 tablespoons corn meal. Pour into buttered baking dish, sprinkle top with buttered crumbs and bake about 20 minutes, or until heated through and golden.

One of our readers is one of those natural born cooks who has to know how to make "different" things or she isn't happy. She asked me to print the method for making those little "Cheese Balls" sometimes served in high-class dining rooms with salads. She assured me she would see it any time I had room for it—that was three months ago, and now here it is:

Cheese Balls

(Or "Puffs" to serve with salad).

One cup bread crumbs, ¾ cup grated cheese, ¼ cup butter, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs beaten. Put all but eggs in bowl and work well together for about 6 minutes. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Make into balls the size of walnuts and fry in deep fat at 375 deg. Fehr. for about 1½ minutes—or until delicately browned. Serve as soon as possible with green or fruit salads. This amount makes 9 to 12 puffs.

Answer:

Gravy From Roast Pork.

Since roast pork deposits too much fat in roasting pan most of it should be poured off after roast is lifted out. Lift roast to hot platter and keep warm while gravy is being prepared. Pour off as much of the excess fat in pan as you can without letting any of the brown gravy off— there should not be more than ½ cup mixed fat and gravy left in pan. Add 4 level tablespoons flour and stir until thoroughly mixed with the fat, then add the water from the potatoes and other vegetables—making it up to 2 cups with boiling water. Stir until gravy is thick; strain into gravy boat. Now the question of salt and pepper comes up. The salt which is sprinkled on the roasts before it is first put in the oven flavors the fat in pan. The water from the vegetables should contain salt. So it may not be necessary to add anything but a little pepper or paprika to the gravy—you will have to taste it.

If the gravy is not brown enough to please you melt 1 tablespoon sugar in iron frying pan and stir it until it is dark brown—this will not sweeten the gravy because it is burned and merely adds to the appearance of the gravy.

Question: Some months ago or maybe over a year ago there was a recipe in the paper for Orange Marmalade. I remember you take 6 oranges, possibly 3 lemons and boil whole; take so much of the juice, etc., etc. I would very much appreciate it if I could have that recipe, as I have misplaced mine. Mrs. Arthur J.

Answer: Because I am so long in replying to your letter does not mean that it was neglected. I cannot find a recipe for orange marmalade which requires the oranges and lemons to be boiled whole.

However, I made some marmalade starting as you suggest and here is the method I worked out.

Orange and Lemon Marmalade.

(Fruit cooked whole).

Wash very well 6 oranges and 3 lemons. Cover with cold water — just enough to barely submerge fruit— and cover and bring to boiling point and boil 10 minutes—reducing heat as soon as it comes to boiling point. Stand off heat and let cool until it becomes cool enough to handle fruit. Measure liquid in pan and to each cup liquid add 3 cups sugar— if there are not 2 cups liquid make it up to 2 cups with boiling water. Working on large platter slice oranges and lemons very thin— discarding the seeds from the lemons — the oranges should be seedless. This slicing is very easy because fruit is softened (this is the only advantage this method has over regular method of making marmalade). Put all the sliced fruit and juice on platter in pot with sugar and cooking liquid and bring to boiling point and simmer for 20 minutes. Test marmalade on cold plate to see if it will jell—stand marmalade off heat while making jell test.

Hoping this is the method you require and that we can be of help.

Give Facilities For Soldiers To Get Educated

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 — (CP) — Dr. G. M. Weir, acting director of training in the Pensions Department, said to-day before the Commons Reconstruction Committee that an Educational Revolution is possible after the war when the Dominion launches its greatest adult education program.

Speaking after tabling of his lengthy report based on the opinions of thousands of Canadians on rehabilitation, Dr. Weir referred to the educational opportunities being offered to members of the forces.

Businessmen's replies to questionnaires indicated they might display 'over-timidity" in respect to employment possibilities but at the same time they expected great industrial expansion in the post-war period, he said.

Despite such incongruous opinions, some of the most competent observers believed there not only would be full employment after the war but also insufficient trained workers for available jobs.

Continuous studies of the opinions of men and women in the forces are desirable, said Dr. Weir.

John R. McNicol (PC--Toronto Davenport) said he would like to see some "concrete evidence" that the Government is planning jobs at which men can be put to work immediately after the war.

"It is re-jobbing we want, not re-training," he said.

Members of the armed forces were for the most part highly trained and many would be ready to go to work immediately on discharge.

"I hope the Government will plan a large program of self-liquidating works to be paid for by the Federal and Provincial Governments and by municipalities. These could be works that must be done; which should have been done long ago."

Pensions Minister Mackenzie said plans for such post-war projects are being drafted and "that will be one of the main jobs of the minister of reconstruction who is to be appointed by the government."

Vincent Dupuis (L-Chambly-Rouville) said education was in the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces and their co-operation was needed. He asked what had been done in Quebec.

Dr. Weir said he conferred with Premier Adelard Godbout and received co-operation in the province. Nothing would be done under the training program to violate minority rights.

Dr. Weir told G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) said men desiring to be dentists after war service would get assistance in finishing a course if he made adequate progress.

Lonergan's Trial Is Set Over Until Monday

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP). — Wayne Lonergan's trial for the slaying of his heiress wife, Patricia, today was adjourned until Monday when his counsel, Edward V. Broderick, failed to appear in the courtroom for the second successive day.

Judge Jonah J. Freschi said he had received another telegram from Broderick from Canada declaring that he could not appear until Monday.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet reluctantly agreed to a defence motion for an adjournment.

Last Of Quadruplets Dies After 2 Days

DECATUR, Ala., Feb. 24 —(AP)— Dianne Hutto, last of the quadruplets born to the 23-year-old wife of an army paratrooper Tuesday, died this morning in Benevolent Hospital.

Death, as in the cases of her two sisters and brother, resulted from "weakness and prematurity," hospital attaches said.

Her mother, Mrs. Spencer Edmund Hutto, 23, was in good condition. The father, Pte. Hutto, 25, came here yesterday from Fort Benning, Ga.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

"B. P." SCOUT WEEK.

This week every town and village throughout Canada, where Scouting has been established, Scouting will take on some special work to bring out the memory of our late leader Lord Baden Powell of Gilwell, the Chief Scout of the World, founder of this splendid movement of ours. If our Chief had lived, to-day he would be celebrating his 85th birthday.

When the Chief died, he left behind a glorious heritage of youth with ideals that are second to none in the world, a heritage that, will live so long as each and everyone of us keep our Scout Promise and Laws. Based on the foundation of Christian Brotherhood for all, it cannot fail, unless we, who have found so much grace and comfort, friendship and character in the teachings we have received, fail to take up the burden and in our turn help to spread Scouting to our young brothers in every walk of life, no matter what nationality, creed or color.

Let us then go forward, not just thinkers but doers in this work. I would make this special appeal to all you older Scouts, who have long since left the movement, to rejoin and do your part in the memory of "B. P."

St. Luke's.

Under the rays of a full moon, Ross Withers led the Grand Howl at the council Rock with the Pack in good attendance. Back at their lairs with Sixers collected the bones and made record of those who were absent.

Knot competition in the form of rescue work gave the boys a chance to expound their knowledge on the wild vines. Then came work time with new chums learning the laws and promise of the Jungle whilst their wiser and older brothers took signalling and 1st star work.

Bobby Harvey displayed how to balance the books of his head, Kenneth Pammett was able to repeat the Laws and Prose that old Baloo had been teaching him and seconder Doug Britnell first skipped around with a long vine after which he tied the knots that one must learn to gain a badge.

At Red Flower, all the Cubs sat on their haunches and gave vent to "Tenderpad Tim" and Akela told about a Cub who earned his dog's license.

Sunday Morning the Cubs met at the Church and attended divine service in memory of "B. P." our Late Chief Scout.

Mark St.

It was a bit of honor week at the Troop meeting with many members receiving badges that they had earned during that past month. Many games were played and other work carried out. The following tests were passed—Glen Hunter and Dave Simpson passed 1st class swimming and also tests for the swimmers badge. Dave also passed the Missioners Badge along with Bill Crowder. Second Class and Provincial Badges were presented to Bill Crowder, Walter Pridham, Cal. Hawkins, Glen Hunter, Homer Lee, and Roy Mullen, the Provincial Badge also being given to Billie English, George Phillips received the Instructors Badge.

All Saints Pack

We are looking forward to some news from the Cub Pack but have not received any todate. The Troop are going ahead and although they are arranging a Church parade for some future date they acted guard of honour at the Church parade of the Sea Cadets this Sunday. Patrol instruction in knots and tenderpad work was the main item on the agenda last week and the grease drive is still going ahead in good style. A parent's night is being planned for in about three weeks. Don Batley and Gordon Blackwell, two former members of the troop were seen around town last week. Both are in uniform and looked well.

St. Andrew's Pack

It was real jungle atmosphere at the Pack meeting last week with a dance and the Grand howl being led by Bill Frisken who was acting as Bagheera for the evening and Sixer Grier Elcome being Baloo. Fred Russell took the part of Doe in the Woods.

We were glad to welcome two new leaders who were introduced to the Pack and given their Jungle names Miss M. Jones is now Baloo and Miss L. Whittaker was named Rann. Some Jungle names were also awarded to the 'Tawny Paws,' Sixer Robert Hutchinson, Red Fang, Cub Grant Harrison—Hawkeye and Cub Howard Harrison—Kawsin.

In the Lairs time was taken with knot instruction and during games, knot relays were run offf with the Red Six winning Reef Knot relay, the Tawny Six got the Sheet bend relay and the Green Six came out tops in the Dizzyman's relay.

New Chums Joe Mathews, Jim Ridyard, Ron Edwards and Richard Foley have completed their tenderpad tests and will be invested in the near future, Bob Hutchison led the closing Grand Howl.

At St. John's

Baloo and Raksha carried on in the absence of Akela as some twenty-four eager Cubs gathered around the Council Rock last Friday. Inspection was given on Fangs, Akela's growl taken by Raksha was on the Jungle names. Games of Bunny Hop and book balancing relay were played, after which instruction was given on the flag and signalling. Songs were the main item at Red Flower, letters to the parents were given every boy present, as next Friday is our parents' night and we hope that every Mum and Dad can come along. It is not a special evening, but just an ordinary Pack meeting to demonstrate to the parents just what their boys do every week.

On Sunday the Pack and Troop attended divine service to commemorate Boy Scout Week.

The following boys have passed tests during the week: Drew Buckland, Albert Cunningham, Bobby Rogers, Albert Buckton, Jack Church, Bobby Craw, Don Ferguson, George Nickson, Harold Valoris, Terry Chapman, Doug. Robertson, Ian Blaiklock, all passed first aid; Clarence Jame and David Bacon, passed time; Gerry Cousins and D. Bacon, Union Jack; Roderick Delaney, knots.

Former St. John's Rover Wins Cash in New York

Word was received this week that Tom Littlefair, former member of St. John's Rover crew, now in the navy, was in New York recently, and with four other companions, attended the Lucky Strike program where Tom was the lucky winner of one hundred dollars. Good going, Tom.

British Press Acclaims Churchill Talk

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill's war review in the House of Commons Tuesday was acclaimed by the British press as an illuminating statement of British foreign policy and an encouraging re-assurance of harmony in the Allied camp.

Almost without exception London editorial writers seized upon the Prime Minister's assertions yesterday, that Britain, the United States and Russia "are absolutely united in their action against the common foes" as an outstanding feature of his address.

"No part of the Prime Miister's speech was received by the House, or will be received by the country, with greater satisfaction than his firm declaration that in relations between the three major Allies none of the ground made good at Moscow and Teheran has been lost," said the Times of London.

The Daily Mail declared that Churchill's speech was "full of information and therefore one of the most valuable he has delivered."

"His most valuable assurance," the Mail said, "was that no political ground has been lost among the Allies since the Teheran conference. This word was necessary, for the indiscretions of Pravda and the reception in some quarters here and in America of Russian constitutional reforms had led to a regrettable revival of mutual suspicions."

The News-Chronicle also declared the Prime Minister's "forthright statements on inter-Allied relations, on the Soviet-Polish dispute and on internal troubles in Yugoslavia, Greece and Italy" should go far to "dispose of rumorings, whisperings, and ill-founded guesses which have been poisoning the atmosphere."

The Daily Mail said Churchill's words should have special significance to the Poles and added that they "would be well advised to bring to an end forthwith their dispute with the Russians over post-war frontiers."

Cautious Review.

The Daily Telegraph called the review 'remarkably undramatic' and said the real justification for Churchill giving first place to the air offensive "is the prospect that the air defences of Germany can be knocked out owing to Allied production...and that German war production can then be completely paralyzed."

The Western Mail said "the most significant passage was the warning that Mr. Churchill has never taken the view that the end of war in Europe was at hand, or that Hitler was about to collapse...."

The Manchester Guardian, referring to Mr. Churchill's remarks on fighting in Italy, admitted there is a drain on German strength in that theatre but added: "Yet it is with a sense of frustration one sees the Allies with control of the sea and air superiority battling now on two fronts against the Germans fighting bitterly in the Italian mountains."

The Glasgow Herald also took this approach. It said: "The real cause of the hold-up at Anzio remains undisclosed. It is made clear, however, that there was some failure between intention and execution. ...Our Italian operations have been little more rewarding than our political moves."

The Yorkshire Post noted two encouraging remarks on the Italian campaign—the holding of 18 German divisions in combat and provision of bomber bases. "It is concrete evidence that the stubborn Italian campaign is already yielding some of the important dividends which the Allies mean to gain from it."

Church Members Need More Missionary Zeal

KEENE, Feb. 24 —(ENS)— At Keene United church on Sunday the sermon was based on the text "Arise, shine, for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. Darkness coverth the earth and gross darkness the people."

"No truer picture of what the church is called to be," said the Rev. George Murray, "than is this prophecy of Isaiah and the fulfilment of it depends on all who profess to be followers of Christ."

Quoting statistics of the church and the progress made during 1943, one might well be pleased. It was Robertson Nicol who said, "Let no one fancy that the church can be lashed into missionary zeal by statistics." Nothing short of the passion of Knox, Wesley and Wycliffe will enable the organized church to adopt a more aggressive policy in reaching the lapsed masses outside of the Christian church.

Mrs. Byron of Oakville, sang. At this service a special offering was taken for the famine and medical relief of India and China. A number of the armed forces were in attendance at church, representing the Navy, Army and Air Force.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BUSINESS DOUBLES PAY

THERE IS one best way to score more points than the dealer dealt your side in the cards. That is by making a business double of an opponent's bid if you get a good chance to do it. Of course, sometimes the double will chase him or his partner into some other declaration which you can't damage much. But much of the time he either will be unable to do that, having no other declaration in sight, or else just simply doesn't do it if he can:

	♠ K J 10 7 ♥ A Q 4 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A Q 9 4
♠ 9 8 4 2 ♥ J 8 5 2 ♦ 7 ♣ K 7 5 2	N W E S	♠ A Q 6 5 ♥ 10 9 7 ♦ A J 10 9 5 ♣ 3
	♠ 3 ♥ K 6 3 ♦ K Q 8 6 4 ♣ J 10 8 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

	North	East	South	West
1.	1♣	1♦	3♣	Pass
	3♠	Pass	3 NT
2.	1♣	1♦	Dbl
3.	1♣	1♦	Dbl	Pass
	Pass	1♠	Pass	Pass
	Dbl
4.	1♣	1♦	Dbl	Pass
	Pass	1♠	Pass	Pass
	3 NT

Those were the bidding sequences at all tables of a duplicate game. The best score for any North-South pair was at Table 2, where 1-Diamond doubled got set three tricks, giving North and South 800 points.

In the middle came the various No Trump declarers, who reached their contract either the way it was done at Table 1 or the way the Table 4 people got there. Nearly all of those made either one or two extra tricks. Counting the Vulnerable game bonus of 500 points, they scored from 630 to 660 points.

The worst North-South score came where East knew enough to pull himself out of the hole in which he found himself when doubled at 1-Diamond, by bidding 1-Spade, but North didn't realize the difference between "sitting under" the declarer with four trumps and "sitting over" him with five, as South did when the diamonds got doubled. North's double of 1-Spade resulted in a two-trick set for a score of only 500 points, giving his pair bottom and East-West a top.

Legal Heirs Are Sought For $17,000 Estate

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24 — A $17,000 estate is hunting in and around Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, for relatives of William and Agnes Waddell, nee Rae, who would be the legal heirs.

This was revealed here to-day when Walter C. Cox, probate genealogist, 206 S. LaSalle Street, assumed direction of the search at the request of estate attorneys

Mr. Cox, who specializes in tracing family trees and missing relatives to settle estates, said that the couple first settled in Peterborough after coming from Scotland in 1873, and that there is reason to believe that descendants of relatives who accompanied them from Scotland may be still living in the vicinity.

"The fortune was left by a descendant of the couple," said Mr. Cox, "and unless other descendants or relatives can be found on this side of the Atlantic, it will probably revert back through their ancestry to children or grandchildren of their brothers and sisters in Scotland.

"Waddell is known to have been born in Scotland in 1847, of Donald and Kate Waddell. He married Agnes Rae, born in 1852 in Edinburgh, just before sailing for Canada.

The couple's first child was born in Peterborough in 1874, and they remained in that city until 1883, when they emigrated to the United States, settling in Indiana.

Bearded Corvette Skipper Goes Sleepless Four Days

By ROSS MUNRO—Canadian Press War Correspondent

A PORT IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Feb. 25—(CP). — The corvette "Rosthern" of the Royal Canadian Navy has been through some of the heaviest German submarine attacks on North Atlantic convoys, and veteran that she is, she still rocks her way back and forth between Newfoundland and this Irish base.

Since the fall of 1942 she has been captained by bearded Lt.-Cmdr. R. J. G. Johnson of Toronto, who was in life insurance before the war.

Johnson made five crossings with the Rosthern before anything happened. Then action came with a bang. Escorting a convoy to Canada a merchant ship was torpedoed and the Rosthern picked up a contact indicating a submarine was close by.

She attacked with depth charges, and after they went off there was a tremendous underwater explosion. They couldn't claim a U-boat destroyed for no wreckage appeared on the surface.

The submarine pack closed in on the convoy again and again and the battle raged on. Johnson didn't sleep for four days, keeping his vigil on the bridge.

Last Winter Worst.

This was during the heaviest German U-boat warfare last winter but the Rosthern and the other escorts fought off many attacks and were complimented for the battle they put up.

The Rosthern made other attacks before she got into port, with her depth charges practically all expended.

In two days she sailed again and had another terrific crossing, fighting U-boats for days.

Polish Angry At Churchill

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Polish government in London was reported today to have sent to Foreign Secretary Eden a refusal to accept the Curzon line as a future Polish-Russian frontier and to have expressed displeasure at Prime Minister Churchill's support of the Soviet demands.

The semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski, which said yesterday the Curzon line was not acceptable, intimated the Soviet-Polish dispute reached an impasse and that marked differences had arisen between the British and Polish governments over the boundary issue.

Marshal Stalin's rejection of the latest compromise offer of the Polish government in London was regarded as an almost foregone conclusion. The Russian reply to a proposal for

Burma Japanese Now Retreating

NEW DELHI, Feb. 25 —(CP) — Japanese have been driven from their positions south of Ngakyedauk Pass through the Mayu Hills in the Arakan sector of Burma and British troops already are using the road after a long battle with Japanese who at one time were attacking the Pass from all sides, south-east Asia headquarters announced today.

Two columns of Allied troops meanwhile were driving down from the north and attacking the enemy at the northeastern end of the Pass where the heaviest resistance has been countered.

Japanese attacks on the hills just east and north of the Buedaung-Maungdaw road were broken up, the communique said.

In North Burma, Chinese patrols occupied Yanbang Ga.

United States heavy bombers attacked Akyak airfields, while R.A.F. heavy bombers smashed at Moulmein and Martaban jetties and railway sheds.

Germans Expect 3 Landings In France

LONDON, Feb. 25—(CP-Reuters). —The Swiss newspaper La Suisse said today that Germans are speculating that the Allies are examining a plan providing for simultaneous landings in Brittany, Northern France and the Marseilles area.

The paper called this a "strategic De Gaulle plan" and said the Germans are considering that its object would be to cut France in two, isolate her from Spain and alter the strategic position in Italy.

German press reports, the paper said, describe Sardinia and Corsica as large-scale Allied military bases.

Ten Divisions Now Face Anzio Force

Allies Strengthen Positions Expecting Attack

NAPLES, Feb. 25.— (AP).—German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at British and American lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the 5th Army steadily ihproved its positions, it was announced to-day.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Mount Abate 1½ miles east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, Allied troops improved their positions on Mount Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, mid-way between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzo beachhead for taining the Anzio beachhead for brought from Northern Italy. It was identifned as the 362nd infantry.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case—usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

Although the Germans maintained close contact against the Allied beachhead, the passing of another day, the fifth, without major developments gave the 5th Army valuable time to strengthen its defences against an expected third full-scale German offensive.

The Germans continued to make a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a 5th Army spokesman said these were being kept under control.

Patrols sent out by the British 8th Army found German positions still firm. Allied mortar fire tore into a considerable German movement in the Arielli area inland from the Adriatic coast.

In all the day's operations, which included attacks on enemy objectives in Italy and Yugoslavia and against shipping along the Yugoslav coast, 36 enemy aircraft were destroyed. Twenty-one Allied planes were lost.

Spitfires destroyed 13 enemy aircraft on a Yugoslav landing ground, setting eight ablaze and riddling the others. An Australian Kittybomber sank a 5,000-ton enemy merchantman with a direct hit off the coast of Yugoslavia.

Medium bombers attacked an airfield at Fabrica Di Roma.

Massey Appeals To Canadians For More Faith

TORONTO, Feb. 25 (CP)—A view of Canada from abroad and the part she must play as a community in the world were outlined today by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom.

Home for the first time since 1937, Mr. Massey in an address to the Canadian Club told how the war has broadened Canadian contacts and given new ones, how Canadians and Britons have gained a wider knowledge of the problems confronting each country and a better understanding of their peoples.

To his fellow-countrymen Mr. Massey made a direct plea for faith in themselves, a faith that will carry them through the struggle today and lead them to their proper role in the world of tomorrow.

"As we run over our advantages in the world of today, it is an impressive list, the things we have: Our favorable place on the map, our natural wealth, our links and kinship with Britain; above all, the

Nazi Troops Evacuate Vitebsk City

Germans Fall Back Toward Old Polish Frontier

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP) — Germany's Transocean News Agency broadcast today said German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk, to fall back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the west.

The German high command's communique, broadcast later, did not mention Vitebsk but confirmed an earlier Berlin announcement—also made by Moscow—that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, a centre 150 miles south of Vitebsk.

Moscow army authorities said Hitler's Rogachev-Vitebsk line, one of the strongest of the Russian front, is smashed. Red Army men streamed across the ice of the Dnieper River which forms a large part of the line, dispatches said.

Moscow had not announced the capture of Vitebsk.

The German Transocean News Agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the Ministry of Information, said Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways, under siege by Red Army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast acknowledged the "evacuation" of Rogachev.

STOCKHOLM—A Budapest dispatch to the Morgon Tidningen said today that Vienna authorities were preparing to evacuate the former Austrian capital beginning March 1.

STOCKHOLM—The Allies on the Cassino front are said to have been reinforced by British, Indian and French Moroccan troops and there were signs that a big attack was coming.

Six Demands Are Made On Finland

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25.—(AP). — Reported Russian terms for an armistice with Finland, especially those regarding the disposition of German troops garrisoned in Northern Finland, are understood here to have met with a mixed reception in Finnish circles.

The London correspondent of Dagens Nyheter listed to-day six Soviet armistice demands from unofficial but well-informed non-British sources who he said were optimistic about Finland's chances of quitting the war.

The dispatch said Moscow conditions included:

1. Re-establishment of the 1940 border.

2. Internment of German troops in Northern Finland for the duration.

3. If Finland desires, the Red army will march into the country to assist in putting the Germans under control, but Finland's decision on this point will be voluntary.

4. If Finland and Russia agree on the Red army marching in, Russia will guarantee to retire after the military operations against the Germans is completed.

5. Moscow makes no demands for changes in the Finnish government.

6. Demobilization of the Finnish army and war damages are to be settled by later negotiations.

Against this optimistic approach was the statement of a Finn just arrived in Sweden who said Finland was profoundly disturbed by what is understood to be one of the Russian demands — that the Finnish army combine with the Russians in a drive to exterminate the seven German divisions now in Finland.

WALKS OUT — Albert Barkley, Democratic leader in the U.S. Senate, precipitated a grave crisis for President Roosevelt this week when he resigned in protest against the veto of the tax law. His colleagues promptly re-elected him, and voted down the Presidential veto.

Senate Opposes Roosevelt Overrides Veto

WAHINGTON, Feb. 25 — (AP)— A determined Senate teamed up with the House of Representatives to-day to override President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto. The Senate vote to override was 72 to 14, for more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The President's veto message sparked a Congressional revolt which from the start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second Wartime Tax Measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

Senator Barkley's dramatic resignation as Senate Democractic leader yesterday, only furnished visual proof of a seemingly inevitable break between the White House and Capitol Hill. The Senate Democrats promptly demonstrated a new independence by unanimously re-electing the Kentuckian to the position.

In the House Democrats joined Republicans in rolling up a 299 to 95 vote to override the veto yesterday.

Barkley helped clear the atmosphere by dispatching a letter of friendship to President Roosevelt last night, but even the generally conciliatory tone of this missive did not completely bridge the gaping breach between the executive and legislative branches of the Government. Barkley made it clear that in the future there must be co-operation both ways.

While Barkley's letter expressed hope that the dispute would result in closer co-operation between legislative and executive branches of government it contained no indication that he had changed his mind about overriding the tax bill veto.

In renouncing his post as leader Wednesday, Barkley declared Congress would vote to override if it "has any self respect yet left."

The House could hardly wait to show how it stood. Banning even the briefest of speeches, the members yesterday overrode the veto 299 to 95 and passed the final move to the Senate.

It was evident that Barkley was willing to go a long way to smooth out the turmoil which for 48 hours threatened to rip the Democratic party into dissident pieces at the beginning of a Presidential campaign.

Schweinfurt And Stuttgart Smashed By Allies; Demolish Plant Factories

Unprecedented Scourge Of Aerial Might Rips Ball-Bearing Plants Adding New Destruction In Burning Cities

LONDON, Feb. 25—(AP).—The R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. flew 1,000 bombers from Britain to Schweinfurt last night to blast that key German aircraft industry centre and large formations of American heavy bombers carried the unprecedented Allied aerial offensive through its sixth day today with further blows at Regensburg Stuttgart and other targets.

"Many squadrons" of the R.C.A.F. bomber group took part in the battering of Schweinfurt.

In the continuing two-day scourge of Nazi plane production last night the R.A.F. also sent formations of Wellingtons from Italy to attack Steyr, in Austria.

Both Schweinfurt and Steyr were already burning from the Thursday two-day attack by American heavy bombers based in Britain and Italy.

Today's strong forces of American four-engined heavyweights were protected by swarms of Allied fighters as they dumped new destruction on the aircraft works at Regensburg and the ball-bearing works at Stuttgart.

All targets of the daylight assault were deep inside Germany with the assault on Regensburg, in southern Germany, requiring a round trip flight of more than 1,100 miles.

An R. C. A. F. communique announced the loss of seven Canadian bombers, part of the total night's losses of 35 planes announced by the Air Ministry.

The R.A.F.'s night-raiding bombers were guided to both targets by the flaming wreckage left a few hours before by the American daylight raiders. The British and Canadian bombs added still further damage to Schweinfurt's sprawling ball bearing plants and the R. A. F. hit the German aircraft factory at Steyr, in Austria.

156 Planes Downed.

U. S. Headquarters announced that the powerful American air fleet which flew from the west and south yesterday shot down 156 Nazi planes. Eighth Air Force bombers from Britain downed 83 Nazi planes during their attacks on chwenifurt and fighter plane factories at Gotha while their accompanying fighters accounted for 37 others in terrific air battles. Bombers of the 15th Air Force from Italy attacking Steyr bagged 36 Nazi fighters.

The British-based American forces lost 49 bombers and 10 fighters; the Italy-based formations lost 16 bombers and three fighters with two other fighters missing.

In Tuesday's two-way punch, the first of the series of simultaneous assaults from west and south, the combined American Forces shot down 133 German fighters.

The Air Ministry's announcement said that lats night's heavy assault on Schweinfurt actually was carried out in two esparate raids.

"Schweinfurt, the German centre of ball bearing production was the main objective and was attacked twice during the night," it said. "Fires started yesterday by the United States 8th Air Force were still burning on the arrival of our first force.

The target was effectively marked and by the end of the second attack a great conflagration was seen with smoke rising to a great height.

Italian Allied Headquarters today gave over-all losses of 21 planes in the Mediterranean theatre yesterday in widespread operations.

Catholic Labor Discusses Family Subsidy

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 — (CP) — The Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor today endorsed the principle of family allowances on condition they form a supplement to an adequate wage and not a means of freezing wages at low levels.

In its annual brief prepared for presentation to members of the cabinet, the confederation urged revision of the new wage-control order and asked htat care be taken in labor legislation and social security measures to protect the autonomy of the provinces.

Among proposed amendments to national selective service regulations, the brief recommended repeal of the compulsory labor-transfer provisions. Increased unemployment insurance benefits for workers with dependents were also asked.

The confederation said it was opposed to a school of thought which favored increased centralization at Ottawa, and urged return to the provinces after the war of all jurisdictional rights they previously held as "the only in which the existence of the Canadian Confederation can be protected."

The brief urged that the government's new labor code on compulsory collective bargaining be restricted to war industries and that care be taken to protect the rights of minority unions.

The confederation urged easing of income taxation and said it "would have no objection if the government

3 Big Jap Ships Sent To Bottom

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 25—(AP).— American destroyers sank two more Japanese merchant vessels and a destroyer off New Ireland Tuesday, underscoring an Allied announcement today that the Allies dominate the sea north of the Bismarck Archipelago.

More air raids on Rabaul, New Britain, Monday and Tuesday, with 164 tons of bombs dropped on airdromes and shipping in Keravia Bay, continued neutralization of the enemy's air bases.

United States troops have pushed beyond the Mot River on the northeastern New Guinea coast and are about 12 miles northwest of Saidor, moving toward Madang, Japanese coastal base about 45 miles farther northwest.

Civilian Casualties Grow In London

Hitler Uses Nuisance Raids To Boost Morale On Home Front

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

Prime Minister Churchill stalked through London areas damaged by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz, and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim belligerency:

"We'll stick it out and give it."

This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive on Britain is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.

It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo - American bombing of Western Europe and the Reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's fortress. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.

The Fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the Reich still possesses great striking power in the air. He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforeseen event should impel the Allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.

However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the blitz of 1940-41, there is no sign that Germany has sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees, or anything like it.

The Nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their air force is only a shadow of its former self, but they are employing more powerful bombs. The net result is that they are causing a lot of destruction which has little military value, and are killing a good many civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only nuisance value.

The peace angle is important from Hitler's point of view. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing the Allies down to a point where they will compromise. Recently it has been disclosed, too, that his agents have been putting out peace feelers in many quarters.

These overtures, though, have contemplated a negotiated peace which would enable the Nazis to salvage much from the wreckage. Thus the sum total is that we must smash Hitler on the battlefield.

Yugoslavs Storm Island Of Brac

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP)—Yugoslav Partisan troops have landed on the Dalmatian Island of Brac, just south of the Port of Split, and have taken a heavy toll of German forces garrisoned there, a communique from the headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio and recorded by The Associated Press, declaring the landing was a "complete success." No further details were reported.

President Roosevelt Absent

Doctor Orders Patient Away From Job

WITH THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY, Feb. 25—(AP).—President Roosevelt, slow to shake off effects of a recent attack of influenza, is getting a measure of rest and relaxation away from politically stormy Washington.

He is isolated personally from representatives of the press.

But it would be inaccurate to say that he is isolated also from the repercussions of his veto of the tax bill, since special facilities permit him almost instant communication with the White House.

The President himself had disclosed that he was out of town when he urged Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley not to resign that post in protest against the tax bill veto. No official explanation of his absence has been forthcoming.

Mr. Roosevelt, however, contracted influenza shortly after Christmas and the case was severe enough to drop his weight 10 pounds. His personal physician, Vice-Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, had been urging him to get out of the capital, to take it easy for a time and regain his strength.

McIntyre has seen no cause for alarm over the condition of his number one patient, [illegible] much as the after-effects of the [illegible] considered normal.

Fire Wipes Out Family Of 4

Overheated Stove Believed Responsible

ACTON, Feb. 25—(CP). — Four persons, a mother, father and two children, were burned to death when their home was destroyed by fire here early today.

They were Mr. and Mrs. George Mills and their children, Patsy, aged four, and Garry, two. The house was completely destroyed.

The fire, believed from an overheated stove, apparently broke out while the family slept. Robert McLeod, a boarder, escaped by breaking through his bedroom window, but the flames were so severe he was unable to assist the others.

McLeod was brought to Guelph Hospital for treatment of burns, but his condition is not serious.

Stanley McHugh of Acton, who was passing the Mills' home, first noticed the fire and gave the alarm. The flames at that time were shooting through the roof.

The bodies of the victims were recovered. The children's bodies were found in their cribs, while the parents' bodies were located in different parts of the house, indicating they had tried to gain safety.

The Mills family came to Acton, 15 miles from Guelph, from Georgetown, only last fall. Mrs. Mills' father, John Armstrong, lives at Brantford.

Drew Accepts Challenge Of C.C.F. Leader

Says Conservatives Won't Govern In Spirit Of Fear

TORONTO, Feb. 25 —(CP) — With the first full-dress verbal clash between Premier Drew and C. C. F. Opposition Leader Jolliffe already on the record, the Ontario Legislature will take time out from the throne speech debate to-day and turn its attention to bills up for second reading —the stage where they may debated.

Routine business and a number of the 15 Government bills now before the House will occupy the legislators before they take their first week-end adjournment, ringing down the curtain on a week that saw Premier Drew declare his Progressive Conservative administration would gladly meet the issue of a want of confidence motion from the Opposition.

Premier Drew threw down the gauntlet to the Opposition yesterday after C. C. F. Leader Jolliffe had declared in a two-hour address that if the Government failed to implement its 22-point program as promised "certain consequences will inevitably follow.

Speaking after Mr. Jolliffe, the Premier declared that "warnings" had been heard all afternoon from the Opposition Leader. Addressing himself to the Opposition benches, he said: "This is not and cannot be a minority Government. If you have not confidence in it, then you have the alternative of a want of confidence motion, which we shall be glad to accept as an issue.

"We do not intend to govern here in any spirit of fear."

After reviewing some of the steps already taken and those planned by his Government in various fields, the Premier adjourned the debate, indicating he will continue his address when it resumes on Tuesday. Liberal Leader Harry C. Nixon, whose 14 followers hold the balance of power in the closely-divided House, is also expected to be heard in the speech debate Tuesday.

Premier Drew spoke for little more than half an hour and devoted much of his address to the establishment of a new department of planning and development. He said he would play a vital role in coordinating the many planning agencies now looking to the future and in planning in directions not yet explored by organized effort.

He hoped the bill would be tabled next week and other steps would be taken to create the small but expert staff necessary to begin the planning work.

Stresses Research

Mr. Drew said that with research in mind, the government had given a grant of $400,000 to the University of Toronto and grants of $250,000 each to Queen's University and University of Western Ontario. He also commended the work of the Ontario Research foundation, which he said was playing a role of tremendous importance in the research phase of the war effort.

Speaking of the new department of planning and development, the

Baruch Guides American Chiefs

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(CP)—Unity of action, freedom from sectional pressure group obstruction, and adherence to carefully planned use of natural, industrial and human resources, was the theme of the Baruch report to the United States Government for post-war economic reconstruction.

The alternate to this program is disunity and chaos, depression and a weakening of United States prestige abroad, says Bernard M. (Barney) Baruch, 73-year-old financier.

He has been a philosopher and guide to governments for several decades and is known as "the bottle neck buster." Wealthy and leisured, he uses his leisure to help the United States Government out of difficulties, believing that by so doing he is helping the American people.

Tall, lean, white-haired, with sparkling black eyes behind pince-nez spectacles, he is a familiar figure in Washington. He spends wanted to organize a national lottery to increase its revenues" and as compensation for reduced tax revenue.

Discussing wartime control measures the confederation said labor felt it was caught between "too low wages and too high taxes."

Correction of injustices and injustices and inequalities would be "extremely difficult" under the new wage order and lack of any definite plan for including cost-of-living bonuses for workers on a piece-rate or under an incentive plan would result in decrease of earnings in many cases.

human beings which are Canada. But may I suggest we need something more than these, we need faith in ourselves. I sometimes wonder if we really have acquired it yet."

"If we need faith in ourselves and in the future, and the job Canada can do," he went on, "the soldier and the sailor and the airman will help us. There never has been a moment when we could look to them with greater confidence or greater pride than now."

With that faith and "out of our experience and maturity and with an honest sense of accomplishment," Canadians will make "a worthy contribution to the problems which lie ahead."

Show Common Sense

Mr. Massey had a word, too for the people of Britain who "without any diversion from the war effort are facing the problems of peace which lie ahead."

"Reconstruction plans are being considered without much regard for the 'isms of the extreme right or the extreme left, but with characteristic moderation and common sense."

War experience has brought Britons "a new consideration, a new tolerance by all classes of society and a renewed strength... Which augurs well for sustained effort..."

The real Britain is personified in the life of the King and Queen who "have caught and reflected the spirit of the vigorous communities over which they reign."

Canadians in England and Scotland have become well liked.

He told of a recent conversation with Gen. Montgomery and the special tribute of that great leader to the Canadian army; "Of all the troops that have served under my command none are finer than the fighting men of Canada."

Look To Future.

The minds of Canadians overseas are concentrated on their jobs, but they do give thought to the future and want a "real opportunity" to do something for themselves. They will require sympathetic understanding in the period of readjustment as they prepare themselves for the "rightful place for youth in the future Canada."

A caution against false optimism which "might well make the struggle longer" was voiced by Mr. Massey.

"We are approaching the greatest testing time in modern history."

To the men who will carry the final battle to the enemy Mr. Massey paid frank tribute:

"Modern war is a thing of many fronts—industrial, agricultural, financial, but there is one front to which all others are subordinate, the fighting men. Whatever may be the effort —and how fine and vital it has been—of countless men and women in all these fields, the man who will win this war for us is the fighting man. We talk about equality of sacrifice. There is no equality of sacrifice between his and that of anyone else."

Bruce Bairnsfather Still Draws Cartoons

By SGT. ROBERT T. DAVIS
U.S. Marine Corps Combat Correspondent.
(Distributed by The Canadian Press)

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, Feb. 25—No longer the typical Tommy that he was in the last war, bemoustached "Old Bill" still carries on in the cartoon world as a member of the British Home Guard, and is as popular with to-day's fighting men as he was with those of 1914-18.

His creator, Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, retired, of the British army also carries on—as an accredited war correspondent with the U.S. army.

At Londonderry, as he has in many parts of the world, Capt. Bairnsfather left many "Old Bill" drawings.

"Old Bill" appears to-day as a Home Guardsman, having gone through the blitz, and now observing the preparations for invasion with typical comments.

On a later convoy, German U-boat packs shadowed the ships for days but only one merchantman was sunk. For the Rosthern this marked the turn in the U-boat warfare when the Allied escorts and aircraft began to get the upper hand. "That convoy was the last action we saw," continued Johnson. No Demobilization For South Africa Men Till They Find Jobs At Decent Wages

TORONTO, Feb. 25 —(C P) — David de Witt Meyer, accredited representative of the Union of South Africa in Canada, said last night, that no members of the South African Armed Forces will be demobilized after the war until they have jobs to go to at living wages. Speaking at the 19th Annual Banquet of the Ontario Horticultural Association, Mr. Meyer said that full allowances will be paid to soldiers, sailors and airmen until they find employment.

The Union Government also has stipulated that no employer may dismiss a disabled veteran for a full six months after supplying a job, he said.

He described a scheme by which Italian prisoners of war had been put to work preparing model farms for men in the armed forces who want them when the war is over.

Bombers Drive Londoners Into Shelters

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(CP).—Londoners flocked into underground shelters last night as German bombers attacked the capital for the fifth time in six nights.

The raiders, coming high — apparently from three directions — showered incendiaries and explosives over a fairly wide area, causing a number of casualties and considerable property damage. Ten were shot down during the pre-midnight attack.

Prime Minister Churchill, visiting the scene of one big fire, where a number of houses and two restaurants were demolished, repeatedly raised his fingers in the "V" sign and told spectators who crowded around: "We'll stick it out and give it."

The new attack came while wreckage still was being searched for victims of the previous night's raid.

Many casualties apparently resulted when a dance hall was hit. Several diners were buried in one corner of the restaurant. A fire was started in one of three hospitals that suffered hits. A large sports stadium was damaged. Many homes and other buildings were damaged or destroyed.

Although the strength of the raids still is well below those of 1940-41, the punch per plane is heavier.

Crown Attorney A. N. Annis told the court investigation showed the men had made between 50 and 60 sales in various parts of Ontario.

Club Hears Details Of Willkie World Trip

NORWOOD, Feb. 25 — (ENS) — The R.R.D. Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caskey. Following the business Mrs. W. B. Tucker reviewed "One World" by Wendell Willkie, in which he tells of his trip around the world and gives his impressions after taking with hundreds of people.

The whole world seemed to be in an eager, demanding, hungry, ambitious mood, ready for incredible sacrifices, if only they could see some hope that these sacrifices would prove worth while, Mrs. Tucker said. It has been said that leaders and the experts must solve the problems, but Mr. Willkie urges every one to exchange ideas freely and frankly and to make it their war. In order to do this they must all know as much about it as possible subject only to the needs of military security. He says it is a mere dream to talk of full employment after the war dependent upon international trade and development after the war, unless now while fighting together people learn to work together.

Mr. Willkie suggested a council composed of members of United Nations to amalgamate the economic strength of the United Nations toward total war production, and to study jointly the possibilities of future economic co-operation, she declared.

Discussion followed this review, and refreshments were served, after which the president expressed the thanks of the club to Mrs. Tucker and to Mr. and Mrs. Caskey.

Bewdley Red Cross Makes Annual Report

BEWDLEY, Feb. 25 —(ENS)—In the three years of its existence, the Bewdley Red Cross Unit has set a fine record of work.

The following is a list of work done during 1943:

57 quilts (Backs and Batts supplied), 9 sweaters, 15 pr. seaman's Stockings, 6 pr. Service Socks, sewing consisted of 111 articles, which were 48 handkerchiefs, 3 sheets, 6 B. P. Covers, 36 Dental Towels, 16 Turkish Towels, 2 nightgowns.

Donations: all material supplied by our unit, 34 quilts (29 large 5 Crib Quilts), 49 pair Service Sox, 12 sweaters, 3 Scarves, 2 (32-piece) Layettes.

There was also $40. spent in boxes for the boys on Active Service and with some financial assistance from the War Workers Salvage Committee, who also aid greatly in supplying material for the work rooms, it was possible to donate $70. to the Red Cross Drive. Mrs. Harry Goss is the Convener of the Supply Committee. Quite a number from the group have been Blood Donors as well. The ladies of the community work faithfully each Thursday afternoon in Mrs. Fair's Dining Room at Rice Lake Inn during the winter months and at Mrs. H. Goss's home during the summer. Throughout the winter Tuesday evenings are set aside for Card parties sponsored by the War Workers and are well attended and profitable to the funds.

French Guerillas Given Assistance

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 25 — (AP)—Only negligible results were achieved in a three-weeks campaign against French guerillas in the Savoie Department of France by a mixed force of 1,500 German SS and regular army troops and some 30,000 ostensibly pro-German French gendarmes, mobile guards and volunteers, border reports said today.

The Germans who lost possibly a quarter of their force claimed guerilla snipers accounted for only a few more German casualties than were picked off from the rear by supposedly pro-German Vichyite troops of villages.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Argentine Coup Ousts Ramirez

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 25—(AP)—Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell succeeded Gen. Pedro Ramirez as president of the military government of Argentina today as a result of another palace coup within the revolutionary regime which less than nine months ago unseated president Ramon Castillo.

Farrell, vice-president in the Ramirez regime, previously resigned his post as minister of war, apparently as a means of obtaining a free hand to push Ramirez out of office.

He is known as an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, secretary of labor and welfare, who frequently has been mentioned as the mainspring of the G. O. U., of "Colonles' Group", which was described as the power behind the Ramirez regime.

Confusion prevailed last night in high Argentine circles, according to private reports rom Buenos Aires, but strict censorship was clamped down on foreign correspondents in the Argentine capital and they were not permitted to transmit details, except that the action of Ramirez in stepping down from the presidency was attributed officially to ill health.

The resignation of Ramirez, according to reports circulating here, is the result of smouldering opposition within his own cabinet which was climaxed when he finally decided to break relations with the Axis Jan. 26.

What effect the government upheaval might have upon Argentine foreign relations was not immediately clear.

the boundaries, reported to have been transmitted by Mr. Churchill, is expected to restate Soviet insistence for acceptance now of the Curzon line and some reshuffling of the Polish cabinet.

Commenting on Prime Minister Churchill's House of Commons speech Tuesday, Dziennik Polski cited the resolution of the council of ambassadors on behalf of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan March 15, 1923, and a similar action by the United States April 5, 1923, recognizing Poland's eastern pre-war frontier, and added:—

"It is on the basis of these historic facts and these Allied documents that the Polish government has taken a determined stand in refusing the so-called Curzon line as the future Soviet frontier. The Polish government will hold fast to this attitude."

Mr. Churchill told Commons that although Britain is sympathetic to the Poles, she recognizes Russia's right to reassurance against future attacks from the west and is "going all the way" with Russia to see that she gets it. Britain, he added, has never guaranteed "any particular front line" to Poland."

J. E. Girven Heads Kawartha Club

The annual meeting of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club was held Wednesday evening. Mr. Riley the retiring president reviewed the club activities for the past year and reports were received from the treasurer, Mr. Glover and the various committees. The overall picture was considered very satisfactory.

During discussion of suggestions it was brought out that very little response had been received to the establishment of attractive membership fees for juvenile and junior members. Stress was placed on the desirability of bringing along young members to further the development of a strong playing club.

A Tennis Committee was not elected pending review of club membership and prospective new members. If a sufficient number are interested a committee will be formed and the tennis courts placed in playing condition.

Greens and Handicap Committees were elected for the coming season and the Board of Directors will consist of: Messrs. E. Riley, I. F. McRae, T. Glover, L. Browne, J. E. Girven, R. McMorran, G. C. Solmes and B. I. Burgess.

Following the meeting the Board of Directors convened for the election of officers with J. E. Girven being elected president, R. McMorran 1st vice president, L. Browne 2nd vice president, T. Glover treasurer and B. I. Burgess secretary.

Doctor Outlines Development Of Transfusions

The story of the development of the art of blood transfusion, which to-day is saving the lives of countless soldiers on every battle front of the war, was unfolded before a meeting of the Y's Men's Club by Dr. C. B. Waite Thursday night. Starting from earliest times he traced the beliefs of savage man regarding the properties of blood, and referred to the first stages of experiment that after long years resulted in the simplified process that exists to-day.

"In primitive times," Dr. Waite said, "blood was endowed with a magical quality because the ancients saw it flowing out of the body of a dying man, and thus concluded that it had life-giving properties. This was undoubtedly the reason why the custom arose of drinking the blood of one's victims, and explains why Romans at the arena would rush out to partake of the dying gladiator's blood. Indeed, beliefs of this sort go back before the dawn of recorded history, for scientists have found bodies plastered with red ochre to give the semblance of blood in graves 5,000 years old."

The idea of transfusion was not as recent as many might be led to expect, Dr. Waite informed his audience. It was originally mooted in ancient and medieval times and blood was actually taken for purpose of health; but transfusion itself was postponed until the discovery of the circulation of the blood was made in the 17th Century. Among the scientists who made early transfusions for anemia and mange in experiments who made early transfusions for anemia and mange in experiments on dogs was Sir Christopher Wren, better known as the architect of St. Paul's.

Banned Work.

The first transfusions attempted with humans were made by a Paris physician in the late 17th Century, and though only one of a series of his experiments resulted in a fatality, the superstition and ignorance of medical societies and the general public of the day led to a ban being placed on further work of this type, and research stood still for nearly 150 years. It was not until 1810 that the use of blood transfusions was revived, and then chiefly because of the crying need to find some means of reducing mortality among women in child-birth. For decades following, transfusions were made, for the most part successfully, but, Dr. Waite said, when fatalities occurred surgeons were not able to trace the cause.

"It was not," he added, "until the difference between transfusions among animals of the same species and those of different species had been demonstrated and later, about 1900, that the four types were discovered, that the causes of fatal reactions became common knowledge."

Lasted Two Weeks.

It was during the Spanish War that blood banks first came into being, Dr. Waite stated, and Cook County Hospital in Chicago had the first on this continent. It was found however, that this storing of whole blood for future use was only practical in a large hospital where blood would be needed every day, because it kept for only two weeks at most. This difficulty had led to the discovery that plasma was just as effective as the whole blood, and that when frozen or dried it would last an indefinite length of time. "In fact," Dr. Waite said, "it is altogether possible that plasma will last for years."

He described the process by which blood collected at clinics is prepared for eventual use, the treatment of bacteria contamination, mixing and neutralising of groups, dehydrating and bottling, and the simple way in which the serum may be prepared without waste of time for transfusions on the field of battle. Because of the marvels of the modern art of transfusion, casualties from wounds in the present war had been reduced to approximately 1 per cent as against the rate of nearly 15 per cent that prevailed in the first war, Dr. Waite concluded.

The vote of thanks was moved to the speaker by Norman Henderson.

Review Missions In China, Japan

MILLBROOK, Feb. 25 (ENS) — Miss E. L. Hetherington was hostess for the February meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle, which met at her home, King street east, on Wednesday evening, with the president, Mrs. Elsie Paulson, in the chair.

Betty Lunn read the lesson, the leader giving the illustrative story on: "Love and Loyalty in the Home," and offering the prayers. The missionary story, from the study book, "The Comrade of the Road," was read by Ada Earle, and the map talk, covering the mission stations in the foreign field, was given by Mrs. Franklin Bannister.

In South China the United church has three stations; in West China, part of which is now occupied territory, 12; in Honan, also now occupied territory, there are 9, she said. In Japan there are 9, though the missionaries are now all either in Canada or working in other fields; in Korea, also evacuated because of the war, 6; in Angola, West Africa, 5; and in Trinidad, 3; while in Central India, there are 10. At the next meeting, to be held at Miss Jean Burnham's home, a further study of the missionaries at work in some of the 8 foreign fields, will be taken up.

The monthly news letter will be written by Jean Burnham and Marjorie Skitch to Margaret Luxon, and a number will send St. Patrick Day cards when March 17 comes around.

Some special form of meeting will be arranged for the Easter thankoffering, the meeting to be held the fourth Wednesday in April. For a special effort to augment the funds, an afternoon tea is in prospect.

The matter of a family gathering including the Auxiliary, Circle and Band was mentioned and left for later definite action. The message on Christian Stewardship was given by Marjorie Skitch.

Pupils Present Play For W.A.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25 (ENS). —A one-act farce pantomime presented by a group of five High School students provided an interesting entertainment feature at the February meeting of St. John's W.A. which met here Thursday afternoon. Title of the pantomime was "The Lamp That Went Out," which proved to be an amusing piece.

Jack Connor read the dialogue, while the supporting cast that included Betty McKeown, Dorothy Hennessey. The program for the day was arranged by Mrs. F. N. Brown, who presided, and Mrs. E. A. Stuart.

There was a large attendance at the meeting, and during the devotional period Mrs. J. D. Mills read the Scripture. The secretary, Mrs. T. L. Diamond, read several letters of thanks for flowers and other expressions sent out by the Association during the past month. Reporting as treasurer, Mrs. Mills told members the Association's financial position in the year just beginning was quite favorable. Miss Stella Keir was appointed corresponding secretary, and this marked the formation of a new office for the W.A. Fifty calls were reported during the past month by the visiting committee.

It was decided to hold an opportunity sale on May 18, 19 and 20 to raise money for the general fund. Mrs. G. N. Maxwell, Mrs. H. O. Richardson and Mrs. H. Jones were named as a committee that will arrange one number to be presented by the organization at the amateur night being sponsored by the Evening Auxiliary on March 16. Mrs. S. L. O'Hara was elected knitting convener and put in charge of all knitting to be done during the year and designated for shipment overseas. She spoke briefly to members following the appointment and asked that any of the ladies unable to knit donate a small sum towards the purchase of wool. Reports from ward conveners indicated that allocations were being reached mainly by free-will offerings through cent-a-meal boxes and dime cards. Miss Carolyn Archer sang "Island of Dreams." She was accompanied by Mrs. Ray Archer.

Indian Transient Takes Rest In Officer's Home

COBOURG, Feb. 25 — (ENS) — Jack Diabo, 55-year-old Indian transient, could have picked a better place for a rest than he did when he pulled into Colborne Wednesday night. In police court Thursday night he appeared on a vagrancy charge laid by Provincial Constable Douglas Wilson of Colborne.

Constable Wilson testified that when he came home at 1 a.m. on Wednesday morning he found a man asleep in his easy chair with his greatcoat pulled up over him. The constable stated that the caller had entered via the back door, which was not locked.

"I ushered him out," stated Constable Wilson.

"Is that Colborne hospitality?" asked the magistrate with a smile.

Charge Is Joke

"Your Worship," stated Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, "the charge reads that in vagrancy the accused is found without visible means of support, and is found wandering abroad when questioned by a police officer. Now, after all, this man was not without visible means of support because he was supported by the constable's easy chair; and he wasn't wandering abroad because the officer was too busy throwing him out."

"I think that the Crown has something there," agreed the magistrate.

"Well, after I put him out of the house he complied with the wording of the charge," replied Constable Wilson.

"You had better get back to your reservation," advised the magistrate in letting the Indian go.

John A. Rogers Gets Promotion

TORONTO, Feb. 25. — The appointment of John A. Rogers to be general superintendent of transportation, central region, Canadian National Railways, was announced to-day by J. F. He relinquished the superintendency at Ottawa, in November, 1942, to become general superintendent of the Alberta district.

Port Hope Sets Record In Hospitality

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 25.—(CP).— So many gifts has the Lake Ontario community of Port Hope showered upon its "adopted" ship—the minesweeper H.M.C.S. Port Hope—that the crew is cheerily defying the crew of any other Canadian minesweeper to disprove the claim that Port Hope is the "best cared for 'adopted' minesweeper in the Royal Canadian Navy."

The minesweeper was formally adopted shortly after her commissioning at Toronto in July, 1942. Since then, said the minesweeper's commanding officer, Lieut. R. K. Lester, of Vancouver, the citizens of Port Hope have deluged the ship with so many gifts "that we're beginning to feel they've adopted not only our ship but each one of us personally. We are all tremendously grateful."

Gifts given the men of the Port Hope include cigarettes, eight radios, electric irons and toasters, a phonograph and records, clothing of all kinds, books by the hundred, subscriptions to magazines and what Lieut. Lester described as a "great glorious washing machine."

Fighting for Freedom -

–fighting on many fronts to preserve their freedom, their families . . . . . . and ours–

It is up to us to show these boys that we can, and will, do our part on the home front.

The Salvation Army's Work On The Home Front

The Salvation Army is not only carrying on its share of war work on the battle field but also doing its part in taking care of the needy at home. It is no less important therefore that they who fight for us should know that those they leave behind will be given every care and be looked after when necessary. It keeps up their morale to know that everything is fine at home.

This is one of the big jobs of the Salvation Army. It takes considerable money to do this work and that is why we appeal to you to give liberally so that this very important work may be carried on and made even more effective.

Religion In The Schools

In the Speech from the Throne which opened the deliberations of the Ontario Legislature it was announced that religious instruction in the schools of the Province will be a matter of debate. We foresee that there will be some lively discussion and a good deal of hair-splitting on this issue. We shall be very much surprised if anyone questions the excellence of the general principle of religious education in the public schools, but it may not be easy to agree on particulars. Especially it may be hard to arrange for instruction in schools where the children are of many faiths.

There is already a system of religious instruction in many Ontario schools, as there is in Peterborough; in this city the Protestant clergy share the duties of this work among them, giving a period of instruction to the top three grades once a week. Presumably the intention of the Government would be to extend the religious course to all grades, and to give more time to it.

A course of Bible study extending over several years would, in our opinion, be an invaluable addition to our present educational schedule. But in order to make it effective it would need at least three lesson periods of half an hour each every week, and examinations of as high a standard as such subjects as English Literature. Scanty Bible study would be worse than useless; the work must be done properly, or not at all.

The question which the educators will want answered, of course, is Where can we fit it in? The school curriculum is already crowded, particularly in the collegiate and vocational institutes, and we presume that religious instruction is to be offered in these, as well. Indeed it would be a pity to bring religious instruction to an end just at the time when the pupil is beginning to think for himself. If religious instruction is to be put in the curriculum, something else will have to go by the board. The war has shortened the school year for some pupils as it is, and their school work is being seriously crowded in consequence; the addition of another heavy course of study is out of the question; religious instruction, if we are to have it, must supplant some existing subject.

In commenting on religious instruction in schools, we should like to point out that religious training has always been a characteristic of the boarding-schools, or private schools of this country. They have insisted on Bible study and, in the higher grades, study of comparative religion. They have encouraged the pupils in the upper grades to study the Bible and religious belief critically and with commentaries. The results have been excellent, with the result that the small section of the Canadian public which has been educated at the private schools is far better versed in Biblical and religious knowledge than their contemporaries from the public schools.

We shall be interested to see how Premier Drew's reform in this matter advances. We hope to see it succeed, but we want a complete success, and not a compromise which is virtually a defeat.

The Bachelor Tax Again

A Mr. M. A. Campbell, who is secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, and president of the Ontario Educational Association, recently made the proposal at Chatham that a tax should be imposed on bachelors of $15 a year and a tax of $20 a year on married couples who have no children. This stupid, cruel and unfeeling proposal is not likely to be taken up, but it requires some discussion.

Mr. Campbell called bachelors and childless couples "two untapped sources of government revenue through taxation". He is wrong. A single man begins to pay income tax on $660 and a married man without children on $1,200. A single man who earns $1,200 a year pays $249 in tax on it, whereas a married man with one child pays $4 on the same income; the single man gets back $96 some time in the future, but the married man gets back $2; that is to say, the bachelor pays $153 and the married man (with one child) $2. In addition to this $153 Mr. Campbell wants to put another tax of $15 on him, and for what reason—because he is a bachelor.

Surely a man is free to choose whether he shall marry or not? Must he pay for his single state? Does it make no difference that other responsibilities may have stopped him from marrying? We should like to tell Mr. Campbell, who seems to be more interested in money than in people, that there is great danger and great unhappiness to be caused by urging people to marry who have no wish to do so.

As for the tax on childless couples, that suggestion again springs from a desire to get money regardless of any intrusion into purely personal matters which may be involved. There are couples who cannot have children and couples who should not do so; does Mr. Campbell want to tax them for their misfortune? And if there are couples who have determined not to have children, does he imagine that a $20 tax will force them to change their minds?

If the government needs more money it can get it by taxing something which concerns everybody. We want none of the picayune, discriminatory, sniggering and vindictive spirit in our tax-bills which is implied by taxes on bachelors and childless couples.

Parliamentary Repartee

One or two of our contemporaries have affected to be shocked by the goings-on in the House of Commons last Monday, when the following exchange took place between the Prime Minister and Mr. Hanson:

Mr. Hanson: "Why not dispense with Parliament altogether? You have pretty nearly done it".

Mr. King: "Well, I think Parliament could very well dispense with my honourable friend".

Mr. Hanson: "I venture to suggest to my right honourable friend that this country would not agree with him".

Mr. King: "My honourable friend is fond of talking about dispensing with things, but I want to tell him that when he makes remarks of that kind he can expect to get back what is coming to him".

Mr. Hanson: "I am not worrying about anything the Prime Minister may say. I leave it to the people of this country".

We are not shocked; we like to see a little liveliness in Parliament. We are disappointed, however, if this is the best that the House can manage. Strip it of its references to "my honourable friend" and what does it amount to? Mr. King says, "All right for you, Bobby Hanson, I'm not afraid of you", and Mr. Hanson retorts, "I'll get my big brother to beat up on you". This is schoolyard stuff.

How nice our politicians are nowadays! How reluctant they are to plunge the rapier into the breast of an opponent! It was not thus that Pitt and Fox, Gladstone and Disraeli, Macdonald and Laurier dealt with one another. Their weapon was the sword; ours, the spitball. We hope for something really stimulating before the end of the session.

Theory And Practice

We were not very happy to see this sentence in the editorial columns of an eminent contemporary, referring to a Canadian national institution: "It is staffed not by theorists but by hard-headed and practical men". This sharp division between theory and practice is very common in Canadian thinking these days. Has it any validity?

Certainly we should not like to see the country's affairs handled by men who had no theories. What is a theory? The dictionary tells us that it is hypothesis that has been confirmed or established by observation or experiment. If that is true, can any of us carry on our business without a theory of some sort? Surely the most 'practical' man is the man who has the best theory about what he is doing?

And what, in the name of common sense and clear English, is a 'hard-headed' man. Is he a man with a thick skull? Is he a man whose head is impervious to ideas? Frankly, we do not like to see the country's affairs in the care of hard-headed men any more than in the care of soft-headed men. We like to see men at the head of affairs who are not afraid of theories, but who bring experience and common sense to their judgement of theories.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In Berlin the question is no longer "What's cooking?". It is "What shall we do with the leftovers?"

Ninety per cent. of the calcium and 70 per cent. of the phosphorus in the human body is to be found in the teeth. And if prospecting for gold you will find that in the snappers, too.

Merchantmen At War

By J. L. HODSON
In The London Spectator

BRITAIN'S merchantmen have been in the war from the beginning. The war was not a day old when the Donaldson liner "Athenia" was torpedoed and sunk with a loss of 112 lives, 19 of them members of the crew. From that time the war at sea has never for a moment ceased; it is unlikely to till the end is reached.

You can meet Masters of British ships who will tell you that the last was a picnic compared with this. That is largely true; the U-boat packs—up to 20 and 25—were a new idea; so were the dive-bomber and torpedo-bomber. When the merchant captain got away from Britain's shores in the last war he felt comparatively safe from submarines; he doesn't feel safe today, and sometimes he isn't.

Yet it is possible to meet Masters who have sailed throughout this war to and fro across the Atlantic or down to the Antipodes time after time, and seen nothing. Luck is a curious thing, and the truth can be curious, too.

MERCHANT NAVY. The title is so honourable and so well-known that one is apt to think that Britain's Merchant Navy is an entity like the Royal Navy itself, and that it springs into being and to active warfare as easily. Yet that is not quite so. British merchantmen are privately owned by probably over 300 different men or companies. The ships themselves range from the 85,000-ton "Queen Elizabeth" (the world's fastest and largest vessel) to tramps and coasters, colliers and tugs. (The "dirty British coaster with a salt-caked smokestack" is at the heart of them.)

It it true that they are all, high and low, on war work, but the control of them by Britain's Government was accomplished by stages spread over a few months. The merchant officers and seamen are civilians, and like to be. Even full-blown captains arrive in port and are wearing trilby hats before you can say Jack Robinson. A too rigid discipline or too much spit and polish is not, as a rule, the seamen's choice. There are even those among them who prefer the title Merchant Service to Merchant Navy. Moreover, not all serving the Red Ensign are British. Some 30,000 Indians and 10,000 Chinese and a number of West Africans take their place on Britain's ships—and an important place it is.

IT IS well to remember these things when we think of Britain's merchantmen and of their magnificent achievements. It is well, too, to recall that among the ships sailing with the British Merchant Navy, doing the same dangerous tasks in and out of convoy, are those wearing the flags of America, Norway (probably 40 per cent of the tankers in the North Atlantic are Norwegian), Holland, Belgium, Poland, Greece, Russia, Yugoslavia and Free France; in addition, ships belonging to Sweden and Denmark are working for the Allied cause. On some of those foreign ships British seamen are sailing and when the requisite number of gunners for the weapons used against submarines and aircraft is not available, British gunners go aboard.

The merchantmen's guns today are formidable. Many a Master of a tramp ship—especially if she is on the Russian convoy—feels he commands a small cruiser. His old-time anti-submarine 4-inch gun in the stern has quite often been added to by Oerlikons, by the 12-pounder, and by various rocket devices. The barrage put up today by a convoy can be such that the bomb explosions are not heard.

This growth of the merchant ship in this war from a man of peace to a small man o' war is one of the more remarkable developments. (Not that it has no history behind it.) Decks had often been strengthened and fabric stiffened pre-war to take a gun and its shock when the time came, but nobody had foreseen air-attack.

It is doubtful, too, if anybody had looked into the future far enough to visualize our cargo ships with landingcraft at the davits, with telephones fixed from the bridge to all sally ports, and with markedly strong derricks of their own fitted for unloading, ready to sail boldly to hostile ports or coasts, as they did in North Africa.

THIS, in a sense, was a new development for the trampship and cargo liner; they were now going bang into the Front Line. (It is true, of course, that they had long been there — at Narvik, Dunkirk, Tobruk, Rangoon, Singapore, Malta, Java and every other place that was perilous yet it is equally true that North Africa broke a little new ground; and it may be that the invasion of Europe will break a trifle more.)

I have met a fair number of ship's Masters who think too much fuss has been made of what they and their crews have done. One said to me: "The sea is our trade; it always had its hazards—war merely brings new ones. The seaman takes the ordeals easier than another would—he's a disciplined man."

That may be so. Yet the achievement is there. To Malta the convoys of 1942 won through after naval and air battles—and the merchantmen is the target rather oftener than the warship; to Murmansk and Archangel, our seamen sailed looking like Arctic explorers in ships specially heated and insulated and with propellers of cast steel.

WHAT we remember less, because it is less colourful, is the Merchant Navy's solid work and results. Every convoy that safely reaches port is a battle won, yet little is said—for excellent reasons, no doubt—of most of those quiet victories. In periods when the Battle of the Atlantic has been at its height convoys have crossed and seen nothing of the enemy. Against any individual ship being hit on any single voyage the odds have always been large. Of the total number of convoys one cannot speak with any certainty—Coastal Command announced several months ago that they have escorted well over 5,000, excluding those of single ships and naval ships.

As to what British ships have done, they have done all; for Britain's life is built on the sea, and without the sea Britain is nothing. A typical mixed-cargo ship has brought across the Atlantic wheat, lumber, aluminum, cheese, trucks, steel alloy, chemicals, electrodes, guns, flax and tank parts. One to Malta took, in addition to aviation spirit, cement, maize, wheat, flour, whiskey, tobacco, corned beef, bales of cloth, guns, shells, lorries and aeroplane parts.

To the Middle East, by the longest lines of supply in history, Britain's merchantmen have carried supplies totalling millions of tons, and on voyages that took three months. They moved west from Suez with the Eighth Army, and they moved east from Gibraltar with the First Army.

At least one ship sailed along the North African ports so fast that it was in its port before the Army or R.A.F. had arrived there. If the First Army was the best-fed army the world has ever known, it was British merchantmen who made it possible; if the English Army lads wedded to tea, "brewed up" with the zest and frequency they did, it was to the seamen they owed—and generously gave—their thanks.

BRITISH seamen brought the last demolition parties out of Rangoon, they brought refugees and rubber out of Singapore right up to the final moment, they had their own adventures ashore both in Greece and Crete—in Crete they formed parachute patrols. As prisoners of war, some have leapt from trains crossing Germany and made their way to England, and have told here of their life on German raiders, and (one of them) of a brief hour or two's life on a U-boat.

The men and their ships have done wonderful things. And yet, perhaps, it is not so strange. Because for seven centuries or so after England became a State its trading ships and its ships of war were mostly one and the same. It is no new thing, then, for merchant seamen of the British Isles and Commonwealth to become warriors (12,000 of them went straight into the Royal Navy when war broke out in 1939), nor is it strange that men have gone back to the sea in this war after long years ashore, or that a ship's boy of 15 or so burst into tears when told he couldn't sail to Murmansk (he did, all the same), or that Masters of 70 have run the gauntlet of bombs and torpedoes in convoy.

For, if there is one thing true of British folk, it is that the saying "the sea in his blood" can be used of a host of them. And since they have long built good ships, should we wonder that Germans have complained in this war, as they pumped shells into our cargo ships, that they were too difficult to sink?

For that has happened, too. No, none of these things is really strange. For Britain's genius is of and for the sea. And that genius her merchantmen have in good measure.

GERMAN GUN-SIGHT —By Rube Goldberg

George Washington Receives Guests

WASHINGTON was over six feet in stature, of strong, bony, muscular frame, without fullness of covering, well formed and straight. He was a man of most extraordinary physical strength. In his own house his action was calm, deliberate, and dignified, without pretention to gracefulness, or peculiar manner; but merely natural, and such as one would think it should be in such a man. When walking in the street, his movement had not the soldiery air which might be expected. His habitual motions had been formed long before he took command of the American armies, in the wars of the interior, and in the surveying of wilderness lands, employments in which grace and elegance were not likely to be acquired. At the age of sixty-five, time had done nothing towards bending him out of his natural erectness. His deportment was invariably grave; it was sobriety that stopped short of sadness. His presence inspired a veneration, and a feeling of awe, rarely experienced in the presence of any man. His mode of speaking was slow and deliberate; not as though he was in search of fine words, but that he might utter those only adapted to his purpose....

During his presidency, he devoted one hour every other Tuesday, from three to four, to receiving visits. He understood himself to be visited as the President of the United States, and not on his own account. He was not to be seen by any body and every body; but required that every one who came should be introduced by his Secretary, or by some gentleman, whom he knew himself. He lived on the south side of Chestnut street, just below Sixth. The place of reception was the dining-room in the rear, twenty-five or thirty feet in length, including the bow projecting into the garden. Mrs. Washington received her visitors in the two rooms on the second floor, from front to rear.

At three o'clock, or at any time within a quarter of an hour afterwards, the visitor was conducted to this dining-room, from which all seats had been removed for the time. On entering, he saw the manly figure of Washington clad in black velvet; his hair in full dress, powdered and gathered behind in a large silk bag; yellow gloves on his hands; holding a cocked hat with a cockade in it, and the edges adorned with a black feather about an inch deep....

He stood always in front of the fire-place, with his face towards the door of entrance. The visitor was conducted to him, and he required to have the name so distinctly pronounced, that he could hear it. He had the very uncommon faculty of associating a man's name, and personal appearance, so durably in his memory, as to be able to call any one by name, who made him a second visit. He received his visitor with a dignified bow, while his hands were so disposed of as to indicate that the salutation was not to be accompanied with shaking hands. This ceremony never occurred in these visits, even with his most near friends, that no distinction might be made.

As visitors came in, they formed a circle around the room. At a quarter past three, the door was closed, and the circle was formed for that day. He then began on the right and spoke to each visitor, calling him by name, and exchanging a few words with him. When he had completed his circuit, he resumed his first position, and the visitors approached him, in succession, bowed and retired. By four o'clock this ceremony was over.—From "Manners of Washington," by William Sullivan.

Third Party

Two twenty-year-old Canadian airmen in this country who have flown in raids on Berlin applied for a third-party insurance to ride a motorcycle. They were told that as they were under twenty-one they would have to get a letter from a responsible person before they could be allowed to ride their own motorcycle!—London Daily Sketch.

Smart Politics

Of course the Premier is playing what the erudite would call very smart politics. This is not said as a criticism but as a commendation. The playing of smart, intelligent politics is something of a rare bird. For Col. Drew says that if his legislation, presumably the important bills, is defeated, he will go to the people in an election. He would then be in a position of a champion of a distressed cause appealing to the people. Such a role is frequently very effective.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Wipe Out T. B.

The bill introduced in the Legislature for the setting up of a provincial commission on tuberculosis means the more efficient organization of the fight against that diseases. It means the better marshalling of all the agencies, provincial, municipal and private, now engaged in that work. With the knowledge that the complete elimination of tuberculosis is perfectly feasible, that it is only a matter of more effective organization, the war upon the disease becomes a crusade which should have enthusiastic public support.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A Bible Message

When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed....

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils; and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick. (Matt. 8: 1-3, 14-16.)

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick.... And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing every where. (Luke 9: 1, 2, 6.)

Letter To The Editor

Sir,—At the beginning of the salvage drive you wrote an editorial about the failure of the first day's collection. Perhaps this wasn't the fault of the householders entirely. Here is my experience with saving salvage, and perhaps many people have had the same.

During the summer I called the salvage committee and told them I had some salvage. This was on a Wednesday morning. I had to phone three more times before it was finally picked up late Saturday afternoon. In the meantime it rained and nearly everything was soaked. Besides that children carried off old rubber hot-water bottles and two old studio couch mattresses. Nothing daunted I started to save again for the next drive, for the date of which I kept watching the paper. I saved rags, metal, bottle caps, old rubber, old razor blades, newspapers, etc. Finally, the cellar got so cluttered up that in desperation and in order to get through to the furnace, we had to put it out for the garbage. That was about six or seven weeks ago. Naturally, I had more salvage then than I had for the present drive. There was a crib mattress, rubber, a very large carton of cardboard, etc., a large carton of rags and metal. So you see it isn't fair to blame the public entirely. Very likely others have had to do the same thing. After all, we haven't all got sheds or similar storing places, where such things can be kept indefinitely. However, I have started to save again, so if the salvage committee would get properly underway I'm sure they'd find people co-operating.—Yours,

"SALVAGER."

Six Hundred Lawyers

Six hundred members of the Boston Bar Association have gone back to law school to learn from taxation experts the technique of filing income tax returns. But if the experts in the department can not simplify the income tax forms so as to make them comprehensible, how can it be expected that the extra-mural experts will be able to do so? The situation is not essentially different from the one Alice discovered behind the looking-glass:

"'If seven maids with seven mops
Swept it for half a year,
Do you suppose,' the Walrus said,
'That they could get it clear?'
'I doubt it,' said the Carpenter,
And shed a bitter tear."

Cottage on the Farm

There is a possibility that Government agencies and housing commissioners are overlooking an urgent necessity for more housing accommodation on Canadian farms. Young men of marriageable age frequently leave the farm because they have heard how difficult it is for two families to live in peace under one roof. Moreover, the farm labor problem will never be satisfactorily solved until suitable housing accommodation is provided for married men and for young farm helpers who are contemplating matrimony.

It may mean some change in the production program on the farm, when year round help is engaged. That, however, is not an insuperable problem in Eastern Canada. At any rate, the possibility of providing more farm cottages should be thoroughly explored, not only as a post-war enterprise to furnish employment, but for the good of the agricultural industry.—Farmer's Advocate.

Mothers Are Urged To Set Good Examples

The duties of women as mothers, to set their children a good example, by being brave in this time of war, and looking to the future with courage, were stressed by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, addressing the regular meeting of the Church Women's Year of All Saints' Anglican Church. "Keep the lamp of faith and hope lighted, to guide our men home," said the speaker.

Rev. W. A. Filer, rector of All Saints' Church, introduced Mrs. Harris, after Mrs. J. Adams, the president of the Church Women's Year, had opened the meeting with prayer, and Mrs. J. Runnett had read the Bible lesson.

Forty-eight articles knit for the Navy League during the month were reported by Mrs. R. N. Jones. The offering amounted to $185.38 for the month of February. Mrs. C. S. Shaw sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. P. Hooper.

Mrs. H. E. Connolly and her group served refreshments

The affiliation service of the C.G.I.T. group of Mark Street United church, with the Women's Missionary Society of that church, took place Wednesday evening, and was conducted by Miss Myrtle Sargent, who also gave a demonstration and talk on the various branches of the W.M.S.

The newly organized group, with Miss Jean DeNure presiding, conducted the worship period, and gave the group an insight into the work being undertaken by the girls, under the leadership of Mrs. G. Eason.

The devotional period of the W.M.S. meeting was taken by Mrs. E. Howson, with Mrs. E. Dinner reading the chapter of the study book, "The Grace of Living and Working Together." Mrs. James Hunter reported for Christian Stewardship, urging cooperation and support of this idea, in order to achieve greater results. Refreshments were served, and a social hour enjoyed.

WCTU Observes Anniversary Of Frances Willard

Frances Wilard Day was observed Thursday afternoon by the Peterborough W. C. T. U. at a well-attended meeting held at the Y. W. C. A. Green Room.

The president, Miss E. Might, conducted the interesting program.

A brief business session included a report from the Local Council of Women by the representative Mrs. G. Cole, who announced a tea for April 22. Mrs. Cole also reported a number of war brides coming to the city, who are urged to contact Miss Patterson if in need of help while discharged men should get in touch with Mrs. J. K. Hughes. Mrs. Cole also reminded the ladies that the services of the V. O. N. are available to the public at any time.

Mrs. W. Boorman reported on the Ontario Temperance Federation, held in Toronto Feb. 9-10.

Among the activities of the Local Union was the packing of a bale for Greek relief as reported by Mrs. H. Tinney, and it was decided by motion that $50. be sent to the Budget Fund and $5. to Missions. During the worship service the scripture lesson chosen from the Proverbs, and Psalm 67 was read by Mrs. A. B. Cunningham while Mrs. H. Alton offered prayer.

Increased Drinking

The guest speaker Mrs. E. Beavis, brought a challenging message. She referred to the drinking of Alcohol as Canada's Enemy No. 1. Canada had money to spend when 200 million dollars were spent in drink and 90 millions for tobacco. The money spent on liquor alone, would have purchased 2,000 bombers and 3,000 fighting planes she said.

She averred that Alcohol and Venereal disease were closely associated and constituted one of the greatest health problems, since 200,000 are affected in Canada. Mrs. Beavis also stated that before entering the army only 25 to 30 per cent of the boys are drinkers, while after being in the army a short time the figures were reversed.

Mrs. Beavis closed her fine talk with the poem "The Brewer's Plea".

A solo "How" lovely are Thy dwellings, sung by Mrs. Mendell Braund, was accompanied by Mrs. E. W. Glover, at the piano.

Life Story

The life and work of Frances E. Willard was brought before the ladies in a brief talk by Mrs. E. Wand, as well as in the days Clip Sheet exercise led by the president.

This meeting was concluded with prayer by Mrs. Aitchison.

Toronto Woman Writes Book At Stoney Lake

Amea Willoughby has written a book—"I Was on Corregidor" — in which she tells of her experiences just before the Japs arrived and of her escape in a submarine.

Several books have been written on this same subject, but the interesting thing about this one is that the author is a Canadian—a Torontonian....She was, Amea Brewin, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Brewin, sister of the defeated C.C.F. candidate for St. George's Riding, Andrew Brewin, and also sister of Mrs. R. P. Vivian, who in turn is wife of Ontario's Minister of Health.

After escaping from Corregidor with her husband, who is in the U.S. State Department, Mrs. Willoughby went up to the Brewin summer home at Stoney Lake and wrote her story.

When Amea Brewin's father was rector of St. Simon's Anglican Church she attended Branksome Hall. Shortly after graduating from there she married and went to the Philippines. She and her husband are now living in Washington.

Students Ready To Present Annual Play

"Mr. Pim Passes By" is the engaging title of the three-act play being presented Thursday and Friday, March 2 and 3, by the Dramatic Club of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, under the capable direction of Mr. R. L. Hale, and Miss Margaret White. The play was written by A. A. Milne, and the sprightly dialogue serves to heighten the amusing situations occurring in the course of one day at the country home of George Marden, Justice of the Peace.

To appreciate the consternation which results when Mr. Carraway Pim, who is looking for a letter of recommendation to a friend of Mr. Marden's, makes a somewhat startling announcement, it is necessary to know that George, although he seems a prig, married a beautiful widow, Mrs. Telworthy, about five years previous to the action in the play.

It is also necessary to add that Mrs. Marsden has a mind of her own, and has set about to put a little life into the old house, although she has to go carefully with George, since "what was good enough for his great-grandfather is good enough for him." As a final complication, George's aunt, Lady Marden, who is best described in her own words, "sixty-five and proud of it," appears on the scene.

Romance Too

The romantic interest is well taken care of by Dinah, George's niece and ward, and Brian Strange, an artist, to whose somewhat surrealistic art, and socialist political opinions, George takes violent exception. This hearty feeling is heightened, when he finds out that the two young people want to get married.

The characters are particularly well-chosen for this production. Allan Boate plays George Marden, J.P., to perfection; Jean MacTavish is Olivia, his lovely wife; May Colby is Dinah, his live-wire niece; Eula Rosenburgh plays Lady Marden; Leslie Fowlie is Brian Strange; Jim Airth plays Carraway Pim; Clara Ruskin is Anne, the maid.

The Experts Say . . . .

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 — (CP). — Baked Potatoes, steaming hot, are delicious any time of the year, but especially so in wintry weather. And they're especially nourishing, too, Nutrition Services say, if the crisp, crackly skin is eaten. For it's the part of the potato clinging to the skin that contains minerals and vitamins so necessary to health. The value of the skin of boiled potatoes is to keep the protective elements from dissolving in the cooking water. In a baked potato the value of the skin is in the eating.

BAKED POTATO SURPRISE — Vary baked potatoes with different stuffings. Here's an appetizing recipe from the Consumer Section of the Agriculture Department:

1 cup medium cream sauce, ¾ cup chopped bologna, 6 medium baked potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup milk (approximately), ½ teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, paprika or parsley (optional).

Combine cream sauce and bologna and heat. Cut a thin slice from the tops of potatoes. Scoop potato carefully out of shell, mash and combine with butter, milk, salt and pepper. Beat until fluffy. Pour creamed bologna into potato shells, pile potato on top, sprinkle with paprika or chopped parsley. Brown lightly in a moderate oven, 375 degrees Fahr., for 10 or 15 minutes. Serve with fried apple rings.

KEEP THEM FRESH — Do you find it hard to keep dried apples, raisins and figs? Leave them in paper bags and they'll develop mould, attract weevils, and dry out as hard as rocks. It's easy to keep them fresh in glass jars, with the lids screwed on tightly. Good for crystallized peel, glace cherries or prunes, etc.

DUST CATCHER — Dust settles in the most exasperating places: Book tops, baseboard crevices, wood carving, bric-a-brac. An ordinary two-inch paint brush is just the thing to whisk it away.

USE TOMATO JUICE— for the next month and a half, the Prices Board advises, since 10 per cent more tomato juice will reach the retailers' shelves during that time. After April 1, there will be less available, as a result, but other foods containing similar values will be more plentiful.

PAINTING POINTER— A paper plate or a piece of cardboard glued to the bottom of a paint can will catch the drippings from the can and will also serve as a rest for the paint brush.

FOR A SPRING EVENING—The appeal of black and white for evening wear is perennial and it is at its best in the long skirted model. From the New York Dress Institute comes this charming design created for a memorable evening. The sweeping skirt is of black taffeta and the peplum bodice is of embroidered white sheer. A pretty touch is furnished by a make-believe corsage of pink flowers tied with black velvet ribbon.—By Alice Alden.

Kinette Group Organizes To Hold Bingo

A meeting of the Bingo Committee and the executive of the Peterborough Kinettes was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Maurice Holt, president.

Final arrangements were completed for the Bingo which will be held in the Market Hall on Thursday, April 13, at 8.15 p.m. All proceeds will be turned over to the Milk-for-Britain Fund.

In the summer of 1941, an appeal for milk for British children was broadcast over the combined United States and Canadian networks. In Canada there is plenty of milk but in Britain there is only one-third as much for ten million children as they require—only enough to provide five half-pints per week for each child between 6 and 12 years of age. This is a pitifully small ration for a growing child, when it is considered that many thousands of Canadian children drink a full quart every day.

Every cent contributed by the public direct to the fund goes into the purchase of milk. Powdered "whole" milk (28 per cent butter fat) is sent overseas, by Kin, because this is the purest, safest and most economical form in which milk can be purchased and handled. One pound of powdered milk is the equivalent of four quarts of fluid milk.

Mrs. J. Elliott was chosen as convener of the Bingo and Mrs. Lorne Bateman is in charge of the ticket sale. Tickets will be on sale shortly from any member of the Kinettes. The afghan and pillow donated by Mrs. E. Hurry, and on which tickets are now being sold in aid of the Milk-for-Britain Fund will be drawn for at the Bingo.

THE TEA HOUR GOSSIP . . . .

Our column to-day is going to deal with desserts some tried and true receipts which are easily made yet are nourishing and quite inexpensive, but that the family will pass back for a second serving. We should, in these days when almost everyone is working on their nerve, serve meals that we get the most strength out of, yet they must also be palatable. Look the following recipes over carefully and try them and see if you do not agree with me that they will do all I say they will.

Pompadour Pudding.

Four cups milk, three slightly rounded tablespoons cornstarch one cup granulated sugar, three egg yolks, one level teaspoon salt. Bring milk to boiling point, add other ingredients which have been well mixed together. Cook until thick. Put in baking dish. Put four tablespoons milk 1½ squares bitter chocolate (grated) into a small pan and coo kuntil thick, stirring constantly set aside to cool. Beat the whites of three eggs, add ½ cup granulated sugar, then add chocolate mixture and one teaspoon vanilla. Beat together. Turn this over the custard and bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven. Chill and serve with whipped cream. Be sure and do not have custard too thick.

Rice Custard.

¼ cup rice, 1¼ cups milk, 1 egg, ¼ cup sugar, pinch salt, 2 drops vanilla. Cook rice in boiling water and drain. Add milk and bring to a boil. Add egg yolk and cook for a minute longer. When cold, fold in beaten egg whites.

Half-Hour Pudding.

Put in mixing bowl ¼ cup brown supgar, 1 cup flour, 1 cup raisins, ½ cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt. Mix and put in greased pudding dish. Take 2 cups boiling water, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Mix and put over batter in dish. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

SERVICE MEN NEED LETTERS

Chance For Girls To Do Patriotic Service In Cheering Up Men At Distant Fronts.

DEAR MISS DIX—The other day on a railroad trip my seat mate happened to be a soldier who delivers the mail to the boys in the camp to which he is attached. He told me it was pitiful how badly the boys craved letters and how few they got, and that the importance they put on their mail couldn't be expressed, much less exaggerated, and that after he had finished delivering the mail many of them would come to him and say: "Are you sure I didn't get a letter? I should have had one. Please look again." And if none could be found, they would walk away so depressed.

He also said it didn't mean a lot who the letter was from, or what it said, just so it was a letter, and that they would exchange names of girls and write to them. He said he took out three times as much mail as he brought in every day, and that some of the poor, lonely fellows almost wrote their fingers off trying to get in correspondence with someone—anyone who could write to them.

Can't you get the girls to help these poor chaps out?

Letter From Hometown Thrills Service Man

ANSWER—Read this and weep, girls. And get out your trusty fountain pen and write to some boy in the service who maybe hasn't a girl of his own, or, if he has, perhaps she is one who is allergic to ink and finds letter writing such a chore that she puts it off and puts it off and never does it.

In the old days in Hongkong there was this legend carved above the door of the postoffice: "Like water in a desert is a letter from home in a foreign land." If you have ever been far from those you love, from old acquaintances and old familiar scenes, you know how you long for a letter from home and how more beautiful, more thrilling, more exciting than any scenery or any adventure is the sight of Squedunk or Rabbit's Track or wherever it was you came from, post-marked on an envelope. And how you read over and over again the letter that had nothing more thrilling in it than the information that the writer went to prayer meeting last Wednesday, and that the old cat had kittens.

And if this is true of just ordinary travellers on pleasure bent, think how much truer it is of boys in the army who for the first time in their lives are forced to follow a routine while they are training, and who have little to interest and amuse them, or who are away on some battle front where they need something different, something homely and familiar to take their minds away from the stress and strain they are undergoing.

It isn't easy, of course, to write interesting letters to strangers with whom you have no common background, but the boys are no scribes themselves, as a general thing. Most of them would rather have a letter from a girl who works in a shop telling about the funny things her customers did and said than to have an epistle from Madam de Sevigne herself.

All they want to know is that

JUST FOR WOMEN

By CONNIE NICHOLSON (Society Editor of The Examiner)

FASHION TIPS

Big accessories are again the style this spring, but the man-tailored suit is losing its popularity, and the dressmaker suit, looking soft and comfortable, is now at the top of the fashion ladder. Short jackets and slimmer skirts are featured, with printed suit-dresses with matching lined jackets making their appearance. Color is the keynote of the season, and bright shades are tops for daytime wear. However, black is still the most popular after-dark shade.

CLEANING JEWELRY

Spring is almost here, which means that housecleaning time is not far off. Milady's jewelry often needs housecleaning too, so here's a cleaning tip for glass or wood finery. Just dip the jewelry in rich soap suds, to which a tablespoon of ammonia powder has been added. Rinse thoroughly in luke-warm water and rub dry with a soft cloth.

The method for cleaning pearls is a little more elaborate. They should be dipped in hot water, in which bran has been boiled with a little cream of tartar. Rub the pearls gently once or twice between the hands, and let remain in bran solution till the water is cold. Then, rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water. Best results are obtained if the stones are placed in sawdust to dry, or on white paper in a dark place.

ADDED FLAVOR

Although tomato juice is delicious by itself, a little something can be added if a drop of Worcestershire sauce is mixed in the glass. Also, for something new and different, a tiny bit of cinnamon gives an unusual and exciting flavor.

Baseball Needs No Changes Veteran Says

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP).—Joe Tinker, 63 year old diamond veteran whose exploits as a member of the famous Tinker-Evers-Chance double play combination thrilled fans four decades ago, thinks the game of baseball has been perfected to the point that it will require no major changes for years to come.

"They can't change baseball," the gray-haired former star said.

"If they lengthened or cut down on the 90 feet between bases it would ruin the game," he observed. "If the pitcher's box were moved back the pitcher would be throwing the ball all over the place, and if it moved closer to the plate it would cut down on the hitting—and that's what the fans like."

Tinker, who was at his peak with the Chicago Cubs from 1902-12, is not apprehensive over the possibility that football, despite the growing popularity of the professional game, will ever displace baseball as the national pastime.

"The word baseball has become synonymous with good clean sport," he explained, "and a large share of the credit must go to Commissioner Kenesaw Landis — he saved baseball."

Boston Bruins Beat Ottawa 8-4

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 —(CP)—Boston Bruins spotted Ottawa All-Stars two early goals here last night, but came from behind with a show of National Hockey League power to win the exhibition game, 8-4.

A crowd estimated at more than 6,000 saw the game, put on by an Ottawa service club (Kiwanis) for the benefit of the Air Cadet League squadron it sponsors. The affair was more of a carnival than a hockey game as Stu Smith, centre for Ottawa Comandos of the Quebec Senior Hockey League beat three rivals in speed trials.

Boston's fiery Pat Egan tangled briefly with Ottawa's Stan Pratt in the first period, and got into a mix-up with Shack in the second. Trev Higginbottom played the first half of the game in the Ottawa nets and Bill Beveridge took over for the last half.

K. of C. Boys Yield Points To Jay's

The K. of C. bowling team ran into another load of tough opposition when they clashed with the top place Jay's outfit in the Men's City League last night. The city champions were 2 to 1 winners but they were forced to roll up a 3569 score, including 1278 for their middle game to do the trick. The K. of C. boys chalked up 3471 as they took the short count for the second week in a row.

The second place Cleanrites fell a full 3 points behind Jay's when the Empress took them for two games while the Ramblers took a disastrous flop losing all three games to Fractional Motors. With eight more nights to play before the schedule winds up it looks as if Jay's, Cleanrites and K. of C. are the three main threats to take first money, while six or seven remaining teams will make a mad dash for a spot among the first four outfits at the top.

During the night Doug Abraham's high average dropped from the 250 mark to 248, but he is still well ahead of Weese, Martin, Dwyer and Playford.

Ray Clifford took both ends of the individual scores, hitting 850 for his three games and a 359 single. Eddie Johnston posted an 806 total, while good singles besides Clifford's were Roy Lewis 321, Mel Anthony 318, Ab Evans 313, Bob Dyer 305, Dick Pearson 303, George Robertson 301 and Bud Weese 301.

The standing: Jay's 48, Cleanrites 45, K. of C. 42, Ramblers 39, Fractional Motors 37, Empress 37, Sunocos 37, Outlaws 34, Big Five 32, Stags 32, Freeman's 32, Machine Shop 27, Old Timers 24, Canada Packers 22, Gimblett 22, Westclox 18.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Frank Gotch, whose retirement in 1913 as world's heavyweight wrestling champion threw that sport into confusion from which no universally-recognised champion has emerged since, was defeated by Tom Jenkins 41 years ago tonight in a catch-as-catch-can bout at Cleveland. Jenkins retained the championship until 1905 when he lost to George Hackenschmidt who was defeated by Gotch the same year.

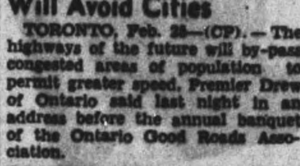
TORONTO, Feb. 25—(CP).— The highways of the future will by-pass congested areas of population to permit greater speed, Premier Drew of Ontario said last night in an address before the annual banquet of the Ontario Good Roads Association.



SPORTS-Day by Day

By FRED D. CRAIG

With two decidedly important battles on the card tonight's double-header in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.W.C.A. looks like the most interesting cage program of the season. The feature game of course will be the sudden-death struggle between St. John's and C.G.E. for the right to play Transports in the final round of the senior division. With the best-of-three semi-final series between the two all tied up with each club having won a game the series is all up to tonight's game. The winner goes into the finals and the loser into the discard. The teams have met four times this season and while the Saints have won on three of the four occasions every game has been a keen battle. The meeting tonight should, therefore, prove about the most exciting struggle of the whole campaign. Both teams will be at full strength with the lineups something like this: St. John's—Marg. Hawthorne, M. Dyer, Teresa Heslip, Eileen Hewitt, Eva Clarke, Doreen Groombridge, Peggy Lawless and Edith Harte-Maxwell. Generals—J. Hickey, Dot Allen, Fran. Merrett, Shirley Mortimer, Mary McPherson, Eleanor Craig, J. Rahmel, Monica Lawless, June Moore. The senior game will start at 8.45 o'clock. In the first game on the program Y Cadets and Normalites will tangle in the second battle of their intermediate final series and they too should stage a real argument. Cadets won the first game of the round and another win tonight would put them within reaching distance of the title.

* * * * * *

There are a lot of disadvantages about being a popular favorite in the wrestling game and the principal one is that all the bad men beg for a chance to knock off the hero. Vic. Holbrook the personality kid from the Pacific Coast who right now is seriously threatening Whipper Watson's top position in the esteem of Peterborough fans is discovering that there are drawbacks to being the people's choice. This week he was assigned the task of polishing off the Polish menace Jan Gotch and now he has another job of a similar nature on his hands. Strangler Bob Wagner, the long-haired wild man from Portland Oregon who only had to come into the ring three or four years ago in Toronto or Montreal to start a riot watched the blond bomber from the Coast toy with Gotch here Tuesday night and immediately demanded a chance to meet Holbrook. Promoter Tunney had no objection and neither had the popular ex-Commando and so Holbrook and Wagner will battle in the main bout on next Tuesday night's card at the Brock St. Arena. "He had better not try showing me up like he did Gotch," growled Wagner when he was informed the brawl was on. Holbrook merely smiled as he remarked, "I have met a lot of these bad men; they can be kept under control if you know your stuff." And the feeling is general among local wrestling enthusiasts that the Coast sensation certainly knows his.

It's Big Business

It is a strange development that in a season in which the N.H.L. as a whole has been playing about the worst hockey in its history and name players are decidedly scarce that all attendance records are being broken. Professional hockey is getting to be big business with a vengeance. For instance the Chicago Black Hawks have announced that new marks for gate receipts are being set this season. In nineteen home games the Hawks have played before a total attendance of 263,606 customers which figures out at an average patronage per game of 13,874. With six Chicago home games still to come it is probable that the Hawks will be able to report a total attendance at the end of the regular season of more than 350,000. The Chicago team has the advantage of having the biggest arena in the circuit and of enjoying a patronage especially on Sunday nights that takes up about all the available accommodation. Other clubs in the circuit also report increased business this season and probably the most remarkable feature is that the New York Rangers who have been licked oftener this campaign than any club in N.H.L. history should continue to pack in the customers at Madison Square Gardens.

* * * * * *

Certainly hockey is distinctly on the way up and current developments indicate that after the war the sport may continue to expand at a surprising rate. In fact sport writers are already predicting bigger arenas, more clubs and longer schedules to provide entertainment for the ever-growing army of fans. Doug. Vaughan in the Windsor Star intimates that Canada's national winter pastime will soon be rivalling baseball. Here is the way he sees things: "What the Hawks would draw with the seating facilities of Yankee Stadium and a schedule comparable in length with the major league baseball season, it something that should give the baseball tycoons food for thought. Very definitely, hockey is already a Big Time sport and it is growing with each succeeding year. You don't need to be an optimist to vision the day not so far distant when there will be hockey rinks capable of seating two and three times as many fans as those now in use. And with the bigger arenas you can depend on the hockey moguls to lengthen their schedules. It is not beyond the realm of possibility that we will live to see the day when some hockey player will be paid as much as the $80,000 baseball salary tops paid to Babe Ruth."

* * * * * *

Sounds Easy

Up in Kitchener where as in Peterborough they are talking about the erection of a hockey arena and civic auditorium, they have estimated that a sum in the neighborhood of $250,000 will be needed to finance the proposition. The Kitchener Record's sport columnist has it all figured out how the deal could be swung. All that is necessary, he suggests, is to get the municipal council, with the approval of the Municipal Board, to submit a bylaw to the ratepayers providing for the issuing of debentures to raise the required sum. "The city treasurer," remarks the optimistic scribe "would then be empowered to issue a $250,000 debentures at say three per cent. Several of the insurance companies in the district would take considerable of the debenture since it is a city-backed proposition. Now suppose Kitchener was to add one mill to the tax rate, an amount of approximately $27,000 a year would be realized. It would be possible then to take care of the interest and provide a $20,000 sinking fund each year. At the end of 13 years the debenture could be retired." Sounds easy, the way he describes it and we pass it on for the attention of the local committee.

* * * * * *

Montreal Canadiens are still unbeaten at home. They rolled up the Leafs there last night 3 to 1 for their 29th win of the season before the home customers and as a result drew further out in front of the league race. All the scoring was done in the middle period with Ray Getliffe, Phil Watson and Toe Blake the triggermen for the Canadiens and Elwyn Morris drilling the only Toronto goal. The Forum was jammed to capacity. New York Rangers won a moral victory by playing a 3-3 tie game with the Detroit Red Wings in New York but at that the Wings gained a point to help cinch their hold on second place. Don Grosso, Murray Armstrong and Carl Liscombe did the scoring for the Red Wings while Goodon, Bryan Hextall and Hiller were the successful Rangers marksmen. Hextall besides scoring one of the three goals was in on the counter registered by Hiller.

HIGH JUMPERS IN SPOTLIGHT—Annual national A.A.U. indoor track and field meet is scheduled for New York Saturday, with most of the outstanding indoor stars entered. One of the feature events is the high jump in which Dave Albritton, former Ohio state world record holder; Bill Vessie, Dartmouth Marine trainee and former Columbia University star, and Corp. Pete Watkins, former Texas A. and M. ace, will compete. Albritton, second in the 1936 Olympics, formerly held the world mark of 6' 9¾". Vessie is indoor co-champion and Watkins is national amateur outdoor king. Another entry is Sergt. Josh Williamson of Camp Holabird, Md. Sergt. Williamson is also a defending indoor co-champion.

Here and There in Sport

Immediate fistic activities hold the spotlight at both New York and Detroit. Filling his 10th engagement in 14 months at Detroit tonight, Jake Lamotta of New York takes on Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburg in a 10-round return bout, giving jumping Jake a chance to wipe out the split decision which resulted from their previous go and collect a flat 35 per cent of the gate. Lamotta's earnings in Olympia stadium have already passed the $60,000 mark.

The first heavyweight battle of the season in Madison Square Garden brings together Tami Mauriello, 186, and Joe aksi, 210, in a 10-round feature to-night. Mauriello, heavily backed by the Bronx, has been beaten only twice, both times by Cleveland's Jimmy Bivens who is considered No. 1 contender for the crown of Sgt. Joe Louis. Baksi, Pennsylvania coal miner, has dropped two decisions in 42 contests since 1940.

One Canadian.

After winning the Canadian army light-heavyweight title at Epsom, Sgt. Jack Ennis of Windsor, Ont., failed to qualify for the British army championships at Blackpool March 8 when he was defeated last night in the southern area tourney by L. Bdr. Johnny Scott of the British Army at Slough, Buckinghamshire. Gnr. Doug Marsh of Verdum in the middleweight division will be the only Canadian for the British finals.

At is annual meeting in Montreal yesterday, the Royal Canadian Golf Association heard there would be a sufficient quantity of re-made golf balls to enable players to continue their sport this year. One of the featured events will be the Red Cross tournament June 26. Championships will not be revived in 1944.

Boston Bruins spotted Ottawa All-Stars two early goals here last night but came from behind with a show of National League power to win the exhibition game 8-4. A crowd estimated at more than 6,000 saw the game, put on by an Ottawa service club (Kiwanis) for the benefit of the Air Cadet League it sponsors.

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 25.—(AP).—Thirty Japanese-Americans at the Minidoka re-location centre at Hunt, Idaho, have indicated they would rather be sent to Japan than be inducted into the United States' armed forces, Lt.-Col. Erosion Serious

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25—(CP). — Although Canadians may not realize it, erosion has become so serious throughout the Dominion that there is now less than eight inches of soil between them and starvation, J. Canadiens Hold Record No Home Losses

By The Canadian Press.

Montreal Canadiens have definitely set their sights now on a National Hockey League season without defeat on home ice.

Already five points above their former club record of 60 points in a season, and needing only a win or two draws in 10 remaining games to clinch first place, the Canucks have just a couple more things they want to do before playoff time—top the league record of 77 points in a season and remain undefeated on home ice.

They've won 18 games and played three ties so far at the Forum this year, and have five games more to go— one against each team in the loop. Boston, Detroit and Toronto have each tied the Canucks once in Montreal—all by 2-2 scores.

Surprise Tie.

Canadiens hurdled quite an obstacle in the way of their objective last night when they set back the Leafs 3-1 in a game that was looked upon as probably a playoff preview. In the only other game of the night, New York Rangers pulled a surprise on the faithful home fans by battling to a 3-3 tie with Detroit.

The surprising thing about the tie Rangers pulled off against the second-place Red Wings was the fact that they came from behind late in the game instead of falling apart in the third period as they have done at various times in the past.

Bryan Hextall scored the goal that tied it up and gave Rangers their second tie against 10 defeats in their last 12 games. Billy Gooden had given them the lead in the opening period and a gift goal, when Bill Jennings drove the puck into his own net while attempting to clear, kept them in the running after Don Grosso tied it up.

Toronto Gift.

Then Detroit got two early in the third, from the sticks of Murray Armstrong and Carl Liscombe, and it looked as though the Ranger's downfall was on the way. But they rallied to gain the tie.

All the scoring was crammed—just barely—into the second period in the Montreal game. Phil Watson and Ray Getcliffe combined for two goals within the first 28 seconds of the frame, and Toe Blake collected the third Canadien counter with a second to go at the period's end.

In between those goals came the only Toronto score of the night, a gift to the Leafs by Bill Durnan, who omitted to get behind his stick on a slow rolling shot by Elwin Morris and the puck hopped over stick.

TORONTO, Feb. 25 —(CP)— It would come from Brooklyn! There's a proposal from the banks of the Gowanus that lights be done away with in night baseball and "instead use phosphorescent paint applied to balls, bats, uniforms, bases, foul lines etc. This luminous glow would be a thrilling novelty to the spectators." A certain Butch Hoffman made the suggestion. Dick Young of the New York News comments: "And how's your glow today, Butch?"

Boxing Blurbs:

Service fight cards have revived boxing interest in the Dominion. Some 2,500 fans watched a service fight card in Edmonton where men from the U.S. Army air base joined Canadian servicemen in producing a fine series of bouts. . . . Western Air Command intends to hold a mammoth boxing show in Vancouver, possibly on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, with proceeds going to the R.C.A.F. Benevolent Fund. Canadian Service boxers will be matched with men from the United States forces.

Mr. Chips:

Larry (Montreal Star) O'Brien calls his fellow citizen, Harold Bott, the Mr. Chips of Skidom. Bott, 54-year-old high school teacher, has played a quietly unobstrusive but effective role in development of skiing in Montreal, particularly among the youngsters. His latest efforts have brought revival of ski-jumping interest there.

A son, Punch Bott, is one of the Dominion's outstanding skiers and four other members of the family are keen enthusiasts.

Three members of the Regina Army Caps, Saskatchewan senior hockey champions last year, have since been discharged from the Army. They are Murray Armstrong, now with Detroit Red Wings, Goalie Tiger Mitchell and Defenceman Butch McDonald . . . Vancouver Hedlunds, Canadian Women's basketball champions, have received an offer for an eight-game tour of Mexico at 1,000 pesos a game—about $110 in Canadian money . . . Art Chapman, scouting the west for Eddie Shore of Buffalo Bisons, told Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning that Shore doesn't want an N.H.L. franchise because "he can pack his rink at major league prices for minor league hockey."

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 —(AP)—Besides turning out a basketball team that hasn't lost to a college rival this season, Western Michigan College is one institution that makes college baseball pay its own way....Since this dept. has become involved in a discussion of why so few colleges can do that, we put it up to drum beater Homer Dunham.

Dunham maintains that a good schedule and sound coaching will do the trick....Back in 1928, Western Michigan took on Chicago and Notre Dame, its first major rivals; five years later Wisconsin spoiled a perfect record against all major rivals and for the last 10 years Western Michigan has made a .534 average against Big Ten colleges....The Kalamazoo fans took to it because the college provided better baseball than the city industrial league and scheduled its mid-week games when the factory workers were just coming off duty.

One man's opinion:

"Any college can do the same thing if the athletic heads are willing to work,'" Dunham argues, "if the teams are consistently poor, it means that the coach is lazy."

Report here is that the staid West Side Tennis Club is considering leasing the Forest Hills Stadium for boxing next summer.

Bisons, Capitals In 6-all Draw

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons and Indianapolis Capitals fought to a 6-6 draw last night in the American Hockey League's only game.

Both teams are in second place in the Eastern and Western divisions respectively.

Bisons, who have played to a draw five times this season with Caps, but have yet to beat them.

Bisons held an apparently safe 6-2 lead early in the third period but Bernie Ruelle scored from the right boards and Dick Kowcinak banged two counters into the net within little more than a minute. He also opened the scoring with a goal in the first period.

Alex Titson and Rod Morrison scored the other Cap tallies.

Fred Thurier, Fred Hunt, Larry Thibeault, and Eldy Kobussen each scored a counter for Buffalo in the first period. Roger Leger added the fifth in the second and Thurier scored the sixth early in the third.

Kitchener Man Escapes From Hun Camp

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 25—(CP)—For 2½ years, Lieut. Jim Gardner of Regina, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Gardner, now live in Kitchener, Ont., was a prisoner of war in Italy.

A short while ago, he escaped from his prison camp and made his way by devious means to the 8th Army lines in Italy. Now he is in London.

He can't talk about his escape, for there are others using the same method of getting away, but his odyssey through the battlefields of Africa as a member of the Royal Tank Regiment of the British Army is, in itself, a story.

In June, 1940, Gardner graduated from Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., and was commissioned in the British Army. From England, he was sent to the Middle East. There he shared in the campaign in the Sudan, Eritrea and Abyssinia and in May, 1941, went to the western desert with the Royal Tank Regiment when Sir Archibald Wavell was waging his touch-and-go campaigns with the minimum of troops and equipment.

Gardner took part in the fierce desert fighting in May and June and was in the push for the relief of Tobruk.

"That was where I came to grief," he said in an interview. "I was in a Matilda tank during one battle and it was knocked out. We were captured by the Germans."

Gardner is trying to switch to the Canadian Armored Corps, but the British are diffident about letting an experienced tank officer go.

Member Claims Nazis In Camp Kill Prisoners

By JAMES McCOOK,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 —(CP) —The House of Commons to-day turns to discussion of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation after a day spent on events associated with the war.

First business this afternoon is to be a resolution to set up a House Committee on Radio Broadcasting similar to that which operated last year and which reviewed activities of the C. B. C.

Defence Minister Ralston said last night he had no information to support reports given the House by Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) that Nazi prisoners had been murdered by their fellows.

Mr. Green said he understood there had been certain cases of men being murdered in prison camps and that others had run to the wires for help. As he understood it, the discipline within the prison camps was handled entirely by the Nazis themselves.

Mr. Ralston said he thought the statement by Mr. Green was "a bit ill-advised." He had not heard of any such events. Within the last three weeks a representative of the protecting power for Germany had visited the camps and would report to the German Government. An endeavor had been made to show him everything.

Wants Uniforms.

J. F. Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) said second-hand army clothing used to be available to him for distribution to the poor who could cut it down to use for children's garments. Now it was being sold by the Defence Department or made available free to the Indians.

"If it is good for the Indians why is it impossible for the good red-blooded Canadians to have it?" he asked.

The House spent the day on army items under the $3,650,000,000 War Appropriations resolution.

Col. Ralston said, in answer to Mr. Green, that merit was the factor in the promotion of officers, whether they were permanent or non-permanent force men. Mr. Green had said there was a feeling there should be no distinction in retiring officers. When a man was no longer needed he should be released whether he was permanent or non-permanent.

Col. Ralston said the treasury might favor a policy of retiring the permanent force man who had contributed to his pension while the non-permanent man had not, but such a policy was not followed. If there were a case of two men of equal merit he would favor the retirement of the non-permanent man, since he was going back into civil life in any event and should be able to become re-established as soo nas possible.

Wants Larger Grant.

Mr. Green said the rehabilitation grant of one month's pay and allowances was unsufficient for discharged men. The grant should be sufficient for those leaving the forces to think they were being treated fairly.

The outlook of young men and women in the forces was vital to the future of Candaa and small allowances when they left the service had the effect of shattering their vision of a new Canada, Mr. Green said.

Col. Ralston replied that he agreed all had to be united in taking the lead in order to awaken the nation to necessity of receiving servicemen and service women some day and helping "to make this country fit for heroes, both men and women, to live in.

But the first thing was to ensure victory so there would be a "post-war." Those in the forces looked forward to the peace years and had the right to have parliament consider their future. The Government had tried to give the lead which Mr. Green had suggested, and a program to provide for extending the rehabilitation program had been outlined in the throne speech.

Several members raised the question of service mother's allowances, suggesting they should be higher than the present maximum of $25 a month for those who have sons in the forces and can prove their need. A frequent suggestion was that they should be as high as those granted a soldier's wife— $35 a month.

Col. Ralston said the allowance of $35 a month to a soldier's wife was granted automatically, but the need of the mother had to be shown. In special cases the dependents' board of trustees would consider supplementary sums to relieve the anxiety of the soldier about his dependents.

Premier said "when we speak of employment, many people are speaking in terms of our present levels of employment. But the truth is that the lands, the forests, the mines and the manufacturing industries, are capable of a very greatly expanded production. We have the raw material, we have the industrial skill and the world is going to need the things that we can make.

"..It will be the first function of this new department to co-ordinate the many planning agencies now looking to the future, and also to stimulate new planning in directions which have not yet been explored by any organized effort."

Referring to industry, the Premier said "what we need more than anything else to assure a continuance of our industrial growth is a sufficiently large pool of trained, creative, industrial designers with a background of real experience."

It was hoped that by effective collaboration between the various research organizations and the new department of development and planning that it would be possible to measure the requirements in this field and take immediate steps toward assurance of the number that will be required.

MORE ABOUT—
Nazis Evacuate

Premier Stalin, in one of two orders of the day issued yesterday in Moscow, announced Gen. Konstantin Rokossovky's army, in a new offensive north of the Pripet marshes, had stormed and captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile wide front, taking more than 30 towns and villages.

One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material, the announcement said.

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk —the former a rail town 15 miles north of Zhlobin, junction point of the Vitebsk-Gomel and Gomel-Minsk railways—was viewed here as an indication the Russians intend to mount a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this rapidly-changing front.

Astride Railway.

Red army troops for weeks have been astirde the railway between Vitebsk and Polotsk, another strategic Nazi stronghold 55 miles to the west of the Vitebsk-Riga railway. The Germans are still in possession of Orsha, 50 miles south of Vitebsk, and that part of the Moscow-Warsaw trunk railway west of Orsha which runs through Minsk and Best-Litovsk to the Polish capital.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, Red army troops converging on Pskov captured Dno, last important Nazi base to the east of Pskov, and occupied a village 20 miles to the north, Moscow said.

The Russians under Gen. Leonid A. Govorov and Gen. Markian M. Popov routed 30,000 Germans in the storming of Dno, the Russian bulletin added. Smashed Nazi divisions falling back on Latvia were said to be abandoning great quantities of equipment.

Moscow said 190 localities were captured in a three-pronged advance on Pskov from the north, north-east and east which was averaging between 10 and 17 miles a day.

Berlin acknowledging loss of Dno by "evacuation," also told of renewed fighting 90 miles inside the pre-war Polish border, where it was claimed the Germans recaptured Rojische, 11 miles north of Luck (Lutsk) and 46 miles from the 1941 German-Russian frontier. Moscow has never announced capture of Rojische.

An incomplete tabulation of the enemy fighters destroyed gave a total last night of 66 for the forces most of them bagged in flaming aerial battles on the Gotha and Steyr runs.

Of this total, 37 were accounted for by fighters escorting the bombers from England, 18 by bombers from Italy, and 11 by the fighters protecting the latter. Tally for the Britain-based bombers was delayed.

In the first five days this week, American four-engined aerial forces in Britain were idle only one day—Wednesday—but on that day the Italian contingent kept the ball rolling by making their first attack on Steyr, 90 miles west of Vienna.

The first two-way co-ordinated raids of the present series came on Tuesday when Fortresses and Liberators from Italy attacked an aircraft plant at Regensburg, 50 miles north of Munich, while aircraft from Britain were hitting similar targets elsewhere in Germany.

Farmer Catches Wolf In Trap

MARMORA, Feb. 25 — (ENS) — Details of the catching of a wolf last Sunday by Dean McGregor and his son of Marmora Township are somewhat unusual. Two weeks ago the farmer set the carcass of an animal at the rear of his farm as bait for foxes. Watching to see what would develop, he was surprised to see a wolf feeding on the carcass. Getting his shotgun, he fired twice to miss the animal.

Later discovering the trap was gone, he set another one and was rewarded by discovering the wolf caught by one claw. Further examination revealed that the animal had chewed off its claws to extricate itself from the first trap. Mr. McGregor is taking the pelt to Belleville to claim the bounty.

Miracle Saves Flier Caught In Chute

TORONTO, Feb. 25—(CP)—How PO. Jimmy Abbott's Spitfire landed safely as he clung to its tail and rudder after being caught in his parachute harness when he bailed out was described to-day by Flt. Lt. Donald Morrison as "just one of those things."

Abbotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Abbotts of Owen Sound, is safe in a German prison camp. He suffered only minor injuries when, as a member of the famed R.C.A.F. Wolf squadron on a sweep over France, his Spitfire went into a spin and he was forced to jump.

His parachute became entangled inside the cockpit and when his head cleared he found himself flapping alongside the tail of the still spinning aircraft. Somehow the Spitfire levelled out and landed safely, with Abbotts astride the tail.

In revealing the story to-day, Morrison, holder of the D.F.C. and D.F.M., didn't think Abbott's weight on the rear of the aircraft was responsible for the landing.

"It can't be explained," he said.

Shortly after the incident Abbotts turned up in a prison camp where Morrison was held. Morrison was later repatriated to Canada.

WOUNDED
While fighting with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, A. S. Sgt. James Alexander Russell, son of Mrs. Maydie Russell, R. R. No. 4 Campbellford, was wounded. This report was given in to-day's official casualty list.

FEELING BETTER.
Albert Lions, 80, who was badly burned Sunday when his cottage at Loon Lake was destroyed by fire, is still a patient in the Aspley Red Cross Hospital. They report his condition is good and that he is improving slowly. The effects of shock are wearing off.

BADLY DAMAGED.
When two vehicles collided at an intersection of two roads in Otonabee Township, two miles south of Brady's School this morning, both machines were badly damaged. A truck driven by H. J. Dowsett, Westwood, and a car driven by D. C. Hope of Keene, were involved in the crash. The accident was investigaed by Provincial Constable Price Morris.

GREEK RELIEF ORDER.
The local Greek Relief Committee was notified on Wednesday from Montreal to forward at once all children's clothing received here. Louis Yeotes, on behalf of the committee, said that the clothing will be crated and sent off by Monday of next week, as the need is most serious. Any late gifts of clothing for Greek children in the devastated homeland will be gratefully received up to the week-end. The entire campaign for adult clothing and any cash gifts closing on Saturday, March 4.

OFFICIAL INDECISION.
Some time members of the City Council wonder how they become bogged down, once in a while, with some secondary affair that clings to their time and progress, and generally gets in the way without the least profit to anybody. A prime sample of that sort of obstruction and delay seems to be a slot machine problem in Niagara Falls where the 1944 budget work has been held up for six weeks, and the City Council seems to be all tangled up in the question of tolerating those machines which so many other municipalities have tossed onto the scrap heap with a few fines being handed out with them. They even took a vote of the people some time ago, and in their latest discussions they were still beset by the machines.

WELCOMED OUT AGAIN.
Alderman Herbert Bradburn has been able to be down town for a short time these last few days, and is recovering from the effects of an attack of pneumonia with such favorable, although slow, progress, that he hopes to be able to attend the first meeting of the council in March.

FIVE ARE FINED.
There must have been a celebration of some kind or other last night, judging by the number of drunk charges heard in police court this morning. Howard Fairfield, Percy Little, James Murphy, Charles Kelly and Albert Raciot all entered pleas of guilty and were fined $10 and $2.50 costs each.

SALARY EXTENSION.
An appreciation of the fine quality of the work of the late Alma Beavis of the staff of the city's welfare department, the welfare committee yesterday afternoon recommended to the Council continuation of the payment of her salary to her bereaved mother for a period of six months. This action followed a precedent in the municipal serivce which was mentioned at the meeting. Alderman Glover presided.

IN ARMY SHOW.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rome, Sherbrooke Street received word to-day that their son, Gnr. RoyRome has been transferred to Toronto where he will become a member of the Army Show. Gnr. Rome has been staioned at Petawawa for the past two years and a brother, Gnr. William Rome, is serving in Italy. Roy Rome is known here for his fine performances on the violin.

SELLS 2,240 STAMPS.
Warren Payne, Lakefield grocer, has sold 2,240 War Savings Stamps in the Food Industry's drive for $26,000 total sale in February. That statement needs no embroidery but it invites the comment that a lot of the local food salesmen, grocer-ies, meat, milk and bread, might have taken a page from the Payne book of resolution and going at a job with a stout intention of putting the most into it.

WIN CERTIFICATES
Six more winners of $5. War Savings certificates in the present War Savings stamp drive were declared at the conclusion of the Canadian Legion bingo Wednesday night and the names are as follows:
Mrs. R. H. Brawn 271 Mark St., Mrs. Robert Beatty 261 Perry St., William Morley 10 Lundy's Lane, Miss E. Johnson 525 Albert St., Mrs. S. E. Thomas 473 Aylmer St., Mrs. R. J. Stewart 223 Antrim St.

PO. FRED WEIR

FIVE WEIR BROTHERS SERVING IN CANADIAN FORCES—Four sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Weir, Omemee, are in the R.C.A.F. and one in the R.C.A., and all but FO. Harold Weir, are serving overseas. Gnr. Burton Weir enlisted in Lindsay with the 45th Battery in September, 1939, transferring to the 12th Battery overseas in November, 1941. As far as is known he is still in England. LAC. Russell Weir enlisted in Toronto in August, 1942. He graduated as a radio technician after training at Manning Depot, Central Tech, Toronto, and Clinton. In December of 1943 he was posted to the Eastern Air Command. FO. Harold Weir has recently been moved from the West to Deseronto. He enlisted in Toronto in January, 1940, and received his commission in January, 1943. LAC. Arthur Weir is serving overseas as a bomb armourer. He joined up in Toronto in March, 1942, and trained at Manning Depot, Mountain View and Mont Joli. The fifth brother, PO. Fred Weir, recently returned overseas for the second time. He joined the Air Force in August, 1940, and went overseas in August, 1941, as an observer. He completed a tour of operations in Egypt, Libya and Malta. Then he took a course in England, graduating as an air bomber instructor, receiving his commission in July, 1943. For a period of six months he instructed in England and Wales, then he returned to Canada early in December for a furlough. PO. Weir was decorated with "gold wings" at the first ceremony of its kind to be held in Canada in January, 1944.

City Council Not Ready To Pass Budget

Toronto City Council has set March 9 as the "dead line" for its budget, a declaration of intention and time limit that suggests a similar question as to when Peterborough's Council will get around to passing the local estimates and striking the 1944 tax rate.

Presumably the Board of Education has completed its requisition and likewise the Separate School Board, but neither of these bodies has forwarded its requirements to the Council.

The Board of Works has not yet decided upon the appropriations it will ask of the Council for the year's work. In brief, none of the component estimates has been passed by the finance committee of the Council.

Getting Late.

The calendar is pointing to the end of February, and probably the Council's committees will meet next week in preparation for the first of the two regular meetings for March. This routine business may leave some of the members wondering when the Council is going to get down to the main business of this stage of the municipal year.

Unusual questions have been intruding so far on the Council's time: annexation, hospital, fuel and ice, transfer of the garbage collection and disposal to direct municipal undertaking and management. These are matters which have been encroaching on the Council's time, but the fact remains that the completion of the budget is drawing close to the date at which it is ordinarily determined.

Missing Flier German Prisoner

WARKWORTH, Feb. 25.—(ENS). —Flt. Sgt. Marwood (Woody) Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Potter, Warkworth, who was reported missing January 27 after air operations, was said this morning to be a prisoner of war in Germany by Ottawa.

At the time he was reported to be missing, Flt. Sgt. Potter had nearly completed his first tour of operations, and was expecting his commission. He was noted for his skill as an air gunner, and his steadiness helped him to down an enemy plane in a Berlin raid in August.

Born in Percy Township 22 years ago, he received his education at S.S. No. 4, Percy, and before enlisting in August, 1942, was employed by the Canada Wire & Cable Company, Toronto.

INDIAN RIVER SAILOR—Signaller Clare Hayes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hayes of Indian River. He recently graduated after completing his course at Ste. Hyacinthe, and was formerly employed at the C.G.E.

Stamp Campaign Rockets Ahead

Two $480 purchases of War Savings Stamps through the grocery trade this morning started this Friday of the Food Industry's campaign on a ringing note for Joe Jebson and his associates in the trade.

"One was a local man, and we just can't use his name," said the chairman of the executive, "but the other was from a Havelock gentleman, Ray Williams, who bought the War Savings Certificates through W. Noftall of National Grocers. Some of our friends in the district have been really helping in the campaign, and we are all grateful to them. After all it is their war just as much as it is ours and the only thing is that the campaign in this district centres around Peterborough."

Mr. Jebson said to-day that he was beginning to feel hopeful that Peterborough would reach the $26,000 objective by the end of the month.

"The Canadian Legion have done a fine job for us, and volunteered it, at that. They put on the spare a dime and divided the pot two night last week. Wednesday this week and again tonight. We are certainly grateful to the lads at the Legion for their cooperation. We hope the citizens turn out for the Bingo at the Armouries Saturday night."

Youths Admit Robbing Nurse's Garage

Echoes of the excitement around the Nurse garage at Fowler's Corners on the early morning of February 19, when three youths who had broken into the garage were surprised by the arrival on the scene of Robert Nurse and his son Kenneth, armed respectively with a rifle and a revolver, were heard in police court this morning when evidence was taken in breaking and entering charges against the three.

Kenneth Nurse, giving evidence, swore that only three shots were fired but the accused intimated that the fusilade was heavier than that. Herman Shepherd one of the prisoners declared that at least eight shots had been fired including two at the car in which he made a getaway while his two companions were being arrested.

The three, all of whom had pleaded guilty were James Sweeney, 20, R.R. 2, Weston, who had received a bullet wound in the calf of his left leg. Herman Shepherd, 17, Brampton and Gerald J. Sullivan, 16, Toronto.

The last-named had given his name as William Rudd and his age as 18 when arrested but this morning his father John Sullivan told the court that the proper name was Gerald J. Sullivan and that the boy was only 16 years old.

"He was working at the Small Arms plant," said the father. "He left home apparently to go to work but when he failed to arrive at the plant we reported him to the police as missing."

Rifle Taken

Nurse in giving evidence in the three cases said that he had been awakened by the burglar alarm in the garage, had awakened his father and the two of them investigated. On reaching the garage, he said, he saw three men at the gasoline pump with a car nearby. The bowl of the pump which had been full the night before had been emptied and the locks on the pump had been broken.

Nurse said that he told the men to come away from the pump and fired a shot into the ground and then pulled the gun a second time. Two of them, Sweeney and Sullivan moved away while the third man ran to the car, jumped in and drove off to the east. The other two were held until the police arrived.

The witness said that a small rifle, a quantity of ammunition, and a number of boxes of cigarettes had been stolen from the garage. The stolen property, he said, would be worth around $30 with $3.60 more for the gasoline taken.

Constable Leo Murphy was called in two of the cases to testify as to what had been found on Sweeney and Sullivan when they were searched.

In the charge against Shepherd who was arrested by the Lindsay police Provincial Constable Price Morris testified as to a rifle identified by Nurse as his property having been found in the car in which Shepherd had been driving.

All three of the accused had been in trouble before, according to the records produced in court.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., reserved sentence for a week.

"There may be another charge of stealing a car," Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., intimated.

Group At C.G.E. Aids Victims Of London Raids

Over in London at the heart of the Empire, rescue workers have been feverishly digging away in the rubble of houses demolished by German air raid bombers, to dig trapped civilians, many of them children, out of the ruins of their homes, numbers of whom will never again see the light of day in this world.

From this distance amid the security and plenty that prevails, the scene as it actually stands really defies a true description, but there can be no doubt that were this enacted right in our own vicinity, people would rise as a unit to render the maximum help possible for those who have been so unfortunate as to lose their homes, its contents and perhaps those whom they held most dear in this world.

To render help to such people as this of our own kith and kin should indeed be a privilege, and it can be said quite to the credit of many people in this city and district, that while they are unable to be there in person to give their assistance, they have taken advantage of the facilities afforded through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, and have given of their means to help provide the necessities that go a long way towards establishing them in some semblance of their former life.

Industrial Control Total $200

Among these, the Industrial Control Department of the C.G.E. Co. Ltd. with P. Killingbeck as foreman, have particularly played a leading part during recent months, for during the past year they sent in eight different donations which in the aggregate amounted to $154.90, and today their second gift of this year amounting to $28.37 is listed, which with $16.35 credited to their name on January 26, gives them a total for almost exactly one year that is only just a few cents short of the $200.00 mark.

What is more, this may truly be all said to be of a personal nature, for it represents help that each man gives into a box that is passed around each Saturday morning by Phillip Weir, their team play bearing the hallmark of an individual interest that must be widespread, for no chain is stronger than its weakest link.

In Sympathy for Londoners

Today a donation is listed "In sympathy for those stricken in London," that might be suggestive to many other people, for it does not represent such a great financial sacrifice as what might be borne by almost everyone in this thriving city of many thousands of people, and yet in the struggle it could, if followed by the many able to do so, be of considerable help to the people stricken just now in London.

St. Patrick's Dance

One of the big coming events which is being made the means of giving aid to the fund, is scheduled to take place in the Legion Hall on March 17, when the manager and staff of the Canadian Department Stores are sponsoring a dance for that purpose.

On three previous occasions, a similar event on the same day under the same suspices has been responsible for substantial assistance, being mainly responsible for a total of $743.79 already credited to this same group, and this one if anything promises to be even better, for they are holding a draw for a Cedar Chest filled with many good things as well to give a real boost to the receipts.

There will be novelty features at the dance under the direction of Marion Perry Laird, and music will be supplied by Jack Marshall's orchestra. Tickets for both the draw and dance may be obtained from any member of the staff at the C.D.S.

Red Cross And Community Fund Drive For $60,000 Is Under Way

Peterborough's annual Red Cross and Community Fund drive commences this evening with a rally of all the workers at the Genelco cafeteria. In the next week the canvassers are asked to secure $60,000 from the citizens, $30,000 of which will go to the Red Cross and the rest will be divided among the following agencies: Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Salvation Army, Navy League, St. Vincent's Orphange, Children's Aid Society, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Victorian Order of Nurses and the Corvette Peterborough Fund.

Under the direction of Ian McRae the industrial division is being asked for $25,000. Factories and shops are organized and in some the campaign is almost completed. Gordon Matthews, chairman of the special names has also reported receipts. His division is seeking to raise $20,000. W. C. Hughes is the chairman of the retail division and his canvassers who go out to get $14,000 will commence their work on Saturday. The ladies' division under Mrs. John R. Marshall has an objective of $3,000 and they also commence Saturday.

This is the fourth year of the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign. Prior to that time individual canvassers were held annually for some of the agencies, while others held tag days. Grouping them all together in one community effort has saved a great deal of time and work and has been appreciated by the citizens in general.

While $60,000 is asked, the budget of the various organizations which has been submitted to the executive of the fund calls for nearly $75,000. However, as the fund has a considerable surplus, it is hoped to use this in making up the difference between the objective and the actual money required.

Doug. Hammond as usual is in charge of campaign headquarters at 287 George street, and he reports all canvassers have received their instruction and have their kits ready to start.

Merchants are decorating their windows, and if any require more cards these may be had at campaign headquarters.

In the schools a poster contest is being completed today, and it is expected that judging will be finished early in the week. Next week the pupils in all the city schools will be asked to contribute a penny a day towards the drive, and as in the past it is expected this amount will exceed $500.

The death ocurred on Wednesday following a short illness of Domenico Ronco, 553 Bolivar street, blacksmith and employee of the DeLaval Co. for 25 years. Taken ill on February 18, he passed away at his home at the age of 86.

A resident of Peterborough for 39 years, he was born at Roseto Val Fartore, taly, the son of the late Phillip Ronco and Mary Ruggerio, and lived for a short time in the United States before coming to Canada. A member of St. Peter's Cathedral, he belonged to the Holy Name Society of that church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Giovanie Ruggerio, four daughters and a son; Mrs. Anthony Thompson, Phillip Ronco and Mrs. Raymond Hill of Peterborough; Mrs. Patsy Fern and Mrs. Robert Huston of Toronto. A sister, Mrs. Mary Sabatino and a brother, Lewis Ronco, live in Pennsylvania. There are five grandchildren.

The funeral will be held on Saturday at 8.40 a. m. from the late residence, 553 Bolivar Street, to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 o'clock. Interment at St. Peter's cemetery.

JOHN MENOGUE

There passed away, on Thursday morning, at St. Joseph's Hospital, one of the best-known and most highly respected citizens of Ashburnham, in the person of John Menogue. Born eighty-eight years ago at Elmira, Waterloo County, he settled in Peterborough with his family in the year 1910. His wife, whose maiden name was Mary Anne Connolly, predeceased him twenty-four years ago.

As a skilled carpenter John Menogue had few, if any, equals in the district. He especially excelled in fine work. The three altars in the Immaculate Conception Church were erected by him and his son, and one of them was donated by them. Ten o'clock the evening before the celebration of the first mass in the new church, found him, then in his seventy-eigth year, perched at the top of a ladder giving the final touches to his gift to the Church which he loved so well.

It was not however so much his craftmanship that won the admiration of all who knew him as his sterling Christian character, his honesty and child-like sincerity.

There are left to mourn his loss, three sons and two daughters, Denis of Indian River, Michael of Toronto and John, Margaret and Mary at home. Solemn high mass will be offered for the reposed of his soul at 9 o'clock on Saturday, in the Immaculate Conception Church.

Petain's View

LONDON, Feb. 25 (CP Cable) — The Daily Mail said yesterday in a dispatch from Madrid that it understood Marshal Petain, Vichy Chief of State, "in private conversation has repeatedly given it as his firm conviction that Germany now has definitely lost the war and the Allies will invade and succeed in conquering Europe."

Belmont Man Fined For Purchasing Tire

Giving judgment in a case in which he had heard the evidence last week, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning found Russell Buchanan, Belmont township, guilty on a charge of having purchased a tire for which the necessary permit had not been obtained, contrary to the War-Time Industry Control Board Regulations.

"After looking over the documents and the evidence," said His Worship, "I think I should accept the last statement made by the accused and find that he has been guilty of obtaining a tire of a different type from the one authorized."

"However, I do not feel," said the Magistrate, "in view of the fact that there has been no evidence as to the actualities of the case that I should make the penalty severe."

Buchanan was fined $10 and $3.75 costs.

He was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., while W. F. Huycke, K.C., prosecuted.

Committee Approves Sale Of Lots For $650

Sale of two lots owned by the city on O'Carroll Avenue to Charles Levine for $650 was recommended to the Council yesterday by its property committee.

It was stated that Mr. Levine is proprietor of Smart Set Shop on George Street, dealing in women's wear, and that he intends to build on O'Carroll Avenue a house in the value range of the area, maybe $10,000.

'I understand Mr. Levine intends to put up a house as good as Harry Cherney's and it's one of the best up there," Alderman Swanston chairman, said. "I asked Mr. Henry, our assessor what he thought of that offer, 650 for the two lots and he expressed his approval, saying that was a fair value. The D. W. Way house is just to the east of those lots."

The sale of this property was moved by Alderman Dutton, seconded by Alderman Sands. The vacant properties on "Classic Hill" are steadily becoming fewer.

Welcomes Probe

OTTAWA, Feb. 25—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said last night in the Commons he was prepared to have the war expenditures committee or some other desired authority undertake an investigation of army boots. He spoke after J. G. Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) referred to charges by James Clark, a former United Kingdom-Canada joint inspection board inspector, that 1,000,000 pairs of army boots had been made from inferior materials.

Offers To Instal Fountain In West End If City Council Will Turn Over Property

Peterborough's only fountain is the decorative spray at the filtration plant. Actually, there is another, in Victoria Park, but it has been dried up these many years. The community of Peterborough just didn't care a whoop whether is continued in beauty or whether it became the ugly protuberance it has been in the park scene for a generation. Presumably it has been considered an adornment, as is, to Victoria Park. Successive city and county councils didn't even notice it. At any rate no one has yet risen with the suggestion that the water be made to flow again, or that the whole thing be uprooted and forgotten, and not left there as a symbol of the indifference of a community of around 28,000 people.

With a river flowing by the Peterborough doors, some persons have hoped for the revival of the fountain in the park, and even the duplication down town somewhere of the colored fountain which should be a daily brightening of the spirit instead of being several miles away and to be visited somewhat in state or by decision for an outing.

The question has sometimes been heard as to why the city council could not provide for the down town scene the beauty of the fountain with which the Utilities Commission graced the property they are administering.

All of which is a long preamble to a letter received by the parks committee of the council yesterday afternoon from G. N. Gordon, K.C., offering to instal a small fountain if the council turned over to him the corner property next to his own on Hunter street. Mr. Gordon said it was entirely unlikely that any council would ever consider the laying of a sidewalk on the east side of Park street south of Hunter, and that the corner could be beautified with a little effort which he said he was willing to do. The letter was held in abeyance for the present.

HOME FROM ENGLAND—Pte. John Moxam of Bancroft has arrived home after more than four years overseas. He enlisted in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in 1939 and went overseas in December of that year. During his commando course he was injured and this led to his return.

To Refund Debt

EDMONTON, Feb. 25 (CP)—Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, yesterday said in his eighth Budget speech to the Alberta Legislature that refunding of Alberta's public debt must be on a complete scale and "it is essentially in the interests of this province that we effect a comprehensive re-adjustment of our total debt at the present time." The budget showed the net funded and unfunded debt at March 31, 1943, totalled $140,704,159, a decrease of $961,326 over the previous year.

Peterboro Man Brother Of Late CPR Engineer

Robert Hendley Walton, 62, Toronto, who died on his train Tuesday between Orangeville and Elora, was a brother of George Walton, also of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, trainman on the C.P.R. local between this city and Toronto.

"R. H. Walton collapsed at the throttle of his engine near Orton, and died in the baggage car before the train reached Hillsburg, where a doctor was waiting to attend him. He complained early in the day of feeling ill, and consulted a doctor at Elora, but said he felt well enough to make the return trip to Orangeville.

Mr. Walton was first engaged with the C.P.R. as a call boy of fourteen at Havelock.

WATT.— In loving memory of our dear Father, who passed away December 4, 1931, and our dear Mother, who passed away one year ago, February 25, 1943.

When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing—
If they only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartaches
Our smiles hide all the while.

—Lovingly remembered by their Family, Alexander, Elva, Frances and Willa.

HENTHORNE.— In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Henthorne, who passed away February 25, 1942.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

—Lovingly remembered by his Wife and Son Jack.

HENTHORNE.— In loving memory of our dear father, William Henthorne, who passed away February 256, 1942.

Lonely are our hearts to-day
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
We think of him in silence,
No eye may see us weep;
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
To those who love a father,
Cherish him with care;
You will never know his value
Till you see his vacant chair.

—Lovingly remembered by his Daughters and Sons-in-law, Mildred and Albert, Eva and Harold.

they are not forgotten, that somebody is thinking of them and interested enough in them to write. And they want to be able to flaunt their letters before the other boys because it gives them face and shows that they, too, were wolves at home.

And any bright girl should be able to pad her letters out with clever cartoons and things she cuts out of the newspapers that would bring Johnny Doughboy a laugh.

So, girls, get busy. Let writing letters be part of your war work. Only, only, ONLY don't write love letters. That is not part of the game.

DEAR MISS DIX—I shall soon be graduating from college and find myself deeply in love with a girl who I think would make me an excellent wife. We are very congenial in every way. My parents, however, object to my choice, since on leaving home this girl will receive no financial support and I will have to take care of her without any help from her family.

On the other hand, there is a rich girl through whom I will be able to make worth while connections in my profession. Needless to say, my parents urge me to concentrate my affections in this direction. What shall I do? Follow the impulses of my heart and marry for love, or bow to the promises of wealth and a well designed future, and hope for happiness?

PUZZLED YOUNG MAN.

Money Never Offsets Loss of Love

ANSWER — I have never yet known of a case where either a man or a woman who married for money didn't regret their bargain. Look about you among your acquaintances and see if your observation does not tally with mine. For man does not live by bread alone. The heart also must be fed, and you cannot do this with money.

No one will deny that a bank account is a very comfortable thing to have around the house, and it is nice for a young couple to start out with no financial worries, and it saves a man a lot of work to have an influential family connection to give him a boost when he is starting to climb the ladder. But what about the other side of the picture? Will any amount of money compensate him for having to spend his evenings with a rich wife he does not care for, instead of with the one after whom his very soul is longing? Can a fine house, and Period furniture, turn a place in which there is no love into a home? And do you think that the man who has a splendid position that was obtained for him through his wife's family influence can have the pride in it that he would have if he had won it by his own ability?

Personally, I think that a rich wife is oftener a handicap to a man than an asset, because the wife who carries the pocketbook rules the roost and her husband is always more or less subservient to her. Also, rich girls are almost invariably spoiled in the rearing and they demand that their husbands shall devote their time to amusing them and catering to their whims.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is in the army. My parents and in-laws both want me to spend my evenings with them and I would like their company but for one thing. Both couples spend their time quarreling and I come back feeling as if I had been through a battle myself. Yet if I do not spend my evenings with them they get angry and think that I am unfriendly and unfeeling. What should I do? If I never go, I will be lonesome. If I do, I shall wind up a nervous wreck.

SOLDER'S WIFE

ANSWER — Self-preservation is the first law of Nature. Leave your quarreling parents to their own devices.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, February 26

A PARTICULARLY lively and progressive day is forecast from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. It is a time for summoning exceptional talents and skills for promoting cherished goals, especially if they have a decided mechanical or engineering objective and are in connection with group or public service of far reaching scope. Finances may be under expansive rule, and should embrace support from influential sources, with promotion and preferments as rewards for merit and sturdy work, even against certain deep oppositions or dubious entanglements. Domestic, social and affectional affiliations should also thrive.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of expansive, productive and fruitful effort, with the energies and faculties under high impetus for outstanding achievements, with recognition, promotion and probably public honors. Major aims and objectives are happily stressed, with new openings for enduring returns and rewards. The personal social, domestic and love life contribute to general wellbeing and happiness. Sidestep undercover lures or intrigue.

A child born on this day should have much ability and ambition with many opportunities in life for attaining position, prestige and personal happiness.

YOUTHS FINED

Having liquor in a place other than their residence cost four youths, Alfred Pepe, Conrad Dafoe, Ross McNaughton and Paul Murphy, fines of $15 and $2.50 costs when they pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Disease Rate Halved In Canadian Forces

By JACK BRALEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP) — The incidence of venereal disease among Canada's armed forces has been halved from one man in every 16 in 1940 to one in every 35 in the first six months of 1943, the Defence Department announced today.

The figures compared with a rate of one in every six for the First Great War period.

In making public figures showing the Services successful battle against the diseases, a departmental press release stressed that "all armed forces infections are acquired in the civilian population." The release added that by virtue of this fact the Services situation is simply a reflection of a similar situation existing in the civilian population.

Take Credit

"It should be recognized that, if the armed forces had not kept accurate figures on venereal infection it is doubtful whether the public of Canada would have been conscious of the serious civilian venereal disease situation reflected in the armed forces statistics.

With these considerations in mind, it is felt in the best interests of both the armed forces and civilian population that the armed forces figures be given to the public."

And here they are:—

In the period from Jan. 1, 1940, to June 30, 1943, there have been 35,036 cases of gonorrhoea and syphilis in the three services, broken down to 4,279 cases for the Navy, 23,054 for the Army and 7,703 for the Air Force.

In the navy, the highest incidence was observed in 1941 when one man in every 15 was infected. By 1943 this had dropped to one in 18.

The army's worst year was in 1940 when one in 16 reported sick with gonorrhoea or syphillis, while in the first six months of 1943 the incidence was one in 31.

The Air Force suffered its greatest venereal disease rate in 1940 with one man in 36 infected, but by 1943 this had dropped to one in every 56.

Improved methods of treatment by the use of new Sulph drugs has cut down the rate of gonorrhoea cases—seven times as common and slightly milder than syphilis—but medical officers, warning against complacency, says the problem "remains more pressing than ever" for "while the rate of infection in the services has been dropping, the actual number of cases has been increasing with the ever-expanding strength of the services."

Service medical officers have come to the conclusion that commercialized prostitution remains the primary cause of venereal infection of the nation.

There is a wide variation in the extent of the problem of venereal disease in the various parts of the country as reflected by the three services.

To take the army experience as an example, it is found that in the first six months of 1943, of the men stationed in the Province of Quebec one in every 16 was infected while in British Columbia the rate was only one in 76.

"It should be pointed out at this juncture that this dramatic difference is due in large part to the influence of one city in the former province, the city of Montreal," the release said. "The experience of the army in this regard is not unique; the records of the navy and of the air force indicate exactly the same situation."

(Authorities in Montreal recently began an intensive drive against commercialized vice in that city, closing up numbers of bawdy houses and arresting hundreds of prostitutes and patrons.)

Predicts New Speeds For Autos By 1974

TORONTO, Feb. 25—(CP)—J. D. Miller, Ontario deputy minister of highways, today predicted highway speeds of 100 miles an hour by 1974 in an address at the 50th anniversary of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

By that year there should be 2,000,000 automobiles in Ontario, he said, or one to every four persons. Registration of motor vehicles has increased from 16,000 in 1914, or one for every 166 of the pupulation, to 780,000, or one for every five of the population in 1944, Mr. Millar said.

Ayrshire Member Likes Oatmeal, Herring

AYR, Scotland, Feb. 25 (CP)—As Secretary of State for Scotland, Tom Johnson has been advocating fuller use of Scotland's primary products—potatoes, oatmeal and herring. Ayrshire education committee was discussing the campaign when Alexander Sloan, South Ayrshire's M.P., said:—

"I've seen the secretary of state scores of times at his meals and I've never seen him eat herring or oatmeal and more particularly I've never seen him eat potatoes. He's one of those watercress fiends who live on salad."

MONTREAL, Feb. 25 (CP). — Blood tests of women found in local rooming houses during a raid by Provincial Police last week-end resulted in almost one-third being declared diseased, it was revealed in police court yesterday.

Britain To Take All Cheese Canada Can Sell

OTTAWA, Feb. 25 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Thursday in the Commons that an agreement is being negotiated under which it is hoped the United Kingdom will take all the cheese Canada can provide during the next two years.

The Minister said that any surpluses of butter or canned milk produced also can be marketed in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Gardiner announced the proposed cheese contract as he outlined dairy product subsidies to be effective during the summer season of the dairy year 1944-45—from May 1 to Sept. 30—and for the other seven months from Oct. 1 to April 30.

Subsidies will continue to be higher during the fall, winter and early spring months than in the summer. Thus, the subsidy on fluid milk generally will be 55 cents per 100 pounds from Oct. 1 to April 30, 1945, the same as in the corresponding months of 1943-44. The milk-for-cheese subsidy will be down 10 cents per 100 pounds at 20 cents.

As in the case in the present year, the fluid milk subsidy will be only 25 cents per 100 pounds in some districts.

The 10-cents-a-pound butter subsidy will be continued, along with the 30-cents-per-100-pounds subsidy on concentrated whole milk.

During the summer months, starting May 1, the fluid-milk subsidy will be 35 cents per 100 pounds, 10 cents higher than the subsidy being paid last summer. The milk-for-cheese subsidy this year will be 20 cents per 100 pounds. No subsidy was paid in this category last summer.

The 1944-45 summer subsidy of 10 cents a pound for butterfat used in butter production compares with eight cents last summer. The 15-cents-per-100-pounds subsidy for concentrated whole milk, payable this summer, was not in effect last year.

Mr. Gardiner said it was thought the subsidies, together with the floor under dairy-product prices already provided through agreements and otherwise, should result in record production during 1944, if the weather is favorable.

Neighbors Rebuild Fire Victims' Home

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robson, who less than two weeks ago lost their home and all their belongings in a fire on concession 13, London township, will be able to move into a new home next month.

Fifty neighbors, who realized the plight of the couple, got together and now are building a new house. The foundation and framework has been completed.

The community movement was started two days after the fire—Feb. 13—when a committee was formed and one farmer was assigned to canvass each concession in the Ilderton area. Several hundred dollars was donated, some unsolicited from business establishments in London.

Member Demands Break With Spain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(AP)—Representative John M. Coffee (Dem., Wash.), today demanded the U.S. immediately break all diplomatic relations with Spain.

"We must make this break now on our own terms," he said in a speech prepared for delivery in the House of Representatives, "before the Axis forces us to break with Fascist Spain on terms such as Japan handed us at Pearl Harbor."

Coffee, who previously has called for a House investigation of Falangist activities in South America, denounced General Franco as 'Hitler's faithful puppet" and as a man of worthless promises.

"'Neutral' Spanish ships," he said, "deliver thousands of Nazi agents to ports in every American nation."

SIDE SUIT STARTS IT

CERTAINTY or near certainty of having to lose a trick in the trump suit should always make a declarer stop, look and listen. He should consider whether or not it is advisable to do something else before playing trumps. Or, in other words, before letting the defenders gain the lead. Frequently in such a situation he will find it well to use a side suit to start his plan of play.

North fooled a kibitzer when he opened this deal with a bid of diamonds instead of spades, thereby making it gosh-awful difficult for him ever to show that his spades were five cards long. But that turned out not to be necessary. His diamond bid was because he feared his partner might respond with hearts, which would enable him to show his spades at the one level if he started with diamonds, but would compel him to bid three in order to show his diamonds if he started with spades.

That is how South happened to be the spade declarer instead of North, which was just as well, since he did a good job of playing. West led his club K. South saw ahead a sure loser in trumps, two in hearts, one in clubs and possibly even another in diamonds. But he figured out his one best chance, finding the diamond K right.

Taking the club A, he immediately finessed the diamond 10, next the J and then lay down the A, discarding a club. The diamond Q then was led for discard of his last club, West ruffing and returning the club Q. South ruffed this and led the spade 8. As he hoped, the K had to play, so the A killed it. After that it was easy to avoid any losers except two in hearts, so he made his contract.

If West had made a 1-Diamond overcall during the bidding, led the club 4 to the K and A, and East returned the club J, how should South seek 6-Spades on this deal?

Reporter Finds People Proud Of Bomb Scar

By MARGARET ECKER,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Feb. 25—(CP Cable)—The excitement of the day in our neighborhood is "our bomb."

Now its morning again, the roll has been called, and everybody is here. Now one can have a proprietory air about "our bomb."

The charwoman is so proud of it she arrived 15 minutes early so she could get in a bit of gossip before starting work. In the butcher and green grocer shops it's quite the biggest, fiercest bomb that has fallen anywhere in London.

"Our bomb" did us proud but last night around midnight when the attack was lit with searchlights and bursting star shells, smokepuffs from anti-aircraft, when fire glowed at the foot of the street, nobody was quite so happy about "our bomb."

Painful Reaction.

It came with coffee at the end of a late, after-the-show dinner. Suddenly in the midst of the guns' roar there was something that could never be limited by the description of "sound." It seemed more like an atmospheric convulsion. The air felt full of waves as tumultuous as mid-Atlantic storm beating against you. Pain in the ears was excruciating. Your knees shook and you failed to remember that if you can hear a bomb it didn't get you.

The light went out, then flickered on simultaneously with a crash in the kitchen as the concussion poured from the flat, taking the window with it. The six-story building gradually ceased its can-can.

From the roof later you can see four fires glowing in a small arc on the horizon. The nearest is spectacular with flames and smoke billowing. You remember a line in yesterday's paper following just such a fire: "several families were trapped in a burning building."

No, people, when yau think of that, this show is not an enjoyable one.

Rheumatic Pains—
BACKACHE

Now as never before men and women must keep themselves fit and ready for work. So when you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve the pain and soreness, don't give up hope, just go to Lynch's Drug Store or any good druggist and get a bottle of Allenru. Take as directed and in about 24 hours you should see a real improvement. You needn't be afraid of Allenru containing dope of any kind—it doesn't; such things are only makeshifts and can at best give only partial relief.

Allenru acts 3 ways: (1) to relieve the pain; (2) to correct the bowels; (3) as a gentle diuretic to the kidneys, flushing out excess acids.

The very first bottle is guaranteed to show results and justify your confidence. If for any reason you are dissatisfied, take back the empty bottle and get your money back.—(Advt.)

North Ireland Port Crowded With Warships

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

A PORT IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Feb. 25—(CP)—This port is a convoy escort and anti-submarine base in Northern Ireland to be sure, but to walk along the docks here is like being home in a Canadian port.

The place is crowded with seagoing Canucks who are veterans of the North Atlantic for this harbor is one of the overseas ports of call for the Canadian Navy's Corvettes, Frigates and Destroyers which ply the ocean to protect the merchant ships and tankers.

Along the Jetties for a mile or more are moored ships that bring the convoys safely to the British Isles. Sometimes they are three and four abreast and there are frequently a dozen or more Canadian vesels tied up waiting for new orders to put to sea on another gruelling voyage.

To the escort crews this port which can't be named is their Plymouth, Portsmouth and Chatham, it is the big town for the "little ships."

Fighting ships move slowly in and out of the harbor, which is one of the busiest naval bases on this side of the ocean. Everything is highly operational.

Irish soldiers, United States marines and British and Canadian tars with fixed bayonets are on guard at the berths, repair shops and drydocks.

There's always something new here and it all comes in from the gray Atlantic.

Some Miss Action.

Some ships come back after actions with their damage and their casualties and some bring prisoners, Germans picked up from submarines that have been sunk. There are heroic stories, sad stories, gallant stories and gruesome ones and some ships have no story at all. They've just ploughed the Atlantic for months on end, doing their job but getting no fighting.

The submarine warfare is the obsession of these men. Officers in the wardroom and ratings in the mess deck "talk shop" even more than doctors or newspapermen — and that's quite a record.

Even with the bronco conduct of corvettes and frigates when there is any kind of a sea running, these Canadians enjoy this life. They get a few days in Newfoundland when they're in or a few days in an East Canadian port and then in a few weeks they're back here for another couple of days.

This town doesn't offer much opportunity for shore-going relaxation for a sailor but sometimes they have time to get down to Eire for steaks and stout and bright lights and eggs in Dublin or some county town.

Urges Province To Support All Foundlings

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 25—(CP)—Provincial assumption of total costs for the care of neglected, foundling or other unsupported children to save Ontario municipalities tens of thousands of dollars spent annually on "litigation and bickering" was proposed yesterday by City Clerk K. G. Crawford and Welfare Administrator Earl Berry. Of major importance to London ratepayers, the costs, said officials, were a direct outgrowth of war and depression-time loosening of family ties, coupled with modern travel conveniences, unheard of when costs were first laid to the city.

In addtiion to saving moneys obviously wasted in intermunicipality disputes regarding establishment of residences of recipients, the plan would provide a further saving of about $5,000 per child spent by the city during the first "16 plus" years of their lives.

Under present regulations, children wo are made wards of the Children's Aid Society are supported by city funds, moneys collected for the most part from the direct taxation of real estate. So far this was all right with the officials. Although they disagreed with the principle that the costs of child care should be placed on real estate, they admitted that, if the problem was London's, it was fair that the cost should be London's.

The joker came, they pointed out, in present residence regulations, in which a city was assessed the costs of a child on the basis of its mother's established residence. This clause placed city against city in a maze of legal investigations, litigation and departmental investigations that added up to thousands annually. In London alone such cases average about "one a week," they said.

The regulations in question provide that the child establishes legal residence in the municipality where its mother lived most recently for one year during a period extending back to five years prior to the birth of the child. Foundlings establish residence were found. Labelling any municipality as "legal residence" in such cases meant sadding the taxpayers there with the cost. City officials believe that the cost should go to the Province, and that at least the costs of litigation should be laid at the Provincial doorway.

It was pointed out here that a family who had lived all their lives in some other city could move to London, stay a year, meet with some misfortune, and the total cost of the care of their children fell, not on their native city, but on London.

Liberator Crews Wallop Four Submarines

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN BRITAIN, Feb. 25 — (CP) — Four Nazi submarines bound from French ports for Allied shipping lanes in the Atlantic were stalked and attacked by four coastal command Liberators which fought it out with the subs in individual engagements over a four-day period. The U-boats were located during patrols over the Bay of Biscay.

There were 10 Canadians in the crews of the big R.A.F. aircraft.

The first submarine was sighted and attacked on a Monday by a Liberator commanded by 28 year old H. R. (Hal) Facey of Edmonton. It was his third fight against prowling subs and three other Canadians with him had been on at least one attack.

The submarine was spotted by FO. Fred H. Hackmann of Rocanville, Sask., the navigator.

The U-boat picked up the Liberator almost at the same time and immediately opened fire with its guns. Flak burt all around the aircraft and the fight was on. In the Lib's gun crew were two airmen from North Bay, Ont., and both scored repeated hits on the sub's conning tower. Operating the mid-upper guns was WO1. C. F. Holmes (80 Metcalfe street), who was making his fifth attack, while WO1. G. P. (Bud) Angus (165 Block avenue), in the rear gun turret, was carrying out his third attack.

Sub Finished.

Facey manoeuvred his machine into position for the attack and dropped his depth charges. A bright orange glow and volumes of smoke became visible near the stern of the submarine, zig-zagging at a reduced speed. The U-boat disappeared a few minutes later and was not seen again.

U-boat No. 2 attacked the same day by a crew led by F. O. Ethan Allen of New York. His second pilot was Flt. Sgt. Morris Hayward of Vancouver. Allen remained on the scene for 5½ hours after the U-boat had been raked with gunfire and depth charged but no further trace of it was seen.

The third submarine was attacked the next day by a crew which included three Canadian, Flt. Sgts. Harvey Thornton of (122 Cedar St.) Sudbury, Ont., and H. M. Penhale of Toronto, wireless operator-air gunners, and Sgt. J. C. McCartney of Saskatoon, flight engineer. The Liberator made two attacks, the first with depth charges and the second with machine guns. The sub then disappeared and no further contact was made.

The fourth submarine was located two days later by an aircraft in charge of F. O. J. B. March, Montreal. Second pilot was 23-year-old F. O. Clyde Underwood of Vancouver, veteran of 20 operational trips and the two sub attacks. from 100 feet over the U-boat which also was raked with machine-gun fire. The sub started to dive as the attack was pressed home and no further trace of it was seen.

Ships Aground Halifax Harbor

HALIFAX, Feb. 25 — (CP) — The pilot boat Camperdown was blown on to dangerous Thrum Cape Reef in Halifax Harbor Tuesday, but information reaching here indicated all aboard the 108-ton ship had been rescued as the ship remained fast on the ledge.

At the same time, a large steamship was blown ashore in Bedford Basin, Halifax's inner harbor, but it was reported she suffered no damage.

Pilot service officials here reported the Camperdown carried 15 men—six of the pilots—and according to word received at the port's pilotage office, all had reached safety.

At the dockyard the Navy reported "two boatloads" of men had been taken from the pilot ship. The lifeboats, it was understood, proceeded out from McNab's Island. Thrum Cape is located off the island.

It was not known immediately if Navy vessels made the rescue.

The Camperdown, a motorship built in 1941, was placed in service to replace the schooner Hebridean, sunk with the loss of nine lives when she was rammed in this harbor by a freighter in 1940.

WMS Plans Program For 25th Anniversary

STEWART HALL, Feb. 25 (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Dawson discussed plans for observing their 25th anniversary. There were sixteen ladies in attendance.

Mrs. William Chambers presided for the meeting and the worship service took the form of a World's Day of Prayer service read by Mrs. Chambers with responses by Mrs. G. Savigny.

A poem entitled "A Prayer for Wartime" was given, and Mrs. Hanbidge led in prayer. Miss Marion Patterson sang. Mrs. Harold Dawson gave an interesting paper on temperance, and a report of the Presbyterial held at Knox Church in Peterborough was given by Mrs. W. Dawson.

Business matters were dicussed, and the yearly fees were paid by those present. The one-cent-a-day collection for the first quarter is to come in at the March meeting. It was decided to have a quilt ready to quilt for the bale at the next meeting. The members are planning to hold the 25th anniversary of the Stewart Hall WM.S., in May, and Miss Hanbidge was appointed to invite a speaker for the occasion, also to see that invitations are sent to former members. Messrs. H. and W. Dawson are a committee to arrange the program. The afternoon was spent in quilting, and lunch was served.
